Latin Americans To Hold Gala Fiesta Tuesday And Wednesday

Fiesta time rolls around Tuesday for persons of Latin-American descent. Gala activities, sparked by coronation of the fiesta queen, Senorita Lucia Lopez, will mark the opening day of the two-day celebration. A ball game and a folk festival in the evening will highlight the Wednesday observance.

"We invite our Anglo-American friends to attend the fiesta," said N. R. Holguin, president of the fiesta. First event on tap is a ball game, at the park on the Gall road, at 4 p.m. Tuesday when the Santo Nombre club of Coahoma tangles with the Gavilanes (Hawks) of Big Spring.

Annual Fiesta de Lamesa Set For Thursday

LAMESA (SC) — The second annual Fiesta de Lamesa will be observed here Thursday evening with the Fiesta parade getting underway at 6:30 p.m., and featuring colorful floats and other entries. In the extravagant procession will be visiting dignitaries and pretty Latin American beauties from over this West Texas area from among whom the Latin American people will have selected their Fiesta queen. The queen contest entries are being sponsored by the GI Forums.

Dr. Hector P. Gjerda, a prominent physician and surgeon from Corpus Christi and founder of the GI Forums in Texas, has notified Fiesta Co-chairman Tomas Gomez that he plans to be here to participate in the festivities. Downtown Lamesa will be brightened Thursday evening with American and Mexican flags, pennants, lanterns, torches, glowing window decorations, the bright costumes of the Latin Americans and Anglos alike, and gay fiesta music. After the parade circles the Square it will proceed to the baseball park where the last part of the fiesta activities will take place. This includes Mexican dancing, singing, speeches and the crowning of the queen of the Fiesta de Lamesa.

All other West Texas communities have been invited to join Lamesa and her guests in celebrating the occasion. CTC Session Set For Monday Night General meeting of the Howard County Citizens Traffic Commission has been called for 8 p.m. Monday by Dr. Lee Rogers, chairman. The CTC membership is being called to consider 22 recommendations from the organization's engineering committee. If approved, the engineering proposals will be submitted to the city commission on Tuesday.

Meeting is to be held in the Little Auditorium at Howard County Junior College. Dr. Rogers said the public is invited to attend. Junior High Boys Organize Choir The Singing Ramblers will be the name of the junior high school boys choir which has been organized. Under the direction of Harry Lee Plumley, the choir already has about 50 members. A social is being planned and before long the group will be available for appearances before groups which request it.

Ross Roberts is president of the club; Merle Harter, vice president; Max Hudson, secretary-treasurer; Donald Harvey, reporter.

Stock Market At New Low For Year At End Of Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (U)—The stock market broke to a new low for the year this week in a sharp selling wave. The drop to the new low levels smothered a timid recovery movement that had started from the previous 1953 low of two weeks ago. Principal sufferers were the railroads, motors, steels and oils, although few major divisions of the market escaped the selling. When the market reopened on Tuesday after Labor Day, prices held fairly steady. Enthusiasm for that state of affairs was so pallid that trading volume hit a four-year low at 740,000 shares. Wednesday's business expanded somewhat, but prices were less buoyant than the previous day, although they still remained fairly steady. The turn came Thursday. Studebaker had announced a cutback of production by one-third and planned to lay off between 5,000 and 6,000 men.

Studebaker common was lower at the start and went still lower as the session progressed. Other motor shares soon were involved in the decline which spread to railroads and oils. Studebaker was the sixth most active issue of the week, off 2 1/2 at 24. Friday's market was headed down from the very start with the industrial segment under pressure. When that section of the average hit a new low, selling spread swiftly. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended the week at $101.30, a new low for the year and the lowest point for the average since early in May of last year. The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were: American Telephone up 1/4 at 153 1/2; with 63,900 shares traded; New York Central off 1 1/2 at 20 1/2; Baltimore & Ohio off 1 1/2 at 20 1/2; Pennsylvania Railroad off 1 1/2 at 18 1/2; and Northern Pacific off 2 1/2 at 53 1/2. The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were: Coastal Caribbean Oils off 1/2 at 2 1/2; Jerry O'Mahony off 1/2 at 6 1/2; Canada Southern Oils off 1/2 at 6 1/2; Fargo Oils off 1/2 at 1 13-16; and Webb & Knapp up 1-16 at 1/2.

Leave For A&M

Robert L. Hayes Jr. and Jerry Hayes have gone to Texas A&M to enroll for the 1953-54 term. Robert will be a sophomore, while Jerry will begin his freshmen year.

Marin and his West Texas Marches will furnish the music. At 10 p.m. the dance will be held for the coronation of Miss Lopez, who will be attended by the fiesta princesses, Lidia Corrales and Ramona Molina. The Hon. G. W. Dabney, mayor, will do the coronation honors. Singing of the United States and the Mexican National anthems will follow. Afterwards the dance will continue. Wednesday at 4 p.m. the G. I. Forum team from Colorado City will meet the Gavilanes of Big Spring. In the evening, there will be instrumentalists, vocalists and folk dancers to furnish entertainment at the same street location. Arrangements for the fiesta, commemorating Mexican independence, are being handled by the committee headed by Holguin. Others are Jose B. Zamora, vice president; Pedro Cortez Suarez, secretary; and Jesus Morin, treasurer. Master of ceremonies will be Marquese Melendez.

The Big Spring fiesta is being officially recognized and approved by Mexican Government through the Mexican consul in Amarillo, Senor Joel S. Quinones. He has been invited and is expected to be here.

Ten Keys To Better Driving Listed By CTC

In discussing traffic safety in Big Spring, George Oldham, speaking for the Citizens Traffic Commission, said Saturday that "the interest of civic and safety-conscious citizens is the vital factor in any successful program to improve traffic conditions." He said that not only members of the CTC, but all citizens, are being encouraged to make suggestions and criticisms as to how West Texas' need for greater traffic safety can be achieved. The CTC, Oldham says, recommends "10 keys to better driving."

- (1) constantly anticipating traffic situations a long way ahead;
- (2) signaling correctly;
- (3) starting in plenty of time to meet appointments;
- (4) slowing down at potential danger points;
- (5) paying attention to traffic signals, laws and road signs; (6) keeping a car's safety equipment in good condition; (7) adjusting speed to driving conditions; (8) refusing to gamble on traffic maneuvers; (9) staying in the correct lane of traffic; and (10) making proper driving adjustments for hours of darkness and remembering to 'slow down at sundown.' In connection with the program Oldham called attention to the slogan of the T&P Ladies Safety Association, which he recalls is "Care-Cautious-Concern."

Sen. McCarthy Asks Newspaper Editors To Change Probe Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has called on seven newspaper executives to correct a committee report that he used his official position to quiz James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, about anti-McCarthy editorials.

the fact that this charge was admittedly in error, I think it only fair that the committee correct the report to conform to the facts."

His letter was dated Sept. 10 and made public today. Newspapermen to whom it was sent were members of a committee appointed by the American Society of Newspaper Editors last spring to study the issue of whether McCarthy's questioning of Wechsler threatened freedom of the press.

The Wisconsin senator addressed his letter to Paul Block Jr., co-publisher of the Toledo, Ohio Blade and the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; Raymond L. Crowley, managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch; George W. Healy Jr., editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune; L. D. Hotchkiss, editor of the Los Angeles Times; Joseph W. Lee, editorial director of the Topeka, Kan. State Journal; James S. Pope, executive director of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times; and William H. Fitzpatrick, associate editor of the Wall Street Journal.

In demanding a correction, he told the newspaper executives: "I realize this may be a burden upon some of you gentlemen, who may have had no stomach for this job in the first place, but I remind you that I did not ask you to take on this task—you yourselves elected to make the investigations."

McCarthy has been conducting a running fight with the Washington Post over the Wechsler case. It goes back to an Aug. 13 editorial in the Post which accused the senator of subjecting Wechsler to "intensive interrogation about editorials in his newspaper critical of Sen. McCarthy."

McCarthy has denied this statement repeatedly, the Post has stood by it and has in turn accused McCarthy of trying to evade the issue, the Post says, is the senator's "attempt to intimidate" Wechsler.

In his latest letter, McCarthy charged that James R. Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post and chairman of the ASNE committee, attempted to justify the editorial with the following quotation from the committee's majority report:

"Further questioning by Sen. McCarthy probed into the editorial policies of the New York Post... with particular emphasis on editorials and columns critical of Sen. McCarthy." Pope of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times wrote McCarthy several weeks ago that "the committee report apparently was incorrect." Pope told a reporter that McCarthy quizzed Wechsler about his attitude toward other members of Congress and the FBI, adding "I do not believe he mentioned any editorials about McCarthy."

Medal Winner Goes Back To Duty Monday

His 15 days of leisure and home cooking at an end, Lt. George O'Brien Jr. leaves with Mrs. O'Brien on Monday for Corpus Christi.

Orders of the Medal of Honor winner are to report to the Marine barracks there. He still has received no word from Washington or the summer White House in Denver as to when he will be ordered to Washington to receive the nation's highest military honor. In announcing it, President Eisenhower said he would present it upon his return to Washington this month.

Lt. O'Brien was subject of an editorial in the Trainman News, official publication of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Commenting on having witnessed via TV "that moving human event of the transport Gen. Nicholson M. Walker sailing through fog-shrouded Golden Gate with its precious cargo of more than 300 of America's fighting sons who had spent cruel months to years in dreadful prisoner-of-war camps," the writer said in part:

"One of these heroes, Lt. George H. O'Brien Jr. of Big Spring, Texas was first told on this occasion that he had been awarded the nation's highest honor, the Congressional Medal of Honor... With befitting sincerity, void of the slightest trace of feigned modesty O'Brien's response to his first knowledge of the high honor bestowed upon him was: 'I don't think I deserve it. The boys in my platoon did all the work.' This furnished the title for the piece: 'The Platoon Did It.'"

Senator Kennedy Weds Newswoman

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 12 (AP)—U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and dark-haired Jacqueline Lee Bouvier, former Washington newspaperwoman, were married today in old St. Mary's Church in one of the most lavish weddings Newport has seen in recent years.

Social political and business leaders packed the little church which seats only 600 and Police Chief Sam Dugan estimated 3,000 to 4,000 persons were jammed around the church lawn and on the street. The Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, performed the wedding ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass.

Roadways were blocked off in the vicinity of the church and room was left only for the passage of guests.

The bride had 12 attendants, including her sister, Mrs. Michael T. Canfield of New York, who was maid of honor. There were nine bridesmaids, a flower girl and a page.

Mitchell SCD Sets Field Day

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The supervisors of the Mitchell Soil Conservation District have announced a field day to be held at the farm of Mrs. U. D. Wulfjen, about five miles south of Colorado City on the Robert Lee Road, at 2 p.m. Sept. 15.

At this time a trial will be made of the new range pitting machine which was purchased by the district during the summer.

This new machine, which weighs about 2,500 pounds can be pulled by the average size farm tractor. It is mounted on rubber tires with puncture-proof tubes. It has a tool carrier about 10 feet wide. It has eight 24-inch discs mounted on this carrier and these discs have special holes cut two and one-half inches off center to give them a hop-sided appearance when in operation. The purpose is for alternating discs to plow at one position and as the plow runs forward the discs reverse their position and the other alternating discs make a six-to-eight-foot long furrow in the ground. Actually only four discs are on the ground at one time and the use of this plow will be on pasture land which assures a firm footing for the tractor. This accounts for the fact that the average farm tractor will be able to pull this heavy tool successfully. The overall width of the plow is about 12 feet. The plow can be trailed behind cars and pickups at a moderate speed in moving it from farm to farm.

This special tool, designed for restoring ranges through seeding, cost the district about $900, and

Former Resident Is Buried In Arizona

Funeral was held on Wednesday in Thatcher, Ariz. for Earl H. Robertson, 24, former Big Spring resident.

He was killed when shot accidentally on a weekend fishing trip Sept. 5. Last rites were said at the Mormon Church in Thatcher.

Mr. Robertson had made his home here for seven years before leaving three months ago to reside in Globe, Ariz. He had been reared at Roscoe, and he had served two years in the Army.

Among his survivors are his wife, Jerry; a step-son, Sandy; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robertson of Safford, Ariz.; two brothers, R. L. Robertson, Big Spring, and Royce Robertson, who is serving in Korea; three sisters, Mrs. Bill Wallace, San Angelo, and Peggy Robertson and Raye Robertson, Safford, Ariz.

a rental fee of 50 cents per acre to cover the cost of maintaining it will be made, and to build up a fund from which to replace it when it is worn out.

It is estimated there are approximately 20,000 acres of Mitchell County land that need to have this range pitter used on them.

The supervisors say this type of machine is new in this immediate area but that these range pitting machines have been used in West Texas for several years. One of them is now in operation in the Martin-Howard SCD. While its primary use, they point out, is in re-seeding work, it can also be used to re-vegetate the stand of short grasses where needed. Old fields or bare range land which are

FBI To Conduct Police School Here

A police school will be conducted in Big Spring this week by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Sessions will be held daily in the Corporation Courtroom at City Hall. All area law enforcement officers are invited to participate, said Big Spring Police Chief E. W. York and FBI Agent E. C. Dorris who Friday announced plans for the school.

Hours for the classes are from 2 to 6 p.m. each day. J. K. Mumford, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Dallas, will give the opening talk at 2 p.m. Monday. Elton Gilliland, 118th District Attorney, will offer instruction in the laws of arrest, search and seizure, also Monday. FBI instructor who will conduct balance of the classes is D. M. Brightman, Fort Worth.

Diarrhea Tops List Of Area Diseases

Diarrhea was the most prevalent contagious disease reported during the past week by Big Spring doctors.

Physicians diagnosed 37 cases of the infection, communicable diseases report of the city-county health unit shows. Strep throat ranked second with 27 cases.

For the second consecutive week no polio was reported. Communicable diseases listed and the number of cases of each included bronchitis, nine; gastroenteritis, six; gonorrhea, pneumonia and tuberculosis, two cases each.

planned for reseeded need some type of seedbed preparation, the supervisors point out, and this machine is capable of doing this job. Some areas need deep litter to prevent blowing. Other areas need plowing ahead of the litter-growing process to get rid of small mesquite or other noxious plants.

Painter Wylie of the Colorado City unit of the Soil Conservation Service says there are at least 15,000 to 20,000 acres of old fields in the county which should be plowed and seeded, and that this pitter is one of the best ways to prepare the seedbed or areas which are not subject to blowing such as turned-out fields and brush-free pasture land.

These alternating discs, Wylie explains, makes a series of furrows six to eight feet long and from four to five inches deep. The alternating furrows are about 20 inches apart. The use of this pitter on an area gives a flower-pot effect to the range land is helpful in catching rainfall which might otherwise run off. These small basins retain the water longer and this keeps these basins wet a few days longer than the undisturbed bare land. The retaining of this dampness prevents immediate surface crusting and surface evaporation, and these extra days of moisture in the basins usually mean the difference between getting a stand of grass and not getting a stand. Wylie says the furrows should be run on the level on all land with a slope greater than one foot to 100 feet.

"This method of seedbed preparation for planting grasses has been successful this year in various places in West Texas in spite of the extreme drought," Wylie says. "One Soil Conservation technician who travels a wide area and who is familiar with grass planting stated that pitting was the difference between success and failure this year in overseeding range land and in the revegetation of old fields. He reported that at Fort Stockton on a small three-quarters of an inch rain that the pits caught enough water to penetrate the ground for more than 10 inches, whereas on land that had not been pitted the moisture went down only two or three inches. This brings into play another desirable feature, which is runoff control."

In addition to seeing the pitter in operation at the Wulfjen farm, visitors will view numerous grass samples arranged in soil samples showing the recommended grass mixtures for various soils. There will be several samples of adapted legumes and several pieces of the district grass-seeding equipment will be available for inspection.

The Field Day is being sponsored jointly by the Mitchell Soil Conservation District; the Colorado City Junior Chamber of Commerce and

The West Texas newspaper trade with the pay checks coming from the San Angelo Standard-Times has developed two of the world's greatest reporters.

A good reporter, let it be remarked, is the man or woman who finds the stories that everybody else has overlooked and who writes them so they're interesting and entertaining to their readers. These stories are printed, and then other writers read them and say to themselves: "Now why in the world didn't I think of that! How did I happen to overlook that story myself?"

The two reporters referred to are the late Sam Ashburn who established the Standard-Times "Windmill" column, and Fred Gipson, whose latest book, "Cowhand" was just released by his publishers, Harper and Brothers, a few days ago. "Cowhand" is the true story of a plain West Texas cowboy, Eddy Alford, better known to West Texans, including many in Big Spring, as "Fat." It's just a simple story of a real cowhand—one who pulled off his boots, put on his shoes and went to picking cotton when times were tough financially and hunger loomed up in front of his family. It's just the simple story of a plain old West Texas cowboy who once sought to supplement his income with a little bootlegging at a rodeo and who didn't do so well at it. It's just the simple story of an average West Texas cowboy who has probably killed his deer out of season. It's just a plain, unvarnished, uncol-

Fred Gipson And Fat Alford

"Fat's too fat to be a good cowboy," Fred says, and then adds "but when a rancher wants a top hand who can get the job done he knows Fat is the man he needs." This picture was snapped while Fred was interviewing Fat in the Gipson home near Mason for material for the story "Cowhand," which is Gipson's fourth book and now in the book stores.

ored picture of an honest, hard-working cowboy—a real cowboy, such as you and I, here in West Texas, know them.

"By Hollywood standards," says Fred Gipson in an author's note, "Fat is a far cry from being a typical cowhand. He never shot a man in his life. He never chased a rustler across the Rio Grande. . . . He never carved a cattle empire out of a howling wilderness. The truth is, he doesn't even look like a cowboy. He's too squat and heavy; he's too short-legged and bull-necked. He's so potbellied and yet so hipless that some consider it a minor miracle that his pants aren't forever slipping down to hang around his heels. . . . But in the ranch country, when a cowman sets out to hire help, he's not much concerned with a man's sex appeal or photogenic qualities; what he's looking for is a man who can get the job done, a working cowhand. And Fat Alford is that."

It is because of the type of man that Fred Gipson chose to write about that he has the balance of the West Texas writers walking around and talking to themselves and asking themselves: "Now why didn't I think of that?"

That's one thing that makes Fred Gipson one of the world's greatest reporters—he saw a story that everybody else had overlooked and went after it and got it. The other thing that makes him one of the world's greatest reporters is the fact that he has the talent to write a good story in such a way that everybody finds it interesting.

Fat Alford is now running a little ranch of his own out in New Mexico on the other side of the Divide. A few days ago he deliv-ered a load of cattle to San Angelo and reported that he had been getting some rain on his ranch and that the grass was pretty good. Now, I ask you, who else among those of us here in West Texas who profess to writing would ever have thought of writing a book about a man like that? Who else but Fred Gipson. He's such a good reporter in fact that the best of us can do is to write about how much better he is than we are, because he pulls out of the events of every day West Texas life a story that all the balance of us have passed by a hundred times a day and have never seen.

Good reporters mean good reporting and good reporting means good writing and all these together mean a good story and that is exactly what "Cowhand" is—a top West Texas story, and the first real good story that has ever been written about today's cowboys. It's in the book stores at $2.75 and well worth it. The West Texas reader will find many familiar names and places in it, and if a West Texan knows some person at a distance who would appreciate a true word picture of today's cowboys he should send them a copy. There's never been another book like it, and there will never be another. It tells, among other things, how Fat once deliberately scammed up a new saddle for Tom Powers while they were working on the Joe Davidson ranch, just to keep Tom from getting killed by a bronc later. It tells about how Fat moved his mother and the younger children to Christoval from Ozona, because as he told his mother: "Ozona's a millionaire town. Everybody there owns a big ranch or an oil well, or both. Christoval though, is a cheap town to live in. Nobody there has much money to spend. The girls won't feel any poorer there, especially, than anybody else."

It tells the true story of the typical cowboy of our day and time. Yet, it is doubtful if the story of Fat Alford is any more interesting than the story of the life of the man who wrote it, and who had previously written "Fabulous Empire," the story of the 101 Ranch; "The Home Place" and "Hound Dog Man" and who is as well known in Hollywood as in West Texas.

Fred Gipson is 45 years old. He still lives on the farm on which he was born near Mason. From the time he was a small boy he kept four or five, or more, coon and fox hounds, but he couldn't keep them out of his mother's (and later his wife's) flower beds. Nobody knows that Mason County terrain better than Fred Gipson. He graduated from the Mason High School and then managed to stay in the University of Texas for three years before he ran out of money. He went to work for the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, and for the Standard-Times at San Angelo, and the Paris News at Paris. He quit some of his newspaper jobs and was fired out of another one, so he got married and decided to make a living as a free lance writer. The first year he and his wife didn't go homeless and starve to death because his mother furnished them with a house (and probably some groceries) and because his total earnings for the year amounted to the magnificent sum of $150 which almost paid for the birth of his first son.

But Fred kept after it. Pretty soon he got out of the "pulp" class and started hitting such "slick" magazines as Holiday, Collier's, Liberty, Reader's Digest, and others, all because he was a top reporter who found common, every day stories that everybody else had overlooked and because he knew how to write them so other folks would enjoy reading them.

In 1947 "Fabulous Empire" was published. In 1949 "Hound Dog Man" was a Book-Of-The-Month Club selection. In 1950 "The Home Place" was a selection of the Peep-toe Book Club—and Fred Gipson had hit the jackpot and had become the father of a second son.

No longer do the folks in Mason County think that Fred Gipson was wasting his time when he prowled the woods with those coon hounds, and no longer does he have to earn his spending money by skinning the varmints in the woods. On newspaper pages and between book covers I've read a lot of Fred Gipson's stories and I think "Cowhand" is the best job of reporting he has done yet.

And as one reporter to another, I want to take my hat off to Fred Gipson because he's the best reporter that I know, and Fred's ability plus the events in the life of Fat Alford make the best story that has ever been written about the West Texas cowboys of recent years.

TEC Making Surveys For Pegging Bracero Wages

The Texas Employment Commission has again been directed to make surveys to determine the wages being paid Mexican Nationals engaged in agricultural work in West Texas, Leon M. Kinney said yesterday.

Kinney, who is in charge of the Big Spring office of the TEC, says these surveys will be like those made last year. These surveys are authorized, he points out, by the Migrant Labor Agreement of 1951 between the United States and Mexico, which provides that "The Mexican consuls and representatives of the Secretary of Labor shall exercise vigilance to insure that the wage rate paid to the Mexican worker is not less than the prevailing wage rate for similar work in the area of employment and that wages are paid to the Mexican workers in accordance with such rate or with any increases in such rate which may become effective in the area during the period of employment, but not below the minimum rate specified in the work contract."

The results of the surveys made by the TEC, Kinney said, will be forwarded to the office of the Secretary of Labor, who will, in turn, supply such information to the representatives of the Mexican Government.

Information from this area, Kinney said, will be gotten from approximately 15 per cent of the farmers.

"The results of these surveys are also valuable to the farmers who hire the Braceros," Kinney explains, "since it will give them information on the prevailing wage scale that they could not otherwise get. It will be a means of keeping some of them from paying too much."

To meet the responsibilities the United States assumed in making arrangements with the Mexican Government to bring these workers into this country, Kinney commented, "it is necessary that we have these means of collecting and analyzing farm wage information. The TEC with its state-wide system of local offices, together with its farm consultants, the latter having been working with the agency for several years, will select a local crop wage consultant committee to work with the TEC in fixing a range of wage rates for a particular area. These area committees, comprised of three members, will be made up of outstanding agricultural leaders in each crop wage area to be surveyed. The members probably will be cotton growers and perhaps users of both Mexican National and domestic farm workers. They will live near the county seat for convenience in communicating with them, and this committee will inspect the operation and findings of the wage survey and will represent their community in the survey program."

Report Is Made On X-Ray Survey

Forty-eight possible tuberculosis infections and 10 other chest abnormalities were revealed by the mass X-ray survey conducted here last month by the State Health Department and local Tuberculosis Association.

Persons receiving the reports of possible tuberculosis infection or other chest faults are being advised to contact their private physicians for follow-up examinations.

The number of chest abnormalities, including tuberculosis, was much smaller than in 1952 when 86 suspicious conditions were reported. Approximately the same number of persons, slightly more than 5,000, took the chest X-rays each year.

Jetliner To Rio

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Britain's Comet jetliner will make its first appearance in South America next week. A new version of the big passenger plane will leave London Airport Sunday night for a shakedown flight to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, via Lisbon and Dakar.

WHY CATHOLICS "Keep Running to Church"

You've probably heard people comment at times on the fact that their Catholic neighbors go to church so often. Perhaps you have wondered yourself... is all this necessary?

Catholics, you may be sure, have good reasons.

Going to Mass on Sunday is, of course, an obligation for every Catholic. Confession and Holy Communion at least once a year are a sacred duty. But most Catholics go to Confession and receive Holy Communion oftener... some every month, some every week, some every day.

There are also many other special services and devotions for which Catholics go to church. In the average city, the Catholic Church is always open—and seldom empty. Many will enter the church at any hour of the day to visit Jesus Christ present on the altar, mindful of His invitation: "Come to Me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest."

But, you ask, is all this necessary? Catholics believe it is.

They believe that Christ not only called upon us to honor and serve God... but prescribed the ways in which we should do so. He did not say how often we must go to church... nor how many prayers we were to recite. But He did establish a Church with the power and authority to carry on His work... and He promised that His Church would last to the end of time—that it would have God's protection in teaching all men to observe all things He had commanded, especially to believe and to be baptized and thereby become members of His Church to attain the purpose of their lives.

And how do Catholics know theirs is Christ's Church?

Because it possesses the distinguishing marks Christ gave His Church. It covers the earth as Christ said it would. Unchanged after nearly 2,000 years, it continues to live and grow, in fulfillment of His promise that His Church would last to the end of the world.

But the most convincing mark that He gave it is its unity of faith, worship and obedience under the authority of the lawful and historical successor of Peter, the first Bishop of Rome and the "rock" upon which Christ built His Church. Just as Peter was the first Pope and the first Vicar of Christ, so also is Pius XII the 262nd Pope and the Vicar of Christ today.

If you would like to know more about the distinguishing characteristics which Christ declared His Church must have and which the Catholic Church possesses today, we'll be happy to send you without cost or obligation an interesting and enlightening pamphlet. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. 2-N.

Orders Are Placed For 150 Braceros

Orders have been placed by the Howard County Farm Bureau for 150 Braceros, Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission said yesterday.

He said Farm Bureau also indicated they would probably want 150 more before long. The first of the Mexican Nationals are scheduled to arrive here about Sept. 21, Kinney said.

The Tarzan Marketing Association has requested 300 Braceros, according to the TEC representative, who says there are only 150 left in the quota for this area and that the quota will have to be increased in order to complete the request. He said authority for the additional workers above the present quota has been asked and that he is confident the request will be granted.

Big 3 To Soon Open Talks To Austria

PARIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Britain, France and the United States are expected to open talks soon on reducing their respective occupation forces in Austria.

Britain already has decided to cut occupation costs in Austria and part of the paring may be done in manpower.

Army Has A General Who Is Able To Cook

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—An army, they say, travels on its stomach. The Army might like to know that it has a general who can cook.

Not only that; he's written a book. It includes the more exotic stuff, which might not be too practical in the field, but he can brew a stew too.

A cookbook by a man isn't unusual—not even one by a bachelor. But high brass in the kitchen is something else—a man who slaves all day over a hot desk in the Pentagon, then relaxes at a stove.

When announcement was made that "The Dorn Cookbook" was being published this week (Henry Regnery Co., Chicago, $4.95) your correspondent hurried over to interview Brig. Gen. Frank (Pinky) Dorn, acting chief of information for the Army.

Dorn got his nickname at West Point, from his ruddy cheeks. There he also came by a love of precision, and he attacks a recipe in the military manner—nothing left to chance. In a life of moving from post to post throughout the world, other generals might collect primitive money or ceremonial swords. But the dapper Dorn collected recipes.

"Why, I've always been interested in cooking, ever since I can remember," he said, as if he couldn't recall a time when he wasn't able to dash into the kitchen and whip up some shashlik, Cossack style.

"I started cooking when I was a kid on the ranch back in California, and I've been at it ever since."

Once a Dorn starts cooking he never stops.

"I was visiting Dad—he's Walter E. Dorn—out in San Francisco not long ago," the general said. "Dad decided to fix a dinner for 18. Except for the serving, he did all the work himself."

"I felt I really ought to help, since he had planned it for me, so I kept hanging around the kitchen. But this seemed to worry him. "Why don't you go over in the corner, he said, "and fix yourself a drink."

"Now, let's see—yes, Dad is 83. Any man who serves fine meals soon is besieged with requests for recipes. So Dorn started grinding them out on a duplicating machine for his friends and his friends' friends. And pretty soon someone was saying, "These ought to be in a book."

Some cooks clam up like hydrogen bomb scientists when asked for the source of their recipes. But Dorn likes to say where he came upon his favorite dishes and under what conditions he first ate them. His book is full of "in the pre-war days in Peking," when he learned about pigeon eggs . . . or of the Mexican cook who taught him to prepare doves a la herta herrera . . . or, coming nearer home, of a recipe for broiled whitefish livers that he picked up in the Blue Bell Cafe in St. Ignace, Mich.

He doesn't mince his opinions, as can be seen from a couple of samples:

For real culinary artistry, the Chinese are unequalled.

For top-flight cooking, a man can beat a woman every time. Although many of his recipes were found in faraway places, Dorn insists most of the ingredients are available to the average cook. And he's proud of the fact that the cook isn't going to have to guess at how much is needed. That's where his love of precision comes in.

"I got tired of recipes which called for a pinch of this or a coupon of that," he said. "Every ingredient I use is measured exactly. I don't go in for pinches"—and here he smiled his best, gay dog bachelor smile—"at least not in the book."

Tony Curtis Is Bravest Of Film Heroes Of Today

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (AP)—Tony Curtis, I'm convinced, is braver than Errol Flynn ever was.

Flynn, of course, long has been the screen's most daring hero. He once conquered Burma single-handedly but only on the screen. Offscreen, Errol is merely mischievous.

Not so Curtis. He made an off-screen utterance this week that, for sheer daring, is unsurpassed in the history of Hollywood valor.

"I want to publicize my new picture," said Tony, "by playing a quarter or so with the Los Angeles Rams in one of their exhibition games against the other pro football teams."

The picture is called "All American," a story of a college football star. It was produced by Aaron Rosenberg, one of the great guards in University of Southern California history.

The director was Jesse Hibbs, likewise one of USC's grid greats in the Howard Jones era. A dozen assorted college and pro grid stars played bit parts in the movie. The role of the coach was done capably by Herman Hickman, the former Yale grid coach.

Curtis' football experience was limited to playing with a rolled-up paper sack on the sidewalks of New York as a boy.

Naturally, that made him ideal for the role of the all-American quarterback in the movie. He may not be Bob Waterfield but he sells tickets at the box office and that's what pays off on the Hollywood gridiron.

As hungry as movie studios are for good publicity, Universal-International mixed Tony's well-meaning desire to publicize his picture. He weighs only 158 pounds.

Seriously, Curtis' offer is but indicative of why he is so popular with the publicity boys.

He's grateful for all they have done for him and he'll reciprocate even if it means mixing it up with those giants of the gridiron.

West Texas Area A Leader In Life Insurance Sales

DALLAS — The West Texas district of Fidelity Union Life Insurance Company was second in the company in August production, Carr P. Collins, president, announced Saturday.

Collins said production in all the company's agencies increased during the month and that "the August just past was the biggest in Fidelity Union Life's history."

West Texas District Manager Harold Steck led his agency force of eight to place his group in second place. Steck took over the West Texas agency in 1945 after 14 years with his company.

During August Steck's group placed $486,000 worth of life insurance in force.

Steck's agency is located in the Fidelity Union Life Insurance Building in Midland. Steck has been the company leader in production twice and has earned the National Quality Award of the Institute of Life Insurance three consecutive years.

Republicans Will Give Ike A Birthday Party

HERSHEY, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—Pennsylvania farm owner Dwight D. Eisenhower and his lady come back to the Keystone State Oct. 13 for a $100-a-plate birthday eve party. Republicans are planning for the President of the United States in this famed chocolate town.

Upwards of 20,000 people, 6,400 of whom will plunk down $100 each for the dinner, are expected to greet the President and his wife as they roll into the Hershey Arena in a horse-drawn buggy. The President has told planners he'll handle the reins of the buggy himself.

When this point was being discussed, according to Philip T. Sharples, the general chairman, Mrs. Eisenhower seemed a bit dubious of the President's driving ability. "Are you sure?" the First Lady asked.

Sharples said today the party, on the eve of the President's 63rd birthday, is expected to net the GOP $600,000. The Republican national committee and the House and Senate campaign committees will split $180,000.

Sharples said Mrs. Eisenhower, who owns a farm at Gettysburg, Pa., will simply greet the guests. "We asked that there be no formal address," Sharples explained. "And the President said, "That's easy."

Asked if the President will be given a birthday present, Sharples replied: "By all means. But that's going to be a surprise."

One thing the Eisenhowers will receive is no secret—that's a birthday cake, in fact several hundred of them.

State Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst is arranging for women throughout the Commonwealth to bake between 800 and 1,000 cakes. "Everybody will get a piece of Ike's birthday cake," Sharples said. "Then we expect that Mrs. Eisenhower will draw by lot a cake that will be taken back to Washington for the President's private birthday party in the White House next day."

Stanton Lions To Have Talent Show

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Lions Club plans to produce a talent show at the Texas Theatre here, Oct. 5, it has been announced.

The proceeds from the show will be used to buy equipment for testing the vision of students in the Stanton schools as well as those enrolled at Courtney, Flower Grove and Grady, in an effort to discover and help eliminate any handicap of vision.

Members of the Lions Club committee in charge of the production are Phillip White, Ed Robnett, Mrs. Hilda Weathers and John Housche, and they have requested that any person wishing to take part in the performance get in touch with one of them as soon as possible.

Companions Of Dead Convict Sentenced

NEWPORT, Ark., Sept. 12 (AP)—Two companions of a man who was shot to death by a police officer earlier this week were sentenced to the Arkansas penitentiary yesterday.

Billy Joe Goyer, 26, of Neosho, Kan., received an eight-year term, and Dennis Howard Gould, 17, of Odessa, Tex., five years on their pleas of guilty to charges of automobile theft. Circuit Judge Andrew Ponder imposed the sentences.

Goyer and Gould were with Russell Smith, 26, of Cherryvale, Kan., when he was killed in a gun fight with Patrolman Lloyd Hill at Truman early last Tuesday. They fled, but later surrendered.

Wife's Intuition Proves Correct

HOUSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Taxicab driver Malcolm R. Cooper found his wife on the front porch when he stopped at his home at 1:50 a.m. for a bite to eat.

"I can't sleep," Mrs. Cooper said. "I feel something is going to happen."

Ten minutes later a son, 10-year-old Stephen Cooper, was the victim of a .22 caliber rifle bullet wound to the head. He is in critical condition in City-County Hospital.

"I led my wife to our bedroom," the father told police. "The lights were off. I tried to get her to go to sleep. I was sitting on the edge of the bed when I saw a shadow in the hallway about 10 feet away."

He said he called but there was no answer, so he reached for a rifle kept behind the bed. "I eased the safety catch off," he said. "Suddenly the gun went off. I never pulled the trigger. It's a treacherous gun. I should have thrown it away a long time ago."

Stephen is one of five children.

Drastic Changes In Foreign Aid Urged By Congressmen

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — A cross-section of legislative opinion indicates the Eisenhower administration may have to make drastic changes in the form of foreign aid to get Congressional approval of any future program.

The foreign aid issue will be surveyed by a 17-member commission named by President Eisenhower last month. Clarence Randall, chairman of the board of Inland Steel Corp., is chairman of the study group.

Even before the study gets underway, however, leading members of Congress have made it clear some major alterations will have to be made in the program for which Congress this year voted $6,652,422,390, including 4 1/2 billions in new money, the rest in funds carried over from previous appropriations.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, has been particularly vocal on this point in a current tour of the Far East. Knowland's theme is that only those nations which demonstrate they can act effectively on the anti-Communist team should get further help. He said that applied to Asia as well as to Europe.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic floor leader, has said he has voted for his last foreign aid bill unless some European countries — particularly France and Italy — "set their house in order."

Before his death, the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) disclosed he had notified Harold E. Stassen, now Foreign Operations Administrator, that Stassen had better get ready to present an aid liquidation program to the next session of Congress.

There is evidence that the large bloc of Republican senators who often followed Taft's lead are as determined as he was to wind up foreign aid.

Transport Returns Personnel To U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP) — The transport Daniel I. Sultan arrived today with 1,342 military and civilian personnel returning home from duty at military outposts in the Orient.

The SS Rider Victory arrives this evening with the bodies of 24 Americans who lost their lives in Korea.

Tomorrow morning 377 prisoners of war, freed recently in Korea, return to the United States aboard the transport Marine Phoenix which is scheduled to dock at 9 a.m., PDT. Also aboard are 1,668 Army men returning on regular rotation from the Far East.

City Court Has A Light Run Again

Another light docket was disposed of in the Corporation Court Saturday morning.

There were seven prisoners charged with drunkenness, and three traffic fines were assessed. These were $5 in the case of a motorist failing to observe a stop sign; $10 on a speeding charge, and a fine of $7.50 against another for running a red light.

Cars In Collision Saturday Afternoon

A collision at 11th Place and Goliad at 3:45 p.m. Saturday involved a 1952 Chevrolet driven by Sgt. Charles H. Bussey of Fort Bliss, and a 1952 Chevrolet driven by Ora Barker Buckner, 1103 E. 4th, according to Patrolman D. C. Sanders, who investigated the accident.

Sanders said both cars were traveling east with the Buckner car in front. He said Mrs. Buckner stopped her car for the red light and the Bussey car crashed into it.

Test Set On Scrambling Radio Beams To Confuse Any Invader

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP) — CONELRAD, the tricky radio operation designed to thwart any effort to use broadcasting beams to lead bombers or guided missiles to American cities, will have its first national test next Wednesday.

A middle of the night affair (1:30 to 4:30 a.m. local time), you will have to stay up late or get up early to listen in on the proceedings, in which experts of Civil Defense, the Federal Communications Commission, and the Air Force will participate.

Because the tests are scheduled on local time, they will be just about winding up on the Atlantic coast when they are starting in the Far West.

Out of the experiment the three agencies hope to learn just how good is the device worked out to keep an enemy from homing on a U. S. target by getting a navigation

"fix" on a radio station in a large metropolitan area. In the last war, regulations called for a quick shutdown of all broadcasting as soon as an enemy approach was suspected. This robbed the enemy of direction

Crash Damages Two New Autos

What were probably the two very newest automobiles to ever figure in a collision in Big Spring got rather severely bumped near Johnson and 3rd Sts., Saturday morning.

Two brand new shiny 1953 Chevrolets had just been parked outside the garage and on the garage's property when a third car traveling down the street crashed into both of them.

The driver of this third car, listed as Adrian Sullivan, was arrested by police and charged with driving while intoxicated and for not having an operator's license.

Police also arrested a second man and charged him with drunkenness. They said he was the owner of the car that crashed into the pair of new Chevrolets.

Vocational Club Elects Officers

Big Spring High School Vocational-Industrial Club members Friday night elected a slate of officers for the school year and Saturday V-I Club sponsors of this district met here to map plans for the year.

Gordon Myrick was chosen president of the local club at the Friday night meeting in the high school vocational building. Elected vice president was Robert Broughton. Other officers named were Jane Buchanan, secretary; Arthur Sundry, treasurer; Bobby McCarty, reporter; Curtis Crabtree, sergeant-at-arms.

Sponsors meeting here Saturday were J. B. Whiteley, Big Spring; Walney Owen and J. M. Harlow, Abilene; Hoyt Byrd, Sweetwater; James Thomas, Merkel; John Mulkey, Snyder; Reed McFarland and Charles Hatchett, Odessa; Bert Afleck, McCamey; and Chester Wilson, Lamesa.

Guests included Leland Luchinger, Austin, state sponsor of V-I clubs, and Robert Knight, Ed Shive and Robert Burnett, all of Lubbock.

Suit Alleges Sale Offer Not Carried Out

E. W. and V. T. Anderson have filed suit for specific performance and damages in District Court here against Clyde E. and George T. Thomas.

Plaintiffs allege the Thomases have refused to comply with terms and conditions of an offer to sell their interests in Radio Stations KTXC in Big Spring and KFST in Fort Stockton. They say failure to comply has resulted in their being damaged to the extent of $50,000.

In their petition filed in 118th District Court, the Andersons allege that the defendants offered to sell their interests in the radio stations for the total amount they have invested plus six per cent per annum interest, and that the Thomases offered to purchase the Anderson interests on the same basis.

The Andersons allege that the offer was made in a letter dated April 17, 1953, and was to be open until May 1, 1953. They allege that plaintiffs accepted the Thomas offer to sell on April 30 and that the defendants have refused to comply with the terms and conditions of the offer, although requested to do so. The Andersons say that failure to comply with the offer has resulted in their being damaged in the aggregate sum of $50,000.

Service Set For Howard H. Cook

Funeral for Howard Howell Cook, 37, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Nalley Chapel. Mr. Cook, who had been ill since suffering a stroke three years ago, died Friday in DaMas.

The Rev. Maple Avery, East Fourth Baptist pastor, will officiate and burial will be in the cemetery at Colorado City.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. H. H. Cook, Dallas; two sons, Herman W. (Toby) Cook, Big Spring, and Harley H. Cook, Dallas; three brothers and two sisters; four grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Roy Harding, San Angelo, Emory Sweet, Westbrook, E. H. Wilson, Dothard Soehling, W. M. Dehlinger, R. L. Patterson.

Truck Is Stolen

Jack Bennett reported to the police Friday night the theft of his 1952 GMC pickup. The truck was recovered at Colorado City where it had been abandoned.

Prowler Reported

A prowler was reported at 1004 N. Lancaster about 11 p.m. Friday. Residents at that address said he was a white man wearing a white shirt and white trousers. He might have been wearing a union suit, they said.

House Probers Find 'Lavish' State Department Housing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Congressional investigators today criticized as "too lavish and luxurious" a 17 million dollar U. S. housing project in Bonn, Germany. The development was built by the State Department in 1951 to house American government officials and employees transferred to Bonn when the West German capital was moved there from Frankfurt.

Confusion Leads To Wild Goose Chase In Hunt For Wreck

Local officers, an ambulance and two wreckers Friday night swarmed over the south part of Howard and the north portion of Glasscock County in search of a wreck which occurred near Midland. The mixup started when operator of a mobile telephone called B1 Spring to request ambulance, officers and wreckers for a crash at the "Atlantic Refinery." Reception was poor and telephone operators lost contact with the mobile unit.

Midland Youth Dies In Two-Car Accident

MIDLAND, Sept. 12 (AP)—George Studdert, 17, Midland, was killed and seven other persons injured last night in a 2-car collision near here. Studdert died three hours after the car in which he and Jerry Smith, 16, Midland, were riding collided with an automobile driven by Rodney Earl Williamson, Pecos.

DEMOCRATS

(Continued From Page One) committee have no authority in the matter, that Morrow still is committeeman. Mitchell said he will welcome full discussion of the loyalty pledge issue in the hope debate will point the way to settlement of differences. Southern objection to the pledge is expected to be spelled out anew at the sessions. Mitchell was asked about the "controversy" at a news conference. "I'm doing all I can to encourage discussion," he replied. "I think any problem, or point of difference, will move toward solution if the people concerned think about it and talk about it."

Shivers' Re-Election Chances Explored At Committee Meet

By EDWARD H. HARTE MINERAL WELLS — "The real reason for this meeting is to feel out the various districts on Shivers' chances for re-election," remarked one high-ranking woman member of the State Democratic Executive Committee here Friday. If Shivers were to poll the West Texas members of the executive committee on whether he should run again, he would get two very similar forecasts: 1. He should run and will win easily. 2. He probably will have to run again, if the conservative wing of the Democratic party in Texas is to retain control of party machinery. But a few doubt the wisdom of running Shivers again. C. T. McLaughlin of Snyder says he would advise the governor to run again next year, despite the unwritten bar against seeking more than two elective terms. "It's our only out," McLaughlin said. "For the governor to continue his leadership of our wing of the party, it is essential that he continue as governor. As ex-governor he would be more or less forgotten. As for a successor, there are many who would make able governors, but they wouldn't be able to give the kind of leadership that's necessary if the conservatives are to retain control. Furthermore, Shivers has a national reputation far beyond that of any potential candidate. I consider that we're fortunate to have him for governor. There is no doubt but that he has been offered Washington appointments."

Many Convinced Shivers To Run For Third Term

By DAVE CHEAVENS MINERAL WELLS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gov. Shivers' speech to the State Democratic Committee here convinced many observers he will run for a third elective term. Others noted that the actual language of his speech yesterday was noncommittal and left the governor in his favorite political position, "keep 'em guessing." If Shivers should run, win and serve a full term, he would break all Texas precedents. Some of Shivers' friends are known to have advised him against the political dangers of seeking a third term. Shivers served the greater part of the term of the late Beauford Jester before he won two successive re-elections. Whether or not he will seek the office again, much of Shivers' speech was forward looking. "If 1952 was the year of decision for the Democratic party of Texas, 1954 will be the year in which that decision is ratified—or rendered empty and meaningless," the governor said. "It is a simple fact of political life that victory is never secure. It must be won again and again—and yet again, for each test is a new game and there is no prize for second place." It is common knowledge he wants to nail down the party victory he won in Texas when he challenged tradition to lead a large segment of the Democratic organization into a campaign for a Republican presidential nominee. He said he did it because the national Democratic party had deserted traditional principles and Dwight D. Eisenhower came closer than Adlai Stevenson to holding such principles. Yesterday Shivers said that could happen again. His speech carried that threat, along with another appeal to the Northern Democrats to try and get along with the South. He coupled that with stinging jibes at the Republicans—the same Republicans he worked with last November and many of whom voted for him for governor.

TSTA Secretary Thinks Progress Made On Salaries

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—The executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association said today he feels to share Gov. Allan Shivers' view that little progress has been made toward compromise on the issue of higher teacher salaries. "I still think that considerable progress has been made," Charles Tennyson said. He did not specify how progress had been made, saying only that he considered it a good sign when people on opposite sides of a question could "keep on getting together" to discuss a problem. Tennyson said the need for higher teacher pay is greater now than it was during the legislative session. The TSTA and administration forces deadlocked last spring on how to achieve a better pay scale. Shivers recently suggested solution of the issue might be reached if he calls a special session this fall, but since then he has said there appears to be little progress toward compromise. Tennyson said he understood there is now a surplus in sight in the state's general revenue fund which could be used to bolster teacher salaries. The TSTA's legislative committee met here today, but Tennyson said he did not know whether any decisions would be forthcoming.

C-City Man Still Unconscious After Car Crash Friday

COLORADO CITY—Archie Hill, 56, Colorado City, critically injured when struck by a car Friday night, remained unconscious here Saturday night. Both of his legs were shattered between the ankle and knee when he hit while crossing the highway two miles east of here. His right arm was broken and he suffered from concussion and bruises about the body. The automobile was driven by Mrs. James Hill, 25, Midland. Mr. and Mrs. Hill and their two small children had been visiting in Columbus, Ohio, and they were returning home when the accident occurred. Mrs. Hill told Sheriff Dick Gregory that the injured man was walking across U.S. Highway 80 and that as she attempted to avoid him, he ran in front of the car. Mrs. Lillian Wallace, Fort Worth, sister of the injured man, arrived here Saturday afternoon.

"It's too early to decide whether I'd advise Shivers to run again," she commented. "But if he decides to run, I'd go along with him," she added, echoing a statement made by all West Texas members of the executive committee. "There's a question in my mind whether it would be wise for him to run," she continued. "My county, Howard, is one of the few in West Texas that did not go for Shivers in his first term." Mrs. Hal C. Peck of Midland said emphatically, "I'd support him if he wants to run again." But some of the committee members just can't promise the district would support Shivers. There is

Governor Criticized For His Squabble With FBI

MINERAL WELLS — Democrats on the "hand-picked" State Democratic Executive Committee — a group very sympathetic to the aims and policies of Gov. Shivers — were inclined to criticize the governor over his argument with J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI. Hoover and Shivers have been conducting a public dispute over alleged "snooping" by the FBI in Texas civil rights cases. The feeling at the Executive Committee meeting was that the governor had put his foot in his mouth. Speculation at the Mineral Wells meeting was that the governor is already running for office. There's not much evidence, but here's what is pieced together: Two or three weeks ago the governor, at his press conferences, was talking about a special session. It was for drought relief, although when the drought was most critical in mid-summer Shivers was notably unenthusiastic about committing the state to any aid program. In the last few weeks, the drought has been at least temporarily broken in several counties, but the governor is still hinting that a special session of the Legislature will be called. Now the emphasis is upon increases in teacher salaries. The Texas State Teachers Association has finally eaten crow, saying that it wasn't "waddled to any particular amount"—after staging a long

Radford Rites Set For Monday

ABILENE—Funeral services will be held here Monday for Omar E. Radford, member of a prominent West Texas family who died in a Fort Worth hospital late Thursday night. He was 64 years old. Rites will be conducted at Elliott's Chapel at 10 a. m., with Dr. Harold Cooke, president of McMurry College, officiating. Burial will be in the Abilene Cemetery. Survivors are his wife, the former Annabel Birdwell, member of one of Big Spring's well-known pioneer families; a son, James Omar Radford of Abilene, and two grandchildren. Mr. Radford was vice president and general manager of the J. M. Radford Grocery Company, founded by his father. Born in Abilene, he attended the University of Pennsylvania. He was a former director of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, and a former president of the Abilene Fair Association. He was a Royal Arch Mason and a member of the Lubbock and Abilene Councils. He had lived in Dallas in the last few years, and was also a member of the Dallas Consistory No. 2, Scottish Rite Masons, and the Mosiah Temple in Fort Worth.

DR. E. H. RUDD OF SWEETWATER DIES SATURDAY

Dr. Edward Harrell Rudd, 73, prominent West Texas rancher and dentist, died in a hospital here Saturday morning. He had been brought here two days ago from his home at 211 Mulberry in Sweetwater for hospitalization. Services will be held at the Cates-Spencer Chapel in Sweetwater at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the Arlington Cemetery at 10 a. m. Monday with the Valley Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. Dr. Rudd was born at Albany on Jan. 27, 1880 and was married in Arlington on Dec. 10, 1902 to Sara Elizabeth Elliott. In 1905 they moved to Coke County. In the intervening years he had practiced at Merkel, Roscoe, Crane and Sweetwater and had operated ranches in those areas. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Sara Rudd; a son, T. E. Rudd, Odessa; a daughter, Mrs. Jack Wise, Big Spring; a brother, Everett Rudd, Snyder; six grandchildren and one, great-grandchild.

ROK Cleanup Begun By Rhee

SEOUL, Sunday, Sept. 13 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee is waging a sweeping post-war cleanup campaign in a move he vows will rid the Republic of Korea Government of corruption and suspected subversives. Political and youth organizations were included in the reshuffle. In addition Rhee ordered the South Korean Army counter-intelligence Corps to investigate and arrest Koreans suspected of engaging in Communist espionage or anti-government activities. The Korean CIC recently arrested a well known South Korean newspaperman on charges of spying. Chung Kook Eun, editor in chief for the South Korean daily "Unhap Shinmoon" has been undergoing severe interrogations since he was taken into custody Aug. 31. Three high ranking officers of the South Korean army, including the former chief of ROK army intelligence bureau, Brig. Gen. Kim Chong Pyung, are now being tried by the high military court at Taeju on charges of violating the national defense law. The national police have arrested their former Assistant Director Kim Eang Bong on charges of plotting against the government.

BREAD PRICES UP A PENNY

Bread prices have been advanced one cent a loaf here. The advance applied to both the small and the pound and a half loaf (the previous 25-cent loaf at the counter). Brown and serve rolls were up three cents to the retailer. The increase tied in with a general pattern in West Texas. Baldrige announced the increase a day in advance and on the effective date (Thursday) Mead's met the hike. Friday Mrs. Baird's fell in line. There was no comment from official sources on the increase.

Panhandle Press Group Holds Meet

BORGER, Sept. 12 (AP)—Wes Izard, editor of the Amarillo Daily News, told the Panhandle Press Assn. today it is an editor's job to help the readers take interest and pride in development of their community. Izard spoke to more than 100 attending the meeting on the editor's responsibility as a citizen in his community. Other speakers were J. M. Stalworth of the Texas Daily Press League, who spoke on advertising methods, and Bill Miller of the Spearman Reporter. W. D. Glynn of the Amarillo Globe Times and president of the association presided.

Lucille Ball Testifies She's No Communist

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (AP)—Testimony of television star Lucille Ball that she was never a Communist but once registered to vote the Communist ticket to "appease an old man," her Socialist grandfather, was made public today. A transcript of the comedienne's testimony before William A. Wheeler, investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee, last Sept. 4 in Hollywood was released today by committee order. In the 27-page transcript of testimony under oath, Miss Ball summed up her feelings by saying: "I am not a Communist now. I never have been. I never want to be. Nothing in the world could ever change my mind."

HALF-DAY

(Continued From Page One) and half-day sessions will be started for second and third graders immediately. The plan will provide three sections each in grades two and three, leaving a room available for a third section of the fourth grade to use for a full day. Enrollment will be closed in the fifth and sixth grades at Washington, since those two grades are approaching the maximum loads. At the outset of the meeting, Miller outlined major problems that have confronted the school system since the war. Best solution to the Washington situation would be a new six-room wing, he said. Plans call for an eventual 24-room school there. However, Miller said the problems are not confined to the Washington district. "We have got to do something about our school at the airport," he declared. "Those people out there really have something to complain about."

He said EDC could prevent another Franco-German war "and nothing is closer to my heart."

Delegation From Congress To Visit Western Germany

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Appointment of a Congressional delegation for an official visit to West Germany today indicated an effort to strengthen relations with the anti-Communist government there. Senator J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) announced he and Senator Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) had been designated by Vice President Nixon to accept the German invitation and House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass.) will head a house delegation. It was learned Senate Minority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) had been asked to name two Democratic Senators to visit Germany and that the House delegation also will be bi-partisan. The German invitation was sent to President Eisenhower early this year but congressional sources said the State Department recommended the visit be delayed until after the German elections.

If You Hear Burglar, Don't Try To Be Hero

By JACK ERICKSON

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Sept. 12 (U)—If you hear a burglar rattling around in your bedroom, don't try to be a hero. Your best bet is to play dead to the world.

This advice comes from Prof. Richard L. Holcomb, State University of Iowa specialist in police methods and an authority on the lore of housebreaking.

A former Kansas City, Mo., police lieutenant, Holcomb has assembled a complete compendium of breaking and entering in a book called "Protection Against Burglary."

He worked both sides of the street in gathering his material. "I talked at length with several highly skilled burglars now serving time," he says. "I found that one kind of burglar actually prefers to work in the same room where his victims are sleeping—so he can keep his eyes on them."

This type of burglar can be extremely dangerous. If he disturbs your slumber, the best thing to do is just go right on letting him think you're asleep.

"Don't sacrifice your life just to save $50, $100, or even $500 a burglar may find in your room," says Holcomb.

Other pointers Holcomb gleaned from the men who know house-breaking best:

That house key you hide under the porch flower pot is duck soup for a burglar to find.

A skilled burglar can get through any door and into any sort of place.

If you keep your money at home (which is foolish) don't brag about it.

The best safeguard against burglary in a place of business is to keep it well lighted.

A smart watchdog is a good protection for your home, if he can be trained to bark and keep barking whenever an intruder comes around.

Some burglars haul away a safe, instead of trying to crack it on the spot, and open it at their leisure.

Most burglars, Holcomb says, tend to become specialists. Sometimes they even get into a rut.

"If a burglar has success in breaking in through rear windows, he may make a career of breaking in through rear windows even though there may be easier places to gain entrance."

On the other hand, some burglars are strictly opportunists. If they see a place that looks easy they'll break in on the spot without any advance planning.

Hearing Set On Labor Status Of Big Spring Firms

The National Labor Relations Board has set Sept. 22 as date of a hearing to determine whether operations of the Ideal and City Laundries of Big Spring come within its jurisdiction in labor relations.

The board's action followed a petition to it from the International Union of Operating Engineers (Local 826) for representation of employees, filed in Fort Worth Aug. 29.

The jurisdictional hearing is called in cases where no consent has been reached for an employee election to decide on a bargaining agent, and is designed to determine whether company operations are affected by the National Labor Relations Act.

SPRABERRY TREND AREA GETS NEW COMPLETION

Another Spraberry Trend completion is the Hall No. 1-B. W. A. Bigby, 660 feet from the south and west lines of a lease in Section 17-36-5a, T&P Survey.

It flowed 19 hours and made 378.48 barrels of oil through perforations from 6,772 to 6,828 feet.

Flow was through an 18-64ths choke and casing pressure was not reported. Tubing pressure of 400 was gauged.

Formation was acidized with 1,000 gallons and fraced with 6,000. Gas-oil ratio was 762-1, gravity 38.9, top of pay at 6,772. total depth 7,680 and oil string was set at 7,601.33 feet. Elevation is 2,722 feet.

Due to be completed as a shallow Sterling County discovery is the Harris & Walton No. 1 Davis, 330 from the north and east lines of Section 3-T, T&P Survey.

Operator is now taking potential after plugging back to 1,468 feet and setting 4 1/2-inch casing at 1,418, as a result of water between 1,500 and 1,510 feet. Total depth was 1,513.

Bailed was approximately five barrels per day from the San Andres dolomite. The section from 1,418 to 1,462 was then treated with 1,000 gallons, cleaned out and put on pump.

In 15 hours the well made 23 barrels of oil and no water.

Little Hope Is Held For North Luther Extender

Little hope was held Saturday for the Trans-Tex Drilling Company No. 1 Akin Simpson, 15 miles north of Big Spring.

Operator topped the reef at 8,020 feet. Water table in the Vealmoor pool stands at about 8,008 feet.

There was possibility the venture might complete as an extender to the North Luther area, however.

Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of Section 41-32-3n, T&P Survey.

The Phillips No. 1-A Reef (E. W. Roberts), 18 miles north of Big Spring, waited on cement after running 8 and 3/4ths casing to 3,217.65 feet and setting with 1,460 sacks. Its total depth is 3,460 feet.

The location is 663 from the south and 650 from the east lines of the northwest quarter of 25-43-3n, T&P.

Oceanic, Green and McSpadden No. 2 Lou Winans, 660 from north and 1,980 from the east lines of 25-33-3n, T&P, was drilling in sandy lime at 4,435 feet.

The Oceanic et al No. 1 J. F. Winans also was drilling sandy lime, at 3,340 feet. It is 660 from the north and 1,980 from the east lines of the south half of 25-33-3n, T&P Survey, a half mile south and west of Vealmoor.

Martin Wildcat Makes Progress

A Martin County wildcat, the Hall and Stewart No. 1 C. M. Brown, progressed to 7,270 feet Saturday in lime and shale.

The test is projected to 8,500 feet. It is located 660 feet from the north and east lines of the south-east quarter of 15-34-3n, T&P Survey.

The Texas Company No. 1-AH State in northwest Martin County still waited on pumping equipment, its status for more than a month.

Texasco started rigging up rotary for its No. 1-B Clayton, Borden County wildcat 12 miles southwest of Gall. It is 2,903 feet from the east and 663 from the south lines of 29-32-4n, T&P Survey.

Texas Company No. 2 Jones, 18 miles northeast of Gall, drilled in lime at 5,000 feet. It is 1,980 from the north and 660 from the west lines of the northwest quarter of 53-97, H&TC Survey.

Operators Drill 180 Wells In Week

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (U)—Operators drilled 180 oil wells in Texas this week, pulling the year's total to 7,329 compared with 7,680 a year ago.

The Railroad Commission reported 27 gas well completions, with the year's total of 675 well ahead of last year's comparable figure of 610.

There were 109 dry holes.

Wildcat exploration led to 23 oil wells, 66 dry holes.

One Completion And A Location In H-Glasscock

Both a completion and location were listed Saturday for the Howard-Glasscock Field.

Continental Oil Company completed its No. 30 Koch et al from 2,258 feet for 10.44 barrels of oil, 65 per cent water, on pump for 24 hours.

Pay was acidized with 1,000 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was nil, gravity 32, top of pay 2,258, depth 2,310 plugged back and oil string was set to 2,200 feet, perforated from 2,258 to 2,470.

Elevation to derrick floor is 2,728 feet on location 338 feet from the north and west lines of a lease in Section 13, Block 33, T&P Survey.

Shallow location in the Howard-Glasscock Field is the Continental No. 4-159 W. R. Settles, 1,760 feet from the north and 828 from the east lines of 18-29, W&NW.

It is on lease of 640 acres three miles west of Forzan and will be drilled with combination to 1,300 feet, starting at once.

2,819 Rigs Are Active During Week Of Sept. 7

DALLAS — A total of 2,819 rigs were active in oilfields of the United States and Canada for the week of Sept. 7, 1953, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company.

This compares with 2,783 reported a week ago, 2,816 a month ago and with 2,577 in the comparable week of 1952. A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks shows:

Iran's Future Worries Oilmen

By MAX SKELTON

HOUSTON, Sept. 12 (U)—Many an oilman is wondering what would happen if another 700,000 barrels a day suddenly were thrown on the world crude oil market.

Events in Iran made this possible, possibly 12 to 18 months from now.

Iran's oil has been practically shut down since mid 1951. Resumption of operations is the key to the economic problems faced by the new Iranian government.

The United States has made 45 million dollars available to the new government. The indication is that the United States expects Iran to get back into the oil business as soon as possible. That is about the only way the Middle East country can have an income of her own.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., with the British government owning 50 per cent of its stock, had built Iran's crude output to 718,000 barrels daily by the end of 1950.

A Nationalist movement led by former Premier Mossadegh, caused Parliament to nationalize and confiscate the country's oil industry in April 1951. Last year's production is believed to have averaged only about 21,000 barrels a day.

There were 87 Iranian wells in early 1951. The status of the big 350,000 barrels daily refinery at Abadan is unknown. Some crude undoubtedly could be returned to the world market on short notice but most oilmen believe it would take 6 to 12 months, possibly longer, to get the refinery back to peak output.

Many domestic oil operators, particularly the small or independent producers, are campaigning for federal controls over imports of foreign crude. Oil from the Middle East has been a major target.

The American Petroleum Institute this week placed imports as of Sept. 5 at 1,021,000 barrels a day.

192 Braceros Are Sought By Farmers

Howard County farmers have signed up, through the Howard County Farm Bureau, for 192 Braceros, Cecil Leatherwood, president of that organization, said yesterday.

Leatherwood says it is anticipated 150 of these Mexican Nationals will be processed through the Eagle Pass recruiting center on Sept. 21 and that another 150 for Howard County will be received there Sept. 28.

"If farmers who expect to use Braceros will notify us as soon as possible," Leatherwood said, "we will try to have the workers here just when they're needed. It takes from eight to 10 days sometimes to get them processed after the request goes in and so if we can get requests in advance it will be a great help to us in rendering a more efficient service to the farmers."

The office of the Farm Bureau is at 117 1/2 Rannels in Big Spring.

In Napoleon's time, engineers thought the Red Sea was 30 feet higher than the Mediterranean, but the cutting of the Suez Canal between the two bodies of water proved them wrong.

Buchanan Named As Luxembourg Envoy

DENVER, Sept. 12 (U)—President Eisenhower today appointed Wiley T. Buchanan Jr., Washington, D. C. investment executive, as minister to Luxembourg, succeeding Mrs. Perle Mehta.

The recess appointment is subject to Senate confirmation when Congress reconvenes.

Buchanan, 39, is a native of Grand Saline, Tex.

He is secretary of the Verdun Corp. of Detroit but makes his home in the nation's capital.

From 1946 to 1948 Buchanan worked for the government, serving on the Office of Production Management and later in the War Production Board.

Since 1948 he has been in the capital investment business.

Mrs. Mehta, who has resigned, was appointed to the Luxembourg post by former President Truman.

Lutheran Men Slate Session Here Today

Delegates to a zone organizational meeting of the Lutheran Laymen's League were due in Big Spring today.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will be host to the delegates when they meet this afternoon to form a zone organization of the Lone Star District of the League.

A nominating committee is due to meet at 3 p. m., and the regular business session, at which proposed by-laws will be presented and officers will be elected, has been set for 4 p. m.

The Concordia Ladies Aid will serve a banquet meal at 6:30 p. m. in the education building of St. Paul's Church. Principal speaker at the banquet will be J. J. Junt of Houston, president of the Lone Star District.

H. B. Schauer of Midland, district governor, is scheduled to be here for the session. The Rev. A. H. Hoyer, pastor of St. Paul's Church, will be rally pastoral advisor, while F. G. L. Snow, chairman of the local Lutheran Laymen's organization, will preside at the rally.

Over 80 men representing at least 20 congregations are expected here for the session.

Bid Date Changed On Webb Theatre

Bid date for the Webb AYB theatre building has been changed.

The new schedule now calls for proposals to be opened after 2 p. m. Thursday in Albuquerque, N. M. where the U. S. engineers district office is located.

Previously, bids had been asked for Sept. 9. The theatre is designed to accommodate 600 persons. It is to be erected west of the headquarters area.

Steer Ball Luggers

SECRET DRILLS DUE

Steers Work On Offense, As Angelo Game Nears

As ready as a team can be, considering the time it has been working out, the Big Spring High School Steers will concentrate this week on the manner in which they will attack the San Angelo Bobcats in their opening game of the 1953 football season next Friday night.

Much remains to be done, and to see that it is done in the four days of practice remaining, Coach Carl Coleman plans to lock the gates at the practice field several days to see that his charges give him their undivided attention.

He has a few plays in mind for the Angelo game he doesn't particularly care for the Angelo team to know about.

The team is not at the peak of physical condition. Chances are James (Tiny) Ellison will be used sparingly, if at all, in the Bobcat tussle.

James Hollis has been out of the past week with an injured jaw. He may suit out for the Angelo game, but Coach Coleman probably won't use him, unless he has to.

Others of the lads are favoring minor injuries.

There is good news along with the bad. Buddy Cosby, whose knee was bothering him earlier, seems to be able to take more punishment than he did, and that is a lot. Buddy is the heart and soul of the defense and will play when the Steers are attacking, too.

J. C. Armistead, the club's star running back, apparently is over his illness, at which time he was running a fever.

Dickie Milam, a robust 180-pound guard, has reported for drills for the first time. Much is expected of Dickie, who is a brother to Jackie Milam, a regular on the team last year.

It may take Dick a while to get in shape but he'll be ready by the time the Steers start their conference play Oct. 16 against Plainview, which is what is important.

The team took time out Friday to give the Daily Herald's photographer a chance to get their pictures, then went through a series of calisthenics, led by Co-Captains Armistead and Louis Stipp.

Coleman dismissed the lads early in order to scout Breckenridge, which was playing Graham at home.

The biggest crowd ever to follow the local team anywhere for a non-conference game may follow the Steers to San Angelo. Interest is very high here for the Longhorns' opening game.

Angelo will be seeking revenge for a 33-0 defeat inflicted by the Steers last year. The Bobcats' fortunes are due to improve in District I-AAA play this fall. Coach Bob Harrell has some fine material in camp.

Hunters To Benefit From Hunting Law

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—A time table for sunrise and sunset covering representative parts of the state is being prepared for the benefit of Texas hunters.

Stations at El Paso, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Texarkana, Beaumont, Brownsville and Austin are submitting data to Hove S. Dunham, chief U. S. meteorologist in Austin.

He will prepare a chart of exact sunrise and sunset times for distribution by the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The old saying "they are able who think they are able" goes double in spades for the Big Spring High School football team this fall. Physically, the Steers can hold their own against any team, AAAA or AAA, in the state. There are those teams who will be instructed to try and outtalk the locals, however, and thereby gain a psychological edge.

A big tackle or a crashing end can strike terror in the hearts of the opposition, in many instances, merely by growling something like "Sonny, I'm gonna eat you alive on the next play." If the Longhorns are prepared to absorb such threats and reply in kind, the sky's the limit with them.

When they took the field for that scrimmage in Midland recently, more than a few commented on the great size of the Bulldogs. It dawned on them, as the game progressed, that they were equally as big and themselves will look like goliaths to most of the teams they face this fall.

Tommy McAdams, the Big Spring quarterback, is a boy who thrives on training. The aggressive youngster has gained weight since fall practice began, is about five pounds heavier than he was three weeks ago.

Ed Robertson, the former Coahoma mentor, is moaning the blues at O'Donnell. The drought caused 11 families of football players to move out of the area, including six boys who would have been regulars this fall. Add to that the fact that Ed lost ten of his 1952 starters via graduation and you get an idea of what he is up against.

He has only 22 boys out for practice. B and Freshman football teams have been combined at Snyder High School, due to a shortage of personnel.

Bryant Takes Verbal Job At Gridders

Richard Prahm, the former Big Spring fullback, recently completed 13 weeks of boot training with the US Navy at San Diego. Leon Lepard, the great Big Spring track champion of half a dozen years ago, is on his way out of the service and is due to enroll at ACC again shortly.

He'll be eligible for track there in the spring. Ouch! When Coach Paul Bryant of the University of Kentucky learned second-hand that a dozen of the school's football players had quit the squad, he said: "All we want on our team are players who really want to be football players hard enough to stick it out more than just a few days.

Naturally, we are sorry to see anybody leave, as that means we misjudged their qualities in considering them as candidates in the first place." Bill Montgomery, the ex-Big Spring High School student who went on to

Good Mound Work Went For Naught

Cotton Mize of Big Spring hurled a one-hitter for the Rendezvous softball team of Midland against the Stamford state champions last weekend, yet got beat, 1-0. The catcher dropped a ball while putting the tag on a runner. Roy Weeks, who used to hurl for Foran, worked for Stamford and gave up three hits. If Coach Carl Coleman closes the gates at Steer Stadium for secret football drills this week, he won't be setting a I-AAA precedent. Breckenridge and Vernon have already excluded the public from some of their work.

Bob Herdian of the Wichita Falls paper, who probably knows little more about the situation than Bonnie Prince Charley, has picked Breckenridge to finish at SWEETWATER, Sept. 12 (AP)—A 16-year-old boy starred in his first high school football game last night, unaware his father lay dead at home with a bullet in his head.

Harold Hobbs played brilliantly as his team defeated Levelland High School, 34-9, at Levelland. Hobbs, a sophomore, scored two touchdowns, kicked four extra points and was a leading ground gainer as he started his first year as regular left halfback for Sweet-

Irish Picked To Lead US

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Notre Dame, generally the people's football choice, is the pick of 171 sportswriters and broadcasters to be the outstanding college team of 1953.

The voters, polled by the Associated Press, put the Irish first on 84 of the ballots and shoved Michigan State, winner of the 1952 honors, to second place. Georgia Tech was a close third to the Spartans, each club getting 24 votes for the No. 1 spot in the annual pre-season poll.

The collegiate season starts this coming Saturday although college football action isn't general until Sept. 26.

The University of California at Los Angeles and Alabama complete the closely bunched top five and are followed in order by Oklahoma, Ohio State, Southern California, Maryland and Duke. In all 31 colleges received points in the voting.

The placing of Notre Dame at the top of the heap is another big step in the Irish comeback since the graduation of the mighty 1949 team.

Notre Dame, with an adept line shielding such backs as Johnny Lattner, Neil Warden, Joe Heap and Ralph Guglielmi, was popular among the sports critics in all sections. The Irish polled 1,688 points to 1,305 for Michigan State and 1,128 for Georgia Tech. The UCLA total was 1,055 and Alabama got 966.

The 1952 final poll ranked the

SW 11's Open With A Bang

By The Associated Press

Season opening comes for five Southwest Conference football teams this week.

New Saturday Baylor goes to Berkeley, Calif. to play California. Texas will be in Baton Rouge to meet Louisiana State. Texas A&M will journey to Lexington to battle Kentucky. Rice entertains Florida at Houston and Texas Christian begins the campaign against Kansas at Fort Worth.

Arkansas will open the season until the West Coast is perfect. The Bears have played only two, licking Loyola in 1938 and Washington State last season.

Texas will be shooting for its sixtieth opening-game victory in 61 attempts when it meets a Louisiana State team that has the edge over Texas in experience. Last year the Longhorns slammed the Tigers 35-14.

Rice will be tackling one of the nation's top-ranked teams in Florida, coached by Bob Woodruff, who left Baylor to go there three years ago.

Texas Christian will play Kansas with its No. 1 quarterback sitting on the bench. Mal Fowler must miss this game because he was injured in the opening game of 1950 and was out the remainder of the season. The conference ruled he would have another year of eligibility minus one game.

Texas A&M is due to have a stronger team than last year when the Aggies lost to Kentucky in the final minutes.

Breck Easily Licks Graham

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 12 — Breckenridge of District I-AAA, the defending state champion, steam-rolled the Graham Steers, 33-12, here Friday night.

Bill Dendy scored four touchdowns for the winners, three on passes from Kenneth Ford and the other on a handoff by the same player.

The other Breck tally occurred when Ford heaved a pass to Roger Hobson that carried 42 yards across the double stripes.

Breckenridge made 14 first downs to 12 for the Steers, picked up 207 yards rushing to 224 for the losers and added 262 yards on 12 passes completions, compared to 75 on four for the losers.

Burnin, Deavenport Win In Tournament

STANTON, Sept. 12 — H. C. Burnam Jr., Iraan, and Bob Deavenport, Stanton, were the big winners in the handicap golf tournament here at the Stanton Country Club recently.

Burnam beat J. W. Graham of Stanton two strokes in the top flight.

Deavenport won over Jack Arrington in second flight play.

Houston Woody and Spencer Blocker were winners of first and second flight consolation, respectively.

Gainey Shines But Colorado City Beaten

RANGER, Sept. 12 — The ability of Billy Gainey to kick the ball through the uprights after each scoring thrust enabled the Ranger Bulldogs to nose out Colorado City, 25-2, here Friday night.

Colorado City, with Hollis Gainey posing an eternal threat, out-gained the Bulldogs on the ground but was outclassed in the air.

Gainey scored two touchdowns for the Wolves on runs of 73 and 76 yards and set up a third tally with an 81-yard sprint that carried to the Bulldogs' 15.

Quarterback Billy Williams passed to End Don Filppen for 14 yards and the TD after Gainey's long run. Fullback Bud Windham churned across for the Wolves' other tally, from the 22-yard line.

Bill Brazda tallied twice for Ranger. Browning scored one six-point, in addition to his four extra points and Tommy Hinds got another on a pass from Scott Forsy.

Ranger led at halftime, 21-14. Colorado City led, 27-21, at one stage in the third quarter, however.

Williams passed to Darrell Robinson and Robinson went on to score. The play covered 30 yards.

It was the third time Coahoma had gone knocking on the door in the fourth round. Jimmy Spears had gone 40 yards for a score but the play was called back due to a penalty. Not long after that, Spears had moved 35 yards to the enemy

FORSAN LAUNCHES PLAY AT HOME ON FRIDAY

FORSAN, Sept. 12 — The Forson Bulldogs will open their six-man football season here next Friday night against Knott but their coach, Frank Honeycutt, is still seeking a game for Sept. 25.

Twenty-four boys have been working out with Honeycutt since Sept. 1. David Wise, a veteran defensive standout, has again been idled due to a cracked ankle bone. He will be out about eight weeks.

He was first advised against playing, due to an injury he suffered last year.

End Albert Oglesby and Quarterback Johnny Baum have been named co-captains of the Bisons. Both are juniors.

Harold Hicks, Sherman Padgett, Red Branton, Lonnie Martin and Robert Robinson are among those who have been looking to advantage in the Forson workouts.

Included on the squad are Bill Perry and Darrell Gaskins, transfers from Canby.

The Buffs won four games and lost twice in conference play last season. Against non-conference clubs, the Bisons tied one and lost two.

Forson's schedule: Sept. 18—Knott here. Sept. 25—Open. Oct. 2—Water Valley here. Oct. 9—At Sterling City. Oct. 16—At Mertzon. Oct. 23—Divide here. Oct. 30—At Blackwell. Nov. 6—At Garden City. Nov. 13—Open. Nov. 20—Christoval here.

Panthers Ramble Past Lueders

LUEDERS, Sept. 12 — Expert passing by Glen Cavitt helped the Hobbs Panthers to a 26-0 victory over Lueders here Friday night.

The win was the second of the season for the District 6-B power.

Lewis Hayes took two of Cavitt's passes for touchdowns while Jerry South grabbed another. A pass from Cavitt to Harden set up the other score. Harden then plunged for the score from the two-yard line.

Knowing Dove's Diet Will Help

AUSTIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Watch for food and water areas if you're having trouble locating mourning dove targets. Game Commission executive secretary Howard Dodgen advised hunters today.

He said north zone hunters who know the dove's diet have been having much better luck than those who tried to luck to find the birds.

Lindsey Seeking QB Replacement

GARDEN CITY, Sept. 12—Coach Targe Lindsey has concentrated the past week on trying to find a replacement for Truett Newell, a 160-pound letterman quarterback who moved into Big Spring.

His six-man gridgers open their season here Friday night in an 8 o'clock game with Flower Grove.

Garden City won eight games and lost two last year for one of the most successful seasons in Bearkat football history.

Such a standout performer as Bryant Harris, Larry Calverley, Wilburn Bednar and Bobby Frizzell will be hard to replace in the Kat lineup, however. All were seniors in 1952.

Lettermen back from last year's team include Marion Carter, 155, back; Gary Mitchell, 145, back; Alton Cope, 220, center; Jimmy McCorquodale, 170, center and end; Tommy Rich, 155, back; Darrell White, 155, end; John Daniel, 140, back; and Jimmy Smith, 155, end. Daniel will be out most of the season, however, due to a broken leg.

M. Carter, Mitchell, Richard Carter and Terry Tittle are the only seniors on the team. Richard Carter, a back, weighs 140 pounds; Tittle, a back, tips the scales at 130.

Cope, McCorquodale, Rich, White and Leroy Wooley, a 170-pounder who plays end and back, are juniors.

Smith is a sophomore, as are Daniel, Eugene Davee, 125-pound back; Don Davison, 165-pound center and end; Dale Hillger, 165-pound center and end; and Jimmy Nelson, 125-pound back.

Loren McDowell, 115-pound back is the lone freshman on the team. The Bearkats lost only to Christoval, the titlist, in district play in 1952.

The schedule: Sept. 18—Flower Grove here. Sept. 25—Ackerly here. Oct. 2—Blackwell away. Oct. 9—Divide here. Oct. 16—Sterling City away. Oct. 23—Mertzon away. Oct. 23—Christoval here. Nov. 6—Forsan here. Nov. 13—Water Valley here.

Queen's Horse Is Defeated

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 12 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II added a bright new title to her royal collection today—that of a sporting loser.

The 26-year-old sovereign, flushed with excitement, came to the Town Moore course here to watch her handsome 3-year-old chestnut colt Aureole run in the historic St. Leger, oldest of Britain's flat racing classics and the last of this season's big events. He was favored in the betting, 5-4.

But instead of a victory to round off her triumphant coronation year and make her the first reigning monarch to win the race since it started in 1776, the Queen and a record crowd of nearly 250,000 saw Aureole falter into third place.

A 10-1 shot named Fremontion, owned by Brig. W. P. Wyatt and trained in the Queen's stable, romped home to win $39,888 in the race over a mile, six furlongs, 132 yards. Three lengths behind came a French entry, Northern Light II.

Elizabeth shed no tears. She smiled broadly.

And the crowd loved her for it. The queen's first minister, 78-year old Sir Winston Churchill, a horse owner himself, was in the royal box to offer his sympathy.

For the Queen it was an old story of hopes misplaced. Twice before this season the high-strung Aureole had disappointed her. He ran second in the famed Epsom Derby and Ascot's King George VI and Queen Elizabeth stakes.

Broncs Rally To Gain Tie

ODESSA, Sept. 12 — Carl Schlemeyer led a last period surge that tied the Odessa Bronchos to the Port Arthur Yellow Jackets, 13-13, here Friday night.

Schlemeyer passed 15 yards to End Sonny McLaughlin for the tying touchdown in the last 17 seconds of play.

Schlemeyer completed seven passes on 13 attempts, good for 99 yards.

The Bronchos drove 97 yards for their last TD.

Port Arthur scored both its touchdowns in the second period, Glen Wylie accounting for both on keeper plays.

Odessa, held scoreless in the first half, came to life in the third after recovering a Port Arthur fumble in midfield. Dale Sherrard did the honors from the one. Schlemeyer kicked the extra point after the second touchdown.

Yanks Need Four To Clinch; Porterfield Gets 20th Win

Mantle Bashes Massive Homer

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Mickey Mantle crashed his third 500-foot homer of the season this afternoon as the New York Yankees overwhelmed the Detroit Tigers, 13-4. The 21-year-old slugger hit into the third deck of the distant left field stands with two aboard in the seventh inning, a session in which the repeating champions scored eight times.

The loss dumped the second place Indians 12 games behind the pennant-bound New York Yankees. Any combination of four New York victories or four Cleveland defeats will give the Yanks their fifth straight flag, an unprecedented feat.

The big Washington hurler led the way into the select 20 game circle one day after his teammates felled an attempt by Cleveland's Bob Lemon to crack through. The Senators whipped Lemon 6-4 last night.

Porterfield, a former Yankee, had a tough time squeezing through.

He allowed 13 hits, six of them in the last two innings when the Indians scored all their runs, but he hung on to finish the season against Cleveland with a 5-0 mark.

Level Off, There

Captain Bob Porterfield, in his first year as head football coach at San Angelo High School, demonstrates to a junior and candidate, Tommy Humphrey, how he wants him to get set for a quick back. Humphrey is battling for a starting spot. The Bobcats host Big Spring Friday night in the first game of the season for both teams.

BROOKS CLINCH NAT'L PENNANT

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers clinched their second consecutive National League pennant today as Carl Erskine limited the Milwaukee Braves to seven scattered hits for a 5-2 victory in weather more suitable for football.

It was the 10th National League flag for the Dodgers, who wrapped up the pennant with 12 games still to go.

Brooklyn got only five hits off Bob Buhl, Max Surkont and Lew Burdette, who tolled on the Milwaukee mound in a vain effort to prolong the hour of judgment.

Erskine, however, wasn't to be denied as the ace right-hander pitched steady ball to rack up his 19th victory against six defeats.

The Dodgers won their first National League pennant in 1950, and followed up with championship clubs in 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958, 1959, 1960, 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970, Thirty-Six Farm Workers Placed

Thirty-six agricultural workers have been placed in jobs so far this month, it has been announced by Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Kinney said that also during the same period 62 non-agricultural workers were referred to jobs and that of these 48 were employed. Fifty-four new applications have been filed and during the last fiscal month 55 weekly claims for unemployment compensation were filed. Kinney points out that this does not mean 55 persons filed claims since these claims are on a weekly basis and some persons filed for each of the weeks during the month.

Herbert Hoover Jr. Named Dulles Aide

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the former president, today was named a special adviser to Secretary of State Dulles on worldwide petroleum matters.

Hoover, a consulting engineer, formerly headed the United Geophysical Co. in the past 15 years he has been an adviser to various governments including Venezuela, Chile, Peru, Brazil and Iran on technical and economic problems related to petroleum.

Democrats' Big Show Will Open 2-Day Run In Chicago Monday

By RUSSELL LANE
CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Democratic party's biggest show since the national convention and campaign of last year will start a two-day run in Chicago Monday.

A $100-a-plate fund raising dinner at which top party leaders will speak Monday night, and the Tuesday night report by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential candidate, on his recent world tour, are billed as highlights.

Backgrounding these events will be two days of conferences which are expected to attract 2,000 Democratic leaders from all sections of the country.

The program proper will be preceded Sunday by a gathering of Stevenson, former President Truman, Rep. Sam Rayburn, of Texas, the House minority leader, and National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell at Mitchell's Lake Shore Drive home for luncheon and, no doubt, serious talks about future Democratic aims.

Committee officials expect a sharp row over Southern objection to the so-called loyalty pledge which, adopted prior to the 1952 convention, required all delegates to pledge to support the party nominees before taking their convention seats.

Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi has announced that he is coming to Chicago determined to get the pledge scuttled.

Mitchell says it undoubtedly will be brought up for discussion. But he says the Democrats attending the two-day party can do nothing about the pledge except discuss it. Its elimination—or retention—is a job for the delegates to the 1956 convention, he says.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who switched his support to Dwight D. Eisenhower in the presidential election, raised the issue of a loyalty pledge at a meeting of Texas Democrats Friday night. He warned national Democratic leaders the party faces the threat of losing Texas again if the leaders insist on purging dissenting Southerners.

"There has not been and never will be room for dictatorship by arrogant minorities, whether they come from the right or left," Shivers told the meeting at Mineral Wells, Tex.

He said he was not issuing a "rash challenge" to the national party leadership, and explained: "Rather, we are pleading with the party leaders to see that the key to party loyalty is not blind submission, but a feeling that the party is deserving of loyalty."

Shivers is among the Southern rebels who have elected to boycott the Illinois meeting.

Another pre-conference issue—an off-year party convention proposal—is expected to get nowhere. Doubtless both questions will be raised at conference forums.

Mitchell says there are three primary aims for the rally—to raise funds for reducing debt incurred during the 1952 campaign, to grid for the Congressional elections next year, and to review the record of the Eisenhower administration.

When he first announced plans for the rally last July, Mitchell said "we hope to sum up a little on the Republican performance and to make clear our own position."

Actually, the beginnings of the big two-day meeting go back to last winter, when three regional conferences were planned. Two were held at New York Feb. 14 and Los Angeles Feb. 26. They included fund-raising dinners but were strictly regional affairs and lasted only one day apiece.

Increasing business of Congress threatened to cut down attendance, so the Midwestern meeting was put off. When the time came to fix a date as adjournment of Congress neared, Mitchell said, "Such tremendous interest was shown by leaders in other parts of the nation, it was determined to include party leaders and officials from all over the country."

The dates for this week's meeting were influenced by Stevenson's trip abroad. Mitchell wanted to be sure the former Illinois governor would be back from his tour and caught up on the domestic picture so he could participate fully.

Stevenson had tentatively planned before he began his tour last March to make a public report on it. Mitchell arranged that the report be made Tuesday night, saying that time would permit many Democratic leaders to hear it in person.

The Stevenson speech, however, is sponsored on a non-partisan basis by a committee of 51 prominent Chicagoans, including a number of Republicans. Stevenson will deliver it in Chicago's Opera House and it will be aired by the National Broadcasting Co. Television net and the four major radio chains from 9:30 to 10 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, as a public service.

The dinner Monday night is expected to attract 1,300 to 1,400 paying guests from every state except Maine and Vermont. Hy Raskin, Mitchell's deputy chairman, said.

Thus far, a one half hour portion of the dinner speech program has been booked for televising by the American Broadcasting Co. as a special event. This segment will catch Mr. Truman, Rep. Rayburn, Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa, the toastmaster, from 9 to 9:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Stevenson is down for brief remarks at the dinner.

'Good Neighbor' Meet Scheduled Here Tuesday

The "Good Neighbors" will get together here Sept. 15, to talk over neighborhood experiences and plan for community participation in the 1954 Rural Neighbor Progress Contest being sponsored by The Farmer-Stockman, published in Dallas, in cooperation with Texas A&M College's Agricultural Extension Service.

Counties to be represented here are Howard, Scurry, Borden, Dawson and Mitchell. Participating in the program will be A&M's Farm Management Specialist Clifford Bates, and Home Management Specialist Eula Newman, and Extension Service workers from the counties named. Also scheduled to attend are T. C. Richardson, Texas editor of The Farmer-Stockman and Miss Katharine Randall, women's editor of that magazine.

The theme of meeting, according to Richardson, will be "Flowing the South Forty." He describes this as "the human element in the agricultural program."

The "South Forty" he explains is the rural community "where everyone counts one; where individualism survives as the basis of Christian democracy, and where collective action is for constructive ends, not predatory."

Richardson says the program is based upon the idea that the people are more important than the land and that "statistics on material resources and production are only the skeleton on which the flesh and bones of human values may build a good life."

Richardson says the primary purpose of the project is to emphasize the point that rural communities are still important to the towns and cities, but that neither the government nor the cities can do for them what rural neighborhoods can do themselves—restore community pride and the spirit of self-reliance.

The need, according to Richardson, is for rural people to tackle their own problems on their own initiative on a community basis.

He says the purpose of the Big Spring meeting will be to assist in laying the foundations for such projects in every rural community in the counties that will be represented here.

Pasadena Not Astir Over Kinsey Opus

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 12 (AP)—Dr. Alfred Kinsey's sex studies evidently do not arouse enthusiasm for public discussion in Pasadena.

There may be private discussion and book stores report brisk sales of the recent book on female sexual behavior written by the head of the Indiana University study of human sexual behavior.

But the Celebrity Guild of Los Angeles, which had hired a hall for a panel discussion tonight of the Kinsey book, has cancelled the program. The sponsors said last night only a few tickets were sold.

Among members of the Tuareg tribes of the Sahara Desert, the men wear veils day and night that cover all their faces except the eyes and the tip of the nose.

CRMWD Board Meets Monday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will convene Monday at 10 a.m. in the Settles Hotel.

One of the most important matters on the agenda, said E. V. Spence, general manager, is the ratification of the district's share of the bridge cost on a Scurry County lateral road that crosses the diversion canal.

The district, through its officers, had pledged this contribution in order that plans could proceed for the bridge. In turn, Scurry County officials granted permission to cut through the road with the canal.

Directors also will be confronted with the problem of how to handle rentals of sites on the lake shore. Price per foot may be established, too. Spence will make progress reports on the project. The big job of diverting the flood waters of Bull Creek into the Lake J. B. Thomas reservoir is about 65 per cent complete, the manager pointed out. Dear Skinner, contractor, hopes to button up this project in October.

Ready For College Term

The registration lines form again at Howard County Junior College this week, and young folk from hereabout will be signing up for a new term of work.

With registration set Monday and Tuesday, campus activities have been gaining pace so that all will be in readiness for class work and extra-curricular programs.

HCJC has several new faculty members who have arrived to get indoctrinated in local procedures. Students, too, are getting campus programs in readiness. Upper classmen are arranging to welcome newcomers, and to make them acquainted with organizations and programs in which they may serve.

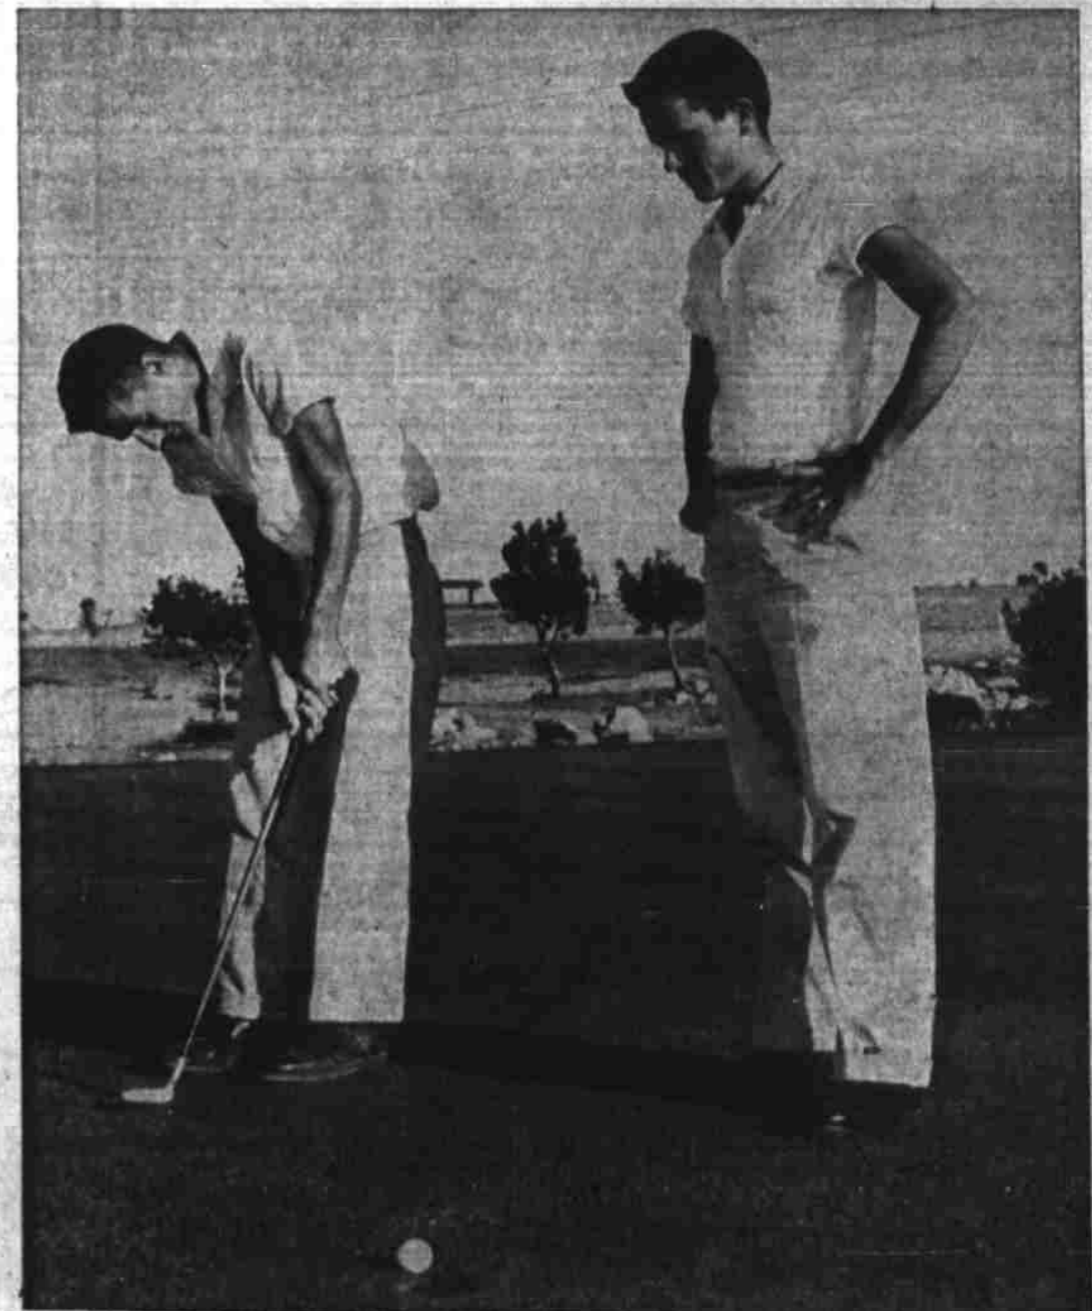

Some of the pre-term people and planning are presented in today's pictures.

FROM IRAN — Distinguished among HCJC students because they're a long way from home, are two young men from Iran. Sam Darehshari (at right in photo to the right), a second year student, takes a fellow Iranian on a tour of the library. The latter is Ahmad Hamidi, who will enter the college this term.

NEW TEACHERS — Ben Johnson (right, in photo at left) is a new member of the HCJC faculty who will be director of counseling and guidance, and has a look at a library book. He is assisted by Paul Vagt, new librarian at the college. Both came here from the University of Texas. Johnson also will teach educational psychology.

THE SPORTS SCENE — Howard County Junior College will not be without its sports program this year. People are familiar with the outstanding basketball teams at the college. There'll be a golf team, too, and two of its members will be Luke Thompson (putting, at right) and Marvin Wise, who hope to bring home some links trophies to HCJC.

Huff Dorward Peters Says Vows With Tulsa Girl In Church Rites

Julia Ann Hastings of Tulsa, Okla., and Huff Dorward Peters of Tulsa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto John Peters Sr. of Big Spring, exchanged nuptial vows Saturday at St. Francis Catholic Church in Tulsa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hastings of Tulsa. The Rev. Francis Wrigley, assistant pastor of the church, read the marriage ritual at 3 p. m.

Altar vases, tall baskets of white chrysanthemums, branched candelabra and commodore palms decorated the church.

Mrs. D. Pope was organist and Betty Jane Hoagland was vocalist. Music included "Panis Angelicus," "Ave Maria" and "Mother, at Thy Feet We're Kneeling."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white embroidered organza fashioned with a square neckline and short sleeves. The full tiered skirt swept into a demi-train and the fingertip veil fell from a pill box of matching organza. The bridal bouquet was of gardenias and stephanotis, showered with satin ribbon.

Mrs. R. L. Codrey Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, Marian Louise Hoagland the bride's cousin, and Beulah Mae Garrett were bridesmaids. The bridal attendants wore identical waist-length gowns of pink organza over taffeta. The gowns were embroidered with a floral design in white, and styled with three-tiered skirts. They wore stole jackets over the strapless bodices and bandeau headresses of pink velvet leaves and veiling. Their shoes and gloves were white.

The attendants carried cascade bouquets of asters in shades from pale pink to deep rose. John C. Ball was best man and ushers were J. H. McLaughlin, Robert A. Hastings and R. L. Codrey Jr. Marilyn Ennis as flower girl carried a basket of rose net and ribbon.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Denver and Colorado Springs, Colo., the bride wore an electric blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of golden feathered mums. The couple will live in Tulsa.

The bride was graduated from Marquette High School in Tulsa

Training Sessions Set For Next Week

Both beginning and advanced Girl Scout leaders will receive special training in sessions scheduled for next week at the Girl Scout Little House.

Basic training will be held Monday and Tuesday and Sept. 21 and 24, from 9 a. m.-12. Advanced training will be given Wednesday from 9 a. m.-12. Mrs. Leon Kinney, Girl Scout organization chairman, and Rex Browning, area field director, will be in charge.

and the bridegroom from Big Spring High School. Both have attended the downtown division of Tulsa University and the bridegroom has been a student at Oklahoma School of Accountancy.

A reception was held at the home of the bride. The table was laid with a white cut-work linen cloth. Pink flowers and tapers completed the table decorations. The cake was tinted pale pink and topped with sugar bells.

Mrs. Harry J. Rush, Mrs. George J. Rieck Jr. and Camilla Davis served refreshments and Elizabeth Stoppard was in charge of the great book.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's parents and his brothers, Otto Peters Jr. and Eugene Peters, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rieger, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rieger and Ann and Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeBee of Oklahoma City, Okla.

TFWC District Meet To Be Held In Pecos

Club women from the entire Eighth District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will attend a district board of directors meeting in Pecos Wednesday.

Mrs. J. S. Hendricks, president-elect, will be presented. There will be a discussion of current projects, which include the international farm youth exchange of Austrian Aid Scholarship, the mental health program and the General Federation project, the restoration of Independence Hall.

Workshops will follow the general discussion. Mrs. Harwood Keith, Eighth District president, will preside at the meeting. Guests speakers will be Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, safety chairman of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. L. E. Dudley, first vice president, TFWC, and Mrs. W. E. Cantrell, regional vice president, TFWC.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 a. m. with coffee in the Federation Parlor at the Community Center. Luncheon will be served at the Country Club to those who have made reservations.

All board members, club presidents and club workers are expected for the day, according to Mrs. Tracy Smith, Eighth District publicity chairman.

Wives Club To Elect

The NCO Wives Club will have a general election of officers Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the NCO Club. There will be no initiation fee for new members joining in September. All wives are urged to attend.

Press-On Patches Save Sewing Time

You may congratulate yourself on the current labor-saving age. Grandmother never had it so good. The latest thing on the take-it-easy front is the ready-made iron-on patch. In Grandma's day, patching a pair of pants was a tedious affair, necessitating careful matching of fabric, basting and hand-stitching.

Today's small fry like contrasting patches on their jeans or shorts, and today's smart mothers buy these in assorted colors to have on hand in case of emergencies, which always can be counted on to happen.

Denim press-on patches are widely available in a complete color range. These are first ironed in place over the tear, eliminating basting. Local sewing center experts remind us that it is important to reinforce the patch by stitching around the edges, thus eliminating wash-day hazards.

To make a decorative patch, use the zigzag stitch. If you own a straight-needle sewing machine, this is accomplished with the zigzag attachment, used in place of the regular presser foot and adjusted to the number 3 bite setting. If you have a swing needle machine, the same setting is correct, and no extra attachment is necessary.

Patches may be cut in amusing shapes and stitched down with contrasting thread to give new color to worn clothes. Many women find, too, that preventive patching is wise insurance. Instead of waiting until holes appear, they iron and stitch decorative patches over such points of wear as knees and elbows of clothes destined for rough treatment.

These jig-time patches will stay put through hard scrubbing and active wear and will streamline mending problems.

Companion Tweeds Gain Importance

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—The endlessly wearable dress-and-jacket costume in featherweight companion tweeds gains new importance in the fall collection of Grabols, a house not included in the New York Dress Institute couture group organization but nevertheless attracting wide attention among buyers and press.

Designed for the average figure and priced for the average budget, this group of dresses and costumes follows the slim line of the season, but eases the straight-and-narrow silhouette just enough for comfort.

Typical of the easy-to-wear costumes shown is one consisting of chiffon-weight tweed dress in charcoal gray, with a coordinated jacket of lightweight nubby tweed. The jacket has a fitted line and a smooth look through the shoulders the dress is slim, but the skirt allows ease for walking.

More extreme and definitely striking is a sheath dress embroidered all over in black sequins, trimmed with a white satin neckline bow.

Ben Zuckerman, also previewing his collection for the visiting press today, shows a distinguished collection of suits, coats and costumes featuring all variations of the jacket silhouette, from the short box variety to fitted, semifitted and belted tunic styles.

He features both bulky flecked tweeds and a lustrous satin-finish flannel that looks like broadcloth. Others showing in today's scheduled lineup included Carolyn Schnurer and Oleg Cassini.

An eight-pound leg of lamb will need about 4 1/2 hours in a slow oven; a five to six-pound leg will need about 3 hours. But if you want to be absolutely sure of the degree of doneness of your lamb, use a roast meat thermometer.

DON'T LET YOUR FACE TELL TIME!

CLEVELAND (Special).—"Women of the future will remain youthful-looking from ten to twenty years longer than they do today," says Bonnie Bell, youthful vice-president of the Cleveland cosmetic firm that bears her name.

With the rapid strides being made today by medical science in increasing life expectancy, the devilish problem of looking younger longer is hitting dangerously close to home!

Fortunately, one of the biggest medical steps already taken is the addition of estrogenic hormones to cosmetic preparations. Here's the news... Bonnie Bell has the wonderful answer—Plus 30 Hormone Cream!

It's a modern cosmetic that helps give your skin that "never-say-die" vitality without throwing your system out of kilter! It contains active hormones that help older skin look more youthful, tend to replenish nature's lagging supply of the substance that makes your skin smooth, radiant and pliable.

So don't let your face tell time... with Plus 30 Hormone Cream there's absolutely no need for it! Buy Bonnie Bell Plus 30 Cream, it takes so little time to apply and the results are wonderfully worth it! Buy Bonnie Bell Plus 30 Cream today! (Adv.)

Vienna To Texas— Tour Has Long Story

A chance meeting with an American couple on a train in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1952, was the beginning of the story of how Frau Renee von Bronneck of Vienna, Austria, came to make a lecture tour in Texas. Frau von Bronneck, now staying with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Little in Littlefield, will lecture in Big Spring Sept. 30 under the auspices of the 1905 Hyperion Club and the Modern Woman's Forum. In January Mrs. Little wrote

Congressman George Mahon, who reported that there was no quota for immigrants available. An Austrian could come here for cultural reasons, but she would have to be invited by an organization if she were to fulfill her purpose of deepening the friendly feeling between the two nations. So Mrs. Little went to Plainview to see Mrs. O. M. McGinty of Spur, president of the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Texas club women had become particularly interested in the women of Austria through last year's project, "Aid to Austria." Mrs. Little also talked to Mrs. Van Hook Stubbs, president of the TFWC, and finally secured an invitation from the Seventh District, as well as from organizations in Littlefield. Other obstacles were still in the way, however. Frau von Bronneck would not be allowed to bring any money to this country but she would be required to have 25 pounds with her for travel expenses. Furthermore, the embassy in Austria would not issue a visa until it had a report on her from Sydney, Australia, where she lived for ten years during the war. She had to have a clearance saying she had never been a Communist or Nazi. She was to travel on a British passport. By June 15 all the difficulties had been cleared away and a visa was issued to her. Frau von Bronneck has just begun her lecture tour in Texas and plans to conclude it in November. When she returns to Vienna, she will report on her visit to officials in the Austrian government.

Attractive Twosome

Ginger Rogers, one of Hollywood's favorite stars and a girl who still has one of the best figures in town, and her French husband, Jacques Bergerac, talk to Lydia Lane about beauty.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Keep Youthful Mind, Says Ginger Rogers

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Ginger Rogers and Jacques Bergerac are one of Hollywood's best looking couples. And Ginger remains as one of the town's most attractive and well-shaped stars. "How does she do it?" everyone asks. "What is Ginger's secret for stopping the hands of the clock of time?"

I mentioned these questions to Ginger one afternoon recently as we slipped fruit punch in her lovely house in Beverly Hills.

"Keeping fit is a big subject," Ginger said. "It goes deep. The obvious is to care for the body, but the secret is to watch your thinking. There is nothing which makes you grow old faster than to dwell on your last birthday."

"The thought of age carried continuously will be expressed," she added seriously.

"Will the reverse work?" I asked. "Can you think yourself into being young?"

"An old man once told me of an Indian woman who had no record of her birth. She was my nurse when I was a child, but looks the same today as she did then."

"Worrying about age is destructive," Miss Rogers continued. "I try to leave the past behind where it belongs. I believe we are as young as we THINK."

I asked Ginger how she felt about those who contended that we are what we eat.

"A person has a choice to keep a young body or let it become aged," Ginger replied thoughtfully. "Once you have formulated your desire, put it into action and follow through."

Ginger feels the decision is up to you—whether you prefer to eat for taste or for youth.

"Do you have a weight problem?" I asked.

"No," Ginger said. "Because I eat only when I am hungry and I never eat more than I want."

"You make it sound so simple."

"After all, your hand moves because your thought commands it," Ginger said with a smile.

"Dieting can be easy with the proper attitude."

We talked about clothes and their impact upon personality.

"Your appearance is vitally important," Miss Rogers commented. "You can't be at ease when you feel you are not looking your best. You can't help but have assurance when you are wearing a costume you know is becoming."

"But I am not at all impressed by an outward show," Ginger continued. "Overdressing is one thing I dislike, yet I was once accused of it. That was a long time ago but I remember a columnist wrote about me: 'What she didn't wear she carried.'" Ginger laughed. "If who like to keep an accent no matter how long they stay in a country."

I wanted to know his impression of the American girls and how they contrasted with those in France.

"European girls are more of a mystery," he said after a thoughtful pause. "This, I think, is because we do not have co-education. Here you find a camaraderie between men and women which does not exist in France. But I also feel the girls here are more competitive with men and perhaps less feminine."

Jacques left the room, and as a final question I asked Ginger how she retained her perfect, youthful figure.

"Do you exercise regularly?" I wanted to know.

"I don't do the setting up kind," Ginger explained, "but I do enjoy tennis and I play a lot. I also swim every day. With these two activities I have no trouble keeping in shape."

Miss Dawes, Billy Gay Repeat Vows

Dorothy Kay Dawes of Forsan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCall of Forsan, became the bride of A-3C Billy M. Gay, of Sheppard AFB Sept. 5.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Pendly of Coahoma. The ceremony took place in the home of the Rev. James S. Parks, pastor of the Baptist Temple. Rev. Parks read the ceremony. The bride wore a suit of blue rayon with white accessories and carried a white Bible. Her "something old" was a bracelet belonging to her mother. She borrowed a silk handkerchief belonging to her sister, Mrs. Hugh L. Tuck and wore a penny in her shoe and a pair of blue garters.

The bride attended school in Forsan and the bridegroom is attending school at Sheppard Air Force Base, where he is stationed.

CAPT. AND MRS. JOHN F. JOHNSON AND ANN LOUISE

Louise Hutchinson Weds In Church Rites

COLORADO CITY (Sp.)—Louise Adele Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hutchinson of Colorado City, became the bride of Owen Burtis Bennett of Tulsa, Okla., Saturday at 8 p. m. in the First Methodist Church. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Bennett of Tonkawa, Okla. The Rev. Jack Ellzey, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony. An arch of yellow candles, flanked by urns of white and yellow chrysanthemums, formed the background for the wedding party. Yellow candles in candelabra placed on each side of the archway completed the church decorations. Margaret Sewell was organist and Mrs. W. R. Martin of Lorraine, soloist, sang "Calm as the Night" by Bohm and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white length gown of white Chantilly lace made with a shirred halter neckline and multi-pleated skirt. The lace jacket, worn over the fitted bodice, had a rolled collar and bracelet length sleeves. A shoulder length veil of illusion embroidered with seed pearls fell from a Juliet cap. Her flowers were white mums with ivy streamers. Mrs. L. A. Stevenson of Lubbock, the bride's cousin, was matron of honor. Marilyn McEntire and Mrs. R. H. Ratliff Jr. of Colorado City, Carolyn Harris of Dallas and Mrs. K. S. Bennett of Denver, Colo., were bridesmaids of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. The attendants wore white length gowns of taffeta, fashioned with scoop necklines, fitted bodices, three-quarter length sleeves and bouffant skirts. Mrs. Stevenson was gowned in gold and the bridesmaids in shades of aquamarine and rose. They carried baskets of fall flowers and foliage. Doris Marie King of Muleshoe was the flower girl. Keith S. Bennett of Denver, Colo., was best man for his brother. Ushers were Lt. Jim Deaver of Barksdale Air Force Base, Everett B. Sacra of Hobbs, N. M., Robert H. Ratliff Jr. of Colorado City and Louis D. Washburn III, cousins of the bridegroom, of Fort Worth. A reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall. The table was laid with a white maderia cloth and centered with an arrangement of white asters. Silver candelabra held yellow candles. Hettie Adele Hutchinson of Abilene registered guests. Mrs. Louis D. Washburn of Fort Worth and Mrs. William Penn of Dallas served. Others in the houseparty were Joan Terry, Marcia Schmidt, Mrs. Todd Biggs, Mrs. Udell Moore Jr. and Mrs. E. H. Richardson, all of Colorado City; Frances Clanton and Eleanor Wheeler of Midland, Mrs. Robert King of Muleshoe, Mrs. J. D. Hinson of Lubbock and Mrs. B. D. McCluskey of Dallas. Mrs. W. C. Hooks and Mrs. Farris Lipps presented a program of piano music during the reception. The couple will be at home in Tulsa following a wedding trip to Mexico City and Acapulco. For traveling the bride wore a brown flannel suit trimmed in beige. Her accessories were beige and brown, and she wore a gardenia corsage. The bride attended North Texas State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Oklahoma University School of Engineering and is employed by Amerada Petroleum Corp. in the geophysical department. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Bennett of Tonkawa, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Starr of Mount Vernon, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Glenn of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Berli Raborn of San Antonio, Mrs. Otis Bennett of Gainesville, Mrs. John G. Kix and Mr. and Mrs. William Penn of Dallas, Mrs. A. E. Ewell of Memphis, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hinson and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Stevenson of Lubbock Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reeler of Meador, Mrs. Winston Sherwood of aClinesville, Mrs. H. C. Wheeler of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Wess White, Peggy White and Mr. and Mrs. San Goldman, all of Big Spring.

Johnsons Enjoy Books, Fine Music

An evening with a book and a pipe and fine music in the background are ready to be enjoyed in the living room of Capt. and Mrs. John F. Johnson at 1901 So. Monticello. Capt. Johnson is in charge of obstetrics and gynecology in the 3560th Medical Group at Webb Air Force Base. The pipes in Dr. Johnson's large collection are mostly just to be smoked, but one from Bavaria is a real conversation piece. Its long cherry wood stem and the porcelain bowl make it so unusual Mrs. Johnson is planning to hang it on the wall. The Johnsons' collection of classical records is only the beginning of a much larger one. Mrs. Johnson

REPORT TO PARENTS

Parents' Healthy Attitudes Help Handicapped Child

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Parents' feelings can be the best or the worst medicine there is for a child born with a physical handicap. If your child is born with a cleft palate, for instance, it is the most natural thing in the world to wonder whether something you did or did not do may be responsible for your child's trouble. This and other anxious worries of parents are likely to be felt by the child. Many parents have a very hard job in adjusting their feelings so they can look at their handicapped child first of all just as a child, then as a child who may have special needs because of his handicapping condition. Such parents often need help to keep their anxieties from being reflected by the child. One way is for them to get together in groups where they can discuss their fears with others facing the same problem and with someone who understands their worries and can help them. An example of this is a speech clinic held by the Connecticut State Department of Health to teach children with cleft palate to speak clearly. There, the speech teacher who was working with these children arranged for the mothers to hold a series of meetings with a medical social caseworker. The mothers were eager to participate. At each meeting a medical social worker was on hand to answer many of the technical questions those women raised; but it was the mothers themselves who led the discussions and did most of the talking. Some of the mothers wanted to know why their children were more "withdrawn and whiny" than other children. Some wanted to know if they were responsible for the cleft palate condition. They wanted to know whether or not their children should marry and whether, if they did, they might have children with cleft palate. In the early discussions, the mothers emphasized their concern about the cleft palate, about how the child looked, about his indistinct and nasal speech, about how other children acted toward him. Everything about the situation worried them. Gradually, after they got to know each other, and as their confidence in the social worker increased, their whole attitude changed. During the later meetings, they had begun to talk of their children more as individuals, who would grow and develop like other children, and who should not be over-protected or over-indulged in the process. They began to think about their schooling, about a great variety of recreational and occupational activities for them. They had learned, as have many other mothers and fathers, that a cleft palate is not by any means a hopeless handicap. They were strengthened by the thought of the thousands of men and women born with a cleft palate have become economically and socially productive members of their communities. Once parents can think, first, of their child as a person, and second as a child who may need special help, they will give him the best chance to grow into a useful, happy and successful adult.

Compliments

Everybody loves to receive compliments, but some people just don't know how to respond to them. Paying a left-handed compliment is said to be something of a catastrophe but not being able to accept a thoughtful comment is just as bad and it can be just the thing that will serve to write a "complimentary close" to your dating friendships. Many a boy rings his hands and strains his brain trying to think of something sweet to murmur to his best girl. After he finally happens on just what to say—blunt or awkward as it may be—he then must give himself quite a mental pep talk to get it out of the gray matter department and off the tip of his tongue. If you toss it right back in his face, even though it is unintentional, I can hardly blame him for shying away from you. But first, a word to tongue-tied boys. There are three kinds of compliments that rate ace high with girls. Stick to them and you'll have no trouble. First is your appreciation for her sense of good taste. This can apply to clothes, people, books—anything. Second, you can make her purr by telling her of something mighty nice that you overheard about her—or that someone else told you. Last, and by far the most important, is to show her your interest by how much you remember. Something she once said that impressed you, the fact that chocolate is her favorite flavor, Shelly her favorite poet, or maybe that you haven't forgotten her hobby is collecting perfume bottles. These are the things that inflate a girl's ego and make her feel warm toward you. Now for the girl who "really doesn't know what to say" and manages to say it—all wrong. If he praises your dress as becoming, for goodness sake don't retort, "This old thing! It's as old as the hills and really a mess. I should have thrown it away long ago." This sort of line just makes him feel like a dope with no taste who wishes he'd kept his mouth shut. Instead, smile and say, "Oh thank you, I'm glad you like it." However awkward the compliment, accept it graciously. With practice he'll get better.

A Bible Thought For Today -

Locusts, droughts, frosts, floods have required the husbandman to develop diligence, intelligence, courage. Great races do not arise from smiling, fertile lands. It takes hardness to make real men. "That which the canker worm hath left hath the caterpillar eaten." - Joel 1:4.

Well, What's Wrong With Moving School Classrooms Where Needed?

When you have too many marbles for one jar, you can spread the surplus out among other jars. When you have too many cattle for one pen, you can distribute the excess evenly among others. But when you have too many school children for one school, the easy formula fails. Each child is an individual problem, with possibly one or two parental problems to match. Thus it is that any attempt to equalize class loads will fall heavily and unpleasantly upon some. The wisdom of a Solomon could not work out a system that would be entirely equal and just, let alone satisfactory to all. Ultimately, the only solution is enough classrooms to meet the demand.

In this connection, we would like to refer to the "Rim" column of one of our staff members, Wacil McNair. His idea of portable classrooms might be taken easily as a facetious one. We believe there is a lot of common sense in it.

As was pointed out, the ideas in school building and design have changed so much that there is no longer any "standard" pattern. Architects have, and we believe wisely so, put emphasis upon functional concepts and economy of construction. Still, there are few communities which can afford to build even the lower cost modern types rapidly enough.

In addition, few can predict the shift in population trends within a given city over a long period of time. And even if the housing trend can be anticipated, the parental fecundity cannot. Today's neighborhood bubbling with youngsters may be one of staid middle-aged couples for the most part in a decade or two.

These scholastic bulges occur so rapidly and so unpredictably for localities that some means needs to be developed to deal with them promptly at the focal point. Why not classrooms that could be picked up and moved from a school district with dwindling enrollment to one with booming enrollment?

If designers and builders can make drawing rooms and bedrooms that move across the continent; if they can put an entire house on wheels, then they surely can produce a practical, functional, fireproof classroom that can be moved with a minimum of expense. State laws as well as sacred cows may prove obstacles, but we can ignore the cows and change the laws.

Confident Living - Norman Vincent Peale

Prayer Is An Amazing Power For Victorious, Useful Living

On a recent trip, I was sitting at an airport lunch counter, having a cup of coffee and a sandwich while waiting for my plane. I was thinking over a speech for that night when, suddenly, I became conscious of a man who slipped into the seat next to mine, picked up my check and said, "I'll take care of this."

Naturally enough, I was surprised and asked why he wanted to pay my check. "I owe you a debt," he said. "I've read your newspaper articles, and I needed the help you give to those having personal problems. I seemed unusually tired and nervous and things were beginning to get me down; so I began to follow some of the suggestions in your column - so I think I owe you at least the price of a sandwich."

"You wrote about two scientists," he continued. "These men claim that prayer is a real science and that the Bible is a scientific book. When they wanted to solve a difficult problem recently, they called in a third man because the Bible says that if three are gathered together they will receive help. And you said their prayers got remarkable results."

"That's so," I nodded, "those men believe the spiritual methods of the Bible operate with scientific precision."

"This was new to me," he continued, "but I had to try something. So I began to read the Bible and practice its techniques. I came across a passage in Mark which says: 'What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.' This meant to me that I would have to think more positively about the things I wanted in life and I tried doing just that."

"Unfortunately, it didn't work very well at first, and I was tempted to give the whole thing up. But I went back to that same Bible passage first and read the next verse: 'When ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.'

"Then I saw why it wasn't working for me - I wasn't forgiving people I knew. And the power of prayer and faith was being stopped by that resentment barrier and couldn't get through. So I went all out spiritually. I got down on my knees and had to pray quite a few times to get the hate out of my mind and heart. And then, suddenly, I began to feel that my prayers would get results. And they have. It is wonderful the way the power came through."

He concluded with a grin, "Things make sense when you pray."

How right he is. There is nothing old-fashioned about prayer, nothing stuffy, nothing dull. On the contrary, it is an amazingly workable power formula for victorious and useful living. The distinguished Nobel Prize scientist, Alexis Carrel, in his challenging new book, "Reflections on Life," a final summation of a lifetime of thought given to human problems, says: "Prayer does not consist in the dreary recitation of words whose sense we do not understand. Its effect is nearly always positive. Everything happens as if God listened to us and gave us a direct answer; unexpected events occur; mental balance is re-established; our sense of isolation and importance and of the uselessness of our efforts disappears. The world ceases to be cruel and unjust and becomes friendly while a strange power descends in our own depths." So says one of the world's greatest scientists.

What is bothering you? What is your trouble? What is your problem? What is your difficulty? The answer? Just start praying. First, fill your mind full of God thoughts and empty yourself of every bit of evil you have in you. Then, have the faith to pray great, big, daring prayers. Pray unselfishly with outgoing good will in your heart.

What do you want to be? Tell the Lord you want to be that. What do you want to accomplish? Tell Him. What do you want to happen? Tell Him. And believe. Be prepared for Him to tell you no, for sometimes we ask amiss; but also be prepared for Him to say yes. Things make sense when you pray.

Some Notes On Fox Hunting

A letter has come to me from Mr. Bill Wenzel, a Missouri man who likes to hunt foxes. He writes:

"The great majority of American fox hunters never kill a fox. As a matter of fact, if you wish to get scalped in true fox hunters' country, just try to kill one and let it be found out! They run with hounds, but do everything under the sun to keep from killing one. If the hounds catch one by chance, it is occasion for sorrow. The foxes, too, seem to enjoy the race; they are found in greatest number where they are chased regularly."

"When the hounds strike the trail of a fox, they usually have to 'cold trail' it. They pick up the scent from the ground, because the fox is cool and is walking carefully and isn't throwing off much scent."

"Not every hound is good at cold trail hunting. Usually about one good cold trail dog is found in a community, and his owner is a proud man. This dog leads the pack on the cold trail, and the rest follow along until the fox is jumped. Then the cold trailer usually is left behind in the rush. Noses are thrown high in the air, for there is where the scent is, good and hot. Ears and tails are thrown straight back, and the race is just started. Sometimes it lasts two or three days.

"Foxes sometimes follow a fence in the cold trailing stage, but not after being jumped. Then a fox would only lose valuable time by running on top of a fence."

"Since foxes run in a large circle, some dogs cut across to 'ambush' the fox as he comes around. Such a dog will cause a fox to get caught, and usually is left at home, or disposed of otherwise."

Several interesting points are brought out by Mr. Wenzel, but I think he goes too far when he suggests that foxes "enjoy" being hunted. This seems hardly more likely than that fish enjoy being hooked and then set free.

A Perspective Drawing We Like

Business Outlook - J. A. Livingston

Although Cost Of Living Still Goes Up, Pressure Is Definitely Off Production

You can't get away from Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson. He wields a lot of economic power in the United States. He influences the volume of defense contracts and cutbacks, and hence employment. But, and this may seem strange, he wields an even greater power as the past president of General Motors Corp.

Wilson's indelible stamp on the American economy is the cost-of-living wage contract. And it's about to come home to roost, like the surprise ending in an O'Henry story. It will roost not only on General Motors, but on Ford, Chrysler, International Harvester, General Electric, and almost any other company you can think of. It will affect wholesalers, retailers, bankers, stockholders, and employees. It is all-pervasive in our way of doing business.

Source Dept. of Labor Federal Reserve Board

Take a look at industrial production. Aside from the mild downturn in 1949 and the steel strike last year, production has moved up consistently in the post-war period. And wages have moved up pretty much with production.

That is the underlying basis - the economic logic - behind the cost-of-living wage contract. If production goes up, industry can afford to pay higher wages. Contrarily, if production goes down, so would wage rates.

The cost-of-living clause was the worker's protection against inflation. Wages would advance with prices, thus preserving buying power. As for corporations, during inflation they could afford to pay higher wages. High employment and high payrolls would insure high demand for automobiles, refrigerators, homes, clothing, and so on. High demand, in turn, would mean high production and high productivity per worker.

But here comes the O'Henry twist to the Wilson story. At the moment demand isn't rising. It's leveling off. And predictions of an industrial decline are multiplying. Standard & Poor's Corp., which publishes manuals for investors, envisions a decline of 1949 proportions. Fortune magazine declares the recession has already started. Among economists, Marcus Nadler, adviser to the Hanover Bank, New York, has joined the list of mild pessimists.

Reports of layoffs are increasing. The Budd Co. has cut payrolls because of reduced demand for automobile bodies. Studebaker Corp. is dropping 5,000 to 6,000 from work rolls. A cut in defense contracts has resulted in disemployment at Bell Aircraft, Buffalo. Farm equipment companies have had a succession of layoffs.

Yet the Bureau of Labor Statistics cost-of-living index, which fixes the rate of pay for General Motors and several million other workers, is still under the influence of inflation. In July, it climbed to an all-time high, pushing up the pay of nearly 1,000,000 automobile workers another cent per hour.

Nor is it certain that the index will decline in the near future, regardless of what happens to business. To be sure, food prices will drop with demand. So will prices of clothing and gasoline. Competition is a powerful influence in a buyers' market. And this is a buyers' market. Any used-car or appliance dealer will tell you that.

But the cost-of-living index still acts as if this were a seller's market. Rent, for instance, is making a record for last time. Landlords have just got out from under federal ceilings. Likewise, bus, trolley, and subway fares are going up. And same goes for telephone, electric, and gas charges. Public utility commissions, which tended to sit tight on rates during and immediately after the war, are now more liberal in granting increases. The same is true of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

That's why Wilson's formula pervades the economy. Business men face a built-in profits squeeze. Rising rates pushing against level or declining sales. International Harvester, for instance, has just upped wages while cutting output. Such economic perversion was not contemplated when Wilson and Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, first agreed to the formula.

As business men see wage costs holding firm while sales drop, they will press hard to cut costs. Layoffs might be accentuated. And plans for industrial facilities will be set aside. Expansion that seems desirable when sales are rising become superfluous when the business curve turns the other way.

At the moment, Department of Commerce-SEC figures on plant and equipment expenditures indicate another new high in '53. But '54 may be a different story. Steel operations are down 8 per cent to 10 per cent from earlier in the year. Steel scrap prices took another tumble last week. The iron ore index for heavy melting scrap prices is $38.67 a ton. A month ago it was $44.42. And Great Lakes shipments of iron ore are scheduled to end Dec. 1 this year, two weeks earlier than in 1952. This, because stocks are plentiful.

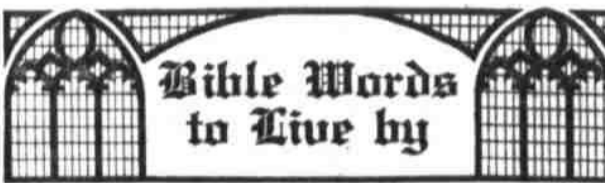

Conclusion: The pressure's definitely off production, but you can't find this out from the cost-of-living index.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

For their first item of business was the torrid Lyndon Johnson-Coke Stevenson battle for the Democratic nomination as U. S. Senator. The two previous weeks had seen a dizzy see-sawing of the head in that spectacular race as revised results came in from various counties. First one candidate, then the other went ahead, but never by a really comfortable margin. Meanwhile the candidates and their supporters hurled bitter accusations of fraud and worse crimes back and forth.

The committee stayed in session all day and far into the night hearing both sides of the argument. When they finally voted, the result proved almost as close as the popular vote - Johnson won certification by only one ballot. Another Johnson victory climaxed the fight on the convention floor. Bitter but undaunted, Stevenson forces kept on arguing right up to the Supreme Court, but to no avail. Johnson's 57-vote margin in the primary was all he needed to take the Senate seat.

GENESIS 22:8 "The Lord will provide."

This phrase from the book of beginnings and the life of Abraham has held a profound influence over my life since the day of my conversion. Whatever philosophy of life I possess is compassed with the simple truth of this statement.

To say I have been spared all trial would be dishonest. However, a greater dishonesty would be mine if I failed to shout to a world that worry and anxiety are gone. I can look to this simple truth and know that God will provide my real needs.

The calm assurance, even in the face of crisis, supplied by the simple acceptance of this sovereignty of God has made life for me truly free. So much of my life had been spent in looking to the world for my provisions, and the accompanying fear I had of that world because it might withhold my desires. Now in Christ, I know peace and security.

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY
Bureau of Naval Personnel
Washington, D. C.
To: Lt. Robert W. Whipkey, 285033-1455-AX3-USNR-82
Subject: Your status in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

The purpose of this letter is to advise those reserve officers who have not found it practicable to participate actively in the Reserve Training Program of their present and prospective status under the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952.

References are to Public Laws and various Naval Instructions which require that all reserve officers not on active duty meet certain minimum standards and qualifications, or be transferred to the Inactive Status List. . . The law also provides for numerical restrictions to be placed on the total strength of each reserve component. This feature of the law makes it mandatory that retention of reservists in any category be based on mobilization requirements, and that all members in excess of planned future requirements be separated from the Ready and Standby Reserve. It follows that the Retired Reserve must be restricted to those reservists who qualify by virtue of age and service rendered.

Officers who do not desire to retain their commissions are privileged to submit their resignations, for consideration on the basis of mobilization requirements. With regard to age in such cases, this Bureau is now recommending acceptance of resignations submitted by inactive officers whose ages exceed that indicated for their rank.

This, in substance, was a letter I received a few days ago from my old pals in the Navy. It was a lot longer and was a lot more technical, and just too, too formal, but the above will give the general idea. I felt it merited a reply:

Admiral in Charge of the Navy Boys, Washington, D. C.

I am going to be a lot friendlier with you than you were with me. In the first place, I wish you could have been a bit more informal, particularly with the way you addressed the envelope. When I got the thing out of the mailbox, and here was this "Navy Department" up in one corner, and my full name strung clear out across the envelope, with a bunch of numbers trailing after it. I faintly deduced away. I sure looked like another "Greetings" to me, and I didn't know but what another Police Action had come up somewhere, in which they wanted the Grand-puppies to man the bastions. Please, Ad, if you have to write me, do not address the letters so officially. Just make it to Bob Whipkey, Big Spring, Texas, or something like that. You scare the living daylight out of a guy.

In the second place, if you want to get me out of the Naval Reserve, you tell me said so in a lot nicer way. To tell you the truth, I have been wanting to cut it clean for some seven or eight years now, and would have exchanged farewell kisses with you at eight paces, on any parade ground of your choosing.

Why didn't you just say: "Congress has sliced the heck out of our money, and we had to look for a place to chop. It looked like the best thing is to get rid of all the old deadwood that has been on the rolls, and you happen to be part of the old deadwood. Go ahead and pack away your stuff, and hang up your American Theatre Ribbon, because we won't be bothering you any more."

That I would have relished, Ad. But you throw in a lot of stuff about "privileged to submit a resignation, on the basis of mobilization requirements." What does that mean? And you say that the "Bureau is now recommending resignations submitted by inactive officers whose ages exceed that indicated for their rank."

Now that's what hurt, Ad. You're just showing me out, like a worn-out shoe, after I gave you what has been fondly referred to as some of the best years of my life. Ain't you got no appreciation? I'll grant you I have been an "inactive officer" and just for the record, I'll report that it was by intent and design. I wanted to be, and hope to continue to be, just about the most inactive officer you've ever gotten on your roster.

But how do you know I'm so old? Have you looked at me lately? I wasn't any spring chicken when I got your first Greetings, and you felt I would do, with a few patches here and there. I've got nearly the same amount of hair I had, and I am only putting on glasses come this Michaelmas, and I can still get into the good old uniform. So are you sure you know what you're missing?

All right, if that's the way you feel about it, but I just wanted to tell you that you're getting rid of me in just about as brusque a fashion as you grabbed me up. You are not going to keep many friends this way. Yours in disillusionment,

BOB WHIPKEY
P. S. I checked again since I wrote you. I can't QUITE get in the old uniform, but I nearly can. A little gusset here, a little elastic there, and it would be OK.

Washington Calling - Marquis Childs

Canada And United States Must Cooperate On Defense Problem

OTTAWA, Canada - In the great empty spaces far to the north of the thin line of population in this relatively empty land, the future of the American continent - whether in fact it is to have a future - may be determined. This is one of the great cloudy unresolved issues about which the people both in Canada and the United States remain in almost complete ignorance.

If the United States with its vast industrial potential is to have a fair degree of protection from an atomic Pearl Harbor launched by the Russians across the top of the world, then a radar warning fence must be built somewhere to the north. But how far north, how extensive, how it is to be manned, all these questions remain to be settled between the two countries.

This is a part, a vital part, of the problem of continental defense with which the top policy-makers in the Eisenhower Administration have been wrestling for many troubled weeks. With President Eisenhower giving the final assent, the National Security Council has now agreed on a decision to let the public know at least the outlines of the danger and what can be done to meet it. This may also mean increased pressure to get on with a working agreement between the United States and the neighbor on the north that now and then fees itself too readily taken for granted.

There have been a half dozen technical studies of this problem, all of them highly secret. One was known as Project Lincoln, carried out by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for the Air Force. In a joint operation with Canada under the direction of Project Lincoln, some important tests were made in the late spring and early summer in the Arctic wastes on Canada's northern boundary.

The Air Force provided $20,000,000 to carry out these tests. They were concerned with such difficult technical questions as whether a radar warning system can function at that northern latitude against the interference of the Aurora Borealis and other natural obstacles. When the Northern Lights are active in the winter months, wireless communications are disrupted often for days at a time.

Study and appraisal of the results of the tests were estimated to take a year. Not until next spring therefore will the data be available. But many Americans and some Canadians are beginning to wonder whether the basic decisions can wait that long. For after they are taken, months and years of planning and construction will be required to build a fence which would give an attack warning of from an hour to two and a half hours for America's cities.

In the past Canadians have felt unhappy over widely advertised plans of the American Air Force to send bombers across Canadian territory to attack Soviet targets by the northern route in the event of war. It was felt that this might bring retaliation from Russian attacks falling short of the United States but causing widespread destruction in Canada.

Some of this apprehension has been removed by construction of the Air Force's great base at Thule on Greenland. The Department of Defense is currently taking a group of newspaper men on an inspection of that forward post for launching a retaliatory strike. If it is decided to build a far north warning system, Thule would also be a useful point from which to extend operations.

A joint Canadian-American radar network is now being built in what has been described as the "semi-northern parts of Canada." This will cost when completed hundreds of millions of dollars, two-thirds of which is being furnished by the United States, one-third by Canada. The exact amount is secret since it would reveal too much about our intelligence agents able to break down such figures. In a discussion in the Canadian House of Commons it was disclosed that construction and development of one radar station, at St. Margaret's, New Brunswick, had cost $23,238,685.

This warning system covers only selected target areas in the United States. It falls far short of the kind of protective alert urged in Project Lincoln and similar studies.

Here the experts disagree. General Omar Bradley, retired chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and a close friend and collaborator with Canada's Lieut. Gen. Charles Foulkes, Canadian Chiefs of Staff chairman, had long held that a truly effective system could be built by pushing north from the northernmost railway line. Others insist that the line must be started in the Arctic north and pushed south. But the measure of the gravity and the urgency of the problem was Bradley's final warning that it should be taken up as quickly as possible between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Celebrates 4th. Anniversary

FOUR YEARS OF FINE RADIO SERVICE

Just over four years ago a steel tower started pushing its way into the clouds on the edge of the City Park, and construction started on studios that opened their doors on September 12th, 1949. Radio listeners found new listening pleasure at a new spot of the dial—1400, and the consistent aim of KTXC has been to program towards the public's increased listening pleasure. An affiliate of the world's largest network, the Mutual Broadcasting System, Big Spring's newest and most progressive radio station presents radio's finest network programs each and every day of the week, together with locally produced programs that have Big Springers tuned to 1400 day in and day out. This week KTXC celebrates four years of broadcasting service to the community. Four years since KTXC first came on the air to bring the brightest programs, the best in music and the latest in news. For four years Big Springers have been tuning to the 1400 spot on their dial for the best in radio entertainment—and now, even more than four years ago, the public is realizing that from dawn til midnight they can be assured of the finest in radio entertainment by dialing KTXC.

K T X C PERSONALITY PARADE

Thumbnail sketches of the people responsible for bringing your way the best in radio entertainment over KTXC.

V. T. ANDERSON of Big Spring, president of the Big State Broadcasting Corporation, whose consistent policy towards better programming have resulted in only the best in radio entertainment over KTXC.

HARRY PRESTON, Program Director, originally from South Africa, whose background in theater, newspaper, radio and television in Africa and England provides a never-ending source of ideas which have resulted in some of the newer highlights over KTXC, including "Serenade in a Starry Night" each evening.

MIKE LING, news and sports director, whose rich voice is matched by a rich background in radio all over the country. Mr.

Ling has been heard over several networks, but has now settled with his wife and family in Big Spring.

A Message From KTXC'S PRESIDENT:

TO THE PEOPLE OF BIG SPRING

For the past four years we of KTXC have worked towards bringing only the best in radio entertainment to the people of Big Spring and the surrounding counties. I have seen our radio station grow from just another spot on the dial to a daily habit with many, many people, a habit that brings to all their favorite programs, whether they be a top-flight mystery, a favorite newscast or one of the many musical programs. It is only through the co-operation of our many advertisers, and the firm support of our listeners that KTXC has grown—and it will continue to grow. I must thank one and all for their loyal support and can promise that in the future, we will continue to give you only the type of radio entertainment that you want—and then only the best—the best in music, in news, sports and dramatic entertainment. You have shown us that there is a definite place for KTXC on your radio—and our continued efforts will ensure that place is one that every radio listener will hold dear, just as we take pride and pleasure in your support. Our grateful thanks on this our 4th anniversary. I hope there will be many more bigger and better anniversaries in the years ahead.

V. T. ANDERSON, President

ACCENT ON MUSIC

KTXC — "The Voice of Good Music" for Big Spring, supplies a long felt need in this section of the country, namely, for the better type of popular music. Programming towards better musical shows, KTXC provides the best in music every night from 8:15 on—starting with the Russ Morgan show, followed by Eugene Baird from New York, Dick Haymes at 9 p.m. and at 9:15, "Music in the Night"—a program of the public's favorite melodies transcribed for easy listening. "Music in the Night" is composed of request selections submitted by listeners, plus appropriate music designed for easy evening listening. At 10:15—"Serenade in a Starry Night" which combines music for quieter moods with gleanings from the best of the poets and philosophers. The public's response to the better type of musical shows over KTXC has proved without a shadow of a doubt that today's listening audience wants music—but only the better type that can supplement their evening mood of relaxation and enjoyment.

NEWS UP TO THE MINUTE

Not only does KTXC provide the latest from the wires of the United Press in their locally produced newscasts, but from the Mutual Network KTXC brings the up-to-the-minute commentaries of such famous personalities as Robert Hurleigh, Titus Moody, Cecil Brown, Gabriel Heatter, Frank Vandevanter, H. R. Baukage, Fulton Lewis Jr., Frank Singiser and Ed Pettit. Listeners know that for the latest

KTXC—Official Steer Station

Sports fans get their fill over KTXC, where every afternoon the baseball game of the day has been carried through the facilities of the Mutual Network, and with the football season upon us, KTXC will carry the regular Friday night football games of the Big Spring Steers in addition to the major football games over the nation. The latest sports news is included in all KTXC broadcasts, so sports minded listeners are assured the latest results by staying tuned to the 1400 spot on their dial.

"Wonderful City" Wonderful Program

The Mutual Network has always been first with the finest in morning programs designed with the housewife in mind. In addition to "Queen for a Day" and "Ladies Fair," Mutual's newest heart-warmer is "Wonderful City" heard every morning over KTXC. This is just another of the reasons Big Springers are finding increased listening pleasure by leaving their radio set at 1400 all day and every day.

POW Camp Comedy Now Showing At Ritz

William Holden stars in "Stalag 17," a comedy dealing with events in German prisoner of war camp during World War II. The film is showing today and Monday at the Ritz Theatre.

The movie, adapted from a Broadway success, features Holden as a cynical, sharp-tongued GI who spends his time scheming up rackets that pay off and trading with the Germans for special privileges.

He becomes the target of suspicion when it is feared there is a spy in the prison camp after two of the men are shot and killed while attempting to escape.

Shortly thereafter other events lead the men to believe that Holden is guilty and he receives a severe beating. He is determined then to find out who this spy really is.

Also appearing in the movie are Don Taylor and Otto Preminger. Preminger plays the cruel com-

Preview Of Sportscast Is Scheduled For Today

A preview of Bill Stern's new sports program, Sports Today with Bill Stern, will be carried over the ABC network this evening from 5:45 to 6 p.m., as an introductory to the regular schedule, which starts Monday.

The program will be heard regularly Monday through Friday on KBST.

ACE Sportscenter Stern will report on the latest happenings in the world of sports on the preview program to give listeners an idea of what to expect on the daily series. Weekday time of the program will be 6 p.m.

LUM 'N ABNER
Two of the most famous names in radio will return to the ABC network Monday, when Lum 'n Abner begin a new series. They will be heard over KBST at 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The program originates in Hollywood.

CRIME STORY IN 3-D OFFERED NOW AT STATE

The film offering at the State Theatre today, Monday and Tuesday is a crime story in three dimensions.

Starring in the picture are Edmond O'Brien and Audrey Totter. O'Brien plays a gangster who is freed of his criminal tendencies by a brain operation, losing his memory in the process. His ex-pals want a $130,000 payoff he cashed away before going to jail. They try to beat the information out of him.

Miss Totter, who plays his girl friend, uses a gentler technique but with the same end in mind.

The climax of the film is on the rocketing rides of Santa Monica's Ocean Park Amusement Pier.

Other highlights of the film take place in a hospital operating room and in the crossfire of a police car chase.

The picture is a Columbia Pictures presentation.

'Bachelor Mother' To Show At Lyric

"Bachelor Mother," naturally enough, deals with the troubles of a beautiful young sales girl who finds an abandoned baby and instantly incurs the world's suspicions. The film is set to show Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lyric Theatre.

Ginger Rogers plays the salesgirl in this comedy by RKO Radio. All her explanations are received with knowing smiles. The asylum heads inform the executives at the department store where she works, and thus the matter comes to the attention of David Niven, the boss' son.

Niven takes a personal interest in the case. He is convinced the baby is Ginger's, while his own father believes the baby's father is his son and that himself is the grandfather.

'Seminole' Is Florida Indian Story In Color

"Seminole," the Universal-International film showing today and Monday at the Lyric Theatre, tells of the last days of Osceola, famed chief of the Seminole Indians, as the Indians make the final stand in the Everglades at the time the government decided to move them to a western reservation in 1835.

Rock Hudson is featured as an Army lieutenant just newly graduated from West Point. Richard Carlson plays a sadistic martinet of a commanding officer. Barbara Hale plays Revere Muldoon, who was the lieutenant's sweetheart before he went away to West Point. Anthony Quinn, plays John Powell, who was raised with the lieutenant and is part Indian and part white.

Hudson defends the Indians' attitude of refusing to leave their beloved Everglades and Carlson begins to suspect him of being too sympathetic. Hudson visits his former sweetheart. When he asks her about Powell, she is evasive. Powell turns out to have spurned the ways of the white man and to have become Osceola, the chief of the Seminoles.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
by Harold R. Foster

Synopsis: THE DUEL BETWEEN PRINCE VALIANT AND RORY McCOLM, KING OF ALL IRELAND, ENDS DRAMATICALLY AND THE YOUNG PRINCE MUST FLEE FOR HIS LIFE FROM THE ANGER OF A KING AND HIS MEN. IT IS PATRICK WHO DELAYS PURSUIT AND VENGEANCE.

THE SHOUTING THRONG IN THE GREAT HALL GROWS SILENT. HERE ARE GATHERED ALL THE NOBLES OF IRELAND AND PATRICK PREACHES AS HE NEVER HAS BEFORE. HE MAKES THEM CHRISTIANS, HE PUTS AN END TO THE RAIDS OF THE SCOTTI AND HAS THEM BUILD A CHURCH THAT GROWS INTO THE CATHEDRAL WHOSE RUINS STILL STAND ON THE ROCK OF CASHEL.

RORY MIGHT HOLD BY FORCE THE THRONE HE HAS BEEN DENIED, BUT HE THINKS ONLY OF REVENGE-- TO SEE PRINCE VALIANT DIE IN THE CRUEL HANDS OF HIS CAPTORS.

HIS FRIEND, BRIAN O'CURRY, SUPPLIES VAL AND HIS SQUIRES WITH HORSES, A HANDSHAKE AND SOME GOOD ADVICE. "RIDE!"

RORY IS STILL KING UNTIL HIS SUCCESSOR IS ELECTED, SO HE ORDERS THE TORTURE CHAMBER PREPARED, AND CALLING HIS MEN TOGETHER SETS OUT TO FIND VAL.

NIGHT COMES, BUT VAL AND HIS PARTY RIDE ON IN THE DARKNESS, AND IN THE MORNING FIND THEY HAVE LOST THEIR WAY. HOWEVER, THEY KEEP ON IN THE GENERAL DIRECTION OF THEIR BOAT.

AT NOON, WHILE RESTING THEIR MOUNTS, THEY SEE THE FIRST SIGN OF PURSUIT.

NOW IT IS A RACE TO THE BOAT, AND VAL'S LIFE IS THE PRIZE.

NEW VEL*
MAKES DISHES SHINE
WITHOUT WASHING OR WIPING!
"VEL SOAKS DISHES CLEAN
— saves you all the hard work!"

DON'T WASH — JUST SOAK
 Dishes soak grease-free in seconds! No washing is needed. If food clings, a touch of the dishcloth gets it off. There's no greasy dishwater with Vel.

DON'T WIPE — JUST RINSE
 Yes! Just soak and rinse. Dishes dry streak-free without wiping! Even heavy grease in pots and pans is so completely dissolved no hard scouring is needed.

Package for package, Vel cuts grease better than the leading washday detergent, liquid detergents or soaps!

"and yet NO 'DETERGENT BURN' TO HANDS!"

PROVE IT YOURSELF!

"HAND-HEAT TEST" SHOWS WHY.

Dip hands in water. Then put a tablespoonful of any leading washday detergent in one hand — put a tablespoonful of VEL in the other.

FEEL THE HEAT from washday detergents, indicating irritating alkalis and harsh chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

FEEL NO HEAT WITH VEL because Vel contains no irritating alkalis or harsh washday chemicals to cause "Detergent Burn"!

VEL is a miracle of mildness! Vel helps you avoid rough, red hands — causes no "Detergent Burn"!

MarVELous for dishes and finest fabrics!

*VEL is the trade-mark of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

TOP O' TH' MORNING AN' THAT SORT OF BIJGE!

SYLVESTER'S GONNA BE "BACK-SEAT DRIVER" FER YER FINAL DRIVIN' LESSON, PETUNIA! I SHALL DO MY BEST TO ANNOY YOU!

THIS IS THE SILLIEST THING I EVER HEARD OF! BACK-SEAT DRIVERS IS A MENACE! YA GOTTA LEARN T' IGNORE 'EM!

OKAY, DOC, GET GOIN' WITH TH' HECKLIN'! MY TALENTS AS A THESPIAN WILL BE UTILIZED TO TH' UTMOST!

ZOUNDS, MY GOOD WOMAN, CAREFUL NOW! WATCH THAT CAR PULLING OUT FROM TH' CURB!

YOUR DRIVING IS ATROCIOUS! KEEP IN YOUR OWN LANE! WATCH THAT LIGHT-- IT'S GOING TO CHANGE!

PUT YOUR HAND OUT, SLOW DOWN, KEEP TO TH' RIGHT, STOP JERKING THE CAR! WAIT, PETUNIA, SIMMER DOWN! YER S'POSED T' IGNORE HIM!

EE-YIPE!

DO YOU THINK I OVERDID IT A LITTLE?
