State prischers holding County financial hostage

By SAMUEL VILLARREAL Journal Staff Writer

Bailey County wants the right to "just say no" to housing state prisoners at County expense.

Bailey County officials believe the county is unfairly being forced to absorb the cost of housing state prisoners until they can be processed and returned to state penitentiaries.

The Bailey County Commissioners Tuesday signed a resolution asking the 75th Texas Legislature to allow counties to deliver prisoners with state warrants directly to state penitentiaries, or be reimbursed for the cost of holding the prisoners.

"We want the state to hurry up or foot the bill," Cox said. "Both would be better."

The resolution was made in response to blue warrants, which are issued by the state when the state revokes the parole of former state inmates.

Sheriff Jerry Hicks said it often takes up to 90 days before the inmates are transferred from a county jail to a state penitentiary, during which time the county pays the cost of holding the inmates.

penses incurred while housing state inmates. Hicks said the county's cost for housing a state inmate is about $10 per day.

Hicks emphasized the matter in a letter to Judge Cox, citing a recent prisoner whose 15-day stay in the County jail was extended by 92 days when Hicks received a blue warrant to hold the prisoner.

The county was also required to pay $146 to cover medical expenses for the pris-

Farmers in Lea County (N.M.) have received state approval for a massive chemical crop dusting of every cotton plant in the county hoping to get rid of the boll weevil.

The New Mexico Department of Agriculture has approved the spraying, subject to the approval of two-thirds of the Lea County cotton growers, in a referendum next month. Approximately 300 cotton growers will decide whether they want to pay $10 an acre to spray the insecticide malathion next fall and the following spring.

Traps set in Lea County turned up 43,482 weevils. Lea County agricultural extension agent Wallace Cox told the Albuquerque Journal that he estimates there are hundreds of thousands more weevils in the fields that have evaded the

He said that between 10 and 25 percent of the 10,000 acres of cotton in Lea County was chewed away before harvest.

Meanwhile, just across the state line, Gaines and Yoakum counties are seeing similar numbers of the long-snouted pests that have infested southeastern New Mexico fields.

Bailey County extension agent Curtis Preston said he's heard reports of the same number of bugs in Gaines and Yoakum county fields.

In September and October, traps in Bailey County fields were catching hundreds of weevils after recording only a handful in earlier months.

"Those are alarming numbers to me," Preston said.

The City of Muleshoe seemed to be facing litigation at every step, while area cotton farmers began harvesting one of their largest crops ever, despite erroneous predictions that this year's crop would suffer due to the weather.

The City faced three major lawsuits during the last four months of the year. The first was filed by Lamb County and the Sudan Independent School District in connection to a parcel of land purchased by the city.

The parcel of land, which measures 4,800 acres, straddles the border between Lamb and Bailey counties. The City purchased the land as a possible source for water in the future. The land was leased back to its original owners, who are currently collecting $150,000 a year through the federal Conservation Reserve Program.

Lamb County and Sudan Independant School District contend that the City of Mule shoe owes them a total of $23,000 in back-taxes for the years 1994 and 1995. Municipality-owned property is normally exempt from taxes.

but because private citizens are using the property to make a profit, the Lamb County Appraisal District felt the land within its borders should be included on its tax role.

City officials originally responded by stating that the persons leasing the land should be responsible for paying the taxes. An agreement was later reached in which the taxes were split between the City and the citizens leasing the land.

Another of the Cay's problems grew by leaks and Big D Lining Systems, based in Midland, is seeking a $48,000 balance owed by the city for a liner the company installed into a leaking water tank south of town.

The installment of the liner turned out to be a failed effort to seal the tank, which is leaking more than 4,000 gallons of water per day.

The leak is not considered by City officials to be an immediate threat to the city's water supply. City officials say problems are bound to become larger if the leak is not fixed soon.

City public works officials contend that the leaking water could lead to damage of the cement structure, which is built on a sand hill. City officials fear the structure may be compromised if the leaking water becomes trapped between the sand and underlying caliche layers.

City Manager James Fisher feels that Big D should not be paid until it successfully contain the leak. Big D contends that there is no more that it can do to fix the problem.

Litigation was still in progress at the end of the year.

The third major lawsuit faced by the City involved three former City employees.

Former Muleshoe Police officer Chris Lopez was fired in April of 1995, four days after he made a traffic stop of a vehicle being driven by then-city manager Dave Marr.

Lopez contends that he was actually fired for the numerous allegations of improprieties he made against former police chief Julian Domin-

Randall Pyles, the lawyer presenting the case on Lopez's behalf, did not specify the amount of damages he is seeking. He did however point to a similar whistleblower suit in which a Lubbock woman was awarded $2.7 million.

The Lopez suit also remained in progress by year's end.

Monday, Jan. 6th trous cotton crop for the 1996 growing season turned out to be overblown.

An abundance of summer showers turned an ill-fated cotton crop into what may become a record-breaking season.

As December came to a close, area cotton gins were still processing the year's crop. Area gins expect to work until mid to late January.

Many farmers see the results of the 1996 crop as nothing short of a miracle. Dry soil conditions through the first third of the year caused many acres normally reserved for cotton to be given alternate crops. It is estimated that as many as 800,000 acres of South Plains farmland originally reserved for cotton never made it to

LHS reaches semis at Sundown Tourney

No. 2 Whiteface clips Laz girls in first round

SUNDOWN - Israel Lopez continued his strong play, scoring a game-high 25 points to led Lazbuddie to a 64-47 win over Lubbock Christian High School Thursday in the first round of the Sundown Tournament.

Justin St. Clair added 15 points and Jason Thomas added 13 as the Longhorns beat LCHS for the second time this season.

"We did a good job of getting the ball inside and we knocked down some outside shots," Lazbuddie coach Gary Grahn said.

Josh Morris had three 3pointers and 9 points for Lazbuddie.

The Longhorns (13-3) advanced to the championship semifinals by beating Whiteface 72-62 late Thursday.

Lazbuddie played Sundown in the semifinals Friday. Sundown overwhelmed Wellman 90-48 in the first round.

Thomas scored 20 points against Whiteface. Morris and Chris Smith added 13 each.

In another first-round contest, Smyer beat Three Way 70-56.

Jesus Perez scored 24 points for Three Way and Kyle Kindle chipped in 10.

Three Way played Ropes Friday in the consolation quarterfinals.

"I'm proud of the kids, being that we were shorthanded," Lazbuddie coach Carey Sudduth said. "I was real concerned we might get hammered."

Lazbuddie stayed close until midway the fourth quarter when Ramsey hit three-straight 3pointers. Silverton also made 8 of 10 free throws in the fourth quarter to seal the win.

The Lady Longhorns beat Silverton 52-49 earlier this season.

Mandy Magby led Lazbuddie (12-4) with 10 points. Rachel Rodriguez and flu-stricken Holly Engelking added 7. Leading scorer Roxann Warren and Kia Morris missed the game.

Ramsey led Silverton (9-6) with 16 points and 6-1 post Lacy Brunson added 14. Silverton hit a total of five 3-pointers in the game.

Ready or Not, Here Comes 1997!

Ready or not, here comes 1997! I heard the clock strike twelve on New Year's Eve and noticed immediately that 12:00 a.m., January 1, 1997 seemed remarkably similar to 11:59 p.m., December 31, 1996.

Hmm. That same sort of uncommonly common sameness will probably be on hand a good while from now when, in the space separating two heartbeats, I turn from a 39-year-old into a 40-year-old.

Focus On Faith Curtis Shelburne

I suspect it'll probably be pretty much the same thing for all of us, but with lots of hoopla and some outright craziness attached, when December 31, 1999 rolls right on into January 1, 2000. (Yes, I know the millennium doesn't change until January 1, 2001, but, trust me, most folks are gonna get more thrills out of the four-digit odometer roll! Speaking of "craziness," this "prophecy" is free, but I expect any number of cut-rate Hal Lindsey-style non-prophets to come out of the woodwork making huge profits selling "endtime" books to eager but gullible fans. Beware!)

I don't know exactly what kind of momentous life-changing magic most of us expect to be wrought at the instant we turn the page and hang up a new calendar, but we expect something new, something at least a bit different, don't we? Is that irrational? Maybe.

But 1997 is, if just because of a human calendar, at least something of a new page for all of us, and I for one would never throw rocks of cynicism at anyone who sees a new year as an opportunity to dream new dreams, to draw a deep fresh breath of hope, and to resolve to squeeze every bit of potential out of the new year God has just placed in our hands.

The Apostle Paul had something of this sort in mind when he wrote these words: "Forgetting what is behind and straining toward what is al. ad, I press on toward the goal to who the prize for which God has called me heavenward in Christ Jesus."

You'll notice that he had a goal in mind, that he was looking joyfully ahead, and that though he fully expected running the race, completing the journey, to take all of his strength, he knew the prize would be worth the price, that he would never run alone, and that the One who set him on the course would be absolutely faithful to help him complete it.

If you know that, too, then I'm convinced that you can look forward to 1997 with a genuine hope which is as different from blind optimism as real diamonds are from polished glass.

URSING HOME NEWS

By Joy Stancell

Our prayers and best wishes go to each of you for a wonderful and blessed 1997!

Wednesday, Christmas Day, Glenda Jennings came to Sing with the residents. Holly Ann Millsap also came for the event.

Sunday afternoon Billie Downing came for gospel music time. Richard Cunningham lead us in singing Rock of Ages. The "ol" favorite of many of our residents.

Gary and Glenda Dale visited the Healthcare Center Sunday afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon Nancy Kidd, Mary Jo Burge and the Activity Dept. shampooed and set the ladies hair.

We wish to express our heartfelt sympathy to the family and friends of Hazel Price.

We had a very nice Christmas at the Healthcare Center. We know this was made possible by so many thoughtful and concerned folks of our community. To those who came by for a visit, came caroling, brought gifts of food or flowers, presented a special program helped with a party, sent cards, we are grateful.

Wednesday morning we started the new year with donuts and gospel music and song with Scott Pace and Bobbie Johnson.

Wednesday after our new years' refreshments of punch and cookies Billie Downing played our favorite Waltz on the piano. Soon afterwards Glenda Jennings and Jonessa Brockman treated us to music, singing and puppet show.

Robbie Sneed and family gave Rosie Sneed a surprise visit Wednesday.

Happy January Birthdays to Janetta Huckill 1/23; Mr. Romero 1/11; Lucille Tuggle 1/22. The January Birthday party is scheduled for Thursday Jan. 23 at 3 p.m. You are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Bradley visited the Care Center Wednesday among those he visited were Bill Darnell.

Nettie Quesenberry's nieces visited her Wednesday afternoon.

Facts About The

HER NAME HAS BECOME PART OF OUR LANGUAGE-JEZEBEL!

IT HAS BEEN A CUSTOM, IN MODERN TIMES, WHEN A WOMAN ATTRACTS AND SEEMS TO EXERT UNDUE INFLUENCE OVER A MAN OR MANY MEN, FOR PEOPLE TO CALL HER A JEZEBEL. HOWEVER, NO MODERN COUNTERPART COULD EVER COMPETE WITH THE ORIGINAL JEZEBEL FOR DOWNRIGHT EVIL AND MURDEROUS ACTS! BORN A PHOENICIAN PRINCESS, DAUGHTER OF KING ETHBAAL, SHE MARRIED KING AHAB OF ISRAEL (CIRCA 865 B.C.). AND, IN SHORT ORDER, COMPLETELY DOMINATED THIS WEAK-WILLED RULER. ONCE AHAB WAS UNDER HER CONTROL, JEZEBEL IMMEDIATELY SET ABOUT DESTROYING ISRAEL'S RELIGION AND REPLACING IT WITH THE WORSHIP OF BAAL AND ASTARTE, PHOENICIAN DIETIES OF HER HOMELAND.
