Carload of Jitneys

The Bradley-Massey Auto Co. whose new building north of Knight & Brashear's is nearing completion, received their first shipment of Ford cars this week. This shipment consisted of a solid carload of Fords and were distributed to the following Lynn county citizens: A. D. Shook, Tahoka, five passenger; A. H. Cooper, five passenger; Thomas Bros., Tahoka, roadster; F. E. Shook, O'Donnell, five passenger; W. A. Yates, Three Lakes, five passenger; M. M. Boyd, Tahoka, five passenger.

Organize Sing Song

A "Sing Song" was organized at the Tahoka Methodist Church last Sunday September 30th.

The following officers being elected: Dr. C. B. Towns, President; Mr. M. M. Herring, Vice President; Miss Lola Donaldson, Sec-Treas. Committee on Music: E. H. Ogden, Miss Mary Dunn, M. M. Herring. Committee on Publicity: Miss Christine Swan, Miss Meeks, Miss Mary Dunn, Wallace Donaldson.

The Sing-Song will meet again Sunday at four o'clock in the afternoon at the Methodist church. Every body is cordially invited to attend.

Lit Moore left Friday morning for Runnels county to visit relatives and friends. Mr. Moore's wife has been there for several weeks visiting her parents.

J. D. Donaldson, one of Lynn county's most prominent farmers, tells us he has gathered his feed crop, turned his stock in the field, and expects to leave Tuesday for Wichita Falls, Texas, looking for work.

The Western Telephone Co., this week closed a deal for the Southland exchange, which adds another line to their service in this section. This exchange will be overhauled in the near future and put in first class shape.

Are Farmers Being Held Up For Seed Wheat

WILSON, TEXAS.

Oct. 1, 1917.

Editor of the Lynn County News

Dear Sir:

Will you be kind enough to advertise this letter and answer which is enclosed to you, as some of our neighbors are being outraged in seed prices. One of our neighbors tells me he bought a few days back 5 bushels of very common wheat shrieved to a great extent, from a firm in a nearby town, paid $3.00 per bushel; one other man paid $2.75 for same wheat. Please tell to your readers that I have been in communication with farmers near Abernathy and Petersburg a few days back, and they can buy good, plump seed wheat at the farmers' granary at from $1.75 to $1.95 per bushel, this is all the elevators are paying the farmers. This would save the farmers the hauling.

The people will have to turn in some of the so-called grafters and speculators.

Yours most kindly,

P.S. The farmers should take their wagons and go to the farmers' granary and get it.

Below we print the clipping enclosed with the above letter. — Ed.

Special to the Record.

Sherman, Sept. 27.—One of the best pieces of news that comes out of the United States food administrator's department is the fact that the farmers will be protected in the price they pay for seed wheat. This information came to G. T. Branham, a well known Grayson county farmer, who lives six miles southwest of Sherman on R. F. D. No. 6.

Some time ago Mr. Branham put his wheat in an elevator, and later sold all he had for the sum of $2.03 per bushel. When he went to see about getting seed wheat to plant a crop for next year he was asked $2.50 per bushel for it. He did not purchase at the time, and, after considering the matter, wrote to the milling division of the United States food administration, at Kansas City, Mo. In response to his enquiry, he is in receipt of the following letter, which is self-explanatory:

"Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 22, 1917.—G. T. Branham, Sherman,

Texas. Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of the 19th relative to the price of seed wheat, so far the government has not restricted the price of seed wheat for seeding purposes only. We have been informed there will be an order issued some time next week that 15 per cent over the government fixed price will be all that any one will be allowed to charge for seed wheat. However, this rule is not in effect as yet. Very truly yours,

"U. S. Food Administration,
"A. J. Hunt, in Charge.
"By Geo. W. Hayland, Flour Mill Division."

The vacancy on the Local Exemption Board of Lynn County caused by the resignation of Dr. E. H. Inmon to accept a place in the medical corps of the National Army, has been filled by M. M. Herring. The examining physician has not yet been named.

According to a dispatch from Washington in Wednesday's Dallas News, registered men accepted for Military service and ordered to report, who fail to answer to roll call on the date set for report will be considered as deserters and a standing reward of $50 will be paid for their delivery at the nearest Army post to the place of their capture. If the registered man can show that his failure to appear was not willful, he will be sent to the mobilization camp and the county receive credit for him, otherwise he will be courtmartialled as a deserter.

Three Tahoka Doctors Go To Training Camp

Dr. E. B. Gilbert, first lieutenant in the officers medical reserve corps, who received his orders last week, left Monday for Fort Worth where he was joined Thursday by Drs. Inmon and Turrentine, also lieutenants in the same corps. Dr. Inmon and wife spent Tuesday in Lubbock visiting his parents. Dr. Turrentine went to Slaton Wednesday morning with Jno. C. Woodall and J. E. Stokes. He was joined there by Dr. Inmon and they proceeded to Fort Worth and joined Dr. Gilbert and the three proceeded to Camp Greenleaf, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

Roy Nettles returned last week from a trip to Fort Worth, where he spent a day with his brother, Carroll, who is a member of the Texas National Guard in training at Camp Bowie.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thomas are the proud parents of a fine boy born Wednesday morning. Mother and son are doing fine.

Local Chapter Red Cross Met Saturday Last

The Red Cross Chapter met at the court house Saturday September 29th. A program was rendered by the members beginning with several patriotic songs. Miss Mary Dunn read a selection setting forth the need of help of every kind from the Red Cross. Mrs. Walker read "The Woman Slacker" which brought home to the women of the meeting the importance of helping and deploring the fact that some of us may be deterred by thinking our bit is so insignificant that it is not worth while. Mrs. Dunn made a very able talk on the object of the work, while it is christianity in its highest sense, it is nonsectarian. We do not pledge ourselves to go to the front when we join, only to help in every way possible. The women of the Plains have led such a sheltered life that some of us fail to realize this is our war and the call of the nation means us be we old or young. Some have no immediate kin to go; don't let that stand in the way, adopt some soldier or sailor and feel an interest in him. You may not know him personally, but that need not hinder. A lot of the boys to go from some places will have no one to remember them. The need is great and we hope to see every woman in our county enlisted in this work. The greater the effort now the sooner the war will end and the waste of the flower of our young manhood will cease. The Red Cross is not essentially a woman's organization, but the bit we can do here in our isolated situation is mostly sewing. The garments are very simple and easily made but their simplicity is only equalled by their importance.

One Miracle Led to Another.

A man with huge smoked goggles and a pitiful stoop groped his way along a street in Buffalo the other day. Patrolman McNamara watched him from afar. He stopped two soldiers in uniform and told them that he was a victim of the Mexican war, and after describing the horrors of the struggle that had cost him his sight, held out a tin cup. But his story did not move the soldiers, and they passed on.

"Oh, you think that just because you wear uniforms you're somebody!" he shouted after them. Patrolman McNamara thought it so remarkable for a blind man to sense the presence of a uniform that he restored the sight of that war victim by the laying on of hands.—Buffalo Express.

Vicar as a Farm Laborer.

Rev. Reginald James, vicar of St. John's church at Watford, England, writing in his parish magazine, says: "I have chosen the part of helping my nation by offering myself for most of the week as an agricultural laborer to a neighboring farmer, who is hard put to carry on without help. Fortunately I have been brought up to manual labor, and the farmer thinks I shall do very well. I think I shall look very well in my new vestments. I have always longed for a smock. It is quite in keeping with my 'high church' ways, for the monks of old were great agriculturists."

GET CREDIT FOR FARM WORK

Purdue University Students Who Go Home to Help Raise Crops, Retain School Standing.

A young man, a senior student at Purdue university, entered the office of W. E. Stone, president of the institution, and placed on the president's desk a telegram. It was from the young man's brother. It read thus: "You must return home at once. You will find the automobile in the garage at Thorntown. I have enlisted. Good-by."

"What am I to do?" the young student asked. "The farm has been turned over to my two brothers and myself and we have to run it. If this brother has enlisted the only thing I can do is go back home and help with the farm."

The student was to be graduated from Purdue in June, and he feared that he would lose his credits and his diploma.

President Stone told him that his duty was there, and that he would not lose any of his credits, but that he would retain all of his rights in the university and would be graduated with his class in June, the same as if he remained in school.

President Stone has announced that a similar policy will be adopted in favor of all Purdue students who are required to leave school and go home to help raise crops, provided proper verified showings are made that they are performing or have performed such work.—Indianapolis News.

The Novice's Mistake.

In Tales of Flying Services, Mr. C. G. Grey tells about a strange entry in the official report of an officer who had recently joined the service and was sent to pass a seaplane through its test for the English navy. He had to go up as a passenger with the constructor's pilot and to keep a log of what occurred during the test.

This is what he put down: "9:05 a. m., left ship. 9:10 a. m., altimeter shows 300 feet above sea. 9:12 a. m., curious phenomenon. Met a sea gull flying backward!"

That meant that the machine, flying at the rate of about 80 miles an hour, overtook a sea gull—which is not a fast flyer—going at about 40 miles an hour, and that up in the air without any background to give a proper sense of direction, the bird looked as if it were flying toward them tail first. Probably the officer knows better now.—Youth's Companion.

Boon to Indoor Photographer.

The nitrogen-filled electric lamps have proven a boon to the indoor photographer. They are resorted to in various ways to secure improved results. It produces far more actinic rays than the ordinary incandescent light, and a room lighted by a 200-watt lamp can be photographed in a fraction of the time required with a light of the old style. In a room of ordinary size, with walls and ceiling of a medium tint, and with the camera stop open to No. 8 on the diaphragm scale, an exposure of from two to four minutes will be enough to get excellent interior views. Photographers now also use the gas-filled lamp in the daytime to illuminate dark corners and shadowy places when they are taking indoor views.

Electricity Ruins Drudgery.

Domestic drudgery is being rapidly lessened by electricity. A recently invented electric scrubber cleans 5,000 square feet of floor in an hour, and this has been followed by an electric floor polisher that does in a few minutes work that often requires hours of arduous hand labor. The machine is connected to the nearest lamp socket. The wax being spread over the floor by the means provided, a heavy bristle brush making 3,000 revolutions per minute quickly gives a smooth and brilliant surface, with no aid except guiding over the floor.

The Difference.

"How would you answer the old question about the difference between a politician and a statesman?"

"I should say," replied Senator Sorghum, "that a politician tries to give people anything they want and a statesman tries to give them what they will approve of, after they've got it."

American Woman Aids Wounded.

The wife of Sir David Beatty, commander of the high fleet, who was formerly Miss Ethel Field of Chicago, has thrown open her large estate in England for the exclusive use of wounded British sailors.

It is not generally known that Sir David is a man of immense wealth, but a recent financial census of the British kingdom showed that he is, with the possible exception of Sir John Jellicoe, the richest man in the British navy.

It also was developed during the same census that Sir David has expended large sums from his personal account for the relief of the families of his sailors who lost their lives in the Jutland battle.

UNUSUAL BOATS ON ATLANTIC

Demand for Tonnage for War Cargoes Brings Into Service Types That Are Rarely Seen.

Many vessels of unusual type have appeared on the Atlantic in recent months because of the demand for tonnage for war cargoes. Among them is the American four-masted barkentine John Palmer, a type of sailing ship seen frequently on the Pacific, but seldom on the western ocean.

Like some other American sailing craft the John Palmer had an encounter with a submarine. She was luckier than the Lyman W. Law, however, for she floated on her cargo and managed to make port. While carrying lumber from Galveston to Genoa the Palmer was torpedoed 200 miles west of the latter port.

After the torpedoing the submarine was chased by a patrol boat, which afterward took the Yankee vessel in tow. As she showed no signs of sinking immediately the captain and crew remained on board. The Palmer eventually reached port and was able to deliver her cargo, although she had to be beached.

The John Palmer is now being repaired at Genoa, and it is expected she will be seaworthy in a short time and bring an Italian cargo to New York. She was built of wood at San Francisco in 1901.

Human Leopard Trials.

A gruesome manifestation of a primitive belief that exists in many parts of the world is described by a recent English writer, K. J. Beattie, in his account of the human leopard trials held in 1912 in Sierra Leone, Africa. Nearly all primitive peoples believe in the power of certain men to convert themselves into wild beasts. The "werewolf" legend of the French-Canadians is an example. In Sierra Leone a certain cult took advantage of this superstition to terrorize and kill their fellows, whom they cooked and devoured. These men were supposed to be able to take the forms of leopards at will, and owing to the spell of terror in which they held the people their murders were extremely hard to detect.

Pains, Dizzy Spells

Mrs. G.P. Cartwright, of Whitwell, Tenn., writes: "I suffered with bearing-down pains. . . The dizzy spells got so bad that when I would start to walk, I would just pretty nearly fall. Was very much run-down. I told my husband I thought Cardui would help me. . . He got me a bottle. . . It helped me so much that he got me another bottle. I got a whole lot better. The dizzy spells and the bearing-down pains . . . left me entirely."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WILD FEARS OF ARMY LIFE

In All Wars Soldier Has About Nineteen Chances Out of Twenty of Surviving Year's Service.

Numerous incidents reported in the United States since the selective conscription law was passed have shown that many persons have a wildly exaggerated notion of the dangers and hardships of army service. They evidently feel that a call to the colors is about the same thing as a death sentence. A few have killed themselves. Some have shot off an arm or cut off several fingers. Other mutilations have been reported.

This is the madness of fear. In all wars, even in the tremendous conflict now raging, a soldier has about nineteen chances out of twenty of surviving a year's service. In two years he does not run as much as a 10 per cent risk of death. German and British records indicate that the ratio of fatalities is not more than one out of twenty-five men annually.

As for hardships, some soldiers like the change from the conditions of civil life. Many seek to remain in military service after wars end. Nearly all who escape wounds say they feel unusually well and physically fit. Disease in modern armies maintained by advanced nations is less common than in ordinary occupations.

War is grim and terrible enough without wild exaggerations of its perils and its sufferings. Always its chances leave a good balance on the side of safety. Any man who kills or maims himself to escape military service is not only a coward but a fool.—Cleveland Leader.

FINGER PRINTS 1,000 YEARS AGO.

According to B. Laufer of the Field museum, Chicago, the taking of finger prints as a means of identification was used by the Chinese and Japanese at least a thousand years ago. Writing in Science to controvert Sir William J. Herschel's claim to the credit for the invention, he quotes Rashid-eddin, the famous Persian historian, who described in 1303 the then ancient Chinese custom; Soleiman, an Arabian merchant, who wrote in A. D. 851 that in China creditors' bills were marked by the debtor with his fingers; and three contracts dated A. D. 782 and 786, both finger marked and bearing a note to the effect that the parties thereto had affixed the impressions of their fingers.

WHAT IS WARTIME ECONOMY?

Misinformation Agitation Would Stop All Activities Other Than War, Declares Writer.

Misinformation agitators believe economy to be a cessation of all possible activities calling for the expenditure of public money other than that directly concerned with the prosecution of the war. In this throttling of activity the good roads movement is imperiled—a movement which has gained tremendous momentum of late years through the demands, not only of the pleasure car but also of the motor truck, in its endeavors to serve the nation through increasing the efficiency of short-haul transportation systems, says a writer in Leslie's.

The Society of Automobile Engineers, in co-operation with the quartermaster's department, has completed a set of specifications for military motor trucks to form the basis of the competitive bid for the 35,000 machines required for the army. These specifications are based on the experience gained from the wholesale use of trucks on the Mexican border. They call for a larger, stronger and more expensive truck than would be necessary were this type to be used over uniformly good or average roads. Were our improved highway system complete, less stringent specifications for truck construction would be required and millions would be saved on the cost of our truck fleet. This saving would more than pay the interest on the bonds required to provide for the construction of the thousands of miles of improved highways this great country so urgently needs.

BEEF IN BRITAIN.

Since the war began beef has risen in price 112 per cent, eggs 78 per cent, fish 138 per cent and milk only 62 per cent, according to a report just published by the special war committee on the production and distribution of milk of Great Britain, of which Maj. Waldorf Astor, M. P., is chairman.

The committee says it is bound to take cognizance of the fact that, before the war, the imports of milk products, including butter, cheese, margarine, condensed milk, etc., into the United Kingdom had been increasing year by year, rising to a total value in 1914 of some £38,000,000.

A BEVERAGE

Bevo is a great favorite in the Army Canteens, where none but pure, soft drinks may be sold. After drill or march, you are sure to see a long line of hot and dusty-throated soldier boys making a bee line for Bevo. They know that there lies complete satisfaction, full refreshment and pure wholesomeness.

At home or abroad—at work or play—between meals or with meals, you will appreciate what we have done for you in making this triumph in soft drinks. You will find Bevo at inns, restaurants, groceries, department and drug stores, picnic grounds, baseball parks, soda fountains, dining cars, in the navy, at canteens, at mobilization camps and other places where refreshing beverages are sold.

A motor truck must submit, and PASS, the acid test of COST.

That is the test we want you to apply to the one-ton Maxwell truck—its first cost—and its operating cost.

A Maxwell truck—which is a REAL truck, worm-driven—sells at a price that can not be met in any other motor vehicle of like efficiency, durability, and economy.

A Maxwell truck will cover 100 miles in a work day—twice the distance covered by two teams and two drivers.

It will do this at an operating cost of less than that of one team of horses.

Moreover, it is of a size and capacity adapted to the needs of almost every form and phase of commerce, industry, or farming.

The question is not, "Can I afford to have a Maxwell truck?"

The FACT is, Mr. Business Man, you can not afford to be without one.

Berry Custard.

Half fill custard cups with bits of sponge cake; make a rich custard with a pint of milk, the yolks of two eggs and a heaping tablespoonful of sugar. Flavor it very slightly with almond or vanilla and add one-half cupful of finely chopped almonds; put a few berries on the cake, pour over the warm custard and let all grow cold; then add a large spoonful of whipped cream to each and a few berries. Stand the cups on a platter and surround with berry leaves and some berries.

Just as a matter of historical record it may be worth while to note that the name "Sammies" was bestowed upon the overseas sons of Uncle Sam by no less a personage than London Punch. It made the suggestion in warning Londoners that all the American soldiers would not relish the title "Yankee."

Mrs. A. J. Rhoades Died Suddenly

After a very short illness, death claimed the spirit of Mrs. A. J. Rhoades of the Lynn community Friday morning at two o'clock. Acute indigestion was the cause of death.

Mrs. Rhoades was born November 30th, 1854, in Allan county, Kentucky. She was married to Mr. Rhoades in Kentucky, and they came to Texas in the Seuenties, and moved to Lynn county some four or five years ago.

Mrs. Rhoades leaves a husband, one son, R. T. Rhoades of Lynn county, four daughters, Mrs. A. N. Lancaster and Mrs. Wilse Mitchell of Alvord, Texas, Mrs. W. F. Stears and Miss Minnie Rhoades of Lynn county, all of whom attended the funeral except Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. Rhoades was laid to rest in the Tahoka cemetery Friday afternoon at five o'clock.

Large Meteor Seen Here

Waco, Texas, Oct. 1.—A meteor weighing several tons fell tonight and completely buried itself on the farm of Harry James, two miles south of Hillsboro, Texas. Many persons saw the meteor, which was the size of an ordinary automobile, falling through the air, and there was some excitement in the vicinity. — Dallas News.

Quite a number of Tahoka and Lynn county citizens saw this meteor fall in the southeast. It made as much light as a vivid ash of lightening and looked like a large skyrocket falling.

HOLD A QUEER CONVERSATION

Blind Soldier Finds a Way to "Talk" With Man Who Had Lost Hearing on Battlefield.

How many of our readers have heard of a blind man and a dumb man engaging in conversation? asks London Tit-Bits. The truth of the following incident, however, is vouched for by the blind man concerned, who was formerly a patient at St. Dunstan's, the Regent's Park institution, where war heroes who have sacrificed their sight in the great fight for freedom are cared for and taught trades which they can suitably adopt in spite of their sad affliction.

"The incident happened," says the blind hero, "shortly after I arrived home from St. Dunstan's last year. I was out with some friends one evening, and after a walk we made our way to a place of refreshment. A vacant seat was found for me next to a deaf and dumb man. I had known him for some years previous to my blindness, and, naturally enough, he wanted to communicate with me.

"It was useless for him to write on paper, as he generally did when he wished to 'converse' with those who could see, but we both rose to the occasion. I happen to know the finger code of speaking. I just told him that I could no longer see; but it was at first puzzling to know how he could reply. He promptly saved the situation. With his fingers he made the letters on my fingers, and I was able to follow him quite easily. Our ability to engage in conversation caused no little astonishment to the other people present, for never before had they seen a blind man and a deaf and dumb man in conversation."

IS PRESIDENT MONROE'S

Florida Centenarian Lives in Houseboat With Confederate Pension as His Chief Support.

The oldest and most vigorous centenarian in Florida, Maj. James Monroe of this city, only surviving President James Monroe, celebrated his one hundred and first birthday recently, says a dispatch from Jacksonville, Fla., to the New York Herald.

Major Monroe is a widely known figure in the neighborhood in which he lives. A small pension from the Confederate army, is his chief support. His home, a dilapidated houseboat drawn upon the bank of the John's river, in the heart of Richmond, Va.

Major Monroe wears his years lightly. He is as sprightly as son of fifty. He works in the garden, the wealthier residents of the side section, and is a favorite with the children, for whom he has stant fund of stories relating to Mexican war, the Civil war and bellum days. He has been in three times, and has lost five fighting for this country. Three of them were killed in the Civil war, daughter remains alive. Her home is at Richmond, Va.

At the side of the houseboat of Major Monroe a Confederate flag, but in the place of honor Stars and Stripes. Each Fourth of July Major Monroe salutes "Glory" with a volley from a flint musket.

A prized photograph of President James Monroe is owned by Major Monroe.

Should Have Moved It.

The city firemen of Frankfort of a novel incident, involving a woman of the city quite prominent in affairs. The firemen had laid a hose across one of the principal streets, in fighting a fire, when a woman approached in her electric car and then proceeded to cross the obstacle. An irate fireman pulled her and informed the woman that she was subject to arrest for violating city ordinance.

"Well, why didn't you move the thing?" she replied. "I sound the bell twice."—Indianapolis News.
