By LARRY ALLEN
HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French flew one of Indochina's most eminent doctors to Dien Bien Phu today to arrange for speedy release of French Union troops seriously wounded in the long defense of the fallen fortress. French officials hoped the mass airlift of casualties from the Vietnam-held valley 175 miles west of Hanoi would start tomorrow.

Vandalism May Bring Closing Of Pioneer Park

Atomic Control Meeting Opens

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—The world's five leading atomic powers meet in this H-bomb-wary capital today in quest of a pact ending the arms race and outlawing atomic and germ warfare.

States. The other delegates at the opening meeting were Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson for Canada, former Defense Minister Jules Moch for France and Ambassador Jacob Malik for Russia.

There were guarded hints from British and American informants that the Western nations, jointly or individually, might put forward revised proposals in a bid to break the years-long deadlock with Russia on the issues.

Atomic weapons: The "Baruch Plan" of the West would create a world authority to control all dangerous aspects of atomic energy development. It would have complete inspection and enforcement rights. Later existing stocks of atomic weapons would be destroyed.

There were no clues to the possible nature of any new Western proposals for disarmament or atomic and germ warfare control.

Russia demanded simply a one-third cut of the armed forces of the Big Five, which would preserve the Communist world's considerable superiority in the number of men under arms.

Laniel Opens Battle To Remain In Power

By HARVEY HUDSON
PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel opened the defense of his shaky government today, asserting the battle of Dien Bien Phu had served to delay Vietnam attacks on the vital Red River Delta and on Laos.

"even up to the final day, commanders had more volunteers to parachute into Dien Bien Phu than they could use for this mission." Sustained applause from the Assembly interrupted his speech after this statement.

Much hostility to Laniel still seemed in evidence in the Assembly at the start of the debate but the general sentiment seemed to be that he would be continued in office, at least a little while longer.

The Soviet charge came just six days after Britain accused two assistants air attaches at the Russian Embassy in London of attempting to engage in spy activities. The two, both majors in the Red Air Force, were given 10 days to leave the country.

Man Dies In Flames, Apparently Suicide

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—A man who told friends he was "a suicidal man and should be punished" perished in kerosene flames last night while wired tightly against a tree.

The Foreign Office identified the Briton as Maj. Charles R. P. London, an assistant military attaché in this country's Moscow Embassy.

Police Chief Claus C. Miller surmised at first that someone had poured kerosene over James Nelson of Rock Island and ignited it. However, after an investigation, he said he believes Nelson arranged his own fiery death.

Laniel asserted Dien Bien Phu was organized as a fortress to resist one type of army but was unable to meet the attack from a Chinese type of army.

Miller said Nelson, a former dishwasher in a Rock Island hotel, had deep religious feelings about sin which he discussed with friends and neighbors.

Among the proposals expected to come under study is one which would permit Mexicans living along the border to be hired for four-week periods in the United States.

Young Prisoner Disarms Chicago Deputies, Flees

CHICAGO (AP)—Police and sheriff's officers hunted today for a young prisoner who at gunpoint disarmed two deputy sheriffs, forced them to drive him 15 miles, robbed them of about $50 and then stole their car.

They quoted him as saying: "One false move out of either of you and you're dead."

Police said Peters' wife Margaret, 19, said her husband had served in Korea before the war in 1950. He and another soldier took a Jeep and went drinking, she said, and another man was killed. He was tried by a military court and sentenced to 50 years, which later was reduced to 12 years. She said he was paroled in February 1953 from a military prison in Pennsylvania.

Reds Return Spy Charge

LONDON (AP)—Russia today accused a British major now in London of spying on her military secrets and said he could not return to his post in Moscow.

The Soviet charge came just six days after Britain accused two assistants air attaches at the Russian Embassy in London of attempting to engage in spy activities. The two, both majors in the Red Air Force, were given 10 days to leave the country.

PROSPECTS ARE DIM Bidault Says U.N. Must Eye Any Voting In Reunited Korea

By EDDY GILMORE
GENEVA (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the 19-nation Korean conference today Korea must be reunited through United Nations-controlled elections.

Adams said any special consideration for Schine stemmed only from the McCarthy subcommittee's picturing him as essential to its work, and that any special deference for McCarthy was a matter of trying to avoid "open hostility."

Speaking for the first time in the Korean discussion, Bidault said reunification should be guaranteed by an all-Korean commission in which both North and South Korea would be represented in proportion to their population.

Adams declared it was not. He said McCarthy had volunteered previously that the subcommittee investigation was about complete but that it was preparing to turn it over to the Army.

Bidault said he wanted to set forth two principles which the French delegation considers fundamental:

Recalled that Adams had testified a Nov. 6 luncheon at the Pentagon, attended by Stevens, Adams, McCarthy, Cohn and Francis P. Carr, staff investigator for the McCarthy subcommittee, was arranged to "further pursue" McCarthy's earlier statement that the hearings might be terminated. Jenkins suggested that indicated the Army wanted the hearings

Bidault said he wanted to set forth two principles which the French delegation considers fundamental:

Earlier, the 16 nations which fought under the United Nations flag in Korea were reported to have considered at a private session the question of winding up the Korean phase of the Geneva conference.

Stronger Insurance Laws Loom As Big Problem For Legislature

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN (AP)—Strengthening of Texas insurance laws was projected as a major problem for the next Legislature today following a scathing court attack on abuse and lack of enforcement of present insurance statutes.

State Insurance Board Chairman Garland A. Smith, agreeing with the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals that it has been too easy for insurance firms to organize in Texas, said he has drafted six bills he thinks will remedy the situation. The court fired its blast yesterday in a decision which said the Texas Mutual Insurance Co. could not assess certain policyholders an extra year's premiums to meet claims of 4,000 claimants totaling more than $1,200,000.

The ruling reversed a district court judgment which had been granted the then State Insurance Liquidator Will G. Knox. The trial court order would have permitted an assessment equal to one annual premium against policyholders of the firm who had a policy in force during the period from Feb. 14, 1952, to Feb. 13, 1953.

Associate Justice Robert G. Hughes, author of an opinion concurring with the main opinion of the appellate court, said the Texas Mutual case "is replete with evidence of fraudulent and corrupt abuse of our insurance laws and gross if not criminal laxness in their enforcement."

Smith, who was not a member of the insurance board at the time Texas Mutual was first authorized to do business, said his department needs three times as many examiners as it now has to keep tabs on the state's 1,884 insurance companies.

He said the department also should be given enough funds to pay the kind of salaries needed to attract better personnel. To gain better control over organization of insurance firms, Smith said he will recommend legislation that would:

1. Require real estate boards to make appraisals on all properties that insurance companies may enter into their assets.
2. Prevent fraudulent claims as to financial status based on short-term bank loans payable on demand.
3. Control investments by insurance companies.
4. Place the sale of insurance company stock under the State Securities Act.
5. Give the insurance board better control over policy forms.
6. Increase the capital structure required for a company to organize.

Smith said essentially the same recommendations had been made to the Legislature in the past by the late George B. Butler, who was chairman of the board at the time Texas Mutual was approved to do business. Judge Hughes' opinion dealt at length with the trial record regarding circumstances surrounding a $436,000 valuation placed on a Beaumont office building which Texas Mutual secured Aug. 5, 1948.

The actual consideration for the deed was $100,000, all notes, cash, Hughes observed. Texas Mutual assumed a $40,000 debt and gave notes for the balance to the vendors, David E. O'Flane and Emmett E. Langham of Beaumont.

Paul and Leslie Lowry, as president and secretary, respectively, of the Texas Mutual, advised the insurance board Aug. 8, 1948, they had jointly advanced their company $336,000. Attached to this certificate was an appraisal of the office building at a "present market value" of $436,000.

"Just how this property which mushroomed in value so fast was valued and how approval of such value by the insurance board was obtained with such ease and dispatch brings into focus the part played by State Senator and Attorney William T. Moore of Bryan," wrote Hughes. He then quoted trial testimony that Moore had conferred with Butler concerning the property appraisal matter.

Moore, who had testified he thought he presented the appraisal to Chief Examiner L. W. Blanchard, told the Associated Press by telephone yesterday he had "merely followed the law as I saw it" in securing the appraisal.

The law now requires only that two freeholders make the appraisal. Moore said he had had three freeholders make the appraisals for Texas Mutual.

"I did not see the property. I do not hold myself out as an expert on real estate matters," said Moore. "All I had was some sworn appraisals which I assumed were authentic. All I did was act as a messenger boy in delivering the appraisal to the insurance board." Moore said he did not feel he had committed "any moral wrong."

Moore, who was appointed chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey last year, said he had talked to former insurance board chairman Butler and later to Smith, the present chairman, about "the need for revision and strengthening" of the appraisal law.

"I think it should be done and will be done, at the next session of the Legislature," he said.

Relations With Military Are Rated Excellent

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has extended every courtesy to Webb Air Force Base, according to Col. Fred M. Dean, base commander.

"Relations between the base and the Chamber of Commerce are excellent," he stated. "The Chamber has been most helpful to the base, and we in the military in turn have attempted to cooperate with the Chamber in every way."

Negotiations between the two groups fall into three categories, Col. Dean pointed out. They are (1) ways in which the Chamber can help the base, (2) things the base can do to help the Chamber, and (3) projects of mutual interest.

The base commander cites the Chamber's assistance in obtaining a housing development here as an aid to the base. The Monticello and Banks additions, when built, provided sufficient houses at a reasonable price, Col. Dean said.

The Chamber has also assisted the base in obtaining graduation speakers, by entertaining visiting dignitaries, through support to school improvements, and with establishment of recreational assists for service men, Col. Dean pointed out.

The Chamber of Commerce has cooperated with the base relative to the Air Force non-segregation policy and has assisted with racial problems. Chamber officials have also been behind recreational facilities for Negroes on the north side of town.

Webb Air Force Base furnishes its band for any civic occasion possible and cooperates in campaigns being sponsored by the Chamber, the colonel said. For example, Scouts were recently entertained on the base, and airmen cleaned up several down-town lots in the clean-up campaign.

United Fund and blood drives are examples of base cooperation in programs which are of mutual interest to the Chamber and Webb, Dean pointed out. "We will assist the community in any way possible within our governing regulations."

Col. Dean stated that he is confident of a continuance of the friendly relations which now exist between the residents of the area and base personnel.

"We realize that the area has been hard hit by the drought, and we are happy that our $500,000 monthly payroll plus $250,000 in monthly local purchases, has been able to help in the crisis," he stated. "We hope that as the drought subsides our payroll will continue to aid a prosperous community."

Projects which Dean would like to see the Chamber support include another housing development, a direct access road from Webb to the Monticello Addition, additional school facilities, and a school transportation system.

The base commander believes that another housing shortage is at hand. If a new housing project is constructed, he hopes to see it on the west side of town near the base. A direct access road to Monticello Addition would enable base personnel living there to travel the distance to and from work in much less time and greater traffic safety, he said.

The school development now under way will not be adequate for the future, the colonel pointed out, though it will be a great help. At present there is no transportation system for children living in the base area to use in going to and from high school, he added.

"School board officials, however, are certainly working toward solution of the problems," he said. Col. Dean, who is 37, graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1938 and attended Air Force flying school in 1939. He was made a full colonel at the age of 29 while commanding a fighter group in the Mediterranean theater. During the war he flew more than 100 combat missions.

After the war, Col. Dean was assigned to the Pentagon in Washington, D. C., and became executive officer for the Air Force Commanding General of the Army, Gen. Hap Arnold. He also spent two years in Brazil as U. S. Air Force military advisor, then returned to Washington to become a strategic war planner. He attended the National War College, graduated in 1953. His command at Webb Air Force Base started July 19, 1953.

He holds the Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Silver Star, the Air Medal, the Brazilian Aeronautical Medal of Merit, and the British Distinguished Flying Cross.

Without the power project, the seaway would not be economically practical. The seaway bill passed the House a week ago today. The Senate, which took similar action in January, concurred Friday in minor amendments made by the House. Thus came to an end a legislative tussle of many years in which the seaway plan had always before been defeated. The power project, to be built concurrently with the seaway and designed to generate over 12 billion kilowatt hours of electricity yearly, is not a part of the bill. A legal objection to New York's right to engage in the power project still remains to be resolved.

The measure authorizes the United States to join Canada in building a waterway deep enough to let ocean ships sail from the Atlantic as far inland as Toledo, Ohio, by going up the St. Lawrence River to the Great Lakes. Engineers figure it will take about six years to complete the project. There is talk about extending the ocean channel all the way to Duluth, Minn., at the end of Lake Superior, but this will require further congressional action.

The seaway idea has been endorsed by every president beginning with Woodrow Wilson. Eisenhower has supported the project on grounds it would help both this nation's economy and its security.

The 46-mile rapids, beginning near Ogdensburg, N.Y., will also be dammed to permit construction of a vast 600-million-dollar electric power plant. This is a separate project being undertaken by New York state and the province of Ontario.

IN WHITE HOUSE CEREMONY

President Eisenhower Signs Seaway Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the St. Lawrence seaway bill today in a White House ceremony. "Now work can begin on the great project," the President declared as he put his signature to the measure which sets in motion a plan to bring ocean trade into the heart of the American continent.

The bitterly contested seaway legislation finally cleared Congress last Friday after a 30-year struggle. The measure authorizes the United States to join Canada in building a waterway deep enough to let ocean ships sail from the Atlantic as far inland as Toledo, Ohio, by going up the St. Lawrence River to the Great Lakes. Engineers figure it will take about six years to complete the project. Phone Company Open House Is Set Next Week

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will open its doors to the public for a three-day open house next week, C. W. Fisher, manager for the company, has announced.

Specially trained guides will be on hand to take visitors through the telephone buildings, explain the operation of the telephone equipment and special exhibits to be brought here for the open house.

The open house will be held Wednesday through Friday, May 19-21. Hours will be 2 to 4 and 6:30 to 9 p.m.

The tour will begin at the new telephone building, 301 Rannels. Guests will be taken to the other telephone building at 205 E. 4th by chartered bus.

Several special exhibits will be brought here for the open house. These will include the company's famous Tick-Tack-Toe machine.

This machine actually competes with human beings in the familiar game. It was designed to demonstrate how accurately and efficiently the electronic switching equipment used in the operation of the telephone system works.

"It's amazing how intelligently this machine plays the game. Just like a man, only better. You push a button which lights up an 'X' in one of the squares. The machine automatically lights up an 'O' in another square," Fisher said.

"Then no matter where you place your next 'X' the machine will outguess you and either force you into a tie, or perhaps beat you."

The Tick-Tack-Toe machine will be but one of the many exhibits on display at the open house.

Also on display during the open house will be a miniature working model of a microwave radio relay system which demonstrates how live television programs are brought to Texas by the telephone company.

Three Completions Reported; Three Area Locations Spotted

Completions were reported today in the Howard-Glasscock, the Westbrook, and the Moore pools. New locations were spotted in the Snyder and Luther Southeast pool areas.

Surfay No. 36-E Dora Roberts is the Howard-Glasscock completion, and it potentialized for 32 barrels of oil. Itex and Windfohr No. 1 Morrison-Jones was finished in the Westbrook field for 57 barrels, and Guthrie No. 3-A Hewitt was completed for 116 barrels in the Moore field. Texas Pacific Coal and Oil spotted its No. 1 L. C. Underwood and No. 2 J. O. Hanev in the Luther Southeast area. Paul DeCleva No. 1 Louise O'Daniel is the new Snyder project.

Borden Phillips No. 1-B Clayton, wildcat about 12 miles southwest of Gall, swabbed 34 barrels of fluid in 24 hours. Recovery was about 12 per cent but sediment and water, with a half barrel of free water. Plugged back total depth is 8,250 feet. Location is C NW SE, 17-32-4n, T&P survey.

Seaboard No. 1 F. B. Simpson, 3,105 from south and 467 from east lines, 24-33-2n, T&P survey, got down to 5,885 feet in lime. Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1-A Johnson, C SE SW, 6-32-4n, T&P survey, is reported at 8,225 feet in lime and shale.

Russell Maguire No. 1-A Beal, 671.5 from north and 1,985 from west lines, 5-27-HATC survey, dug to 6,737 feet in lime. Seaboard No. 1 C. S. Dean, C SW NW, 3-2-TTRR survey, made it down to 6,627 feet in lime and shale.

Howard Sunray No. 36-E Dora Roberts in the Howard-Glasscock field completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 32 barrels of oil. Production is from perforations between 3,054 and 3,100 feet. Top of pay measures 3,014, the seven-inch goes to 3,114 feet, and total depth is 3,404. Recovery is 96.12 per cent water. Gas oil ratio was not given, and gravity of oil is 24.3 degrees. Location is C NE NE, 136-29-W&NW survey.

C. W. Guthrie No. 3-A C. V. Hewitt was completed in the Moore field for a 24-hour pumping potential of 116 barrels of oil and no water. Gravity is 30 degrees, and gas-oil ratio measures 100-1. Top of pay is 3,135 feet, total depth is 3,188, and 5/4-inch casing is 2,409.4. This project is 330 from west and 996 from north lines, east half, northwest quarter, 30-33-1s, T&P survey.

Paul DeCleva staked his No. 1 Louise O'Daniel in the Snyder area, 2,310 from south and 330 from east lines, 19-30-1s, T&P survey. It is six miles south of Coahoma on an 80 acre lease. Drilling depth is set at 3,100 feet.

Texas Dam Projects Up Before Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Public Works Committee today called for testimony on two big flood control and water conservation projects in Texas—one in the Brazos River basin near Waco and the other in the Buffalo Bayou area of Houston.

A Waco delegation headed by Mayor Frank E. Connally was invited to testify first, in support of a program proposing construction of six dams with a pre-Korean war total estimated cost of $112, 135,000.

The separate dam and reservoir projects, which a committee aide said probably now would cost at least 10 to 15 per cent more because of increased construction costs, are:

Waco Reservoir on Bosque River, about three miles upstream from its confluence with Brazos River main channel; Proctor Reservoir on Leon River; Lampasas Reservoir on Lampasas River; Laneport Reservoir on San Gabriel River; Somerville Reservoir on Yegua Creek and Ferguson Reservoir on Navasota River. No cost estimates for individual projects were available in advance of the hearing.

The Houston area improvements, also recommended by Army engineers, include channel straightening, clearing and enlarging of Buffalo Bayou proper, Brays Bayou and White Oak Bayou, at an estimated total cost of $25,997,000.

The committee also has before it a recommendation that Congress appropriate $2,900,000 to reimburse the Harris County (Houston) Flood Control District for work already done on Buffalo Bayou.

STANTON (SC) - Only one application has been received for the post of Martin County treasurer which must be filed because of the resignation of Mrs. Pauline McDonald, effective June 1, County Judge James McMorris said this morning.

Lloyd M. Hearn, teacher in the Stanton schools is the only one seeking to fill the unexpired term for the balance of the year, McMorris said.

The Commissioner's Court let it be known that they will now consider applications for an announced candidate for the office in this year's election.

Mrs. McDonald who has been treasurer since Nov. 8, 1951, handed the court her resignation Monday explaining that because of her duties to her family she must resign and she also asked that a complete audit of the records in the treasurer's office be made before her successor qualifies and assumes the duties of the office.

Bama Farmers Say No Slavery

BIRMINGHAM (AP) - Two Alabama farmers denied in testimony yesterday that they held Negroes in slavery on their farms or beat their workers.

Fred and Oscar Dial of Sumter County were placed on the witness stand as the defense closed its testimony in the four-day-old federal peonage trial. Rebuttal testimony and closing arguments follow.

J. W. Boyd, Livingston, testified yesterday he had "heard about" the two men having reputations for whipping their farmhands.

Mrs. Fred Dial, wife of one of the defendants, said her husband struck one worker, but only because the Negro refused to stop cursing in the presence of her and her children.

She denied that her husband hit Cloy Lee Tankersly with part of a plow as was testified.

The government introduced pictures of the body of Hubert (Monk) Thompson, which Associate State Toxicologist Nelson Grubbs said had wounds and bruises on the legs and left thigh.

Federal authorities claimed that Thompson died three days after being beaten, but Grubbs said death in 1951 resulted from pneumonia.

The government charged that the Dials paid fines of Negroes being held on minor charges in Alabama and Mississippi jails and took them to their farms.

W. C. Temple, a Mississippi prison guard, testified that he talked to Thompson while the Negro was a prisoner in Mississippi and Thompson wanted to go

STANTON (SC) - Only one application has been received for the post of Martin County treasurer which must be filed because of the resignation of Mrs. Pauline McDonald, effective June 1, County Judge James McMorris said this morning.

Lloyd M. Hearn, teacher in the Stanton schools is the only one seeking to fill the unexpired term for the balance of the year, McMorris said.

The Commissioner's Court let it be known that they will now consider applications for an announced candidate for the office in this year's election.

Mrs. McDonald who has been treasurer since Nov. 8, 1951, handed the court her resignation Monday explaining that because of her duties to her family she must resign and she also asked that a complete audit of the records in the treasurer's office be made before her successor qualifies and assumes the duties of the office.

It's Like 130-MPH Tornado, Says Shaw

WILBUR SHAW

Would You Like To Enter Race?

(Editors Note: In the following story, Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis Speedway president, tells how it feels to drive in the 500-mile Memorial Day auto race. Shaw has been in the classics 14 times. He has won three times and finished second three times.)

By WILBUR SHAW
Written for AP Newsfeatures
INDIANAPOLIS — If you want to experience the sensation of being in the center of a 130-mile-an-hour tornado, you should trade places with one of the 33 drivers forming the starting lineup for the 38th annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

As the result of your speed in the time trials you've earned the 17th position in the field. All 33 cars have been rolled into position behind the pace car on the main straightaway of the two-and-a-half-mile oval. You're sitting, tensely, behind the wheel of your car in the middle of the sixth row.

The Purdue University band already has played the traditional "Back Home Again in Indiana" and you're so preoccupied with your own problems that you don't even hear the first notes of the National Anthem.

The last notes of "Taps" die away with the breeze and there's a moment of almost complete silence before you climb back into your car.

Your mouth feels as dry as the inside of an oven. Your heart is beating like a trip hammer. You're having difficulty getting your breath.

The only thing you can think about is whether or not your engine will start.

Finally the command: "Gentlemen, start your engines."

The electric starting device begins to whine. At exactly the right second, you hit your ignition switch. The engine roars into life.

The noise is absolutely deafening as all 33 cars join in a tremendous chorus, but it's the sweetest music you ever heard.

The cars immediately ahead of you begin to roll forward and you follow. Even though you know it's necessary to proceed slowly until the entire field is moving in perfect formation, you grumble to yourself at the "snail-like" pace of 40-50 miles-an-hour through the south turn.

You pray that your sparkplugs don't foul up at such slow speed. To minimize this risk you throw out your clutch every few seconds and step on the accelerator.

The pace quickens as you head into the long backstretch, but it still is far from fast enough to meet with your approval. You roll through the North turn at 60-65 miles-an-hour and the eager drivers behind you begin to crowd a little closer.

Proceeding according to specific instructions from AAA officials in charge of the race, the driver in the pace car increases his speed to 80 miles-an-hour as the field reaches the head of the main stretch and roars toward the starting line.

Texas Leaguers Change Sites As Skies Clear

By The Associated Press
Texas League clubs changed playing sites Thursday and with clearing weather in the southwest hoped to get back on a regular playing schedule.

About half of the circuit's schedule has been rained out or postponed by other bad weather in the past week. Only four clubs were able to play Wednesday night.

Fourth-place Oklahoma City split a doubleheader with sixth-place Tulsa. The Indians won their sixth straight, 1-0 in the 10-inning opener and Tulsa took the 10-inning nightcap, 6-2. Beaumont defeated Houston, 4-1, in an eight-inning affair at Houston.

Fert Worth at Dallas was postponed by rain and wet grounds. Shreveport at San Antonio had to be postponed because of light failure in the Mission park.

Pat Tomkinson's single, a sacrifice, an error and a fielder's choice produced the winning run for the Indians in the first game at Oklahoma City. Tom Ackner hurled fourth hit ball for the Oilers before he was relieved in the seventh. Tulsa wasted chance after chance to score as the Indians' Al Papal was in almost continual trouble.

In the nightcap, the Oilers broke loose in the 10th with four runs to break a 2-2 deadlock. Joe Macko and Joe Szekeley hit back-to-back doubles, along with two other hits, two walks and an error for the surge.

The game at Houston was shortened to eight innings as the teams could catch neither. Pinch-hitter Ford Garrison's bases-loaded double led a four-run Shipper blast in the eighth to rout Buff starter Dick Atkinson. Dave Hillman and Vern Kennedy limited Houston to two hits.

The rain-out at Dallas was the third straight for the Eagles and Cats, who managed to play only one game of a scheduled four-game series.

At the last second, you ease off the throttle so that you'll be able to get into the "groove" for the first turn. But nothing happens. You're sure your throttle must be stuck, so you reach for your brakes to check your speed. Still nothing happens.

You're an integral part of a 130-mile-an-hour tornado and there's nothing you can do except pray that you'll get through the first turn safely.

If you've ever stood at the very edge of a pavement on a major highway when a big truck passes at 60 or 65 miles-an-hour, you've felt the tremendous suction created by its passing. The sudden shift of air masses caused by this single moving object almost tears off your clothes.

But everything is happening so fast that you have no time to worry about it. Acting purely from instinct, you're in and out of the turn almost before you realize it. You find the "groove" and begin to feel a little more comfortable as all of your emotions and reactions adjust themselves to the speed you are traveling. After a couple of laps you manage to locate your pit and take notice of what rival drivers are immediately in front or behind you. Within 10 laps, you're able to read the signs on the blackboard used by your pit crew to keep you informed of your progress.

The biggest thrill of the day—for every driver except the ultimate winner—is nothing but a memory. And your chances of being that happy individual who rolls into the Victory Lane about 1:30 p.m. will depend strictly upon your ability as a driver, the performance of your car and the amount of racing luck with which the fates favor you.

Slump-Ridden Big Spring Broncs Head Home Friday

CARLSBAD, N. M. (SC) — Manager Pepper Martin takes his slump-ridden Big Spring Broncs home Friday to open a six-game home stand, with an improved Odesa team forming the opposition for the first two games.

Martin still sought ways to strengthen his lineup after the Steeds had dropped their eighth straight decision here Wednesday night to Carlsbad, 10-2.

FOR LITTLE LEAGUE Four Additional Sponsors Sought

So many more youths want a chance to play Little League baseball that circuit officers are seeking sponsors for at least four additional teams.

Two leagues are already organized and are affiliated with the National organization. The new league, if formed, could not be recognized by the National Headquarters until 1955 but would play a complete schedule.

Legue Praxy Poncho Nall, in issuing the appeal for new sponsors, estimated that it would cost no more than $50 for the season to field a team. He said uniforms, the big item on the expense sheet, would not be needed.

T-shirts would suffice for players in the third league, he emphasized. Outside of that, all the sponsors need furnish are bats and balls for the campaign.

Structure Of NCAA Playoffs Studied

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association came out today with a new baseball plan changing the structure of its "college world series."

It said the plan, which goes into effect this year, will:

- 1. Permit more teams to compete for the national baseball championship.
- 2. Provide a better opportunity to qualify the strongest teams.
- 3. Stimulate interest in conference and tournament play.

Under the old system, eight teams — each representing an NCAA district — competed in a tournament for the national title.

There will be a field of 26 to 30 teams—13 of which will qualify automatically as conference champions. The remaining 13 to 17 will be selected as teams-at-large. A 32-team bracket structure will be set up, with some teams getting byes.

First-round and second-round games will be played at eight different playoff sites. The playoff winners then will compete in a

Youth Hurls Three No-Hit Contests

Washington Place Wins Over Park

A girls' volleyball team representing Washington Place school drubbed a Park Hill contingent, 48-38, in a volleyball game played in the Junior High School Gymnasium Tuesday evening. An estimated 150 persons looked on.

Park Hill was leading until the final three minutes when Washington Place, led by Pat Snyder, staged a furious rally to finish in front. Snyder scored 22 points for the winners. Mary Read had 15 for Park Hill.

The two teams are tentatively scheduled to play again next week.

WASHINGTON PLACE — Melitta Crocker, Pat Snyder, Lorna Phillips, Janis Phillips, Pat Johnson, Lora Lawson and Carol Phillips.

PARK HILL — Mary Read, McDermott Simpson, Jane Cooper, Evangeline Hurst, Paty Russell, Sherron Seals, Annette Gilliland, Jerrilyn McPherson, Lynda Sneed and Kay McGibbon.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

If Osiel Alvarez isn't the best all-around ball player in the Longhorn League, he'll come close to qualifying for that distinction.

The ex-Big Springer, now wearing the livery of Roswell Rockets, can hit and field with the best of them. He is most dangerous on the base paths.

He scored from second base here the other night on a sacrifice fly that wasn't hit very deep. On another occasion, he stole home before an amazed Orlando Perdomo, who was in the process of winding up.

He should be playing in a better class of ball and I rather imagine there are about seven managers in the league who wish he was.

Osis was only a fair starter when he was here two years ago (he hit .289). He upped his average a percentage point last year, the way he's going, he should be over .300 easily this year.

There's nothing to keep him from moving up the baseball ladder. When he is promoted, he'll probably be shifted back to second base, though. That's his true position.

Ed Stevens, who played with Big Spring's great 1941 WT-NM League team, started off suspiciously for Toronto in the International League again this year. The first sacker's two-run homer tipped the scales in the Leafs' favor in their opening game. In last year's first game, big Ed clouted a tenth inning triple that meant victory for Toronto. In 1952, he crashed out two homers to figure largely in a Toronto win in its first game.

Last year, Ed hit .381 for the Leafs and clouted 19 home runs. He had 92 runs batted in, more than any other player on the club.

The Florida International League, which drew 887,213 paid admissions to its games in 1947, is down to four clubs now, after having lost its two biggest cities, Miami and Tampa.

The circuit suffered a near-fatal blow when Havana pulled out to join the AAA International League. Havana drew 264,000 cash customers in '47, when the Florida International was a C circuit but boasted players of AA and A caliber.

A single by Gus Ungo of Greenville kept Knoxville's Irv Benton from turning in a no-hit performance in the Tri-State League recently. Ungo is the former Big Spring first baseman. Ungo hit safely in the seventh inning.

Jimmy Adair, Artesia's new skipper, has formerly served managerial tenures at San Antonio and Dallas in the Texas League, Springfield, Ill.; Elmira, N. Y.; and Greenville, Texas.

Those who have seen him work say Julio Ramos, the one-time Big Spring mound ace, is having his troubles this year because his pitches don't have as much zip as they used to.

Ramos, who is now with Sweetwater, still holds the league's strike-out record, having fanned 296 while here back in 1948.

Incidentally, Sweetwater played to about 750 paying customers in its first game, after the club was transferred from Wichita Falls.

With Problem Of Expansion At Hand, SWC Body Meets

WACO (AP)—The competitive part of the Southwest Conference spring meet opened today as the golf and tennis players started after individual championships. The tracksters swung into action tomorrow.

Major interest, however, hinges on what the conference officials will do about the perennial question of expansion—whether Texas Tech, Oklahoma and University of Houston will be invited to become members.

The faculty committee, governing body of the conference, opens its sessions tomorrow afternoon and will announce its decisions Saturday morning. University of Texas is submitting Texas Tech first, then Tech and Oklahoma together, while Baylor is expected to bring up University of Houston.

Oklahoma and Texas Tech were voted upon last spring at Fort Worth and lacked the five votes necessary to get into the conference. Since then Oklahoma hasn't indicated it wants in the league but Texas Tech does and is hopeful that it will make it this time after years of trying.

University officials have expressed optimism that the Houston school will get in.

Only Texas and Texas Christian have indicated how they will vote on Texas Tech, both being for the West Texas school.

Athletic directors and football coaches will meet tonight and tomorrow morning will be joined by the business managers of athletics. These sessions will bring recommendations to the faculty committee in athletic matters.

London Team Wins At Preston Hollow

DALLAS (AP)—Hobart Jameson of Denton drove in a 12-foot putt on the 18th green here last night to win team honors in the Preston Hollow Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament.

Jameson's last putt was with the aid of a flashlight.

It enabled pro Jack London to take down $130 and led the two amateurs win $60 in merchandise.

Jameson has a Sander-par 61. London was even par, and Amateur Larry Hickey of Preston Hollow, a 13-handicap player, shaved seven conference schools in the tournament that opened today while there were 22 tennis players from six schools—Arkansas has no entries. Golf has no defending champion but John Hernandez of Texas, the singles king, and Hernandez and Tommy Springer of Texas, doubles champions, are in the tennis field.

Burdette, a new front line member of the Milwaukee mound staff, moved down from the Brooklyn Dodgers on one hit yesterday for a 5-1 victory. Johnson gave up only two hits in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 1-0 verdict over Boston.

But a quick survey of the deals that sent these young men to their present employers strongly indicates the Yankees had no generous share-the-wealth ideas. In fact, it's doubtful the New Yorkers had any notion these pitchers would stick in the majors, much less blossom into stars.

For example, Johnson, who had been relegated to the minors after a 4-3 season with New York in 1947, was lumped together with Duane Pillette (now with Baltimore), Jim Deland (now with Detroit), George Stinchesel and $50,000 in a 1950 deal with the St. Louis Browns that brought pitchers Joe Ostrowski and Tom Ferrick and infielder Leo Thomas to the Yanks.

The New York Yankees had some fresh ammunition today to use against the critics who have blasted them for hoarding talent during their pennant rampages of the past five seasons.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

While I was writing about atoms, I said that certain by-products of atomic bombs are used to locate flaws in steel. That is true, but the use is limited. Most of the "atomic money" is being spent to build and explode bombs. People wonder when atomic work will be turned entirely to things which help, instead of hurting, mankind.

At the present time, X-rays are used far more widely than atomic rays to locate flaws in steel. Other metals also go through studies with X-rays.

For 50 years, X-rays have been known. In past years, more than at present, they were called Roentgen rays. That was done in honor of the German scientist who brought them to public notice.

Shadow pictures are made with X-rays. Soon after their discovery, the rays were sent through human bodies. They passed through the flesh quickly, but were stopped by the bones. The bones left shadows. A shadow picture of a living man suggested a skeleton. In the past, I have spoken about X-rays in medicine, but their use in industry also is of high importance. Less than a year after Roentgen announced his discovery, a professor at Yale used the rays to locate a crack in a thin piece of metal which had been welded to another piece of metal. Thirty years later, X-rays were employed to show flaws in steel to a depth of five inches. Today it is possible to pierce much thicker steel than that.

Millions of pounds of shelled peanuts are sold each year. If little pebbles were mixed by accident with the peanuts, anyone who chewed them would be in danger of breaking his teeth. Long before X-rays came into common use, companies which packaged shelled peanuts took steps to guard against such trouble. It is possible, however, for sharp eyes to miss hard objects in a tray of peanuts. Thanks to X-rays, we now have better methods of guarding against hard objects being mixed with peanuts which are sold.

Tomorrow: More About X-Rays.

Dewey Stirs Up Tempest With Attack On Coffee

By RAY KOHN

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's assertion that people should switch from coffee to milk has South American diplomats boiling. They even hint of "hemispheric solidarity" may go pot.

The governor, who has his own dairy farm at Pawling, N. Y., strayed into the "cow vs. coffee bean" pasture in an innocent enough way.

New York's cows have delivered an excess of 165 million quarts up to last March.

So, said Dewey, if all citizens drank a glass of milk a day the surplus would fade away. State dairy officials applauded the idea.

"Switch to milk," Dewey urged, adding it's "healthier, cheaper and more plentiful" than coffee.

Coffee officials and Latin Americans immediately considered this grounds for complaint.

Amarillo-Canyon Expressway Vote Too Low In Randall

AMARILLO (AP)—The fate of a proposed 12 to 15 million dollar expressway from Canyon to the heart of downtown Amarillo is in doubt.

The city of Amarillo and the counties of Potter and Randall were to purchase right of way for the project, and the state was to build it.

The city of Amarillo approved the bond issue for the project in an election Tuesday. But it failed to get the necessary two-thirds vote in Randall County.

It was not put to a vote in Potter County because the county planned to finance its part from available county funds.

The project needed a two-thirds vote in Randall County because the county would have to exceed the statutory limitations on bond issues to participate. The project had a 2,119,154 approval, three some 56 per cent, but short of the two-thirds necessary.

Swiss, Swede Truce Policers Blast Commies

MUNSAN (U.S.)—Swiss and Swedish members of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission today accused the Communist Czech and Polish members of blocking "satisfactory" policing of Red-held North Korea.

In a letter to the U.N. Command, the Swiss and Swedes said they "decline any responsibility for the state of affairs resulting from the noncooperation of Czechoslovak and Polish colleagues."

The letter answered one from the U.N. Command accusing the Reds of preventing investigation of U.N. charges that the Reds are violating the Korean armistice by bringing men and equipment into North Korea.

Under terms of the truce each side may replace, but not build up, men and supplies in Korea.

The four-nation supervisory commission is charged with policing the rotation of soldiers and war material into both North and South Korea.

The letter to the U.N. Command was signed by Swedish Maj. Gen. Paul Mohr and Swiss Brig. Gen. Ernst Grigg.

The two neutrals called for a new look by the Military Armistice Commission at the "whole problem of supervision and especially of investigations concerning alleged violations of the armistice agreement."

"Under the present circumstances," the two neutrals declared, "the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission will not be in a position to operate as was probably intended by the signatories of the armistice agreement."

The letter said inspection teams in Communist territory have been unable to operate efficiently "owing to the restrictive practices imposed on the activities of the teams by their Czechoslovak and Polish members."

Held In Slaying

TERRANCE De Moss, 15, who Police Lt. Edward Jacques said confessed the beating and slaying of four-year-old Marion Jo Zobrovitz is shown in custody in Detroit, Mich. The youngster's body was found by three playmates in the garage behind her home, her body torn and bleeding. She died in a hospital while doctors fought to save her life. (AP Wirephoto).

Mossadegh Term Upheld On Appeal

TEHRAN, Iran (U.S.)—Ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, his three-year solitary confinement sentence confirmed by an army appeals court, says he will take his case to Iran's highest court.

The appeals court voted 6-1 last night to uphold the sentence imposed by a military tribunal. Mossadegh was convicted Dec. 21 of seeking to overthrow Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi last August.

The ex-dictator was thrown out a short time later by the loyalist forces of Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi, who took over as premier. Mossadegh said he would appeal the Shah's order that he would appeal the case from the military to the civilian courts.

The appeals court also increased the prison sentence of Mossadegh's former army chief of staff, Gen. Taghi Riahi, from two to three years. Riahi was convicted of ordering the army to defy the Shah's order that Mossadegh quit.

Melchior Victims Of Chicago Thieves

CHICAGO (U.S.)—Two dozen foreign decorations awarded to opera singer Lauritz Melchior were stolen, along with jewelry, from an auto yesterday.

Police estimated the loss at $4,000. But the thieves who broke into the car and stole the leather case containing the medals and jewelry did not disturb cases containing jewelry and clothing valued at $25,000, which were locked in the car's trunk.

Melchior and his wife, Maria, were traveling with friends and the auto containing their luggage had been loaded for a trip to Midway Airport.

Desperate, Cornered Gun Duo Kills Selves

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (U.S.)—Two desperate gunmen committed suicide yesterday when they were cornered by police who sought them for critically wounding a detective in a movie theater.

Police Chief Howard O. Young said one of the fugitives, James Pollard, 26, of Stonington shot himself in the head as Young closed in on him in an apartment house attic.

Police said the other gunman, Clarence Rydstrom, 21, of Waterbury, shot himself to death in a taxicab an hour later as police surrounded him with drawn guns.

Shot in a downtown movie was Detective Ralph Palma, 30. He was felled by two bullets in the chest as he wrestled with the pair.

Pollard and Rydstrom had been hunted all over the city's center yesterday in connection with a holdup Monday in Middletown, where two bandits tied two women and escaped with $1,000 in cash, jewelry and bonds.

Palma, two other detectives and several state troopers went to the movie theater on a tip the fugitives were here.

Palma went into the seats and there was a scuffle. Suddenly two shots blazed and many of the 300 patrons dived under their seats.

The state troopers and other detectives said they held their fire lest stray bullets hit the patrons.

The fugitives escaped, but a short time later Pollard was trapped in the apartment house a few blocks from the theater. Rydstrom, meanwhile, had sought a cab.

Hundreds of police and thousands of spectators gathered outside the house. A squad of patrolmen fired tear gas bombs into the apartment, shouting to Pollard over loud speakers to come out. But there was only silence from the inside.

Chief Young stripped off his jacket and put on a gas mask and went in. He searched every room and was climbing the attic stairs when he spotted Pollard.

He yelled for Pollard to come out and then heard a shot. It was the shot, apparently, that went through Pollard's temple. But Young said he fired anyway to be sure Pollard wasn't firing at him.

This was 4:40 p.m. An hour later a taxicab company dispatcher telephoned police and said "Cab 23" appeared to be in trouble.

Police put out a citywide pickup for the cab. It was spotted near an intersection about a mile away from the apartment house.

The cabbie, John Casapullo, 28, said that when Rydstrom saw the police cars he reached for his gun. Casapullo said he stepped on the brakes and jumped out. The cab rolled into a parked car.

Police said Rydstrom put the revolver to his head and fired as they converged on the cab.

Chennault Would Have Used Atomic Bomb At Fortress

NEW YORK (U.S.)—Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault (ret.) says he would have used the atom bomb in defense of Dien Bien Phu, the French Indochina fortress which fell last week to the Communists.

Chennault, leader of an American volunteer group, told newsmen yesterday the United States could have intervened in Indochina "with adequate air support" but not foot soldiers.

"If it had been up to me, I would have used the atom bomb," he said, adding: "I do not think this would have precipitated World War III. I don't see how anyone could attack us for attacking an aggressor."

Chennault and his Chinese wife, Anna, are here from New Orleans to attend the annual "Flying Tigers" reunion this weekend.

Abandoned School Bus Proves Worry

WENATCHEE, Wash. (U.S.)—Anyone been missing a school bus for a couple weeks? Are 38 kids walking to school somewhere for lack of transportation?

If so, there is a new bus parked at Pangborn Field near here. It has been there ever since the driver parked the vehicle and boarded a plane for Seattle three weeks ago.

West Coast airline officials said the driver bought a round-trip ticket and they presumed he would come back. He didn't.

Incurable Disease Doesn't Alter Life

OMAHA (U.S.)—When the Rev. Daniel J. Lord, S. J., of St. Louis was told he had incurable cancer of the lungs, it didn't affect his way of life in the least.

Here for a religious forum, he said, "I'm happy about having a little warning. God was very good to let me know. It makes life more beautiful and it takes the edge off death."

Father Lord, a lecturer, author and youth leader, when asked if the cancer warning had affected his way of life, replied, "not in the least. I keep busy with my work. And who knows? I may die by tripping over a rug."

Special Services Set At Primitive Baptist

North Carolina's Senator Hoey, Old Style Gentleman, Succumbs

By LEWIS GULICK
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina, an "old school" Southern gentleman who spent a lifetime in newspapering, law and politics, died yesterday. He was 78.

Distinguished by a courtly manner, flowing white hair and frock coat, he had served in the Senate since 1945 after a term as governor of his state. He was probably best known for his chairmanship of the subcommittee which investigated the 5 percent scandals in the Truman administration.

Hoey was the fifth senator to die in this Congress. One of the five, Sen. Willis Smith, was also a North Carolina Democrat.

The Senate lineup now stands at 47 Democrats, 47 Republicans and 1 Independent. A Democrat will doubtless be named to fill Hoey's place.

Dr. George W. Calver, physician to Congress, said Hoey apparently suffered a stroke and died in his sleep yesterday afternoon. He was found seated at his office desk, not long after he had attended a lengthy committee session.

"He went the way he wished," said an aide, who recalled the senator saying that when he died he hoped it would come suddenly and while he was active.

William B. Umstead, North Carolina's Democratic governor, will name Hoey's successor. Unofficial speculation centered on Gregg Cherry of Gastonia, a former governor, and Carlisle Higgins of Winston-Salem, a Democratic national committeeman. Umstead himself had no comment.

Tall, slightly stoop-shouldered and sharp-featured, Hoey was a picture on Capitol Hill of the legislator of bygone years. He had glowing white hair and a courtly manner. He wore a frock coat, high-topped shoes, a high collar

Two Snyder Men Hurt In Mishap

Two Snyder men were injured, apparently not seriously, when their car and a pickup truck were in collision on the Snyder Highway about eight miles from Big Spring Wednesday afternoon.

O. J. Turnbow Jr. and Ray C. Smith were brought to Malone & Hogan Hospital in Big Spring for treatment. Turnbow was not hospitalized.

Smith suffered chest injuries, cuts and abrasions. Turnbow received a cut on his face and other minor injuries.

Highway Patrol officers said the car Smith was driving collided with a Caprock Electric Co-op truck at the intersection of the Snyder Highway and a county road. The truck started to turn left off the highway as the car prepared to pass. Both vehicles were going toward Snyder.

Driver of the truck was Robert Edward Lee, Stanton, the officers said. Neither he nor passengers, Gus Jenkins, was injured. Smith and Turnbow were brought to the hospital in an Eberley-River ambulance.

C-City Lake At New High

COLORADO CITY — Lake Colorado City rose to a record high Wednesday when it was gauged at 3 p.m. at 2065.65 feet above sea level. The previous high, in the Texas Electric Lake was Sept. 21, 1950 when the lake measured 2065.23.

Estimates placed the water in the lake at more than 8 billions of gallons with the crest slightly more than 4 feet from the spillway. The spillway is set at 2070 FASL.

The catch was 7.3 feet of water, resulting from rains on the Morgan Creek watershed in the Westbrook-Coshoma vicinity.

and old-fashioned ties. He sported a fresh carnation in his lapel every day.

Born at Shelby, N.C., Dec. 11, 1877, he set out in the business world at age 12 as a printer's assistant. Four years later he bought a county paper, which he edited and published for the next 14 years.

Meanwhile, he studied law and began his way up in politics. He won election to the State House of Representatives in 1898, to the State Senate in 1902, was appointed an assistant U.S. attorney in 1913. In 1920 he served briefly in the U.S. House of Representatives. Then he returned to law practice for 18 years, served as governor from 1937 to 1941 and then came to the U.S. Senate, where he remained until his death.

He will be buried at Shelby Saturday afternoon.

Miller Convicted; Gets Two Years

Juan Miller was found guilty by a jury in 118th District Court Wednesday afternoon on charges of assault with intent to murder.

The jury assessed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary.

Miller was charged in connection with the shooting of Victor Yanez at the Central Cafe on Feb. 27. Yanez was struck in the abdomen by a bullet and was hospitalized for 20 days.

The jury was out approximately an hour before reporting its verdict.

It was the third conviction in 118th District Court this week. Earlier, Thomas Ray Taylor and Donald Eugene Robinson were found guilty on burglary charges and each was assessed 15 years in the penitentiary.

Truman Hits Administration For 'Creeping McKinleyism'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Former President Truman accused the Eisenhower administration today of following an economic policy of "creeping McKinleyism." He suggested six steps he said would "carry us far toward full employment within a year."

Truman did not explain the phrase "creeping McKinleyism," an obvious parallel to the words "creeping socialism" which President Eisenhower has applied to some "Fair Deal" measures.

President McKinley was notably conservative on economic issues, and his name is often used by Democratic orators as a symbol for reaction.

In an address prepared for the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers annual convention, he said the administration seems to be "merely hoping and praying that things will not get still worse," and recommended:

1. Increasing federal spending by about three billion dollars a year to strengthen defenses against aggression and to meet needs for power and resource development, public works and roads, education, health and housing.

2. Raising personal income tax exemptions from the present $600 to $800, which would cut taxes about 4 1/2 billions yearly, or combining some such increase with "equitable readjustments" in tax rates.

3. Tossing "out of the nearest window" Secretary of Agriculture Benson's plan for flexible farm price supports and substituting a program to "support true parity" of income for the farmer.

4. A "clean-cut policy" favoring a rising level of wages, including an increase in the federally required minimum wage to bring the standard "into line with present-day conditions." He said also the government should not try to "weaken collective bargaining by repressive labor legislation."

5. Expansion of unemployment insurance to provide broader coverage, payments for a longer period, and larger benefits. He said the administration program consists merely of exhorting the states to do what everybody knows they will not do without federal action.

6. An expanded housing program, including federal leadership to double the annual rate of home building as rapidly as possible. He said the administration goal of a million houses a year is about equal to the number of houses built in 1925.

"The Republican orators told us in 1953," the former President said, "that they were going to cure the world situation, and achieve peace, and slash defense. They said they were going to give us real peacetime prosperity. 'Well, they haven't been very successful at it."

"The world situation is just as critical and dangerous as it ever was, if not more so. Obviously, a change of administration here does not change the problems of Asia and Europe or the minds of men in the Kremlin."

"And instead of having peacetime prosperity, the Republicans have given us a recession."

Truman said this "economic recession" is still here, has already been too big and lasted too long, and that it is time to do something about it, lest this country runs into a "real depression."

New Irrigation Wells Increase Dawson's Crop Land Potential

LAMESA — Private industry by Dawson county farmers has brought an estimated two million dollar "extra" to county income. Working with the farmers have been contractors, extension service personnel, and Soil Conservation Service men.

County Agent Lee Roy Colgan said that on May 1 the county had 207 irrigation wells. Five years ago, in 1949, there were nine in the county.

The 207 irrigation wells have put 15,000 acres under full irrigation from dry land farming. Another 15,000 acres can be pre-watered, before planting, to give 30,000 acres of irrigated land to the county. Colgan said that on dryland farming this 30,000 acres would have produced an average of 8,000 bales of cotton per year.

With full and pre-irrigation, he believes the land will average producing 21,000 bales. Colgan said his estimate was conservative. This means 13,000 extra bales of cotton, plus around 2,000 head of cattle or hogs, he said. At current prices, the irrigated land should bring a gross income of $2,000,000 over and above what can be made on dry land. He stressed that this was the gross income, before expenses.

Colgan said the real value of the irrigated acres lies in this: Over the past years, cotton crops have ranged from 40,000 bales on a poor crop to 70,000 bales for a good crop. (This excludes the drought years, and the years of failure when under 40,000 bales were produced.) The extra 13,000 bales from irrigated lands, and due to irrigation, show up as "plus-figures" on the normal cotton prospects, he pointed out.

Thus, when added to a "poor" year of 40,000 bales, it means a cotton crop of 53,000 bales, well into the medium, or normal crop total. Added to a "good" crop of 70,000 bales, the irrigated cotton's extra 13,000 bales throw Dawson's total production up $3,000—a bumper crop.

Translated into terms of money, Colgan figures the increased yield from the irrigated acres is worth $2,050,000 on the current market.

Translated into people, Colgan said it meant living for about 200 families actually on farms in the county. Extra cotton will mean extra operating time for gins, above what they would operate without the irrigated cotton. Cotton pickers will have to work longer in Dawson County to harvest a crop, or enough extra cotton pickers will have to come here to gather the increased yield from irrigation.

Suppliers of parts, equipment, well service, and fuel are affected also by the presence of the wells.

"Most of the irrigation wells are in a line from Welch to Lamesa on the east side of Sulphur Draw and north of Lamesa," Colgan said. And wells are also on a line east in the general direction to Key, he outlined. Fifteen to 20 wells are south of Lamesa on the Stanton Highway.

They range in size of output from 40 gallons per minute up to 1,500 gallons. Most wells are in the 300 to 700 gallons per minute bracket, he said.

"Intensified irrigation also brings a need for more intensified conservation of water and soil problem to those acres under irrigation," he stated.

"Every few years, we should use soil building plants such as Madrigal clover, Hubam clover, Austrian Winter peas, alfalfa, or even the more common cowpea," it was pointed out. Colgan advised also the use of cotton burrs and barnyard manure to the extent that they are available.

"All these go to maintaining a high production and productive soil under irrigation," he said. Mechanical means of holding production high on irrigation farms are chiseling and plowing deep to break the "plow sole" or "plow pan"; terraces are advisable for farms where the water is put on the land from sprinklers.

Any waste of irrigation water is a poor conservation practice, Colgan concluded, because it is a waste of a natural resource, and a waste of money to the man who is paying the pumping costs.

Insurance Firms Urged To Clean Their Own Ranks

AUSTIN (U)—Insurance men have been urged by Lieut. Gov. Ben Ramsey to help clean "parasite" companies out of their ranks.

As acting governor, Ramsey proposed in a prepared statement yesterday that they suggest changes in insurance laws needed to put an end to concerns which "feed off Texas policy holders."

Ramsey said recent court proceedings have pointed up "glaring necessities" for such changes.

He said undue criticism had also been reflected upon officials and agents of reputable insurance companies.

Suggested changes in the law, Ramsey said, should go to the Texas Legislative Council, research arm of the Legislature, which was directed by the last session of the Legislature to study cause of certain insurance failures.

The acting governor said that last year and so far this year two Loyds, one mutual and four stock fire and casualty companies were placed in receivership.

"Loss to the policy holders could be measured in the hundreds of thousands of dollars," he said.

Radio-Active Dust Given Rain Credit

DALLAS (U)—A Dallas oil and uranium hunter gives credit for the recent heavy rains to "radio-active fall-out seeding the clouds at the right time."

Thomas R. Shugart, physicist and president of Research Inc. of Dallas, said that his company's crews in both Utah and East Texas reported yesterday "they had to quit work because radio-active dust in the atmosphere was affecting their sensitive instruments."

The Dallas physicist said his company searches for both oil and uranium. "We haven't found any in Texas yet, but we did in Utah and that's what our crews are working on now."

Shugart's theory about recent heavy rains is that the microscopic radio-active dust has "acted as a cloud seeder, ionizing the atmosphere and making it possible for a great many raindrops to condense out of the clouds."

A recent atomic explosion "some place" sent the dust just in time to meet a Texas low-pressure area, he believes.

"It probably would have rained anyway—but not nearly so heavy," stated Shugart.

Sewell Is Convicted

DALLAS (U)—In a one-day trial here Tuesday, James Blaine Sewell, 40, was convicted on a charge of embezzling $34,000 from the Texas Bank and Trust Co. of Dallas last Feb. 4. He was given a five-year sentence in federal prison. Sewell was arrested March 16 in Butte, Mont.

News From Webb Air Force Base
By JAMES F. KRUEGER

WEBB SET FOR "BIG DAY"

An Armed Forces Day so big it needs two mottos "Power for Peace" and "Be Our Guest." That, very briefly, outlines the hugeness of all Webb's planning for a gigantic Armed Forces Day celebration here Saturday.

Final plans were cemented in a meeting of Maj. W. C. Whalin, project officer, with his committee chairman and Wing Commander Col. Fred M. Dean last week. Everything from fly-overs of Air Force aircraft, static displays from civic, industrial and military organizations, a thrilling air show and Armed Forces Day Balls in all Webb social clubs, have been planned for.

The base is expecting to host a crowd of over 20,000 civilians in the West Texas area.

POOL TO OPEN

Webb's recently-completed swimming pool will open in unique ceremonies at the base Friday afternoon.

According to present plans, the pool will be filled with all varieties of flowers, and approximately 30 "bathing beauties" will be on hand. All Webb airmen will attend the ceremonies.

Wing Commander Col. Fred M. Dean will address Webb personnel on current building programs at the base, and will also outline plans for Armed Forces Day here.

The pool operates under the Personnel Services Section.

WEBB BIRTHDAY

In celebrating Armed Forces Day, Webb AFB is also celebrating the anniversary of its formal dedication. While official reactivation date of the pilot training base is October 1, 1953, the Wing wasn't dedicated until Armed Forces Day (May 18) 1953 when it was renamed Webb Air Force Base.

Squadron at Webb, has been graduated from the Air University's Maintenance Officers Course which he took through extension course lessons. Sgt. Buick now outsells all other cars in its price class and above

You've probably noticed it right in your own neighborhood. Bright new Buicks appearing here, there, everywhere. And more and more of them in recent weeks. Know what's happening? Folks in growing numbers—(and maybe you'll be joining them soon!)—are finding Buick styling, performance and value far too wonderful to pass up. So Buick is selling at a record pace—outselling all other cars in its price class and above. Matter of fact, latest figures for the first quarter of 1954 show that, in total national volume, Buick is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price threes."

A look and a ride and a peek at the price tag will be all you'll need to know what's back of this best-selling success. There's styling in Buick that's the greatest beauty advance in years—the very look of tomorrow—and with the spectacular panoramic windshield that's part and parcel of this dream-car look. There's performance in Buick as never before—with record-high V8 power, with the sensationally smooth whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo, with the buoyant ride of all-coil-springing, with a new precision of control and handling. And there's value in Buick that's hard to match—with prices starting near the "low-price three"—prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before. How about you?

MRS. H. W. SMITH
... the spinning wheel was made for her grandmother over 100 years ago.

No Baking Necessary For This Cherry Pie

It's surprising what you can learn at bridge parties. A number of years ago Mrs. H. W. Smith learned a terrific recipe at a bridge club. It's been the favorite of her daughters ever since.

Perfect for hot weather, it is an ice box pie that requires no cooking at all and no sweat off your brow.

The daughters who go for the pie are Jo Ann, a student at North Texas State College and Nancy, a high school junior. Mrs. Smith has a son, Clem, who works in Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Smith is president of the 1948 Hyperion but she says most of her outside activities are curtailed because she helps her husband at his office.

She is most proud of the over 100-year-old spinning wheel made by her grandmother, Joseph Rinn, for her grandmother. She also has a fascinating old music box that shares the place of honor with her spinning wheel. In the recipe that follows Mrs. Smith doesn't always use pecans, because one member of the family doesn't like them. "My family isn't hard to please," she says, "they just like different things."

PECAN-CHERRY PIE

Ingredients:
1 No. 1 1/4 or No. 2 can red cherries
1 cup pecans (optional)
1 cup condensed milk
1/2 pint whipped cream
Juice of two lemons

Method:
Drain cherries. Add pecans and condensed milk. Mix these ingredients well, then add whipped cream and lemon juice. This is enough for two pies. They may be served immediately or placed in the refrigerator and served two days later at the most. A regular pie crust can be used or the easy-to-fix vanilla wafer crust.

Add Croutons To Tart Caesar Salad

1/4 cup olive oil
1 clove garlic
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

1/4 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon Accent
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 raw egg
2 tablespoons Roquefort or blue cheese, crumbled

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly with a fork or shake vigorously in a covered jar. Makes about 1 cup of dressing. Remove garlic clove before serving and pour over salad greens and croutons and toss until well coated. Salad ingredients may be all greens, perhaps romaine alone, or mixed greens such as romaine, lettuce, escarole, endive or whatever combination happens to please you. You may add radishes, tomatoes, cucumber slices and green onions. Serve immediately.

CROUTONS
Pour olive oil in a skillet and add minced garlic. Add bread cubes (as many as you like) and saute until golden brown. Be sure heat isn't too high or they'll burn. Remove from the fire and sprinkle cubes generously with Parmesan cheese.

Liver And Onions

Brown liver in hot fat in skillet after coating it with flour. When brown on both sides, remove the liver and put sliced onions, as many as you want, into skillet with the same hot fat. (Remember onions cook up to about half the amount that you have when raw.) Let them cook over medium heat until they are slightly transparent. Remove onions from skillet, mix with liver, then put back into skillet and add enough water to come up over the liver. Cook, with top on, until liver is done and onions are all cooked down with the liver and gravy. This last cooking should take about 30 minutes.

Make Zesty Ham Mousse

Horseshradish and dry mustard add zestiness to this ham mousse.
HAM MOUSSE
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1/2 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1/2 teaspoon brown sugar
Speck cayenne
2 cups ground cooked ham
1 cup cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in boiling water. Chill until partially thickened. Mix remaining ingredients except cream together. Add gelatin, and mix lightly. Fold in cream. Turn into a mold and chill until firm. Unmold, garnish with crisp salad greens, pickles, and radishes, and serve.

Cheese Is Nutritious

Cheese and eggs are rich sources of animal protein — essential for building and repair of tissue. A serving of cheese in the diet furnished almost as much calcium as a glass of milk.

Colorado Pan San

Make your own favorite recipe for griddle cakes or use a mix. As each feathery light pancake comes off the griddle, spread it with a tart jelly. The piping hot pancake warms jelly just enough to bring out flavor and good taste. Cover the jelly filling with spiced cooked pork sausage meat crumbled in small pieces and top with another pancake in preparation for this real Western Colorado Pan San. Finishing touch is pat of butter and generous helping of maple syrup. Good treat for luncheons as well as breakfast or supper.

Cookies Form Basis Of Refrigerator Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
This refrigerator dessert is glamorous looking but it's homey, too. For it is all tricked out with Oatmeal Ginger Cookies that are crisp, spicy and full of old-fashioned flavor.

We made this dessert after lunch one day; by dinnertime its cream filling was set, the cookies still crisp.

You won't use all the Oatmeal Ginger Cookies you chill until custard refrigerator dessert, so put them in a tightly covered container and they'll stay crunchy.

REFRIGERATOR GINGER DESSERT
Ingredients:
2 envelopes gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons ginger
2 eggs (separated)
1 cup cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar
Oatmeal Ginger Cookies

Method:
Sprinkle gelatin over water to soften. Heat milk, 1/2 cup sugar, salt and ginger in double boiler over simmering water. Beat egg yolks well; stir in a little of the hot milk mixture into the beaten egg yolks; return to milk mixture, stirring constantly. Cook and stir constantly over simmering water until thickened. (Make sure water in lower part of double-boiler does not touch bottom of upper part of double boiler.) Remove from heat and stir in softened gelatin until dissolved. Chill until custard starts to set; beat with rotary beater until smooth. Whip cream and fold into custard with vanilla. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until foamy; beat in 1/2 cup sugar, a tablespoon at a time, until stiff and glossy; fold into whipped cream and custard mixture. Place large oatmeal ginger cookie on bottom of a 7-inch spring form pan (1 1/2 quart capacity). Line sides of spring form pan with some of the rectangular cookies facing topside of cookies toward outside. Pour custard mixture into pan. Crush a few extra cookies and sprinkle crumbs over top of dessert. Refrigerate until set — four hours or longer.

OATMEAL GINGER COOKIES
Ingredients:
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup shortening (soft)

"The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul." — Ps. 19:7. God wants to turn us round, to forget that we are brothers of the breast, and remember that we lack little of being divine.

Recipe For Custom-Made High Temperatures Was Hickory Tea

A clinical thermometer is a handy thing to have around, but all too often it becomes a tyrant in the household. Every time little Bono becomes flushed with over-exercise, or slightly off his food, mama applies the thermometer, discovers the pointer has moved upward from that more or less arbitrary 98.6 degrees, and proceeds to call the family doctor from his golf game—or quite possibly from the bedside of some really sick patient. At Oklahoma City this week 500 doctors heard Dr. Fred M. Taylor, a Houston pediatrician, explain that lots of things can bring junior's temperature to a boil, not just bugs. "Some child," he said, "may be having trouble getting along with his teacher or playmates. This emotional upset may cause his temperature to rise. Psychiatrists refer to this as school fever."

temperature should be stuck at that little red arrow. It is normal to vary. A child may go for weeks or months with an afternoon elevation of temperature. Sure it is up. But that's the way you keep warm — by exercise. Let the child rest 30 to 45 minutes and then take his temperature. That "school fever" thing sort of threw us. As a child we had no great difficulty adjusting ourselves to all sorts of people and situations, with one notable exception. We disliked work; yea, more, we hated it. So we learned to malingering. We hoped for rain when rain wasn't needed, so we could get out of hoeing in the fields and go hunting. Pinned down with a stern parental injunction to get in the firewood of a Saturday afternoon because tomorrow was Sunday and only essential chores, like feeding the stock and milking the cows could be performed on the Sabbath, we developed all sorts of aches and pains, might even run a slight temperature. Our parents had an infallible remedy for these ills: hickory tea, liberally laid on. It always worked.

Gifts, While Appreciated, Should Be Accepted As Well As Given

The other night the school board came to grips with a ticklish problem, not a weighty one at all, but one which points up the possibility of confusion if not handled properly. These gentlemen were presented more or less with an accomplished fact in conjunction with an offer of a P-TA to make certain beautification of a school ground. Earlier the board had specified planting a certain distance from the fence for maintenance and safety reasons. The ditch however was dug much closer. What to do? Refuse to take care of the expense and thus slap the wrist of those who wanted to help? Pay the bill and open the way to loss of control over school properties? Well, the board paid the check but sounded a warning that in the future board sanction would be a requisite. This is good, sound, policy and perhaps might be more clearly enunciated. The gifts of friends of the school are sincerely appreciated. Over the years they have run into thousands of dollars. Tremendous good has been accomplished through them. Yet, the school district must maintain its properties whether acquired by its own funds or through gifts. Not infrequently, maintenance is ultimately far more expensive than the equipment or property itself. Hence, it is vital that certain standards be conformed to and that acquisition of all things be subject to uniform control. Thus, there would be little occasion for confusion if official acceptance were considered necessary. That it would be forthcoming with earnest thanks in virtually all cases is certain. Those few exceptions would be where the practice would prove its real merit.

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippmann Navarre Plan Placed Too Much Confidence In The Viet Namese

Although there could hardly be a worse moment than this to make a re-appraisal of the position and prospects in Southeast Asia, there are a few fundamentals which must be taken into account before we can form a new policy. What, first of all, went wrong with the old policy? It was something unexpected—something that developed after the Berlin conference adjourned on Feb. 18, and was not in fact realized in Washington until about a month later when Gen. Ely arrived from Indochina. Then a crisis, unforeseen at Berlin, was produced by the news that the so-called Navarre plan for victory in Indochina was not going to succeed.

lacking manpower—unless the Chinese intervened directly. This basic hypothesis of the French strategists accounts also for the miscalculation which produced the tragedy—the glory but the tragedy—of Dien Bien Phu. We come now to the question of what went wrong with the Navarre plan, on which the French and we were basing our policy. Two things went wrong with it. One was that the French intelligence estimate proved to be wrong about the strength of the Viet Minh army—and its equipment especially in artillery and anti-aircraft guns.

What was the Navarre plan and what went wrong with it? There is available a description of it in the March issue of the French magazine "Realities." The article is by Mr. Raymond Aroon, who is a highly informed and responsible journalist. The article is particularly interesting because it must have been written before the Berlin conference adjourned. "It is likely," wrote Mr. Aroon, "that during the current year the balance of strength will alter in favor of France and Viet Nam. At least, this will be true if the basic hypothesis of the French strategists continues to hold good. Their hypothesis is that the Viet Minh Army, which has not increased in size for two years, is limited not by lack of weapons but by lack of manpower. If the Viet Minh were in a position to create new divisions as fast as they could arm them, Russia and China could counter American aid by sending in a few hundred more light machine-guns, trucks, and mortars each month. If, however the Viet Minh had trained men, especially officers and non-commissioned officers, China cannot make up for their deficiencies without direct intervention entailing unforeseeable risks."

The other thing that went wrong with it was that the military value of the Viet Namese battalions had been greatly overrated—both their political reliability and their will to fight. Because of the censorship we do not know the whole of that story, including the whole story of Dien Bien Phu, and we have not seen the end of the story in the Red River Delta. What our people are entitled to know is that the crisis which developed so suddenly in March after Gen. Ely and Mr. Pleven had been in Indochina turned primarily on the realization that the Viet Namese army and the Bao Dai government were weaker in a military sense, and less reliable in a political sense, than the existing policy assumed. The battle of Dien Bien Phu, had as it was in itself, become enormously worse because this spectacular blow to the prestige of the West came at a time when the political prestige of the French authority in Indochina was deeply undermined. If the Viet Namese army and the Bao Dai government were politically reliable, the situation would be radically different from what it is.

This basic hypothesis explains two things. One is the repetition of our warnings against "direct intervention" by China. These repeated warnings appear to be necessary because of the theory that the Viet Minh could not win the war—

This bears hypothetically on the formation of a new policy—primarily because it showed that the critical issue underlying the effort to build an alliance to contain the spread of communism in Southeast Asia is political. The critical issue is whether the pact can include Asian peoples of the mainland of Asia. The French have failed in Indochina to enlist popular support for the Bao Dai government and for the war against the Viet Minh. Can we repair that failure in Indochina or elsewhere in southeast Asia? Can Britain, France and America make an alliance with Asian peoples?

Freedom For Indochina Might Logically Save Day Yet For Free World In Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is in a jam in Indochina. Part of it, or all of it, may fall to the Communists. Unless the Western world can find a way to prevent it, all Southeast Asia may go the same way. This country now is talking of forming a military alliance in the Pacific to save Indochina, or part of it, and, if that's impossible, then the rest of the area. In planning for this, the United States must consider a question: should the three states of Indochina—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—be brought into the alliance?

Asked about it at his news conference yesterday, President Eisenhower said: "No nation can be saved to the free world unless it wants to be saved. Freedom by its very definition cannot be possessed by someone who doesn't want freedom; so unless those states are enthusiastic parties to such an arrangement, then the alliance would have no right to interfere with them. But that's the whole point in Indochina. It's at the root of the disaster the free world faces there. The people of Viet Nam have wanted their independence from the French, who have held Indochina as a colony for almost 100 years. The French didn't give it to them. This refusal of the French has, according to American reporters in Indochina, made millions of Indochinese hate the French. In the meantime, the Communist-led Viet-minh, fighting the French for almost eight years, have been able to pose as the leaders of their country although once it became Communist it would be a Moscow-Peking satellite. Instead of rallying to the French to drive out the Viet-minh, many of the Vietnamese have to ask themselves: Why fight for the French if we still cannot be free?"

Larry Allen, veteran Associated Press reporter who has covered that area for years, recently sent back from Hanoi a story which said of the attitude of the Viet-minh: "In this war refugee-swollen city of more than 500,000... the people seem to be unconcerned whether the Viet-minh or the French are winning or can win." In addition, Allen said, a majority of the Vietnamese have a "deep-seated sympathy" for Ho Chi Minh the Communist leader of the Viet-minh because he promised them independence. Secretary of State Dulles has been talking tough but vaguely for months about what this country would do if the Chinese Communists tried aggression in Indochina. They called his hand in their own way. They didn't send troops into Indochina. They didn't help the French to guarantee the Indochinese real independence once the Viet-minh were licked.

Soldiers Always Think They Are Being 'Took'

NEW YORK (AP)—During the American Revolution a considerable number of Frenchmen, following Lafayette's example, came over here as volunteer fighters for freedom. Many of these Gallic idealists, however, were sadly disillusioned by the treatment they received in frontier America. They wrote long letters of complaint back home to their friends in France, the gist of which was roughly as follows: "What a crude and ungrateful people these Americans are! Here we have crossed an ocean to help them fight for and win their liberty. "And how do they show their appreciation? These farmer 'patriots' refuse to give us hay for our horses unless we pay in advance. The American storekeepers are all robbers—every one. As soon as they find out we are French, they immediately double the price on everything. They seem to think every Frenchman is a millionaire. "Believe me, my dear Andre, if you are still planning to come over to help in the struggle for independence, you would do well to abandon such ideas at once and remain where you are in our beloved Paris. These Americans are a race of bandits. Far from deserving their freedom, they should in my opinion all be thrown in jail until they learn a little honesty. Thousands of Americans who, more than a century and a half later, served in France during the Second World War were equally disillusioned—and on the same point. They felt more like victims than liberating heroes. "We figured the French would roll out the welcome mats," they wrote back home, "but you have to count your fingers every time soldiers and airmen there know that their names were signed to some form comes into sight, they jack up the prices sky-high. They clobber you for a week's pay for a bottle of wine full of bubbles, and if you ask me, I think we ought to pay Germany to take the country back. "This same sentiment now also seems to prevail among some American servicemen stationed in Great Britain. A poll of 5,000 U.S. soldiers and airmen there by a British newspaper showed that more than 8 out of 10 believe shopkeepers, landlords and cab drivers are gouging them merely because they are Americans. Taken at its face value, this poll might be viewed as indicating a serious rift between our servicemen and our British allies. It is unlikely, however, that the poll really proves any such thing. Soldiers—ever since the Romans—have been firmly convinced that, wherever stationed, the civilians take them for suckers and hike the prices on them.

This Day In Texas

Texas cattlemen and law officers got set for trouble when they learned that an effeminate-looking young criminal had escaped from a New Mexico jail on this day in 1881. For the 21-year-old escapee was William Bonney, better known as Billy the Kid and he had quite a reputation as a cattle thief and a killer. Bonney began his life of crime at the age of 12, when he killed a man with a pocket knife for insulting his mother. Before his fifteenth birthday he had committed another murder and become a fugitive. After some small-scale outlaws in the Pecos River area Billy the Kid took part in the Lincoln County War and then came back to the Texas as Panhandle as leader of a cattle-stealing band. Finally a posse made up largely of Texans and led by Pat Garrett captured the notorious criminal and put him behind bars at Mesilla, N. M. Tried and convicted, Bonney was sentenced to be hanged. But Billy the Kid had other ideas. Somehow he managed to kill his jailer and escape. Garrett started after him immediately—the sheriff had promised his constituents to put an end to Bonney's career. Finally one dark July night on the Pete Maxwell ranch near Fort Sumner Pat Garrett got his man—exactly two months after his escape.

Prospects Of 'Tooth Hormone' Enough To Make Many Joyful

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

Count this as another vote for the hormones, the juices that are supposed to keep people young and robust. It appears now that the hormones may put the false teeth manufacturers out of business. That's particularly cheering news to me as my natural choppers approach the point of falling completely apart. Science now proposes to fix it where a boy can grow himself some new teeth when the old ones play out, no matter if it is the third set. A simple little hormone will turn the trick. Dr. Maury Massler, a University of Illinois dental expert, claims it is entirely possible that a hormone injected in the gap left by decay, disease or a lick in the face might sprout a new tooth to fill the void. The experimental dentist is working toward that goal and has achieved some success, along with other dental experts. They've developed a technique, called pulpotomy, to the point of saving many teeth that otherwise would have been extracted. This amounts to tooth surgery, with the dentist removing injured portion of the pulp inside the tooth. After the damaged pulp is taken out, the remainder is covered with a calcium salt and an antibiotic. The salt acts as a growth hormone, Dr. Massler says, stimulating the pulp to replace itself. The antibiotic prevents infection during the process. As a result of his success in such cases, the dentist believes injection of a hormone in place of an absent tooth would result in the growth of a new molar. Dr. Massler tells of using the calcium treatment on scores of teeth in the past three and a half years. He says it has proved virtually one hundred per cent effective with children and 97 per cent successful in 60 adult patients, some of them 65 years of age. If Dr. Massler and his colleagues can find that new-tooth hormone, both dentists and patients should be better off. Otherwise, a good many of us will be going to the dentist before age 65. —WAYLAND YATES

Records Disclose Subordinates Act Without Chief's Knowledge

General Mark Clark, on occasion, breaks through the conspiracy of cover-up which is so characteristic of government officials and particularly officers of the Army. The cover-up is a disease in our society. Men who know of specific wrongs are torn between loyalty to the corps and loyalty to the country. To many of them, the greatest crime is to damage the corps, the better ones believing that ultimately they will find a way to cure the ills of which they are conscious. The evidence is that no group succeeds in cleansing itself without pressure from outside. General Mark Clark has faced the problem realistically. He has insisted that the American people must know the truth. Apparently so far as he is concerned, he will tell the truth as he knows it. On the radio program, "Three-Star Extra," he said: "... there were indications that Communists had been planted in our Army to try to sap the power of the United States through well conceived campaigns to demoralize too quickly. Two Secretaries of State, Byrnes and Marshall, had told me that their names were signed to some important messages to me without their knowledge. I realize that it is common practice to sign the name of the Secretary of State to all outgoing messages, but the ones I refer to were answers to important radios I had sent them personally." The McCarthy-Stevens investigations has brought forth evidence that the chain of command operation often leaves the head of a government agency without adequate knowledge of what occurs in his department. Documents are issued in his name of which he knows nothing. This actually appears in the testimony. The argument that no man can look after all the details is not good enough. When a man of General Clark's position can testify that he received instructions in the name of the Secretary of State, he knows the country is in peril. How much of this sort of thing goes on? Clark said on the "Three-Star Extra" broadcast: "Byrnes said he never saw a message which told me not to take my own staff from Vienna to London for the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in January of 1947. Marshall told me he never saw the message which told me similar instructions about the staff to go to Moscow for the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in March of the same year. Apparently someone in the State Department had taken action on these messages without the knowledge of the Chiefs. "These were things I knew from my own experience when the Alger Hiss case broke." And he concluded his talk with this sinister statement: "The nagging fear was that perhaps Communists had wormed their way so deeply into our government on both the working and planning levels that they were able to exercise an inordinate degree of power in shaping the course of America in the dangerous postwar era. "I could not help wondering and worrying whether we were faced with open enemies across the conference table and hidden enemies who sat with us in our most secret council." It is possible perhaps to ignore similar warnings when they are made by a columnist such as myself or by a senator such as Joe McCarthy, but when a military officer of Mark Clark's responsibility and experience says all this publicly in a broadcast, out of his own experience, it is impossible to ignore what he says. What instructions went to General Eisenhower, General MacArthur, or any other commander in Europe or Asia of which the responsible authorities in the State Department or even the White House knew nothing? We have the records of Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White and a few others, but what did Lauchlin Currie and Michael Greenberg do in the White House? A small part of their records appeared in the Institute of Pacific Relations inquiry under Senator McCarran, but how much more is there to it? Who kept them on the government payroll? Who let Currie and Greenberg leave the United States so that they are not available for interrogation? General Clark has raised troublesome questions which require an answer. Do we have so loose a system of administration that subordinates deal with matters of policy without authority?

Unyielding Attitude Of Reds May Solidify The West Again

GENEVA — The completely unyielding all-or-nothing attitude of the Chinese and Russian delegations on Korea is having its inevitable effect. The Western Powers have begun to close ranks as the hope cherished by some of these powers of a decent compromise fades to nothingness. The all-or-nothing stand of the Communists has eased the tensions that had begun to build up on the anti-Communist side of the conference table. If the Communist position had been only a little less adamant, a little less transparent in its bald intention of removing all American support and influence from all of Asia, the American position here might have continued to be difficult. Americans joke privately about how they could have given the Communists a half-dozen suggestions that would have made the situation much more difficult for the U. S. delegation. But, fortunately, the rigidity of the Communist approach eases our subtleties. In perhaps the most notable speech of the conference thus far, Lester Pearson, Canada's Secretary of State for External Affairs, pointed to the difference that most sharply sets apart the Communist and non-Communist halves of the world. Refuting the charge of imperialism and colonialism leveled against the United States, Pearson said: "If the United States did not respect the rights and interests of others, Canada would not today be an independent power but merely a satellite of her great neighbor. Her representatives would not be able, as they certainly are able, to speak their own minds and stand up for their own views in conferences of the nations, even if this means, as it has more than once meant, disagreeing with some aspects of the policy of the United States of America." Thus Pearson took the fact about which some American delegates have been grumbling that certain of the 16 nations represented here were unwilling to go all-out for the American viewpoint—as evidence of the vitality of free opinion in the West. What he did, too, was to reaffirm the essential role of the United Nations, thus answering China's Chou En-lai who has sought to identify the U. N. with an "aggressive bloc." Back of Chou's attack on the United Nations was the implication that if Communist China became a member it would cease to have that characteristic. The Communist Chinese have made a behind-the-scenes bid to Canada for recognition of the Peiping regime. The assurance has been given that if Canada were to make the first move, Peiping would immediately respond by sending an ambassador to Ottawa. Canada had been seriously considering recognition to the Communist regime. But the Canadian government now believes that this should certainly be held up so long as the Communist attitude is openly hostile even to consideration of any fair and reasonable solution for those trouble spots in Asia that can start another World War. Reports received by Canada and other Western delegates show that China has gone on building up as rapidly as possible the military strength of North Korea. They have scarcely bothered to conceal this buildup. In their reports to the neutrality commission supposedly policing the armistice they have boldly put down in the proposed blanks in the form required from the area, no plans added. The fact is that the air potential has been increased to such an extent as to put South Korea in serious jeopardy in the event of a renewal of hostilities. Although attitudes on both sides have greatly stiffened, as the working committees on Korea meet, not all achievement is ruled out. At the very least it is believed that methods for preserving the armistice zone and insuring a minimum of friction at the dividing line can be agreed to. This, however, would scarcely justify such a much-heralded international gathering.

By BRUCE FRAZIER
Whenever I get a chance like this naturally start thinking about West Texas. Everybody appears to be interested in this subject, because they are either for it or against it. No one is ever neutral on the topic of West Texas.

The thing that I think is most interesting about this country is the part of it that no one ever knows anything about. You would be surprised to know how many people never remember that this country was under the Gulf of Mexico at one time.
Besides that they would probably think you were the champion Texas liar if you told them there used to be thousands of elephants roaming these plains, and that there were camels and other strange animals here in an abundance before man came to live here. You probably would not get any argument about buffalo, or to be more correct bison, because there are still citizens who remember these passing beasts. I have seen large deposits of their bones here in Howard County, and over in Martin County, and I know there are a lot more scattered over this country. At one time people hunted for a living in this locality, and I even know of one man who killed antelope and his wife made gloves out of the hides, and in that way they made their income during a dry year.

Besides the animals that lived here in the past, and are now gone and forgotten, there are the animals which you never see that live here today. There are no less than four species of shrimp that are native to this area, and there could well be more if somebody just got out and looked for them. One of these shrimp is as clear as jelly and lives in fresh water. He is about one inch long and has been caught in lakes along Highway 80.

Then there is the 'desert shrimp' a little fellow about two inches long that has a hard shell. She swims on her back and lives in the mud or water near the bottom of rain puddles. Her life expectancy is about 40 days but it takes from five to 50 years for her eggs to hatch. I refer to this shrimp as 'Her' because there are never any males produced. This shrimp lays her eggs and then when conditions are exactly right they hatch out. This shrimp has been living for at least 175 million years just as she is living today with very little change. There are two other shrimp, native to this area that are equally as interesting.

Besides the fascinating animals that live here there are a host of plants that are practically unknown to the average citizen. You see, the Indians who used to run this country, before our day, depended entirely upon this country for their living. You probably haven't ever thought that any one could make a living on this land without highways, fast transportation, supermarkets, but the Indians who lived here so recently, in a Stone Age society, found all they needed for food, clothing, shelter and entertainment right here.

The plants that these Indians knew provided them with medicine as well as with food. One such plant is commonly called Mormon's Tea. It has some therapeutic value but could also be used as an ornamental plant. It is peculiar to this country and has an interesting appearance because there are no leaves. Although is another plant without leaves that is a real West Texan. There are a lot of other plants that have interesting stories if these stories are just searched out. Some can be distilled for intoxicants, some provide soap, others are the basis for natural rubber, and many have uses not yet discovered.
A delicious coconutmilk drink can be made from dried mesquite beans dissolved in milk, and fried prickly pear pads are a real delicacy. These are things I have learned from studying the remains of the Indians that are to be found in this area.
There are clues to the way of life of these Indians all over the country. He was a man who had to live with nature, and be treated nature as she treated him. He respected the laws of nature.
But what about us? I am afraid we have destroyed and ignored what nature provided and have brought in strange new plants and new ways and we have acquired many troubles in so doing. These troubles are now stamped on the land like nothing else we see. They are so large that we sometimes don't see them for their size.
This land today is in a condition of change, and here are the things we have traded with nature, blow for blow. We took away wild, grass-eating animals like the deer, antelope and buffalo, and replaced them with the sheep and cow. And we traded nature's grasses, uncultivated and bountiful for row crops, mortgages and machinery. We have traded the clear air and beautiful sunsets for dust, and we have dried up the streams so that they no longer flow. I know there used to be good fishing and waterfowl hunting here because I find clam shells and bird bones in the camps of the Indians. We have traded nature's own

Church Meet To Stay Set For Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill of the Episcopal Church says the denomination's 1955 General Convention will not be moved from Houston as requested by two dioceses.
New York Episcopalians yesterday asked that the meeting be transferred unless Houston guarantees non-segregated facilities. The action came in the form of a unanimous recommendation passed at the convention of the New York diocese.
The New York move followed a similar action May 3 in Washington, D. C., where that diocese also criticized segregation in Houston.

However, Bishop Sherrill, the church's presiding officer, told Houston newspapermen by telephone last night that he had no authority to change a convention site.
Houston was picked in Boston in 1952 at the last Episcopal General Convention, the bishop said, "and I have no authority to overrule the action of the convention." He said there is no procedure for reconvening the group to pick another meeting city.
Unless the Diocese of Texas withdraws the invitation, and barring some great calamity "like a tornado or a hydrogen bomb," the convention will be held in Houston, Bishop Sherrill said.
The Rt. Rev. Clinton S. Quin, bishop of the Diocese of Texas, would make only one comment: "I am sorry we seem so un-Christian to New York and Washington but I have a hunch that we have as much religion in Texas as they do up there, and we're not going to be pushed around by agitators."

Interchurch Help Assists Funeral
FLORENCE, S. C. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. P. Frank Price's funeral request was fulfilled yesterday, thanks to interdenominational teamwork.
The former moderator of the Southern Presbyterian Church, who died Monday, had asked that his funeral be at Central Methodist Church here. That was for convenience of the staff of nearby McLeod Infirmary, which he had served as chaplain.
A statewide women's convention was scheduled for the Methodist church at the hour of the services, so the First Baptist Church stepped in with an offer—accepted—for the Methodist women to meet there.

Hall Granddaughter Suit Gets Returned

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—An oilman's fight for custody of his 3-year-old daughter, who is apparent heiress to part of the Ellis Hall oil wealth, must go back to Curry County, the State Supreme Court held yesterday.
The child is Kathryn Rae Brandenberg, granddaughter of Mrs. Ellis Hall. Hall, a wealthy Albuquerque oilman, was killed in an Alaskan plane crash last August. The child's mother, Jo Ann Walter Brandenberg, also was killed in the crash.
The Brandenbergs had been divorced several months before the crash and the child had been awarded to the mother. After the child was given to the custody of her great grandparents, former Gov. and Mrs. A. W. Hochenhull of Clovis.
Brandenberg had sued the Hochenhulls for custody of the child.
