FLOODS AWAYED IN ISSUE

PECOS ON ANOTHER RAMPAGE

Thousands of Acres Under Water and Traffic Slowed

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 4. (UP).—The backbone of the Rio Grande's second flood appeared to be broken today after 500 men were saved. The flood deep Donna main canal north of here was overflowing into the citrus development district. The water was standing over Willacy county and was approaching Lyford. Twenty river towns scattered over an area of 145 miles square are inundated. Mexican reports said there had been no rains on the upper watersheds in the last 24 hours.

PECOS, Oct. 4.—The flooded Pecos river Monday began rising again after a slight recession. It was two to four miles wide and covered cotton and alfalfa crops in the bottom lands. Travel was possible over all roads, however, except that leading to Mentone. A small dam ten miles north of Pecos lost a mass of stored water when a flood gate washed out. However, this break did not cause serious damage. The Pecos river's new rise began after the level had fallen two inches during the morning. Reports from Riverton, 30 miles north of the town of Pecos said more water was on the way. At Pecos the river was only two inches below the Texas and Pacific railway bridge. Trains continued to use the bridge. State highway No. 1 was still open to traffic, the bridge over the river being of the arch type. Water stood several feet deep along both sides of the road grade but travel was still safe. Travel to Mentone was by way (See RIVER FLOOD page 4)

Named to Secure Lower Cake Rate J. E. Hill, Clarence Scharbauer and Leon Goodman were named by President Marvin C. Ulmer Monday night at a meeting of chamber of commerce directors to seek a lower rate on cottonseed cake and products to Midland for benefit of ranchers and other consumers. The committee expects to meet Tuesday. Hill said he believed the rate should be reduced.

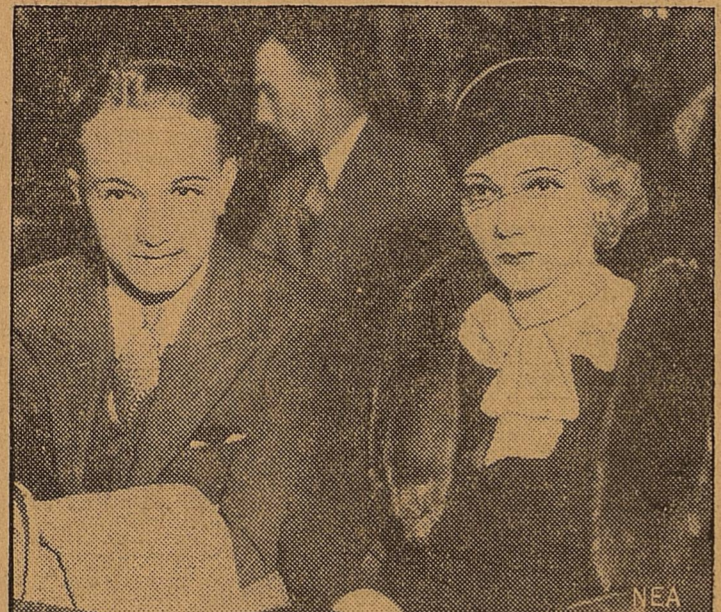

Brazil's Civil Warfare Over RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 4.—Brazil's three months civil war was virtually over as federal officials assumed control of Sao Paulo and federal troops swept into Sao Paulo state, the last and principal southern state to participate in the uprising. Loyalists celebrated as the anniversary of the beginning of the 1930 revolution, which set up the provisional government of Getulio Vargas and broke the power of the Sao Paulo politicians. They also celebrated the defeat of the latest attempt of Sao Paulo and other southern states to regain that power. Federal forces were rapidly repressing the long blockade state of Sao Paulo but General Goes Monteiro, federal commander, said troops would not be sent into the city of Sao Paulo itself unless necessary. The government here selected General Daltrofilho to take control over the state government in Sao Paulo and General Bartholdo Klingner, rebel army leader, was being escorted under guard to the federal army headquarters at Cruzeiro. General Klingner, who had helped Vargas assume control of the state two years ago, assumed control of the Sao Paulo government.

SECOND CORN CROP Midland county's second corn crop of the year is now being gathered. Many farmers have produced two crops this year. The abundant rains of the past two weeks have made the fall crop better than the spring yield.

Busting The Line! Classified ads don't try to sweep around the end of a proposition—they hammer at the center of the line! And that's what a little 32c ad did for Mrs. J. P. Collins. The ad below was inserted in the Monday issue of The Reporter-Telegram and at 9 o'clock this morning Mrs. Collins told us that a Mr. Sherrod had found the brooch and had returned it to her.

LOST: Cameo brooch; set in yellow gold; reward. Return to this office or Mrs. J. P. Collins. Those few words got the job done. What more can be asked?

"Shimmy Queen" in Tragic Role

Fate cast Gilda Gray, the glittering "shimmy queen," in a tragic role in a drab court drama at Milwaukee when her father, Max Michalski, was summoned to explain why he had been receiving county clerk. Here is Gilda with her son, Martin Gorecki, 18, as she appeared in court to testify she had been sending her father support money, but that he squandered it all. She refunded to the county $38 for his treatment in an infirmary.

RIDDLE ELECTED DIRECTOR OF CC IN LEGG'S PLACE

W. G. Riddle Monday night was elected a new director of the Midland chamber of commerce to fill the unexpired term of Aubrey S. Legg, who moved recently. Riddle is district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company. His nomination was made by James S. Nolan and seconded by Leon Goodman. Riddle is a civic worker, having lately done much work in good will building for Midland among other towns of this area. His company is also a liberal donor to civic work in the city and he represents one of the largest industries in Midland. Riddle was well known not only as a telephone expert, but also as a leading citizen in other cities in East and Central Texas, before coming to Midland, his friends say.

Lions Barbecue Postponed a Week

The Lions club annual barbecue given by Donald Hutt has been postponed from Thursday of this week to Wednesday of next due to Hutt's being called out of town on business. Lions regard this event with much enthusiasm, as it brings not only Lions, their families and guests, but all school teachers of Midland and Midland county are invited and the assembly always proves an outstanding club event for the year. Lion President Marion F. Peters, said the postponement of the barbecue would not effect the regular luncheon Wednesday. Women of the Christian church will furnish lunch.

Melons, Cotton At CC Exhibit

A small farm show was on exhibit Monday at the chamber of commerce office. The main feature was two huge watermelons supplied by County Commissioner Holley E. Roberts, and a cotton stalk from Sheriff Audley C. Francis' farm. Ellis Howell facetiously named the melons "Pa" and "Ma." They weigh 96 and 78 pounds, respectively, and Roberts says that due to the wet weather they are as tender and juicy as small melons. His mother will serve them at a party after they are exhibited this week at the chamber of commerce. Francis' farm cotton stalk looks like a young tree. Howell counted 156 bolls on the stalk and got tired and quit. He says the cotton field on the sheriff's sub-irrigated draw looks like a "forest."

ECLIPSE TO BLAME DE LAND, Fla. (UP)—Some fishermen, who has been operating illegally, lost a good boat and a 600 foot seine, which loss he can blame on the eclipse. High wind and a heavy rain came along at the time the recent eclipse was scheduled here and the wind uncovered the hiding place of the equipment, under some water hyacinths at Lake Beresford. Game Warden A. J. Guenther happened along at the time and confiscated them.

RYALS BROUGHT TO FORT WORTH TO BE JAILED

GALVESTON, Oct. 4.—In custody of three North Texas peace officers, William Raymond Ryals, 22, left Galveston shortly before five o'clock this afternoon for Fort Worth to face charges of murdering after robbing A. G. MacQuerty, 33, newspaper circulation auditor. The officers spent the night in Houston with their prisoner, they said, and will arrive in Fort Worth today. Ryals' mother and sister, who live here, were allowed to tell him good bye before he left the county jail. He was silent and morose as officers handcuffed him and led him to the waiting automobile. Detectives A. C. Howerton and D. C. Harris and County Investigator W. T. Evans of Fort Worth said there were several minor details of the case they wanted to clear up in Houston before continuing on to Fort Worth. Ryals was brought here Saturday morning following his arrest in Fort Worth Friday, and pointed out to officers the grave of MacQuerty under a lonely camp house down the island. In a statement made to the press, Ryals admitted shooting MacQuerty through the head following a quarrel at a point east of Fort Worth on the night of September 25 and then bringing his body to Galveston and burying it.

Chamber Calls on Voters To Reject Tex. Centennial

He's Glad She Got His $500,000

Unanimous opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment empowering the legislature to appropriate funds for a Texas centennial was expressed Monday night by directors of the Midland chamber of commerce. The directors passed a resolution, the main point of which was their opposition to any increase in taxes. The chamber is today calling on all Midland county citizens and all other Texans by whom its appeal may be heard to vote against S. J. R. No. 28, proposing an amendment to the state constitution to empower the legislature to appropriate funds for the support and maintenance of a Texas centennial celebration. The Midland resolution declared the chamber of commerce did not oppose the constitutional amendment to appropriate money for a centennial because of any lack of love for the "glorious history of Texas, but because of a greater love for the suffering sons of Texas." The resolution declared taxes are already too burdensome to warrant any increase at this time, while loyal Texans are not only unable to pay their taxes, but are actually suffering from hunger. The resolution opposed the lack of any limit to the proposed appropriation. The resolution further pointed out that only a relatively few Texans were financially able to attend and enjoy such a celebration as that proposed, and that resulting benefits from a centennial would accrue to a relatively small number of people, at the expense of all the taxpayers. Finally, other such attempts, notably that of Philadelphia, was cited. The resolution opposed the theory that a centennial by which people may be led to amusement in declaring Midland would look with favor on any attempt by corporations or individuals to finance by voluntary subscription a centennial to be held either independently or in conjunction with some already well established nationally known exhibit, such as the Dallas State fair. WHEREAS, voters of the state of Texas are to ballot on S. J. R. No. 28, proposing a constitutional amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas empowering the State Legislature to appropriate a sum of money for the support and maintenance of a Texas Centennial celebration, and, WHEREAS, the people of the State of Texas are already groaning under almost unbearable tax burdens, and, WHEREAS, no reductions are placed on the amount possible to vote, and, WHEREAS, only a relatively few Texans would be financially able to attend and enjoy such a celebration as that proposed Centennial would accrue to only a few people, nevertheless such a centennial would be held at the expense of all the taxpayers, and, WHEREAS, there are loyal Texans who are not only unable to pay the taxes already assessed against them, but are actually going hungry, THEREFORE, Be It Resolved that the Midland chamber of commerce in regular session Oct. 3, 1932, exhort the citizens of Midland county and any other voters in the State of Texas to whom its appeal may be sent to vote against the proposed constitutional amendment to appropriate funds for a Texas Centennial exposition, not because of any lack of love for Texas and her glorious history, but for a greater love of the suffering sons of Texas who need food more than they need a celebration and who need taxes reduced instead of increased to finance any kind of a celebration, and, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if some adequate plan for voluntary financing of a Texas Centennial celebration, by those corporations or individuals who are capable of such financing, be held independently or in connection with some such nationally known celebration as the Texas State Fair, such financing to pay the taxes already assessed against them, but are actually going hungry.

Resolution Drafted

WHEREAS, voters of the state of Texas are to ballot on S. J. R. No. 28, proposing a constitutional amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas empowering the State Legislature to appropriate a sum of money for the support and maintenance of a Texas Centennial celebration, and, WHEREAS, the people of the State of Texas are already groaning under almost unbearable tax burdens, and, WHEREAS, no reductions are placed on the amount possible to vote, and, WHEREAS, only a relatively few Texans would be financially able to attend and enjoy such a celebration as that proposed Centennial would accrue to only a few people, nevertheless such a centennial would be held at the expense of all the taxpayers, and, WHEREAS, there are loyal Texans who are not only unable to pay the taxes already assessed against them, but are actually going hungry, THEREFORE, Be It Resolved that the Midland chamber of commerce in regular session Oct. 3, 1932, exhort the citizens of Midland county and any other voters in the State of Texas to whom its appeal may be sent to vote against the proposed constitutional amendment to appropriate funds for a Texas Centennial exposition, not because of any lack of love for Texas and her glorious history, but for a greater love of the suffering sons of Texas who need food more than they need a celebration and who need taxes reduced instead of increased to finance any kind of a celebration, and, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that if some adequate plan for voluntary financing of a Texas Centennial celebration, by those corporations or individuals who are capable of such financing, be held independently or in connection with some such nationally known celebration as the Texas State Fair, such financing to pay the taxes already assessed against them, but are actually going hungry.

JAPAN IRED AT STIMSON'S SPEECH; LYTTON REPORT IS NOT ACCEPTED

TOKYO, Oct. 4.—A war office spokesman told the vernacular press that Secretary Henry L. Stimson's Philadelphia speech of last week was a menace to the good relations between Japan and the United States. The spokesman asserted that Stimson by again speaking against Japan, offered further provocation, which was a serious matter. A close connection was seen between Stimson's speech, the publication of the Lytton report, and the continued concentration of the American Navy in the Pacific. During the hostile reception of the Lytton report Stimson's Philadelphia speech comparatively speaking had gained little attention. (Stimson told the Philadelphia Union league club Saturday night that President Hoover had formulated a successful policy of non-recognition for territorial gains made by force of arms. He added that the "open door policy" was necessary to preserve China's territorial and administrative integrity.) GENEVA, Oct. 4.—Doubt was expressed in League of Nations quarters that Japan would accept either the Lytton report or the Manchurian conflict or the league's endeavor to execute the proposals set forth in it. Meanwhile league supporters studied the document in the belief that the Geneva institution was forced with a great opportunity to prove its value as an instrument of world peace, and faced also by what was perhaps the greatest test in its history. Chinese representatives here were especially pleased with the report's censure of the Japanese military program in Manchuria and with the finding that the new state of Manchukuo was supported only by the Chinese. Informed persons expressed belief that China would be ready to accept international assistance in the work of reconstruction in China.

FERGUSON LEAPS AT ATTORNEY

Jurisdiction Study Halts Action Of Court

AUSTIN, Oct. 4. (UP).—Arguments were completed this morning in the Sterling-Ferguson election contest, ending with Judge Robertson taking under advisement whether the court has jurisdiction. Court was recessed this afternoon. Ferguson was narrowly averted during the hearing, between Jim M. Crane, attorney for Sterling, and Ferguson. Crane said: "It was well known when Mr. Ferguson was elected, his husband received employment from a number of concerns, including Sugarland interests." Ferguson leaped at Crane, but was held back by Luther Nickels.

FERGUSON MANDAMUS APPEAL IS PENDING

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—Contentions that Governor R. S. Sterling did not file his suit contesting the right of Mrs. Marian A. Ferguson to be the democratic candidate for governor within the time limit, and that he had no legal interest sufficient to allow him to maintain the action, were made as the legal battle over the prize of Texas' democracy, the gubernatorial nomination was resumed. The plea that District Judge W. F. Robertson, in whose court the suit was filed, did not have jurisdiction because of these and other reasons was made by Mrs. Ferguson's attorneys. Judge Robertson had issued an injunction preventing Mrs. Ferguson from appearing for state, from placing Mrs. Ferguson's name on the ballot as the democratic candidate in the general election. Her attorneys claimed the order was invalid because of lack of jurisdiction. While the fight centered in Judge Robertson's court, there was pending in the supreme court a motion of Mrs. Ferguson for leave to file a petition to mandamus Mrs. M. Crane, attorney for Governor Sterling. Crane urged the court to set in motion the machinery necessary to gather evidence of fraud and illegality in the August 27 primary election, as alleged in the governor's petition. The governor had claimed that upwards of 50,000 illegal or irregular votes had been cast for Sterling, and that he was the legal nominee. Counter allegations of fraud and illegality were made by the Fergusonists in an answer filed last night. The answer charged that at least $500,000 was spent in the attempt to elect Sterling and that $250,000 was contributed by corporations. It also alleged that employees of the state highway department, of which Sterling formerly was chairman, were coerced into voting for him and that thousands of other votes were influenced by promises of reward. Luther Nickels and Ocie Speer, attorneys for Mrs. Ferguson, challenged the right of the district court to enter any orders providing for taking of testimony. Crane had proposed that special commissioners be appointed to take the testimony. The counties where illegality was alleged for presentation in the trial.

Swapping Yarns with Col. True

Col. True maintains a standing invitation to others to write to him and tell of their own extraordinary experiences. No holds barred. Address Col. True, in care of The Reporter-Telegram.

Dear Colonel True:
 I want to tell you about the sad and untimely death of my cousin. It happened a very few years ago in Stanton.

My cousin was working on the 56th floor of Stanton's tallest building. She was a stenographer for a vulcanizing company. One day she smelled smoke. She looked out the window and saw the entire building was in flames. It seemed to her that there was no avenue of escape. After looking around and seeing the window was full of fire, she wrapped 150 of them around her body and jumped out the window. After bounding up and down for four and a half days she was shot so that she would not have to starve to death.

Yours very true,

was a rubber blanket. Well, he jumped and hit it, but bounced so high they had the building rebuilt and 12 more stories added before he came down.

You have heard about the man trapped in the tall building, who just stared and stared at the ground until after a while he walked down to safety on the stairs. And the one similarly situated who merely put on his light fall suit and jumped.

My brother Ossie and I have had some personal experience along this line. Trapped by fire on the roof of a very tall building, we had given ourselves up for lost, when I noticed that smoke was ascending on all sides of us in great columns. With some presence of mind and desperation I leaped from the edge of the roof, grasped one of these columns with both arms and legs, and slid to the ground.

Ossie escaped in a similarly unusual fashion. He put on his shirt, tied the sleeves together, buttoned it up and held it over a ventilator. The hot air filled the shirt, which rose into the air like a balloon and carried Ossie to safety.

Sir: That brings to my mind the strange fate of a man I knew back east. He was on the top floor of a ninety story building when it caught fire. There was no net handy, all we could find for him was a rubber blanket.

The Town Quack

fer as "Lou," and who will be known henceforth as Rick's dad, has never sat through a football game. I quote Hankins' sport column as my authority. However, I got it straight that he heard the big noise over on the grounds yesterday afternoon and clumb a peach tree, a big one, to see what was going on. He had his field glasses with him. Looking over across the yard, he saw a young lady on top of her garage, watching the game with her field glasses. Maybe it was Rick's good playing, or maybe it was the girl that got "Lou" so interested. Anyway, when the game was over, he came to himself right in the tip-top of that tree and it was a big one.

I've seen this old story in print several times lately. A fellow went to the office of an old friend, a doctor whom he had not seen for five years. They sat and asked the usual questions, fell into the usual conversation of old friends who haven't met for years. An hour passed and the visitor rose to go.

"How's the family?" asked the doctor.

"Oh, I forgot. My wife sprained her ankle and is waiting for us down in the drug store."

A bunch of Rotarians went to Big Spring today to put on a Rotary program. Some singers have to leave town to sing, because they have sung too much here already. The same thing even applies to speakers. However, I don't say that's why this bunch went to Big Spring today.

Howard Hodge is moving over to the Ritz, working by night and by day to have it open tomorrow night. He's stepping into a mighty good show house and Howard is a good show man. By the time he gets settled down at the Ritz, it will be well into the bird season and these having ducks on their lakes had better watch out.

A man was charged with possession of $3,000 worth of narcotics in his car, out at El Paso. Don't know what else he could put $3,000 worth of in one automobile unless it was diamonds.

They are having a jam-up good revival meeting in town, from reports I have heard. Whether I go or not, I don't hesitate to recommend that you attend.

I hear two of the boys in the office arguing every day about the good qualities of dogs and horses. Of course they are prejudiced in account of the animals they own, but the subject sounds good for debate. I would like to have some letters from the readers about which makes the better bet, a dog or a horse. To hear the boys in the office tell it, one has a dog and the other has a horse that can do anything but talk and they don't need to do that. It's probably better that the animals can't. Anyway, I want to hear what other people think about dogs and horses. Which is smarter? Which is more affectionate to its owner? And which will do more in a pinch.

If the Mystic Calvin can't give you all the information you want about your personal affairs, see me. I'm pretty good myself on answering personal questions. The reason I don't do it for a living is that I don't want to leave home and I wouldn't take me long to answer all the local questions if I were to take that up as a profession.

However, you can get the low-down on your neighbors at almost any party or meeting of the ladies' aid. Sometimes you can learn things that even your neighbors don't know about themselves.

Bathtub Tenor Is Held on Charges

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (UP).—Singing in the bathtub cost Jack Gordon his liberty.

STARS AND HEREDITY

DENVER.—Stars, as astrologers have for long claimed, may influence heredity, according to J. C. Stearns and Wilcox Overback, University of Denver physicists. This may be possible when it is considered that cosmic rays, which are thought to wield a vast influence on human life, come from the stars. X-rays have been found to influence heredity and, since cosmic rays are similar to X-rays, it is possible that they, too, influence heredity.

Crippled Woman Runs Business

CHICAGO. (UP)—A little crippled woman, who carries on her business over the telephone as she sits in a wheel chair in her home, is quite confident that "the worst of the depression is over."

Miss Agathe Zimmer decided a decade ago to go into business. Left invalid at nine after an attack of infantile paralysis and spinal meningitis, she was hard put to find something she was able to do.

She decided to enter the magazine subscription business, and her success is indicated by the fact that she started with 25 customers, and has built up her clientele to more than 2,000. Her customers live in practically every state.

"Personality in the telephone voice is one of the requisites for success," she said. "You can't see the face of your prospective customer and you've got to be very careful. The sound of the other person's voice must tell you the kind of a person you are soliciting. Otherwise you might recommend a motion picture magazine to someone whose tastes ran to travel or literature."

An elevator in the Zimmer house conveys the business woman to her upstairs office, complete in every respect. Miss Zimmer lives with her mother, a Chicago pioneer, who came to this city more than 80 years ago from Germany.

SIREN FIRES IMAGINATION

Recently when investigating a case for dramatization during the Tuesday evening Magic Carpet program, Tom Curtin came across a story that illustrates the peculiar effect police sirens have on the imagination.

A twenty-one-year-old Brooklyn girl was arrested after brooding in three false police alarms. She was taken to the local precinct and asked for an explanation of her odd behavior. "I like the sound of the sirens," was her only answer. It later developed that she had been annoying the police with alarms for a week previous to her capture.

Curtin was particularly interested in the item because his weekly radio dramatizations are introduced and concluded by the wall of a siren and that instrument is frequently used throughout to indicate a change of locale or pursuit by the police. He expressed the hope that listeners to the radio dramatizations would not be affected to the extent of causing similar disturbances in their respective communities.

NOT FROM ADMIRERS

QUINCY, Mass.—From the looks of the booking desk in the Quincy police station, you would have thought the hardbitten cops had turned nobby-pambies and were receiving flowers from admirers. But such was not the case. The huge vase of cut flowers belong to a jail inmate. He had gone courting and stopped on the way to his girl's house to buy some flowers. He also stopped to buy some liquor, of which he drank freely. The girl admired the flowers, but had no use for the liquor. When police came for it and swain they also took the posies.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

STARS AND HEREDITY

DENVER.—Stars, as astrologers have for long claimed, may influence heredity, according to J. C. Stearns and Wilcox Overback, University of Denver physicists. This may be possible when it is considered that cosmic rays, which are thought to wield a vast influence on human life, come from the stars. X-rays have been found to influence heredity and, since cosmic rays are similar to X-rays, it is possible that they, too, influence heredity.

WHO WANTS A TOWN?
TULSA, Okla.—There was a time when Dilworth flourished under the oil boom. But now it's a town without any people, and investors who bought sewer and other improvement bonds are holding the bag. While the town is in official existence, it has no population. The 2500 persons who used to populate it have gone. The county now owns all the property because of non-payment of taxes—but the county doesn't want to take possession for fear it will be responsible for outstanding indebtedness. The town can't be disorganized, because, according to law, it takes two-thirds of the population to disorganize a town. Without any population the whole situation is up in the air—and so are the bondholders.

MIDLAND ADMINISTRATORS STANTON HER WORST DEFEAT IN YEARS

BULLDOG MACHINE SCORES IN FIRST THREE MINUTES, AND TOTALS A 20-POINT MARGIN; BUFFS DO NOT FIGHT

The first Stanton team in years to exhibit no scrap Friday afternoon went down before superior play of the Midland grid machine, trekking disconsolately homeward with a burning 20-0 defeat plastered on its record. It was the worst beating Stanton has taken from Midland in several seasons, and one of the most unexpected.

Within less than three minutes, Captain G. E. Hallman had rammed line for the first Bulldog tally and Allen Sherrod had kicked goal. Two other touchdowns were pushed over before the scrimmage was ended and one goal and one point, one of these in the first period.

Midland was master of the Bulldogs in every respect. Due to the lack of information on how the Bulldogs were, the powerful showing of the Midland team was as much a surprise to Midland fans as to Stanton. It had been conceded that Midland was a superior team from standpoint of coaching, but Stanton's slight edge in weight was felt to be a sort of counterbalancing factor.

Whether Midland won easily because of little opposition or because the Bulldogs are really stronger than Stanton's opposition would make it appear, remains to be established, but the indications are the Bulldogs are working smoother than his more experienced regulars of last year at the corresponding date.

A brief comparison of figures on the two clubs, compiled through the courtesy of Jess Rodgers, are interesting:

Midland made 15 first downs, Stanton 5, only three of which were not made on recovered punts or penalties. Midland made six of these first downs before Stanton broke in to that tabulation. Midland gained 239 yards from scrimmage, Stanton 88. 1-2. Midland attempted three passes, completing two for 32 yards, losing one by interception. Stanton, on three attempted passes, had two intercepted and one knocked down. Midland lost 10 yards from scrimmage, Stanton 4.

Stanton gained possession of the ball only 10 times during the game, establishing a new record. In the first quarter, Stanton kicked on the first play after receiving the kickoff. The Buffs could make only 2 yards on the second time.

On the third play possession was via the pass interception route and was lost on a punt, the third on a pass interception the fourth they set up a fumble, the seventh on an intercepted punt, the eighth on a recovered fumble and lost on a pass interception, the eighth on a kickoff and lost on a fumble, the ninth on a pass interception, the tenth resulted from a recovery against the second team and Stanton made 16 yards on two plays against the second team, the second just before the final gun, the second during the afternoon that Stanton looked good.

It was on the Stanton 49 that the initial drive for touchdowns began. Hallman kicked the extra point on the line and Sherrod kicked the extra point. Sherrod went over for the second in the waning minutes of the first quarter after the Buffs carried the ball from the Stanton 32. The try for added point failed.

Stanton made its first down in the second period after Midland had scored 13 points and had an up six first downs. This was on a recovered punt. Midland continued to play conservative football even with this edge, and on the 50-yard line with fourth and one, Adams kicked to go, Hallman called for a punt.

Stanton made its first down not resulting from a penalty or recovered punt in the third period, after taking the ball on the kickoff. Slippery Adams then reeled off the prettiest run of the game, as well as the longest, getting off behind his right end behind the blocking and sprinting through an open field for 32 yards. He looked like he was off on a scoring rambler, but was stopped hard by backs who were trying to hit him to the side. It was there that Midland was in reality, first forced to punt, a penalty setting the Dogs back so far they failed to make the yardage required.

The third period was almost up when Nichols' pass was intercepted by a Midland player, Sherrod, on the Midland 20. The stocky defender rumbled 11 yards with it and his right arm. Sherrod bulleted an 18-yard pass into the hands of Gordon Jones, a sweet pass receiver who stepped off seven long strides before being downed.

Then the man all Midland had been waiting to see, Rick Lewellen, cocky player with the snakey hips and the hard head reeled off 46 yards in two plays for touchdown, using the same play, a bolt over left tackle, to go 25 yards on the first and 21 on the second. Joe Roberts rammed lined for the extra point.

The rest of the last quarter was a picnic for Stanton, Midland sending in a body nine substitutes during the second quad. Sixteen yards were made off this green team in two plays.

Husband's Death Shocks Wife, Dies
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—The shock of seeing her husband collapse and die from a stroke, caused the death of Mrs. Dorothy Spillsbury, 60.

Mrs. Spillsbury saw her husband, Thomas Spillsbury, 60, collapse as he approached the veranda where she was sitting. She ran to his side, saw he was dead, and summoned neighbors. Hysterical and grief-stricken, Mrs. Spillsbury then collapsed beside the body of her husband. She died a few minutes later.

ITALY HAPPY COUNTRY
PHILADELPHIA. (UP)—Italy is the happiest country in the world, in the opinion of the Rev. Antonio Garritano, rector of the King of Peace Catholic church, who has just returned after several months there. "There are no lines of persons waiting for bread," he said, "and everyone seems to be working and eating. There is a sense of obedience and order throughout the land, and crime is virtually unknown."

What is said to have been the greatest calamity in history was the Black Death, a pestilence which swept over Asia, Europe and North Africa in the 14th century and took the lives of 67,000,000 people.

Asks Protection From Itinerants

Mrs. W. C. Tatom, Midland photographer, this week enlisted the aid of the Southwestern Professional Photographers association in protecting Midland people against what she terms as dishonest, itinerant photographers. The Midland photographer will ask the Midland city council to pass an ordinance such as many first class cities have adopted, to protect their citizens from unreliable photograph makers.

Mrs. Tatom points out that unless one is technically trained, it is easy to be fooled by the type of picture maker who comes to Midland, remains a few days and never returns. Cheap photographs look fairly good to the layman when they are first made, but they soon fade. Mrs. Tatom says. A photograph made by some wandering photographer may look good this year, but the owner will want to hide it from sight next year.

People From Eight Cities Here Sunday

Midland and eight other West Texas towns and several oil camps sent 1,400 people to the Yucca theater Sunday. The attendance count showed exactly 1,400 at the matinee and night performance.

Tally was kept on the crowds and people were present at the Yucca from Odessa, Stanton, McCamey, Big Spring, Peecos, Juddins, Crane City, and several oil camps.

John Bonner, manager of the Yucca, said the theatre had the biggest crowds Sunday since the boom days of two and three years ago. It looked like old times. There wasn't a parking space left on either side of the street in the Yucca block. Anniversary week lasts through Saturday, and it is expected that everybody in Midland except the babies will go to the Yucca several times this week.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Unreality" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Oct. 2. As a part of the service these verses from Isaiah were read: "Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. . . . When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. . . ."

Correlative citations from the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following: "As the children of Israel were guided triumphantly through the Red Sea, the dark ebbing and flowing tides of human fear, as they were led through the wilderness, walking wearily through the great desert of human hopes, and anticipating the promised joy, so shall the spiritual idea guide all right desires in their passage from sense to Soul, from the material sense of existence to the spiritual up to the glory prepared for them who love God."

According to census figures, about 22 per cent of all deaths in the United States are due to communicable diseases.

Never at Yucca? Get a Free Pass

Every man and woman in Midland over 21 years of age who has never been in the Yucca theatre in the last three years it has been open will get a free pass to the matinee Wednesday from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.

John Bonner, the manager, said Monday he didn't want anybody to "live and die in Midland without seeing the beautiful Yucca theatre." So, as a feature of Yucca Anniversary week, Bonner says that all men and women who live in Midland and who have never been in the Yucca will get a free ticket Wednesday if they state to the ticket seller any time between 1 and 6 p. m. that they never have been in the magnificent playhouse.

Villagers Chuckle Over Controversy

WASHINGTON, N. H. (UP)—Villagers in this picturesque mountain hamlet are chuckling over the controversy between Georgia and North Carolina as to which was the first to name a town in honor of George Washington.

Established in 1735, this town was named for Washington and so incorporated December 13, 1773, whereas Washington, N. C., was incorporated under that name in 1780 and Washington, Ga., in 1782.

Centenarian Credits Coffee

ST. JOE, Ark. (UP)—"Grandma," Mrs. Caroline Arnold, who recently passed her 101st birthday, and "rode horses until 10 years ago," scoffs at the idea of some—that coffee is injurious.

"Why, in my childhood I cried for coffee," she said, "and I like it black. My lunch basket always had a bottle of it. And until today I believe it helped me live so long." "You know," she reminisced, "it wouldn't surprise me if I lived to be 200."

"Grandma," as she is called, can still read large print without "specs." She always has liked "sweets," including candy, cake and fruits. She also is an "ad" for the tobacco companies. She declared, "I have used tobacco more than a score of years."

She has ridden in everything from an ox cart to a train, but has no desire to ride in an airplane. She gave up horseback riding 10 years ago, "when automobiles became too thick on the roads." "Grandma" comes from a "long-lived" family. A brother, Newton Owens, is 87, and another, Zack, is 80. Both live near Russellville.
