Victory In War Pledged By Mussolini

Troops Renew Campaign In Ethiopia, Advance On Makale

(By The Associated Press) Premier Mussolini pledged an Italian victory in Ethiopia Monday as the fascist nation celebrated the signing of an armistice with Austria-Hungary 17 years ago.

In Milan, anti-British demonstrations were renewed. Students rioted about stores where British goods were displayed.

In strengthening sanctions to be imposed on Italy, the league of nations sub-committee in principle placed steel, coal, iron and petroleum on the "key products" list.

On the northern front in Ethiopia, 120,000 Italian troops marched on Makale, unresisted. The army's central column poured through Hauser, half-way to Makale, and marched on.

There was no outward sign of alarm in Addis Ababa. Sunday morning the native troops of Gen. Irtiso Birori were welcomed by the populace of Enda Ababamas, gaining a commanding position at the end of a fertile, well watered plateau.

Far to the south, in the burning Ogaden, the armies of Gen. Rudolfo Graziana "carried on their action," said a Rome communiqué.

From Direwada, Ethiopia, delayed dispatches quoted engineers as saying the southern invaders may meet their first real battle in the mountains of Sasa Banah, 150 miles southeast of Addis Ababa.

Celebrating the fifth anniversary of the coronation in Addis Ababa amid scenes of splendor, ancient and modern, Emperor Haile Selassie found time to declare the fascist Ethiopian oil concession, relinquished by an American concern at the behest of the state department, eventually will be revived.

Benito Mussolini took another notch in his nation's economic belt, the better to withstand sanctions. A Briton was arrested by Italian guards on the Austrian border for "spying"; theater goes in Turin; howled British and French chorines off the stages; thousands of fighting men sailed from Naples for the two African fronts.

Rules Lifted To Allow For Quick Action

Mixed-Drink And Package Sale Provisions Are Being Debated

AUSTIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—Both houses of the Texas legislature Monday began floor consideration of bills to regulate the liquor traffic. By large majorities both houses suspended the rules to remove parliamentary barriers and began direct work on the problem.

Dry Move Defeated

Senate wets defeated attempts to displace the wet bloc proposal which would permit the sale of mixed drinks under local option.

The house began work on a less liberal bill which restricts sales of whiskey to sealed packages, and re-enacts the beer-sale statutes now in effect.

Early Drink Sale Test Seen

An early senate test was indicated on the sale by the drink issue. An appeal to the senate was planned from action of the state legislative committee in refusing a favorable report for a bill defining an "open saloon" as such prohibited by the repeal amendment, to outlaw sale by the drink in any form.

Final action on an old age pension bill was in prospect as a conference committee awaited arrival of a federal social security board representative before completing a conference adjustment of differences.

The task of raising revenue to pay pensions confronted senators, whose state affairs committee scheduled hearings on the house omnibus tax bill, variously estimated to yield up to $18,000,000 annually.

Representatives of many industries taxed by the bill applied for nearly eight hours committee time for presentation of arguments. A federated labor spokesman, representing "both labor and merchants," was the only one registered to speak in behalf of the bill.

Although the senate thrice had disapproved a sales tax, many observers believed the fight would be renewed next week, either before the committee or on the floor.

Three Killed In Explosion

Pair Who Had Bombed Buildings Believed To Be Victims

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 4 (AP)—Police said the fragment of a sweater found today indicated that Paul Chevanek, 19, was killed in an explosion yesterday which also took the lives of Frank Rutkowski, bombing terrorist, and a girl.

The two men were believed to be those who had bombed five buildings here in six days. Eleven others were injured in yesterday's blast which rocked the South side of Milwaukee.

Leveled to the ground was a garage believed to have been the storage station for dynamite stolen from a park works project.

Captain of Detectives Frank Prohaska said Rutkowski, 20, had been arrested nine times, for purse snatching, auto theft and larceny, and had been on probation.

His sister, Ursula, 11, said that the night of the last bombing, Thursday, Frank marked numbers on the margin of newspapers carrying the accounts of bombings.

Prohaska said he believed these numbers denoted the number of sticks of dynamite planted at the two branch police stations, two branch banks and a suburban village hall.

Patricia Molyneux, 19, was the second person identified of the three victims. She was in a house adjoining the garage. The building adjacent to an alley, was sliced in half by the force of the blast.

The girl's mother, Clara, 35, was reported in serious condition, and the condition of her brother Conrad, 4, was critical.

Precautions Taken For A Severe Blow

Storm Warnings Issued; Veteran Camps On Keys Evacuated

MIAMI, Fla., No. 4. (AP)—South Florida residents, caught unawares by a sudden change in the direction of a tropical storm, Monday prepared for a freak hurricane moving toward the coast between Miami and Palm Beach.

This morning's storm was 85 miles off the coast, moving about ten miles an hour.

Waves Pound Coast Relief workers hastened evacuation of the Florida keys where about 400 war veterans were killed in the early September storm.

West Palm Beach residents said conditions seemed more like hurricane weather than for any previous storm this season. Huge waves pounded the coast.

The freighter, Florida, was buffeted by winds and high waves off the coast, but sent out no call for help.

All interests in extreme southern Florida were warned of a severe storm.

Warnings Out Warnings were displayed from Titusville to Fort Myers, and hurricane flags were flown from Miami north to Stuart.

The out islands of the Bahamas group were lashed by the storm yesterday and early today, before the hurricane changed its course.

Palm Beach, winter rendezvous of society and wealth, was squarely in the path of the storm.

At Nassau, the British colonial government felt concern for the large sponge fleet on the banks of Andros Island and utilized an airplane and radio to warn the more than 100 small vessels in the group to seek for shore.

Nearly 1,500 men were aboard the boats. Residents of the islands battened down windows against high winds, remembering the September hurricane which took a toll of 35 lives and caused great property damage on Great Abaco, Bimini and Grand Bahama.

Pan-American Airways' China Clipper, America's largest and newest airliner, came down at Miami following a 2,400 mile test flight and a few hours later was flown to Kingston, Jamaica, as a precaution against possible high tides in the Miami area. The huge craft is too big to go into any of the harbors at Miami.

Flights to Miami from San Juan, Puerto Rico and Havana were canceled. The Coast Guard sent an amphibian along the Florida Keys to spread a storm warning among fishing parties. The sun was shining bright at Miami and a mild wind was blowing.

Rough seas and a gusty wind tore two large steel barges loose near Jupiter, Fla., and Coast Guard craft were dispatched to the scene. The weather bureau cautioned shipping and other interests in the Bahamas against "dangerous conditions."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Couch and son, Jack, of Seattle, Wash., are here visiting A. K. Merrick and family.

Douglass Perry, Tyler, is visiting his wife for a few days. Perry is associated with a Tyler paper.

ELEVEN MAJOR TEAMS ARE LEFT UNDEFEATED AND UNTIED

WEEK-END OF SMASHING FOOTBALL PUTS SEVEN BIG CLUBS FROM LIST

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Only eleven major teams are able to boast perfect records today as the result of a week-end of smashing football. Seven of the country's hitherto undefeated and untied teams rattled to the bottom.

Ohio State's Buckeyes and the Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles, caused a whirl in the grid world as upsets sent them into the ranks of the defeated.

Andy Pinney guided Notre Dame's Ramblers to an 18 to 12 victory over the Buckeyes in a game that has had no equal.

Eighty-one thousand amazed spectators gasped in astonishment as the Ramblers rushed over a touchdown for victory in the closing seconds of the game.

Another tremendous crowd looked on in astonishment as California's Golden Bears became the Pacific Coast's only undefeated and untied array by upsetting U.C.L.A., 14 to 2.

Here They Are Marching along the undefeated trail with Notre Dame and California were North Carolina, Minnesota, Marquette, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Dartmouth, New York University, Princeton and Syracuse.

Joining Ohio State and U.C.L.A. in the beaten class were Army, Temple, Catholic and Baylor, while Iowa's Hawkeyes, outplayed most of the way, were lucky to get a 6-to-6 draw with Indiana.

Texas Christian accounted for Baylor's scalp in the day's third struggle between undefeated teams, 28 to 0, and remained in the South-western Conference championship running along with Southern Methodist's Mustangs, who drubbed Texas, 20 to 0.

North Carolina, only eleven in the Old South with a perfect record, uncorked a dazzling attack to win its objective game from Hunk Anderson's North Carolina State Wolfpack, 35 to 6.

Dartmouth's Indians finally ruined the Yale Bowl jinx by spilling the Ellis, 14 to 6, before 45,000 while 50,000 looked on as Princeton turned on the heat and crushed Navy, 26 to 0.

Syracuse had to come from behind to nose out a fighting Penn State outfit, 7 to 3, but New York University outplayed Bucknell all the way to win, 14 to 0.

Minnesota's Gophers had entirely too much power for Purdue and won easily, 29 to 7, and Marquette revealed a formidable attack in routing Iowa State, 28 to 12.

Army fell victim to a last-minute passing attack by Mississippi State, coached by the former Cadet mentor, Major Ralph Sasse, and the Southerners earned a 14-to-7 upset triumph.

Temple and Catholic also bowed to intersectional foes, the Owls losing to Michigan State's fourth quarter charge, 12 to 7, and Catholic dropping a 9-to-6 verdict to DePaul of Chicago.

Villanova's 13-to-7 victory over Detroit and West Virginia's 20 to 0 conquest of Washington and Lee were the only intersectional triumphs credited to the East for Rice swamped George Washington, 41 to 0; Tulane nosed out Colgate, 17 to 6, and Michigan stopped Penn, 16 to 6.

Pitt and Columbia ran into stunning surprises when the Panthers struggled to a scoreless tie with Fordham before 38,000 in New York and Columbia got no better than a 7-to-7 draw with Cornell's well-beaten eleven.

Harvard bowled over Brown, 33 to 0, and Duquesne scored a mile upset, in checking Carnegie Tech, 7 to 0.

Louisiana State triumphs Louisiana State hurled a big obstacle in its drive toward the Southeastern Conference title by defeating Auburn, 6 to 0, on a late rally.

Alabama crushed Kentucky, 13 to 0; Vanderbilt nosed out Georgia Tech, 14 to 13, and Georgia spilled Florida, 7 to 0.

Duke of the Southern Conference rallied after two defeats and beat Tennessee, 19 to 6.

Northwestern scored a Big Ten victory over Illinois, 10 to 3, and Nebraska and Kansas hung up Big Six Conference triumphs.

Nebraska gave Missouri its first defeat, 19 to 5, and Kansas outpointed Oklahoma, 7 to 0.

A field goal by Jim Moscrip gave Stanford a hard-earned 9-to-6 verdict.

Collided with a thud and arms and legs dangled from a pyramid of young cadets.

When the heap was unscrambled, the Cadets' quarterback gave his center a friendly pat on the back.

"Sweet work, Esther," he said. "My gosh," yelled a dumfounded opponent, "it's a girl!"

And that was the first time the Indians knew the hard-tackling center of the Cadets, who had been breaking up most of their plays, was Esther Burnham, 14-year-old high school student and daughter of a local general store owner.

FATALITIES FEWER, GAME PLENTIFUL FOR 1935 DEER SHOOTING SEASON

By LARRY BAUER Associated Press Sports Writer

With the deer season now in full swing, the aggregate kill is expected to exceed that of 1934 and the human fatalities probably will be fewer than last year.

At the present writing upland game bird and waterfowl hunters lead their deer-seeking brethren in the number of deaths and accidental injuries. However, this is not considered unusual, for hunters, like race-horses, are skittish at the start of the season.

Some states require hunters to wear red caps or coats, but every individual must save his own skin and at the same time protect the other fellow. Laws governing the safety of hunters were summed up by a New Mexican in these words: "If HE hasn't got horns, SHE isn't a deer, so look carefully before you shoot."

In the famous big-game districts of Wyoming there were no reported fatalities last year, but one hunter was killed there this fall. About 3,800 elk, 3,000 deer, 1,200 antelope and 160 moose were killed there in 1934.

The season differs in Wyoming counties, but this year the earliest opening date was September 15 and the latest closing date November 30.

Concerning hunting conditions on the Big Horns, The Sheridan Press says: "The largest herds of elk and deer in recent years are falling before an army of about 2,000 hunters bent upon acquiring—meat, trophies and sporting thrills."

Although more than 3,000 deer were killed in New Mexico last year, there were no fatalities and only three injured. The season in that state this year is October 25-November 15.

Our Texas correspondent says 50 hunters will be killed and injured during the open season, November 16-December 31, in the big "lone star" state.

Five thousand deer were killed in Arizona last year and a similar number is expected to be taken this year during the open dates, October 16-November 15.

More than 20,000 deer fell in California in 1934 and there were 17 accidents, seven fatal and 10 non-fatal. Returns this year are incomplete.

Sportsmen say that mountain lions, which annually kill more deer than hunters do, have taken their usual toll in the western country, but that the deer supply is larger than for several years.

New York and Pennsylvania, thanks to efficient conservation measures, have provided good deer shooting in the past and 1935 should prove no exception. More of these fine game animals were killed, with a negligible number of accidents, in those states last year than in some of the less populous states.

TWO STATES ARE 'CLOSED' Wisconsin and Minnesota had no open seasons this year. The herds in Minnesota suffered from a severe winter with forage curtailed by the drought of 1934. The open season in Wisconsin occurs biennially.

Just 300 permits to hunt elk, with one animal allowed to each hunter, will be issued in South Dakota this fall for the season, November 1-20.

Deer may be hunted in the Black Hills during the same period. Hunters will have a chance at deer in North Dakota, December 12-15.

November 4-9 is the open season in the mountainous region of eastern Oklahoma, where deer hunting is permitted in six counties. Missouri's 3-day season ended October 26 with no fatalities. Deer may be shot in Arkansas, December 2-11.

Down south they're careful of both deer and hunter. In one of the two big deer counties of Tennessee—Polk—the hunters must check in and check out with wardens. There were no fatalities last year. The season is December 10-20.

Virginia, claiming to be the only state east of the Mississippi having elk, expected about the same hunting this season (November 15-December 31) as last year when 1,235 deer were reported killed. Elk may be shot legally only on the first three days. There were no fatalities last year.

The Carolinas give time for a long chase. South Carolina's season starts August 15 and ends New Year's day, but much of the hunting territory is in private preserves. North Carolinians hunt from October 1 to January 1, and expect to get about 5,000 trophies without a fatality. South Carolina loses an average of five hunters annually in deer season.

One hunter and 1,200 deer fell before Georgia's season ended last year. Prospects this season, November 15-January 5, are about the same.

TEN THOUSAND IN FLORIDA Kentucky banned deer hunting from 1916 to 1936.

Florida reports a good crop of deer and looks to a successful season when hunters go in among the estimated 10,000 game animals, most of which are in the Ocala national forest. The season runs from November 20 to December 31, but is interrupted in some counties by special laws, such as Marion county's, which prohibits hunting on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Most states permit the killing of bucks only and some specify the number of spikes, or points on their antlers. This is hard for the hunter, but good for the deer.

Big Games In East

Big 3 Due To Stage Fireworks Display This Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Football's glamour this week centers with the opening of heavy fire in the Big Three and St. Mary's annual invasion of the Polo Grounds here to tussle with Fordham, a team making a late-season rally. The galloping Gaels have lost only one major engagement.

Four star games in every section of the country will grip the interest of lovers of big time football, but the east will stage the most colorful contests.

Dick Harlow's Harvard eleven, despite setbacks by Army and Dartmouth, is saving up to crush Fritz Ritter's Princeton powerhouse.

Penn and Navy will stage another of the big eastern skirmishes while the Army-Pitt game will share the national spotlight.

Battle At Baton Rouge Down South the principal encounter will be staged at Baton Rouge, where Major Ralph Sasse's Mississippi State team, conqueror of the powerful Alabama Crimson Tide, collides with Bernie Moore's forward passing outfit from Louisiana State. OFFICIATING AT the Devil-McCamey game played at McCamey last Friday night was of the worst sort, according to those who witnessed the encounter.

George Brown, Steer line coach, took the Devils to McCamey and the officials threatened several times to have him thrown off the field when he questioned some decisions.

The players told of receiving a 15-year penalty because one of the boys remarked that he didn't "have a crying chance." The officials called it abusive language and assessed the 15-year penalty.

One of the men was said to have made the remark that the Devils had been associating with the Steers so long that they didn't know how to play clean.

SUCH CONDUCT, if true, was absolutely uncalled for. There is some truth to the statement that the Steers have played dirty football in the past. Some of the officials in Steer games have told us that the boys are exceptionally clever in "covering up" to avoid detection.

However, we believe that most of the dirty playing is done by only two or three. If they try any of that stuff in the San Angelo game it will likely prove very costly. Benny Lee Boynton, who will be referee, is a man who calls 'em close.

NO HIGH school football game is a set-up. The Steers should know that by now. Too, it takes more than guts to win a game. Let's all hope the young fellows are profiting by their mistakes, training diligently this week and showing some team work on the practice lot.

The Steers have the material to go a long way in the state race. They can trim any team in West Texas if they get down to business.

BEN DANIELS is still not so pert and did not get to go with his Devil team to McCamey.

SOME TWO or three weeks ago when teachers issued the sad reports at the high school, six or seven members of the Steer team were said to have been thrown out of school for their part in the past week, however, has changed things, and Prin. Gentry reports that all of the boys are now eligible.

BOB FLOWERS, captain of last year's Steer team, is said to be going good on the freshman team at Texas. Bob first went to Tulane, but didn't like it there and moved to the Texas institution.

"SEEDY" MOFFETT went to Lubbock Saturday to see the Tech-Oklahoma game and was trampled. He made the return trip via bus this morning. Several of the Steer players made the trip, including Cordill, Flowers and Ford.

Attractive Schedule Fixed

All Sections On New York's '36 Grid Card

By GEORGE KIRKBY United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (U.P.)—One of the most attractive intersectional football schedules ever arranged for one city will be played in New York next fall.

Fordham, Columbia, New York U. and Army already have booked eight intersectional games with leaders from other sections of the country.

Manhattan college, which is gradually developing into a football power under Chick Meekhan, is dickering for several intersectional games, which will probably increase the invading teams to 10 or more.

Three southern teams, two from the midwest, two from the far west and one from the southwest have been scheduled for New York appearances. Fordham has four intersectional battles, meeting Southern Methodist, Georgia, Purdue and St. Mary's.

Columbia has two, playing V. M. L. and Stanford. New York university has scheduled the U. of North Carolina and may book another intersectional foe. As usual, the Notre Dame-Army game will be played at Yankee stadium.

Stanford to Return One of the high spots of the 1936 season will be the return of Stanford to New York to meet Columbia. Stanford made its first trans-continental journey in 1928, when the Indians, then coached by Pop Warner, came to New York and conquered Army, 26-0. It will be the second game in history between Columbia and Stanford.

The Morningside Lions defeated the Indians in the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1, 1934, by a score of 7-0.

Another colorful team which makes its second New York appearance next fall is Southern Methodist.

Over in Dallas, Tech continues to ride high, although Adamson still retains a tie for top honors in that circuit.

Gladewater and Longview are neck and neck in District ten. Longview trounced Marshall, 40-6, last week while Gladewater was beating Winnabow, 27-6. Tyler, decisioning Texarkana last week, still retained a chance at the crown.

Mexia and Henderson marched on in District 11 with week-end victories which gave the Black Cats at least a tie for the championship. Henderson upset Palestine, 7-0, while Mexia was swamping Nacogdoches, 44-6.

Temple, in No. 12, still looks like the team to beat, but the boys were weak in nosing out Hillsboro, 6-0. Corsicana should give them trouble, the Piercemen winning over Waxahachie, 37-7. Waco blanked Bryan in the other sector game, 19-0.

San Jacinto and Sam Houston, of District 13, are still dundlocked for the leadership while Port Arthur, in Number 14, continues to march onward, winning over Goose Creek last week, while Beaumont was winning from Galveston.

Robstown won a thriller from Brownsville to take the favored spot in Sector 15. Corpus Christi, although beaten by Brackenridge of San Antonio last week, is still undefeated in conference play and will fight it out for honors with Robinson.

Methodist. The Mustangs from Dallas, Tex., again will play Fordham, S. M. U., then under Ray Morrison, made their first metropolitan visit in 1933, when the Dallas eleven handed Fordham one of its worst defeats under Jimmy Crowley, 26-14.

Army to Play Columbia In addition to the intersectional schedule, several other attractive games involving eastern teams have been booked for New York.

CUTTING NEEDLESS COSTS

The cost of food is the largest single item in the average family budget. And, the lower the total family income, the higher becomes the proportion needed for food. Any sound means of reducing retail food prices, thus liberating money for other purposes, is obviously in the interest of the entire country.

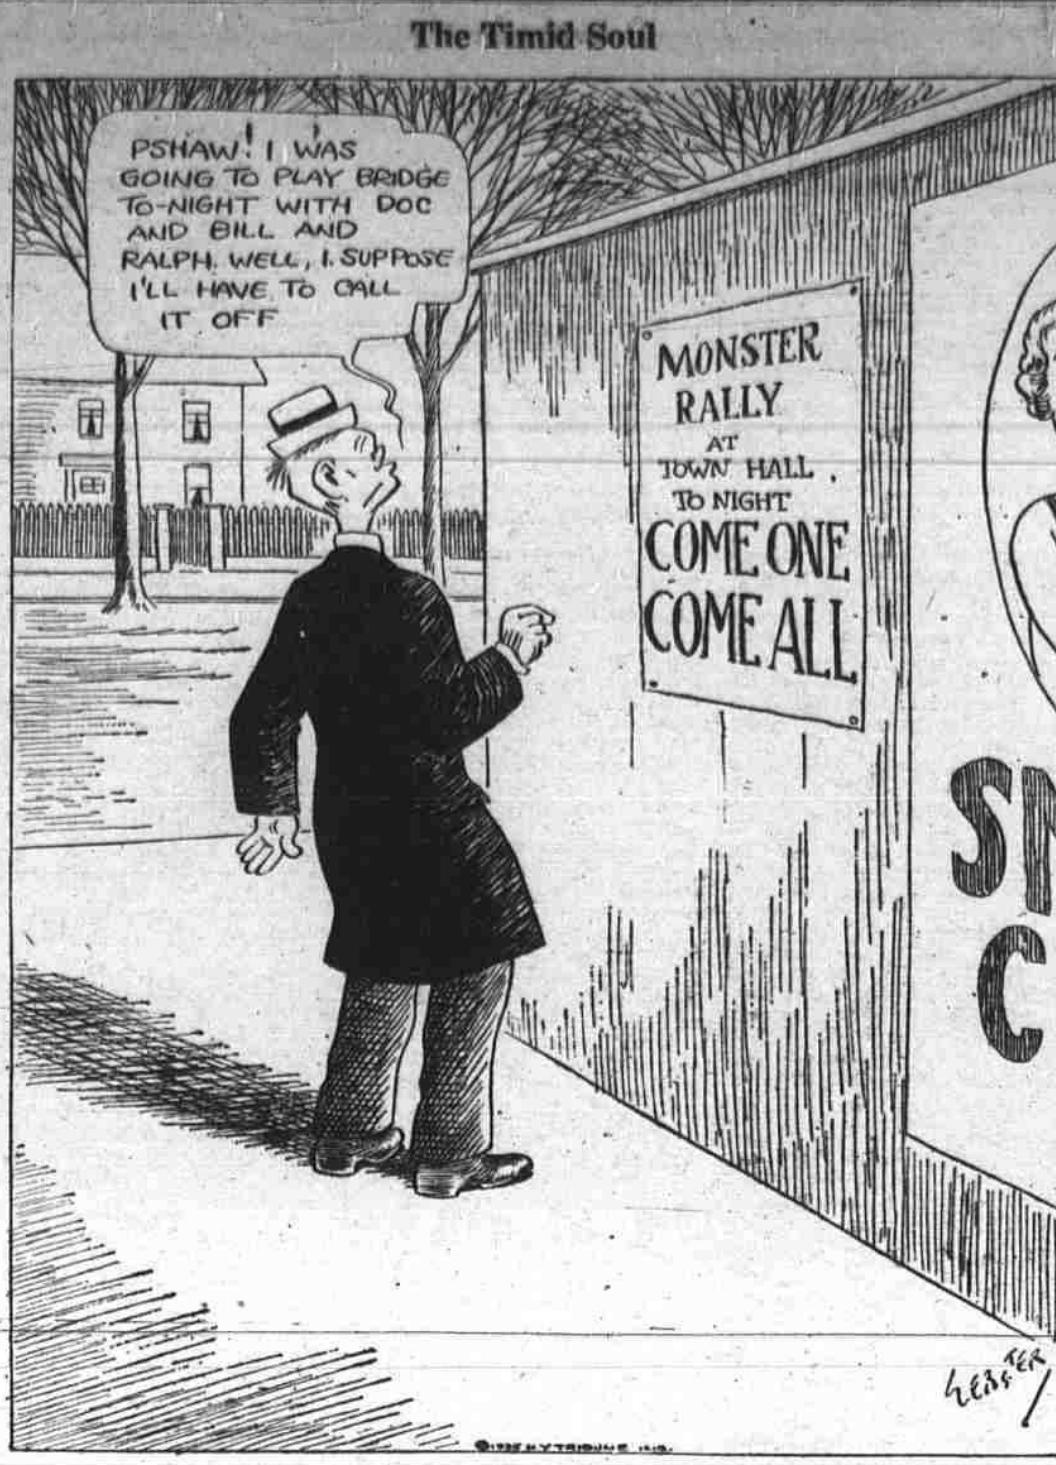

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—The old pre-repeal ruse of transporting liquor across town in faked funeral processions, employed by gangsters to throw prying coppers off the scent, now has its counterpart in this always bizarre metropolis.

This is the way you do it: You are sailing for Rome and have five minutes to get from your apartment to the pier, normally a 20-minute taxi ride. Even with the best of luck the liner will be past the Statue of Liberty before your jehu can drop you at the dock, traffic snarls being what they are; so you call a private ambulance and presto!

Headwaiters who take pride in the ability to call guests by name ought to take some notes on memory work from the traffic cop at Park avenue and 50th street. He speaks to half the town, using first names only. "I've been fooled only a few times," he told me the other day.

Congress enacted so much half-baked legislation it scarcely could overlook the potato.—Indianapolis Star. Speaking of 1936 and the issues thereof, we trust Norman Thomas has been duly impressed with the wisdom of copyrighting his platform.—Atlanta Constitution.

WASHINGTON—An inside tip has reached the ears of the New Deal's legal shock-troopers that utility interests have secretly decided to abandon the Baltimore test of the Holding Corporation act.

During the court hearings, Government attorneys brought out the amazing fact that John W. Davis, chief utility counsel, did not know personally the client on whose behalf he was supposed to be acting.

Roosevelt vs. Roosevelt. Now that the bitter Congressional fight on the Holding Corporation bill is over, members of the President's family are chuckling over a letter he got while the battle was hottest.

Roosevelt is "remainderman" for a trust fund held by the Bank of New York and Trust company. In other words, Mrs. James Roosevelt, Senior, his mother, holds a trust in this bank, and upon her death the President inherits the remainder.

The President received one of these letters asking that he oppose himself.

Bombshell. The reported gubernatorial ambitions of William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture in the Coolidge administration and now head of Wichita, Kan., University, may be thwarted at the start.

The American Association of University Professors is about to explode a bomb under him. Recently Jardine dismissed several members of his faculty on various charges.

Consumer Reports. A mild-mannered Yale professor of law is creating a lather of excitement in inner government circles.

He is Dr. Walton Hale Hamilton, head of the recently rejuvenated Consumer Division. Cause of the behind-the-scenes squawks is a series of reports he has made to the President on the milk, ice, whiskey and gasoline industries.

What is particularly burning up government experts is that Professor Hamilton and his Consumer Division ignored similar studies made by them at great expense. Their reports are now gathering dust.

One of them is the exhaustive survey of milk distribution in the Philadelphia and Connecticut milksheds made by the Federal Trade Commission. It took nearly a year and cost the government about $120,000. Yet only a portion has been made public.

Why the rest has not been released has not been explained, but here may be one reason: It contains sharp criticism of the AAA's marketing plan for the Philadelphia milk-shed.

White House Trees. All the world has its flower garden, but tree gardens are few and far between. The White House has one of the most remarkable in existence.

In the office of the chief gardener is a complete plot of the executive mansion grounds. It shows every tree and shrub in detail. Moreover, each tree is itself marked with a small bronze plate on the trunk, giving the common and Latin name.

In all, there are 843 arboreal specimens, of ninety-one species. There are eleven varieties of oak alone—more than any professional forester ever heard of. There's a chestnut oak, Dainyo oak, golden English oak, Mosny oak, Turkey oak, shingle oak, and swamp white oak. In addition there are the usual varieties: pink, red, scarlet and white oak.

There's a Japanese witch hazel, and three forms of yew: English, golden English and Irish. There are two hair Chinese chestnut trees, an Amur cork and an epaulet tree.

The oldest specimen is a white ash, at least 173 years old. Most numerous are the American elms (which are used to edge the main driveway). Some number thirty-five. The rarest tree is probably a fore-leaved beech, or a self-leaved weeping birch.

Post's Plane Soon To Be In Smithsonian

Negotiations Hold Up Delivery Of The Famed 'Winnie Mae'

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Negotiations for the purchase of the "Winnie Mae," Wiley Post's famed globe-girdling plane, by the Smithsonian Institution are nearing completion after several months' delay. The last congress appropriated $25,000 for purchase of the ship. Two factors are holding up the actual sale. First, the museum insists that the plane be equipped with everything that was in it when Post made his world flight, and secondly the method of transporting it from Bartlesville, Okla., Post's home town.

In demanding that the plane remain exactly as it was when the flight was made, museum officials feel they are insuring the ship's full historic value. Paul E. Garber, assistant curator in charge of the aeronautical division of the institute, says: "Post made some changes in the plane when he was preparing for his stratosphere flights. We aren't interested in the stratosphere flights; we want all the material that was in the plane when he flew around the world, for that, we feel, is what will interest posterity."

Garber is checking on this through aviation engineers who supervised installation of equipment in the "Winnie Mae."

"There are so many little gadgets that Post doped out himself and nobody else knows how to manipulate," Garber pointed out.

"If we tried to fly the plane to Washington there might be difficulty with some of these gadgets, and we don't want to run any risk with the plane. We probably will have the wings taken off and load it on a train and ship it here. A representative of the museum probably will go out to supervise the shipping."

There is no difficulty about the price, Garber says. It has not been settled yet, but will not exceed the amount allotted by congress.

College Work Included In NYA Program

Over 5,000 To Be Given Jobs And Training In Texas

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Fifteen Texas freshmen college centers will open this week, and 5,650 young men and women will be put in school or on jobs, Lyndon B. Johnson, NYA director announced Monday.

These fifteen centers, five of which will likely be opened at Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Lubbock, will give freshmen training without cost to approximately 750 boys and girls who are on relief, who have finished high school, and who have not enrolled in college this year, Johnson said.

Other centers will be opened and financed when the federal emergency education project is approved. Monday, Nov. 11, is the deadline for Texas high school applications. Allotments of schools failing to provide their full quotas of students by that day will be transferred to schools which have more applications than jobs.

The National Youth administration already has approximately 5,500 students working in every eligible college in Texas, and by the end of the week it will have 8,500 students at work in Texas' 1,400 high schools.

"Texas boys and girls who want to go to school and are willing to work for the pay they receive, will be placed next week, so long as the jobs last," Johnson said.

This week 2,000 additional boys and girls will be placed on WPA projects, along with adult workers. They will work one-third the time and receive one-third the wage paid adults, and they will be in addition to workers called for on the project.

"The NYA will have 20,000 Texas boys and girls either in school or in part-time jobs by Saturday night," Johnson said. "The NYA in Texas is well underway, and there is not a high school or county in the state which cannot have some of its young people in school or at work."

TEXAS COMMITTEE IS NAMED FOR FARM DEBT ADJUSTMENT

Group Will Serve In Advisory Capacity Under New Federal Program

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Governor Alfred today announced the appointment of twelve members to the state farm debt adjustment committee whose duties will be of an advisory nature in connection with the farm debt adjustment program of the national resettlement administration.

Those named to the state committee: J. E. Joney, Houston Post publisher; H. H. Williamson, director of the A. & M. College extension department; John E. Owens, banker, Dallas; Frank Holland, magazine publisher, Dallas; Herman Ochs, San Antonio; George West, ranchman, Bateville; W. B. Lee, banker-farmer, Spur; Week Brown, insurance, Waco; J. H. Youngblood, farmer, Waco; P. F. Elkin, rancher, Midland; John E. Hill, Amarillo, and N. H. Martin, Wichita Falls.

"I have the most confidence," the governor said, "in the ability and broad experience of this committee to meet successfully the problems confronting the debt-ridden farmer and rancher who are faced with foreclosure. The importance of this work to the burdened farmer cannot be over emphasized."

"I particularly want to ask the continued cooperation of the county farm debt conciliation committees who have so generously given of their time and effort in the aid of their fellow farmer. The splendid services rendered by these committees, each of which is composed of five public-spirited men who have agreed to serve without pay for one year, cannot be praised too highly. Many hundreds of letters from grateful farmers whose homes have been saved are eloquent testimonials as to the value of the farm debt work."

"I hope that these county committees will work in close cooperation with the state farm debt adjustment committee."

The governor revealed that during the period prior to Aug. 1, when the farm debt adjustment work was carried on by the county committees, more than 10,700 farms had been saved from foreclosure at a saving in reduced interest and principle of several million dollars to farmers and ranchmen.

On Sept. 1, the farm debt adjustment program was taken over by the national resettlement administration under Dr. Tugwell. Texas and Oklahoma were made into regional divisions under the direction of Dr. D. P. Trent of Stillwater. E. J. Murray, who was formerly state chairman of the work was made assistant regional director under Trent.

Under the new setup, Texas is divided into three regional groups, south and east Texas under Bill Manning at San Antonio, north and central Texas under C. S. Houston at Dallas, Panhandle and west Texas under Guion Gregg at Lubbock.

A Shock In The Dark!

Governor Asks Clubs To Name Parole Boards

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Governor James V. Alfred has issued a special plea to the service clubs of Texas, to speed up the nominations of county parole boards in counties where that has not been done.

It was pointed out by the governor that only with a complete state setup of parole boards can the new plan of paroling convicts to these boards become effective. This plan, a volunteer service on the part of public spirited citizens is calculated to give paroled prisoners a chance to become rehabilitated instead of being lured back into the path of crime, "which they may do unless some guidance is provided."

At present there are 30 counties in Texas with parole boards. These boards have been appointed through the nominations of service clubs to completely remove the stigma of politics from the general plan. Among the metropolitan counties having boards are Bexar, Dallas, McLennan and Jefferson. Federal probation officers throughout Texas have congratulated the governor upon his humanitarian move to provide leadership and guidance for men who come from the state penal institutions.
