FLYERS LAND: GREAT RECEPTION

Friday Takeoff of Seattle-to-Tokyo Flight, Robbins Says

RACE MEET FRIDAY STARTS JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION HERE

FIRST RACE BE CALLED AT 3 OCLOCK

Seven Events Carded Friday and Again Saturday

Fourth of July activities will be under way Friday afternoon when at 3 o'clock the first race of a two day meet is called at Cowboy park, a mile south of the city on the Rankin road.

The races, under the auspices of the Brooks W. Lee Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, have attracted some of the best race animals of West Texas and six events will make up the program on both Friday and Saturday afternoons. Programs begin at 3 o'clock each day.

Tom Nance will act as a starter of the races. Elliott F. Cowden, Foy Proctor and Harry L. Haight being the judges.

Seven Fast Events The program consists of a quarter mile race for cow ponies and polo horses, a three-eighths mile race for two-year olds, a three-eighths race for three year olds and up, a half mile race, a five-eighths free for all and a mile and a half relay.

A feature race, to be run between the second and third races of the regular program, will be the "Jelly Bean handicap." James S. Noland, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post, challenged the presidents of the chamber of commerce, Rotary and Lions clubs and the men's Bible class to enter a one-eighth mile race. All have accepted or secured riders to represent them, final list including Noland, Elliott F. Cowden, Dr. W. E. Ryan, Dr. D. K. Ratliff and T. Paul Barron, representing the clubs in the order listed above. Riders will be well mounted on cow ponies from surrounding ranches.

Admission to the races will be only 50 cents, officers of the Vets announced. Lee Haynes, George Underwood and Neal Staton, of the Vets organization, are in general charge of the race meet.

Fire Department Assists at Pit

Artificial mud is being created at the barbecue pit through volunteer work of the fire department to keep down the dust. The city is furnishing water to help make the grounds comfortable for the crowds.

Practically every committee man has accepted his task, records of the chamber of commerce show. The beef gathering committee composed of J. O. Nobles, Sam Preston, Andrew Faska and J. B. Ford have about completed their enormous job. Earl Ray, son of Virgil C. Ray, general man of all barbecue preparations, has given valiant service in gathering the beeves.

Kenneth E. Ambrose and his ice house employes have kept an accurate record of all beef received and the Southern Ice & Utilities has donated use of its refrigerating vaults at considerable expense. The beef inspected by many people, as well as by Dr. W. E. Ryan, city health officer, was declared not only in perfect condition, but the sight of all the golden meat started salivary glands working over time.

TWO PLANES LAND

Two planes landed at Sloan field this morning about 9:15. One was army trimotor, flown by Robert Gronamoh of Bowling field, and was en route to March field. There were three passengers.

A Stinson Jr., piloted by Harry D. Ruch, landed three passengers. It is en route to Staten Island and came from the west coast.

Carole Lombard and New Hubby

Everybody thought William Powell, famous mystery movie detective, was a confirmed hermit. Then Carole Lombard, the blond, blue-eyed actress came along. And here you see them just before they sailed on a Honolulu honeymoon.

Flags Hang All Over the Town; Rules Are Set Forth

BY JAMES P. HARRISON

Midland business men are eager to conform with nationally adopted methods of decorating with the Flag of the United States and some have been seeking information that will help them use the flag correctly.

Members of the American Legion and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are especially posted on the correct hanging of the flag and could be consulted for information.

A few of the rules as adopted by the National Flag conference might give the desired information.

Rule 7 gives the information that when the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony, or front of building, the union of the flag should go clear to the head of the staff unless the flag is at half mast.

Rule 8 says when the flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, i. e., to the observer's left. When displayed in a window it should be displayed the same way, that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

That rule and Rule 9 should be studied carefully for July 4 decorations.

Rule 9 adds that when displayed over the middle of the street, as between buildings, the flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east-and-west street or to the east in a north-and-south street.

Rule 10. When used on a speaker's platform, the flag should be displayed above and behind the speaker. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk nor to drape over the front of the platform. If flown from a staff, it should be on the speaker's right.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

J. P. French, employe of the Midland Drug company, underwent an operation for acute appendix, at the Mid-West clinic-hospital last night. His father, Dr. French, of Big Spring, is here visiting his son today.

TWO FUEL CONTACTS IN AIR

Flight Taken for Big Prize Offered by Tokyo Paper

SEATTLE, July 2, (UP)—Reg L. Robbins and H. S. Jones plan to takeoff early tomorrow, weather permitting, in their Lockheed-Vega plane on a non-stop flight to Tokyo to collect $25,000 offered by a Japanese newspaper.

The flyers arrived here yesterday from Boise, Idaho, where they had flown from Fort Worth.

Robbins said he hoped to reach Tokyo in 55 hours after leaving Seattle. The plane will be refueled over Fairbanks and Nome before starting across the Bering sea.

A trimotored Ford will precede the flyers to Fairbanks to make refueling contacts there and at Nome.

HAYNES RESIGNS AS CHIEF POLICE OFFICIAL IN CITY

Lee Haynes has resigned as chief of police of Midland. His resignation was hesitantly accepted by the council, effective July 1.

"The council did not wish to accept the resignation," one of the city dads said. "The officer was one of the finest ever to represent law and order in this town, and was respected by everyone as a gentleman as well as a good officer."

By law, the city marshal, Andy Norwood, is ex-officio chief, and the police force will work under him in the future. The city council has little or no authority over policing of Midland now, inasmuch as Norwood was elected by the people, and is empowered with that authority himself.

Haynes had been appointed by the council.

Showers May Be Friday's Relief

DALLAS, July 2, (UP)—Scattered thundershowers today and tomorrow are the only relief from sweltering weather seen by the United States weather bureau here.

Heavy windstorms, which brought hail to the Panhandle yesterday, caused thousands of dollars damage to crops around Pampa.

Two and a half inches of rainfall fell in 30 minutes. Four were injured by lightning. Telephone lines were broken down and small buildings were overturned.

Explanation Is Made to Golfers

It is not necessary to be on the links or, for that matter, in the city on the Fourth of July, in order to play in the tournament, C. L. Jackson, one of the committeemen in charge, said.

"The finals will be played on Sunday. All you need to do is go out and play 18 holes for your qualifying round, then go out Sunday for the finals," he said. Midland men should qualify this afternoon or Friday, so the course will not be congested when golfers from a distance arrive.

TO BE TAKEN HOME

Miss Thelma White, convalescing from an operation about ten days ago at the Midland clinic-hospital will be taken to her home, 308 S. Marienfield, tomorrow.

Mrs. Wiley Post was the first one to greet her famous husband when he landed the Winnie Mae at New York after setting a new world-girdling record. Mrs. Gatty was delayed in Pittsburgh when her plane was forced down.

RYAN ASSUMES NEW POSITION AS ROTARY OFFICIAL

Dr. W. E. Ryan assumed the duties of Rotary club president at the luncheon today at a special installation program. Other officers installed were B. Frank Haag, vice president; Clyde Y. Barron, secretary, and Percy J. Mims, treasurer. These four with Malcolm Meek, Leon Goodman and T. Paul Barron constitute the board of directors.

W. I. Pratt, in charge of the installation program, had each new officer and director introduced by the outgoing official of the same post. T. Paul Barron introducing President Ryan, John Howe introducing Clyde Haag, Upham introducing Clyde Barron, Pratt introducing Mims in the absence of the outgoing treasurer, J. O. Nobles, Pratt introducing directors Goodman and Meek.

Special music was played by Miss Mary Belle Pratt, Misses Catherine and Lillian Dunaway.

Wives of incoming officers, including Mesdames Ryan, Clyde Barron, Mims and Goodman, were introduced, also Mrs. Harvey Sloan. Malcolm Meek presented T. Paul Barron with the past president's jewel on behalf of the club.

Following the introduction of each new officer, the "rough neck" chorus sang such songs as "Old Gray Mare," "Jolly Good Fellow," and other fitting numbers.

Dr. Ryan, in his speech of acceptance, spoke briefly of plans of the club for the year, appointed program committees and announced that other committees, under the Rotary aims and objects plan, will be announced following the assembly of presidents and secretaries at Breckenridge. Malcolm Meek was named to continue at the head of the "1932 conference" committee.

Fire Damages Residence Today

A fire at 304 West New York about 1:30 this morning partially destroyed the small radio shop at the back of the home of Frank Smith Jr.

The fire started in the rear of the place, but damage and origin were not known.

DALLAS, July 2, (UP)—Mrs. Kathleen Achilles and J. W. McCutley, 45, were shot critically here this morning by a motorist who drove up while they awaited a street car.

Police were seeking Chester Achilles, estranged husband of the woman.

A few minutes after the killing, police received a call from Achilles' sister in San Antonio, who said her brother had just phoned saying he had murdered his wife and a man and planned to kill himself.

Police failed to find Achilles at home.

PRORATION ORDER ASSURANCE LIKELY -COMMISSIONERS

AUSTIN, July 2, (UP)—Two members of the railroad commission this morning gave assurance that a new East Texas oil proration order would be issued today.

Chairman C. V. Terrell said an order had been agreed upon but offered no description.

Commissioner Lon A. Smith said the order would cover production of July, August and September.

Governor Sterling says he cannot believe that East Texas operators will obey the 250,000 barrel limit when they have been allowed a 300,000 barrel limit.

The governor indicated that he would not wait long to see how East Texas reacts to the new proration order before ordering a special legislative session.

Meanwhile, he is preparing to ask the legislature to form a strong conservation commission. He said he would not call a special session this week.

Parking Rules For Trades Day

Trades day Saturday is expected to be the biggest Trades day ever held in Midland. The program will be carried through as usual and at the regular time at 2 o'clock with George Phillipus in charge. The program will be on the vacant lots donated by B. F. Whitefield and Paul L. Young.

No cars will be permitted to park on the vacant lots south of the Baptist church at the corner of Illinois and Main streets. Police Chief Andrew Norwood has requested that all parking be done in the streets, leaving the lots open for people who are afoot.

Ronald Morgan, truck and platform manager from the Midland Hardware which provides the program truck, will drive the only car allowed to park on the lots.

Tennis Stars to Play Here July 4

Additional entries in the July 4 and 5 tennis tournament continue to pour in, W. Godbey said at noon. Bill Hogan and Tom McCarty, runners up in doubles in the TIAA conference for NTSTC, will be here, a telegram said.

A long distance telephone call from Fort Worth said Homer C. McCarty, who finished third in the Missouri Valley conference, and Weldon Litsey, who won the conference from Purdue university when paired with Murphy, leave Friday for Midland.

Miss Elma Neely of Winters, who won the bi-district last year, arrived here this morning.

STRICKEN ON TRIP

Mrs. A. J. Bohn, who was stricken here yesterday while en route with her husband from New York to Los Angeles, was operated on this morning at the Midland clinic-hospital.

Will Hop

Reg Robbins of Fort Worth, above, and H. S. Jones, below, plan to hop in their Lockheed plane Friday morning from Seattle to Tokyo, for a $25,000 newspaper prize.

PRORATION UMP MOVES TO CITY FOR RESIDENCE

A. B. Capers, new proration umpire for a group of West Texas counties, will open offices in Midland this week.

He and Mrs. Capers and his chief clerk, B. T. Smith and Mrs. Smith arrived in Midland Thursday and were procured homes by the chamber of commerce housing department.

Capers was transferred here from East Texas, where he was proration umpire for several months. He was also formerly proration umpire of Winkler and Ector counties, and will still have those counties with the addition of Pecos, Crane and Upton. The new umpire was formerly a production superintendent for the Texas company.

Who Sells Bear Grass Roots Here?

Gather around, all you dealers in roots. Introduce yourself. Your service is required.

A. A. Chernosky of Rosenberg has written the Midland chamber of commerce, asking who sells raw bear grass roots or bear grass products. He asks for names of individuals and companies who make it an exclusive work to dig, transport, sort and job in roots.

"I may at a later date be interested," the letter goes on to say. No one has found the letter interesting enough to change his avocation to root grubbing.

DRIVER REMOVED HOME

Ben Driver, who has been in the Mid-West clinic-hospital several weeks for treatment of stab wounds, was removed to his home at 1110 West Missouri this afternoon.

RECORDS SMASHED BY THEM

More People Gather Than When Lindy Returned

NEW YORK, July 2, (UP). Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, pilot and navigator of the Winnie Mae, in which they yesterday completed the fastest voyage ever made around the world, in eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes, awoke today to find a wildly enthusiastic nation at their feet.

After landing at Roosevelt field at 6:44 p. m. yesterday, weary from the trip, it was five hours before they got to bed. Greeted by a huge crowd, they spent hours talking to reporters and posing for pictures.

Mrs. Post was the first to greet her husband but Mrs. Gatty, delayed in Pittsburgh en route from California, missed the arrival. She was to join her husband today.

A giant formal reception was being planned by New York today.

Noisy Reception Post and Gatty were given a noisy reception by Manhattan today, after refreshing themselves with eight hours of sleep.

They were taken down the Hudson aboard the municipal tug Macon to start a triumphal parade uptown with millions applauding in streets and others in skyscrapers showering with tickertape and torn telephone books.

Boats in the harbor all sounded whistles as they proceeded up Broadway to the city hall.

Crowds were estimated larger than those who greeted Lindbergh.

Flyers Tired Out

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—A pair of very tired, wan and motor-deaf aviators, Harold Gatty and Wiley Post, faced a battery of newspapermen and photographers at the Ritz Carlton hotel with boyish shyness. "What day is this?" asked Post. Informed, he turned to Gatty and exclaimed, "Say, buddy, we made it, didn't we?"

Gatty smiled and thumped Post on his broad back.

A crowd of more than 500 persons waited for hours at the hotel entrance to greet the flyers, and broke into cheers when Gatty and Post, in their shirtsleeves, were helped out of a limousine.

Police guards were helpless to stem the rush of the crowd as it surged forward to touch or shake (See FLYERS LAND page 6)

NO TYPICAL AMERICAN

European travelers have given varying descriptions of the typical American. For more than a century they have come to the country, looked around a bit and then gone home to tell the folks that the typical American is this, that or the other sort of chap.

Now, however, a visiting Englishman arises to say that there is no such creature as a typical American.

The visitor is H. L. Puxley, an English college student who has been touring the United States on a fellowship fund. He reports that he found no one who seemed to be typical of America as a whole; nor did he find any typical American town or city or countryside.

On the contrary, he asserts that a casual observer from abroad finds so many differences between men and places in varying parts of the nation that he would be justified in supposing that he was traveling through several different countries.

Considering our passion for being exactly like all of our neighbors, we may find this verdict rather disappointing; but, really, it is good news. The sectional differences that distinguish one part of the country from another are valuable possessions. It would not be good for us to lose them.

There is little danger that we shall. The Texan and the New Yorker, for instance, live amid entirely different environments; how could they grow to look, talk and act alike? Kansas and Massachusetts have almost nothing in common. There is a greater difference between Virginia and Wyoming than mere miles of distance.

Each of these sections has its own virtues. It would be a pity if their inhabitants all became identical. There is no reason why New Englanders and Californians should be exactly alike; no more reason than there is for wishing that the landscapes of the two regions should be similar.

After all, the country has amply proved its solidarity. When the World War came it was demonstrated that the nation could act and feel as a unit. Sectional differences sank out of sight, and no one even thought of them.

That being the case, why should we feel badly over the non-existence of the "typical American"? We don't need him. We have typical Ohioans, typical Philadelphians, typical Oklahomans, typical Mississippians, typical Georgians. The typical American, probably, would be a mixture of them all. We can take him on faith.

FIREWORKS AND EYES

Very timely is a warning from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness to the effect that carelessness on the part of Fourth of July celebrants will cause many children to lose their eyesight.

"Contrary to popular impression," says the society, "the observance of Independence Day is not becoming safe and sane."

Fireworks accidents cause hundreds of painful eye injuries each year. The victims usually are children. Fully 50 of them are totally blinded each year, and 500 more have their vision more or less impaired.

Until we get sense enough to get along without fireworks entirely on Independence Day, we shall continue to have accidents of this kind. But the warning should make every parent exercise unusual care on the Fourth of July.

DUMB OFFICIALDOM

Why is it that public officials seem under the necessity of losing their heads completely whenever dealings with Communists are involved?

The other day Communists planned a public meeting at Barborton, O. They asked the mayor for a permit and he told them one would not be needed and said the police would not interfere if the meeting were orderly.

Several hundred Communists and sympathizers attended the meeting. The first speaker had barely mounted the platform when the police tossed quantities of tear

Lindberghs Will Have a New Home after Flight

BY JULIA BLANSHARD NEA Service Writer

PRINCETON, N. J.—When Anne and Lindy get back from Japan in the fall, the new $50,000 house that they are building in the Sourland Hills of New Jersey not far from here is expected to be finished and waiting to bid the famous couple, "Welcome Home!"

Anne and Lindy picked the site for this, the first home of their own, from the air. It promises them the privacy they crave, for it is quite inaccessible, off the beaten auto path, up a series of winding dirt and gravel roads, five miles from Hopewell, in the direction of Mount Rose. In addition, it seems ideal for their flying purposes.

About an hour and a half from New York by motor, it will take them only about 10 minutes flying time in their big, powerful plane that can make 200 miles an hour. Even with their little sports ship, it is only a 20-minute flight. The 400-acre farm that they have chosen is open farm country, slightly rolling. They have placed their home on the ridge, with the woods behind and open country in front and on both sides of it. About a quarter of a mile down the meadows from the house there is a marvelous natural landing field about 1500 feet long and 600 feet wide.

Near the Air Trails Here Lindy plans to build a hangar for their sports plane. This field is not more than 10 miles off the marked airplane route from New York and Washington so that the Lindberghs, once they have taken off, soon will be on the air trail that they know so well.

To date the house has only the basement and half of the first story built. It is made of field stone, much of which was blasted right out of what is now the Lindbergh basement. It is expected that the Colonel will have the whole house white-washed when completed, to make it more visible from the air. It is possible that there will be a beacon on the roof to guide night landings.

No pretentious suburban show place, with huge proportions, is this new house of the Lindberghs. Rather it gives the impression of a comfortable, isolated country home for a quiet family. The southeast has a many-windowed 60-foot living room, with a fireplace on one end and a sunroom that is all windows at the southwest end. Behind the living room is the dining room and from one side a door leads to a hall with cement floor which drops three steps down into the three-car garage built in on the northwest side. There are plans for spacious masters' suites, two guest suites, the nursery suite and servants' quarters.

From the front porch Anne can lean over and pick dogwood next spring, for some trees, right by the house, have been tenderly guarded from harm by tall fences built all around them. From this same view the Lindberghs can look down the mild slope, beyond the landing field, across meadows and up another slope without seeing any houses, any highways or railroads.

It is country, pure and simple, with no million-dollar vistas, but satisfying rolling country to view and only the song of birds to hear, once the workmen are through.

There are no huge, tall trees, such as stand sentinel over the rented white farmhouse that the Lindberghs have called home since last fall. But behind their own home there is a deep, thick woods of young cedar, dogwood, maple, ash, elm, oak and some willows. Here rabbits and pheasants can be hunted in season, if the Colonel ever wants to hunt, which he seldom does.

To clear the space for their home, Lindy, with a nice gesture of sentiment, picked up the axe and cut down the first tree. He and Anne are often at the place, seeing just how things are coming. Sometimes they bring curly-haired little "Charlie" with his big blue eyes, dressed now in rompers most of the time and get-

Daily Washington Letter

Nation's Doctor Bill Is Over Three Billions—Survey of Committee of Costs of Medical Care Shows 13,000,000 Persons Are Disabled by Illness Yearly—Colds Responsible for Most Lost of Time.

Editor's Note: This is the first of two stories, concerning some of the more interesting discoveries of the committee on the cost of Medical care, which is making a series of studies on the economic aspects of illness and medical service.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—There are at least 13,000,000 cases of disabling illness in the United States every year and the cost of medical service is about $3,106,000,000.

Families afflicted by illness pay $123,000,000 annually for necessary extra household help alone.

A third of the money—$4,000,000,000—goes to physicians, according to estimates by the research staff of the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care. This committee, under the chairmanship of Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, is a large group of physicians, public health officials and other experts, economists, representatives of institutions and social agencies.

Medical Cost Medicine and supplies at $700,000,000 represent the next largest item and the others are hospitals $550,000,000, dentists $400,000,000, nurses (other than hospital) $12,000,000, public health $86,000,000, optometrists and opticians $50,000,000, chiropractors and naturopaths $30,000,000, osteopaths $20,000,000, midwives $15,000,000, chiropractists $15,000,000 and non-hospital dispensaries $5,000,000.

The estimates are based on continuing committee studies directed at the problem of adequate, scientific medical service to all people at a cost which they can reasonably meet.

Surveys thus far show wide divergencies in medical expenditures in proportion to income. Families with income under $1200 spend about $86 a year on medical service, those with under $2000 spend $71.48 whereas with more than $500 a year $311 and those over $10,000 about $520.

It appears that the average person is disabled by illness at least once a year—men about once, women once to twice and children more than twice every school year. The very young and the very old have considerably more than their share of the illness and there is more of it in winter than in summer, as you doubtless suspected, because of colds and other respiratory diseases.

The available data, the committee has found, indicates that the average adult man loses seven to eight days a year from illness, and the average woman eight to 12 days. One large private survey covering 570,000 persons showed that an average of two per cent was ill on any single day, which would mean a general average loss of seven days a year.

And it appears that America's 36,000,000 wage earners lose at least $250,000,000 work days and 24,000,000 school children 170,000,000 days each school year. That represents only about half the population.

The Cold Nuisance Dr. Homer Folks, secretary of the New York State Charities Aid Association and a public health authority estimated a few years ago that the total cost of illness in this country, including loss of wages at $2,250,000,000 and loss of future earnings through death at $12,000,000,000 was nearly $16,000,000,000.

Colds, bronchial troubles, influenza and grippe are most often responsible for lost time. Digestive diseases and disorders "loom large," the committee material shows. Throat diseases are of considerable frequency and severity.

Most people get the common communicable diseases of childhood before they become adults. One study covering 40,000 appears to show that 89 per cent have had measles at the age of 20, 77 per cent whooping cough, 72 per cent mumps, 52 per cent chicken pox, 11 per cent scarlet fever and 10 per cent diphtheria.

Sometimes when the Lindberghs drive over to their new place they bring along their young Scotty puppy, "Skean" who is devoted to Charlie and quite as playful as the baby himself.

Neighbors All Farmers In their new home the Lindberghs will be bothered by no prying neighbors. The nearest neighbors they have on the Hopewell side are the Andrew Hausenbauers and their little two-year-old Alberta and the nearest neighbors through the woods are the Millers, who have six children. Both of these families are simple farmer folk, not the least likely to dream of presuming on their proximity to fame. Selling honey and chickens and doing the housework keeps her busy, anyway, Mrs. Hausenbauer will tell you. But she also has some nice stories about workmen whom Lindy has taken for rides, about the pleasant way Mrs. Lindbergh passes the time of day with the country folk.

Just across the road from the Hausenbauers' chicken houses is the entrance to the Lindbergh farm. An old brown frame house, with lilacs bordering the old picket fence, flanks the road marked in clear letters, "Private Road." Just behind it is a nice old stone

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

I have been thinking of the vast difference in the present visit to France by Andy Mellon and the little visit that Pershing and his boys made several years ago. Think it out for yourself.

The big shots at Washington told us that we'd throw the nation into bankruptcy if congress made a little loan to our World War soldiers. That brings to mind some more of that moratorium business, and it seems that those same big shots aren't worrying about two or three hundred millions of dollars now.

If I ever have any secrets to keep, I'll tell no person but a Scotchman and I know they'll be kept safe and sound.

This moratorium holiday outfit reminds me of the jelly bean handicap horse race that some of the boys are going to pull off this week-end. However, the race will be over by Monday.

It has been said that 50,000,000 Frenchmen can't be wrong, but I say that they can—if they're careful.

house which probably was the milk house when the farm was running. The Lindberghs expect to tear down the frame structure and remodel the old stone house into a little lodge where a guard can be placed to insure privacy, if necessary.

Privacy Is Keynote Now the private road is almost a corduroy road bumping through bog and mud, winding this way and that for a quarter of a mile. When the house is completed, this same general direction of a road will be kept but the road improved, of course. It circles around in a way to skirt the woods and comes upon the house unexpectedly at the crest of the gently rising slope.

Everything about this simple delightful country place bespeaks the Lindberghs themselves. It reflects their genuine desire for a private life far from the prying eyes of the curious world, the kind of pleasant retreat that the Lindberghs would call a place "Home, Sweet Home."

HAS 30,000 REASONS TO REMAIN SINGLE LONDON—"I claim to have 30,000 reasons for being single."

So says Santos Casani, well-known dance teacher who has been the unyielding object of many a young girl's affections. "During the twelve years I have been teaching dancing I have taught at 30,000 women, and I have learned something from each of them that has either increased my admiration of the fair sex or the opposite," he says.

"No man is the impossible conglomerate of charms and virtues of a woman's imagination. Nor, in my opinion, is marriage merely a state in which a woman has the spending of her husband's money and must be continually flattered and loved. But this is just what many women do expect, and they do not hesitate to tell me so.

"I have learned always to beware of any woman who seems nicer and more considerate than the rest. I know it is only a pose. So single I shall remain."

RESOLUTION On account of the recent bereavement in the family of our beloved COMRADE, C. C. Duffy, the Brooks W. Lee Post No. 2059, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Midland, Texas, does hereby adopt and offer the following resolution of sympathy and consolation:

Whereas the Great Commander of the universe has visited by the Hand of death, into the sacred ranks of our Comrade's Family, Now Therefore Be It Resolved: That this Post offer our sincere and heartfelt sympathy, while it is not within our power to stay the Hand of the Grim Reaper yet it is our privilege to be ready as true soldiers to answer to our names when the same shall be called and our service is ended.

So unto that pledge, that so constantly reminds us of our devotion, one to the other, let us all ever be true as Soldiers, carrying on in the trust left to us by our Many COMRADES who have also gone WEST.

Be it also resolved that this writing be entered on the minutes of this Post, published in the Midland Newspapers and a Copy sent Comrade Duffy & Family.

Kerrville Camp Setting Is One Of Beauty, Gwyn

BY RAY GWYN

Editor's Note: Several young people of the First Methodist church are planning to leave this week end to attend the annual Kerrville assembly. Ray Gwyn, who leaves tomorrow morning, writes the following article on the activities of the assembly. Elected delegates to 50 Sunday are Misses Laura Mullins, Nellie Stephenson and Esther Mae Hodo.

The Methodist Kerrville assembly grounds are composed of about two hundred acres of land bordering on the north side of the Guadalupe river. Toward the northern most part of the assembly grounds lies old Mt. Wesley where so many have received inspiration and have dedicated themselves to the work of the Kingdom of God.

The Epworth league owns a spot of nine acres upon which they have built a beautiful dormitory capable of furnishing room for 250. In front of the dormitory is the patio set in grass and bordered with pecan trees and shrubs. In the center of the patio is the league emblem made by the deft use of flowers and shrubs giving it the colors of white and gold, which are the league colors.

On July 6th to 15th the Senior assembly will be held and from July 15th to 23rd will be the Christian Adventure assembly for Hi-leagues. The assemblies this year are expected to have an attendance of four hundred seniors and two hundred fifty Hi-leaguers.

While at the assembly, the young people are very busy. The day is begun with morning watch at 7:30 and continues with breakfast, classes, business session, dinner, quiet

Horse Racing Holds Interest of Midland Women

Society folk of Midland will devote their main attention July 4 to the horse races being staged at Cowboy park by Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Horse racing throughout the world is a society event. The Kentucky Derby, the New Orleans races, the various English downs, the races at Paris, France and Saratoga, New York, draw the smartest society people of America and Europe. Horse racing has a universal appeal.

The lure of horse racing is just as great in the smaller towns and cities as among the larger cities, and Midland society women, as well as all men love exciting sports, plan to attend the horse races at Cowboy park July 3 and 4. The horse racing card opens Friday at 3 o'clock and races will be run the same hour the next day.

A comfortable grand stand, parking grounds for cars and an oiled track insure comfort for Midland ladies and visiting ladies who see the races Friday and Saturday.

hour, recreation at the river, supper, evening service, campfire and prayer groups. All lights are out at 11:00 and quiet holds sway for a few hours until time for the next day's program. The program is such that everyone enjoys it immensely, even the older people who attend.

No greater investment can be made by anyone than by arranging for some young person to attend some assembly. It is an investment in life, character and the future and the dividends are the joy and happiness from helping some person to become a noble, stalwart leader.

Helpful Health Suggestions

By Martha Bredemeier

Lead Poisoning From Toys—A Child Hazard

The United States Public Health service has been informed of the occurrence of occasional cases of lead poisoning in infants and children, apparently due to biting lead paint from cribs and toys. While lead paint has wide fields of usefulness, the painting of cribs and toys is not one of them. Manufacturers of these articles generally see to it that lead paint is not used. Parents, on the other hand, should be warned against using paints when repainting cribs. The lead-free paints which can be used with safety are the quick-drying lacquers and enamels sold for interior use.

Danger Hours After School

Studies in various cities reveal the fact that about 50 per cent of child traffic accidents occur between 4 in the afternoon and 8 in the evening. These hours constitute the children's play-time, the period when they throw off restraint and give over their time to fun. The safety training which keeps them comparatively safe going to and from school is too often forgotten.

Traffic is heavy during those hours. Realizing that children are often thoughtless in their play, the really careful motorist will make every attempt to do their thinking for them.

By injecting a certain serum into eggs, various colored chickens have been produced.

ALL-STAR AGGREGATIONS SELECTED FOR FOURTH JULY EXHIBITION

Inverness Course Scene of National Open Golf Tourney Second Time

LEADING HURLERS CAPTAIN TWO CLUBS

Rival lineups for the star players' game beginning at 8:15 the night of July Fourth at Pagoda diamond were announced this morning.

Leon Chewning, one of the managers, announced his club Tuesday, and Scotty Gemmill brought in his list today. The finest players of the eight clubs in the candlelight league were chosen by lot.

Chewning's club, in batting order, has Bobbie Miller in center field, E. B. Estes in right field, D. Parrott on third base, Ronald Morgan in left field, McCall in utility field, Johnson on first base, Chewning as pitcher, A. Estes catcher, Whitmire, second base and Jones short stop.

Bell Telephone plays De Luxe laundry at 7 this afternoon, Rexall stores and Midland hardware following in a game at 8:15.

On Friday afternoon, Texas Electric plays Cowden-Epley in the first game, Reporter-Telegram and the Scruggs Buick the second game.

The combination appears stronger than the Gemmill club, both from batting and fielding.

Gemmill announced his men as follows: Hold catcher, Gemmill pitcher, Hiet first, Simpson, second Mills short, Stevens third, Hatfield utility, Ratliff left field, Pyron center and Northington right field.

Matching of the game resulted from popular request, partly because of the desire of Midland fans to show visitors here on the holiday how Midland has become the only successful town in West Texas at playing "indoor ball outside at night," and to see how certain players can work with good support built up about them.

Big Crowds are expected to attend the affair.

SPORTS REPORTS

BY R. C. HANKINS

Midland merchants have dug down into their jeans again. This time they have financed a list of prizes for the medal play at country club July Fourth and Fifth. Albert Oreck was on the spot with unusual offers and cooperation in ordering the prizes and the prize committee asked this department to give him their thanks in print. Other merchants who contributed cash or near prizes follow: Hokus Pokus, Conner Brothers market, Llano Barber shop, Miller Drug company, Southern Ice, Scharbauer Coffee shop, Hotel Scharbauer, Every-Ready Service station, M-System, Bob Scruggs, Midland Drug, Jackson Chevrolet, Fred Turner, Nobles-Tolbert, First National, A. Wadley, Harry Tolbert, United Dry Goods, Texas Electric, Everybody's, Midland Hardware, Taylor Drug, Petroleum Drug, Hotel Pharmacy, Cowden-Epley and the F. H. Day Rubber company.

The affair is arranged as the first annual tournament, H. S. Forgeron, member of the prize committee, said. "The committee wishes to thank everyone who contributed in any manner to the evident success of the tournament," Forgy said. The capital prize is a silver service set that is beautiful. This goes to the medalist. There will be two prizes given in each flight, one to the winner and the other to the runner up. The winner gets a $55 Hamilton watch.

Two golfers had already qualified this morning, and others were expected to do so today, in line with the request of the committee to qualify in time to be out of the way of golfers who come a-visiting. Earl Whitcombe shot a 53 and a 60, for a total score of 113. Billy Walsh played to the turn in a 47, taking an even 50 on the in round, for a total of 97. Forgeron scored for them and attested to their tallies. Tomorrow is the other day set aside for qualifying rounds for the locals.

Elliott Cowden will ride the nag for the chamber of commerce, and Doc Ratliff will host one along for the Lions club. Doc Ryan was out yesterday on Lon Robert's Keeno, one of the fastest cow horses we've seen in years. The doc was so hot he couldn't wait to get to the track before breezing his mount, and burned the rocky road to Dublin across the prairie, causing John Dublin to get pawed by a mount he was leading near the track and this word juggler to get his hands blistered trying to hold Tom Cat. The doc will have to get the brakes of his mount reined, for he can't stop him. If the others want to win that Jellybean handicap they'll have to beat the doc's nag.

Colors will be conspicuous in the race, everyone being dressed like a wedding of painted dolls. Women can really play their system of selecting colors to win in this race.

Pleasant View is saying a lot of words about a baseball game here July Fourth and Fifth with Colorado. The game on the anniversary of firecrackers will be played at 5 p.m., the one on the fifth coming at 3 o'clock. Colorado has a good team and you fellows who like to see baseball won't have much trouble in being amused in case you journey to Bizzell park.

And don't forget those hot games the Busher-Colts will stage with Tahoka. We haven't seen the Bushers' publicity man of late, but the engagement still stands. The diamond is near the Rainwater apartments.

B. C. Girdley still raising the roof about something. Anyway, here's his statement, taken down by the sphygm-like court reporter, Elsie Boone:

"Ben Dublin, manager of the Firemen team kicked up a fuss with me yesterday about Joe Pyron's age. He thinks Joe is under 40 years. About 25 years ago some oil company in Pennsylvania bought him—probably from the Athletics—to knock holes in burning oil tanks with base balls. Later they began to use small cannons for that purpose and as Joe was too old to play ball they gave him another job. He's old. Besides he told me he is 45 years old and I have no reason (or disposition) to dispute his word.

"You have said this game will be funny. Sure it will be funny to watch Dad Pollock lunge around all the bases after parking one over right field into Benny Bizzell's chicken yard. It will be funny to see Moon Myrick swinging out at Bub Osborne's old wide school house outs. Come out and see. You're a piker, as well as a slouch at doing sports. Why can't you give me half the front page on this? My club needs the publicity. Don't let the public forget—the game is played July 4. More later."

GOLF as the STARS play it

By ART KRENZ

Is the practice swing, taken before hitting the ball, of any benefit?

Seldom have I seen golf stars indulging in practice swings on tee, fairway or in the rough. Walter Hagen once told me that a beginner might be aided by such a maneuver but that he did not regard the practice swing as being of particular value to accomplish plays.

There is something ridiculous about the sight of a golfer, after knocking the heads off a hundred dandelions going to the tee, stiffening up and making an awkward lunge at the ball.

A good place to practice is on the practice tee. When playing a round of golf, it is a pretty good idea to forget the rehearsing.

TOMORROW: Do you advise a beginner to start in by playing the game, or is it best to learn something about its fundamentals first?

Right field into Benny Bizzell's chicken yard. It will be funny to see Moon Myrick swinging out at Bub Osborne's old wide school house outs. Come out and see. You're a piker, as well as a slouch at doing sports. Why can't you give me half the front page on this? My club needs the publicity. Don't let the public forget—the game is played July 4. More later."

PLAY BEGINS ON JULY 2, LASTS THROUGH 4TH

BY RALPH TEATSORTH

United Press Staff Correspondent. TOLEDO, O., July 2, (UP)—The 1931 National Open golf tournament will be played on July 2, 3, 4, over the Inverness Country club course, one of the country's finest and the only course to have been awarded the championship medal twice.

The National Open was held at Inverness for the first time in 1920 and was won by Ted Ray, English golfer. Ray beat out Harry Vardon, a fellow countryman, to win. Since that time no British golfer has won the biggest of American tournaments.

British Threat—When the world's leading golfers meet here to renew the championship fight, the fear of another successful British conquest will be present. Bobby Jones is out of the running, and there will be several of England's best in competition. Jones was making his debut in the open tournament when Ray won the championship.

Experts have pictured a severe jolt to the Yankee spirit of independence should Abe Mitchell, No. TEN—348 yards (par 4)—A controlled drive both as to distance and direction is needed on this hole which parallels No. 1. A 225-yard drive sets the player off to a nice start and position for a mashie pitch to a high green.

No. ELEVEN—380 yards (par 4)—This hole has a newly built green. It has been lengthened from 356 to 380 yards. The green is tightly trapped.

No. TWELVE—516 yards (par 5)—The longest hole. Two hard, straight wallops will reach the green. A missed second shot will cause trouble. A water hazard crosses the fairway. The hole calls for complete mastery of shots.

Chance for Birdie—No. THIRTEEN—146 yards (par 3)—Short hole with green centering among pine trees, sided by deep sand traps. A straight mashie pitch will pave the way for a birdie.

No. FOURTEEN—416 yards (par 4)—It has not been changed since 1920. It is a fine hole of good length and calling for accurate shots. A pull or slice causes trouble. The green is well guarded.

No. FIFTEEN—441 yards (par 4)—One of the most beautiful holes on the course. Tee is in woodland. The hole calls for the strongest drive. Down hill progress goes all the way to the green. A long drive entices the player for an extra long iron shot. The green is tempting deserving of accuracy.

No. SIXTEEN—398 yards (par 4)—This hole demands steadiness in scoring. It has no special features. It is a simple par four for the careful, but disastrous to the careless.

No. SEVENTEEN—404 yards (par 4)—A fine hole, demanding that every shot be well placed. A water hazard crosses its fairway. A long and well placed drive nicely starts the player, whose second shot must have plenty of carry. Harry Vardon took a six here in 1920 and lost the title to Ted Ray.

No. EIGHTEEN—325 yards (par 4)—It ends an ideal test of golf. It demands accuracy, a straight drive and pitch to a fairly trapped green.

Hole by Hole—A general description of each hole follows:

No. ONE—392 yards (par 4)—An excellent hole, straight with out-of-bound to the right and high, rough grass to the left. It has an elevated tee which requires a long first shot. The green also is elevated and trapped. A pitch shot is required to land on the green.

No. TWO—388 yards (par 4)—This hole is much the same as the first. Out-of-bound is to the right and also directly back of the green. An over-pitch may penalize. Hence, the tendency to hold back, which if shown of the green finds deep sand.

No. THREE—146 yards (par 3)—Aibon picturesque hole which should hold no terror for contestants. A large soft green catches and holds the ball nicely.

No. FOUR—431 yards (par 4)—A lot of trouble here. The tee is in a woods, with large trees to the right and left of a narrow fairway. Traps are scattered here, making a 250-yard drive essential. The green is a rolling knob, sporty and difficult.

Natural Hole—No. FIVE—430 yards (par 4)—A hole recalled by golfers who participated in the National Open 11 years ago. It is natural and has no traps. It appears from the tee to have three ways of play. Yet golfers have learned there is only one sure way. The ball must have distance and must be straight. The green is elevated.

No. SIX—350 yards (par 4)—Easy for par figures. Care must be taken to avoid an over approach on this tightly trapped green. A straight, long ball must be sensibly combined to make this hole, concluding with a well executed mashie pitch shot.

No. SEVEN—316 yards (par 4)—The first "dogleg." It must be carefully played and the fairway must be followed to avoid punishment. A proper approach is demanded. A topped drive straight for the green in view of the tee, sends the player into trouble—usually into a deep gully.

No. EIGHT—210 yards (par 3)—A first class par three hole. The opening to the green is 53 feet wide and commands accurate shots.

No. NINE—492 yards (par 5)—An interesting hole, presenting several lines of play. A second perfect wood shot promises a birdie four, or a possible eagle three. Trouble awaits

SHAMROCK, Tex.—A. V. Purcell has a hen that lays eggs, according to their market value. The lower the price of eggs the smaller product she lays, Purcell reports. "Until two weeks ago she was a good hen," he says. "Then she went haywire, brooding over the low price of eggs, I suppose. Eggs dropped to 10 cents a dozen and she cut her production down to one-fourth of an ounce. The price dropped to 8 cents and now I can hardly find the eggs."

Gloria Is Tired Of Marriage Reports

PARIS. (UP).—"This is my first real holiday in 14 years." Gloria Swanson, movie star, said when she arrived here from America. "I shall take a house here, with my children, and probably will run over to London for a few days to see my new picture, 'Indiscreet.' Then I shall return to Paris to study until I go back to America." With reference to her matrimonial intentions, Miss Swanson neither denied nor confirmed rumor of an approaching wedding. "People are always engaging or marrying me to someone. Isn't it dreadful not to be able to lead just a simple, peaceful, quiet life? I have stopped trying to argue about it one way or the other. You can do as you please about it. Just put down a Mr. X and let it stand like that," she concluded. She was dressed in the tailored outfit in which she is often seen in the movies, and in which she says she always feels best. She barely measures five feet by the yardstick and possesses the smallest feet in Hollywood. Miss Swanson was born in Chicago 37 years ago. Her children are Gloria Somborn, by a former marriage, and Joseph, an adopted son. James Henri la Bally de la Falaise, Marquis de la Coudraye, of Vendee, France, was a third matrimonial partner. Her career began when she enlisted as an extra in the Essanay Studios in Chicago. Later she went with the Mack Sennet Comedies, in California, and her first starring role was in "Don't Change Your Husband."

JACKIE COOPER NOW RATES AS BEST CHILD ACTOR; IS COMING TO THE RITZ

Jackie Cooper . . . peer of the juveniles.

NOTE: Jackie Cooper comes to the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday in "Skippy," one of the best pictures of the year. diately became absorbed in the dictionary and would have nothing more to do with me. It didn't make any difference to him if we got a story or not. "How would you like to have school books that big, Jackie?" I asked. "Gee, I'd have to go to school in a truck," he replied. The story of this seven-year-old youngster—he claims eight because he will be eight in September—reads like a fairy tale. Six months ago he was a practically unknown member of "Our Gang" earning $100 a week. Then came "Skippy." For making that entire picture he received $800—$600 salary and a bonus of $200 which Paramount executives gave him for making one of the greatest films of the year. Now, under his new contract with M-G-M, he is receiving $1,000 a week with yearly increases that will make his salary $2,500 per week at the end of four years. He's worth the money, too. As far as the writer is concerned, Jackie is easily the best child actor on the screen today, comparable to the Jackie Coogan who appeared in "The Kid." And as Coogan always will be remembered as "The Kid," so will Jackie Cooper always be remembered as "Skippy."

Wednesday, it was reported that 38 men were being given employment on the work. The Texas company will also lay a similar line from its pump station in the Yates pool to Texon, a distance of 26 miles. Bids have been entered by local contractors and announcement of the winner is expected daily.

Radio to Be Put In Midland Bus

Six new 29 passenger motor buses will be put into operation, serving Midland and other West Texas cities on the West Texas division of the Southland Greyhound lines, during the early part of July, according to an announcement made today by J. A. Knutson, operating manager of that company, Fort Worth. The new equipment represents an investment of $84,000. The buses, of the very latest design, are products of the General Motors corporation. Arrangements are being made to install a radio in one of the buses as a test to determine whether or not bus travelers like this form of entertainment while riding. If the radio is a success in one bus, all five others will be equipped.

hands with the birdmen. Gatty and Post acknowledged the cheers, with waves of their hands and handshakes wherever possible. Gatty and Post said coming home was the best part of the whole trip. "Boys, when we sighted the buildings of little old New York, and knew we'd come home, I gave that old motor the gas and let her go," Post said. "No question about it," Gatty interjected, "coming home was the best part of the trip." Over Strange Lands Asked what he thought of flying over strange lands and seeing a strange people, Gatty replied: "Nothing like America and Americans for us. As far as flying over strange land is concerned, well, I had my instruments, and I might as well have been flying right over Oklahoma." Gatty said he felt no discomfort through the trip, except for an occasional stiffening of the muscles. He had a great desire to "stretch the legs" almost continually over the last 500 miles. "How much blind flying did you have to do?" Post was asked. "Practically all the way," he replied. "It was particularly bad on the stretch to Nome, through thick fog and over mountains." That distance was the "toughest" in every way, Gatty added. Worried for Time "We had a sudden unexplainable rush of oil to the motor which had us worried for a while," he said. "The spark plugs became partially fouled, but we fixed that at Nome. I haven't looked at my log book yet, but I know we averaged 150 or better, probably near 160. Our best speed was over the Atlantic. We must have been close to 170 miles an hour or more." The flyers said they found Russia very hospitable. Gatty expressed keen disappointment that his wife's plane was forced down at Pittsburgh and she was not at the field to meet him. The last question asked Post in the staccato of queries fired at both him and Gatty was: "Wiley, why did you speed up so when you came over the field? We understand you were doing about 190 miles an hour." "Well," Post replied in a drawl, "I just wanted them to know we were comin'."

Return Once More

Again Post and Gatty, with the former's wife, fled the field, but remembering a promise made by their representative here that a general interview would be given the press, they returned again. LUCKY TONOWANDA, N. Y., (UP).—U-ale Sam aged 96 barrels of cider for Eugene Paul—and returned it to him. Six months ago the apple quice was seized by dry agents. When it was shown no immediate analysis of the alcohol content was made by the agents, Federal Judge Simon L. Adler ordered the cider returned because there was no proof it was not fresh when seized.

Oklahoma Blacks Fight Strict Law

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Two hundred Oklahoma negroes have organized a league to fight state segregation laws, chief among them the "Jim Crow" law. The "Jim Crow" law bars negroes from riding in the same compartment of a railroad car with whites and is general throughout the south. The Constitutional League believes that a more liberal attitude has developed toward the negro since the drafting of the state constitution and that a change is the only fair procedure.

so boisterous that the flyers fled the field, but only after near riotous scenes in which police struggled to preserve order and fists were swung in angry altercations which threatened to develop into a serious disturbance.

It was dusk before Post and Gatty arrived and the west was painted in rich pinks as the big white plane shot with the speed of a giant arrow out of the sunset. At 7:44 p. m. (E.S.T.), the flyers were first sighted and three minutes and a half later, after thrice circling the field with their wing lights glowing against the purple eastern sky, they set the plane lightly down a half mile from the administration building.

Elapsed time of the 16,000-mile flight around the world, a flight which famous aviators called the greatest achievement in the history of aviation, was just eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes. The previous world circling record, established by the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin two years ago, was almost 22 days. Post and Gatty although they took almost nine days to get around the world only spent four days, 10 hours and eight minutes of this time in the air.

When the round-the-world plane Winnie Mae touched the turf the crowd broke into motion, yelling and whooping. There were 150 police on duty but they were powerless before the combined strength and determination of the several thousand enthusiastic witnesses of the completion of aviation's latest achievement. The press was so heavy there, however, the police had to rescue the flyers from their admirers and place them again in a car, which moved off the field with half a dozen policemen standing on the running boards with sticks fending off the frantic crowd. Post and Gatty gave every indication that they would have liked to continue to some quiet hotel haven in New York, but they still had the formalities to comply with so they circled around outside the field and slipped into an empty hangar. The crowd soon found them, however, and stormed the doors. There were new scenes of wild excitement in the hangar, reporters and cameramen fighting for their rights and the general public equally pugnacious in pursuit of their determination to see all that happened.

Return Once More Again Post and Gatty, with the former's wife, fled the field, but remembering a promise made by their representative here that a general interview would be given the press, they returned again.

Both men said they had no plans for the future and did not know either when they would fly again soon or whether they would accept movie or vaudeville offers. "I look just like a movie sheik, don't I?" said Post, laughing. He was grimy and his hair was tousled. Oil streaks showed about his eyes. Just before disappearing into a half open door, Post turned, smiling, he said: "Now for some genuine sleep."

Crowds Break Loose ROOSEVELT FIELD, July 2. (AP).—Cutting the round-the-world record from almost 22 days to a little more than a week, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed at dusk on this field which they left at dawn less than nine days ago on an earth-girdling race against time. The welcome accorded them was

To Preach

The Rev. O. J. Hull, Tahoka, former pastor of the First Baptist church of Midland, will speak at the morning and evening services of that church Sunday. The minister left Midland nine years ago for Gatesville, where he built a strong church. He is now pastor of the Baptist church at Tahoka.

Biggest Post in District Coming

Claude Fitch, commander, will head a large delegation from the Price Poole post of McCamey to the Sixteenth district convention to be held in Midland on July 4, and 5, according to A. Garland Adair, well known McCamey publisher. He writes: "The McCamey unit is the largest post of the American Legion in this part of the state, having approximately 200 members. "George Musick, chef-de-garge of the local 40 and 8, will also carry a bunch to assist in the wreck in the Midland county capital. There will be several initiates from here, it is now thought. "Mrs. Mabel Hissell, president of the Auxiliary, and many other ladies of the live body of women will also join the motorists to the convention. "The Sixteenth district is the largest, in point of acreage, in the United States. Midland is near the center and on excellent highways and there should be the biggest attendance at the week end session in the history of the organization. "McCamey entertained the spring convention the latter part of April. "The Price Poole post had procured 3,000 rounds of ammunition for a Fourth of July shoot, but in deference to the district meet at Midland, a neighbor city, it was decided recently at a call meeting to postpone the shoot and picnic on the Pees and go in large numbers to the Sixteenth district convention which is the last before the state meeting at El Paso."

Doolittle Must Quit Wild Flying

By Associated Press NEW YORK.—Major James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle, one of the world's greatest speed fliers, has decided to quit racing, because of "my advanced years." He is 34. But it may not be strictly accurate to say he has decided on this course, not all by himself. "Mrs. Doolittle," he said, "has made up our mind that the time has come to give up racing." "Doolittle, who was a major in the army before he resigned to enter commercial aviation, recalled that some time ago he gave up exhibition flying because his wife disapproved and racing is next. "It isn't that she disapproves of racing," he said, "but she feels that I've done my share and it isn't just the thing for one of my advanced years." Doolittle had expected to participate in the national air races at Cleveland this year, but last week he flew his entry to pieces in the air at St. Louis. It began breaking up as he was flying 100 feet above the ground at about 250 miles an hour, but he zoomed it to 300 and stepped out, landing safely in his parachute. He still has hopes of obtaining a plane worthy of entering in the Cleveland races. If he does he will have one last fling at speed.

being approximately 30 planes, will journey through Canada to New York state, thence southwestward over Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana to Texas. From Texas the contestants will fly northward visiting the states of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. WASHINGTON.—The following is a record of the number of passengers carried by airplanes and the number of air fatalities that have occurred since 1927: In 1927, 13,000 passengers were flown, with 6 fatalities; in 1928, there were 53,000 passengers flown, with 13 fatalities; in 1929, passengers numbered 165,000 with 18 fatalities, and last year 400,000 passengers went aloft and 24 were killed. AND MORE TO COME WASHINGTON.—Aviation patents are flooding the U. S. Patent Office. According to Frank Russell, president of the Manufacturer's Aircraft association, there are now more than 4,500 in the country and these are increasing at the rate of more than three a day. At the end of the year it is thought 1000 more will be added to the list.

Saints Desert Liquor Carriers

EL PASO.—Saints alive! Roberto Garcia and Santiago Esquivel were convinced Wednesday there is no luck in patron saints. The two boys left Juarez early Wednesday with a cargo of liquor and a picture of the beautiful Santo Nino de Atocha, the latter designed to protect them from danger. After they hid the liquor along the river bank, they were apprehended by Mexican soldiers who demanded that they reveal the cache. When the boys refused, they were thrashed by the soldiers. After wading the river and driving into east El Paso, mounted customs inspectors arrested the boys, taking both the liquor and a Ford coupe. That was the end. Garcia and Esquivel left the smiling portrait of San Nino on the inspector's desk at headquarters, saying they didn't believe in saints and were surprised that so much trouble could come to them under the guidance of Santo Nino. However, even the absence of Santo Nino failed to halt the youths' bad luck because they waved hearing and were unable to make bond set at $1000 each by U. S. Commissioner A. J. W. Schmidt. Liquor concealed in the car in which Garcia and Esquivel were riding consisted of 4 1/2 gallon can of alcohol, 22 pints of tequila, eight pints whiskey, 24 half pints beer and a quart of cognac. JUST WOULDN'T MOVE LONDON.—The equal obstinacy of the sexes was shown on a hill near Selborne recently when Mrs. Gordon Legg, driving an automobile met a man driving a horse and car on a road too narrow for both of them to pass. Mrs. Legg refused to back down the hill and the man refused to back up. As a result they both sat in their respective vehicles for seven hours until a policeman came and backed the car down to the horse and cart was able to pass. AIR SICKNESS CLEVELAND.—Persons traveling by airplane are less susceptible to "Mal des Aviateurs," which is airsickness, than air sea travelers are to seasickness, Myron E. Terry, director of training at the Cleveland Institute of Aviation reports. He states that only five per cent of air passengers are victims of this condition, which is considerably less than the number of passengers who succumb to seasickness.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation You'll save money . . . and spare yourself inconvenience when you return. The Rumseys are going vacationing. The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice. But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house! Something should be done about this! Vacation rates for idle residence telephones One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away. It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return. That's because: 1. You pay just half the regular rate. 2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us. 3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!) 4. Your name remains in the telephone book. If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance. Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days.
