County-Wide Kitchen Shower Planned For School Home Ec

A county-wide kitchen shower is in the planning stage for the Homemaking department of Motley County School, sponsored by El Progreso Club of Matador. The club, at its last meeting voted to sponsor this project after a survey revealed a lack of necessary equipment.

kitchenware, and linens, such as dish towels, wash cloths, potholders and hot dish mats. Donations of anything in the kitchen line would be appreciated however, head of the Homemaking department, Mrs. Gerald (Syd) Pipkin indicated.

Barbara's Bylines

As I get papers from all the area towns and counties around, I get to read about all that is being done to help the communities.

Spur Area Chamber of Commerce has established the Spur Industrial Foundation to bring new industry to their area. They have a sewing factory and a medical industry now in operation. They are raising funds to help purchase equipment, etc., for the operations.

Paducah has had a town meeting recently where approximately 100 people attended to help boost their economy. They heard a talk about organizing an economic development program and applying for an economic development grant. They want to offer a place for industry to come in and to utilize the products the area has or can provide to the public.

Our own Roaring Springs has been hard at work with their economic development grant. They now have another new industry in operation, "Confection Technology, Inc."

Warner Salsbury, now of Roaring Springs, plans to build his popcorn ball making machine there, as for now he is designing and building special equipment of all kinds.

This is no time to sit back and watch the world go by and stay one of the lowest income counties in Texas. This is America and we do still have a choice.

PTO To Sponsor Halloween Carnival

by Carol Ann Turner

The Motley County P.T.O. organization opened their year with its first meeting, September 22, in the school cafeteria. A large number of parents and teachers attended.

Barkley Jr. on the playground. It was decided to sponsor the annual Halloween Carnival again this year. The date was set for, Saturday October 31, in the old school gymnasium. Anyone wishing to be a part of the carnival should contact Terree Donaldson, chairman. The P.T.O. also decided to sponsor a Campbell Soup label drive to help obtain items for the classroom. If you have any Campbell's product labels of any kind to contribute, please contact a P.T.O. member.

Mrs. Davis introduced Mr. Don Ewing, high school principal and Mr. Michael Patrick, elementary principal. Each gave a short presentation on curriculum, rules and procedures for the new school year. Also on the program were Chelsea Read, sixth grade teacher and Jim Cooper, Vocational Agriculture teacher. A question and answer period followed.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

Come and join our organization and help support our students and school.

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

Jesus had been crucified, buried and resurrected, but as far as the majority was concerned, things were no different. Oh, they talked about the recent event, each expressing his opinion about where the body of Jesus could be. The general consensus was that the "fanatics" had stolen it. The world went on as usual - playing sports in the coliseum, businessmen opening their shops, worshipping in the temple in their old traditional ways, driving livestock out to pasture, planting seeds, buying, selling and marrying. Did Jesus interfere with the social life of those who chose to believe nothing supernatural had happened? No, rather He appeared to those who loved Him, whose lives were sold out to Him.

He appeared to Mary Magdalene, to the women who had come to anoint His body, to Peter, to the Emmaus disciples, four times to the "inner circle" disciples, to five hundred brethren and to James. He did not appear to the unbelievers and scoffers to those to ignore the mighty works of God.

Jesus is faithful today to appear to those who accept in their hearts the miracle of a resurrected Lord. As surely as He walked this earth in human form, He lives today. Because He lives, we live. We can't see Him with our natural eyes, but we have that inner witness of a changed heart, a renewed mind and dynamis power that flesh and blood did not give us.

He loves the unbelievers and scoffers. The good news to them is that He will appear to them and take up residence in them upon their invitation.

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock, if anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in to him, and will dine with him and he with me." (Rev. 3:20) "If you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you shall be saved." (Rom. 10:9)

BRINGING THE FAMILY TOGETHER

As children grow older, it gets more difficult to get the family together. Yet it's very important to find time to gather, if only for a little while, to reinforce the family unit.

Getting the family in the same place at the same time requires a little planning, but is well worth the effort. Guidelines may need to be set down to keep individual activities from creeping into family time, but often a specific time set aside for a meeting or activity will do.

Family gatherings can range from a daily meal, to a planned discussion, to a group activity.

Making togetherness fun and varied can increase communication, and appreciation of the family unit.

Picnics, ball games, and museums are just a few places to enjoy the family's company. Try having each member make a list of activities they would like the family to do, and try different member's suggestions each time. This may keep things more interesting and family members can learn more about each other through their favorite activities.

Reinforcement is always important in keeping units cohesive. Celebrations of accomplishments, birthdays, grades, and any sort of achievement can facilitate mutual respect and help members focus on their positive attitudes.

Spending time together is the best way to learn more about the members of your family, and maintain mutual support and respect. Even the busiest families can benefit from a small investment of their time and love.

W.R. (BILL) TILSON

Old Bill Tilson was a Virginia product that somehow found his way to Texas during the early eighties and ultimately worked on the Matador Ranch during its harem-scarem, wild hey-days.

Bill was as big as a Government Mule and physically a powerful fellow that could easily have matched Jake Killrain in the prize ring, and if a fellow was hunting trouble, he didn't have to go any further than Bill Tilson to find it.

Bill, like most all Virginians I ever knew, was trained in their youth to be good horsemen, trained as tourney or tournament performers, and they never lived to be too old to love the sport.

The cueing of small suspended rings on the end of long pointed wooded-lances, while racing a speedy horse over the course, has many fine points of art and requires much practice to become at all, an expert. The tournament joust never seemed general in Texas, though followed to some extent.

The last one I ever saw was back in the nineties at the Roaring Springs Falls on Tongue River. Bill Tilson was there, though he had no horse of his own. Bill was touched up enough to feel his oats, though not inebriated. John Chalk, a rancher nearby, loaned Bill a horse to ride. The pony was a broke horse, but had never been used in a tournament. Bill saddled him up for a practice round. When he clipped the first ring, the pony shied to one side, putting him out of line for the next ring. Bill tickled the horse in the ribs with his left spur to bring him back in line, and the pony downed his head and laid Bill on the ground, then ran off with the saddle.

Chalk caught the horse and brought him back. Bill tried the horse again and when the first ring clicked on the lance, he shied to one side again. Bill raked him the second time with his spur, and he again stacked Bill on the ground. When Chalk brought the horse back he said to Tilson, "Bill, let me wipe him out for you." Bill replied, "Hell no, I will wipe him out for myself." He crawled on the horse without his lance, caught the saddle horn with his right hand, grabbed the horse with both spurs and, man alive, that horse went up in the air and turned round and around until Bill was spilled the third time in less than fifteen minutes, but Bill Tilson got up holding the saddle horn in his right hand. This was the first and only time I ever saw anyone rip the saddle horn loose before he could be thrown.

Cowmen's saddles are substantially made and the horns are belted to the fork or tree so securely that the heaviest wild horses, steers and bulls can be roped and held with rarely the loss of a saddle horn. Ropes are often broken in checking the terrific speed and weight of heavy wild animals, but it is rare, indeed, to have the saddle torn apart by them. Bill Tilson pulled one out by its roots as he came off that gentle horse.

Halsell - Smead Exchange Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Mrs. Thomas Kent Smead (nee Carolyn Halsell)

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Carolyn Ann Halsell and Thomas Kent Smead in a double ring ceremony solemnized at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, August 22, in the Calvary Baptist Church, with Mike McKinney, pastor of The First Baptist church, Childress officiating for the occasion.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn Halsell, Jr., of Crowell and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Smead of Wichita Falls.

The ceremony was illuminated with a myriad of white cathedral tapers in a setting of a large tree candelabra and seven branch candelabras interspersed by trailing English ivy and huckaberry greenery. At the front of the altar, in a garden like setting, were banks of southern palms, weeping figs, and Boston ferns, accented with pink fresh flowering plants. The front steps to the altar were gracefully curved with smaller green plants and ferns forming a setting for the bride and groom. The altar railing featured fresh huckaberry greenery and was trimmed with pink satin bows and streamers.

Guests were registered in the foyer of the church by Miss Lynne Johnson of Fort Worth. She attended a table of pink and white highlighted by the bride's leather wedding book and a bud vase of pink rosebuds.

Traditional pre-nuptial selections of music were presented by Mrs. Walter Stapp, organist of Crowell, and pianist Ross Smead, of New York City, brother of the bridegroom. Among the selections were "Salut d'Amour", by Elgar; "Prayer" by Ambrosia; "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod; and "Sheep May Safely Graze" by Bach.

The Processional was "Bridal Chorus" by Wagner and the Recessional was the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

Miss Darlene Mahler, of Iowa Park, was the soloist, and sang "Because," "To Me", and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in a formal designer gown of candlelight satin and Alencon lace. The bodice of the gown was detailed with beaded pearl clusters accenting intricate works of lace. A Queen Anne collar adorned the bodice and gracefully tapered into a sweetheart neckline. Victorian sleeves extended to the wrist into a lace pettipoint. The back of the gown featured illusion and scalloped lace with tiny satin buttons leading to a dropped waist satin bow. The full ballroom skirt flowed from a slightly dropped waistline into a lace edged hemline that extended into a chapel train. The bride's headpiece was of ivory satin Alencon lace appointed with seed pearls clusters and illusion tulle.

As "something old" the bride wore a pearl bracelet originally belonging to her paternal grandmother; "something new" was her bridal gown; "something borrowed" was a pearl necklace belonging to her mother; and "something blue" was her garter. She wore a sixpence in her shoe, given to her by her maternal grandmother.

The bride carried an open crescent cascade of candlelight white roses, white stephanotis, and white bouvardias blossoms, entwined with strands of English ivy. White picot satin puffs and seed pearls accented her bouquet.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Lisa O'Dwyer of Dallas. She was attired in a tea length gown of rosebud moire taffeta. The dress was a princess design with a scooped neckline, short gathered sleeves, and a dropped waistline accented with a fabric belt and bow.

Bridal attendants for the ceremony were Miss Lynne Sprugel of Long Beach, CA, Miss Julie Herrin of Ft. Worth, Miss Annis Brown of Tahoka, Mrs. Jill Farmer of Weatherford, Mrs. Lesley Hall of Abilene, Mrs. Jana Kennon and Miss Pamela Prather, both of Vernon.

The matron of honor and the attendants were attired identically, and they all carried an open crescent cascade of pink rose buds, pink bouvardia blossoms, and trailing English ivy.

The flower girl was Helen Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry of Vernon. She was attired in a Cinderella tea length design of moire pink taffeta fashioned with a lace collar, and a high waistline accented with a self fabric sash and back bow. Helen carried a white wicker basket garnished with pink and white rosebuds and satin ribbon streamers.

The candlelighters were John Halsell, III of Crowell, brother of the bride, and Greg Mulkey of Wichita Falls.

Thomas Smead served his son as best man for the ceremony. Groomsmen were Ross Smead of New York City, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Abell of Boulder, Colo., Chris Handlin of Amarillo, Richard Terry of Dallas, Scott Krueger of North Richland Hills, Ray Horton and Jim Tull, both of Wichita Falls. Serving as ushers were David Burch of North Richland Hills, Ricky Brown and Greg Mulkey of Wichita Falls, Paul Miller and Tony Mitchell, both of Vernon, and John Halsell III of Crowell, brother of the bride.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Hill Crest Country Club.

Decorating the walkway into the Country Club were baskets of ferns and votive candelabras tied with pink satin bows.

Miss Lynne Johnson of Fort Worth registered guests in the foyer of the club at a table appointed in tone on tone ivory, the leather bride's book, and a rosebud vase.

The hors d'oeuvres table in the main room were appointed in pink linen cloths and featured an ice carving and array of assorted hors d'oeuvres. The bride's cake was the focal point of a serpentine shaped table adorned in an ivory moire taffeta cloth. The cake was a design by Ida Mae's of Jacksboro and featured three tiers of tone on tone ivory with garnishes of grapes, garlands, and floral cascades. A cherub embellished the top layer of the cake. Glamillia blossoms and bouvardias with English ivy graced the base of the cake. Flanking the cake on one side was a silver punch bowl, and on the other side an elegant arrangement of pink buds, pink gerber daisies, and Glamillia blossoms, entwined with strands of slimax.

The bridegroom's table was covered in a floor length pink linen cloth appointed with silver and a five-branch candelabra with pink candles, entwined with greenery. A four-layer German Chocolate cake garnished with shavings of bitter sweet chocolate was served to reception guests.

For the wedding cruise to the Caribbean, the bride chose a Blanco creation in pink and black linen. Pleated puffed sleeves adorned a diagonal cut jacket accented with a bow closure at the waistline and highlighted a black drindle skirt.

The bride, a 1979 graduate of Crowell High School, received her B.S. degree in vocational home economics education from Texas Christian University in 1983. She is currently an extension agent-home economics with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The groom is a 1978 graduate of Rider High School in Wichita Falls. He graduated from Texas Christian University in 1982 with a B.S. degree in criminal justice. He is employed as a firefighter with the Vernon Fire Department.

The couple will make their home in Vernon.

Spraying in the 24th edition of the annual High Plains boll weevil battle got off to a fast start September 21. Twelve aerial applicators in near-perfect weather covered about 12,000 acres the first afternoon. In the next two days the 12 planes, using three airports, completed the program's first application, spreading insecticide on weevils infesting a total 56,497 acres in six counties.

Planes took off from airports at Spur, Post and Roaring Springs to hit the most heavily infested fields in Motley, Dickens, Kent, Garza, Floyd and Crosby Counties.

Pheromone sex attractant traps in May and June caught over three times as many boll weevils as had been caught in any previous year, altering program officials to the need for the expanded spraying expected this fall. The program, initiated in 1963, knocks down late-season weevil populations before they reach the diapause state necessary to winter hibernation. Doing this along and below the Caprock on the eastern edge of the High Plains each year has maintained the weevil-free status of the huge and concentrated cotton acreage just above the Caprock and on west into New Mexico.

Without the program, entomologists say, cotton production in the area might have ceased entirely and at best would have been severely curtailed years ago.

Aggregate acreage sprayed in 1986 came to 325,638 but could well reach above 500,000 this year, according to Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. PCG is the producer service organization responsible for the program. The excessive numbers emerging from hibernation this spring, Dean says, resulted from the mild 1986-87 winter. While it's normal to expect diapausing weevils to survive the winter at a rate of three percent or less, the survival rate for 1986-87 climbed to a surprising 18 percent, Dean explains.

Contract for the spraying this year was let to Perryton Flying Service. The Perryton, Texas company was the lowest of three bidders. The contractor will be paid $5.09 per gallon for applying the program's low volume malathion at the rate of 12 ounces per acre, giving a per-acre application cost of about 48 cents. The smaller contract in 1986 went to McAdoo Flying Service, McAdoo, for $5.35 per gallon.

The program is funded jointly by producers, through PCG's Boll Weevil Steering Committee, the U.S. and Texas Departments of Agriculture. Prior to this year federal funds were available to match producer and TDA funds dollar for dollar. But USDA's part of the cost for 1987 has been cut to 80 percent.

Producer funds for the program are collected as a part of the receiving charge at area compresses and are administered by PCG's steering committee, chaired by Jarrell Edwards of Route 1, O'Donnell.

Remember When

By Annie B. Cloyd
Box 22
Flomot, TX 79234

Hi Neighbors, aren't we having great weather now? Just right for getting the yard ready for winter. We are all hoping for a late frost but we never know how this weather is going to act. We can be thankful for the good rain even tho' the bugs and worms have to be sprayed. The good Lord didn't promise us life would be easy, did he?

Lots of folks have pecan trees that are just loaded and the limbs are really hanging down because the nuts are so heavy. Now our trees are not so good - I tried to treat them as good as I knew how but I guess I've done something wrong because we don't have so many. That is just the way with me and whatever I do - I'm a "Jack-of-all-trades" and not very good at any of them, but I keep trying.

This is a change from the usual thing that I talk about but - Remember when we first got T.V. and how good the football games were? And the half-time shows were great to watch. But, look how things are now, the whole half-time is taken up with two or three fellows telling you what has just happened or trying to tell you what is going to happen or what they should or shouldn't do in the next half. They do all this just as if we didn't see a thing that has gone on. Are we dumb? Or are they just trying to fill up space?

Wouldn't it be nice to see the bands marching again or watch the Cowboy Cheerleaders. Or maybe the Killgore Rangerettes could come out and put on their show. There are others that they used to put on at half-time too but no more. Now we have someone talking so much and so long about nothing till we miss all the show going on down on the field.

Not only do they talk at half-time but they talk constantly all during the game and then they show us this replay thing just as if we weren't looking. I guess I'm in a bad way this morning so I'm really "down" on this football business and their striking and fussing about this and that. They make more money than they can spend as it is. I think that sports have gotten way out of hand anyway. It just isn't a game anymore, it's a great big business.

Enough of that - I found a little book the other day that Mrs. Rose Turner had written about the school and when it first started and where it was. Even the kids that started to school there. We'll have to get it down and write some of it so you can "remember when" about those times along with us.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I read with great interest your Old Settlers Edition. Mother (Mrs. Roxie S. Lewis) sent hers on to me and part of Sept. 3 also. I spent an hour or so reading it. Even parts I knew no one written about. That was great to read the "history".

I was born at home in the front bedroom of the house Mother still lives in, 51 years ago this Dec. 16 and spent my growing up years in Valley View, Delwin and Roaring Springs. Valley View school, where I started 1st grade, still stands in a field north of the Matador-Paducah highway. The Delwin School is no longer there at all. Patton Springs still is going, but Roaring Springs is now combined with Matador.

I'm sending for this book, "My Life On The Matador". I, in my middle years, have become interested in the beginnings of Matador, Ranch, and Roaring Springs.

Thank you,
Mrs. B.N. Smallwood
(Kay Lewis)

And now abideth Faith, Hope and Love. These three, but the greatest of these is Love.

MUSIC CLASSES, BIG HIT
 The new music program is apparently being enjoyed by many. Bus drivers and parents report that children are sharing their songs with all who will listen and some who would rather not. Thirty minute-a-day classes for Kindergarten through Sixth grade are providing opportunities to learn new songs and rhythm games; music theory is being enhanced via baseball games. Eighth grade girls are singing and studying patriotic songs and creating a "time line" that ties music to other world developments.

Today starts our Fall Attendance Survey. The money we receive from the state is based on this. Please do all you can to see that we have good attendance from your student. Please try to schedule Dr. appointments around this reporting period if possible. This attendance period goes through Oct. 30.

About thirty relatives and friends attended the music program presented by all classes to help celebrate Constitution Day. For the Motley County vs. Aspermont football game Friday night the high school song leaders, April Vandiver and Yulanda Campbell, and the Eighth Grade Girls Choir will present "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the school song.

Get Ready For Spelling Bee!

AMARILLO, TX - The Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University are again sponsoring the National Spelling Bee for students in the area.

This year's Spelling Bee will be the 40th Annual competition for students in the eighth and lower grades and who will not reach their 16th birthday by the end of the current school year.

In each of the 46 counties assigned the sponsors, bee directors have been named to coordinate the program. Serving as bee director for Motley County is Devonne Dillard, Motley County Independent School District, Matador.

Interested students and school officials should contact the director for information concerning participating.

Each county winner is to be named by March 19 in order to compete in the Regional Bee on the WTSU campus in Canyon on April 16.

One of the 46 participants will win the trip to Washington, D.C. to represent the area in the 1988 National Spelling Bee. The Amarillo Globe-News will provide expenses for the winner and one parent.

Some of the other top finalists will be given special awards.

Gene Parker, director of placement at West Texas State University is bee coordinator.

"I urge all students to participate in this worthwhile educational program. All of us at the university are proud to be associated with the Amarillo newspaper in recognizing the accomplishments of young students," Parker said.

Additional information is available from Parker and also from Jeane Bartlett, spelling bee editor of the Amarillo Globe-News.

The 1988 issue of "Words of the Champions", the study booklet used in the schools, is available from Jeane Bartlett at 50-cents each. Orders may be placed directly with Mrs. Bartlett by contacting her at the newspaper, Box 2091, Amarillo, 79166. The booklet contains more than 3,000 words.

Each county director has the option of conducting a Junior Bee for grades six and lower. Junior county winners do not compete unless they also win the secondary championship.

The sponsors will provide special awards for each county Junior champ.

Four states are assigned the WTSU-AGN sponsors. They include parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas.

Third Graders Receive Book From Local Sponsors

Students in the third grade at Motley County Elementary have received the gift-book entitled Feeling Good About Me.

Feeling Good About Me is a large, handsomely bound volume that contains eight lessons. Each lesson is illustrated in full-color and comes complete with teacher's guide.

Each teacher's guide covers lesson objectives, discussion starters and follow-up applications. The purpose of the lessons is to provide a forum for communicating values and to encourage further discussion of values between children, their parents, and other family members in a home setting.

The title Feeling Good About Me was chosen because the eight stories reflect positive influences which will help build a child's self esteem. The lessons deal with right and wrong, the meaning of friendship, family relationships, respect for others, loyalty, developing full potential, and being your own unique self.

Local sponsors provide this important gift to the children because they know that young people are the most precious resource of this community.

The local sponsors are Stanely Pharmacy, Pipkin Insurance Agency, Matador Variety Store.

"Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord: and the fruit of the womb is his reward. As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man; so are children of the youth.

Psa. 127: 3, 4
