ANOTHER MILLION FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

CAMPAIGN FOR INCREASED MEMBERSHIP AND ATTEN-DANCE TO BEGIN

A big effort is being launched in Texas to increase the membership of all denominations, in the Sunday Schools and classes, during the year ahead, with the ultimate aim of reaching another million members in Texas Sunday Schools.

Plans for reaching this goal begin with rallies to be held throughout the State to enlist all the Sunday Schools to simultaneously put on similar efforts to increase their membership, increase the attendance, plan greater efficiency in organization and teaching, reaching the standards of efficiency set up by the various denominations, and renewed constant efforts in soul winning.

The chief rallying point for these efforts to be the State-wide gathering of leaders from Sunday Schools of all denominations from the 254 counties of Texas.

These leaders are to include the pastors, superintendents, officers, teachers, and members of any school in the State, all of whom are eligible to attend as delegates, and will be entertained free in the homes of the people on the Harvard plan, for lodging and breakfast, provided advice is sent into the committee in time.

Dallas is making big preparations to that end, and 25 committees were appointed this week, headed by the live wire, O. Samuel Cummins, until recently the international secretary of Kiwanis Clubs of America, and other big leaders from the various denominations in Dallas.

The meetings are to be held in the City Temple, beginning on Wednesday afternoon, May3rd, and running through to Sunday night, May 7th.

In preparation for the convention Dallas County Sunday Schools begin this week on a series of five special days to be observed on consecutive Sundays, the first being April 2nd, church members day, the 9th being family day, the 16th being Easter and everybody day, the 23rd friends day, the 30th neighbors' day, and the 7th of May, organized class day.

Teams of workers have been selected to go out to towns and communities and hold rallies during the last few Sundays before the convention.

Every county in Texas is asked to call a conference of interested workers and arrange for similar rallies to be held in every Sunday School in their county, calling attention to the big campaign for increased membership and attendance during the year, and each school and each class above 12 years of age sending delegates to Dallas, to get the inspiration and go back home and put on the campaign.

"It will be easy to reach another million members, said General Superintendent William Nehemiah Wiggins, if all the schools work at the job at the same time, and everlastingly at it."

The State committee also urges the schools to put on similar plans such as the special days being observed in Dallas during April, and at the same time selecting big delegations to come to Dallas for May 3rd to 7th, which is to be a mobilizing camp for the aggressive program being set up and worked out during the year.

The officers of the State Sunday School Association are in part: Judge Joseph E. Cockrell, LL.D., president; M. H. Wolfe, past president; A. E. Thomas, of Fort Worth, executive chairman; Charles L. Harty, chairman board of trustees; W. M. Williams, administrative chairman; S. J. McFarland and J. Barney Davis, treasurers; Wm. Nehemia Wiggins, general superintendent, and a large number of vice presidents and committeemen from various counties in

The recent annual gatherings of the association were at Fort Worth in 1921, when 3000 to 5000 people attended some of the sessions, Waco and Galveston in 1920 and 1919, respectively. Dallas will expect from 3000 to 5000 outside delegates this year.

SOME PRACTICAL RESULTS IN RADIO

"HELLO, EUROPE!" OR HELLO ANY PART OF WORLD SOON IN ORDER

There seems to be something wrong with the connections on Midland's Radiophone, and the enterprising promoters of the institution have wired to Dallas for instructions. Up to now very little has been heard, but those interested are not worried, knowing whatever is wrong will soon be cor-

T. E. Jones, our Washington correspondent, writing under the caption, "Practical Results in Radio," contributes the following interesting information:

It is less than two years ago that the American navy was called upon to prevent our friends, the British. from launching their cables on the Florida coast, thereby tieing up for the British all the existing means of communication with Latin America. One day in January of last year a committee of United States senators got together and listened to a statement by Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of directors of the Radio Corporation of America. In the slang of the street he 'told them a thing or two." As a result of many conferences between government officials and the pioneers who have already made tremendous strides in the development of wireless telephony, Uncle Sam is no longer alarmed about the foreign ownership and control of the cables. For the results of a thorough understanding between the governand the Radio Corporation spurred the latter to hasten their patriotic efforts and today the United States is moving rapidly forward towards becoming the center of a world system of communications in the operation of which the whims or restrictions of foreign nations cut very little figure.

A few days ago the writer visited "central office" in New York City, where radio messages were passing to and from Great Britain, France, Norway and Germany. Communications were as immediate as between telegraph operators; or as telephone conversation, without any considerable intervening distances. An operator "receiving" a message from Norway suddenly touched a typewriter key and by that simple action notified the Norwegian operator to "stop" until the man in New York could straighten out sheets of paper he was using. Instantly the order was obeyed, and a few seconds later the message from Norway was resumed when the New ready. I saw it, and heard it; and it was explained by a Radio officialand still I answered: "'Taint so-it can't be done!" For how could "the hearing ear and the seeing eye" that the Old Testament describes play such tricks on what Byron described as the "magic of the mind?" And can you blame me for expecting a definite answer to the question of my fellowinspector, who had come from the Chicago stockyards, when he asked: "How far is it to Heaven?" It is a long ways-some one observes-for the packers. But Europe isn't far when the land operators at "central office" and the great station at the to additional space, as may be needed edge of the ocean spans the wave in the promotion of their work.—Edilengths and makes possible instantan- | tor.) eous communication between the old and the new world.

census gives the total production of boots and shoes during the month of January, 1922, as 25,173,437 pairs, compared with 24,241,773 pairs during December and 23,592,610 pairs in November, which indicates a steady increase in production, writes the Industrial Service Department of the First National Bank of St. Louis, in its weekly financial review.

There was a gain of almost 1,000,-000 pairs in two months in the output of men's high and low cuts, which amounted to 7,770,681 pairs in January, against 7,455,218 pairs in December and 6,780,'253 pairs in November. Production of women's high and low cut shoes increased more than 1,000,000 pairs in two months, with the January production 7,976,-125 pairs, as compared with 7,747,-926 pairs in December and 6.975,146 pairs in November.

Gains in output of other descriptions of shoes were only slight, with misses' and children's shoes 3,198,410 pairs in January, 2,802,788 pairs in December and 3,150,263 pairs in November. Boys', youths' and little gents' shoes were produced to the extent of 1,945,332 pairs in January and 1,851177 pairs in December. There were 1,930,508 pairs in infants' shoes produced in January as compared with 1,816,282 pairs in Decem-

The census report for January d es not indicate what proportion of the shoes produced during the month was made in the New England States but during December 9,870,200 pairs were manufactured in New England and 14,371,573 pairs in other sections of the country.

In this application your petitioner isks a construction of said clause in said will, and whether or not it supersedes the clause in the first will which gives to Marie McKinney her home place in Midland, Texas.

The second clause of said later will reads as follows: "The rent house, being lots one and two, in block fiftyeight, I desire shall go to my nephew, Harry V. Struble, and one section of land or its equivalent."

Your petitioner asks the judgment of the court in regard to such clause and asks the court to render judgment as to whether or not the above is the amount or the property that Harry V. Struble shall take under said will, and whether or not these devises made in the last will super-sede the leacies given these parties n the first will pro rata, of five thous and dollars to Ida Mae Struble, six thousand dollars to Marie Struble.

The third paragraph under said la ter will reads as follows: "To Frank McCord (my nephew) I give in cash twenty-five dollars for his kindness to his blind father, C. W. McCord."
