Elbert Evans Killed July 15th, in France

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Evans, old settlers in the Lakeview community, this county, received a telegram Saturday afternoon stating that their son, Elbert, was killed July 15th, in battle on the French front.

Elbert enlisted in the U. S. army last January, and was the first Lynn county boy to our knowledge, killed in action on French soil.

If young Evans had lived four days longer he would have reached his 21st birthday.

The family has the sympathy of the entire citizenship of Lynn county in the loss of their son, who gave his life for a noble cause that we might live in a world of democracy.

Messrs. Chas. Brown and J. H. Edwards returned the first part of the week from Brownwood, Burk Burnett and other cities in that section of the state, where they went in the interest of their oil investments.

A Good Job for Everyone Wanting Work

John C. Reinhard, Examiner in charge of the Department of Labor of the United States Employment Service, made a talk at the Court House yesterday, outlining the object of the employment service. This department is now in a position to give a number of people employment in the rice fields, oil mills and cotton fields of Texas. More than 60 different points in Texas are in urgent need of help and good wages are offered in every instance. Anyone wishing work, will see M. M. Herring for full information.

Charley Heare, of Miami, Texas, brother of Santa Fe agent, J. L. Heare, spent part of Wednesday and Thursday in Tahoka. Mr. Heare was enroute to Galveston to attend a medical school in that city.

Jack Edwards and daughter, Miss Inez, made a trip to Lubbock the latter part of last week, returning to Tahoka Tuesday of this week.

L. T. Key, of Anson, Texas, father of Mrs. J. T. Stricklin, is spending a few days here visiting the family of Prof. J. T. Stricklin.

Drilling for Oil In Garza County

Work on the derrick for the oil well on the Z Bar L Ranch is progressing rapidly and drilling will begin at an early date. This well is being put down by the Whitesides Oil Company, of Muskogee, Oklahoma.

Drilling at the Garza-Kent well, 20 miles east of Post, has been held up for a few days awaiting repairs for the drilling machinery, but work will probably be resumed the first of next week.—Post City Post.

R. C. Wood reports that he had weighed out 51 bales of cotton up to Thursday night, September 26th.

Rev. Dunn Writes on Campaign for Funds

Raymond D. Fosdick, Chairman of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, has made public a letter from President Wilson announcing that a campaign will begin on November 11, the purpose of which will be to raise the sum of $170,500,000 for the following organizations: Y. M. C. A., $100,000,000; Y. W. C. A., $15,000,000; National Catholic War Council, $30,000,000; Jewish Welfare Board, $3,500,000; American Library Association, $3,500,000; War Camp Community Service, $15,000,000; and Salvation Army, $3,500,000. President Wilson says: "It is evident from the first, and has become increasingly evident, that the services rendered by these agencies to our armies and our Allies are essentially one and all of a kind and must of necessity, if well rendered, be rendered in the closest cooperation. It is my judgment, therefore, that we shall secure the best of results in the matter of the support of these agencies if these seven societies will unite their forthcoming appeals for funds in order that the spirit of the country in this matter may be expressed without distinction of race or religious opinion in support of what is in reality a common service."

The paragraph above quoted from the Nashville Christian Advocate, contains some suggestions, that seem contrary to the accustomed fairness and wisdom of our great President, who deservedly holds the highest place in the confidence of the nations of the world. We would not say a word that would cast suspicion on America's greatest patriot and the greatest statesman on earth; but it is only human to make mistakes, and ask is it not right and legitimate to call attention to what is not just and wise. In this list of objects that are to be, or may be included in the Y. M. C. A. drive in November, there is $30,000,000 for the "National Catholic War Council." Why should any single denomination have a special favor by government provision? The Roman Catholic Church is entitled to the same recognition that is given to any other denomination of the Christian Church, but no more. If the camp pastors, of the Protestant churches, must be forced to retire from the army camps where they have built tabernacles with the voluntary offerings of the people, why should the Roman Catholic denomination be allowed to have their Knights of Columbus buildings, in the camp, and share in the support of all the churches, in the campaign for the Y. M. C. A. war work? Are we not in danger of fostering a powerful enemy in our own government?

It is a fact that no one can deny, that the Pope of Rome, the recognized head of his church, claims to be God's Vicegerent on earth, and, of Divine right, the civil, and as well as the spiritual ruler of the whole world; and calls himself the "Prisoner of the Vatican," because he is not the sovereign ruler of Italy, as well as the spiritual head of his church. The history of the Latin speaking nations of the world show the ambitions of the Roman Catholic Church to have the absolute control of the governments, civil and ecclesiastical, and to this end, have subjected Protestant Christians to imprisonment, confiscation of property, and, sometimes, to death, to force them to submit to their religious denomination.

Is an Ecclesiastical Autocracy any better than a political one? Let history answer this question.

R. F. DUNN.

"WRITING HOME"

LYNN COUNTY SHOULD GO "OVER" IN 4th LIBERTY LOAN

Under existing conditions, facing as it does, a heavy crop failure, due to an almost unprecedented drouth, it looks like it will be impossible to raise the quota, but IT HAS TO BE DONE, so the quicker the people realize that they simply have to come across, the sooner will the big undertaking be off our hands. Before, you bought because you could. This time you buy whether you "can" or not.

Heretofore it has been a comparatively easy job to buy these bonds. A large portion of our people had the cold cash laying by or found it within easy reach, and it was no trouble to make the investment. Today it is different. The man who has a thousand dollars of surplus funds is the rarest sort of an exception. Few have even a hundred. A real sacrifice confronts a vast majority of the people, but there must be no flinching. If you have to mortgage and pay a greater rate of interest than Uncle Sam pays you, you are still fortunate.

Authorities on financial matters of this war is costing the government above fifty million dollars daily. The people have to pay it and as long as they can hold to their property and loan to the Government the condition is fortunate. Direct taxation and the drafting of money may come yet and then is when we will feel it.

You may think in strong and even profane terms when your quota is placed before you. No doubt you will, but what do you think the boys thought who have been told by Uncle Sam to be on hands, rain or shine, to start to the training camps on a certain day? No matter what they thought they went, and so will you raise your share of this money, or suffer the humiliation of being rated of a slacker, which is a disgrace even your posterity cannot live down.

Walk up and take your share of these bonds, regardless of how it may hurt, and thank high heaven that you have thus far escaped the trenches and the consequences of facing the deadly German guns.

Lynn County has never failed yet to raise the quota assigned her, as well as contributing liberally to the Red Cross and other organizations in line with war work. Be patriotic. BIA-BOND.

Church Notes

METHODIST CHURCH
Regular services at the Methodist church next Sunday. The pastor will preach at 11:00 a. m. on "The Slacker."

BAPTIST CHURCH
There will be no preaching services at the Baptist church Sunday morning, on account of the Fifth Sunday Meeting held with the Three Lakes church. The pastor will preach Sunday night at the usual hour. Sunday School at 10:00 a. m.

Patriotic Citizens Boost Fourth Liberty Loan

In this issue of the News will be found a page ad boosting the Fourth Liberty Loan, which several of Tahoka's patriotic business firms are contributing to the cause. The regular ads of these firms does not appear in this issue. Your attention is called to the signatures at the bottom of this ad. These firms deserve your patronage, and the News appreciates the fact that they have given their space and money toward this patriotic cause.

Warning! Don't Sell Your Liberty Bond

Don't be swindled out of your Liberty Bond. If anyone tries to trade you out of your Liberty Bond, don't trade.

Keep your bond until the end of the war. Go without something you need rather than sell it.

Your bond is your substitute on the fighting front: To part with it takes you out of the fight.

Instead of selling the bond you own, buy another one to keep the first one company. Liberty Bonds are the best security on earth today. They are the promise of the United States Government to pay you interest twice a year and to pay the face value of the bond when due.

Their safety is the reason they carry a low rate of interest.

Buy a bond and then another one. You will be saving money and helping your country.

BIA-BOND.

We understand that Dr. Thurman has left Post City for war service, and that Dr. Summit, of Plains, is moving to Post is taking his place. This leaves Plains without a physician again.—Brownfield Herald.

Red Cross Notes

By Mrs. H. C. Crie

All those having finished articles of the knit garments would confer a favor if they will bring them in as promptly as possible, so if the number is short, to give us time to make enough to fill out the quota.

Some articles may have to be re-done and we would like to have time to finish them.

Ross Dillard, of Kingsville, Texas, spent part of Monday in Tahoka, the guest of H. C. Crie and family. Mr. Dillard was here prospecting and may locate in Lynn county at an early date.

Bill Duncan, chief mechanic, with the Bradley Auto Co., left Saturday night bound for Lubbock. Think Bill had car trouble a few miles out and returned to Tahoka early Sunday morning.

Northwest Texas Annual Conference at Lubbock

The Northwest Texas Annual Conference, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, will convene at Lubbock, on October 30th., and continue in session several days.

Several hundred ministers and delegates will attend the conference. This will be by far the largest delegation Lubbock has ever had the honor of entertaining, but this hustling little city never does things by halves and all who attend we are sure will be well taken care of for her citizenship is made of generous, free hearted western people.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lockhart, and daughter, Miss Leona, Mesdames H. M. Larkin and R. B. Haynes, were shopping in Lubbock Tuesday.

Reuel King left for Abilene Wednesday, where he will enter the Christian College at that place.

Pay Your Subscription If You Want the News

We are once more calling your attention to the Government's order regarding newspaper subscriptions. This order says papers cannot be sent to subscribers who are more than three months in arrears, and that no paper can be sent free. We are given until October 1st to revise our subscription list to comply with this order. A great many of our subscribers have already paid their subscription in advance, but several hundred have not, and if you fail to pay up you cannot blame us if you fail to get the paper. The News wants to keep all of its subscribers, but Uncle Sam's orders have to be carried out. Look on the label of your paper and if the date shows that you are not paid beyond June, 1918, your subscription is out, and your paper must be discontinued after October 1st, unless you bring or send in your renewal. Please attend to this matter and help us to make the News the paper it should be. Hereafter the paper will be discontinued when the time expires. Renew TODAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Shook have returned from Oklahoma, where they have resided the past year. They are at present stopping with A. D. Shook and family in north Tahoka, but will be at home on East Lockwood Street, after the first of October.

E. D. Smith Takes Charge Star Drug Store

E. D. Smith, of Snyder, Tex., arrived in Tahoka Wednesday, and will have charge of the Star Drug Store in this city, taking the place of J. C. Fish, who left last week to enter A. & M. College.

Mr. Smith comes to us highly recommended and is well qualified for the position. We are glad to number Mr. Smith among the citizenship of our town.

Wylie Fortenberry and wife left this week for Tokio, Terry county, Texas. The News will keep them posted on current events in Lynn county.

Mrs. H. Bert Smith and daughters, Maudie B. and Lois, left Wednesday for North Dakota, where they will join Mr. Smith and go to Canada, their future home.

Ben T. Brown had business in Forth Worth, leaving Tahoka Saturday night and returning Tuesday morning.

S. W. Joplin returned yesterday from a business trip north.

Uncle Sam Gives Back Stolen Hour October 27

Sunday, October 27th, at 2 a. m., is the day and hour when this country will see the time set back one hour. The daylight saving plan has been in effect since March 31st, through an act of Congress which provides that the system shall be permanent.

For Weak Women

In use for over 40 years! Thousands of voluntary letters from women, telling of the good Cardui has done them. This is the best proof of the value of Cardui. It proves that Cardui is a good medicine for women.

There are no harmful or habit-forming drugs in Cardui. It is composed only of mild, medicinal ingredients, with no bad after-effects.

TAKE CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

You can rely on Cardui. Surely it will do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women! It should help. "I was taken sick, seemed to be..." writes Mrs. Mary E. Veste, of Madison Heights, Va. "I got down so weak, could hardly walk... just staggered around. . . I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when run-down. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.

Wetproof Steel Lined Shot Shells

DOUBLE your duck hunting luck in rough weather with the right shotshells—Remington UMC Smokeless "Arrow" or "Nitro Club" Wetproof Steel Lined "Speed Shells," made to stay dry and firm as a bullet no matter how wet the pocket that contains them, and shoot right.

Without charge. You will not be able to see this improvement but you will know it is there when you put it to the test of shooting under conditions which only Wetproof shells can stand.

They will stay hard and smooth as usual, with the turned-over end entirely firm and top wad flat. If you can detect any difference in the results in shooting them when they "ought to" be good and wet, you will be the first to succeed in doing so. The same highest dependability and performance qualities as always

Remington UMC for Shooting Right

Remington UMC Smokeless "Arrow" and "Nitro Club" Wetproof Steel Lined "Speed Shells" are completely proofed against wet by a wonderful and exclusive process, which it took three years to perfect. This improvement costs you nothing.

Just buy the same favorite "Arrow" or "Nitro Club" brand, as usual, at the regular price. You will get the Wetproof improvement extra.

In black powder shells, buy the old reliable "New Club," now Wetproof sealed at turnover and top wad.

In Memory of William Elbert Evans

God in his wisdom has called from the battlefield of France, another of America's noble sons, and friends and loved ones are called to mourn the untimely death of Elbert Evans.

According to official report received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Evans, of the northwest part of the county, he was killed in action July 15, a few days prior to his 21st birthday.

Being a Theological student, he would have been exempt from military duty, but he loved his country and felt that he must fight for her. To know his duty was to do it, and he volunteered his services January of this year. He was for a short time stationed at San Antonio, but later transferred to Camp Green, N. C., and landed overseas sometime in April. The censor allowed us few details of his life in France, but we are sure he met and bore all the trials and hardships of battle with christian fortitude, and bravery and daring found in few young men, and at last made the supreme sacrifice as bravely as he had fought.

His life, though short, was one of usefulness. He was ever found doing good for his fellow man, and while preparing himself for the ministry and a greater usefulness in this life, he lost no opportunity to speak to lost souls. Though he is gone from among us, his life stands out as a bright light, ever beckoning his boyhood friends to a better and brighter world, and boys, who are not christians, answer this beckoning call, and should you be called as Elbert has been to sacrifice your life for your country, be prepared to meet him and tell him his christian influence is living on and on, and winningsouls to Christ.

To his loved ones he leaves a sweet memory; no flaw to mar its beauty, and me thinks this will be a great comfort to his dear mother to whom his love and devotion were rare and beautiful.

Loved ones, our hearts bleed for you; but God can heal broken hearts, and may his comforting spirit abide with you in this hour of great sorrow. It seems to me that God did not want Elbert to bear the hardships of this cruel war and called him home to be with Him and His Angles.

God doeth all things well and we know that all things work together for good to them that love Him. Heaven seems nearer since Elbert is there, and may we all strive to meet him in that world where sorrows never come.

A DEVOTED FRIEND.

THE MAN AT THE COUNTER

He is one of the busiest men in the world—the "Y" man at the counter. He is as much a part of the military scheme of things as "chow" and taps. At least the soldier thinks so. The counter is crowded all the time, and the man at the counter proves his versatility by answering a thousand varieties of questions, selling stamps, giving advice, distributing stationery, helping the boys send money home, passing out good cheer, handing out literature, and doing all the other things that a "Y" man is expected to do. This is a typical counter scene in a Y. M. C. A. hut. The picture was taken at Camp Pike, near Little Rock, Ark., one of the large cantonments of the country.

American fighters in France evidently do not approve of the skip stop plan. They prefer not to stop at all.

My notion of extreme bravery is furnished by that soldier who married two women and enlisted in the regular army besides.

A soldier of the American army writes to his church folk in an Ohio town that when the American bombs do their work in a Hun town the survivors gather up the fragments of their relatives and others and place them in a common grave, inscribing on the stone above it: "Rest in pieces".

Helps Sick Women

Cardui, the woman's tonic, helped Mrs. William Eversole, of Hazel Patch, Ky. Read what she writes: "I had a general breaking-down of my health. I was in bed for weeks, unable to get up. I had such a weakness and dizziness, and the pains were very severe. A friend to me I had tried everything else, why not Cardui? I did, and soon saw it was helping me. After 12 bottles, I am strong and well."

TAKE

The Woman's Tonic

Do you feel weak, dizzy, worn-out? Is your lack of good health caused from any of the complaints so common to women? Then why not give Cardui a trial? It should surely do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women who suffered—it should help you back to health.

Ask some lady friend who has taken Cardui. She will tell you how it helped her. Try Cardui.

Mangled and Gassed Yanks Tell of Battle at Chateau Thierry

Paris, (by mail).—If there is yet an American who does not hate the Hun, he or she should have seen the first trainload of American wounded that arrived here from Chateau Thierry. Torn and mangled by shell, with eyes red and swollen and inflamed from the noxious gases the "Kaitur" exponents were the first to give the world, with noses and ears shot off, their bodies raked with machine gun bullets and racked with pain, they came.

They were boys from home. For over two years I have seen French, Belgian and British wounded. I have seen them grit their teeth and die without a murmur, but nothing brought home the war in the way that first train of wounded from the last offensive did. They were more badly cut up than the victims of the first German onslaught. There were more of them and they hadn't been able to receive the care of the first American units that were thrown into the great battle.

Here and there a form with a blanket drawn over the head indicated a young lad who had made his last journey during the long, weary ride in from the front. In a compartment with a number of French wounded was a 19-year-old boy from Chicago. He was all alone and surrounded by men who could not speak his language. He was in the most terrific pain, but managed to keep down the slightest groan. Nothing could have drawn a whisper from him before his French comrades in arms.

Comfort Wounded

A red cross doctor asked him if there was anything he wanted. "Just a drink of water, please," was the low answer.

He got it. The doctor asked if there was anything else he wanted. The boy wanted to be turned on his side. With a machine gun bullet through his leg and a wound that had scorched its way across his lips, to say nothing of an injured arm, he was perfectly incapable of helping himself.

The doctor turned him on his side and then discovered the lad had had nothing to eat for thirty-two hours. Unfortunately he was only one of many in the same fix. The red cross did its best and soon had what emergency food it had in the hands of those who were still able to use them. The more seriously injured, of course, were the first to be removed by the long line of waiting ambulances.

Before the train pulled in the ambulances were drawn up and waiting. So was a small crowd. As the first ambulance quit the station the crowd started to cheer. There was a dough-boy on the front seat with the driver, one arm in a sling, the other stuffing a sandwich into his mouth. He waved the sandwich in acknowledgment, while a contented look came over his drawn and tired face.

Crowd Watch Men

The crowd increased as the ambulances formed almost a continuous train. Words of sympathy were heard on all sides not unmingled with tears as the flower of young America that had marched forth so valiantly a few short months before was painstakingly transferred to base hospitals.

At the end of the procession came a cortege that the crowd grasped the meaning of in a moment. They were ambulances, but their destination was the cemetery and not the hospital. The women wept openly and crossed themselves, while the hat of every man in the crowd came off in a respectful salute to the dead.

The sight was one to wring the heart, but the indomitable spirit of America bobbed up whenever a man able to talk above a gasp was found. Many of the wounds were from shrapnel. Where they were not really serious their possessors told the tale of what they had been through.

It was 5 o'clock in the morning of July 15 before the platoon to which Louis Cook of Rayville, La., belonged saw the Germans approaching.

"Our officer just yelled, 'Let's get 'em boys!' and we started after them," said Cook. "The Heinies were coming up on the south bank of the Marne and there were only eight of us to about sixteen of them, but we sure cleaned out that first batch. My pleasure ended right there, though, for a piece of shrapnel banged me in the left arm and it was back to the woods for me. But, believe me, my company did its share in driving the Huns into the river."

Took 500 Prisoners

If any one wants to know why the Americans were at first driven back from the river bank, they are hereby referred to Lonnie Shelton of Burdine, Ky. Shelton's unit alone took over 500 prisoners when the Americans returned to the counter attack, and but for the fact that a number of them were knocked out, as Shelton was, they would have still been going. "They knocked us back at first by the most terrific barrage I ever saw turned loose, but we didn't stay back long," declared he. "We got the order to counter attack and the way we waded back into Mr. Boche was something to write home about. I've never seen such a bunch as we had. They advanced yelling like hell, bayoneted and shot down every Heine that didn't know enough to get out of the way. Those guys could never beat America in a thousand years, and tell 'em I said so."

Kentucky had another man in that same scrap who didn't know when to quit, even after a piece of shrapnel had cut a nasty gash in his right leg. He's Arthur Baker of Doorway, "Kaintuckee," and he had just gone into line with his company when the ball opened. The barrage got him, but didn't put him out. A little later, when the Germans came on to see about it, Baker was still on the job, working his gun for all he was worth. When the Americans had to go back Baker was so exhausted he couldn't retire. His comrades picked him up and carried him.

"Camouflaged" Huns

"Heinie" tried out one of his favorite stunts of dressing up some of his soldiers in French and American uniforms, according to Anton Zolnowski, of 2848 South Turner Avenue, Chicago.

"We saw ten men on the edge of a little wood a little distance away, eight of whom were in French uniform and two in American. We yelled to them to come over and join us. They advanced a few paces and then opened fired on us."

Zolnowski smiled rather unpeasantly as he patted a right arm that bears a machine gun bullet.

"They didn't last long. We made one dash for them. Not one of 'em got away. They were Germans all right. There was another group coming up. I got a private and then the officer in charge sailed into me. I tried to shoot him with my rifle, but it was broken. I got him all right, though."

The Chicagoan seemed inclined to end the conversation there.

"How'd you get him?" I asked, after a little pause.

"Just turned the butt end of my gun around and clubbed him over the head with it," replied Zolnowski in the most matter of fact tone.

When the Americans came back at them it didn't take long to clean every Dutchman out of their territory, declared Elmer Sturtz of Wellsburg, Pa. Before he got a Mauser ball in his right shoulder Sturtz had the extreme good fortune to see two pontoon bridges the enemy had thrown across the river destroyed by the accurate fire of the American artillery.

They were filled with Germans, too. Some of them were coming, but there were others who seemed very content to be going. Two shells from American six-inchers lit squarely over the bridges. There was a terrific report followed by an inferno. Both bridges crumbled in the middle. Both were crowded beyond their limits. Bits of Germans came raining down for almost three minutes, according to the spectator, while from the rivers the wild cries of the injured and drowning made a picture Sturtz will always carry with him.

For a few minutes the river was literally choked with bodies. The Germans were at last moving on Paris, but in a way they had hardly reckoned.

Texan Was Brave

Between puffs of a cigarette, the first he'd had in a day, Frank Hogan, of Galveston, Texas, confirmed Sturtz's story of the wholesale drowning of the enemy. The Texan was working a Stokes gun a hundred feet from the southern bank of the river when the first waves of field-green begin to cross.

"You can't say enough for those artillery guys," he said, as he tried to twist into as comfortable a position as a wounded high permits. "Ten minutes after the orders had been telephoned to the batteries they had a perfect range on that river. While we were pouring bullets into the Heinies the guns got their numbers with both small and large shells. At the spot where we were stationed I reckon there must have been 3,000 of the Fritzies got across the river. They didn't all go back. Fact, I don't think there were hardly any of that bunch that'll go back to Germany. We captured over 1,500 ourselves and killed easily 500. The rest were trying to beat it back to the other side when our shells hit their bridges."

A Pittsburger, N. G. Rameno, who was injured in the arm by a piece of shrapnel, says there's one American sharpshooter that made a record anyone might be proud of during the first of the mixup. While the German engineers were trying to throw their first pontoon bridges over he nicked off twenty-eight of them with his rifle. I couldn't get his name, but he already wears a sharpshooters medal. He deserves another.

Lots of soldiers believe in "hunches." James L. Paul of 730 Spruce Street Philadelphia, does and it's a fortunate thing for him that he played his. With a comrade Paul was in a dugout during the barrage. Shells were landing all around. Finally one blew in the entrance, so Paul decided their dugout was becoming a little too warm. He waited for a short lull in the terrific firing and then darted for another shelter. He had not gotten fifteen feet away from the dugout when a big one scored a direct hit on it. His companion was killed, but Paul escaped with a wound from a splinter that will keep him out of action for several weeks.

Columns could be written about the troops. Every man tries to outdo his neighbor in deeds of valor, it would seem at first glance. But it isn't that at all. It's the spirit of the American Army and the best soldiers in the world.
