ORGANIZE LOCAL TROOP BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA.

Rev. C. H. Ledger, pastor of the Methodist church in Tahoka, as scout master, this week organized a local troop of the Boy Scouts of America.

There is no nobler work to be done than that of making, clean men morally and physically of the growing boys of America, and we cannot commend Rev. Ledger too highly for his efforts along this line. The parents of Tahoka should give the Scout Master and the Troop their loyal support, and encourage their boys to enlist.

We reproduce below the pledge the boy scouts take, and the names of those who have subscribed thereto; We earnestly hope that the ranks of the troop are increased to include every boy in Tahoka.

We, as Boy Scouts, do promise to be trustworthy; loyal to home and country; kind to animals, never killing or injuring needlessly; to be courteous to all, especially to women, children, the aged and helpless; to do at least one helpful thing each day, never accepting pay for any such act; to be a friend to all and a brother to every Scout; to obey parents, Scout Officers and all in authority over him, giving such obedience cheerfully, never grumbling, never shirking to face danger bravely, and to stand for the right; to be thrifty, never wasteful in property or opportunities, but generous to the needy and helpful to the worthy; to keep clean in body, thought, speech, habits and sport; to choose clean companions, be reverent to God, and to show respect to the religious views of others.

TEXAS' FIRST WAR BRIDE

The first Texas war bride was Miss Marguerette Fisher, a wealthy young woman of San Antonio, who married Corporal Walter Rimmer, of Company L Third Infantry, Texas National Guard, May 29th, while the company stood in marching order await orders to march to the border for patrol duty.

The romance which culminated in the wedding resulted from a chance meeting growing out of a visit by Miss Fisher to the mobilization camp when the state troops first arrived.

Mrs. Dr. Callaway and Miss Mae Ellison entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of the former with a progressive forty two party.

Those attending were: Mesdames Gassaway, Towns, Elliott, Herring, Stokes, Montgomery, Small, Lockhart, Cain, Lockwood, Petty, Ramsey, Thomas, Miller, Joplin, Larkin, Robinson, Jordan, and Misses Tidwell, Swan, Montgomery, Wood, King and Wood. Out of Town visitors were Miss Elkins of Post, who is visiting her sister Mrs. Gassaway, and Miss Parker, who is visiting her brother, F. L. Parker.

Mrs. M. M. Herring won high score. An ice course was served by the hostesses.

The Tahoka Lbr. Co. commenced construction of their sheds this week, located just across the street west from the Higginbotham-Harris Lbr. Co. They also unloaded a small shipment of stock.

J. C. Clem of south east of Tahoka, brought in a wagon load of fat hogs Friday of last week to C. J. Campbell. Mr. Clem told the News man that some of his neighbors were discouraged at the short wheat crop this year and did not expect to sow any next year. However he expected to sow as much or more wheat next year as he had in this. He stated that he got enough pasturage to pay all he been out for seed, plowing and sowing, and as he expected to make eight or ten bushels to the acre, he would have his seed for next year, all his flour and enough wheat to sell to pay all the expense of harvesting. He pastured his milk cows all winter and his work horses thru the months of February and March, when they were doing the hardest work of the year

Busy Sessions of City Council

The City Council met in regular session Monday night and disposed of matters before that body.

Charley Brown applied for a permit to move a residence from without to within the fire limit, on a lot across the street east of the Johnson home in west Tahoka. After some discussion the fire limit was contracted to conform to the south and east sides of the streets behind the lots on the south and east sides of the square and to interpet with the western and northern boundaries as heretofore published. This act obviated the necessity of a permit and also placed the Tahoka Lbr. Co. site outside.

A permit was granted W. O. Thomas to erect a 24x60 iron clad annex to the south side of the Hotel St. Clair building. The building will be continued as a hotel after it is vacated by Mr. Williams.

The report of S. S. Ramsey on the street crossings was approved and bills ordered paid.

A committee was appointed to wait on the commissioners' court at their next regular session to secure the city's pro rata of the county road tax which the commissioners have tentatively agreed to turn over to the city.

A petition signed by 36 citizens asking that the stock be shut up was presented. Action was deferred until a call meeting Wednesday night to allow the opposition a hearing.

After disposing of some minor matters the council adjourned.

Wednesday night the council met in called session to consider the petitions. Two petitions were presented; one for bearing 90 names and one against signed by 88 citizens. The council passed an order to prohibit the stock running at large within the city limits.

Following the disposal of the stock ordinance an some other unfinished business Messrs. McCarty as financier and Barton as proposed local manager, presented a light and ice plant proposition. These promoters first asked a site, franchise and donation of 15 percent of the proposed investment. It is believed they will, put in for the first two inducements, which the council and citizens seem willing to give.

and they improved in condition during that period. Mr. Clem said it would be a proud day for him when he could come to the Tahoka Flour Mill on a load of his own wheat and take home a load of flour, a thing he has not done since he was nine years old.

A SPECIALIST IN STOMACH TROUBLES WITH LOCAL DRUGGIST

Every man and woman in Lynn county should call at our store this week and next and investigate Natol Pineapple Pepsin Compound, the new and scientific remedy for all stomach disorders. Not a patent medicine but nature's corrective made from pure pineapple juice, scale pepsin and other ingredients which make it similar to the digestive fluids of the stomach. I heartily endorse this splendid preparation. If you have tried other remedies that failed, we will guarantee this one to you. Themas Bros. Drug Co. 41-11

BULLETIN OF JUDICIAL REFORM IN TEXAS

The University of Texas has just issued a bulletin dealing with the much discussed issue of judicial reform. It does not pretend to a solution, but does offer some thoughtful articles as a contribution to the discussion. Since it is generally conceded that there will be presented to the next legislature a plan for the reorganization of the judiciary and the simplification of procedure, the matter contained in this bulletin will doubtless interest a large number of people in Texas.

A free copy of the bulletin will be sent any enquirer, as long as they last.

JUNE NUPTIALS

Ben W. Joplin and Miss Mildred Silverthorn were married Sunday May 28 at Lubbock. The groom is a brother to Deputy Sheriff S. W. Joplin and attended school here several years ago.

Walter Martin and Miss Lottie Fortenbury drove up to the clerk's office Monday and secured a marriage licence. They were married by County Judge Stokes. Both of the contracting parties live in Lynn county and have many friends who wish them joy and prosperity thruout their wedded life.

Ray Swink and Miss Myrtle Peary drove down from Slaton Monday and after securing a marriage licence were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by a local pastor.

Most of us have bought homes here, and moved here to get away from negroes, and now we consider it to be the negro's next move.

Be it resolved, further, that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the party or parties now having negroes in their employ and ask them to remove them at an early date, and not to bring any more negroes here." It was carried unanimously and signed by 348 citizens.

The above manner of procedure is the only just way to handle a situation of this kind; but really we fail to see where the citizenship of any locality can distinguish between the negro and Mexican as a social undesirable.

According to Plainview dispatches' the board of trustees of Seth Ward College will make no effort to rebuild the school at Plainview or elsewhere for the reason that the board has not received any proposition worth of consideration. The board sold the property of school Thursday at public auction. In letting this school pass out of existence, the Plains country has lost an asset that it could ill afford to part with.

Let's sing a song as we go along so everyone can hear, and tell them all to trade where goods are not too dear; and bear in mind that you can find right where these goods are sold if you will read with care and speed the ads these columns hold.

BLOCKADE A SAUCY FLOTILLA

Feminine Craft, With Lipstick and Powder War Paint, Can't Anchor at Navy Yard.

Saucy feminine craft, decked in war paint, that bear down on the jack tars at the League Island navy yard with the avowed intention of taking the jolly man-o-war's men prisoners, will have to veer away and tack anew, for Lieut. Commander L. P. Davis has declared war against this type of cruiser, known as the "chicken" flotilla, a Philadelphia dispatch to the New York World says.

Not satisfied with abolishing spooning on the gundecks and other forms of love ashore for the fellow who has raised an edict against other types.

Craft that come to League island stripped for action with lipsticks and vanity bags, powder puffs and peroxide turrets will be repelled at the gate. Commander Davis has issued orders to the sergeants and their corps of guards to look every girl over that tries to get in.

If she shows checks that have been touched with the carmine of the rouge chamois, if her eyes show where the black pencil has supplied an aid that nature denied, out they go. "Chickens" are taboo, and while the naval city is open for inspection of the fair ones, the one whose real complexion is submerged will not get a berth inside the gates.

This order has raised hob with the jack tars.

J. L. Carroll, editor of the Borden Citizen at Gail, is a candidate for county judge. Last week he started out campaigning, using the hurricane deck of a bronco for locomotion. The bronco changed ends several times in rapid sequence, and the editor emerged from the show with a bruise on his bow and a dislocated shoulder. He has deferred his campaign for several days. — Slatonite.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

It is a law that a weekly newspaper must not allow any subscriptions to run over a year without being paid for. The law is being enforced and a number of publishers have been called to account by the postal authorities.

This paper has a number of subscribers who are a year or more in arrears and quite a number who are nearly a year in arrears.

Personally we would like to let every one pay when they can, but we have no option in the matter, we either have to collect the money or take the name of all such subscribers off our list. The penalty for refusing or neglecting to do this is the loss of the second class mailing privilege and a fine of from $100 to $500.

So we ask every subscriber who is in arrears on subscriptions to pay up, don't put it off but attend to the matter at once.

NOW IT'S THE GROCERIA

Hard to Tell Where the New Business Idea is Finally Going to Have an End.

What does the "cafeteria" grocery forecast? Cafeteria everything else? In the Santa Monica bay district, near Los Angeles, you go into a "grocery," fill your basket with what you find you need, then proceed to the cashier's desk and have your purchases checked up. The cashier is the only one who "tends store," and all the groceries are laid out within reach of the purchasers and labeled with the price.

The gradual development of the system of putting nearly every kind of groceries in tins, cartons, bottles and crates must have led to the evolution of the groceteria, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

There was once a confectionery establishment in which customers paid 25 cents and were then given permission to help themselves from open trays to all the candy they could eat, but not to carry any away. It was found to be profitable because most customers discovered their appetite cloyed before having exhausted the 25 cents' worth.

Having opened the door, when may we look for the "haberdasheteria" and the "booketeria?" However, the bookstore has nearly reached that stage already where familiar browsers take and restore books on the shelves, and finally carry their selections to a waiting clerk; while the bargain counter in the department store is universally the scene of heaven help you if you don't help yourself.

A BAD POLICY.

"I see where a candidate says he is going to keep running for a certain office until he gets it."

"He's making a great mistake."

"How so?"
"You can pester a man until he pays back borrowed money, but you can't make him vote for you that way."

NO SUCH ASPERSION.

"Isn't there a great deal of esprit de corps in that organization?"

"Not a bit of it. Every man Jack in it is on the water wagon."

Youthful Lines in Summer Coats

Those who are gifted with the faculty for creating styles must also be able to adapt styles to women of various ages. They contrive to interpret them in many ways, so that garments bespeak youthful or older wearers. In the picture two coats are shown. The checked model leaves no doubt in the mind that it is suited to and made for a young woman. The coat of covert cloth is not quite so decided in character.

These coats are recommended to meet the general needs of every day for young women. The checked model is in black and white, bordered and banded with black satin. The rolling collar is faced with satin. White celluloid buttons banded with black in three sizes are used for decoration and for fastening the coat. The model fits the figure vaguely above the waist-line and is generously wide below. The front sets trimly, with the fullness at the sides and back, held in place by a belt of satin, and the checked material. In the model of covert cloth the sleeves are cut in one with the body of the coat and the garment is hardly more definite in adjustment to the figure than a shawl. The collar is very high at the back and is faced with taffeta silk. It has an open throat. There could hardly be a better selection than this for a coat which must answer for all sorts of wear. It is good for the street or the car. It is severely plain, with no purely ornamental features, and depends for distinction upon original and clever lines and nicety of machine stitching. By these simple means it manages an elegance that is apparent in the picture and promises a busy career.

Designers have already turned their thoughts to coats for fall and winter, so that we may expect no further innovations in styles for this summer.

Train Is Growing.

The train is gradually growing wider and longer. From a mere panel of tulle or silk, attached to the shoulders and having no relation whatever to the frock, it has become incorporated with the skirt, or as a mantilla-like drapery of voluminous proportions. In many instances the overskirt of a gown is extended at each side to form long points which trail behind like a double train when the lady walks. These points are trimmed with tassels or ornaments of metal or beads.

A MATTER OF INDIVIDUALITY

"But what about Dick?" queried The-Mother-of-Three, the indignation which stirred her tender heart creeping into her voice.

"Why," answered The-Mother-of-One a bit impatiently, "have I not just told you that I made up my mind when Dick was born that he should be a great artist. I think it will be just too lovely to be pointed out as the mother of a renowned painter, don't you?"

"But," reiterated The-Mother-of-Three, "what about Dick? How do you know that he is artistically gifted? How do you know that he will have the ability to become a great painter? Whatever may be his gifts you must remember that they are God-given. And he has a right to travel the road to which they point, even as you have a right to be yourself."

"Why," she asked, "how dare you say that Dick will be a great painter, and to boast of the pride you shall feel as his mother?"

The clear-seeing eyes of the speaker flashed their indignation, and her usually gentle voice took on an unwonted sternness, for this matter of individuality was one in which she was much interested.

"Maybe you have made up your mind to make an artist out of Dick," she mean just that. Of course it is possible that your Dick was born with the divine fire of genius. If so you are right to give him his chance. But you don't know! You are not sending him to art school because you have studied his natural bent and determined to help it in its growth.

"YOU ARE SENDING HIM BECAUSE YOU MADE UP YOUR MIND YEARS AGO THAT IT WOULD BE GRATIFYING TO YOU TO BE POINTED OUT AS THE MOTHER OF AN ARTIST."

"You decided what he was to be before he had a chance to express his own inclinations, and through the years of his growth you are stunting him physically by shutting him up in an art school in the belief that he will one day satisfy your vanity."

"The boy may, through years of study, become a mediocre artist, but if God did not peculiarly endow him with an artistic soul in the years that are to come Dick will never forgive you, down in his heart of hearts, and he will cry out in his bondage all the days of his life."

The-Mother-of-One was too startled to be angry.

"What," she asked in a frightened voice, "what am I to do?"

"Stop the art lessons for a time at least. Give the time they have been

"What," She Asked in a Frightened Voice, "What Am I to Do?"

continued, "but God made up his mind first. And if God intended your boy to sell lumber or do something equally as unesthetic you may make up your mind all you want to but he'll never be an artist."

"Nonsense," said The-Mother-of-One. "Why Dick is in art school now. Everybody knows that any artistic accomplishment is just the knack of sticking at it. If Dick keeps on working at his art from now until he is through high school he ought to be ready by then to do something really worth while."

She thought she had scored heavily for The-Mother-of-Three was silent. Foolish, deluded little Mother-of-One!

"I had an only brother," said The-Mother-of-Three with apparent trepidation. "My mother ruined his life. No two children are ever alike. Nature fashions each from an individual design and throws away the pattern. She cut my brother out of exquisite material. She attuned his whole being to music. He heard melody in everything. By virtue of his genius he should have been educated a musician, but my mother had an idea that musicians are poverty-stricken, erratic folk, and her dreams for my brother were lined with dollars. She made up her mind when he was born that he should be a big figure in the financial world, and so she ignored the clamor of his soul, the cry of his individuality, and trained him for a commercial life. Because he was a brave, dutiful lad he obeyed my mother's wishes and today he is an unsuccessful business man, working for other people in an office where each day is more miserable than the one before; the purpose of his creation thwarted by a mother's egotism and self-love," ended The-Mother-of-Three with a sob.

"And you mean—"

"Yes," said The-Mother-of-Three, "I occupying to out-of-door play, and while the lad grows and develops physically watch the wonderful unfolding of his own individuality. It will be a revelation to you."

"And while he grows," The-Mother-of-Three went on to advise, "make no effort to turn him into channels that are not his own. Don't try to force him into being what you would like to have him be. If he is intended to paint pictures, and become a great artist, you will find it out. And if he was intended to follow a commercial life you will know in plenty of time. One thing is certain: he would make a success of neither the one nor the other under compulsion."

The speaker's face was aglow with hope and enthusiasm, for at last she saw that The-Mother-of-One had gained a full comprehension of how wicked a thing it is to interfere with the intentions of God in the matter of a human life.

Camera as a Side Arm.

The ideal machine to wear and carry with you at all times (and to get the best pictures you must keep your machine with you) must be light, with a lens capable of working at not less than F-53 and a high-shutter speed for quick work where desired. The picture taken must be large enough so that one will not have to enlarge everything.

If you have your machine with you, you will sometimes see chances to get a deer or other wild creature, but if you go back to camp for it your opportunity will be gone. If you are to have it with you at all times, it must be light and compact.

The vest-pocket camera are excellent little machines, but do not answer my purpose, the picture they take being too small without enlargement, and they have no shutter speed (only one-fiftieth of a second.)—Out-

Which costs most— painting or waiting?

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait, your house is worth less. A little paint-money is good paint-insurance.

TRYING SITUATION.

"But your constituents will want to know how you stand on this question."

"Of course they will," replied the eminent statesman, "but I shall, nevertheless, keep them guessing for a while."

"Do you consider that a good policy?"

"Yes, in my case, as I shall continue to guess with them."

STEADY WORK.

"At last I have steady employment."

"That so? What are you doing?"

"The firm has given me its bad accounts to collect."

MODERN AFFLICTION.

"Doctor, what shall I do to stop this ringing in my ears?"

"Better have your telephone taken out."

HIS INVESTMENT.

"They say that financier got rich suspiciously quick. How did he make his money?"

"In steal stock, I believe."

NOTHING ADDED.

"Can two live as cheaply as one?"

"In some respects, yes. It works regards the maintenance of the automobile."

NOT A HEAVY CLOAK

She--He makes a cloak of his religion.

He--He's more than likely to catch cold.

JUST HIS LUCK.

"That Mr. Twobble is a dreadful man," said Mrs. Dubwaite.

"Why so, my dear?" asked Mr. Dubwaite.

"I saw him yesterday watching two small boys fight without making any effort to stop them."

"Well, what if he did?"

"Mr. Dubwaite, I'd hate to think that you would act like that."

"No chance, my dear. I'm always so blamed busy that I have no time for amusements."

DESERVING CASE.

"If I give you a dime, are you sure I won't be pauperizing you?" asked the careful philanthropist.

"Oh, no, sir," answered the tattered visitor. "Society owes me a living."

"How do you figure that out?"

"I once had a swell chance to be a professional reformer, but I turned it down."

BOTH AT SEA.

Mother--Well, never mind. Mother'll kiss the place and make it well.

Young Sailor--O-o-o! Ye ca-a-d! It's inn-i-de!--Judge.

THE RESULT.

"What do you suppose will be the end of this itch for reform?"

"I guess it will make the voters scratch the ticket."
