Ozonan, 13-Year Naval Veteran, Captains Big Tug Boat In San Diego

Ed. Note — the following was written by a Navy public relations officer, name not signed, at the San Diego Naval base.

We met Alejandro B. Lara, boat-swain's mate first class, U. S. Navy, when he was captain of a Navy tug boat. Al's job was pushing millions of dollars worth of fighting ships around in the harbor of San Diego, Calif.

The Ozona, Texas, man welcomed us aboard one day when his huge tug went out for a trial run after overhaul. He handled the big machine just about as easily as you and I would handle a car — that tug weighs 415 tons. As a matter of fact she's the largest Navy or civilian tug in the port of San Diego. She can handle just about any hauling job the Navy can dream up. And besides that, Al's tug is the main battery of water-borne fire-fighting equipment. This consists of an eight-inch "fire monitor" which can deliver 4,000 gallons of water a minute and spray it a distance of 300 feet. Besides that she has three other 3-inch fire monitors. She's available to protect both Navy and civilian property.

Duty in the tug boat fleet is just one small part of the variety that Al has found during thirteen years in the service. "It's not the kind of a job you can have and be able to tell your girl that you'll meet her at a certain time," says Al. "The hours are pretty long some times."

In addition to being a competent skipper, Lara is also responsible for procuring ship supplies, training the crew, rigging tows and navigation both in port and on the high seas. And — in the tradition of the sea — if anything goes wrong abroad the tug, Al's responsible.

But being a good tug boat skipper, Al wouldn't want it any other way.

Capt. Robert Dean, medical officer attached to the Headquarters, 33rd Air Defense Command, at Oklahoma City, was in Ozona this week looking over local medical and hospital facilities in connection with the establishment of the radar station east of here, now under construction. The station will have no medical officer nor hospital facilities, Capt. Dean said, but will use the facilities in Ozona.

Graham Childress left last week to resume his studies at Rice University in Houston. He is a Junior student this year.

Mrs. Ed Meitzen has accepted the position as clerk and bookkeeper for the Empire Southern Gas Co. local office.

Junior Fire Marshal Program To Emphasize Fire Prevention Week

Ozona school children in the third through sixth grades will join nearly 3,000,000 Junior Fire Marshals throughout the country next month in a nation-wide fire prevention and safety education program sponsored by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company.

Participation in the program was announced jointly today by Coralie Meinecke Insurance Agency, local Hartford Fire representative; School Superintendent L. B. T. Sikes, and Fire Chief Joe Tom Davidson.

"This new, year-round Junior Fire Marshal program is an expanded version of the popular public service campaign which the Hartford Fire Co. has sponsored through its 15,000 agents since 1947," Mrs. Meinecke said. "Ever increasing interest by parents, teachers and fire officials prompted expansion of the program which now is a year-round basis for the first time in nine years."

Scheduled to open throughout the country in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week, October 7-13, the new program gets under way locally on 10-9-66. At that time a new 19-page Junior Fire Marshal Magazine will be distributed to boys and girls in participating schools.

The Magazine, first of four to be published throughout the year, contains stories, pictures, and suggested fire prevention activities and games for children. The Magazine's feature is a home inspection report for boys and girls to use in locating and eliminating fire hazards in their homes.

Completed home reports, signed by parents, are returned to teachers. Schools with satisfactory records of participation will receive School Achievement Banners, Roll posters, and Junior Fire Marshal badges and fireman's hats for children.

In addition, elementary school teachers both here and throughout the country are receiving special teaching units, complete with suggested classroom activities, for instructing fire prevention and safety.

Miss Peggy Moore will teach a night adult typing class on Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 8:30. Those who would be interested in this class please meet at the house Tuesday, September 20, 7:30.

Norris Pogue, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Pogue, has returned for his senior year at the University of Texas in Austin.

ALL FARM RESERVE

all farms with allotments for

All farms with average allotments for cotton, wheat, peanuts, rice and tobacco, or have acreage for corn, are eligible to take part in the Average Reserve of the Soil Bank. Farmers who participate will reduce their 1937 average of one or more of these crops below the allotment or acre base. All farmers who wish to participate in 1937 should work out their plans with the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announces. Payments will be made to participating farmers for loss of net income resulting from crop acreage reduction. These payments will be based on actual crop yield for the reserved land, as determined by the County ASC Committee. Farmers may leave the land idle, or apply soil or water conservation practices on it. This land cannot be cropped or cut for hay during 1937 calendar year, and may not be grazed unless the Secretary of Agriculture determines an emergency exists. Farmers also may participate in the Soil Bank's Conservation Reserve for which all farm land regularly used to produce crops is eligible.

PLU

ing On Stock Market With University Permanent Funds As Proposed In Amendment Voted on Nov. 6 Scored by Sen. Hardeman

Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman
25th District

Article concludes the brief of the proposed amendment of the Constitution to be at the general election. It with H. J. R. 15 known as "back gambling" amendment. Similar proposal was defeated when it was submitted as a separate issue. Now included with two other amendments in a package. Whether this was to mislead or not is not known. Certainly, it is "sugary" in such fashion as to be recognizable by the less embracing two lengthy articles relating to the College Fund which are, more or less, red-dressing, although Lauch at Beaumont and the University at Houston are despite the allocation of other monies to these two for building purposes.

"package-deal" is designed to provide a "legal" plan for "playing the stock market" with "O. P. (other people's money), namely, half of the Permanent University Fund of $250,000,000 no other requirement than exercise of "judgment and under the circumstances then existing." Bad investments or losses will be borne by the children and future generations.

The Regents will have enjoyed the thrill of "playing the stock market" and competing with Wall Street operators at no personal responsibility whatsoever. The proposal is presented as enhancing the investment base of the Permanent University Fund and increasing earnings... without increase in taxes." Sounds good, however, there is a catch.

Suppose, however, there is a loss of capital, then will it not be restored by taxes? The sensitivity of the stock market to the President's health is well known. His heart attack of a five billion dollar loss in the market in September, 1955 (recovered with inflation) is stomach ache in the early 1960s, likewise, caused a reaction in Wall Street. The founding fathers who established this Fund and led for its investment in tax-exempt securities ever intend a group of political appointees is now 2.7%. It is only proposed to increase the yield, assuming no loss, and all profit, to 3.4% or the significant increase of only seven-tenths of 1% if no loss is sustained.

Regents, should "play the market" or speculate with the Fund or any part thereof? The yield from authorized securities — government bonds, etc.

The Regents are all men of high integrity, engaged in various pursuits and appointed for different reasons. I am not advised as to their financial wizardry or ability. I only know that "playing in the stock market" is a hazardous undertaking, and, more so, with public money. If they are financial wizards their services would be "snapped-up" by investors everywhere.

An examination of the official reports of forty of the major life insurance companies of the United States for the first nine months of 1965 reflects that only 1.8% of their total investments of $931,650,788.00 is invested in all corporate stocks, whereas, the University Regents want authority to gamble 50% of the Permanent University Fund on Wall Street. During the same period, these insurance companies invested 33.7% in tax-supported bonds.

A survey of 35 private colleges and universities with total endowment of 1.72 billion showed investments in common stock of 50.4%; bonds 38.8% and preferred stock 8.5%. But remember this is private money not public funds.

Corporate entities must pay a high income tax before dividends are paid thus directly affecting the yield realized. The facts, as reported in recent authoritative publications, are that corporation stocks are higher — thanks to inflation — while the yield is down. With spiraling inflation as the result of guaranteed annual wages, the rising costs of living and increased taxes, there will be decreasing yield from corporate investments.

Perhaps, the Regents propose to "buy'em low and sell'em high" and win all the time.

Range Aids for Keeping Water Where It Falls Listed By Specialist

College Station. — It is not the rain you get but the rain you keep that counts, says G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist.

It is going to take a lot of good soaking rains to break the present drought but if history repeats itself he adds, heavy downpours usually follow long dry periods and unless provisions have been made to hold such rainfall, too much will be lost.

Hoffman offers several suggestions for holding a maximum amount of these heavy rains should they occur this fall. Don't he cautions, go out and buy expensive equipment for doing the necessary work, but do use what is available on the farm or ranch. Net wire spreaders or an effective job of slowing down runoff water. They stop drift hold water well even on slopes. Too, says Hoffman, they are cheaper to build than dirt spreaders and there is no dam to be washed out or blown away.

Trees and brush thrown into the heads of gullies will greatly aid in slowing down and spreading runoff water. Brush piles placed in gullies at intervals will tame running water and also catch soil and cause much more of the runoff to be soaked in the soil. Fallen brush scattered over the pasture holds water and helps grass seedlings get started by giving them protection.

A range which is dotted with wire spreaders, pits and piles of fallen trees and brush holds many times more water a range which is bare of vegetation or man-made constructions. The bare areas on the farm or ranch. Net wire should be pitted, says Hoffman, spreaders to an effective job of slowing down runoff water. They the surface crust which will shed water, especially, if the rain comes as a downpour.

Many good soakings will be required to get drouth ravaged ranges back in good shape and because most ranges and pastures are now bare, any device, construction or practice which can be put on the land to hold water will help the comeback, says Hoffman. Most of these jobs, he adds, can be done piece-meal and with available equipment and labor. They do not cost much money but can be most aids in shutting the gate to keep water where it falls.

CONSERVATION RESERVE... IS FOR ALL FARMS

All farm land regularly used to produce crops, including tame hay, is eligible for the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announces. Farmers participating in the Conservation Reserve will sign contracts through County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees to shift land from production to conservation uses. Contracts will be for 3 or 5 years if the land already is in an approved cover crop; for 5 or 10 years if approved cover must be established; and for 10 to 15 years if trees will be planted. Up to 80 percent of the costs of conservation practices may be paid by the government. In addition, annual payments on the land will be made during the life of the contract. Farmers also may participate in the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve if they have allotments for wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts, rice, or tobacco.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

U.S.D.A. Buying Spreads To Poultry and Eggs
The recent announcement that the USDA would launch a hamburger buying program to support the live cattle prices this Fall was preceded very shortly by a similar announcement that turkey and eggs were in line for government purchase, too.

Texas' turkey crop is a record one, and the overall supply across the nation is far larger than had been expected earlier this year. The big increase in laying flocks, reported early this year, is creating a chaotic egg price situation, hence the buying programs.
The food will be used in the school lunch program and federal institutions, as permitted.

Cattle Price Weaken: Weak To 50 Cents Lower.
Fort Worth — One of the largest offerings of grass cattle and calves of the year arrived at Fort Worth Monday and most classes reflected weaker prices. Sales ranged from steady to 50 cents lower, with the medium and common cattle and calves showing the larger declines.

—Continued dry weather in the Southwest has narrowed the outlets for stockers, especially the plainer kinds.
Comparative prices: Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings $17.00 to $26.00; fat heifers $24 down. Plain and medium butcher cattle $12 to $17, with some canner kinds down to $10. Fat cows $9.00 to $12.00, few young choice cows $15.00 or above. Canners and cutters $6.00 to $9.00. Bulls mostly $9.00 to $12.50. Good and choice fat calves $14.50 to $17.50, baby beef heavies to $18 or above, one such lot of 15 creep-feds weighed 650 pounds at $20. Cull to medium slaughter calves $8.00 to $14.00. Stocker steer calves $19.00 down; stocker steer yearlings $18.00 down.

Sheep and Lambs Strong: Killers and Feeders Active.

The rather small supply of sheep and lambs at Fort Worth Monday was sold and weighed early in a very active market at stronger prices. Good and choice slaughter lambs cashed at $18 to $20, strictly choice kinds quotable to $21, and shorn lambs sold from $19 downward. Cull to medium lambs drew $10 to $17. Stocker and feeder lambs sold from $13 to $16.25. Yearling muttons sold from $10 to $16.50. Old wethers drew $8 to $12.50. of the night. Harold Harrington raced into the end zone for the extra point.

Scoring for the night ended when the Lions took the opening kickoff and marched for the score. George Bunger made a fine return of the kick to the Coahoma 40 and from there the Lions were sparked by Kent Babb and Bobby Sutton all the way to the 14 but two penalties and a loss on an attempted pass set the ball back to the 30 from whence Sutton hit Stanley Williams on the three with the half back diving into the end zone. This time the extra point try was foiled by a bad snap and the final score was 34 to 14.

The Lions looked better this week than last but did not please Coaches Fred Hickman and Sonny Cleere. The most encouraging thing about the contest was the fine performance of some of the Lion reserves particularly, B. B. Ingham.

The Lion defense varied from stubborn to unimpressive but Coach Hickman was able to use most of the reserve strength he had on the bench.

Jake Young and Roy Glen Sutton turned in the best performances for the regulars on defense while Stan Williams and Bobby Sutton bore most of the brunt on offense.

The Lions rolled up 14 first downs to Coahoma's 7 and amassed 149 yards rushing and 126 passing as compared to 93 rushing and 0 passing for the visitors.

The Lions went into the air on 16 plays and completed 6 while Coahoma was able to get airborne for but one play.

Kent Babb carried the ball 11 times for 51 yards and Bobby Sutton was called on 20 times and picked up 83 yards for the Lions big ground yardage.

In the air Williams threw four times completing one for 11 yards while Sutton threw 12 times completing 5 for 115 yards and one score.
