Queen Of The Fiesta

Eva Chavez, Big Spring, presided as queen of the Independence Day celebration of area Latin Americans at Ackerly Friday night. She won the honor in a contest with two other beauties, Soila Reyna of Tarzan and Celis Barrera of Ackerly. The Diaz y Sies celebration, held at the pavilion at Ackerly, included entertainment and a dance. A large crowd of area residents with Mexican ties attended the celebration of Mexico's independence dating from Sept. 16, 1810. Primitivo Navarrete Jr. of Big Spring was escort for Miss Chavez.

Ike Wants Youth In Better Physical Shape

DENVER, Sept. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower today called on leaders in the world of sports, education and other fields "to help our young people become physically fit and therefore better qualified" for modern life.

The president sounded the appeal in inviting 139 such leaders to his vacation headquarters here for a Sept. 27-28 conference on the matter.

In a conference program message made public today by the Denver White House, Eisenhower told those invited to the sessions:

"Your willingness to participate in this conference shows that you share my concern about the fitness of our American youth. It is certain that we can and should do more than we are now doing to help our young people become physically fit and therefore better qualified, in all respects, to face the requirements of modern life."

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The elements were trying hard enough Saturday evening to give us some sorely needed moisture. We were in hopes that it would rain right quick before the Weather Bureau found out about the clouds, predict rain and ruin the spell.

As usual, there were no seating problems when the commissioners court held public hearing on the proposed budget. With few minor changes, the fiscal guide was approved in the amount of $771,000. The tax rate was pegged at $1.04, including a boost to the constitutional limit for the jury fund. This may be a psychological move in part, for when a reelection election is called, no rate increase would be involved.

Howard County Junior College enrollment showed no spectacular gains in head count, but the gain in full time students was considerable. Thus, when it comes to figuring out the semester hour load, the basis for state support, the institution will do far better than a year ago.

Under the realignment of districts announced by the Texas Inter-scholastic League, Big Spring will step up to Class 4A next autumn. That means we will be in the suicide circuit composed of Abilene, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, and Big Spring. We will need to add some seats to the stadium and some personnel to the junior coaching staff.

A referendum has been called for Oct. 15 on the county road unit system. Commissioners acted on a See THE WEEK, Pg. 4, Col. 2

Johnson Places Farm Supports At Top Of List

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson indicated today new farm price support legislation will be a first order of business when Congress resumes Jan. 3.

The Texas Democrat listed as other issues early next year: Social Security liberalization, federal aid for school construction, an expanded highway program and the Senate-passed Colorado River Basin project.

All these programs made some progress in either House or Senate this year.

Johnson gave no hint what form new farm legislation might take. The continuing decline in farm prices, a target of major criticism by Democrats and some Republicans, promises to be a spotlight political issue in next year's general election.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) said today Secretary of Agriculture Benson is directly responsible for dropping farm prices and should be removed from office.

The House voted 206-201 early this year to junk the Eisenhower administration's flexible price support program and restore price props at 90 per cent of parity for wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. The Senate took no action.

An indication of growing Republican concern on this question was seen in the selection of Vice President Nixon to open an administration counterattack in a speech today at the Washash, Ind., National Plowing Contest.

Benson has promised to take the lid off some "very specific" new farm plans when Congress reconvenes in January, but not to forsake his flexible support program.

Johnson steered clear of political aspects in the running farm fight. In an introduction to a summary of major bills passed by the Senate this year, and made public today, Johnson said:

"The crowning achievement of the session was to unite the nation behind a policy designed to protect our freedoms and preserve peace. The voices of discord were reduced to a minimum and the preservation of America was given priority over petty partisanship."

Johnson tossed an obvious rebuke at the Republican party in his praise of congressional Democratic support for administration foreign policy. He said Democratic leaders in Congress "unhesitatingly endorsed" President Eisenhower's proposal at the Geneva summit meeting for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection.

Demo Council To Name New Leader

DALLAS, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Democratic Advisory Council of Texas will meet Oct. 15 in Waco to name a successor to Jim Sewell, the Navarro County judge who resigned yesterday as council chairman.

The Council almost exclusively represented the national party organization in Texas since a conservative element of the party, behind Gov. Allan Shivers, split off in 1952 to support Eisenhower for the presidency.

The Dallas Times Herald said today two Dallas attorneys, Gerald C. Mann and Wright Matthews, are under consideration for the chairmanship. Both are now members of the council and played leading parts last spring in the "harmony tour" through Texas of National Chairman Paul Butler.

Martin County Case Scheduled

SNYDER, Sept. 17 (SC)—Trial of James Herndon, Stanton contractor, on a felony theft indictment is set for 10 a.m. Monday in 132nd District Court here.

Herndon was one of several Martin County men indicted as a result of an investigation of the county's financial affairs last summer. An early indictment against Herndon was quashed on technical grounds at Sweetwater, and he was re-indicted by the Martin County Grand Jury on the same theft of public funds charge. The new indictment was transferred to Scurry County, along with an indictment against Stanley Lewis, former county commissioner.

Trial of Lewis may come up in October. Ralph Caton, Martin County attorney, said. Caton, District Attorney Guilford Jones of Big Spring and District Attorney Renal Rosson of Snyder will represent the state in both cases. Judge Sterling Williams of Snyder will preside.

Transferred to Colorado City were similar indictments against Martin Commissioner Joe Froman and former commissioner Oliver Vaughn. These may be set for trial in October also.

James McMorries, former Martin County judge now serving three terms in the state penitentiary as a result of convictions on theft charges, was indicted along with the others in the Martin County investigation. He has been granted immunity in some of the cases in order that he might testify as a state's witness.

State's attorneys haven't announced whether they plan to introduce McMorries' testimony, however.

White Men To Trial Monday For Slaying Of Negro Boy

SUMNER, Miss., Sept. 17 (AP)—A sensational trial rattles the quiet routine of this little farm town Monday when two white men face charges of murdering a Negro boy who whistled at a white woman.

National attention centers on the dusty town built around the traditional court house square, half a mile from a main highway. It centers on a county where Negroes outnumber whites 3 to 1.

The slaying of 14-year-old Emmett Louis Till of Chicago brought a cloudburst of protest from other states.

Despite the state's taut race relations, Sheriff H. C. Strider said he expects no incident. He took off for a weekend trip to Atlanta and the Mississippi-Georgia football game.

There has been no repetition of the rumors of invading Chicago Negroes and threatening telephone calls which brought out the National Guard in Greenwood when the two accused men were in jail there two weeks ago.

The trial begins three weeks and two days after Till's body, a bullet hole in his head and a weight around his neck, was pulled from the muddy Tallahatchie River. The scene was a quarter of a mile inside Tallahatchie County.

The boy, visiting a tenant farmer uncle reportedly whistled at the wife of a storekeeper in Money, a tiny community in neighboring Leflore County, and some reports said he also made some "ugly remarks."

The climax of the explosive case begins with selection of an all-

Severe Storms Threaten East Coast, South Texas

TEXANS HAD GOOD INTENTIONS, BUT FEDERAL SNAFU CREEPT IN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Plans to send helicopters to aid flood refugees in the Tampico, Mexico, area were caught on a top-echelon snag today.

Several days ago, the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, upon request by Mexican authorities, had initiated a move to send the helicopters to flood-ravaged Tampico, Neville Penrose of Fort Worth, commission chairman, related.

An effort was first made to obtain the services of privately owned helicopters and when this failed Gov. Shivers submitted the request to 4th Army Headquarters. The Army headquarters in turn sent the request to the Pentagon.

Today, the Pentagon sent a telegram to Austin for delivery to Shivers, explaining that assistance to Tampico is not being provided.

The telegram added that the charge de affairs of the Mexican embassy in Washington has advised the U.S. Department of the Army that no request for assistance is being made by Mexican military authorities.

A spokesman for Shivers' division of defense and disaster relief pointed out in Austin that United States military equipment cannot be sent into Mexico except on formal request by the Mexican government.

Peron Issued An Ultimatum

By BRUCE HENDERSON
BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 17 (AP)—A rebel radio broadcast tonight an ultimatum that President Juan D. Peron resign by 6 a.m.—4 a.m. EST—Sunday.

The rebels gave no other details. But informed sources said the demand presumably was coupled with threats to bombard Buenos Aires and the coastal resort city of Mar del Plata.

The heart of Buenos Aires was blacked out tonight under warnings that rebel planes and warships would bombard the capital.

Inland, Peron forces claimed recapture of Cordoba, a major stronghold seized by the rebels Friday. The government said rebel survivors were "fleeing in disorder."

But a rebel station in Cordoba three hours later disputed this and said Peron must get out by Sabbath's "first light." It called for other military units to join in the rebellion, still not 48 hours old.

Government forces also said they have a combat group nearing the Bahia Blanca-Puerto Belgrano revolt area.

"With the exception of those focal spots of rebellion," said a government broadcast, "the most absolute tranquility reigns."

But the announcement of these provincial developments was paralleled by an order from Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, supreme commander of the loyalists blacking out the Plaza de Mayo area of downtown Buenos Aires.

The blackout order—unexplained—came after repeated warnings from rebel radio stations that insurgents would bombard Buenos Aires from the air and from the sea in their battle to drive Juan Domingo Peron from the presidential office he has held since 1946.

The rebels proclaimed a blockade of Argentina's coast.

Though the government has contended the navy is loyal, Adm. Juan F. Rojas said in a rebel declaration:

"All the fleet heads toward Buenos Aires. Triumph is near for the good of the fatherland and its institutions."

Across the broad River Plate—Rio de la Plata—in Montevideo, Uruguay, Communist China released a third American prisoner here today and half a dozen more were reported nearing freedom.

The first man who found freedom today was Lawrence R. Buol, 34, of Stockton, Calif. He came across chewing gum happily and looking fairly fit, although he lost about 80 pounds during his five years

Lynn County Race Threats To Be Probed

TAHOKA, Tex., Sept. 17 (AP)—A special session of the Lynn County grand jury has been called Wednesday to investigate "threats, intimidation, and destruction of property" following a desegregation ruling by the school board.

"The issue before the grand jury will not be desegregation for each is entitled to his own opinion but the issue is squarely whether or not mob violence can be substituted for duly constituted authority," a joint statement today from the county and district attorneys said.

The series of alleged law violations followed a ruling Sept. 2 by the school board to let Andrew Nance, 16-year-old Negro youth, attend the Tahoka High School as a junior.

The Tahoka Negro school offers only 10 grades. Nance asked in his application that he be allowed either to attend the white high school in Tahoka or that the school board finance his room and board so he could attend a Negro high school in Lubbock.

Young Nance registered at Tahoka on Sept. 2 and in a class meeting that day was elected vice president of the junior class. The youth has said he was accosted by three Tahoka men who threatened him with personal harm if he tried to attend the white school.

Witness In Bombing Case, Woman Held In Jail Here

Katherine Nelson, 45, wanted in San Angelo as a witness in the Weaver bomb-death case and in Big Spring to stand trial on perjury charges, was being held here Saturday.

Mrs. Nelson is the wife of Andrew H. Nelson, one of the men charged with murder in the auto-bomb slaying of Mrs. Harry Weaver at San Angelo last Jan. 19. Both she and Nelson were scheduled to be state's witnesses Sept. 25 in the trial of Harry L. Washburn, the other person indicted on murder charges. Nelson's attorney, O'Neal Dendy, says he does not have to testify, however.

Texas Ranger Ralph Rohatsch of San Angelo arrested Mrs. Nelson in Roswell, N. M., Friday and

Rain Torrents, High Tides Due Along The Gulf

By The Associated Press
South Texas braced for torrential rains, high winds and rising tides Saturday night as Hurricane Hilda headed for the Mexican Coast some 250 miles south of Brownsville. It was due to hit late Sunday.

The Brownsville U.S. Weather Bureau in a 6 p.m. bulletin termed Hilda, which is packing 100-mile an hour winds, "a severe hurricane" which is "increasing in intensity."

Rains were expected to start falling in the Lower Rio Grande Valley late Saturday night and continue through Sunday. Winds of 35 to 45 miles an hour were forecast in squalls as far north as Port O'Connor, Tex.

The Navy hurriedly flew its planes from South Texas to Dallas Naval Air Station, Lake Texoma and other refuge centers.

About 200 aircraft were flown out of valley Air Force installations Saturday. Harlingen AFB sent 52 transport planes winging to Sheppard AFB at Wichita Falls in North Texas, about 150 trainer planes were flown from the Mission, Tex., contract flying school to Laughlin AFB at Del Rio, far up the Rio Grande Valley.

Navy hurricane hunter planes returned to Corpus Christi after a 13-hour flight through Hilda, which they pinpointed at 6 p.m. as 300 miles southeast of Tampico, Mexico. Crewmen described the Hurricane as "average" with winds of 75 to 100 miles an hour in the center.

The plane started into Hilda's "eye" for about two hours while charting its course as west, north-west at about 12 miles an hour. Planes from the Naval Air Station will go out again Sunday morning for another look at Hilda.

Tides began rising at Tampico and worried officials considered declaring martial law if the storm strikes.

The Brownsville Weather Bureau said Hilda could change directions.

Small craft were warned to stay in port Sunday along the Louisiana coast. Tides two to five feet above normal were predicted. Beach parties were warned to get out of exposed places no later than Sunday noon.

The bureau noted the hurricane could "aggravate an already bad situation at Tampico" where over one-tenth of the city is under water from the raging Nueces River and 5,000 refugees are crowded into public buildings.

Residents of the Valley area, recovering from floods caused by repeated storm Gladys two weeks ago, were advised to take all possible precautions against new ones. Raymondville, Wilcely County, Texas, of 2,000, is only now drying out after being mostly under water for more than a week.

'Very Dangerous' Warns The Bureau

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Hurricane Ione, a major tropical storm more severe than either Connie or Diane, brought above-normal tides to the north Florida coastline tonight and posed a grave threat to the Georgia-Carolina coast.

"This is a very dangerous hurricane," the Miami Weather Bureau advised. It urged coastal residents of Georgia and the Carolinas to keep in touch with advisories all day Sunday.

On its present course the front edge of the storm would reach the coast late Sunday afternoon or early evening.

The great storm was located 380 miles east of Melbourne, Fla., at 8 p.m. EST. It was moving northwest at 12 miles an hour.

The highest winds measured by scout aircraft were 115 miles an hour, but the Weather Bureau said the storm may have winds "slightly higher than 125 miles an hour."

A hurricane alert was ordered for the Georgia and Carolina coastline. The Florida coast including Jacksonville was removed from the alerted area.

With the storm pushing into its threatening position, the Weather Bureau's storm warning center at Miami began to issue more frequent advisories and bulletins.

Maximum 125-mile winds are blowing over a small area near the center, but winds of hurricane force—75 miles an hour or higher—extend 60 to 80 miles in all directions from the center. Gales reach outward 275 miles toward the northeast and 160 miles southwest of the center.

A high pressure system to the north blocked any turn for Ione for the next 12 to 18 hours, and in the words of one forecaster, "by that time it will be too late for the hurricane to miss some part of the alerted area."

Ione continued to grow in size, and possibly will increase the velocity of winds thundering around the center.

Seas were becoming rough and tides increasing in the alerted area.

Her general path follows that of Diane and Connie, two August storms which lashed the Northeastern states, Diane with disastrous floods. Last year hurricanes Carol, Edna and Hazel swept the same general area with heavy losses in life and property.

While it is too early to tell where Ione will end up, forecasters made it clear they were most worried about the coast from the northern half of Georgia to Cape Hatteras, although the threat existed south-

Showers Over Area; Heavier In Dawson Co.

Rains of an inch or more fell over most of the rich farming area of Dawson County Saturday, booming late feed prospects and boosting cotton estimates.

Big Spring and much of the north part of Howard County got 4 of an inch. Toward the northern fringes the amounts increased.

Ackerly reported the heaviest precipitation with 1.5 inches. Immediately to the west of there there were reports of still heavier showers.

Lamesa's official weather station gauged .98 of an inch moisture, and reports from every section of Dawson County reported an inch or more. Areas in the north and west parts of the county reported substantially more.

Rains fell in the Lake J. B. Thomas watershed, but although information was sketchy, indications were that most of the moisture penetrated the thirsty rangelands.

Heaviest part of the rain came shortly after 2 p.m. in most of the areas. Lamesa reported half an inch in about an hour's time, and bulk of the moisture at Ackerly came in a brisk rain that got there.

Lee Roy Colgan, farm agent for Dawson County, said that late feed crops in that sector would be helped tremendously. Yields now will increase in proportion to the lateness of frost, he predicted. Colgan also thought that the estimate of 75,000 bales of cotton—made prior to the showers—would have to be raised somewhat. There was so little cotton open in the fields that there was practically no damage to lint. Bolls now maturing will weigh heavier.

Coahoma reported only a sprinkle Saturday afternoon and at Stanton light rain and drizzle accounted for about .1 of an inch.

Another U. S. Prisoner Freed, And More Due To Be Released

By DAVID J. ROADS
HONG KONG, Sept. 17 (AP)—Communist China released a third American prisoner here today and half a dozen more were reported nearing freedom.

The first man who found freedom today was Lawrence R. Buol, 34, of Stockton, Calif. He came across chewing gum happily and looking fairly fit, although he lost about 80 pounds during his five years and eight months imprisonment—longest of the 10 American civilians whom Communist China promised at Geneva to release. Two years of his term were spent in solitary confinement, he said.

A short time after he was freed, Buol's wife Sue raced into his arms. "Doesn't he look wonderful?" she cried. They had been married six months when Buol was arrested by the Chinese Communists.

The Communists also released Bishop Alphonse Ferroni, 63, an Italian who said he had been a prisoner since 1951. He was so weak he had to be carried across the Shumchun River border. His stick-like arms bore marks of iron cuffs. But he told fellow priests "my mind is my own." He signed no confessions, he said.

Bishop Ferroni said six or seven Americans had boarded his train at Hankow and might have reached Canton, 80 miles from Hong Kong. Negotiations at Geneva by U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson got the promise of immediate release of 10 American civilians of 41 held in China. Twelve of the 41 are actually under arrest, were declared free to go when they chose.

The other 19 may appeal to Britain's charge d'affaires in Peking to help them get out.

Buol told American and British officials who welcomed him that "morally I was treated badly" but that he had not been treated too badly physically during his imprisonment.

Western Leaders Map Strategy For Unification Of Germany

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—High ranking diplomats of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany are gathering here this week to decide what pressure and inducements the West can use in an effort to get Russia to agree to German unification on Western terms.

The Western Powers, however, are determined to make the strongest possible campaign for German unification at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva beginning Oct. 27.

Secretary of State Dulles, who returned to his desk today after a two-week vacation, spent several hours in conferences with his chief advisers on plans for the Geneva negotiations and a number of other high policy issues he faces in the immediate future.

Conservation Developments To Be Seen On Farm Tour

Some interesting developments are in store for those making the short soil conservation tour Tuesday afternoon.

Federal Cheese Payments Come Under Investigation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—A congressional committee reported today that the "illegal payment" of more than two million dollars by the government to a group of firms dealing in cheese has been referred to the Justice Department.

Under "purchase resale transactions," the government paid distributors 37 cents a pound for the cheese, at the 90 per cent level, then sold it back to them at 34 1/2 cents, without ever taking actual possession.

Neighbor Problem

To the Editor:
I would like to express my views on this segregation business.

We and our neighbors have lived here in this North Side neighborhood for six years or more and have never had any serious trouble until a colored family with six children was allowed to move in as our next door neighbors.

A tire blew out on the Snyder Highway northeast of Big Spring Friday afternoon, ruining a house trailer and an automobile, damaging two trucks and hospitalizing a Hamlin man.

The tire was on a truck driven by James Alfred Hilliard, who was pulling a house trailer to Snyder where he hoped to secure a job.

Hilliard's rig bounced off the other truck, skipped past an automobile driven by Louie Young of Odessa, and struck the side of a 1953 Ford occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Marion Berry of Hamlin. Berry, the driver, received a shoulder injury, but was dismissed from the Malone & Hogan Hospital Saturday. Mrs. Berry was not injured.

Berry's car and the one driven by Young were following Cox's truck toward Big Spring. Hilliard was traveling toward Snyder. The front wheels and axle were knocked from the Hilliard truck and the trailer house was demolished. The truck driven by Cox and owned by Bill Frady of Odessa received only minor damage.

The accident occurred on "15-mile hill" about 15 miles northeast of Big Spring. Berry was brought to the hospital in a River ambulance.

Highway Patrol officers received a report of another accident about 12 miles northeast of Big Spring Saturday afternoon, but the vehicles involved were moved before they reached the scene.

Ozonans Fined At Coahoma For Slashing Casing

East Germans Take Credit For Release

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 (AP)—When Russia releases German prisoners still held here the credit will go to the East German Communist government and not to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

This was made plain at a news conference tonight by East German Premier Otto Nuschke, who told reporters:

"We East Germans started negotiating with Soviet authorities about these prisoners as far back as 1948, and since then have achieved the release of 18,000 prisoners. We did it long ago. Adenauer did nothing. The German Democratic Republic did the spadework and what Premier Bulganin promised Adenauer about the release of more prisoners was only the result of our work."

Nothing was said about the number of prisoners. The West Germans claim there are tens of thousands; the Russians put the figure last week at 9,626.

The white-haired, white-gloved deputy premier was reporting on the first day of negotiations between Premier Otto Grotewohl's East German delegation and the Soviet government in the Kremlin. He said the negotiations "will last as long as necessary."

Three Hurt, But Collision Avoided

A near-collision at Third and Birdwell Saturday afternoon resulted in the injury of three persons, apparently none seriously.

A pickup driven by Mrs. Henry Harris overturned and then bounced back on its wheels when it swerved to avoid a collision with a car operated by Roy Lewis Fleming of Brownfield, Highway Patrol officers reported.

Ex-GI's Wooden Leg Now In Museum

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—A battered, hand-carved wooden leg once the property of a former GI hero of a Japanese prisoner of war camp in Manila, now lies in the Armed Forces Medical Museum.

The wooden leg belonged to the former Pfc. Jose Sanchez, whose present whereabouts are now unknown. He once lived in Los Angeles.

Joseph L. Adeski, former medical service officer, turned the leg over to the museum, he explained the soldier gave the leg to him in exchange for a good one.

Contests, Speeches, Films To Highlight Oil Progress Week

A variety of activities and programs to mark annual Oil Progress Week, Oct. 9-15, were mapped at a meeting this week of the local Oil Industry Information Committee and the Howard County Wholesale Oil Men's Club.

General activities are under leadership of F. L. Austin, Tommy Gage and Charles Harwell, and these are arranging for special programs to be furnished during the week before the Jays-Cees, Optimist, Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and American Business clubs. They also will distribute posters and other advertising material.

During the special week, an oil development film "The Story of Colonel Drake," will be shown at the Ritz and Jet drive-in theatres.

Planned also is a "Lucky Folders" contest, in which service stations throughout the county will participate.

One of the key events of the week will be an appreciation banquet for service station operators and employes. This affair is to be directed by K. H. McGibbon, Mrs. Sue Ratliff, chairman of women's activities, is arranging for a display of the "Magic Suitcase" before women's clubs and other organizations. Special radio programs will be arranged by Roy Bruce.

Special events for younger citizens include an essay contest for High School seniors, a part of a regional event in which college scholarships will be awarded as prizes.

In addition there will be a speech contest for students in the Big Spring schools, with the talks to be broadcast over KOST and judged by members of the Toastmasters Club.

H. W. Smith, school activities chairman, will direct these contests. Essay entries must reach him by September 30, and local winners will go to the district committee by October 5. Winners will be announced October 14 and awards made at a meeting of the Permian Basin chapter of the American Petroleum Institute in Midland October 18. This chapter is providing the prizes.

Assisting Smith in the local essay contest will be C. C. Brunton for Fossan, Alex Turner and Tom Barber for Coahoma, and Cecil Shockley for Knott.

Host for a dinner at the Wagon Wheel, given in connection with the planning session, was Ted Groehl, county OIIC chairman. Attending were McGibbon, Smith, Turner, Barber, Roy Bruce, Mrs. Ratliff, Gage, Freedland Austin, M. O. Hamby, E. B. Stovall, Bill Frank, Merrill Creighton, Roy Shepherd, B. L. Coughlin, Bill Leach and Bob Merrell of San Angelo; and Stanley Wheeler of Stanton, who will direct Oil Progress activities for Martin County.

City Tax Receipts Increase In August

Tax collections for the city of Big Spring in August showed an almost $1,700 increase over that month last year. For the fiscal year to date, however, collections are running about $2,000 behind. These are the figures from the monthly report made by C. E. Johnson Jr., city tax assessor-collector.

The bulk of the receipts collected in August were delinquent taxes which totalled $3,380. Total of all taxes collected for the month is $4,472 as compared with last year's $2,796.

For the year through August, total collections are $14,875. Last year the tax assessor-collector's office had received $16,842.

Rites Pending For Veteran Lamesa Doctor

LAMESA, Sept. 17 — Funeral arrangements are pending for Dr. Liburn Echols Standifer, 60, retired Lamesa physician who died in the veterans hospital at Big Spring Thursday.

A daughter, Mrs. Marshall A. Pharr, resides in French Morocco, North Africa, and last rites are pending for her arrival. She was flying back to Texas Saturday.

Dr. Standifer suffered a heart attack and retired from active medical practice in 1950. He had been hospitalized for approximately three months.

Born in Tulla June 4, 1885, and started his medical practice at Lamesa in 1925. He was the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Standifer of Lamesa.

From Lamesa, Dr. Liburn Standifer moved to Junction and later to Turkey (Texas), practicing medicine in both places. After service in North Africa with the medical corps during World War II, he returned to Lamesa and purchased the Dunn Clinic, changing its name to Standifer Clinic.

Dr. Standifer was a member of the First Methodist Church here and also was a Mason and Shriner. He held membership in both the Dawson County and Texas Medical societies. He formerly was a Rotarian.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Edith Standifer of Lamesa, the daughter, Mrs. Pharr, whose husband is in the armed forces in North Africa; and one sister, Mrs. John L. Sallee of Lubbock.

The remains are to lie in state at the Higginbotham Funeral Home until time for funeral services.

OLD NAME OF DOUGLASS HOTEL IS CHANGED TO 'HOWARD HOUSE'

Effective Monday, it's the "Howard House." That's the new name for the Douglass Hotel, which has been operating as such in Big Spring since 1927.

The change of name is part of a complete renovating program at the hotel under new ownership of Fred T. Jeeter of Odessa, who purchased the property in July. Q. M. Taylor has an operating contract and will be in charge.

The "Howard House" was selected by a board of judges in a contest sponsored by the new owners to select a new name. The winning title was submitted by Joe W. Earnest, an attorney of Colorado City. Earnest receives a prize of $25.

Taylor said a general modernization program is under way, and that a new and modern dining room will be opened at an early date.

Pepper Rivals Magic Beanstalk

Mrs. A. L. Fortson, 1106 Sycamore, holds part of a pepper plant which has become a neighborhood curiosity. The plant, a volunteer, became entwined with a vine and kept on growing. Now it has attained a maximum height (or length) of 8 feet 2 inches. Top leaves are indicated by the white arrow on the roof. The higher this plant has grown, the hotter the pepper seems to get, said Mrs. Fortson. The pepper and the vine may be distinguished by the much smaller leaves on the pepper plant. # Council Issue Splits France And Morocco

PARIS, Sunday, Sept. 18 (AP)—Top-level government talks broke up early this morning with French officials and Moroccan nationalists still unable to settle the one issue holding up settlement of the Moroccan crisis—the composition of a regency council.

Further talks were scheduled later today. And hope was expressed that the one more day of discussions would bring agreement. The full French Cabinet also may be called into session.

Other parts of the French plan for semi-independence for the protectorate are ready to roll as soon as all sides agree on the three-man panel which is to take over the throne from the aged Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, who is unpopular among Moroccans.

The French and the nationalists have selected two members for the council but have not been able to agree on the third, who, in effect, would hold a balance of power on the body.

Today's negotiating schedule was announced by Pierre July, minister for Moroccan and Tunisian af-airs, after he left a meeting with Premier Edgar Faure about 1 a.m. He said the talks would resume as soon as everyone gets some sleep.

Top-level French ministers met for four hours yesterday afternoon with the nationalists and returned to confer past midnight among themselves.

Resident Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour du Moulin, who flew in from Rabat in answer to a government summons, joined the ministers in the afternoon session with the Moroccans.

Premier Edgar Faure was racing three "deadlines" in the talks with the nationalists. These were the United Nations Assembly opening Tuesday in New York, a rising tide of political opposition at home which could menace the Faure Cabinet when Parliament reconvenes next month, and an ominous restiveness among Nationalists in Morocco which could plunge the protectorate into another blood bath at any time.

Few Injuries, Little Damage In Collisions

Six accidents were reported in the city Friday afternoon and Saturday. No serious injuries or major damage was reported.

Lloyd Allen Morgan, 1307 W. 2nd, and Ralph Forrest Stewart, Big Spring, were drivers of cars in collision at Nolan and Seventh Friday about 6 p.m. Mrs. Ralph Stewart was carried to Cowper Clinic in a Nalley ambulance, but she was released after receiving first aid treatment. Morgan was operating a Yellow Cab.

At 2:45 p.m. Saturday, John Owen Patterson, Ruskin, Fla., and James Frederick Phillips, 507 Bell, were in collision at Fourth and Presidio. Five minutes later at Fourth and Goliad, automobiles driven by Minnie Glascock Kennedy, Knott, and James Austin Zachary, Ft. Worth, were involved in a mishap.

Samuel Stambler, 803 Pine, and Leonardo Quarrie Garcia, 307 NW 4th, were drivers in collision at Lancaster and Northwest Fourth. It occurred about 3:40 p.m. About 4:30 p.m., an accident at Third and Nolan involved Frank Edwin Hagar, Big Spring and Artie Nell Brown, Big Spring, 803 Ohio.

A car owned by Alvarez Fernando, 602 NW 4th, jumped a curb and knocked down a street sign at Northwest Fourth and Aylford. There was no one in the automobile at the time. Police said apparently the brakes didn't hold and the car rolled down the hill from in front of Fernando's home.

An accident which occurred last Monday was reported to police Saturday night. The accident apparently occurred at 8:30 p.m. Sept. 12 at Fourth and Scurry.

Drivers involved were Mickey Vaughn Russell, 1505 Scurry, and Geneva Reynolds Parrott, 500 Virginia.

That Elephant Is Hiding Somewhere

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Sept. 17 (AP)—An old hand from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus today took over the direction of the hunt for elephant Vicki—but Vicki wasn't to be found.

Louie Reed, head elephant trainer for the circus, arrived here by plane from California after a stop-over at Ringling's winter quarters in Sarasota, Fla.

He conferred briefly at the airport with Jack Partlow, owner of the amusement park from which Vicki escaped last Sunday. Then they headed for a wooded area near the airport where Vicki presumably had been holed up since late yesterday.

But two hours of search brought no signs of the wandering Vicki, who despite her 2,300 pounds has proven amazingly able to hide herself.

THE WEEK

petition asking for the referendum after the first such petition unwittingly asked for a vote to retain the present unified plan.

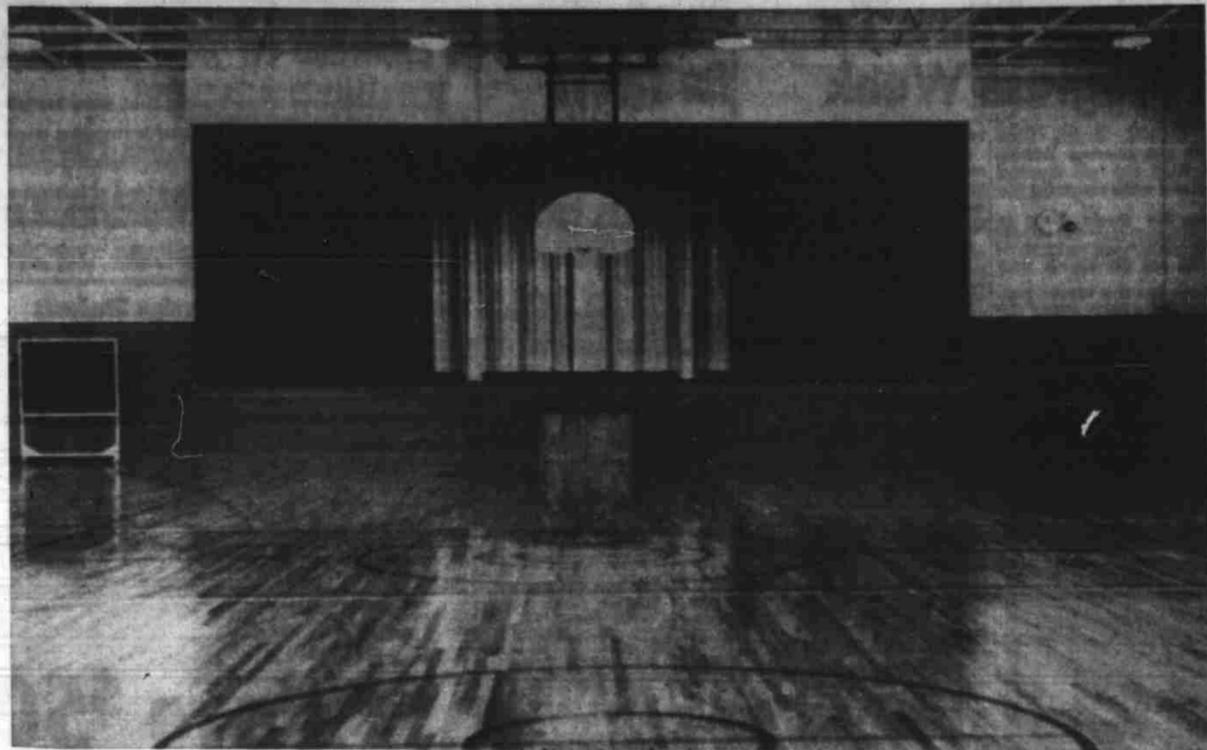

Fourteen years ago B. Murray took some pictures of a car wreck at 6th and Main. The other day he ran across the undeveloped film in misplaced holders. Just for curiosity he put the film through a d and came up with some pretty fair negatives. This is all the more interesting because as he recalled the expiration date had already been reached on the film when it was exposed.

Enrollment in Big Spring schools, after one complete week, amounted to 5,179 or about five per cent gain. While not so promising as in previous years, this did pose the need for some additional teachers. And to the board of trustees, this is a most perplexing problem because there aren't any applicants.

Term of the county engineer was terminated—or at least a terminal date fixed—by the commissioners court. When Foster Dickey, engineer, declined to resign, the court gave notice. The engineer asked for 2 1/2 months severance pay. Instead, the court pegged Oct. 15 as the quitting date and then allowed one week for accrued vacation pay.

If you haven't secured your tickets for the Big Spring Concert Association season, you are urged to get them as promptly as possible this week. Four programs have been booked, and as in the past there will be no single admissions sold.

Here's hoping that you will be watching next Saturday for the white cane sale sponsored by the Chesler Club. This is the organization of blind, and they always have a project to help some one else. Their sole source of revenue is proceeds from sale of miniature canes. So please be as generous as possible.

Part Of New Lakeview High School Plant

Now being used by junior high and senior high pupils in northwest Big Spring is the new Lakeview school plant. Modern in design and equipment, the plant includes a sleek gymnasium-auditorium (above) with pull-down spectator seats on the sides. Beneath the stage is a full-sized room for storage, and to the sides are dressing rooms for team members. Besides office space and classrooms the plant has a number of special rooms such as library, science laboratory, woodworking shop and home economics department. In the picture below a class of girls studies and gets pointers on some homemaking art. Near the building in the Banks Addition is an athletic field, which will be improved. Open house is planned later when all equipment has been installed. (Photos by Keith McMillin).

Nixon Promises All-Out Effort Toward Full Parity For Farmers

By IRWIN J. MILLER

WABASH, Ind., Sept. 17 (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon promised "unceasing" effort toward full parity for farmers Saturday because they are not getting their fair share of America's unprecedented prosperity.

But he told farmers at the National Plowing Contest the present flexible parity law can't be blamed for declining farm prices.

He put the blame on $4 billion dollars' worth of farm commodity surpluses, and he said they were born of wartime production rates and the former "rigid parity" law.

He accused administration opponents of making a "political football" out of the farm price issue.

"It is time to talk sense on the farm issue and to stop the demagoguery," Nixon told the big farm crowd after congratulating the two national plowing champions.

"There has been too much of a tendency in recent months to make a political football out of this issue. The new flexible parity law cannot be held responsible for the drop in prices. Almost two-thirds of the drop took place before the Eisenhower administration took over in 1953.

"The cause of the drop in prices is not the law but the market. If we want to get at the cause of lower prices, we must find a way to reduce the surplus.

"On the production front, a new flexible parity formula has been adopted, so farmers will not be encouraged to grow crops already in surplus. On the consumption front, we are finding new markets for farm products."

Nixon recalled that President Eisenhower, in a campaign speech at the 1952 National Plowing Contest at Kasson, Minn., promised farmers full parity.

"That was the position of the President in 1952. It is his position now," Nixon stated. "And the

Denies Guilt In Bank Robbery

HOUSTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—An Alabama ex-convict arrested here on charges of taking part in an $86,476 bank robbery at Jacksonville, Ala., said today "I am going to fight this charge because I am not guilty."

Richard C. Martin, 33, Anniston, Ala., was taken by six FBI agents in a private home last night. He had a pistol in his room but did not try to use it.

Three other gunmen charged in the May 20 bank job already had been arrested weeks ago in Florida and Colorado. Three other men and three women are under arrest as accessories.

"Martin spent money like water," said one FBI agent. He added that an attractive 36-year-old brunette arrested with Martin "traveled with him in this country and to Mexico City and Acapulco."

FBI Agent in Charge George C. Burton said he did not know how

Turncoat Collapses During Interview

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17 (AP)—An Army turncoat sobbed and collapsed today in front of newswire cameras at his first general news conference since returning from Red China.

"Can't anybody understand in this country that I love my wife and kids, too?" Pfc. Otto G. Bell shouted just before his knees went limp. He had been asked why he changed his mind after staying with the Communists for two years.

His two turncoat buddies, Lewis W. Griggs and William A. Cowart, caught the Hillsboro, Miss., man under the arms and helped him to a seat.

The breakdown ended the conference at the Ft. Baker stockade. All three men were Chinese prisoners from the Korean War. They at first refused repatriation then changed their minds and returned to the United States. The Army charges they helped their Chinese captors. Seventeen other former U.S. soldiers, who refused repatriation, still are in Red China.

white jury at 9 a.m. CST in the little courtroom of an old, grey brick courthouse. No Negroes will serve on the jury. None is listed on the special 125-man jury panel drawn for the trial. That's customary in Tallahassee County. Women do not serve on Mississippi juries.

The state will try to convince the jury "beyond all reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty" that Roy Bryant, 24, and his half brother, 35-year-old J. W. Milam, killed the lad.

The accused men admitted taking TII from his uncle's home, complained in an Aug. 5 statement the hospitals were being used for other patients while more than 500 addicts waited for admission.

Toll Road Project Begins October 1

DALLAS, Sept. 17 (AP)—The construction on the $8 million dollar Dallas-Fort Worth toll road will begin Oct. 1, and the super highway will be open to traffic in midsummer in 1957, R.E. Killmer, project engineer, said today.

The initial construction will be a bridge across the Trinity River at Dallas, between the present Houston Street and Commerce Street viaducts; and on a 10-mile stretch of turnpike in Tarrant County running from just north of Handley to a point three-quarters of a mile west of the Dallas-Tarrant County line.

Drug Addicts Gain Prompt Admittance In Federal Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Drug addicts are now being admitted to federal narcotics hospitals at Lexington, Ky., and Fort Worth, Tex., without having to wait. Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.) was advised today.

"This is good news," said Daniel of the Public Health Service announcement. "Five hundred narcotic addicts at large on the street are potential purveyors of addiction and crime and they should not be denied treatment while our narcotics hospitals are used for other purposes."

Daniel, head of a judiciary subcommittee investigating narcotics, complained in an Aug. 5 statement the hospitals were being used for other patients while more than 500 addicts waited for admission.

Rescuers Labor To Reach Two Men In Mine

GEORGETOWN, Colo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Rescue workers, overcoming bad air and seeping water, advanced slowly down an abandoned mine tunnel today seeking two Kansans lost since Thursday while prospecting for uranium.

They have little hope of finding the pair—Glenn Dew, 33, and Melvin LeBlow, 45—alive because of the lack of oxygen in the mine, which was given up as worthless two decades ago. Dew and LeBlow both live at Ulysses, Kan.

The hunt was spurred when the rescue crew found, 2,400 feet from the mine mouth, a rubber raft which the Kansans took with them to use in crossing a body of water caused by a partial cave-in of the tunnel. There was no other sign of the men at the spot.

The 10 professional mine rescue workers carried an air hose to pump fresh air in front of them. They passed the halfway mark of the 6,000-foot tunnel about noon and maintained an advance of about 200 feet an hour.

G. A. (Bud) Frazer, Colorado deputy mine commissioner in charge of rescue operations, said only by a "miracle" could the men be alive. He said he doubted if they lived past 8:30 p.m. Thursday—about the time the search got under way.

DO IT YOURSELF This Chair Usable Indoors, Outdoors

By BILL BAKER

Although the summer is fast coming to an end, you'll find many weeks of beautiful weather ahead. And you'll probably be spending just as much of your time outside as you will indoors.

To join this indoor-outdoor mood, I've got a perfect do-it-yourself project for you — a handsome chair that will travel with you.

Sleek modern lines make it possible for this practical chair to stand in any room in your home. It is ideal for the den or bedroom, although it will be equally at home in your living room.

With easy-to-install wheels at the back, the two-foot-wide chair becomes the perfect unit for porch or garden. And because of the light but sturdy construction, even a child can move it from place to place.

Your modern indoor-outdoor chair is designed on scientific body contour lines. Because of this door-outdoor chair in your home workshop with real ease. Using my new pattern package No. 146, the job becomes so simple that even a first-try novice can take on the project.

And how is it possible for such a major piece of furniture to be simple enough for even the beginner? Easy. All of the problems that are usually included in home projects have been eliminated.

First of all, no double-talk is included in the easy-to-read instructions. Just simple, logical directions.

Then comes the full material list, giving special attention to your trip to the lumberyard. You'll buy just the right amount, and material in just the right size.

Next come the exact-size paper pattern pieces, duplicating each section of the chair. Here all you'll have to do is tack, trace and cut. A lay-out sheet, included in the pattern package, shows how to place each pattern piece.

Only a few tools will be necessary for you to turn raw wood into the pieces you'll need for the finished chair. A coping saw for the curved sections, a straight saw and screw driver are all you'll need.

Then, with a few pleasant workshop hours, you'll be ready to en-

Finns Get Back Navy Base Since Reds Now 'Friendly'

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it is returning the big naval base Porkkala to the Finns because relations between the two countries are now friendly.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin announced the decision to Finnish Premier Urho Kekkonen at the opening of a negotiation session in the Kremlin which Bulganin said he hoped would result in extending the Soviet-Finnish friendship treaty of 1948. Kekkonen's response indicated the Finns will agree.

Bulganin said Russia will withdraw its forces from the Porkkala area.

The Soviet Foreign Minister told reporters about it at a news conference.

Hango, Finland's other naval and military base on the Baltic Sea at the mouth of the Gulf of Finland, was leased to Russia after Finland's 1939-40 defensive war against the Soviet Union. The Russians took over the 45-square-mile area on a 30-year lease but evacuated it in 1941 when the Germans turned on them in repudiation of their nonaggression pact.

In 1944, after the Soviet-Finnish armistice, the Soviet Union gave up its lease on Hango in exchange for a 30-year lease on Porkkala, a 20-mile long strip from four to 10 miles wide, 20 miles southwest of Finland's capital Helsinki.

The Porkkala lease was ratified in the peace treaties made at Paris in 1947. A year later, the Soviet Union and Finland signed a treaty of friendship.

The postwar years have been marked by ups and downs in relationships but Finland kept paying hundreds of millions in reparations to the Soviet Union and kept asking for return of areas in the Karelian Peninsula occupied by the Russians.

Bulganin said the Soviet Union wants to extend the friendship treaty and because of the favorable prospects for future development of friendly relations, the Soviet Union wanted to return the base.

All Polio Shots By October 1

AUSTIN, Sept. 17 (AP) — The program of free polio vaccinations for first and second grade school children of the past school year should be completed by Oct. 1, the State Health Department reported today.

Persons responsible for the program at the local level were reminded that all vaccine left over should be returned to the department in Austin.

Two free shots were given under the program sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The third dose should be given about seven months after the first, preferably shortly before the next polio season, health officials said.

Vaccine for the third inoculation must be obtained through regular commercial channels or from vaccine provided by the Polio Vaccination Assistance Act of 1955.

Texas To Call More Draftees

AUSTIN (AP) — The Navy's decision to ask for men from the nation's draft boards has caused Texas Selective Service officials to change plans for November.

Between 2,500 and 3,000 men will be called for physical-mental examinations in November, where formerly no such examinations were scheduled. The Texas induction call probably will be "about twice what it has been for most of the months this year," Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, State Selective Service director, said today.

No formal call has been received from national headquarters, but Wakefield said he expects it to be "between 1,000 and 1,100 in November."

Last 'Mystery Farm' Draws Many Calls; Mrs. Mason Wins

Some farms in this area are well-known, others are not, so it would seem.

A week ago, just two people attempted an identification of The Herald "Mystery Farm." But this week, the calls poured in by the dozens.

And the people were fairly unanimous on the identity of the farm place. (Only two were wrong.) First person to give The Herald a correct identification was Mrs. Grady Mason of Coahoma. She is receiving two free show passes for having given the paper this information.

Cosden Stockholders Meet Here Monday

Annual stockholders meeting of Cosden Petroleum Corporation is scheduled here Monday, and return of the present board of directors is assured.

Indications are that more than 90 per cent of the 1,035,463 shares of common stock will be represented in person or by proxy when the meeting is convened at 11 a.m. Directors are due to name officers of the corporation immediately following the stockholders meeting, and the present slate of officers, headed by Raymond Tollett as president, is due to be returned.

NEAL B. PRICHARD
Prichard Heads A-P Oil Firm

Election of Neal B. Prichard as vice president of manufacturing of the Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation, Oklahoma City, has been announced by Roland V. Rodman, president. He succeeds George H. Burruss, who retired Aug. 1 after directing the company's manufacturing and pipe line activities for 29 years.

Proposed bylaw changes are to increase the annual allowance for directors from $2,500 to $5,000, and the per diem from $25 to $100, plus expense of attending meetings. In this connection it was noted that since the present schedules were set up the corporation has increased gross operating income from $9,726,250 to $50,157,453, the net income from $378,005 to $3,545,709, and the assets from $7,393,385 to $27,609,803.

To coincide with extension of contracts of top management of the corporation (Tollett and Marvin M. Miller, senior vice president) to Aug. 1, 1959, a stock option for the two is proposed to further encourage ownership of stock in the corporation by principal executives, to increase their proprietary interest in its success, and to assure their continuation as executives. Stockholders are asked to approve an option for 20,000 shares at 95 per cent of the July 27, 1955 price ($30.87 1/2) for Tollett and 10,000 for Miller. These would cover the four-year period at 5,000 shares per year if desired.

During the afternoon business session of the board, another major capital addition to the manufacturing and processing facilities here will be considered. A $2,500,000 addition to the refinery had been approved by the board in June.

Directors of the corporation are Thomas I. Sheridan, New York; Herbert W. Grindal, New York; San Antonio; William H. Hayes, New York; Leo M. O'Neill, New York; Nelson Phillips Jr., Dallas; A. Karcher, Miller and Tollett of Big Spring.

Independents Cheered By Import Rule

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (U)—Spokesmen for independent oil producers now see success for their long fight to reduce oil imports. Their optimism stems from Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming's action this week in warning 18 importing companies that the government will take steps to curb imports unless they are reduced voluntarily. Flemming also is chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Energy Supplies and Resources Policy.

Under that act the President may order a cut in imports if he feels they are endangering a domestic industry vital to national security. Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA), said that while there was some tendency to regard the Flemming letter as "more or less perfunctory," he personally interpreted it as meaning the government definitely would act unless the importing companies take voluntary steps.

W. M. Vaughey of Jackson, Miss., president of the IPAA, called Flemming's action forthright and constructive. He said Flemming's letter left no doubt that if voluntary action is not taken to check oil imports, the government will move in.

He said Flemming's action would be "a source of great assurance and encouragement to domestic oil producers." Flemming wrote the 18 companies that their schedules of future imports "make it clear that, unless policy changes take place, the imports for the next several months will continue to be substantially in excess of the advisory committee's standard."

He invited suggestions from the companies for reducing imports, saying he wanted to be certain that a voluntary solution was impossible before government action is taken. Flemming asked that suggestions be submitted to him by Sept. 21.

Varied activity was reported in Sterling City at week's end. Cosden Petroleum No. 7 R. W. Foster was reported testing the Queen formation. The 5 1/2-inch casing is set at 1,050 feet and the Queen was reported topped at 1,060 feet.

Total depth is 1,080 feet. This Parochial Bade project is 13 miles west of Sterling City and is 1,650 from south and west lines, 22-22-H&TC survey.

Although No. 1 Nellie Cannon Paramore is drilling at 7,030 feet. This wildcat is 15 miles southeast of Coahoma and is 660 from north and west lines 61-17-SPRR survey.

Boykin Brothers and Roche No. 2-A Bade is preparing to spud. It is 924.3 from south and 1,199.2 from west lines, 22-22-H&TC survey. Site is 10 miles west of Sterling City.

Texas Company No. 1 W. L. Foster is now drilling deeper following a drillstem test Saturday. The test was from perforations between 1,540-60 feet. The tool was open three minutes and recovery was only 20 feet of drilling mud.

This wildcat is 6 1/2 miles southeast of Sterling City and is 660 north and 1,960 from west lines, 34-12-SPRR survey.

REX THOMPSON
Tank Company Opens Office

Establishment of a Big Spring sales office for Black, Sivalis & Bryson, Inc., has been announced by Edward Reif, Midland, district manager.

Rex Thompson, 305 E. 8th Street, has been assigned as resident salesman for the company, largest maker of tanks for oil field purposes. Thompson will serve oil operators and others in Howard and adjoining counties.

Reared in Temple and Lawton, Okla., Thompson was graduated from Oklahoma A&M College in 1931. During summers he had experience in West Texas, working on various oil rigs.

He joined the Black, Sivalis & Bryson organization two years ago after serving with Iverson Supply in Oklahoma City and has been a field salesman out of Odessa.

Service Awards Due Warren And Gladney

DALLAS, Sept. 17 (U)—The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. will present its 1955 distinguished service awards to J. Ed Warren and Sam M. Gladney.

Warren moved in 1934 from Borger to Midland, becoming partner owner of the Carl B. King Drilling Co., of which he was president when the firm was sold in 1952. He is a partner in the oil producing firm of King, Warren & Dye in Midland.

The three winners in the area will be announced during Oil Progress Week—October 9-15—and the awards will be made at a meeting of the Permian Basin Chapter of the API on October 18 in Odessa.

Demand Indicated Down For October
AUSTIN (U)—Major purchasers of Texas crude oil have indicated an advance demand for 2,791,034 barrels daily for October, down 42,810 barrels per day from September nominations.

The Railroad Commission announced the figures yesterday. Decreased nominations were reported for five districts and increases for seven.

Drilling Maintains Margin Over 1954

Lea County, New Mexico, taking advantage of a 17-rig slump by Andrews County, has moved into first place in rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin area. General activity declined slightly.

Although Lea County lost one rig during the 15-day period ended September 10, its 80 units in operation on that day topped Andrews, leader throughout most of 1955 which dropped from 94 to 77.

Crane County continued to edge into upper brackets of West Texas drilling. The Reed Roller Bit Company's semi-monthly survey found 33 rotaries making hole Sept. 10; an increase of three over the previous county. Crane's total puts the county in fourth place, behind Ector, where 37 were drilling.

Overall, the Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico recorded an 11-rig drop, after experiencing a 36-unit increase on Aug. 25. The latest tally credited the Basin with 513 active rotary operations. This figure is far ahead of the 438 counted one year ago.

Crane County, where normally about 18 rigs are used, has a small drilling boom under way. Several recent discoveries, and success of the fracturing method of completing wells in areas once thought to be limits of old fields, has almost doubled activity in Crane County during past 30 days. On August 10, there were 21 drilling. A breakdown on all counties, with the previous survey in parentheses, is:

DOCTOR BILLS Well Service Charges Take 'Gray' Out Of Production

DALLAS, Sept. 18 (U)—If you wish you owned an oil well, you probably wouldn't like your annual "doctor" bill.

Industry spokesmen have figured this "doctor" bill for ailing wells in the hundreds of millions. Don't believe you need an oil well "doctor"—one wearing a hard tin hat, who may use a million dollars worth of equipment and bill you as much as $29,000 for a single visit!

You would if you wanted to keep your well at a top production level. This "doctor" bill is one of the chief arguments industry spokesmen use when they claim that the black gold is not all gray.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. compiled some figures it said showed at least 41 million was spent annually keeping the state's 160,000 wells fit—and producing.

ably have to put in new casing from time to time. Depending on the amount of casing, which may cost $2 a foot for some 30 1/2-inch pipe, and the price for a work rig and crew, the bill runs around $25,000.

Another high priced job is pumping. That's when your well quits flowing and you have to pump it. On a 10,000 foot well, giant units can run up to $29,000.

If that well you wish you owned happened to be one of the new ones drilled out in the oceans and gulfs, you might really get a headache on the first of the month. Vessels designed to cement these wells cost up to $200,000 each and the operators have to sink many thousands of additional dollars in specialized equipment. Use of a rig might cost $1250 a day.

Former Notre Dame Coach Is Speaker

Frank Leahy, former coach of Notre Dame, will be the speaker at the first fall meeting of the Permian Basin chapter of the American Petroleum Institute at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Ector County Auditorium.

Tom Campbell, chapter chairman, said he was anticipating a capacity crowd. Leahy gained national prominence as a football coach while at Notre Dame. During the 11 seasons there he won 87 games, lost only 11 and had four national titles.

This is the 15th in a new series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

A long time member of Cosden's accounting department is Mrs. Averil Quigley, another who has joined the select list of 15-year employees with the company.

Although born in Deming, N. M., Mrs. Quigley is more of a "Fort Worth girl," having attended public schools there and having obtained her B.A. degree from Texas Christian University. She joined Cosden while its general offices were still in Fort Worth, June 15, 1940, and came to Big Spring when headquarters were moved.

Prior to the Cosden date, she had worked at the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, at Employers Casualty Company, and with various independent oil operators.

She went to work in the accounting department, handling accounts payable, and has been in this classification of work ever since, although her department is now under the company's Treasury division.

The former Averil McClain, she was married to Johnny Quigley of Big Spring August 18, 1953, in Glenwood Springs, Colo. They own their home at 108 Birdwell Lane.

An active Horned Frog supporter, Mrs. Quigley is a member of the Permian Basin Chapter of TCU Exes, and she belongs to the Country Club.

Committee Hears Of Menace To Traditional 'Liberties'

By ED CREAUGH
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Citizens from several walks of life told a special Senate committee today the traditional rights and liberties of Americans are being threatened on many fronts. These threats, spokesmen for 11 groups maintained, range from "a constitutional crisis" involving the status of the Negro to an assertedly too-frequent disregard by public officials of the people's right to know what their government is doing.

Farm Placement Workers Added To TEC Staff

Jack K. Hatch of Howard County has been employed by the Texas Employment Commission to work as a farm placement interviewer. He will be an assistant to Bill Williams in the local office and will help locate farm jobs for native workers. According to Williams, the new job will be permanent.

Hatch has been farming in the county and has also worked at the Cosden Refinery. He attended Texas Tech two and a half years where he majored in business administration.

Williams urges that farmers needing cotton picker's get in touch with the Texas Employment Commission office. "We are just as close to the farmer as his telephone," Williams said. "This is a free employment bureau to both farmers and workers alike. We expect to place hundreds of workers on jobs this fall, and often have information about jobs or workers which others may not know about."

Williams says the Big Spring Labor Camp at 10th and North San Antonio Streets is in operation now. It has eight or 10 rooms, including rest rooms, and is kept open 24 hours a day. The purpose of the camp is to house incoming workers until they can find farm jobs. The camp is under the supervision of the county commissioners' court.

The occasion was a Constitution Day hearing, held in the capitol's old Supreme Court chamber of the Senate subcommittee on Constitutional Rights. It was the start of an inquiry to determine whether basic freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution are being endangered.

Each of the witnesses presented, at the invitation of Chairman Hennings (D-Mo.), a "petition for the redress of grievances." To spotlight the importance of the individual citizen, the witnesses testified from the high bench normally occupied by senators while the lawmakers took seats in the spectator section.

Hennings said in an opening statement there has grown up in recent years "a lamentable indifference—carelessness, as it were—about the individual rights guaranteed to us by the Constitution of the United States."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, testified the nation is undergoing "a constitutional crisis" and that "practically throughout the country Negro citizens are denied in varying degrees the full citizenship rights envisioned by the Constitution."

Wilkins declared "a calculated campaign of intimidation and terror" is being waged in some Southern states, particularly Mississippi, against persons petitioning school boards to carry out the Supreme Court decision banning racial segregation in public schools. J. R. Wiggins, chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said the public's right to know about government, considered "fundamental" and "elementary" in 1789, now is "disregarded all too frequently" by officials. Wiggins is executive editor of the Washington Post and Times-Herald.

Polio Shots Must Be Taken Here By End Of Month

There will be no more polio Salk vaccine available here after Oct. 1, according to Jewel Barton, nurse at the County Health Unit. All vaccine which has been available free to first and second graders will be forwarded to Austin and then on to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis offices.

Parents who would like for their children to have the vaccine may bring them to the Health Unit office any one of the following days, Sept. 21, 23, 28, 30. These four days will be the last chance for youths in this area to get the free vaccine, Miss Barton said.

133 Infections Are Counted For Week

The weekly disease report of the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit lists 133 cases of contagious ailments. Diarrhea was the most prevalent disease for the week with 38 cases reported.

Tonsillitis was next with 31 cases. The other diseases listed and number reported are upper respiratory 21; gastroenteritis, 18; strep throat, 8; virus, 6; gonorrhea, 4; impetigo, 3; pneumonia, 2; and whooping cough, 2.

No Yellow Ballots, Boys; You'll Have To Use Pink

AMARILLO, Sept. 17 (AP)—Told yellow is against the law, Amarillo has ordered ballots in a $5,820,000 school bond election here Sept. 24 printed on pink and blue paper. Frank Austin, school business manager, said he was advised by a Dallas bond attorney that an old state law will not permit election judges to count ballots printed on yellow paper. Austin did not know why.

Anyway, school officials agreed, pink and blue are baby colors and therefore appropriate. They attributed the need for more school facilities to the high birth rate of recent years.

The bond attorney, Clarence Crowe, explained unofficial, sample ballots in the old days often were printed on yellow paper and the Legislature, to be certain such ballots didn't get counted, banned that color for the official ballots. "We just stumbled on to it the other day," Crowe added. "I've never heard of anyone attacking an election count on the basis of the ballot's color but we don't want to leave any way open for attack."

CTC To Choose Executive Board

The group also plans to discuss fall traffic safety plans. The vice chairmen of the CTC are George Oldham, Bill Cox, and Roy Reeder.

Geneva Thrives Off Tourists And Governmental Visitors

GENEVA (By Mail)—This city is Washington, D. C., and Colorado Springs rolled into one. It has a perpetual tourist trade fed by majestic scenery, a wonderful climate, and an international governmental agency which holds over 300 conferences a year.

Only London, Paris, and Rome are said to enjoy so large or so consistent a tourist business. Fully a third of the visitors to Geneva travel on governmental expense accounts, which does not cut down the amount of money left in Switzerland from this source.

Few capitals can compare with the European headquarters of the United Nations. This week, the last week of vacations from school, Geneva looked like Washington in April or May with busload after busload of students, accompanied by their teachers, trooping through the sprawling headquarters of the U.N.

This city of 200,000 persons is almost exclusively devoted to the entertainment of its visitors and the manufacture and sale of watches. Geneva has less trade territory than perhaps any city of 200,000 in Europe.

It is located around the southern end of Lake Geneva, right where the Rhone River comes out of the lake and flows through France to the Mediterranean. Most of the southern side of the lake forms a part of the northern border of France. Along part of the north shore of the lake French territory comes down to within three to four miles of the water's edge.

Driving from Lake Como in northern Italy to Geneva you pass from Italy to Switzerland, from Switzerland into France, and from France back into Switzerland.

You go through customs seven times in the last 100 miles on this trip. At one time a considerable territory around Geneva was a part of the Geneva Canton of Switzerland. A plebiscite was conducted about 1865 to permit the people of the area to decide whether they wanted to become a part of France or remain Swiss. In an effort to win the territory the French entered into a covenant with the voters in the area that they would not be subjected to any tariffs if they voted to become a part of France. This was the deciding factor, and the area voted to join France.

It was not understood at the time how important a duty-free area could become. The inhabitants had feared only that they could not sell their agricultural products in Geneva and buy their supplies there without being forced to pay import and export duties by each side. Geneva was the natural market for the area, and free access to this market was all that concerned the area.

As civilization became more advanced and the products of the world began to flow back and forth in the channels of trade, this tariff-free area became a buyer's haven. As late as 1943 gasoline could be purchased just outside Geneva at less than 10 cents a gallon. Other things were in proportion.

Few of these articles or products were known when the treaty was signed. Both the Swiss and the French businessmen in surrounding areas bitterly complained about this land of the King's-X. About 1944 the tariff agreement was modified to apply only to things produced in the area. This permitted the inhabitants to market their products without interference from either Switzerland or France. It is to take care of this situation that an extra customs station exists between the area involved and Geneva.

As you move from Italy to Switzerland you are impressed with the difference in the value of the money of the two nations. The lira is at 625 to the dollar. The Swiss franc at 23 cents, or four and a third to the dollar.

Up to World War I, the lira was worth 20 cents and the Swiss franc 25 cents. Of course, the Swiss franc does not buy what it did in 1914, but it has held its relative position with the inflated U.S. dollar. You get the feeling that the quality of individual items is better and the price less in Switzerland as compared to Italy.

This nation of hotelkeepers has had its troubles along with the rest of the world during the war. It takes little imagination to visualize what this city must have been like when its million-and-a-half yearly tourist business was cut off by Hitler's wild march into Poland. Its borders entirely closed by the belligerents (with the exception of little Liechtenstein), its hotels had to shut down, its sidewalk cafes folded too, and its Allied tourist enterprises such as souvenir stores

Kiwanis Kids Day Scheduled Saturday

Kids Day, observed here annually under sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club for the past four years, comes up again next Saturday.

As usual, the schedule of events is a busy one with a free show, a tour of Webb AFB and the Queen contest and a football game in the evening. Several out-of-town delegations are expected for at least the tour of the base.

Each of the elementary schools in Big Spring is being asked to nominate a queen from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. From this field, judges will select the Kids Day Queen.

The high school B team is scheduled to play a game immediately following at 8 p.m. Club officials abandoned the idea of staging the queen contest in connection with regularly scheduled ward school games, for last year this pushed the program far into the night.

Webb AFB is cooperating in arranging a special tour for the kids Saturday afternoon. The R&R Theatres are joining in the program of providing the show (or shows if needed).

Co-chairmen are C. A. Dahse and Jack Alexander. Other committee chairmen are Bob Heine, out-of-town kids; J. N. Young, publicity; H. W. Whitney, theatre; L. L. George, Champion and Alexander, Webb AFB tour; W. D. Berry, evening program; Sam Sonntag and Otis Moore, concessions; Sherman Smith, peanut sales.

Fine Assessed For Dumping Garbage

A Latin American was fined $20.50 Friday in the Place 2 Justice Court on a charge of dumping garbage on the public highways.

Tom Hardie, sanitarian in the Health Unit, said the man dumped two 50-gallon drums filled with garbage at the side of the road about three miles out on the Andrews Highway. Hardie filed the case and appeared as a witness.

YMCA 'Fun Club' Is 'Complete Success'

The YMCA "Fun Club" program Saturday morning was a "complete success," according to secretary Bobo Hardy. About 50 junior high school boys showed up for the program and more are expected at future meetings.

Next Saturday morning at 9 a.m., the activity will be planned again, Hardy said. The boys participated in tumbling and organized games, ping pong, and watched a movie titled "Boy From Indiana."

The "Fun Club" is one of the many expanded phases which the YMCA is offering the youth of Big Spring, Hardy added.

Indians Honored

CALGARY, Man., Sept. 17 (AP)—The school board decided that an American Indian who befriended the white pioneers deserves recognition. And so, over hard opposition, it named one of its institutions "Chief Crowfoot Elementary School."

Winning Touchdown

Forsan's Tony Starr brings down Knott's Woody Long (9) right at the goal line in the winning touchdown of the game Friday night at Forsan. The score gave the Knott Hillbillies the necessary edge for a 31-25 victory, Forsan's George White (18), Edale Ratliff (12), and Red Brunton (left), had a hand in the tackle. Long took the ball from John Shanks (9). The other players were not identified.

Sparked by the passing arm of Quarterback Woody Long and the rampaging runs of Fullback John Shanks, the Knott Hillbillies outscored the Forsan Buffaloes with a 31-25 score Friday night in a six-man game at Forsan.

The Forsan team drew first blood in the first quarter when Red Brunton scampered 22 yards for the touchdown. But Knott rallied in the second quarter with John Shanks carrying the skin over from the two-yard line.

Forsan managed a touchdown in every quarter of the game, but the Hillbillies were not to be denied, scoring twice in the second quarter, twice in the third quarter, and again in the last quarter.

For the winning Knott team, sophomore Tom Day played good defensive ball with the able assistance of John Shanks. Day carried over one of the touchdowns and was instrumental in much of the blocking and defensive work. Shanks carried for three of the scores.

His mates rallied around the outstanding Red Brunton who made two of the Buffalo scores. William King and Travis Shaffer were the other ball carriers. Strong defensive work was turned in by Butch Pagit, William King, and Gary Star.

Delano Shaw, co-captain of the Knott team, made the longest run of the evening with a 62-yard gallop in the third quarter. The scamper set up one of the five touchdowns for the victors.

William King made the longest run for Forsan when he recovered a Knott fumble and raced 60 yards for the second Buffalo touchdown in the second quarter. Following this play, Knott began a march downfield behind Woody Long's quarterbacking.

A 25-yard pass from Long's arm connected with Tom Day and over he went to even the score. Both teams failed to convert the extra points during the first half. The score at mid-point was 12-12.

Back after half-time, Forsan followed Red Brunton into another series of downs that resulted with his breaking over from the two-yard line for another touchdown. Knott took over the ball and worked down to the 13-yard line. On an end-around play, John Shanks raced across to make his second touchdown of the evening.

A recovered fumble gave the ball back to Knott after the kick-off and Deino Shaw's long run put the ball on the Forsan 10. On the first play, Roosevelt Henry carried the ball over but it was called back. A 15-yard penalty for illegal use of the hands cost the Hillbillies the touchdown.

A few minutes later, when Jack Romine intercepted a pass giving the Knott team the ball again, John Shanks romped 25 yards for his third score of the evening.

Woody Long made the fifth score for Knott when he carried over from the one yard line in the last quarter. The junior then passed into the end zone to Tom Day for the extra point. Forsan returned the compliment with a one-yard dash by Travis Shaffer. Tony Star kicked the extra two points.

Deacons Whip Virginia Tech

WAKE FOREST, N.C., Sept. 17—Wake Forest completely thrashed highly rated Virginia Tech 13-0 before a crowd of 7,500 in the opening football game for both teams today. It was Wake Forest's first win over Tech in six games between the two schools.

Wake Forest, which never had scored on VPI, saw two touchdowns in the second period nullified because of penalties.

Virginia Tech, outplayed all the way, never reached Wake Forest territory until the final quarter and failed to make a first down until the third quarter.

Wake Forest, sparked by the running of halfback Bill Barnes and the quarterbacking of Nick Consoles, took the opening kickoff and surged 66 yards to score in 14 plays with Barnes diving over from the 1. Barnes kicked the extra point.

In the third quarter, Consoles plunged over from the 1. The drive had started on Tech's 32 after Wake Forest end Ralph Brewster recovered a Tech fumble.

Willie Mays Gets 47th Homer, Giants Down Bums, 8-5

BROOKLYN, Sept. 17—Two home runs, including Willie Mays' 47th of the season, provided the New York Giants with the margin of victory today as they whipped the National League pennant-winning Brooklyn Dodgers 8-5.

Mays, setting the pace in the league's home run department, also drove home two more runs on a single and force out. Bobby Hofman accounted for two more tallies with a first-inning homer off Karl Spooner. Mays' circuit blast was at the expense of Russ Meyer in the fifth.

Carl Furillo also homered for the champions, sending in two runs in the third off Jim Hearn. The Dodgers drove Hearn from the mound in a three-run third but were throttled the remainder of the way by Paul Giel.

Outdoor Recreation Parley Slated For Tuesday Night

Sportsmen and others interested in outdoor recreation were reminded again Saturday of a special meeting set for Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Settles Ballroom.

Don Maxwell, Odessa, president of the newly formed Lake J. B. Thomas recreation association said that suggestions would be sought for general recreational developments at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Although this is the reservoir for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Maxwell said he was hopeful that there would be a lot of people present from cities other than Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder, the district member cities.

"All the people in this part of West Texas will be using this spot," he explained. "Lake J. B. Thomas is becoming increasingly popular for all the people of this area and we hope that folks from Lamesa, Colorado City and other points will participate in the Tuesday session."

Suggestions received will be taken under advisement by various committees and subsequently the association may make recommendations to the CRMWD board for supplemental regulations.

QBC's Strategy Board Will Meet

Board of strategy of the Quarterback Club is scheduled to hold a special session Monday evening with memberships the chief item of business.

Time and place have not been announced. The session is being held in advance of the regularly scheduled membership meeting Tuesday evening.

Meeting with the board will be Co-captains Ed Phillips and Charlie Stagg; Bill Sheppard, membership chairman; and Jerry Saunders, publicity chairman.

The club, which supports all high school athletics, is far short of its membership goal. Virtually all of its revenues come from membership fees.

Yanks Move Into Full Game Lead, Besting Bosox

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—The New York Yankees boosted their margin over the Cleveland Indians to a full game today in the tense American League pennant race by defeating Boston 4-1 on Tommy Byrne's superb four-hit pitching job.

A third big name, however, was added to the growing Yankee injury list. Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop, was hit in the back of his plastic head helmet by one of George Susce's pitches in the fourth. The helmet split open and Rizzuto was knocked unconscious, but Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the club physician, said the injury did not appear too serious and Rizzuto may even be able to play tomorrow when he is being showered with presents by fans.

Ga. Tech Hands Mighty Miami 14-6 Defeat

ATLANTA, Sept. 17—Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, combining a healthy helping of luck with typical speed and smartness, whipped powerful Miami 14-6 today in a corking season opening football headliner.

Tech turned a fair catch interference ruling into a 48-yard touchdown run by halfback Paul Rotenberry and an intercepted pass into a 25-yard scoring gallop by center Jimmy Morris, a sellout crowd of 40,000 and television viewers watched the nation's first color football telecast.

Except for those two examples of cash-in-the-breaks football, Miami's Hurricanes dominated the game with their ground-gulping "drive" series, running more than twice as many plays as Tech.

But, except for fullback Don Bosseler's third period 13-yard touchdown run, the Miamians couldn't find the end zone. Ed Oliver missed the conversion attempt and until less than a minute of the game remained it looked as if that one point would be the margin of Tech victory.

But with 56 seconds left, Morris snared a pass by quarterback Marion Bonifiglio and barreled it over.

Miami went into the game rated 9th nationally in the Associated Press pre-season poll. Tech was ranked 10th.

Architects Named For New Tech Gym

AUSTIN, Sept. 17—Texas Tech's board of directors, meeting here today ahead of the night football game between Tech and the University of Texas, named Herbert Brasher & Associates of Lubbock as architects for a new men's gymnasium.

Preliminary sketches were authorized.

The board said major Tech indoor athletic events will be staged in the new Lubbock Coliseum now being built. The new gym will serve primarily for instructional purposes.

Southern Cal Pops Cougars By 50-12

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17—Southern California yielded an opening touchdown to Washington State but settled down to thrash the brush Cougars for a 50-12 Pacific Coast Conference victory today.

Before 35,051 fans on this sunny afternoon the Trojans looked awkward and inept for the first five minutes.

Quarterback Bob Iverson of WSC reeled off a 28-yard run to reach the Trojans' 2 and push over a moment later from 1 yard out.

Southern Cal promptly accepted two gift touchdowns to take the lead and roared on to score seven touchdowns and one field goal.

Ward Shoots Fine Golf To Grab Amateur Title

By WILL GRIMSLEY
RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 17—Harvie Ward's nine-year quest for the National Amateur Golf Championship ended in success today when the young North Carolinian, near flawless and losing only one hole, smothered Philadelphia's William Hyndman III, 9 and 8, in one of the worst shellackings in the tournament's history.

Hyndman, a 39-year-old insurance executive little known outside his own district, went eight-down at the end of the morning round when Ward, his iron blazing, shot around the James River course in 66, four under par.

The tall Philadelphia, disheartened and frustrated by bad putting luck, went to the first aid room for treatment of raw foot blisters and stinging, calloused hands, then returned in the afternoon to make a stirring, but futile, run for it.

He went down at the 19th, the first hole of the afternoon, and then, while writers were searching the record books for record one-sided defeats, rolled in a 75-foot putt from across the green. The crowd of 4,500 went hysterically wild.

It was the first and only hole Hyndman won but it gave him lift enough to match the mighty Ward stroke for stroke through the next five holes and then hold on until Ward clinched the decision with a halved four on the 28th.

A 29-year-old transplanted Tarheel from Tarboro, N. C., now an automobile salesman in San Francisco, Ward became the first Deep Southerner to win the title since Bobby Jones' "grand slam" year of 1930. George Dunlap (1933) and Dick Chapman (1940) were North-born although reared in Pinehurst, N. C. Charles Coe (1949) and Billy Maxwell (1951) were Southwesterners.

Ward, rated by his contemporaries as the finest amateur player in the world, lived up to this reputation with a brilliant exhibition of precision golf which would have done justice to the best of the pros.

He didn't miss a fairway on his drives and only three of his approaches failed to find the green in the orthodox number of shots. He had only one bogey, five birdies and a relentless string of steady pars over a long, 6,713-yard course which plays nearer a par 72 than its listed 70.

Arkansas Wins With Spectacular Plays

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 17—Two well-executed fakes by quarterback George Walker were the key factors in two spectacular touchdowns—a 64-yard run by Henry Moore and a 34-yard pass play—as the University of Arkansas downed the Tulsa football team 21-6 here today.

After Tulsa had taken a 6-0 lead, and had pressed constantly in the first quarter, fullback Moore dashed through the center of the line on a delayed play, broke into the clear and outran Tulsa halfback Kenny Kmet to the goal. The long run, plus the first of Walker's three conversions, put Arkansas head 7-6.

Arkansas scored again in the third quarter—primarily because of a stout defense. Walker tossed a scoring pass to halfback Ronnie Underwood after Arkansas had recovered a Tulsa fumble.

Tulsa sided by stiff wind, maintained control in the first quarter and twice drove to within one yard of the Arkansas goal. Both drives came after weak Arkansas punts into the wind.

Tulsa's touchdown came after its first two drives had been stopped short. The march covered 30 yards and ended when fullback Dick Scholtz ran over from the one. A 20-yard pass play from Charlie Wynes, the most effective of three Tulsa quarterbacks, to L. D. Bains put the Hurricane in position on the seven. Halfback Al Backus made six yards around right end before he was pushed out of bounds by Joe Thomas. On the next play Scholtz dashed through the left side and hit Walker as he stepped across the goal line. Wynes' try for the extra point was wide.

Gene Newton Leads Tulane To Victory

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17—Gene Newton, a deft 185-pound sophomore quarterback, injected fire into a sagging Tulane offense today, passing for a first quarter touchdown and guiding two scoring drives in the third for a 20-7 victory over Virginia Military Institute.

Newton, whose ball handling ability outshone that of starter John Caruso, won the confidence of his sophomore studied team early in the game.

After two Tulane offensive tries under Caruso failed short of a score, Newton took over and the complexion of the game changed almost immediately.

Stanford Bests COP

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 17—Stanford's Indians recovered from two lightning-like touchdowns thrusts and went methodically on to a 33-14 football victory, over College of the Pacific today.

Wyoming Overcomes Kas. State, 38-20

MANHATTAN, Kan., Sept. 17—Taking advantage of Kansas State miscues, Wyoming University grabbed three fourth-quarter touchdowns to break a 20-20 tie and defeat the favored Wildcats 38-20 today.

Rosen The Goat As Cleveland Bows To Tigers

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17—Al Rosen wore the goat's horns today as the Detroit Tigers, for the second time in less than 24 hours, defeated Cleveland 3-1 to dump the despairing Indians a full game behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Rosen, in the throes of a dismal batting slump, left five runners on base, four of them in scoring position, in two successive times at bat. He also committed a glaring error which led to Detroit's tie-breaking run in the fifth inning.

Old 17-Year Limit Still Expires On Game Exemptions

AUSTIN, Sept. 17—The 54th Legislature passed a law this year exempting persons under 16 from having to buy regular hunting and fishing licenses, but the lawmakers forgot to repeal an old law that grants the same exemption to persons under 17.

As a result, the old law remains in effect, Executive Secretary Howard D. Dodgen of the Texas Game and Fish Commission said today.

Dodgen emphasized that though persons 65 or older or under 17 do not have to have regular hunting licenses, they must obtain exempt licenses when hunting deer because of the deer tagging law.

Yes-Talkin'
by Jess Blair

The dryland cotton in Martin County is much better than that in Howard on the average. Bill Williams, the local farm labor man with the Texas Employment Commission, has visited most of the county and says they have some good crops in the communities of Brown, Three Leagues and Walcott.

Williams handles native farm labor and is hunting for some boll pullers. He needs several town families who would like to pull bolls. Most of the pieces are within easy driving distance of Big Spring. School children may also work in the cotton fields after school hours and on Saturday. A labor law forbids their working during the hours when school is in session.

The biggest hazard to hunting were the rattlesnakes. Ray said there were a lot of the big diamond back snakes and he used to find one quite often on his way to school. One year at the Morgan school house they suspected there were some rattlesnakes hiding under the coal shed only a few yards from the school house.

Some of the boys measuring cotton for the ASC are finding the plowed-up areas in all kinds of shapes. Usually farmers plowed up the sorriest cotton no matter where it was. This often makes an uneven shape that is hard to measure. There is no law, however, that says where the cotton must be plowed up except that it must be at least one-tenth of an acre. The owner can have a plowed-up area in the shape of a corkscrew if he wants it that way. Whatever shape it is, it will be measured correctly. It just takes time to do it.

Carl Robinson, whose place is located in the canyon country near the old Morgan school site, doesn't have such a good crop, but says he did get a lot of new grass from the spring and summer rains. He is running both cattle and sheep and hasn't done any feeding since April.

Walter Underwood, manager of the gin at Luther, says they are disappointed with the cotton crop in that community. There is one consolation, though, and that is in the staple.

The irrigated cotton on the Louis Underwood farm at Luther will pull about a bale to the acre on the north side which is 15 days earlier than the rest of the field will make a bale and a half to the acre.

This crop was a lot less expensive than some irrigated crops in the area because he poisoned only about 40 acres one time and didn't have much hoeing. He said he could have irrigated another 25 acres but sold much of the water to oil drilling companies. He has four wells that pump a total of only 325 gallons per minute, but none of it is wasted. The water comes up out of an underground concrete pipe and doesn't touch the ground until it starts down the cotton row.

You don't have to go far to still see some good cotton crops. The best dryland cotton we've seen lately is just north of the Big

STOP — LOOK — READ OUR CHILDREN'S SAFETY IS UP TO YOU Watch For Them Walking Or On Bicycles

Watchword for drivers: Watch out for children near schools . . . and practice the ABC's of safe driving at all times. As the youngsters head back to class, safe driving is especially important in school zones. But remember, on any street, there may be children on the way to or from school or at play. Be safe . . . not sorry . . . be always ready to stop for kids on the go!

TEACH CHILDREN SAFETY "TRUTHS"

THESE ARE 10 SAFETY "TRUTHS" WHICH IF FOLLOWED IMPLICITLY BY ALL CHILDREN WOULD HELP TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF INJURIES FROM TRAFFIC MISHAPS.

The "TRUTHS" Are:

1. Obey the Safety Patrol. 2. Keep from between parked cars. 3. Look both ways before crossing. 4. Wear white after dark. 5. Cross only at corners. 6. Watch for turning cars. 7. Be extra alert on rainy days. 8. Learn to obey bicycle traffic rules. 9. Play away from traffic. 10. Walk on left facing traffic.

Children will have these truths pointed out to them in class by teachers. Parents will do well to remind them of these points at home, too.

Ike Due For Tougher Time In Deep South

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — If President Eisenhower runs again next year, he apparently will face stronger opposition in the South than he did in 1952 when he won four Dixie states.

Neither can the Republicans count substantially on any third party movement such as that of 1948 to split the Democrats' traditional Southern stronghold, although there are rumblings of discontent in some areas.

Southern governors, who may be expected to head their states' delegations to the party national convention, generally are not enthusiastic about the possible renomination of Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democrat standardbearer.

These findings sum up the views of a number of Dixie governors as expressed in response to questions submitted to them by the Associated Press. They were supplemented by public statements others have made recently on political questions involved in next year's campaign.

"Really anybody" — including a Republican, Tennessee, Florida and West Virginia went on record with predictions that Eisenhower will not carry their states in 1956. Three years ago Eisenhower won Tennessee, Florida, Texas and Virginia from Stevenson.

But Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, who backed Eisenhower in 1952, said that if the Democrats nominated "a member of the Truman group such as Governor Stevenson or Governor Harriman (of New York)..." President Eisenhower would be very likely to carry Louisiana. Eisenhower lost Louisiana by about 43,000 three years ago.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida said he believes that if the balloting were conducted today "President Eisenhower again would carry Florida as the Republican nominee."

"However," he added, "the campaign is still to be waged and time will develop many other is-suas and influences. I believe that on the day of the election, Florida will return to the Democratic fold, even though the President is on the ballot."

Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee said he did not want to add anything now to previous public statements. He said at the annual governors' conference last month that "Tennessee is going to support the Democratic nominee, period."

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia said it was "somewhat early to gauge the feeling of our people as to their choice for president," he declined to speculate.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas has left up in the air the question of what his state would do by saying he himself would support "practically anybody."

The governors of Alabama, publican rather than Stevenson, whom he opposed three years ago.

Joe Barbee will direct operations of the maintenance division of the road department.

THE TIME OF THE FIRE

By Marc Brandel

Jerry Fletcher was a suspicious cuss. He kept pretty much to himself and worked on his experiments. These experiments caused quite a bit of conjecture around the town. Everyone wanted to know what he did to those animals he kept carrying into his house.

But Fletcher didn't gossip or make friends. His attitude seemed to say, "Keep away." Some said he was a retired professor and others thought he was the devil incarnate. At any rate he wasn't too well liked. Then the small town was thrown into turmoil when a girl's body was found horribly mutilated. True, the girl was from the wrong side of town, but the horrible way she was murdered founded fears that a lunatic was loose somewhere.

The panic becomes worse when a girl who works at the mission is found in much the same condition as the first. This girl had once dated Fletcher and the finger of suspicion begins to point his way.

GWALTNEY AND MAILER

The third death is the well-liked county librarian. As Fletcher is an avid reader, the townsfolk link his name with hers almost immediately. But not everyone suspects Fletcher. The town beauty has a crush on him. In fact, she invites herself into his house and throws herself at him.

Staving off her embrace, her blouse is ripped. Then she goes hurrying out into the street and is seen by an ardent gossip. It is only a matter of minutes until the story is all over town. In righteous indignation, the townsfolk gather together with all the weapons they have at hand and begin a march on Fletcher's house.

They fail to locate him inside and set fire to the structure. As it burns, Fletcher comes out of his hiding place but is killed by the flames. Then the crowd goes home to get a restful, sound, and just, sleep.

As you may have suspected, Fletcher didn't do it. He was innocent and a victim of the "mob intellect." A calm headed town sleuth discovers the real culprit. But it is much too late to see that justice is done.

The novel is short, to the point, and fascinating. The plot may be a bit thin, but the author has more here than a provocative title.

"Battle Cry," "The Calm Mutiny," and "From Here To Eternity" were all better.

Maller is a native of Brooklyn and Gwaltney is from Arkansas. Both of them have stated their dislikes for Texans and this is probably one reason why I have been over-critical of their works. Aside from that, neither of these books made the films, and the other three did.

The battles in the War Between The States are still as long and furious as they ever were in the 1850s. Every month several more books are added to the tremendous amount of material on the subject already. Someone finally got a bright idea.

There are book clubs for every other type of material, why not one for the "great war"? And it has been done.

Ralph G. Newman is the president of the new club and each month, beginning in October, a board of famous historians will pick an outstanding book on the subject. The offering will be an autographed, first edition. Members of the board are Bruce Catton, Stanley Horn, Allan Nevins, Benjamin Thomas, and Bell Wiley. Newman is the proprietor of the Abraham Lincoln Book Shop in Chicago.

The club has a very strange name. It is called the "Civil War Book Club." Why, I don't know.

Meredith Willson is probably the original "chucklehead." He has blundered his way through to success on both radio and television. He is at once, a composer, conductor, wit, and piccolo player. He is also an author.

This month, the Henry Holt Company is releasing his book called "Eggs I Have Laid." It backs most of the statements made about his various careers, since the time he stammered on a coast-to-coast hookup. "Well, sir, Miss Bankhead..."

Songs he has composed include, "You And I," "I See The Moon," and "May The Good Lord Bless And Keep You." Willson's first book was "And There I Stood With My Piccolo." It was a success, needless to say.

INCIDENTALLY... A complete history of the world famous Sadler's Wells Ballet company is now available. Completely illustrated, the book is a historical masterpiece of the 25-year-old company. It is by Mary Clarke and titled, "The Sadler's Wells Ballet."

The British are planning a movie to exceed the length of "Gone With The Wind." It will be taken from the novel "Sara Dane" by Catherine Gaskin and tells of the first prisoner settlement of Australia. It is to be filmed in CinemaScope and runs over three hours.

The film version of MacKinley Kantor's "Andersonville" has been started. The book will be released in October and is the tale of a Southern prison camp during the War Between The States.

William Bradford Huie's "The Execution of Private Slovik" is being produced for both the stage and the screen. The author's "Revolt of Mamie Stover" was completed for the screen by Hollywood this month.

Cheerio Club To Hold Cane Sale

Annual white cane sale of the Cheerio Club, an organization composed of blind, has been set for Saturday.

All proceeds from the sale of the miniature canes go to finance the work of the club during the year. This is the only source of income for the club.

Members have made 1,500 of the tiny white canes, and Rainbow Girls will offer them for sale for whatever the purchasers feel willing to pay.

Major project for the year is to assist little Jimmy Bartee, the blind son of Mrs. Nevie Bartee, who is attending the state blind school. Mrs. Bartee has been confined to the hospital most of the summer due to surgery, and the club asked for the privilege of lending a helping hand to Jimmy.

Previously, the Cheerio Club had assisted Franklin Johnson, another blind youth, in going through school. Today Franklin is happily employed at a venetian blind factory in Amarillo.

Mrs. Tracy Roberts is directing the Rainbow Girls in their good turn for the Cheerio Club next Saturday.

Russell-Lewis Vows Repeated At Twilight

In a twilight ceremony at 7 p.m. Friday in the Stanton First Baptist Church, Paula Jean Russell became the bride of Richard L. Lewis.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray Russell, Route Two, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, Stanton.

The Rev. E. B. Coon, pastor, read the informal double ring vows before an altar decorated with a starburst of pink gladioli, flanked with white tapers in candelabra and matching baskets of pink gladioli.

Organ music of "Because" and "Lohengrin" was furnished by Annabelle Heckler preceding the entrance of the bridal party.

The father gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a ballerina length dress of white Chantilly lace over satin. The bodice was strapless, topped with a matching lace jacket with pointed three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt was flared. Her small white hat was scattered with bugle beads and seed pearls. Her sandals were white satin and she carried a white orchid on a white ribbon.

For something old, she selected a Bible belonging to her sister, Mrs. H. L. Clements; her dress was new; a garter was borrowed and blue, and she wore a penny in her shoe.

The maid of honor, Myrna Sproul of Anthony, Kan., was attired in a dusty pink polka-dot cotton gown with daisy trim. Her daisy hat matched the trim on the dress. Her flowers were white gladioli in a colonial type bouquet.

Jack Allen of Stanton served as best man, and Jack Irston of Stanton and Jimmy Castleberry of Friona seated the guests.

Dressed in identical pink satin dresses with white gladioli, Carol Russell, sister of the bride, and Lela Fletcher of Forsan, lighted the altar tapers.

At the reception following the ceremony in the church parlor, the refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli in pink net, and tapers in crystal holders. A miniature bride and groom topped the tiered wedding cake. The cake and pink punch were served by Madeline Graves, Carol Russell and Joyce Petree. Miss Fletcher registered the guests. Also in the houseparty were Miss Heckler and Sarah Barnes.

A graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College, the bride is employed with the Mims and Stephens Insurance Company in Midland. Mr. Lewis was graduated from Stanton High School and Texas A&M and is now with the Cap Rock Electric in Stanton.

Following their honeymoon, the couple will make their home in Stanton.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Warren, Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Russell, Paducah; Mrs. Tess Campbell and Mae Walker of Midland.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Lamesa Couple

LAMESA—In a double ring ceremony read in the First Methodist Church parlor, Yvonne Wells became the bride of Jay Austin Smith Thursday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. M. E. Wells, 1305 South 2nd Street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Ledbetter of Welch.

The couple were united in marriage before a white archway of satin bows and streamers flanked by floor candelabra bearing white cathedral tapers and banked with baskets of white gladioli. The Rev. J. Lloyd Mayhew read the wedding service.

Mrs. Jake A. Lippard was pianist. She played wedding preludes and accompanied Shirley Spencer, vocalist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer." Tracy Monthey, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her in marriage.

She wore a wedding gown of white French lace over satin. The fitted lace bodice featured a rounded decollete neckline with double bands of ruffled net studded with rhinestones and seed pearls. The full waist length skirt flowed into triple tiers of net that were dotted with rhinestone and seed pearls. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was edged with wide folds of matching Chantilly lace and was joined to a tiara of pearls. She carried a white orchid on a white ribbon.

Helen Kee was maid of honor and Mrs. Patsy Kyle of Colorado City also attended the bride. The bride's attendants wore matching ballerina length dresses of aqua blue over taffeta fashioned on long torso lines. They wore bandeaux of aqua velvet and carried bouquets of white asters.

Ring bearers were Carolyn Sue Smith, niece of the bride, and Danny Adcock, nephew of the bridegroom.

David Vandivere was best man and Charles Vaught of Monahans served as groomsmen.

A wedding reception was held at the home of Mrs. Jimmy Doyle, sister of the bride, 805 North 12th Street. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake and silver and crystal appointments.

Mrs. D. L. Adcock, Jr., Mrs. Tracy Monthey and Mrs. W. E. Smith presided at the reception table, while Helen Stephens registered the guests.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico and other points, the bride chose a black tweed cashmere and wool suit peppered with peacock blue. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid.

The bride was graduated from Lamesa High School this spring where she was a member of the Tornado Band and a cappella choir.

Mr. Smith is also a spring graduate of Lamesa High, where he was a member of Who's Who, PFA Chapter, Pioneer Club, and is a member of the Vernon W. Bryant Chapter of Demolays. He is now engaged in farming in the Woody Community where the couple will make their home.

Bridal Tea, Showers Honor Janice Nalley

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Nevie Bartee, 604 Runnels, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Doris, to Don Glaser, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Glaser, 104 Owens. Date for the wedding has been set for Sept. 24. (Photo by Barry)

An "in honor" courtesy was the tea given Saturday evening for Janice Nalley at the home of Mrs. J. D. Jones, when she was honored with a bridal shower.

Miss Nalley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Nalley, is the bride-elect of Lt. Russell James Scott of Laughlin Air Base, Del Rio. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Scott of Bowie. The wedding will take place Tuesday evening in the home of the bride's parents.

Hostesses with Mrs. Jones were Mrs. Ray Shaw, Mrs. P. W. Malone, Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Mrs. Bill Edwards, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. Ralph Baker, Mrs. Jay Johnson, Mrs. Robert Stripling and Mrs. Roy Reeder.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Jones, who presented the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Shaw was at the register, and gifts were displayed by Mrs. Malone, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Edwards.

The tea table, at which Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Baker alternated with Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Stripling, was laid with a white Madeira cloth. A silver punch set was used with a silver bowl holding the central flower arrangement.

Made of pink carnations and silver leaves, it was dotted with tiny packages bearing the names of the bridal couple. White tapers in silver holders were on each side. Pink napkins were inscribed with the names in silver.

Music was furnished throughout the visiting hours by Kenda McGibbon and Sally Cowper. The honoree attended the tea dressed in an emerald pea de sole, fashioned with modified neckline and bracelet length sleeves. A sash marked the long torso bodice, made on diagonal lines, and ended in a bow on the left side of a narrow skirt. Her pumps were black velvet, and she wore rhinestone jewelry.

A gift of silver in the chosen pattern of the bride-elect was presented to Miss Nalley at the dinner given in the home of Mrs. Herbert Keaton, when she and her daughter, Margie, entertained on Thursday evening.

The buffet table used an all-white theme, with a copy of the song, "I Love You Truly" formed with tiny white chrysanthemums. Guests were seated at quartette tables, where chrysanthemums floated in brandy snifters. Place cards were small bags of rice tied with maline and lillies of the valley.

Those attending, besides the honoree and her mother, were Mrs. Ray Shaw and Mrs. Ray Horton Shaw, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon and Kenda, Mrs. Bill Edwards and Joyce and Mrs. J. E. Hogan and Janet.

A kitchen shower was given Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Ray H. Shaw with Joyce Edwards as co-hostess. Wedding and engagement rings decorated a small pink parasol with a bridal bouquet, which was used on the tea table. About 24 guests were included in the list of callers.

Other affairs planned for the bride-elect are a dinner to be given on Monday evening with Dr. and Mrs. Lee Rogers and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon as hosts; a pre-nuptial breakfast on Tuesday morning, given by Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Scott, and a luncheon, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angel and Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan.

The Spanish Club chose Friday to nominate their officers for the year. The election, which will be held next week, will be open to all students taking Spanish. President nominees are Jacqueline Smith, Walter Dickenson, Marlene Mann, Adrian de Graffenreid, and Janet Hogan. Nominees for vice president are Carolyn Miller, Doyle Phillips, Cecilia McDonald, Sue Boykin, and Sandra Flowers. Stephen Baird, Patsy Grant, Lou Ann White, Sammie Sue McComb and Kathy McRee are secretary-treasurer nominees.

Helen Gray was elected president of Senior Scout Troop 11 Thursday as members of that troop met at the home of Mrs. Erna Punne. Other officers elected were Carol Letcher, vice president; Gerry Girdner, secretary; Nancy Cunningham, treasurer; and Carol Rogers, reporter. These girls, who are all seasoned Girl Scouts from way back, have plans for promotion, which include becoming Wing Scouts.

Class pictures will be made in the school auditorium next week. Tuesday will be devoted to taking senior boys' pictures by Barr Photoenter, while both junior boys' and girls' pictures will be made sixth period Tuesday and all day Wednesday. Sophomore boys' and girls' pictures will be made Thursday all day and the first two periods Friday.

For the taking of these pictures, senior boys are asked to wear a white dress shirt and a black tie; while dinner jackets will be supplied in four different sizes. Junior and sophomore boys are asked to wear a suit jacket, dress shirt and tie for the pictures. A hint to the wise should be enough said in advising junior and sophomore girls to wear dark clothing for a better picture.

A friendly play, filled with human sympathy and amused, understanding laughter, is a perfect description of "Outward Bound" the fall All-School Play which is to be presented Oct. 6 and 7. Mr. Dell McComb, speech instructor, is director of the play, while Julie Rainwater is filling the position of student director. The cast consists of nine members: Gary Tidwell, Eunice Freeman, Tom Guin, Rodney Sheppard, Marilyn Morris, Leon Clark, Clara Freeman, J. T. Baird, and Tommy Pickle.

In a recent election by the Debate Club, Gary Tidwell was elected president; J. T. Baird was elected vice president, and Gerry Girdner was selected to serve as secretary-treasurer.

Tri-Hi-Y committee chairmen were announced Monday night by the president, Tommy Jo Williamson. Kenda McGibbon is chairman of the service committee; China Carroll, membership; Frances Reagan, social; Lou Ann White, publicity; Sue Boykin, constitution; Margaret Fryar, inter-racial; Marlene Mann, worship; La Rue Casey, finance; Sally Cowper is in charge of youth in government bill, and Mary Sue Hale, program.

All kids interested in joining Tri-Hi-Y or Hi-Y are cordially invited to attend the next meeting which will be held at 7:30 Monday night at the YMCA building.

Occupying the spotlight of this year's first senior-of-the-week is Tom Henry Guin. Tom's major accomplishment is that of serving as president of the BSHS student body, and therefore being president of TASC, since Big Spring is president of Texas Student councils. An active member, he served locally as chaplain and was a delegate to the World Centennial YMCA Conference at Paris, France, this summer. Program chairman of the Key Club, Tom is president of the Big Spring Presbyterian Youth Fellowship at the First Presbyterian Church and also has the honor to serve as president of the district PYF. Tom was sophomore and junior outstanding English student, and was named outstanding chemistry student last year.

Report From Judy

Special tips on fashion are reported by Judy Garland in an exclusive interview with Lydia Lane. Judy, to be seen on a CBS-TV spectacular next Saturday, also talks about diet, complexion.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Judy Likes Naturalness In Make-Up, Clothes

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD—Judy Garland interrupted her nationwide personal appearance tour to return to Hollywood to star on CBS-TV's "Ford Star Jubilee," their premiere color spectacular scheduled for September 24. When I visited her at Television City, I found her in the wardrobe department being fitted in a beautiful coral colored, ballerina-length gown which she will wear on the show.

"I know the new evening dresses are floor length," she explained, "but because I'm short an ankle-length skirt is much more becoming to me."

"When I was under contract to MGM, Irene was the designer there and she taught me the importance of adapting from fashion the lines which would disguise my figure faults and be most flattering to me."

"For example, she told me to avoid fluffiness around the neck, or anything high, and to make my neck look longer I should wear either a deep V neckline or just a flat line."

"To make my waistline appear longer, I learned to drop the line in back to a V and I found that short sleeves, or the push up kind, tend to minimize the short look."

"When I remarked how much thinner she was, Judy sighed.

"For years I struggled with my weight. Finally I decided to do the sensible thing and completely change my eating habits. I love potatoes and could live on bread and butter and I felt that no meal could be complete without these things. But now I'm strictly a meat and salad girl."

"What about exercise?" I asked.

"When I'm working, I get all the exercise I need dancing—and when I'm not working, I feel I'm entitled to just sit," Judy said with a laugh.

"I've been on the stage since I routine I don't need to worry about clogged pores."

I told Judy I like the way she uses her hands when she sings but I've noticed that she never wears nail polish.

"That's because I used to bite my nails," she told me frankly. "But now, Liza, my nine-year-old, and I have a pact that we are going to let our nails grow. She's at the age where she wants to be admired and so far appealing to her vanity has worked."

Someone knocked on the door to call Judy back to rehearsal.

"This girl is a perfectionist," the visitor commented.

"I know," Judy agreed. "I'm never satisfied with myself."

"Is that bad?" I asked.

"It's bad when it makes me impatient with others who are indifferent about their work," she replied. "Because of this I've often been accused of being temperamental. What I really have is a temper—and there's a big difference."

IMPROVE FASHION SENSE
 Judy learned to wear clothes which are flattering to her, and you can do the same. No matter what your dressing problem, you'll find the right answer in leaflet M-31, "Fashion Do's and Don'ts." If you are too tall, if you are overweight, if you are too short or if you are too thin—the answers are here for you.

A special section on fashion hints is available if your figure is about right. Get your copy by sending only 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, care of The Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for leaflet M-31.

Parkers Make Home Here After Wedding

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., for one week, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edward Parker are now at home at 2200 Nolan.

The couple were married Sep. 10 at 4:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church with the Rev. Clyde Nichols, minister, reading the informal double ring ceremony.

Daughter of Mrs. Carl Blackwood, San Angelo, the bride is the former Ethylene Baird. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Parker, 810 E. 15th.

Two baskets of white gladioli and an arch of fern and greenery decorated the altar.

Mrs. Champ Rainwater played traditional wedding music preceding the ceremony, and played "Akways" softly while the vows were said.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, R. D. Byrd, the bride chose a gown of pink lace over pink velvet with pink velvet flowers and a shoulder length veil of nylon net. Her shoes were pink.

She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations and ribbon streamers.

Mrs. J. David Bramlett, sister of the bride from San Angelo, was matron of honor, and maid of honor was Darlene Parker, sister of the groom. They wore identical princess fashioned dresses with V-necklines and cap sleeves. Both had black accessories and pink carnation corsages. The matron's dress was of light green taffeta, while Miss Parker's was of mauve taffeta.

Wayne Glenn and Eddie Murphy were best man and groomsmen.

At the reception held in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Dana Lee Greenwood was at the register. The refreshment table was laid with a white organdy cloth over pink, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of garden flowers.

Crystal and silver appointments were used. The white two-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom, and the fruit punch was served by Mrs. Odie Wilson and Mrs. Robert Wilson, aunts of the bridegroom.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride was wearing a sleeveless brown linen sheath dress with a boat neckline, completed with a tangerine and brown print linen jacket. Her accessories were brown and her corsage was of white carnations taken from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Lakeview High School of San Angelo, where she was a cheerleader. She is now an employe of Clay's Cleaners. An employe of Ponce Wholesale, the bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

you're in fashion in GLASS

1955's good news . . . "glass slippers" are no longer fairy-tale! And as for that "fragile" look, they're little fibbers . . . honestly very practical: Ice to any color now . . . exquisite any Autumn-and-on day or evening. Soft, supple Black Suede on Lucite heel. The flattery's clear. But if you've any doubts, Cinderella . . . just ask your mirror about it!

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

The Texas-Tech football game at Austin last night drew several Big Springers among whom were MR. AND MRS. SCHLEY RILEY, MR. AND MRS. C. C. JONES, MR. AND MRS. H. W. KIRBY, MR. AND MRS. KEITH MCMILLIN AND MR. AND MRS. LLOYD WASSON. The Wassons planned to be in San Antonio for several days on business.

MRS. JOHN COFFEE is in Waco where she is visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, MR. AND MRS. JOHN RICHARD COFFEE. The visit here of CPL. DONALD C. WREN, his wife and little daughter, Leslee Kaye brought about a family gathering at the home of his parents, MR. AND MRS. BOB WREN last week. The younger Mrs. Wren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mason of Fort Worth, were here, as were his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bynum of Odessa. Cpl. Wren is stationed at Camp Pendleton, Del Mar, Calif.

MR. AND MRS. DON STEVENS left during the week for Texas Tech where they will resume their college work. He will be a senior and she, the former Jan Bailey, will be a junior.

Former residents who get back for visits quite often are MR. AND MRS. RUSSELL LAWRENCE and their children. They were here last weekend from their home in Dallas.

JOE MASTERS who recently suffered a heart attack, is improving and has been dismissed from the hospital.

Talk about good fishing! MR. AND MRS. GLEN CANTRELL, MILTON NEWTON and GROVER NEWTON who lives in Seminole, returned from Spicewood on Lake Travis Thursday night with a nice catch of 200 white crappie. The group had been on the lake a week and MR. AND MRS. EDWARD S. CRABTREE and their daughter, FRANCES, joined them for the first several days. There was a real fish fry at the Crabtrees when the fishermen returned.

DR. AND MRS. DAVID E. BARKER and MR. AND MRS. JIM ZACK and SUSAN attended the Jewish New Year services in Lubbock Saturday. MR. AND MRS. R. F. BLUHM are expected to return today from College Station where they visited with their son, Bobby, who is a first year student there. A welcomed member of the visiting party was Bettie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Anderson.

Back here during the week were MR. AND MRS. R. V. TUCKER and their daughter, Evalyn, who are former residents of Big Spring but have made their home in Fort Worth for the past fifteen years. They were getting a copy of a birth certificate for their other daughter, Gwendolyn, who will leave soon for Arabia where her husband is employed.

MR. AND MRS. TED PHILLIPS, Luan, Tommy and Lila Catherine, of Mexico City plan to leave Tuesday after spending a week here with relatives. Their two older sons, Doyle and Wesley, are attending school here while their parents are doing work in Mexico. A guest in the home of MR. AND MRS. ELMO WASSON is her sister, MRS. ALICE MIERS of Robstown. She plans to be here another week.

MRS. JACK JOHNSON has recently visited in the home of her mother, Mrs. C. A. Billingsley in Cross Plains.

MR. AND MRS. DON PENN have been vacationing in Mineral Wells, Possum Kingdom and Dallas.

The H. V. CROCKER family had a real thrill in store for them on their vacation when they visited with Mrs. Crocker's sister, Mrs. W. A. Norman, and her family at Cherry Hills Village in Colorado. Melinda, the thirteen-year-old daughter, was just getting ready to tee off at the golf course, when who should arrive but President Dwight D. Eisenhower himself. He spoke to her and she returned his greeting and from then on she was watched so closely by his bodyguards she almost developed a guilt complex. She found out later that all the members of the club there were familiar to the guards, but a stranger in their midst was always closely observed. Later, the entire family sat at the club and watched the President play.

The group made a trip up Mt. Evans and saw Red Rock Mountain where the famous Easter services are held. On their return trip, they visited with their daughter, Mrs. Bill Miller, and Mr. Miller in Abernathy. Mrs. Miller is the former Ann Crocker and she is teaching in the Abernathy schools, while he is continuing his education at Tech.

MR. AND MRS. H. C. STIPP are expecting to return here this evening from Dallas. Thursday they went to College Station to take their son, Louis, and his roommate, Pascal Odum, where they will be second year students at Texas A&M.

Pine Lodge, N.M., is the vacation spot chosen by MR. AND MRS. BILLY SMITH who left Thursday morning for a ten-day stay in the mountains.

Another couple vacationing in the high spots is MR. AND MRS. TOMMY HART who are touring the Smokies in Tennessee.

Joe Hoards Plan New Mexico Trip

THE INDIFFERENT SHRUG couldn't care less

The SHRUG is a retailer who shows little concern if manufacturers advertise in newspapers or not. Oh, sure, he believes in newspaper advertising for retailers like himself—but he doesn't realize that he should urge manufacturers to advertise there, too. Fortunately, the SHRUG is a rare creature. Most retailers put most of their advertising in their local newspapers—and ask for and welcome manufacturers' ads to the same medium.

Happily, manufacturers are using newspapers more and more. What clearer evidence than in the record amount of linage they placed in newspapers the first six months of 1955? Both retailers and manufacturers used more newspaper advertising in the first six months of 1955 than in any similar period in history. Nowhere else can a manufacturer and a retailer advertise together so effectively as in the newspaper. All business is local...and so are all newspapers!

Reading Together

Thiele Family Came To Texas By Choice

The newcomers for this week came to Texas by choice, although only one member of the family had been here once, and that was for only a few days. They are the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Edward Thiele and their three children, Barrett, age 15, Barbara, who is 12, and seven-year-old Pamela.

The Rev. Thiele is the new chaplain at the Big Spring State Hospital. When he was looking for a clinical position, he came to Big Spring in July and immediately accepted the position. They moved here last week from Philadelphia, Pa.

Strictly northerners, he was born in Iowa and Mrs. Thiele calls Chicago her home. They brought the states together when they met at North Central College in Naperville, Ill. Mrs. Thiele was graduated from the school with a degree in pre-med, but never entered the profession as she took over the career of a wife and later, a mother.

Thiele continued his education after receiving his BA degree there to obtain his Bachelor of Divinity at Evangelical Theological Seminary in 1936. His graduate work includes one summer at Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston, Ill. and 18 hours credit at Iowa State College in Ames, Iowa.

For 15 years, the minister preached in the Methodist Church. In 1939, he became a member of the Iowa Des Moines Conference of the Methodist Church. "In June, 1933, I decided that I wanted to be a clinical chaplain, and we moved to New Hampshire so that I might secure the proper training," he stated. During his training period, he spent one quarter of it at Connecticut State Hospital in Middletown, Conn., three-quarters at Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia, Pa., and one summer at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich. When the Rev. Thiele accepted the local position, he was assistant chaplain at the Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia.

He is the first full-time chaplain at the State Hospital. He will be responsible for all the religious activities, the Sunday services and counseling with the patients.

"Each Sunday I will conduct worship services for the hospital that will be of no particular denomination; just an opportunity for the patients to have their own worship time," he explained.

He also explained that since this is the first program of this type that this hospital has undertaken, he hopes that the local churches will have representatives to help make a forward step, and in this way to make it beneficial for all those concerned.

As for hobbies, the Thiele family likes to do things together. They love to travel, and are especially interested in homes of the Presidents, and can name you a long list that they have seen.

Family group reading, almost a lost art, is the way they spend most of their leisure time. Each night all five of them gather in the living room in a comfortable manner, usually with Barrett sprawled on the floor, to listen to the mother of the household read aloud. They like to read individually, also.

"The first thing we did when we arrived, was to secure library cards for each one of us," Mrs. Thiele said.

Barrett is in the ninth grade and Barbara is in the eighth. Second grade Pamela is seven-years-old, but has not celebrated her second birthday yet, since she was born on Feb. 29, 1948.

All the children play the piano and are interested in music. Barbara adds the violin to her talent sheet while her brother stated that he can play the trombone. The youngest takes dancing lessons and plans to enroll in a class here.

Barbara brought her skis to Texas with her, but her brother told her that the only way she could go anywhere on them here is to put them on roller skates.

"So many people have tried to make us fearful of the dust storms you have here, but we feel like we can take anything since we have lived through tornadoes and hurricanes," the Thieles said.

Browns Make Home In New Mexico

The Methodist Chapel in Roswell, N.M., was the setting of the wedding of Billie Rae Fulcher and A. C. Wayne Brown Sept. 2. They are now living in Roswell where he is stationed.

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. R. J. Hubbell of Wichita Falls are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Brown, 2202 Main.

The double ring informal ceremony was performed by the Rev. Austin Dillon. Mrs. Dillon played traditional wedding music.

The bride wore a pink lace dress. Her headpiece was orange blossoms attached to a tulle veil. She carried a prayer book topped with white carnations.

Maid of honor, Dona Lively of Dexter, N.M., wore a smoke blue taffeta gown. Sam Hill of Amarillo was best man.

A graduate of Rotan High School, the bride attended Sul Ross College in Alpine. Airman Brown was graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College.

Herbs, Easily Grown, Are Fun To Cook With

By ANNE Le FEVER

Many smart homemakers are discovering that they can add interest to old recipes and drinks by the addition of various herbs. Not only that, they are also learning that it is fun to grow a backyard herb garden.

Herbs are easily grown, and a very small space is required, since only a few plants of each herb will be needed. These should supply enough for use in the summer and for drying to be used in the winter.

Most of the plants prefer poor soil, and many are said to lose part of their fragrance if their food is too rich. Some like a sunny location, while others grow best in the shade.

Convenience to the kitchen door is something to consider in planting the herb patch, since it should be close enough for the homemaker to obtain, quickly, a sprig of mint for the tea, basil, thyme or sage for meat dishes and garlic or chives for many dishes.

About the most common of the herbs is parsley, which though slow to germinate, is easily grown. Seeds may be planted in pots for winter growth and set outside in the spring. This is one of the few herbs requiring a rich soil, and it likes partial shade if planted in the garden.

When the plants are about three inches high, if the leaves are cut off, the new growth will be much better curled and a brighter green.

Another herb, which may be grown in pots in the house, is basil or sweet basil. It is a bushy tropical annual and it may be planted directly outdoors if desired. The leaves and tips of this plant are yellow-green and have a spicy flavor and odor.

Chives, a member of the onion family, is of a more delicate flavor than its strong cousins. They, too, may be grown in pots, and the tops may be cut freely, since they send up new shoots quickly.

Caraway, to produce seeds the first year, must be planted early in the spring. In cold sections of the country, the plants will mature early the second summer.

Dill, which grows like caraway, in heads or umbels, should be planted early in the spring, also, for mature growth the first year. The plants grow tall and should be thinned to from 12 to 15 inches apart when young. Both seeds and foliage are used for flavoring.

Well-known in garden circles is sage, which is a gray-leaved shrub, bearing blue flowers. The young stems, with their tender flowers, may be cut twice during the growing season.

Summer savory is another bushy plant of small size and it too, grows easily outside. The tender leaves, which are the part used, may be cut for drying about midsummer.

Seeds, leaves and stems of sweet fennel are used for their distinctive flavor. The stems are tender and shining and may be eaten like celery. This plant is grown outdoors and should be thinned to about 18 inches apart.

One of the most popular herbs of colonial days was sweet marjoram, and the little plants are still used, either potted or outdoors. The leaves may be used fresh or dried.

Thyme is a small bushy plant, which is started from seed in the early spring. Both leaves and tender shoots are used in cooking.

Anise grows readily from seed sown outdoors and needs a warm sunny location. This plant has lacy leaves and its white flowers mature into seeds, which are used in flavoring.

Chervil is much like a fine-leaved parsley and has the taste of a combination of parsley and fennel. A rich soil is best for growing chervil, and though it may take a few weeks for it to appear, the plants will make a rapid growth.

Rosemary and lavender are grown primarily for their fragrance. Lavender is one of the few herbs that do best when planted indoors and then are transferred to open beds. Rosemary may be planted directly outdoors in the spring. The two are usually combined for scenting linens or clothes closets.

Caution should be used in using any of the herbs for the first time. They should be used in small quantities, always, furnishing a delicate flavor instead of dominating the taste of the food.

Biscuits may be topped with anise or caraway seed. The latter are also delicious in salad dressings.

In a green salad, a combination of fresh leaves of anise, caraway, parsley and chives may be added to the crisp vegetables. As a different approach, combine parsley, chervil, chives and thyme or summer savory.

Bread stuffing for fowls is improved by the addition of ¼ teaspoon each of thyme and summer savory and ½ teaspoon each of powdered sage and chopped chives. You may like them in combination or singly.

Sprinkle fresh chopped leaves of dill on broiled steaks or chops, add butter, and allow to stand in a hot oven a few minutes before serving. Pork and dill have a natural affinity, and a roast can be quite interesting with a touch of that herb added.

For omelettes, various combinations may be made, such as thyme, basil, sweet marjoram, thyme, chives, parsley, summer savory and basil make another delicious addition for the egg dishes.

Cook a pinch of summer savory with fresh, canned or frozen peas or beans to accent their flavor.

Pickled beets receive a distinctive new flavor from the addition of a few dill or fennel seeds added to the hot vinegar. Add chopped basil to tomato sandwiches, to bean soup or to sauce for spaghetti. About two small leaves for each serving should be sufficient.

ANNE FOGARTY

ORIENTAL INFLUENCE

East Can, Too, Meet West! It Does In This Fashion

Pace-setter Anne Fogarty was exploiting the oriental look in fashion long before the trans-oceanic wares began to hum this August with the news that Paris had discovered the fascination of the East.

Hang on to her belief that American women prefer a bodice with a bosom, a waistline with definition, and hip flattering full skirts, she has cleverly translated the eastern influence into western ways.

The surplice bodice with its neckline crossing high over the bust line is distinctively oriental; the horizontally tucked midriff is reminiscent of an obi.

Make it in a paisley-soft cotton, sheer wool or one of the new synthetics; or if you can get your hands on a sari, use it for a glamorous cocktail dress, making sure that the borders edge the surplice and outline the midriff.

Other fabric suggestions include plain or printed silks, shantung, satin, taffeta, brocade.

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements.

Size 9, bust 33 1/2, waist 23 1/2, hips 34 1/2. Size 11, bust 34 1/2, waist 24 1/2, hips 35 1/2.

Size 13, bust 36, waist 26, hips 37. Size 15, bust 37 1/2, waist 27 1/2, hips 38 1/2. Size 17, bust 39, waist 29, hips 40.

Size 11 requires 5 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for dress. To order Pattern No. 1233, address SPADEA SYNDICATE, INC., P.O. Box 335, G.P.O., Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25 cents extra. New 144-page PATTERN BOOKLET XII available for 50 cents. If paying by check, make it payable to SPADEA SYNDICATE, INC. and add 4 cents for handling. Woolworth Store Is Illustration Of Trend In Red-Ruled Leipzig LEIPZIG, East Germany (U)—One way to sum up the Communist transformation of Leipzig is to tell what has happened to the F. W. Woolworth store.

The store front still carries a red sign with the familiar lettering, "F. W. Woolworth Co." Window displays are arranged in the tradition of the worldwide chain.

Inside, the counters are neatly laid out, displaying many of the items one always looks for in "the dime store." But all the merchandise is from East Germany, and a close look at the sign out front reveals the significant words: "In Verwaltung," meaning "under administration," — Communist administration, that is.

"Things have certainly changed around here," one clerk told this reporter. "The difference is like day and night."

The Communists have chopped the building in half, converting the other part into a clothing store. Ten years after World War II, long lines regularly form in front of the state-operated food stores. Meat, fats, sugar and coffee are frequently unavailable. Restaurants still feature "ersatz" coffee, just as they did under Hitler.

The nicest thing about the 800-year-old fair, from the viewpoint of the Leipzigers, was the hundreds of shiny autos it brought from the West.

Entire families spent an afternoon or evening walking along the streets, fingering chrome headlights, auto club insignia and paint texture. They tried guessing how to pronounce such names as Buick and Chevrolet.

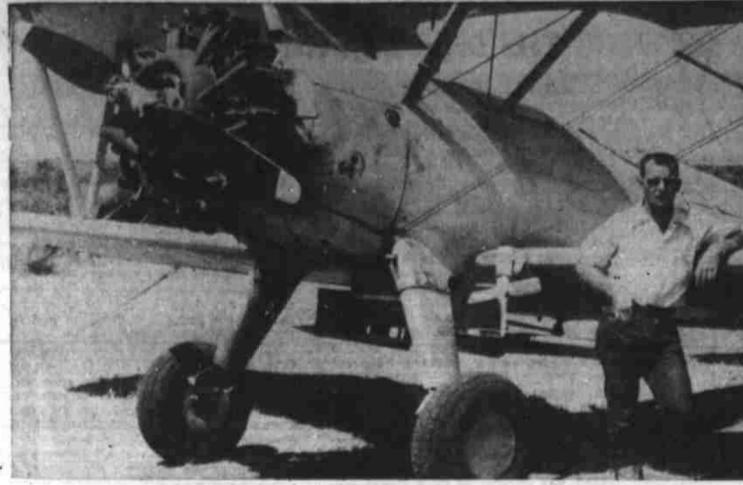

Most of the local cars were built long before World War II. A large number of them are still fueled from compressed gas tanks, another hangover from Hitler days.

"Old sleds," the Leipzigers contemptuously call them. As a rule, store windows were tastefully decorated this year, and the merchandise frequently appeared to be of fairly good quality. Some shopkeepers went so far as to feature peek-a-boo brassiere and girdle ads. Foam-rubber "falsies" were liberally displayed. The only U.S. exhibit at the fair was an English-language book display presented by Ben Rusanak, formerly of New Jersey and now living in Stockholm.

FLETCHER GRIESHEIMER AND HIS BIPLANE Former Navy training plane makes ideal crop duster

Crop Duster's Career Dangerous, Gypsylike

By JESS BLAIR

Fletcher Griesheimer never set out to be a crop duster, but it seemed to be the only thing that would satisfy his yearning for danger and excitement. He has tried several kinds of work, but never lasted very long on a job before becoming a duster pilot.

He has spent the summer at Stanton flying a dusting plane for Ed Slover. When the season ends, as it will in a few days, he doesn't know what he will do. He may take his wife and three small daughters to Denver where a flying buddy lives, or go to California for some winter flying.

But next summer when the worms start fattening on Martin County cotton, he will be back in Stanton for a season's work.

Griesheimer is a blond, stocky young man of 28, and gives the impression that he has done a lot of living. He grew up around Texarkana, but talks, as he puts it, "like a Yankee." During part of the big war, he was a tail gunner in a Navy plane, where he learned to love flying. After the war he took flying lessons, and flew whenever and wherever he could to become a pilot. He has been in his present work since 1951. Since that time he has flown planes in Arkansas, North Dakota, California and Texas.

He spent several weeks in North Dakota last spring flying over prairie farms and spraying towns for mosquito control. When Ed Slover moved, his planes from Pecos to Stanton in mid-summer, Griesheimer took a job as pilot.

Despite the so-called romance of flying, he says the work of a crop duster is a hard, monotonous grind. Up before daylight, he may be in and out of the plane until dark. This is the exception, however, because of wind and bad weather. And some days he doesn't fly at all.

He gets a fourth of the gross profit the contractor makes from the plane. It is big money when he gets in enough hours. His best day at Stanton was around $85. It is possible to make $125 for a long day's work, when he can dust as much as 500 acres. He can put out 10,000 pounds of poison in a day, and when loading puts 600 pounds in the plane at a time.

The average duster pilot is not a wild-eyed kid eager to explore the wild yonder, but a sober, steady man of steel nerves and a natural alertness. Most of them are over 30, though Griesheimer took it up several years earlier.

They stay alive because they don't take chances. But even so, some of them end up in a pile of metal. He said last year took an unusually heavy toll of fliers. The most dangerous spot was an area in Arizona where nearly a dozen ended their careers in crashes. Griesheimer has his own idea about accidents, though he always keeps his fingers crossed.

"Most crashes are caused by fatigue," he said. "I try to avoid this by taking a nap everyday after lunch, so I won't get tired and careless."

The biggest danger in this area are the high-lines that seem to bound most of the cotton fields. In Arkansas, he said the danger is in tree tops and stumps, while in North Dakota it is rock piles that may protrude a foot or so above the crops.

His present plane is a Stearman bi-plane, which was converted from a Navy trainer. It is bigger and heavier than the small planes usually used for dusting, and he thinks it is safer.

"You might crash this one and walk away from it, but in a light plane you'd be as badly torn up as the plane."

He has never been injured, but has slightly banged up a couple of planes.

In dusting cotton, the pilot usually stays about three feet above the cotton tops, but this varies. Some farmers want him to scrape off the top leaves. There is no kind of meter to show high or low he is, but he learns to gauge the distance by the feel of things.

"It's like driving a fast car down the highway," he said. "You know just where you are on the road, even if you are not looking at the center stripe all the time."

Mrs. Griesheimer takes her husband's job rather calmly. She never gets worried until something happens, and then it is too late.

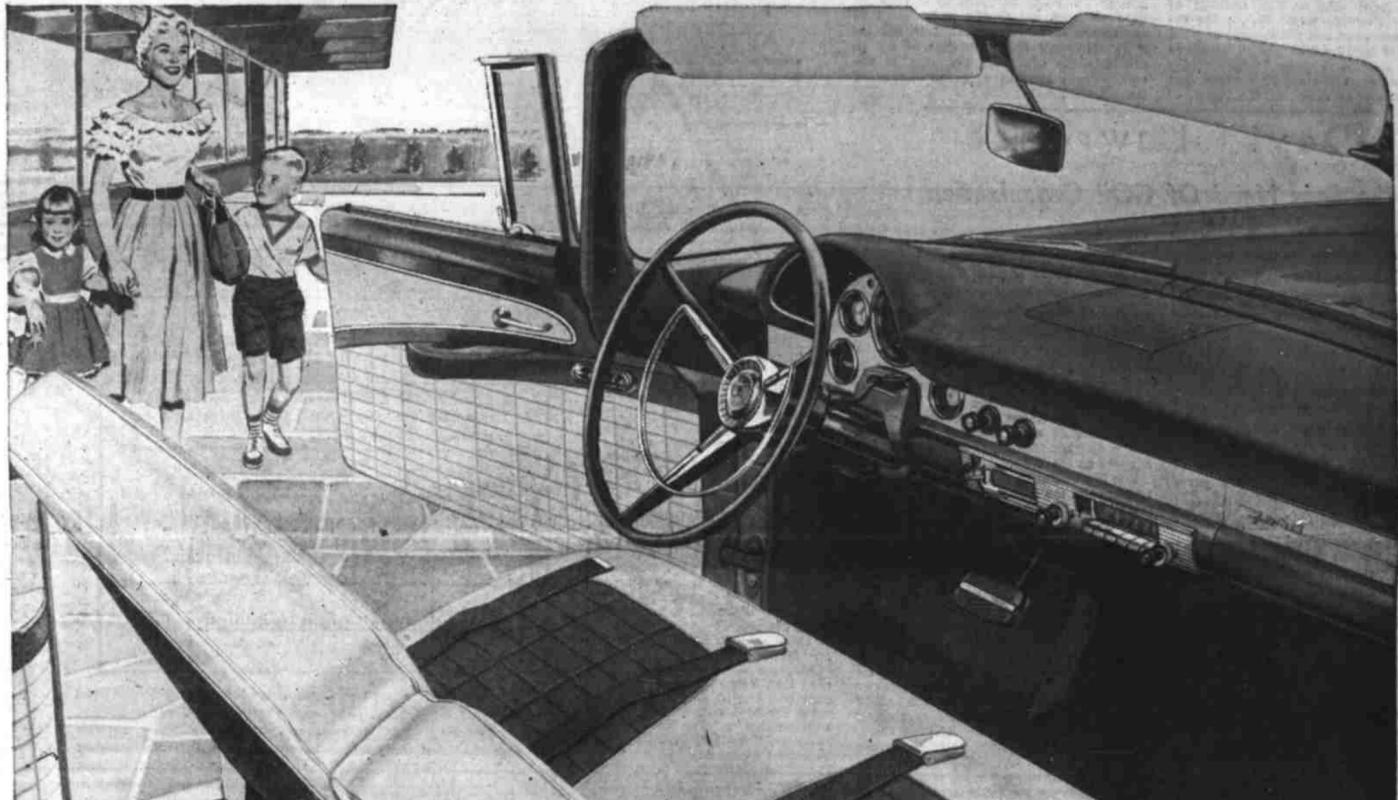

"I guess I'll put up with it for a long time," she smiled. "He gets tired of any other kind of work. Last winter, though, he did work several months in the shop of an aerial dusting company at Texarkana."

"At a dollar and hour," he laughed. "Boy, it was a long winter, and I could hardly wait for warm weather so I could start flying again."

Griesheimer says there is a big future in aerial crop work. Not only for insect control, but in spraying fertilizer, spraying weeds, eradicating brush and even planting crops, such as they do in South Texas in sowing rice seed.

But as the work increases, so will the number of planes and pilots. He said there was supposed to be a shortage of pilots now but didn't know where they were needed. Every place he has worked there were plenty. In some places the aerial contractors have indulged in cut-throat competition and no one made any money out of it—not even the pilots.

He has usually managed to get a job flying, but it requires a lot of moving about. As his wife puts it, their home is where the job is. And that may be anywhere in the United States. As long as he is flying, he doesn't much care where he lives. It's a Gypsylike sort of life, but a man like Fletcher Griesheimer won't be satisfied with any other kind.

The First Major Contribution to your Driving Safety

Ford Lifeguard Design

FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS, Ford engineers, in cooperation with universities, medical associations and leading safety experts, have been working to determine the principal causes of serious injuries in automobile accidents. They have established that the majority of all the serious injuries to drivers and passengers occur in three major areas.

These are: when the driver is thrown against the steering column; when passengers are thrown forward against hard surfaces inside the car; or when they are thrown completely out of the car.

With this information in hand, the challenge was to find effective safeguards to reduce these hazards.

Dr. R. Arnold Griswold, Chairman of the Committee on Trauma, American College of Surgeons, has asked:

"Why isn't it possible to design a steering wheel which would cushion the effect of a crash instead of leaving only a post which damages the driver's chest?"

Ford's answer to the problem is this new Life-guard steering wheel, mounted on a shorter steering post.

The deep-center construction acts as a cushion under impact . . . to decelerate the driver and give him extra protection against striking the steering column.

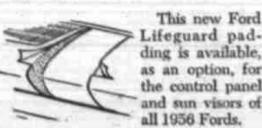

But how about those other crash danger factors like hard interior surfaces with practically no "give."

Here's what Dr. Frank H. Mayfield of the Sub-committee on Traffic Injury Prevention, of the Committee on Trauma, American College of Surgeons, has to say:

"... If there were some practical way to cover the instrument panel with adequate energy-absorbing material, there is not the slightest doubt that head injuries would be lessened or, in many cases prevented."

Ford engineers not only found a practical way to pad the instrument panel, but, after hundreds of tests, selected a special expanded plastic material of a composition and structure that is unique in its ability to absorb shock. It is so effective that an egg dropped from a roof top onto a one-inch thick pad of this material did not break.

This new Ford Lifeguard padding is available, as an option, for the control panel and sun visors of all 1956 Fords.

Now, what about the dangers outside—when doors spring open under impact and occupants are thrown from the car? Tabulations of over 1000 accident reports at Cornell University Medical College show that 20.1% of accident injuries are caused this way. Further, statistics show that the chance of injury is twice as great if a person is thrown from the car.

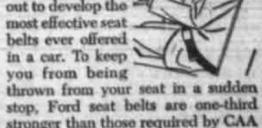

Mr. John O. Moore, Director, Crash Injury Research at Cornell Medical College, makes clear what he thinks: "We have found that passenger ejection from open doors more than doubles chances of serious injury. For double protection against being thrown from a car, safety door locks, in addition to safety belts, are a most significant step forward in passenger protection."

Let's take the door latches first. It is possible for conventional, single-grip door latches, strong as they are, to disengage when the door and doorpost are temporarily spread apart by a severe jolt. The illustration of hands, above, demonstrates conventional "single" grip. Ford's new Lifeguard double-grip door latch, standard in all '56 Fords, works something like the hand clasp shown here. The "fingers" engage and overlap for a double grip. This gives added protection against doors springing open under impact—to help keep you safer within the car.

As for seat belts, most of the authorities agree that seat belts, properly made, properly installed and conscientiously worn, could substantially reduce our nation's annual highway death toll!

That's why Ford engineers set out to develop the most effective seat belts ever offered in a car. To keep you from being thrown from your seat in a sudden stop, Ford seat belts are one-third stronger than those required by CAA for commercial aircraft and they're anchored to a double-reinforced area of the floor structure. They're available for both front and back seats on all '56 Fords, at modest extra cost.

Lifeguard Design is not the only thing new in the '56 Ford.

You'll be delighted with the entire new Ford trend for '56. It's Thunderbird through and through. For not only does the new '56 Ford offer Thunderbird styling . . . but Thunderbird power, too!

Of course, we're anxious to have you see the new 1956 Ford . . . and to Test Drive it, too. So, won't you please accept our cordial invitation to visit your Ford Dealer on this coming Friday, September 23rd? Make your plans . . . today!

Counties Designated For Drought Help

WASHINGTON (U)—The Agriculture Department yesterday designated 145 counties, including 58 in Texas, in six drought-plagued Great Plains states where it will make emergency loans for putting land in what it classified as "proper use."

The department will seek, under the loan program to get much semi-arid land diverted from wheat and other cash crops to grass for livestock grazing.

Loans will be made to farmers for carrying out land use and farming practice recommendations of the department's Soil Conservation Service and other agencies. Loans also will be made for purchasing livestock, farming equipment, seed, fertilizer, feed, insecticides, farm supplies and for the payment of interest and taxes.

Loans may be made, when necessary, for the purchase of additional land needed to provide an economic farming unit on a re-organized basis.

The Texas counties are: Andrews, Armstrong, Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Collingsworth, Cottle, Crosby, Dallam, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Donley, Fisher, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hartman, Hartley, Hemphill, Hockley, Har-

Clever Thief Confuses Cop

HONOLULU (U)—Kazuo Asato looked in a window on his return home yesterday, and spotted a man rifling a money jar. The thief dashed out the door shouting that children were ransacking the house.

Halfway down the block, the culprit dashed into another house and began changing clothes. But owner Charles J. Koto awoke from a nap and the thief dashed outside in his underwear—right into the arms of a cop.

"The burglar is in the house," the man panted. The cop went inside and the thief just went.

"Pretty clever guy but we think we'll get him," Detective Lt. Hugh Whatorst commented. He left his wallet behind with his pants."

Problem Of The City Cemetery

Several inquiries have been made of late concerning the City Cemetery, and generally speaking, these raise the question about lack of attractiveness and general care. Like everyone else, we would like to see the cemetery come as near to neatness as climate and means will allow. We do, however, recognize that the problem is not one to be solved by edict or some magic formula.

Some background may be pertinent to any consideration of the matter. The cemetery started as the Mt. Olive, a private venture. Groups such as The Catholic Church, fraternal orders (Masons and Odd Fellows) had sections of their own. As the population in this silent city grew, another area was added (hence the New Mt. Olive section), and later more territory which embraced the title of City Cemetery. Its maintenance was dependent upon individuals who had loved ones buried there, upon groups with special sections, and the general public for contributions of money or work.

The City of Big Spring was persuaded to assume the assets of the cemetery and to take over its operation and maintenance. No one expects the cemetery to be a money-maker; this has not been the case. On the contrary, it pays only about half of its way. Last year the cemetery revenues from sale of lots, opening of graves, etc. approximated $6,500; the expense of operation and maintenance created a deficit of $5,116 which had to be made up out of general revenues.

This points up the rather obvious fact that whatever is done in the way of beautification or extra maintenance will constitute an extra expenditure of general funds. The $10,000 labor and supervisory appropriation also reflects an inadequacy of manpower for a widely expanded program of care.

Perhaps the city should do more about the municipal burial grounds. This is a matter to be decided after consultation with the commission. We doubt seriously, however, that it would be possible or practical to maintain the verdant, trim sort of an area many have in mind. Sodding is out of the question because of this arid climate, high cost of water, and private plots with surrounding curbs. Consequently, weeds always will be a problem. Perhaps some greater degree of mechanization or chemical treatment could help solve problems here. Perhaps, too, border plants such as Arizona cypress would furnish a more pleasant enclosure without creating a strain on maintenance or water charges.

Certainly, the demolition or replacement of the gates which were put there in the days when horses and carriages furnished the means of conveyance would help. Beyond this, there needs to be a greater realization that lots in a cemetery of this character become private property, and unless some arrangement is made at the time of purchase or regularly through the years for special care, the city has little right (and probably not much obligation) to trespass on private property. Hence, greater use could be made of the special care services for family plots. Here is one means of immediate relief. Of course, it is obligatory upon the city to try to maintain the general appearance of the cemetery in keeping with the dignity of the purpose.

Ike Sees Need Of GOP Organization

WASHINGTON — Something significant has just happened in Republican politics which has been generally overlooked. When President Eisenhower met at Denver with the 48 chairmen of the Republican state committees throughout the country, he took a step which few occupants of the White House have ever taken fully a year before a presidential campaign begins.

The purpose of the conference was not to write slogans or to discuss whether Mr. Eisenhower will run for renomination. It was to encourage a fundamental job of organization which the Republican party has acutely needed.

What the President said about Republican philosophy got more headlines than what he said about door-to-door organization, and yet the fact that Mr. Eisenhower discouraged on it as fully as he did shows conclusively that he has learned and taken to heart the most important lesson in modern politics — intensive organization.

It is natural that there should be some passing comments about how the Eisenhower men have taken over the party and how there is no longer a Taft organization. But that's what always happens with the party in power — the man in the White House becomes the leader and preconvention factionalism tends to disappear.

Looking back as far as 1912, when Woodrow Wilson was elected, there was frequent mention after his inauguration about the ascendancy of the preconvention supporters he had as opposed to the followers of Speaker Champ Clark, who was the unsuccessful runner-up in the bitterly fought Baltimore convention. It took only a little while for the Wilson group to become dominant in party councils and for party unity to be achieved.

The same thing happened in 1928, when the Hoover supporters quietly invaded the Republican party organization and took over the control. There is nothing unique, therefore, in seeing the Eisenhower leaders of the party in command. But it would be a mistake to assume that this means any change either way in fundamental philosophy at the grass roots or in ideology. The party organization doesn't go in much for highbrow stuff about progressivism or conservatism or any other "ism." It is interested in control for city or county or state reasons, and the party organization works with the congressional candidates because as a rule the ticket as a whole and not fragments of it has to win support at the polls.

The big weakness in the Republican party has been the fact that, when the "army" took over in 1952 after Eisenhower was nominated, they had to learn the hard way — through defeat in the congressional elections of 1954 — that it doesn't pay to keep alive party grievances or to sharpen cleavages. As a matter of fact, a big danger today to the Republicans is that despite the outward professions of harmony, the Eisenhower spokesmen have failed to win over the small percentage of zealous persons who think the administration hasn't been vigorous enough on the anti-Communist issue. It is no answer to argue that these voters have no other place to go. In New Jersey, by staying home, they almost defeated Clifford Case, the successful Republican nominee for the Senate, and that's one of the states where they are going to need a lot of harmonizing to get the entire Republican vote to go to the polls next year. Chairman Leonard Hall of the Republican National Committee, in his talk on the "Meet the Press" television feature last Sunday, emphasized that very point, especially in offsetting the political strength of the labor organizations.

The President could win hands down if he ran today but, if there is anything like the economic recession under way such as the country experienced just before the 1954 congressional elections, all the Eisenhower popularity as an individual will not win for him. The practical politicians in both parties know this.

Governor Harriman and Adlai Stevenson aren't wasting their time as they spar for the Democratic nomination. It could mean the presidency for one of them if things go wrong for the Republicans — and in 12 months they can go in many different directions. Ideological issues and controversies are secondary — what's important is the economic trend.

But no matter what the issues, the party organization is absolutely essential. The President's wholehearted recognition of that fact is the political news of prime importance. The Republican party is emerging as an integrated political institution and what has brought it about is the fact that it has a friendly, harmonizing type of man in the White House who — because he does what comes naturally — says the things that help unify the party organization. Mr. Eisenhower has a lot to learn yet about the pitfalls of politics but on balance he is doing a great deal to organize a party that can be effective in winning the next elections not only for the presidency but for Congress as well.

Time Will Tell

ANN ARBOR Mich. (AP)—Andrew Ernest, 66, who still operates a farm and said he had been "throwing hay around this morning," told a University of Michigan Conference on Aging:

"Worrying kills more people than calouses, and headaches wear out more people than hard work."

And a 73-year-old neighbor from nearby Saline, Edward Foster, told the conference: "I was smoking about 50 cigars a week, and then I just decided I'd quit—doesn't seem to help any, though. I don't feel any better or any worse."

Everybody Has Prosperity Except The Farmers

"High heap the farmer's wintry hoard!
"High heap the golden corn!
"No richer gift has a tumbler poured
"From out her lavish horn!"

During John Greenleaf Whittier's tractorless 19th century, a rich harvest meant rich farmers. But in today's combine-and-harvester civilization, the bounties of the rich U. S. soil are a pain to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. Too much grain in storage.

And now, during another abundant harvest season, the Department of Agriculture reports that farm income is down again—4 percent for the first six months of 1955. And another decline is expected in the third quarter. Naturally, Secretary Benson, just returned from Europe, is worried. He's got to come up with some plan to bolster farm prices.

Farmers are grumbling. They read that Ralph C. Cordier, president of General Electric, predicts sales for 1955 will beat 1954—notwithstanding a drop in defense business. They feel that farm and industrial economies just don't get. Industrial prices rise, farm prices fall (see chart). Is that prosperity? If so, farmers feel it in reverse.

When General Motors assembles a bumper crop of cars, its profits rise to an all-time peak and it splits its stock three-for-one. But a bumper crop of hogs in the first eight months of this year netted farmers a half billion dollars (20 percent less than in 1954). The farmer gets less for what he sells, pays more for what he buys. Parity, bah! That's disparity!

Even railroading, for so long American industry's economic stepchild, prospers. On the same day the Department of Agriculture reported a drop in farm income, forced wholesale liquidation of the Association of American Railroads upped its estimate of net operating income for 1955 to $1,042,000,000. This is a 7 per cent increase over an estimate made as recently as May. This represents a gain of nearly 20 per cent

Around The Rim

Take Dogs—Dogs Have To Take People

Here it is National Dog Week, or so somebody said. This is important to dog lovers, and possibly to dogs themselves. You can take dogs different ways, because there are as many different kinds of dogs as there are people, and you sure have to take people different ways.

For instance, friends of mine have a fine little doggie name of Skippy. Skippy I like, because when I appear at the friends' house he gives me a personal welcome — or at least I think so. I have never been quite sure whether Skippy recognizes me as a superior being, or whether he takes me at his own level. Anyway, we get along together because he boosts my ego. Now ain't that just like people?

There's another canine who shall remain nameless for whom I have little use. This is because he either resents me, ignores me, or downright insults me when we run across each other. Snooty dogs I have no use for. Chances are I don't smell good to him, either.

Of course there are smart dogs and dumb dogs. I used to have an old part-Collie who seemed to be a stupid thing. That was when a horse came by, either hitched to a wagon or carrying a rider, Bill would go tearing out, snap at the horse's heels a few times, then leap up, grab a mouthful of horse's tail, and swing like mad. This got Bill some kicks in the belly, which made him look stupid. But he would always come trotting back into the yard, a wide grin on his face. Which shows you, like people, dogs have different ideas on what is fun.

Bennett Cerf tells one about an awfully smart dog. This animal got to napping in his master's easy chair, and the master spoke to him about it. "You can go any place else around here, but stay out of my chair." And the dog nodded in obedience. But the master came home a little early one afternoon, sat down in his chair and found it warm. He called his dog and said "Look, I know you've been in this chair. Now stay out of it." And the dog again agreed. Few days later the master arrived even a bit earlier, slipped into the living room to find his dog madly blowing on the chair.

This was a smart dog, with a bit deceitful, but dogs could look over their shoulders in any given direction and find the same kind of people.

They are even taking dogs to the beauty parlors these days, and the grooming business has grown to great proportions. Thinkers are getting tougher all the time on common old cur dogs, but as far as I can tell the world isn't treating the common people any better, either.

Dogs are, I suppose, as concerned about the state of the world as are people. License taxes no doubt are going up, rations are higher, and the business of getting over or under these modern fences is certainly more difficult than it used to be. Then there is always the pound-master, an official to be avoided as widely as if he were a federal agent.

Chances are, if the dogs are having any special get-togethers during National Dog Week, they will have speakers viewing with alarm the fact that the whole world is going to the humans. And this, from a dog's standpoint, can be bad.

'There Ain't Nothin' To Worry About'

One glorious May day, Mrs. Peale and I were driving in West Virginia. We came down a wide highway to a crossroads where a little road meandered off up a valley and into the mountains.

At the intersection there was a sign with an arrow pointing off to the smaller road. Intriguingly it read "Sunshine Valley."

I turned to Mrs. Peale and asked, "Shall we go up Sunshine Valley?"

She answered, "Let's go up Sunshine Valley."

I'm glad we made this side trip because it was there that we met Tommy Martin. We had left the car to sit a minute along one of those clean, rushing mountain streams that come down out of the blue misty hills on their way to the sea. We were listening to the sound of the water singing over the rocks and watching it disappear under a bridge when Tommy came into view. He was about twelve years old and he was sauntering down the road with a slouch hat on his head, boots on his feet, well worn trousers on his legs, bubble gum in his mouth and a fishing rod over his shoulder. He looked us over and apparently he liked us, for he said, "Hi, how are you?"

And then he turned to me as though to an old friend: "Haven't you a pole? Well, come on, I'll fish for both of us." He took me down to where two streams met. There, he said, the best trout were to be found. He waded into the stream, cast his line and up came the most beautiful trout. As he took it off the hook, I asked whether he was using dry flies or no.

Chewing thoughtfully, he answered, "No, just plain old worms. They're better than fancy lures." And then he explained to me that the trout he had just taken was a brook trout and that he had shot a deer in these woods last winter.

Then I asked him one of those stupid adult questions, "How come you're not in school?" It was Thursday, after all.

He made some sort of answer which I didn't get, but it sounded vague. And that day as I sat on the bank watching this twelve-year-old boy fishing in a sun-speckled trout stream, I felt to wondering which of the two of us knew more about living, he or I? And I asked him, "Tommy, do you ever worry about anything?"

He looked at me with big brown eyes and answered in his mountain twang, "Worry Shucks, there ain't nothin' to worry about!" And I went on back to Mrs. Peale wondering if I could ever again be like Tommy Martin.

Well, the truth, of course, is that adult life brings with it certain responsibilities which are inescapable facts of maturity. And we have to live in a world that requires much of us. But isn't it possible for us, no matter what our lot or how heavy our duties, to retain a gay and youthful spirit?

When I say you can leave worry behind you, I do not mean you should be indifferent to human suffering and difficulty. Certainly I do not mean we should maintain a careless disregard for the problems of society. But isn't it possible to go govern your mind and spirit that you can acquire that sense of peace and understanding and power which makes you more effective in the battle of life?

The word "worry" is derived, so I'm told, from an Anglo-Saxon word meaning to strangle or choke. How well-named the emotion is has been demonstrated again and again in persons who have lost their effectiveness due to the stultifying effect of anxiety and apprehension.

A certain well-controlled carelessness may very well be an asset. Normal sensible concern is an important attribute of the mature person. But worry frustrates one's best functioning.

I hope you can develop Tommy Martin's philosophy. "Shucks, there ain't nothin' to worry about." And there isn't — not as long as we have God. And that's likely to be as long as we live.

Foreign Service Economies Hurt U.S.

WASHINGTON—The observer who returns from a long sojourn in Europe must inevitably be impressed by the remarkable calm that prevails here at home. The contrast is particularly marked when you consider that a year ago the atmosphere was still clouded by the ugly passions that had been stirred in the quarrel over the censure motion voted against Senator McCarthy.

Today the figure of the Wisconsin Senator seems scarcely visible on the extreme horizon. His words, if they are heard at all, sound like the tired echo of a feud that most Americans would apparently prefer to forget.

This fact, together with President Eisenhower's splendid performance at the Big Four conference at Geneva, has brought about a great alteration in America's position abroad. There is an atmosphere of growing confidence in the leadership of the greatest of the Western powers; the power which by virtue of its enormous capacity and strength must be counted on to hold the Western alliance together.

As on previous assignments abroad, this observer has once again been impressed by the high average of individual American performance. Despite the long carnival of abuse, when they were accused to lolling luxuriously on the government gravy train, hundreds of devoted public servants are working hard and, on the whole, effectively in the foreign field. Republican businessmen brought in by the Eisenhower Administration are in many instances serving with conspicuous ability in foreign posts.

But there is another side which the returned traveler is bound to record. The budget-balancing preoccupation of the Eisenhower Administration has resulted in petty and often mean economies that hamper the foreign service and, to a lesser degree, the position of American military men who must represent America in the network of military alliances that have come into being in recent years.

Both living and representation allowances have been cut back. The individual who finds his living allowance cut, often when he is working under difficult circumstances in an area where prices for decent living may be as high as in America, has a right to feel that the contract he entered into with his government has been arbitrarily renegeed on without his knowledge or consent. Often this means real hardship.

The scandal of the representation allowance grows ever more shocking. This is the amount given annually to American ambassadors to do the job of representing the United States to the world. In the leading capitals the amount voted by Congress is only a fraction of what is required to run an embassy properly.

These economies tend to make America look absurd before the world. Especially ironic is the fact that many of the foreign diplomatic missions in Washington and abroad, sustained with dollar aid, are maintained on a scale far grander than that officially allowed the American ambassador in London or in Paris.

The Congressmen who enforce these economies take it as their right when traveling abroad to be accorded the privileges of visiting royalty. The dozens of junketeers now in Europe and Asia—there are honorable exceptions—expect to be met at the airport by the ambassador or his No. 1 assistant, expect entertainment and even demand counterpart funds to spend as they will.

In short, they consider themselves as the very least official ambassadors on roving assignment and often more nearly as visiting monarchs looking over some of the lesser provinces. Their attitude too often is as though they had personally distributed the largesse by which an ambassador is privileged to live in foreign splendor and they only get part of their money back when they eat his fillet mignon and drink his champagne.

We are a great power today and it is childish to pretend anything else. The pretense as seen in the petty penny economies can, if pushed too far, cost America a great deal in terms of world leadership.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 103:17—"The steadfast love of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon those who fear him." (RSV)

How prevalent the restless chafing of our time! Driven by the merciless pace of a competitive society, many find life too much for them. Its deepest satisfactions in peace and worth have eluded them; the years have left them stranded in a drab routine of uneventful days, devoid of meaning. And all of us, in some half-conscious way, measure our puny selves against what we might have been. Whether we will or not, we must see ourselves in the perspective of the ages, and are pursued by some haunting sense of our pettiness and evil. "Wretched man that I am! Who will deliver me?"—from myself!

In such stress of soul we are heirs of the Biblical seers and saints. They saw the depth of human badness as no others had done; they knew the exalted holiness before which all our best is like filthy rags. Yet to stop there is to do them scant justice. None others had learned like them the infinite goodness of God. Not our selfishness and our sins are the ultimate truth of life, but the unbounded love in which we live and move and have our being.

"As far as the east is from the west, so far does he remove our transgressions from us."

Groundhog Pet

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Want a nice pet? Try a groundhog, says Mrs. A. W. Bennett, who lives in nearby Henrico County. And she ought to know because Billy, her current groundhog pet, is the third she has had.

"They are clean, intelligent animals, and you can train them just as you would a dog or cat," Mrs. Bennett said. Billy, now four-months-old and weighing 16 pounds, has made friends with Mrs. Bennett's cats. He drinks milk heartily and eats a lot of bread. He is fully housebroken and knows his name.

A CHILD SLEEPS...

A Child sleeps peacefully . . . a sleep without dreams. The day just passed has been filled with play, adventure, new learning and discoveries. The day ahead is something to look forward to.

There are no nightmares for this child because there is no fear to kindle them. For it is the fear of the unknown . . . the fear of tomorrow . . . that stirs us to unrest.

To look forward to tomorrow tranquilly . . . as this child does . . . you must have FAITH. You will find that faith in the Church, and with it you will be able to face, unafraid, your tomorrows, and all they hold.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fonda, Cagney, Powell To Star In CinemaScope Film, 'Mr. Roberts'

"Mr. Roberts" begins a five-day stint at the Ritz today, starring Henry Fonda, James Cagney, and William Powell. The film is in CinemaScope and WarnerColor. Fonda brings to the screen the same role he created on the stage, that of Mister Roberts. Cagney plays the captain of the ship U. S. S. Reluctant and Powell is the medical officer. This comedy retains most of the humor and fun that was in the book and later the stage play. But not quite so ribald. Fonda is the second in command who tries to get transferred from the cargo vessel to more active duty. But Cagney refuses to forward his request to higher echelons because he likes Fonda's abilities.

Despite all the efforts of the crew, which tend to be hilarious, the transfer never is put through. Then the ship prepares to take a cruise to Elysium without first giving the crew a shore liberty. Roberts rushes in to make a bargain with the captain.

He agrees to quit asking for a transfer if the captain will give the crew a leave. The agreement is made and the crew go wild on their first liberty in months, creating fun for themselves and the audience.

When the Reluctant puts out to sea again, Roberts receives a transfer order for him to go to combat duty. Mystified, he is told by Powell that the orders came out with a perfect "facsimile" of the captain's signature on it.

Cagney, incidentally, has a pet palm tree that he was awarded for meritorious service. All through the picture, he keeps it pampered and watered. In a rage, Roberts throws the tree overboard early in the picture. As a going away present, the crew gives Roberts a small gold replica of the tree.

Jack Lemmons takes over Roberts' duties and after the former has left the ship, Lemmons throws the captain's newly acquired tree overboard too. Cagney shrugs wearily as he realizes his troubles have started again.

"Mr. Roberts," the book and stage play, were overwhelming successes. One was a best seller and the other a long-run hit production.

Lemmons, Cagney, Fonda, Powell

"Mr. Roberts" starts today at the Ritz starring Henry Fonda, James Cagney, William Powell and Jack Lemmons. The color and CinemaScope film will play through Thursday. The picture was taken from the best-selling novel and Broadway hit stage production.

'The Wizard Of Oz'

Judy Garland Is Star Of 'The Wizard Of Oz' At State

The film that really established Judy Garland in Hollywood will make a return run at the State Thursday through Saturday. It is "The Wizard of Oz" and one of the best fantasies ever put on film. The Technicolor film is a must for the kiddoes. Judy plays Dorothy, a little girl who is swept into the fabulous land of Oz by a cyclone. There she meets a cowardly lion, Bert Lahr, a scarecrow, Ray Bolger, and a tin man, Jack Haley.

The lion wants a brain, the scarecrow wants a brain, and the tin man wants a heart. Dorothy, of course, wants to go back home to Kansas. The four decide to visit the Wizard of Oz who they believe can give each of them the things they want. Traveling through the magic land, they meet all sorts of scary and weird things, such as trees that talk and throw apples, flying monkeys, a "horse of a different color," and munchkinland. Frank Morgan plays the fabulous Wizard and he is excellent. There are some 9,200 living actors in the film. The music is very good too, featuring "Over the Rainbow," which has never grown old, and "We're Off To See the Wizard." Others included are "If I Only Had a Brain," "The Merry Old Land of Oz," "Ding Dong," and "If I Were King of the Forest."

Conte, Donlevy And Wilde

"The Big Combo" is the mystery and romantic film at the Jet Drive-In tonight, Richard Conte, Brian Donlevy and Cornel Wilde are starred in this first run film.

First-Run Film, 'Big Combo' Among Week's Jet Offerings

"The Big Combo" makes its premier showing in Big Spring at the Jet tonight and Monday. Stars in the detective story are Richard Conte, Cornel Wilde, Brian Donlevy, and Jean Wallace.

Conte plays the head of a large crime syndicate. Wilde is the police officer who tries to prove that Conte murdered the former boss to get the job as head man. Also, he tries to show that Conte had his wife committed to an asylum because she knew too much about his activities. Jean Wallace plays Conte's girl friend, who turns informer to get out of his clutches. The film combines drama, romance, and mys-

Rory Calhoun Is Star Of 'Looters' At State Today

Rory Calhoun, Julie Adams, and Thomas Gomez star in the State film today, "The Looters."

Calhoun and Ray Danton start out for the mountains to rescue the passengers of a crashed airplane. When they arrive, they find Julie Adams, Thomas Gomez, and Frank Faylen still alive, but the co-pilot is badly injured. Danton and Gomez discover that the plane was carrying $250,000 in cash.

The two plan to join forces and escape with the loot. But Calhoun is the only one that knows the way out. Gomez kills the co-pilot because it would be too much trouble to carry him back. Then the culprits force Calhoun to lead the group to civilization.

A love affair between Calhoun and Miss Adams begins and they plot to save themselves from the desperadoes. The film comes to an exciting climax before the group reaches safety.

Terrace Schedule Has Twin Feature

"The Bridges of Toko-ri" is the offering tonight at the Terrace. The Technicolor picture is taken from the James A. Michener novel and stars William Holden, Grace Kelly, Fredric March, and Mickey Rooney.

The story concerns the danger and private lives of jet pilots in Korea. In particular, the picture tells of the bombing of some strategic bridges.

Beginning Tuesday, "Prince Valiant," with Robert Wagner and Janet Leigh is the feature. It also plays Wednesday.

The regular double feature program is scheduled Thursday and Friday. Bing Crosby and Jane Wyman star in "Here Comes The Groom." Glenn Ford and Rhonda Fleming co-star in "The Redhead and the Cowboy." Edmund O'Brien is also in this last picture which tells of spies and counter-spies during the War Between the States in the Southwest.

A science-fiction thriller is the Saturday night feature, "War of the Worlds" is taken from the story by H. G. Wells and pictures the Earth being invaded by invincible Martians, that atomic bombs cannot hurt. Gene Barry is the star of this Technicolor production.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Glenn Coates

First run films are on schedule for the State and the Jet Drive-In again this week. The most outstanding film of the week is probably "Mr. Roberts" at the Ritz. This Navy film has a good reputation from the book and the stage production.

The premiere at the State is "The Looters" with Rory Calhoun and Julie Adams. It plays today and Monday. "The Big Combo" at the Jet tonight is a first run Big Spring picture starring Richard Conte and Cornel Wilde.

A return engagement at the State later in the week is good film-fare. It is the Judy Garland film, "The Wizard of Oz" with the tin man, the cowardly lion, and the scarecrow. "Course I was quite small when I saw it the first time, but it sure left a lasting impression on me.

The release of so many good films in the past few months and more good ones coming in the future begins talk of Academy Awards. George Seaton, president of the Academy, has announced the award date. The 1956 "Oscars" will be presented to the winners on March 21.

Arlene Dahl stoutly defends her "beauty marks." The five years that she has been in Hollywood have been filled with attempts by make-up artists to cover them up when she is starring in a picture. "They're my trademark," she says. "A woman is silly to cover up a mole. Take my word for it, men love them. That's why I lead a one-woman campaign to teach women a beauty mark's true value."

At least one of her leading men has backed her up in this statement, Rock Hudson.

"Mr. Roberts" as a stage play was one of the biggest money-makers in the history of the New York Theatre. It made a record $4,504,000 in over 1,000 performances. Henry Fonda played the lead role. It ran six years, beginning in 1948.

Judy Canova Film Is Lyric Feature
"Singing In The Corn" is the Lyric feature today and Monday. The comedy feature stars Judy Canova as a madcap hillbilly queen and Allen Jenkins as the male counterpart. Judy runs amok of "spirits," gamblers, and Indians in a haunted western town which puts many daffy twists to the picture. For this type of film, Judy is at her best. The kiddoes should go for this re-release in a big way. "Bengal Brigade" is the next feature at the Lyric. It will play Tuesday and Wednesday and stars Rock Hudson, Arlene Dahl, and Ursula Thiess. The picture is an adventure story set in India. Beginning Thursday and playing through Saturday, the Lyric offers "Six Gun Gold" with Tim Holt.

Prostate Cancer Relief Is Noted

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A German-developed drug is bringing remarkable relief from pain and general improvement in men with cancer of the prostate gland, the American Chemical Society was told today.

It is practically specific for tumors of the prostate, a common type in men, said Walter J. Frajola, Ph.D., Jaber Mubsin, M.D., and J. N. Taylor, M.D., of Ohio State University.

German investigators have reported successful control of prostate cancer with the drug, diethylstilbestrol diphosphate.

The Ohio team tested it on 13 men and found it produced remarkable relief of pain and other symptoms in a few days. "But there have been no signs yet, visible through X-rays, of improvement in areas of bones affected by the spread of the cancer, they said.

The men were treated in a hospital for three weeks then maintained on one to two injections a week. None has suffered from nausea or from feminization, which had been drawbacks with an earlier treatment using diethylstilbestrol alone.

Rope Saves Life By Buying Time

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rubin Boyance, 33, a painter from Levittown, Pa., slipped from a 100-foot-high scaffold yesterday and plunged toward ground workers on construction of a Delaware River bridge at nearby Edgely.

He fell about 30 feet—reached out—and managed to grasp a dangling rope. Workers above began to haul him back up.

Just as he neared a catwalk, he slipped again. This time there was no dangling rope. He fell—screaming—toward earth.

He landed in a taut piece of tarpaulin ground workers had improvised as a safety net—just in case—as he started up the rope. A hospital said his injuries were minor.

Chief Declines Ride With 'Blind' Driver

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche yesterday declined an offer to make an opening-day tour of the Ohio Turnpike with a blindfolded motorist.

The unidentified driver said he would start his trip from near Cleveland on Oct. 1 and cover the entire 241-mile toll road in both directions without being able to see.

"We will leave at 8 a.m. and will return (I hope) some seven hours later," wrote the man, who termed himself "the scourge of the magic world."

Lausche sent his regrets and notified the state highway patrol "just in case" the writer was not joking.

He'll Have To Wait

DENVER (AP)—Dist. Judge Edward J. Keating, preparatory to sentencing James J. Shields, asked the defendant:

"Do you have any statement to make before sentence is imposed?"

"Yes, could I get married first?" replied Shields.

"Absolutely not," declared the judge as he sentenced the 19-year old youth to an indeterminate term for assault to commit robbery.

Uncle Ray:
Poison Gas
Is Fearful Weapon

By RAMON COFFMAN

After reading my article about Hiroshima last month, a South Carolina publisher, Mr. James R. Young, sent me a clipping of an article he had written concerning that Japanese city.

Mr. Young visited Hiroshima after the war. On a nearby island, he relates, the Japanese had "12,000 tons of poison chemicals and 5,000 tons of mustard gas." His article goes on to say:

"Had a bomb from an American plane hit this source, the casualties would have been 10 times the number killed by one atomic bomb. Two million Japanese would have been affected, for in the valley of Hiroshima the frequency of low ceilings would have left the gas veil there for many days."

The article by Mr. Young is a timely reminder that the world contains dangerous things besides atomic bombs. Poison gas is one of these. Germs could be used to spread disease, and deadly poisons could be placed in reservoirs containing water for cities. Wicked though he was, Adolph Hitler kept his agreement to avoid the use of poison gas during the second World War. He was afraid that the Allies would reply to a gas attack with a terrible gas attack against Germany.

The larger countries had big supplies of poison gas during the second World War. The gas was stored in various places, but bombs missed the storage tanks. In the public mind, and probably in fact, atomic bombs (including H-bombs) represent the most horrible form of warfare. If they were employed in a future world war, it seems certain that other terrible weapons would be used as well.

Some of the world's leading statesmen have declared, in recent months, the peace can be assured if the right action is taken. If they stop the use of atomic bombs, let us hope that they also will halt poison gas, germ warfare and other fearful methods of destroying the human race.

The Monument That Made Me Weep

A FEW MONTHS AGO I stood at the foot of the Washington Monument, that beautiful, white-stone finger pointing heavenward as a reminder of the first leader of our great nation. Later I stood at the door of another memorial and gazed at the toil-worn brow of a great man whose task it was to bring together a nation torn by civil war.

I was impressed. Here in silent tribute stood two magnificent structures, each rich in glory and each signifying to the world the respect and honor the American people have for their leaders. But as inspired as I was before these two memorials, as proud as they made me feel, it was at the side of another stone edifice that I felt so deeply moved that tears came to my eyes. This was at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, for it is there that one realizes the source of America's true greatness. This simple, unadorned memorial honors the average citizen who rose to fight and die that other average citizens might continue to live in freedom. May we ever remember him, the Unknown Soldier.—R. L. Shewmaker, Alsey, Ill.

"Book Lift" Solves Library Shift

Packing books when you move is a weighty problem, but the town library in Westfield, N. J., solved it neatly with a "book lift." You might borrow its idea if you are moving or if your community is moving its library into new quarters, as happened in Westfield.

When the move was announced, book-lovers volunteered their services. They each checked out a handful of books—some took as many as eight—from the old library and returned them two weeks later to the new. In this way, 10,000 books found their way to the new location—and with no strained backs!

Now, if someone will just devise an equally effortless way to move a household.—Helen Morrison, Westfield, N. J.

How to Instill a Taste for Good Music

Day after day I would listen to my teen-age children playing jazz records, and when I'd ask them to play something else, they'd look at me as if to say, "You mean there is another kind of music?"

Finally I could stand it no longer. My head was spinning with drum solos, saxophones blaring, and lyrics I couldn't understand. So I gathered my clan together and said, "I live here, too, so I think I should have some consideration and be able to listen once in a while to the type of music I enjoy." We agreed on a plan: for every two jazz records played, they would play one of my choice.

The results have been amazing. My children—and their friends, too—are beginning to know and enjoy the classics, and for my birthday they gave me an album of my favorites.—R. F., Sacramento, Calif.

Kindness Comes in Many Forms

When I visited some folks in the country recently, the father was ill, and kind neighbors were bringing in food and flowers. The cooking had to be done on a wood stove, and while I was thinking what a lot of work it must be to keep the fire going, a very unobtrusive man brought in a large box of kindling, cut just the right size for the stove. Very few people would have thought of doing such a thing, but I know that the wife appreciated it as much as she did the food and flowers.—Mrs. J. P., Lynchburg, Va.

A Child Needs Two Kinds of Love

I have never forgotten a casual statement a friend of mine once made. We were discussing our earliest memories, and he said, "The first abstract idea I was able to grasp was that my parents loved one another deeply. It was very important to me."

I was a new and eager mother, and his words had a profound effect on me. I had been thinking of my baby daughter's security and happiness in terms of loving her, being sympathetic and understanding, and providing needed discipline.

It had never occurred to me that by demonstrating my love for my husband—her father—I would be giving her the best security she could have upon which to build her life. It came as an overwhelming realization that she needed affection not directed entirely at her, but present around her. In two sentences, my friend had given me an entirely new perspective as a mother.—Mrs. Carl B. Foster, Marion, Ind.

I was just thinking...

... CONSIDERING the number of glass houses in the world, it's surprising so many stones get thrown.

I blush for the stones I've let fly. My house is glassier than most.

Small towns may be noted for their glass and stone, but big towns are, too. Many a gossip columnist earns his living tattling, but perhaps there's more excuse for making money at it than peddling it for free.

If stones put into print are libelous, they cost money. But a whispering campaign is a rock of a different color. Who can sue a whisper? It's the biggest stone of all.

Nobody ever forgets the baby born too early. No babies, among the stone-throwers, are ever premature. I remember the girl who had to leave school, not because she was pregnant but because "they" said she was.

"They," you know, is the blanket over the stone, the snowball concealing the rock. "They" have shattered reputations from Milwaukee to Marseilles, because even the French have the word for it. "On dit."

Ewing Galloway

"They say" the doctor drinks like a fish or the office boy rifles the petty-cash drawer. Sometimes I've longed to be the one to startle the bridge table with the latest word from the Great Gray "They." There's a heady excitement in raising eyebrows.

If they're raised in another direction. But I've almost bitten my barbed tongue in two when I forget my windows. And when I look down and see the pebbles in my hands.

I will let him who is without sin cast the first stone. Yet he must pay a great price for the privilege. The moment the stone leaves his hand he is sinless no longer.

He will dwell in a glass house forever.

"GET YOUR PUPPY HERE!"

IN THE U. S., any dog sold on the street is likely to be on a bun and spread with mustard. But on Mexico City's Madero Street, a dog sold on the street is an honest-to-goodness

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER—Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

When Jack Fleck came out of Davenport, Ia., to defeat Ben Hogan in the National Open, he made Horatio Alger's heroes look like pikers

by Nick Thimmesch

Meet the New King of

IN DAVENPORT, IOWA, the lore and legend of Jack Fleck, newly crowned king of golf, are accumulating. Strangely enough, the stories about the surprise winner of the 1955 National Open are new to most people in his home area.

Outside of golfing circles, many home-towners had never even heard of Jack Fleck, and none of those who had were around when he got into his car early one June morning for the 2,200 mile drive to the National Open in San Francisco. It was a different story a week later.

Fleck came home to a "Wall Street" welcome on Davenport's Second street. The crowd cheered, the mayor shook his hand, Fleck wept, and it was plain that the new national champion had arrived.

The Lincolnesque Fleck, at 32, was now king of the American fairways, and his sensational victory was no fluke. He had bested Ben Hogan, a four-time winner of the Open, and a score of other golf greats.

The sportswriters called Fleck a "lean unknown," a "hollow-checked Midwesterner." The phone rang incessantly on the desk of John O'Donnell, sports editor of the Davenport Democrat. The nation wanted to know about Fleck, the golfer who never before had won a major tournament. "What kind of a guy is he?" they asked.

O'Donnell could only answer that Fleck "just stuck to it." And, indeed, a look at the Fleck story does show one dominant theme: the fellow was just persistent.

He knew hard times as a child

A child of the depression, Fleck symbolizes the lives of many adult Americans "on the way up" today.

He felt the hard times of the '30s; he gave almost four years to Uncle Sam in World War II; he came home to "get started" and to "settle down." Millions of American men have done the same thing. But Jack Fleck also became golf champ.

During those depression years, Fleck was a caddy, "one of the best at our club," according to one Davenport golfer. And at Davenport High School, he played with the varsity team which won the conference championship in 1939.

Most of the story begins then—in 1939—when Fleck announced, "I'm going to be a pro golfer."

These words had an odd sound to his father, who had worked hard as a truck farmer to support his five children. "You ought to get into a trade," the elder Fleck advised.

"But I was bound and determined," Jack says today. "One of the first things I did after graduating was hitchhike to San Antonio where a major

GOLF

There he met Dutch Harrison, a top money winner then, who helped him get a job at the Des Moines Country Club.

"I washed balls, polished clubs, helped around, and golfed whenever I got the chance," Fleck recalls. Whenever he had the chance, he would also "peep in"—but not always enter — tournaments around the country. Most of his time was spent working at the Des Moines course, however. The pay was $5 a week, and the job lasted until Fleck joined the Navy in 1942.

He became a quartermaster, and his 3½ years' service were barren as far as golf was concerned. There were no greens on shipboard in the Pacific or on the Normandy beachhead.

"I had to start all over again after I got out in 1945," Fleck explains. "I think my first postwar score was a 93. But I knew I would stay in golf."

He did, staying with the game in his home area. He became club pro at the two municipal golf courses in Davenport and used his Summer earnings to "follow the sun" around the Winter circuit.

He never considered giving up

There is no question that Fleck was at his "low point" in those immediate postwar years. He wasn't making any money, and his encouragement came from one man only—Dr. Paul Barton, a Davenport, amateur champ who was very much interested in Fleck's golfing possibilities.

"I never thought of quitting, though," Fleck says. "I always wanted to play. But it's easier when you've got money. You can 'free wheel' and you don't worry about your own money on every shot."

In golf language, "free wheel" means that a golfer can loosen up, usually because he has a financial angel or is subsidized by a sporting-goods firm. Fleck, despite his Horatio Alger success, maintains it's "psychologically tough to be low on money."

Fleck was in such a state of mind when a blonde young woman from Chicago walked into his life in 1949. She was having golf-club trouble. Fleck was the man who handled such matters at the Credit Island course in Davenport, and he arranged to repair the club. Six weeks later, Lynn Burnside became Mrs. Fleck.

Lynn soon became Jack's golf mentor, secretary, and treasurer. She urged him to enter the Winter competition "because I didn't want him to feel I spoiled his career. He had to get it out of his system."

In 1950, a boy was born to the Flecks. Jack wanted to name him Sneed Hogan Fleck. Lynn compromised with Craig

Wood Fleck. When Lynn suggested an annuity for Craig's college expenses, Jack replied: "He won't need a college education. He'll be a golfer."

Jack and Lynn shared duties at the pro shops, and Jack continued to play in the Winter meets. Dr. Barton says Jack would get upset during those Winter trips because "he thought he should have been back home earning money for his family."

Lynn insisted he continue. She stuck by him in 1951 and '52, when two great Mississippi river floods cut down their income at the flooded Credit Island course; in '53, when Jack's pro earnings were $13.75; in '54 when he made just $113. It seemed like a losing proposition.

He made a tough decision

In 1953, Jack received an offer to become year-round pro at a private golf club in Moline, Ill., just across the river from Davenport. Jack thought it over, and turned down the job and the attractive salary; he would stick to pro golf.

The 1954-55 season was Jack's first full Winter season. He played well and won $2,700. As Spring came, he felt more confident than ever before. Then came the National Open. Fleck wrote home describing himself as the "dark horse" who might win it.

The rest is golf history. In beating Hogan by three strokes, Fleck became the most remarkable unknown since 1935, when a chap named Sam Parks came out of nowhere to win the Open at Oakmont, Pa.

Fleck's victory was the old story: persistence. He could have quit the tournament before it started, because he was shooting dismal eighties in the practice rounds. He had barely enough money to pay his caddies and his locker fees. (He had $3 left in his pocket when he was dubbed winner.) And the solitary 49-hour drive from Iowa to California didn't refresh him for the tough meet.

Fleck is a placid champion; composure is his winning quality. Dr. Barton attributes Fleck's success to his "splendid physical condition" (he doesn't smoke or drink), "hard work," and "self-reliance." He must have had self-reliance when Ben Hogan was staring him down on the last crucial holes in the final round. →

GOLF (Continued)

1. A rousing hero's reception greeted the new king of golf at the Davenport airport. He also was given a brand-new automobile.

2. Davenport's Mayor Walter Buese congratulates Fleck on his sensational win. A few days later he lunched at the White House.

3. A weary champ snoozes amid a deluge of well-wishing telegrams. In coming tourneys Fleck hopes to prove he's on top to stay.

"They told me I could cinch second place if I played it safe. But I wasn't playing it safe this time," Fleck explains. His three "birdies" and some excellent putting helped him to tie and then beat Hogan.

"It's hard to realize I'm the champ," Fleck told the press.

But in a few days Fleck did realize it. Back in Davenport, he resumed work at the courses, but matters were different. The phone rang too often, people ogled him, and there were scores of requests for public speeches.

"I'm no speaker," Fleck said. "I just want to play good golf."

Fleck's name and history went into the Congressional Record; a baby was named after him; he was made colonel on the governor's military staff; admiring citizens of Davenport and nearby Bettendorf (his actual home town) gave him an expensive automobile; and, by special invitation, he lunched with another golfer, President Eisenhower.

Besides all this, 1955 is beginning to look like a $100,000 year for the Flecks. But at Credit Island, you can still find Fleck figuring the price of ice-cream bars, worrying about the kind of help he must hire, advising people on their golf swings and golf clubs, and talking golf with everybody.

"I don't know anything but golf," he will tell you. "It's my life. I just hope I don't turn out to be a Sam Parks."

Golfing Sam, like many other greats of meteor-like success, wasn't much heard from after that 1935 tourney. Jack Fleck's persistence could well save him from such an experience.

OF STAR-STUDDED RECIPES

An abundant harvest announces the arrival of autumn. It is the season of great expectations when gourmets revel in the delights of superb cooking and dining. FAMILY WEEKLY has prepared these recipes to make your meals memorable.

Corn Pudding

Flecks of green pepper and scarlet pimiento give this golden corn pudding a piquant flavor and gay color that put it in the limelight.

Grease a 2-qt. casserole.

Remove husks, corn silk, and blemishes from 4 or 7 fresh ears corn

Carefully cut kernels of corn from cob. Chop into small pieces enough to yield 2 cups chopped corn.

Set out

2 1/2 cups milk

Scald (just until a thin film appears) 1 cup of the milk in top of a double boiler over simmering water. Put the corn into a saucepan and pour in the scalded milk. Stirring frequently, cook, covered, over low heat about 10 min., or until just tender.

While corn is cooking, wash double-boiler top to remove scum; scald the remaining 1 1/2 cups milk.

Add

1 tablespoon butter or margarine

While milk scalds, beat slightly

4 eggs

Blend eggs with the cooked corn and

2 tablespoons silvered pimientos

green pepper

and a mixture of

1 teaspoon sugar

1 teaspoon salt

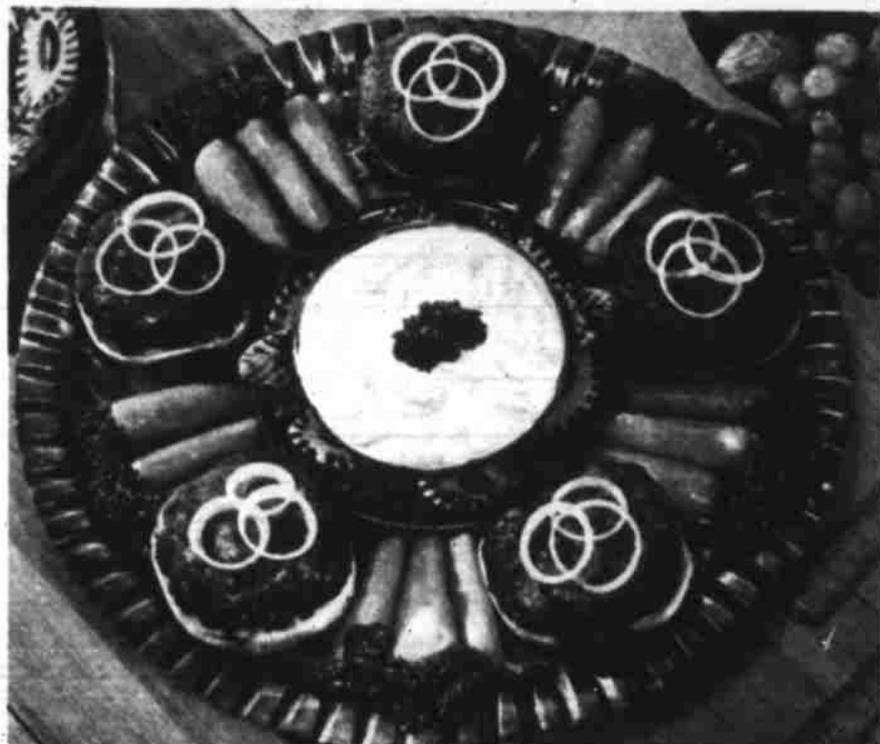

1/2 teaspoon Accent

1/4 teaspoon pepper

Stirring vigorously, gradually add the milk to the corn mixture; pour into the casserole. Set the casserole into a deep pan, and place on oven rack. Pour boiling water into pan to level of mixture in casserole. Prevent further boiling by using given oven temperature.

Bake at 300°F 45 to 50 min., or until a silver knife comes out clean when inserted halfway between center and edge of casserole. Serve at once.

Add an epicurean touch to lamb burgers by serving them with sour cream.

Lamb Burgers

A blend of savory flavors lifts lamb burgers into the ultra food class.

BASE RECIPE

For Lamb Burgers—Combine and mix lightly

and a mixture of

1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon Accent

1/4 teaspoon ground allspice

Shape meat mixture into 5 patties about 1 in. thick.

Set temperature control of range at Broil (500°F or higher). Arrange patties on broiler rack. Put in broiler with tops of patties about 3 in. from heat source. Broil about 9 min. When browned on one side, turn and broil second side about 9 min.

Meanwhile, toast and butter

Hamburger bun halves

Put the broiled burgers on bun halves. Top with

Onion rings

The burgers are especially attractive when arranged on a platter with buttered, cooked carrots as in photo. Serve with

For Zippy Sour-Cream Sauce—Blend together thoroughly

1 cup thick sour cream

1/2 cup prepared horseradish

1 tablespoon grated lemon peel

(grated through colored part only; white is bitter)

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon white pepper

Chill in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Minted Lamb Burgers

Follow Base Recipe. Set out 2 tablespoons mint jelly. When second sides of lamb burgers are browned, put about 1 teaspoon of the jelly on each patty. Broil 2 or 3 min. longer, or until jelly is melted and heated. Omit onion rings.

Apricot Lamb Burgers

Cut 4 slices of bacon into 1/4-in. pieces. Put into a cold skillet and cook slowly, turning frequently. Pour off and reserve fat as it collects. When bacon pieces are evenly crisped and browned, remove from skillet and drain on absorbent paper. Follow Base Recipe. Divide the meat mixture into 5 portions. Fill 5 large, cooked apricot halves with the bacon pieces. Place an apricot half on each meat portion; gently enclose the apricot with meat, forming a patty. Broil as in Base Recipe. Omit onion rings.

Plum-Glazed Cheese Pie

BASE RECIPE

A delicate crumb crust makes its bow with fresh plums in a plum-glazed cheese pie that's smooth and delicious.

Set out a 10-in. pie pan.

Set a bowl and beater in refrigerator to chill.

For Crumb Crust—Place on a long length of heavy waxed paper

20 to 22 graham crackers

Loosely fold paper around crackers, tucking under open ends. With a rolling pin, gently crush crackers to make fine crumbs (about 1 3/4 cups crumbs). Or place crackers in a plastic bag and gently crush. Turn crumbs into a medium-size bowl. Stir in

5 tablespoons sugar

1/4 teaspoon salt

Using a fork or pastry blender, evenly blend with crumbs

5 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened

Using back of spoon, press crumb mixture very firmly into an even layer on bottom and sides of the pie pan.

Bake at 375° F 8 min. Set on cooling rack to cool thoroughly.

For Filling—Put into a bowl

Blend in gradually

1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk

and

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
(grated through colored part only; white is bitter)

1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract

Using the chilled bowl and beater, beat until cream is of medium consistency (piles softly)

1/2 cup chilled whipping cream

Fold the whipped cream into the blended cream-cheese mixture. Turn into the cooled crumb shell and set in refrigerator to chill.

For Glaze—Wash thoroughly and drain

1 lb. fresh plums

Cut into halves; remove and discard pits. Set plums aside.

Combine in a saucepan

1 cup sugar

1/4 cup water

Set over medium heat; stir until sugar is dissolved. Bring to boiling and boil 5 min. Add the plum halves to the sirup and cook slowly until just tender. Remove from heat; cool plum halves in sirup. Using a slotted spoon, carefully remove plums to a shallow pan or dish and reserve the sirup.

Stir in 1/2 cup of the reserved sirup. Stirring gently and constantly, bring rapidly to boiling and cook for 3 min., or until mixture is transparent. Set aside to cool.

Arrange the cooled plum halves on top of the filling (as in photo). Spoon the glaze over the plums and filling. Set in

Orange-Banana Cheese Pie

Follow Base Recipe for Crumb Crust and Filling. Using a sharp knife, cut away peel from 1 orange. Remove sections by cutting on either side of dividing membrane over a bowl to save juice. Remove and discard seeds, if any. Peel 2 bananas with brown-flecked peel. Score by pulling tines of a fork down the banana lengthwise. Repeat all around until entire surface is scored. Cut the scored banana, on the slant, into 1/4-in. slices. Sprinkle with lemon juice to prevent darkening. To prepare a glaze, mix in a saucepan 6 tablespoons sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Stir in 3 tablespoons orange juice, 2 tablespoons water, and 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Stirring gently and constantly, bring mixture rapidly to boiling and cook for 3 min., or until mixture is transparent. Set aside to cool.

On top of the chilled filling, arrange 3 of the banana slices, slightly overlapping, from edge toward center of pie. Place an orange section next to slices and parallel to them. Repeat process of alternating orange sections and banana slices around the pie to form a fruit ring. Spoon the glaze over the fruit and filling. Set in refrigerator to chill thoroughly before serving. Garnish each serving with a sprig of mint.

Bran Muffins

The fine flavor of these muffins makes them family favorites in any season.

Grease bottoms of 10 2½-in. muffin-pan wells.

Melt and set aside to cool

¼ cup butter or margarine

Sift together into a bowl

1 cup sifted flour

2 tablespoons sugar

2½ teaspoons baking powder

Stir in

1 cup whole bran or bran flakes

Make a well in center of dry ingredients and set aside.

Blend thoroughly

1 egg, well beaten (until thick and piled softly)

Blend in the melted shortening.

Add liquid ingredients all at one time to dry ingredients. With not more than 25 strokes, quickly and lightly stir until dry ingredients are barely moistened. The batter will be lumpy and break from spoon. (Overmixing will cause tunnels in muffins.) Spoon out (cutting batter against side of bowl) enough batter at one time to fill each muffin-pan well two-thirds full. Place spoon in well and push batter off with another spoon or spatula. Fill any empty wells one-half full with water before placing pans in oven.

Bake at 400°F 20 to 25 min.

Run spatula around inside edge of each muffin well and gently lift out muffin. If serving is delayed, keep muffins warm by loosening them and tipping slightly in the pan wells. Cover with a clean towel. Keep in a warm place.

About 10 muffins

Best-Ever Brussels Sprouts

This full-flavored creation more than deserves its name.

Set out a medium-size saucepan.

Wash and soak 20 to 30 min. in salted water (to remove small insects or dust which may have settled in them)

1 lb. Brussels sprouts

Drain and shred the Brussels sprouts.

Heat in the saucepan over low heat

½ cup butter or margarine
Add the shredded Brussels sprouts; cook, constantly moving and turning pieces with a fork or spoon, about 5 min., or until just tender.

Add a mixture of

¼ teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon sugar

¼ teaspoon Accent

Few grains pepper

Cook 2 to 3 min. longer, until thoroughly heated, keeping mixture moving with a fork or spoon.

4 to 5 servings

Walnut Wafers

These walnut wafers welcome lusty Fall appetites. They taste irresistibly good to grownups and are tops with children.

Cookie sheets will be needed.

Chop and set aside

½ cup (about 1¾ oz.) walnuts

Sift together and set aside

3 cups sifted flour

1 teaspoon baking soda

1 teaspoon salt

Cream together until shortening is softened

1 cup shortening

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Add gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition

2 cups firmly packed brown sugar

Add in thirds, beating thoroughly after each addition

2 eggs, well beaten (until thick and piled softly)

Add and stir in the chopped walnuts. Blend in the sifted dry ingredients in fourths, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Shape dough into rolls about 1½ in. in diameter. Roll in waxed paper and set in refrigerator to chill several hours or overnight.

Lightly grease the cookie sheets.

Remove one roll of dough from refrigerator and cut into thin slices. Place the slices about 1½ in. apart on the cookie sheets.

Bake at 400°F 8 to 10 min. Remove cookies to cooling racks.

Repeat for remaining rolls of dough.

About 8 doz. cookies

SOMETHING wonderful has happened to clothes that go to work. Designers have transformed them into things of beauty that are joys on the job and, afterwards, on the town. That's adaptability with a capital A, and that's why "workables" are beloved by the busy woman whose one wardrobe must have the versatility of two.

New Candles for Old

Collect all the old candle stubs you can find and shave them into pieces to be melted in a saucepan, but set aside the wicks. Now, heat the pan of shavings until they melt and pour this wax into any small tin cupcake molds.

When the mixture begins to cool, snip off a two-inch piece of wick for each candle you make. Place it in the center of the candle and set aside to harden. Lift the candles out of the molds by the wick. You will have new, low candles which will float—even while burning—in a shallow flower arrangement.

Shadow Tag

This is an amusing variation of the favorite old game of tag. One person is IT, and instead of tagging a player, he must stamp his foot on the person's shadow. Of course this has to be played on a sunny day. Each player whose shadow is stepped on becomes IT also and joins in the chase, which adds to the fun and excitement.

Junior Journalists

Dear Miss Barrows:

When we moved in December I was so excited because we were going to get a new newspaper. I did not like the funnies in the old newspaper. When Sunday morning came, I jumped out of bed to see the funny papers, but my brother and my Daddy had them, so I had to take the Family Weekly. I was so angry I didn't know what to do. Then I came upon the Junior Treasure Chest Page! Daddy asked me if I wanted to trade. But I was so interested in working on the puzzle that I didn't hear him. Now I am always the first one to work the puzzles.

Sincerely yours,
Betty Johnston

Aged 10 Williamsburg, Va.

Dear Miss Barrows:

This is a story that really happened.

Kip Knight and I found a cave on a real steep hill, and at the bottom of the hill was a river. We went home and got a rope, a hammer, paper, matches, and a flashlight. Then we went back to the cave. We tied the rope to a tree and slid down it until we reached the cave. We went in. It was dark in the cave and we had to use our flashlight. We went clear to the back end of the cave. On the way we hit our heads on a rock. We tried to get the rock out of the way with a hammer. I hit it and sparks flew all over the place so we knew it was flint. We got the paper and matches out to build a fire to smoke out the snakes and other stuff. Then we went home.

Sincerely,
Dennis Heth
Fayette, Ia.

Aged 10

Dear Miss Barrows:

I took a trip to Mystic Seaport. It is in Connecticut. As soon as we get there we go on the old whaling ship. On the deck we see many barrels and ropes. We decide to go below deck. We climb down a small ladder. Below deck the ceiling is very low. We see the Captain's bed. It has a mattress and looks comfortable, but the other beds look like wooden boxes nailed to the wall. After we have explored the ship, we decide to see the schoolhouse. It is very small and has desks for about ten children.

We then go to the old drug-store. There we see large bowls where medicine was mixed. We see leeches that were used to suck blood.

At the museum we see a huge whale's eye. We also see a very cute little doll's bed that was made for the daughter of a man who went to sea. We see many other interesting things.

Sincerely,
Dora Fasano

Aged 11 East Haven, Conn.

BY JOEY SASSO

Chet Baker

"The music's not immortal, but the world has made it sweet"—Alfred Noyes

Popular: "MOOD FOR LOVE." The Four Aces, featuring Al Alberts. Decca Album. Of all the vocal quartets that have won public attention in the last few years, The Four Aces are probably the most popular. Their exciting singing style and infectious beat have made them widely acceptable to youngsters and adults alike. Their newest album is, in effect, a cross section of their technique and sound. The 12 songs, ten standards and two recent hits, include "What a Difference a Day Makes," "Stars Fell on Alabama," "It's the Talk of the Town," and "Three Coins in the Fountain."

JOHN CHARLES THOMAS SINGS "SONGS YOU LOVE." Camden Album. Here is a memorable collection of varied songs that serve as a showcase for the deep, rich voice of John Charles Thomas. Included are folk songs, spirituals, popular and operatic arias including "Bluebird of Happiness," "The Last Time I Saw Paris," "In Questa Tomba Oscura," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." There is melodic nostalgia in this album of soft and delightful entertainment.

Jazz: CHET BAKER SINGS AND PLAYS WITH BUD SHANK, RUSS FREEMAN, AND STRINGS. Pacific Jazz Album. Chet Baker, a talented newcomer from California, shows his versatility on the trumpet and as a singer in his latest album. Bud Shank on flute, Russ Freeman on piano, Corky Hale on harp, and a delicious string section give a new feeling and new meaning to old favorites like "Let's Get Lost," "Just Friends," "I Wish I Knew," and "Daybreak." Style and imagination throughout the album make it acceptable fare for adherents of popular music as well as devotees of modern jazz.

Classical: HIGHLIGHTS FROM VERDI'S "A MASKED BALL." Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra. RCA Victor Album. Here is a star-studded album that features such beloved Met singers as Milanov, Peters, Peerce, and Warren. All of them perform superbly, but it is Marian Anderson who commands greatest attention in this, her debut with the Metropolitan Opera. Her performance here proves she is one of the finest contraltos on the operatic stage.

Western: "TOP HITS ROUND-UP." Eddy Arnold. RCA Victor Album. No recent effort of Eddy Arnold's is more illustrative of his versatility as a country and western singer than this grouping. In it he performs on a happy though varied combination of standard, popular, and country material. Of them all, such tunes as "Silver Moon," "His Hands," "Unchained Melody," and "Making Believe" invite repeated listening. This album should keep Arnold's fans happy and win him many new ones.

NEW FREEDOM FROM IRREGULARITY

A formula for fitness and regularity

One ounce (half a cup) of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk every morning gives you the natural food bulk you need daily plus 5 vitamins, 3 minerals and protein. A formula for fitness and regularity.

TRY THIS GREAT COMBINATION ALL-BRAN AND MILK

For fitness and relief from constipation

Supplies laxative food bulk plus important food elements

You know about milk. It is generally considered to be one of nature's most nearly perfect foods.

But there is also another great natural food—bran—that many in their middle and later years have long turned to. By name it is Kellogg's All-Bran, the original. This scientifically milled whole bran cereal has a delicious flavor and stays crunchy even in milk. All-Bran has helped millions find safe, gentle relief from constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet.

Kellogg's All-Bran, pioneered nearly 40 years ago by W. K. Kellogg's, was conceived as three cereals in one. First—a bran cereal in appetizing form. Second—a cereal that in combination with milk would provide solid nutritional benefits. Third—a natural bulk laxative, an aid to comfortable elimination without harsh purging.

Kellogg's All-Bran lives up to all three definitions. Served with milk it supplies nine body builders that we need daily. As for its flavor and effectiveness, All-Bran has become the most widely used and accepted bran cereal in all the world.

If you are one of the millions who suffer needlessly from irregularity, why not try All-Bran and milk. Eat a half a cup of All-Bran with milk every day for 10 days . . . for fitness and regularity. If, after ten days you are not completely satisfied, return the carton and receive double your money back. That's a promise from Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Mich.

News for folks who eat their All-Bran at restaurants—new foil-wrapped package makes sure your All-Bran is extra fresh.

"PLEASE LISTEN TO ME!"

says Harry Kohler of Philadelphia

"Be sure your Insurance Policy pays LIFETIME BENEFITS!"

Harry Kohler learned the hard way. On July 8, 1944, only six months after buying a sickness and accident policy from Mutual of Omaha, he was stricken over-night with a spinal ailment that caused paralysis of his legs. Mr. Kohler's policy provides hospital benefits and monthly payments of $100 for loss of income. Since the day of his illness he has collected nearly $14,000 from Mutual of Omaha. He will continue to get his monthly payments promptly from the local Philadelphia office as long as he is so disabled. Even For Life!
