WEEK'S OIL ACTIVITY INDICATES RETURN TO NORMALCY IN PERMIAN BASIN; TWELVE OPERATIONS START

Indicative of a revival of activity over that of the past few weeks of relative quietness in West Texas oil operations, new locations and completions of wells increased to normalcy during the week, there being 12 new operations started and 11 wells finished, two as dry holes but the other nine adding 88,641 barrels to the daily potential of the region.

All of the new locations and most of the completions are on more or less proven acreage but the crop of wildcat activities of the area are nearing sufficient depth to indicate their completion as new producers or failures during the next week or two.

In the North Cowden pool of Ector county, Standford completed No. 1 Mrs. T. B. Roberts, 690 feet from the south and west lines of section 21, block 43, township 1 north, T. & P. Railway survey.

The completion of Ward county was a failure resulting from submergence. In the southern Ward area, it is Caprio No. 1 Purcell California, 330 feet from the northeast line and 990 feet from the northwest line of section 17, block 34, H. T. C. Railway survey.

GIVE THE ADOPTED CHILD A CHANCE

An Act Amending Section 14, Acts 1927, as Amended by Acts 1929

To legislators, a legally worded act of legislation, but to parents of adopted children, and to the children themselves, if they could understand and voice their opinion, a heart-touching and serious problem. To you and me, a just reason to pause and think.

Perhaps you have known parents who have adopted a child. As a tiny babe, he is taken into the home. Sleepless nights are given to caring for him. Constant vigil is kept over the innocent little one to guide him along a path originally rough but now smoother for him. Indeed, his care is often better than that of a child born to some parents, for only those whose desires are sincere will undertake to love and rear a child not of their own flesh and blood.

But picture a day later in this babe's life. Sheltered has he been from the fact that his Daddy and Mother are not his "real" Daddy and Mother. Sheltered because it is considered a point of convention that he be unaware. Then one day, somehow, this hidden fact comes to light. In spite of convention, perhaps it comes from the outside world. At best, it must come as gently as possible from those who have held him close and shielded him.

Facts there are, in the office of the State Registrar of Vital Statistics, to prove the point, and facts there should be. It is right that the genealogy of this child should be correctly recorded. But even more righteous is it that the record show his parents to be those whom he has learned to respect and love and follow. Let this technicality of law serve to smooth his path even more.

The amendment to Section 14 seeks not to destroy the original certificate of natural birth. Far different, it specifies that upon receipt of final order of adoption this original record be sealed and filed, and in its place there be made a record of the birth in the new name or names of the adopting parent or parents. Should the adoption ever be annulled, the records are intact and can revert to the original then.

Parents of adopted children are anxious that the amendment be adopted. To them it is a further means of sheltering that babe they took unto them. Others of us should be just as anxious; we should willingly demonstrate our appreciation of the home given to that babe, who, had the cards of fortune been different, might have been ours. All parents should wish to see the adoption of this amendment, and legislators in Austin, eager to know the wishes of their constituents, would appreciate letters of expression regarding the proposed legislation in the matter of adopted children.

IMMENSITY OF DUST STORMS

If you have wondered just how much earth was moved in the recent western dust storm, you might be interested in the estimate submitted by A. F. Turner, of Kansas State College.

Mr. Turner says that if a 96-mile line of 1 1/2 ton trucks could be put to work hauling 10 loads apiece daily, it would take them a year to haul back to western Kansas the dirt that was blown over to the eastern half of the state. Altogether, he says, there would be 46,500,000 truckloads to be moved.

Putting the thing in that form helps us to realize the terrible destructiveness of the storm. You don't need to use your imagination very hard to understand that a lot of good farm land must have been ruined to provide those 46,500,000 truckloads of dust.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Before R. O. Smith, Western Union manager here, came to Midland, he received a message for a young father, saying: "Hazel gave birth to baby daughter this morning. Both doing well." Smith dispatched the message immediately, adding a sticker which said: "When you want a boy, call Western Union."

One subscriber writes: "Now that it appears certain the 4,880,000,000 work relief bill is passed, and its sponsors say that as much as possible of the money should be spent for educational buildings, why not a new North Ward school building at Midland?"

Likely as not, that subscriber started in the first grade and went through the tenth or eleventh, all at the old North Ward. Where is his patriotism, where is his loyalty. Doesn't he want the old building to stand forever as a monument to the struggle he made for an education?

One reason I hate to see the old building go is that it was built without a bond election. The money was given by private subscriptions of the citizens, and it was all paid by them instead of their ancestors.

One old timer told me it wasn't right for us to vote bonded indebtedness for our children and our children's children to have to pay forty years hence.

However, many of our generation are spending the money their fathers or forefathers made, so why not add on a few debts for the next generations, just to change the system up a bit?

Look for the new Tuberculosis association posters when you go to church this morning. One of them is spread across the south wall of the Barrow Furniture building.

In a striking impressionistic manner the artist has covered at one full swoop, so to speak, the entire field of tuberculosis diagnosis and treatment, all under the guidance of the familiar double-barred red cross. Most of the items such as the X-ray and the lucky patient about to get a glass of orange juice or something are plain enough. The young lady with her back turned this way is about to have a lung collapsed, a clever surgical aid to the rest cure.

The smiling lad on the right with outstretched arm is receiving a tuberculin test. This is simply a diagnostic test similar to the sick test for diphtheria. It is absolutely not a serum treatment of the disease itself, like smallpox vaccination or diphtheria toxin-antitoxin. There is no known way of preventing or curing tuberculosis by a serum. This is unfortunate because it would be so much simpler than the only real cure for the disease: a prolonged rest-in-bed.

So that is why sanatoria were invented. A sanatorium is a place where all typewriters have to have the letters "R", "E", "S", and "T" replaced every six months. The patient's life is reduced to 100 percent rest, sometimes even when he doesn't want to himself. And also—this is very important—he is educated a hundred ways, direct and indirect, in the scientific reasons behind the cure. That is one of several reasons why the sanatorium method is so very difficult to duplicate in the home.

But there just aren't enough sanatoria in the state. The state sanatorium in Tom Green County is a rather enormous place, but nevertheless, it has a large waiting list at all times; and besides it does not admit advanced cases. And after all the advanced cases are the ones which should most certainly be isolated, because the rare the chief source of infection in any community. Therefore, it would seem to be the duty of the county to care for its advanced tuberculars. In this county, the public health board together with another agency has arranged for the building of two model cottages to be used in the home treatment of tuberculosis. We hope that these will become the nucleus of a county tuberculosis sanatorium for Midland County.

Initial Contributions for Memorial Shelf Sponsored by Wednesday Club Now Being Received at County Library

Initial contributions to the memorial shelf now being sponsored by the Wednesday club for the county library have been listed by Miss Marguerite Hester, librarian, and are given below.

Anyone who desires to do so, may place a volume on the shelf in memory of some friend or loved one, whether or not the person memorialized is buried in Midland.

The Wednesday club emphasizes the fact that the shelf is for the public and that contributions are welcomed.

A memorial plate giving the name of the donor and of the person in whose memory the volume is given will be placed in each book put upon the shelf.

Following are the contributions already made:

By the Women's Wednesday Club: In memory of deceased members: "Roundabout to Canterbury" by Charles S. Brooks; "Three travellers southward out of London, and where the bus shall climb a hill beyond the last uproar of the city they will descend, bind the rucksacks on their backs and tread round about the roads of Surrey, Kent and Sussex until at last they come to Canterbury." "Those who know Charles Brooks' many and successful volumes of essays will be aware that his keen observation, his sense of humor, and his rare ability to find the picturesque are the very qualities that are necessary to a writer of travel literature. . . . In this book the reader is taken on a leisurely the evolution of form and design." Mrs. B. H. Blakeney in memory of her sister, Mrs. Homer Rowe; "Early American Glass," by Rhea Mansfield Knittle, "An exhaustive survey of the entire field of American glassware, according to the three periods of its development, is presented in this authoritative work. The general reader as well as the collector, will find it of interest, since the material is entertainingly presented, and the accompanying illustrations are noteworthy." Ann Lloyd, in memory of her mother: "Death comes for the Archbishop" by Wills Cather, "An exquisitely written story of Jean Marie Lator and his devoted companion, Joseph Valliant, who were sent to New Mexico in the year 1850. The book pictures with sensitive perception and rare fidelity the life of the Indians, the Spanish and the Americans, as well as the sun drenched atmosphere of the Southwest." "R. E. Lee, a biography" in 4 vols., by Douglas Southall Freeman (Given: Vol. 1, by Father Edward Harrison, in memory of Mrs. Helen C. Lloyd; vol. 2, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Walsh, in memory of Mr. Walsh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh; vol. 3, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wright in memory of Mrs. Wright's mother, Mrs. Rose M. Russell; vol. 4, by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Duffy, in memory of Mrs. Duffy's brother, Oliver T. Miller; "Mr. Freeman consulting primary sources never before used, portrays the slow, complete growth of Lee during youth and manhood, and reveals him as a man of normal impulses and a simple soul. Quotes many brief sentences in which Lee epitomizes his opinions. Is scholarly in treatment. Contains illustrations, military maps and portraits." Mr. Homer Rowe, in memory of his wife, Mamie Rowe: "The Life of Milton" by Hilaire Belloc: "Extraordinary biography of England's greatest epic poet which deals with the man who brought the modern English language to the full glory of its maturity. John Milton was also the greatest political writer of his times, and Belloc shows him as a man whose shrewd intellect and keen understanding of England's problems enabled him to play an important part in the moulding of her political destiny." Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer, in memory of her sister, Mrs. Mamie Rowe: "Art in America" by Suzanne LaFollet: "Interprets American painting, sculpture, architecture and the applied arts, through consideration of the changing mentality of the country as its social and economic structure evolves." Saint Anne's Altar Society, in memory of Mrs. Helen G. Lloyd: "Richeieu: a study" by Hilaire Belloc: "In its interpretation of the French cardinal's lasting influence this study is stimulating and readable, though controversial. Belloc devotes little space to analysis of character or motives; he is concerned with achievements, and he holds Richeieu (and later Bismarck) responsible for the development of nationalism and for the permanent division of Christendom into Protestantism and Catholicism." Mr. and Mrs. Billy Walsh, in memory of her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dyer: "Great Senators" by Oliver Dyer: Personal recollections of Calhoun, Benton, Clay, Webster, Sam Houston, Nelson Davis, Stephen A. Douglas, Martin Van Buren, John P. Hale and others; also "The Alaskan" by James Oliver Curwood; and "Scaramouche" by Rafael Sabatini. Mrs. J. B. Wallace and Mrs. John P. Radio Sales, Service Assume New Agency

Radio Sales & Service has announced the Midland agency for the new Grunow refrigerators.

The Midland dealers point out that there is much interest shown in Grunow and Magic Refrigerator Carrene.

They add that engineers have found that Carrene ends the most remote possibility of danger and gives added benefits in refrigerator construction and performance.

"Carrene will not burn or explode. You can actually open the mechanism of the refrigerator while it is in operation without the slightest danger. There are no belts, pulleys or motor bearings to wear out.

Among places using Carrene refrigeration are the U. S. Capitol building at Washington, Chicago stadium, Radio City and others," they added.

Great Britain reports 40,000 cases of missing girls and women annually; the greater number of these are subsequently found.

Stories in STAMPS

UNCLE SAM ON FOREIGN SOIL

ONE of the curios of philately is the Dominican Republic's 10 centavo special delivery stamp of 1925 and 1927. In design the stamp is almost an exact duplicate of the United States special delivery stamp—to the motorcycle, the colonial architecture, the delivery and even the bushes in front. Outside of the wording the exception is the uniform of the postman. That, of the entire design, was made to conform with Dominican practice.

Other countries, besides the West Indian republic, have at times taken ideas for their stamps from American issues.

National Health Week Is Success in Midland

National Health Week met with success in Midland's Negro and Mexican settlements, according to members of the county public health board who helped with the projects. Pre-school and infant clinics were held in both communities by the county nurse, assisted by volunteers.

Clean-up campaigns were conducted under the direction of the health committee of each settlement. Miss Marquette Carpenter planned the health programs which were given Friday by both schools. Those who attended the programs expressed praise for the efforts of the teachers in coaching the children in their readings, particularly among the negro children.

The Texas Tuberculosis association sponsors the National Health Week in this state as a part of its early diagnosis campaign which begins the first of April and continues through the month of May, taking advantage of Mother's Day, which is also designated as Child Health day. The slogan for the campaign this year is "Fight Tuberculosis With Modern Weapons."

Winter Burned in Effigy

EISENACH, Germany. (U.P.)—This city, famed to visitors for Wartburg Castle, where Luther retired under the pseudonym of "Junker Georg" to translate the Bible into German, celebrates the coming of Spring with a vengeance. After welcoming the new season with a procession, the citizens end their feste by burning an effigy of Winter.

Potato Shipments Up

GRANTSBURG, Wis. (U.P.)—Potato shipments from this region have shown an increase of 5,000 bushels over last year's shipments, covering a corresponding period. Forty-one freight cars have carried 25,000 bushels out of Grantsburg to date this season. In former years before dairying largely supplanted potato raising, yields of 200,000 bushels and more were not uncommon.

Rotary Decoration Scheme Low Priced

Decorations of the downtown streets and buildings of Midland for the two day Rotary conference May 6 and 7 has been contracted to a decorating firm on an exceptionally nominal rate, it was announced Saturday by Addison Wadley, chairman of the decorating committee.

The conference itself will defray the cost of decorating the streets, the vacant buildings and lots and the buildings in which meetings will be held.

Merchants and heads of business institutions are advised that the decoration of their store fronts is the only instance in which they will be asked to make expenditure for the conference, and in view of the fact that some $10,000 will be spent here in two days it is regarded as an investment.

The cost per 25 foot front will not exceed $3.00. Wadley said, the decorating company furnishing everything and doing the work.
