Heart Attack Is Fatal to County Early Pioneer

Trail Dust

Another year drops from the precipice of time into the oblivion of the past and millions turn hopeful faces to the future that it may bring, most of all, the return of prosperity. Yet time in its slow, ruthless flight pays no heed to the difference in ink on calendars, or the different graphite characters made on white paper. The difference in tomorrow, next year, ten years from now, does not depend on clocks, calendars or time, but what we, as individuals, do to make the difference. This new year will be exactly what we make it. It is yielding clay in our hands to be fashioned into the designs of our hearts. But once molded it cannot be changed—unused it will destroy itself.

Pity Canada, and you might include the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police who have the problem of enforcing our so-called modern conventions and laws on twenty-five thousand men, women and children who have the quaint idea of removing all clothing when they feel like it. Picture, if you can, several hundred men, women and children marching into town some Sunday morning near church time in protest to the way the government is treating them. Such is Canada's problem with the "Doukhobors," a queer sect of Russians who live in the western part of the Dominion. They refuse to pay taxes (the government has given them land), send their children to school, or in any way comply with conventions or laws. An attempt to force them into the channels of civilization by the police may cause a whole congregation to quietly and majestically remove all clothing. The police have tried everything from itchy powder to applying the fire hose and all to no avail.

We have little first hand knowledge of the climatic conditions in the Doukhobors section of Canada, but if the Northerners originate there, any one who would remove their clothing willfully deserves to be exempted from taxes.

Anyway Uncle Sam has the same problem except removing the clothing is requiring a little more time.

News Installs More Printing Equipment

In order to be able to give you a newspaper of greater value as a news and advertising medium, the Roaring Springs News has installed this and the past week two more presses and several hundred pounds of type. We are equipped to give you a better newspaper and do all kinds of job printing.

All mechanical work on the paper is done in Roaring Springs. M. Nelson, who has charge of the mechanical department, is a exceedingly capable printer, and we are assured of being pleased with any kind of printing work entrusted to him.

Landers' Store to Have Formal Opening Saturday

After extensive re-modeling into one of the most modern grocery stores in this section of Texas, the Landers Store Number 4, successors to G. G. Miller and Son Grocery will have its formal opening to the public Saturday, January 7.

The grocery department will be under the management of Mr. Dalton Johnston, a groceryman of wide experience, and having been connected with the Landers Company the past five years. The modern market department will be under the management of Mr. R. L. Benson. Mr. Johnston and family and Mr. Benson and wife have recently moved to Roaring Springs to make their home, from Spur.

The store, a member of the Red and White Stores, is being equipped with fixtures moved from a Landers Store at Spur. All fixtures of the G. G. Miller and Son store being removed.

In a statement yesterday, Mr. Johnston said, "It is our purpose to give the people of Roaring Springs and surrounding trade territory a grocery store and market that will compare in appearance, high quality merchandise and prices with any store to be found in Fort Worth, Dallas or Wichita Falls."

Sheriff Skinner Assumes Duties Of Office Mon.

ONLY THREE CHANGES MADE IN MOTLEY COUNTY OFFICIALS

Sheriff J. E. Skinner assumed the duties of the Motley county Sheriff's office Monday, succeeding ex-sheriff Sterling Price. Sheriff Skinner has not named a deputy, and probably will not unless the duties of the sheriff department increase enough to warrant added assistance.

Motley county made only three changes in officials by the recent election. The other two being commissioners, Joe Lambert succeeding J. A. Groves in the Matador precinct and T. E. Long who succeeds O. O. Love in the Roaring Springs precinct.

Church of Christ

"Thou must save another soul if thou wouldst save thine own. For Heavens door is closed to him who comes alone."

10:00 a. m. Bible classes. 10:40 Communion of The Lord's Supper. 10:45 Preaching, "A New Year's Message" or "Turning Over New Leaves"—Psalms 90:9 and Heb. 6:1. 7 p. m. The young people and children tell Bible stories, and the preacher tells "What for 1933?"

"He sees all we do; He hears all we say. My God's a-writing all the time."

The best kind of tact is contact. The nearer Jesus got to the Cross the fewer were His friends. They beheaded John the messenger but could not behead his message. You can't save soles without wearing out half-soles, God will examine us for scars, not medals.

Support Your School

Christmas is only a memory and we are making New Year's resolutions so why not make a few for the betterment of our school?

First why not boost our school by words of encouragement. Too many people are ready to accept any bad news about a school and are ready to pass the information on, but when they hear anything along the line of praise then there is no desire for further effort.

With the exception of the interval in which school was dismissed for cotton picking this has been the most successful school term promoted in Roaring Springs in many years. There has been an unprecedented attitude of co-operation. The student body, on the whole, has given its time to the work pertaining to classroom advancement more so than is usually found in a small public school.

Due to the severe attack of the "Flu" many students were compelled to miss several days, some even weeks, but the teaching staff is and has been very patient and diligent, sometimes working hours overtime in order to aid someone in making up for a forced absence. These things are appreciated by the students and go a long way in upholding the standard of our work.

To be frank, the teachers and the students are doing every thing possible to keep the school up to standard as required by the State Department of education, but in order that these things may be advanced there is an ever present need for funds which come to the school treasury by means of tax payments.

Some of the people of this school district are able to pay their school tax NOW, so why not do so? The school should come first on the tax paying list for the school is the nucleus of the community. Our school is fully accredited and must be kept that way, but to do this there must be enough financial aid to continue for the required nine months which does not seem probable unless the school tax is paid now.

Take this idea for a long and needed consultation for the average citizen is not fully aware of the financial condition of his school as well as of our school. Every body boost the school and favor us with a visit so as to become acquainted with the work actually being accomplished.

Supt. Grissom.

One says he is a brother-in-law to the church. What relation, then, is he to the devil? Non-resident and non-attending church members have the same relation to a church as a divorced wife has to a divorced wife has to her divorced husband. Moral: Quit that gang—2 Timothy 4:10.

This minister secured the record of attendance at all the churches in our town one Sunday and only one out of ten in the town was at church. No, it's no reflection on the church its a reflection on those not attending. Welcome.

Ben West, Minister

James Dunlap Moves Grocery Store to Cooper Brick This Week

James Dunlap, a former partner with A. J. Hodges in the Sinclair Grocery and Service Station, has purchased Mr. Hodges' interest in the grocery and moved the store to the Cooper building next door to the post office this week.

Mr. Dunlap is moving the store to a more central location; has also remodeled the old fixtures and installed additional new fixtures, giving an added appeal to the large display of high grade staple and fancy groceries. The attractive store and enlarged stock, with the genial Mr. Dunlap to welcome and serve his patrons, invites your visit and inspection.

Mr. Hodges will have complete management of the cream and produce station, located in the rear of the Dunlap Grocery. With better located and enlarged quarters, Mr. Hodges bids with highest market prices for your farm products.

Methodist Church

Since last writing to this paper, the Christmas holidays are past and gone. I trust that each had a Merry Christmas. The Pastor and family were made to feel that their lot had surely fallen among a goodly people. The generous shower of Christmas cheer that was left at the parsonage on Christmas Eve was greatly appreciated and only deepens our obligations to the town. May God help us to help you.

The work of the church is going steadily on. Recovering from the let-up caused by the unusually bad weather of December. We hope to see the work prosper.

The Women's Missionary Society has been reorganized and officers elected. Look for great work to be done by these good women.

The officers and teachers of the Sunday School met Monday night to talk over and make plans that mean much to our whole church.

Prayer meeting has started in the church, you have a place in it, each Wednesday night. Come and let us pray together that God might make of our church a great spiritual power.

The Pastor will preach next Sunday morning and night. At the close of our morning service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. We are looking forward to a good day with showers of blessings from God. Can we expect you there?

Remember the hours of meeting. Visitors welcome always.

"The Friendly Church."
T. Marvin McBrayer, Pastor

CARD OF THANKS

I take this method of thanking my many friends who so kindly remembered us by sending so many nice things for Christmas. I hope each of you will be rewarded for your thoughtfulness and kindness.

D. C. Keith Is Called By Death Early Tuesday Morning

Left Saddle for Plow in Half Century Spent Here

Interment Made In East Mound Cemetery Wednesday Afternoon

D. C. Keith, one of original pioneers of Motley County, remembered as a cowboy to all older cattlemen of this section of Texas, suffered a fatal attack of heart disease at his farm home two miles south of Matador early Tuesday morning. Death came quietly in a few moments after the attack.

Mr. Keith, active to the time of his death was well known by both young and old in Motley and adjoining counties, who share equally the sorrow of his family and relatives. His passing brings sadness to many old friends of the range, those who rode side by side with him and shared with him the hardships that belonged to the cowboy and pioneer. His jovial smile, his famed good nature and sympathetic understanding and his kind heartedness will be remembered as a tribute to the type of manhood that blazes trails and lays foundations for empires.

He and Mrs. Keith were married in Matador some 41 years ago, the first marriage in the county after it was organized.

Daniel Crawford Keith was born in Tennessee on Oct. 7, 1861, coming to Motley county in 1882 where he has made his home continuously since.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. D. C. Keith, of Matador, three sons and two daughters: Miss Mary Keith of Littlefield, D. P. Keith of Matador, Mrs. Marvin Patton of Matador, and Charlie Keith of Matador.

Another of the fast passing ranks of cowboys of the old west has moved to a greener range. Another pioneer goes on to blaze another trail. A loving husband, father and friend leaves memories of a paramount character, of a life well lived to console the bitterness of sorrow that comes with his departure.

Services were held at the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon, Rev. R. L. Jameson in charge, and interment made in East mound cemetery at Matador.

DAWSON-GALLOWAY

Mr. Clute Galloway and Miss Ollie Dawson, both of the Tee Pee Flat community were quietly married Saturday night, Dec. 24, at the Methodist Parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fletcher and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dawson, sister and brother of the bride witnessed the ceremony. The ceremony was read by the Rev. T. Marvin McBrayer, Pastor of the Methodist church.

The News joins with their many friends in wishing for them a long and happy wedded life.

CHILDRESS WOMAN DIES AT AGE OF 100 YEARS

Childress, Tex., N. I. — Funeral arrangements were completed here Thursday for Mrs. Martha Ann Kruger of Childress, who died Tuesday, just 12 days after she had obtained her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Kruger came to Texas from Tennessee 75 years ago, living for a time in Karnes County. She had lived in Childress County 27 years, and was its oldest citizen. Her husband, Karl Kruger, a Confederate veteran, died two years ago at the age of 99.

All of Mrs. Kruger's children, four daughters and two sons, survive her. She also had 30 grandchildren and 51 great-grandchildren.

The present muddle into which the United States and the European powers have gotten relative to the war debt payments is but one of the many debts humanity is called upon to pay. Every man and woman, in their lifetime, are called upon to make payments, and they are not put off like the Europeans are trying to do. It might be put off for months, or years, but sooner or later the debt must be settled. Those who live in such a manner as to defy the laws of health are called up to make reparations, and the time of settlement is usually drastic. The Nation which, in its own egotism, gets so important as to forget the Creator, is called upon to come back to a sane basis, to a recognition of the one and only Source of happiness and prosperity, and when it refuses to do so, the day of settlement is set, and the payment begun. While many people laugh and sneer at the idea of the present condition of America being caused by the wild, reckless disregard for those things which are sacred and permanent, yet today this country is being absolutely warned by the All Wise One that unless they mend their ways and come to an understanding of the matter there will be more distress than has yet been seen. It is getting to the point in this land, and all over the universe for that matter, that men and women are like the coach driver who applied for the job of driving the king and queen. He was asked how close he could drive to the edge of a precipice and not fall off. He stated he could go within six inches of the edge and still be safe. That is the way with this country today. The people are making an effort to see how close they can come to the edge of the precipice of mental and moral destruction and still remain sane and respectable. The idea of gamble—take all most in the minds of all of kinds of chances—is uppermost. They really do not intend to be profligate or criminal, but there is something in the air, in their minds, in the nervous state of existence, which calls for all kinds of daredevil experiments. Until there can be a calming down of things this present state of unrest will not come to an end. It must be done that way.

Vital Statistics Show
Dan Cupid's Business to Suffer From Depression

Vital statistics from the records of County Clerk, Mary E. Jones, show that Dan Cupid's business during 1932 suffered from the depression to the extent of 20 per cent. Thirty marriages were recorded in this county in 1931, while only 24 couples have their marriages recorded in 1932.

The births recorded in the county for 1932 was 110. There was 33 deaths in the county during the last year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davis and family of Rule were the guests of U. Davis this week.

BRITAIN MAY CARRY PER-SIAN OIL CLASH TO COURT AT HAGUE

The Government informed the House of Commons Thursday that, unless the Anglo-Persian Oil Company's concession to important oil fields in Persia is reinstated within a week, Great Britain will carry the dispute to The Hague courts. The Persian Government canceled the concession a week ago, charging that the company had not made stipulated royalty returns.

The House was informed of the government's intention to go to The Hague by Capt. Anthony Eden, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, who asserted that he held responsible for any damage to the company's interests, or failure to give it adequate protection and for interference with its property.

This position Captain Eden said, was set forth in a note to Persia, from which he quoted the following passage:

"In the event any such damage accrues, His Majesty's Government will regard themselves as entitled to take all such measures as the situation may demand for the company's protection."

"Will that mean that the Government proposes to take armed measures against Persia?" asked George Lansbury, leader of the labor opposition.

"I think the intention is quite clear," Captain Eden replied.

He said he felt sure Mr. Lansbury would appreciate that the Government can be guided only by circumstances as they arrive.

CATTLE ARE IN GOOD SHAPE FOR WINTER

Austin, Texas, Jan. 5.—Most areas in Texas report cattle in good condition to go into the winter, and with average weather conditions from now on, no heavy feeding is expected to be necessary, according to a joint report issued Tuesday by the United States Department of Agriculture, Division of crop and live stock estimates, and the Texas Department of Agriculture, division of agricultural statistics.

Practically all areas report a surplus of feed available. The movement of live stock to feed lots increased during November, but there still are a large number of calves and young steers available to move during the next thirty to sixty days.

Plenty of range feed is available in the sheep and goat areas. However, moisture is needed for winter weeds and wild rye. Little moisture has fallen in the sheep country for from thirty to ninety days, only a few favored localities receiving moisture during November. Most areas report plenty of water for present needs, but all sections would be benefited by rains. A surplus of feeds is reported, and no shortage is expected this year unless weather conditions become unusually severe.

The condition of sheep and lambs at 84 per cent of normal compares with 89 per cent a month ago, 82 per cent a year ago and 88.9 per cent as the ten-year average. The shortage of green feed caused some shrinkage in sheep and lambs during November, however, most of the animals are in good flesh. Reports indicate that a large number of both ewe and wether lambs still are unsold, and that the carry-over this year of both ewe and mutton lambs will be fairly large.

If conditions are favorable for early grazing, the market movement from Texas may be expected to be large again next spring.

ENGLAND-RUSSIA ARE NOW NEGOTIATING

London, Dec. 21.—Great Britain and Russia opened negotiations Thursday for a new commercial treaty to replace the one which Great Britain denounced Oct. 17.

Negotiations had been threatened by demand for an apology from Moscow for an article in the newspaper Izvestia, but the apology was made through the Soviet Ambassador here, Ivan Maiski.

Britain canceled the old treaty because of her commitments made at the Ottawa Imperial Conference. Canada was particularly eager to check Soviet timber exports to Britain, which under the old favored-nation agreement, were competing with increasing success against Canadian timber.

Britain now aims at concluding a new treaty without favored-nation privileges for Russia. The Russians are equally anxious to assume smooth commercial intercourse with Britain but are unwilling to concur in any discrimination against Russia, even in favor of the Dominions.

When the conference began, Maiski, referring to the fact that Britain had denounced the treaty, insisted that Britain take the initiative in making new proposals.

The chief delegates at the conference were Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade; Lieut. Col. David Colville, head of the overseas trade department; Sir Horace Wilson, chief economic adviser to the Board of Trade; Ambassador Maiski and Alexander Ozzerski, head of the Soviet Trade Mission.

SENIOR SIGNALS

The Seniors have received their class rings and they have been subjected to quite a bit of comment. However, it was all of the same type, namely, that everyone was agreed that this year's ring was the prettiest and classiest of all.

YELLOW JACKET BUZZING

The Senior boys and girls contested Afton Friday afternoon in two quite interesting games. The Afton teams came out at the long end of the score, but we feel that our teams were victors as far as the fighting and spirit is concerned. There was a display of considerable more interest on the part of the student body and faculty at these games Friday afternoon, we hope that they will continue to lend their presence and support.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL FLASHES

Mrs. Williams was responsible for the chapel program last Wednesday morning. The program opened with three assembly songs and was followed by a New Year's reading. Rev. Ben West spoke to the assembly. The students seemed to understand and to be impressed with his remarks and we feel that the forty-five minutes was well spent.

The seventh grade is happy to welcome two new members; a Prother boy and Ora Mae Johnson. The class has received them enthusiastically and we hope they will enjoy our fellowship.

"We are indeed put to it to solve the financial problems of the State, but there is no excuse for ignorance. We cannot afford to balance the budget with the ignorance of children."

Congress names every kind of a conceivable plan to better conditions excepting the destruction of an over-production in farm products. A building program will be put on for roads, government buildings and everything that can be thought about. Money will be appropriated to make loans to the farmer, but when they are made he does not have the "paying off power" when corn sells for fifteen cents a bushel, wheat at twenty cents and cotton at five cents per pound. If Congress would quit spending money on anything else and buy about five million bales of cotton and corn and wheat in proportion, then burn it up or dump it into the ocean every other kind of program would automatically take care of itself. It would sure mean that farm products would reach a fair price again. A truer statement was never uttered than when Roberts said "Civilization begins and ends with the come by way of the plow. It can't start anywhere else. If the farmer can make money and be prosperous, everyone else can do the same. When he fails all other businesses must fail. Our whole financial program has to be dug out of the earth, and until the man who digs for it can get a fair compensation the rest of the world will have to suffer.

In school life, in business activities, in civic endeavors, the least thought of person at all is the chronic staller. He is soon made to feel how "unnecessary" he is, and is given a polite hint to get out of the picture. About the most gigantic example of "stalling" is to be found in the manner the debtor nations are trying to write notes, discuss notes already written, send special representatives, call national gatherings, and in every other conceivable way put off paying even a small part of the interest justly due Uncle Sam for money loaned those countries when they were in the worst shape of their existence. It is the most disgusting procedure to come before the public gaze. The people of the United States had the right to think those people were business people, coupled with the possession of the utmost integrity, and the war had ended they had begun to adjust business matters adjusted more, they would make payments on the United States they would be glad feeling this could in the smallest manner they could show appreciation. But behold, they not only seem in any rush payment, but on the are doing all in the to beat the whole the United States had lions she let her have a few years be would not be the consisting in America as here at this time, as though the time when this country is hard-boiled, and stay sentiment and kindness is all right—some but things are fast the point when it pay to show any action. Appreciation is coming a lost virtue would seem the dose has been getting folks across the sea to making payments convince her that is to lay off, and keep can dollars at home by American citizens.
