

Local Woman's Wedding Gown On Display At Tech

LUBBOCK -- At about two minutes to 2 p.m. on June 12, 1910, a young Matador, Texas, druggist, spruced up in a tailor-made blue serge suit, waited for his 16-year-old bride whom he had courted for about a year.

When she appeared, the bridegroom may have had eyes only for hers, but guests must have been awed by the gown she wore, made by a Fort Worth dressmaker for the occasion.

The dress, now a part of an exhibit of wedding gowns at The Museum of Texas Tech University, was fashioned by a clever combination of various ivory embroidered nets with Cluny and Valenciennes laces.

The bride, Mary Louise Thomas Cammack, died in 1964, but her husband, Webster, who will celebrate his 93rd birthday next month (February), remembers the day as clearly as he does the first time he saw her come into Matador's City Drug Store to make a purchase. It was on that day that the store manager told Webster Cammack that Miss Thomas was the girl he ought to marry.

The dress was added to The Museum's Historic Costumes and Textile Collection by their five children, Tom N. of Hobbs, Mary Elizabeth Zellner of Midland, Margaret Bredthouer of Round Rock, Bud W. of San Angelo and John Cammack of (2905 76th) Lubbock.

Similar memories from many families have come with the 100 wedding gowns in the collection. Specialists, some of them Texas Tech University graduate students, have worked several weeks with conservation and restoration techniques to make the exhibit possible.

Most of the gowns are white or ivory. The most colorful is a street-length dress of ecru georgette trimmed with point d'esprit lace and large, shocking pink ribbon roses forming a belt in back and repeated at the front neckline. It was worn for a morning wedding at home in the 1930s.

The oldest was made in 1868 of brilliantine, a combination of silk and wool, in brown tones with satin-bound scallops accenting the fitted bodice and full skirt. This gown was worn a second time in a 1891 Tioga, Texas, wedding.

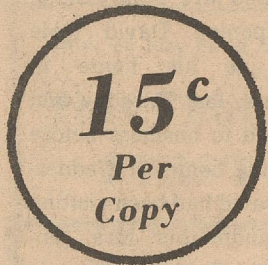

Another early wedding dress was made by a French dressmaker for a Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., bride in 1882. Of fine silk brocade, the gown has a Queen Anne collar trimmed with peralized cut glass beads. Interest is brought to a fullness at the back of the skirt which falls into a short train, bordered with ivory satin pleating. A granddaughter of the bride for whom it was made wore it again in 1937, cinching her body as her grandmother must have done to fit the 18-inch waist.

Other gowns on exhibit include a 1907 ivory satin dress with the Watteau pleat in back, a pleat that begins at the shoulder as a separate piece of fabric but becomes a part of the skirt and, in this dress, a part of the train.

A 1938 white marquisette wedding dress has satin flowers applied on the gown. A wreath of pearlized flowers formed the headpiece for this Lakewood, Ohio, bride.

Issue NO. 43

Second Glance

By Leon Watson

In the last issue of the Matador Tribune I published a letter from Joan Patton concerning the appointment of Forrest Campbell as property appraiser for the county. I read the letter, agreed to print it, but also promised to investigate in matter for an explanation.

I waited twenty four hours after the paper came out to see if there would be any offer of explanation from parties involved in the appointment. There was none, so I began.

My findings were that, indeed, Forrest Campbell had been appointed, but had nothing to do with "Appointing himself" as was assumed by some citizens. Nor was there any evidence of fraud or collusion.

This year the State told school districts that they had to have a tax appraiser and the school districts were charged with coming up with one. There are not many around. Requirements were that he had to be licensed, over a five year period, and he would also have to have training.

When this came about the school met with the county for purposes of sharing the cost. The county, city of Matador, school, and city of Roaring Springs all met separately and appointed one member each to form a committee to study the situation and find the best way to handle the appointment.

An ad was published in the Matador Tribune for applications. Several people asked about it but few were interested. Four applications were picked up and there were three interviews.

A man from Plainview was interviewed and he wanted $90,000 over an 18 month period. Another applicant wanted over $100,000. This included setting up records, visiting local land owners, homes and towns.

Campbell drafted a letter and sent it to all the taxing authorities. This was after all other applications had been turned in. His was the last.

The committee accepted his proposal on the basis of the figures he stated he would operate on, including travel and salary, and the fact he was a local man, knew the county's situation, and could save the county thousands of dollars.

I feel the appointment is founded, if for no other reason than he is local. If an appointment was not made the state would no doubt send someone here who knows nothing about the value of Motley County land.

Campbell was not present at any meeting where his application was discussed. If we the people will just let the man do his job I feel he will prove to be the best man.

P.S. I stand on the basis that the Tribune is part of America's free press and welcome any view, which is sound, on any subject. I will tell both sides and take no side. If I feel there is a news story that concerns the Motley County people, I will attempt to get it.

The Tribune will not be accused of any coverup. Nor will we tolerate any attempt of any agency or persons to hide activities from the press which the people are entitled to know.

Mrs. Bryan Edwards To Speak At PTA

A lecturer, educator of prominence, Mrs. Bryan (Wildring) Edwards, Associate Professor of the Home and Family Life Department at Texas Tech University will speak here Saturday (Feb. 20) at a meeting of the Motley County Parent-Teacher Association. The meeting will be at the Motley County School cafeteria, starting at 7 p.m. according to Mrs. Ros Bearden, PTA president.

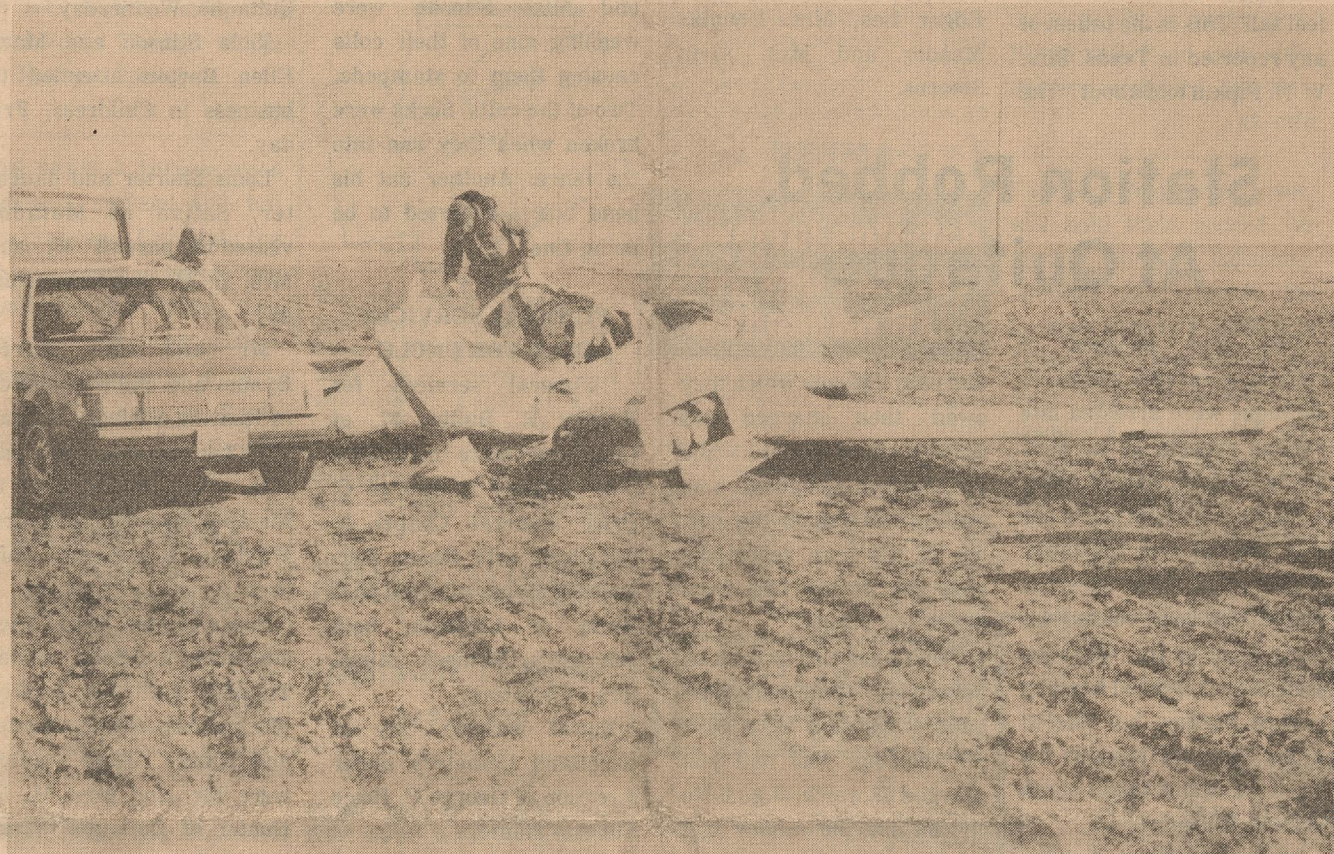

Mrs. Edwards will speak on the subject, "Parenting; Mother or Father, or Both."

All parents are urged to attend the meeting, regardless of the age of their children (whether school or pre-school) and patrons of the school, interested in the welfare of the community are extended a special invitation to attend.

In her work at the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech, Mrs. Edwards' activities cover a wide scope and her achievements are widespread. She is recognized as an authority of Home and Family Life studies, not only in Texas but in many other states where she has lectured. She has served as visiting professor EXAMINE WRECKAGE -- National Transportation Safety Board investigators pick through the crumpled remains of the twin-engine aircraft in which John McCandless, of Matador, and James Ridpath of Lubbock were killed last week near Acuff. McCandless had lived in Matador and owned Floydada Livestock Sales for several years.

Area Car Wreck Injures Four

A one car roll-over near Roaring Springs last Wednesday sent four cross country travelers to Caprock Hospital in Floydada, and brought on a wave of protest from Motley County citizens.

The accident occurred when the 1973 Monte Carlo hit a slick patch of ice and skidded off the road, and the citizen protest occurred after the injured travelers were not permitted basic medical attention at the Motley General Clinic.

Dr. A. R. Parmer had published a statement in October in the Matador Tribune stating that he would be unable to render medical care after clinic office hours because of the total lack of medical and diagnostic facilities and personnel available since the hospital and emergency room had closed.

Although the Motley County Hospital District Board had repeatedly requested the doctor to see emergency cases after hours, according to Larry Hoyle, president of the board, Dr. Parmer maintained that he could not give adequate treatment without the proper facilities.

The car accident, according to Department of Public Safety records, happened at 3:20 p.m., which should have been during the clinic office hours. Dr. Parmer maintained, however, the injured people would be better off if rushed quickly to an emergency room with equipment and personnel to handle them. In so doing he requested the people not be brought to the clinic.

Last Friday morning the Hospital District board met to discuss the medical situation and study the current financial status. Later board members informed Dr. Parmer that because of the financial handicap of the Hospital District they could not pay him per month the amount which had been agreed upon. But an offer was made which would allow the doctor to maintain his office space at the Clinic and his income would be the revenue he took in at the office.

"The Board has informed me about its financial crisis," Parmer said, "and as a result I have to close my medical practice at Motley General Clinic. I will be happy to transfer medical records of my patients to physicians of the patients choice."

"We had talked to the doctor about the emergency situation numerous times," Hoyle said, speaking for the Board. "The doctor said he would handle emergency cases if he had a 24 hour emergency room equipped and personnel to staff it."

"I was hired on the pretense that there was an operating hospital here," Parmer said. "When I came here there was nothing. No emergency room, no lab, no staff. I was told that after December, with the tax revenue, they could open the hospital. But it was not opened.

"When a patient needed a blood test I would have to send them to Floydada. For an X-ray the patient had to go to Floydada. Now I'm told the Hospital District is bankrupt and the clinic must close."

Hoyle explained that the District owed about $61,800 ($8,800 for Ambulance and equipment, $35,000 for bank note, $18,000 for supplies and drugs -- all figures approximate). Income tax revenue brought about $56,000 to the District. Plus the District owes HUD about $92,000.

"That's why we couldn't open the Hospital this year as we planned," Hoyle

Local Resident Dies In Plane Crash

The people of Motley County were plunged into shock last Friday evening when word was received that John McCandless, a Matador resident, was killed in a plane crash near Lubbock.

McCandless, 50, and his flight companion, James Ridpath Sr., 63, were both pronounced dead at the scene, after the twin-engine Beechcraft Baron in which they were traveling dropped almost nose first into a muddy field six miles east of Acuff near Farm Road 40.

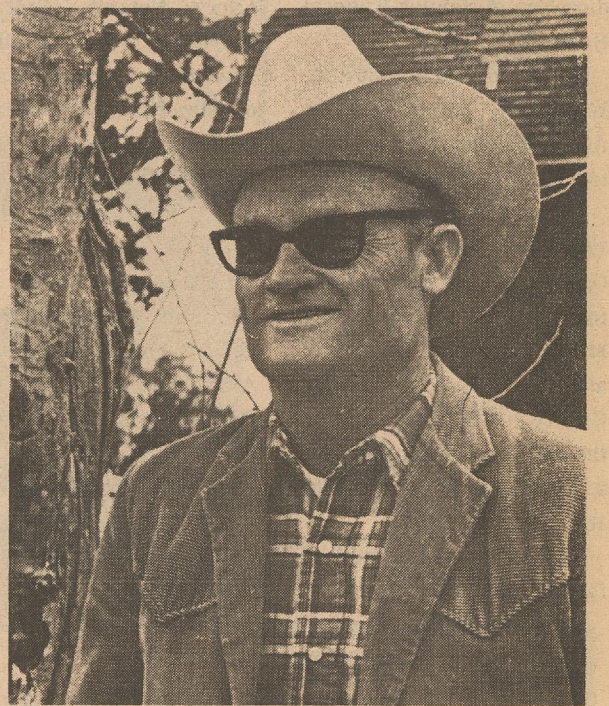

McCandless had lived in Matador since 1971 and was owner of the Floydada Livestock Company. He is survived by his wife, Ouida, his parents, three sons, a daughter, two brothers and three sisters. He also had five grandchildren.

The only apparent witness of the crash was Crosbyton resident Salvador Carrasco, who was traveling east with his family on Highway 40. He told authorities that he watched the plane circle several times about 100 feet above the ground, then go straight down, as if it had stalled.

Both men were still inside the cockpit, and Federal Aviation Administration investigator William Robinson said there was no

JOHN McCANDLESS

J. T. McCandless Rites Held Monday

Services for John T. McCandless, 50, were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church. Officiating were Rev. Kenny Kirk, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, of Matador, Rev. Roland Moore of Vigo Park and Rev. Jim Smith of Floydada.

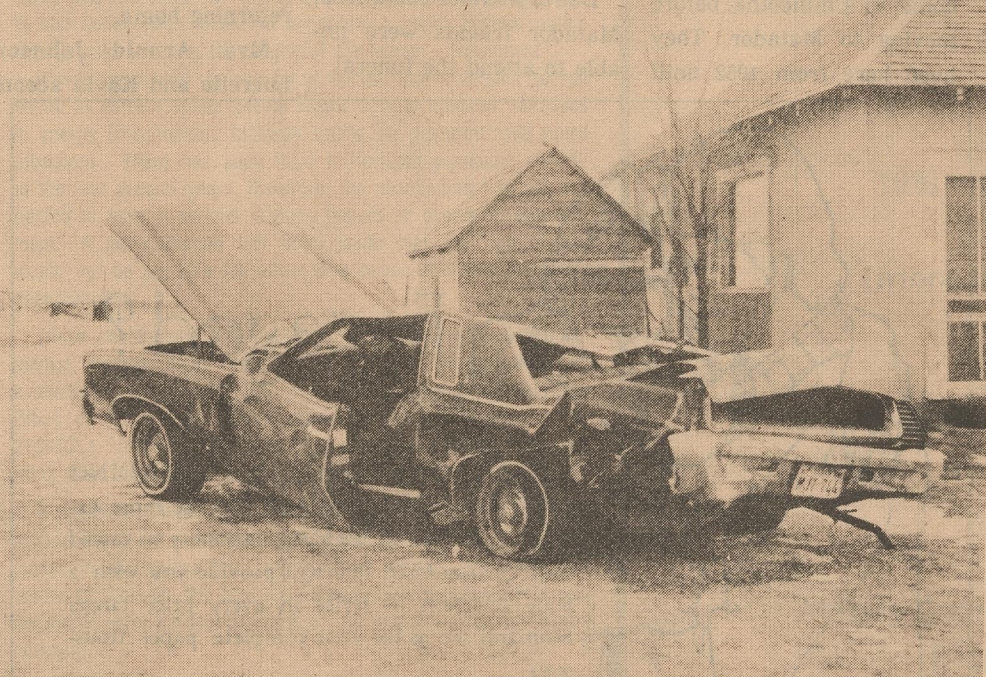

Graveside services were at 4 p.m. in Floydada Memorial Park, Floydada, under the direction of Seigler Funeral Home of Matador.

Mr. McCandless was born August 31, 1928 in Henrietta, Clay County, Texas. He was married March 12, 1949 to the former Ouida Jackson and they moved to Matador in 1971 from Fort Worth. He was a rancher and stockman and was owner and manager of the Floydada Livestock Sales Co., in Floydada, which he purchased about five years ago. He was a Methodist and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McCandless Sr., of Bowie; three sons, Don and Darrell, both of Floydada and Todd of Matador; a daughter, Mrs. Wendy Terrell (Billie Dale) of Post; two brothers, Cecil of St. Jo and Joe of Henrietta; three sisters, Imogene Hagar and Maxine Croxton, both of Bowie, and Nellene McCandless of Forrestburg; and five grandchildren.

Serving as pallbearers were Joel Dean Spray, Kenneth Thompson, Floyd Hardin, Willis Berry, Carl Smith, Kelly Dobson, Dave Clugy and Terry Rhodes.

Rites Held For Mrs. Daffern

Mrs. Albert Daffern, 82, longtime resident of Motley County passed away early Monday morning, January 15 in Leisure Lodge Nursing Home in Childress following a lengthy illness.

Services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Kenney Kirk, pastor of the First United Methodist Church officiating.

Mrs. Daffern, the former Dora Wason, was born in Matador October 4, 1896, to Motley County pioneers, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wason. She grew to womanhood and was married here January 26, 1915, to Albert J. Daffern. She went as a bride with her husband to Montana, where he was employed by the Matador Land and Cattle Company. They moved back to Texas in 1913 but later returned to Montana for another two years before returning to Matador to make their permanent home.

Mrs. Daffern was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Matador where she taught Sunday School for 50 years. For many years she was an active member of El Progreso Study Club and had served as its president. Mr. and Mrs. Daffern moved to Childress in May 1978, due to failing health.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Leland Timmons (Sibyl) of Childress; one sister, Mrs. D. E. Pitts Sr. (Ollie Ann); two grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Serving as pallbearers were Johnny Peery, L. H. Dirickson, Clem Timmons, Henry Pope, Howard Tra-week and Nelson McMahan.

L. L. Lynn Rites Held Here Friday

Funeral services for Lonzo L. Lynn, 69, were held at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Baptist Church. Rev. Luther Baker, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Idalou, and Rev. Kenny Kirk, pastor of the Matador First United Methodist Church, officiated.

Burial was in East Mound Cemetery, Matador, under direction of Seigler Funeral Home.

Mr. Lynn died at 5:30 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 10 at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston, after a lengthy illness.

He was born March 16, 1909 in Garvin County, Oklahoma. He married the former Elsie Mohling, July 31, 1932 in Butler, Oklahoma and they moved to Motley County in 1937. They lived in the Whiteflat community for 23 years, and in Matador for 18 years.

Mr. Lynn was a retired farmer, and a Methodist.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Lonnie of Childress and Alvin of Dumas; six daughters, Mrs. Barney Colwell (Carlene) of Guthrie, Mrs. Bob Morton (Joyce) of Cleveland, Tex., Mrs. Gene Jolley (Daphene) of Dalhart, Mrs. Don Burditt (Glenda) of Dumas; Mrs. Jack McCallie (Ruth) of Littleton, Colo., and Mrs. Larry Noland (Gail) of Floydada; five brothers, Alvin of San Antonio, Marvin of Elmore, Okla., Oscar of Cornelius, Ore., Z. B. of Enid, Okla., and Lester of Tracy, Calif., and 11 grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Clay Jameson, Dickie Garrison, John Barnhill, C. R. Davis, Alfred Watson and Mike Barton. Named as honorary pallbearers were Scott Robbins, H. R. (Skeet) Jameson, Jack Spray, Johnny Scott, Alfred Barton, C. D. Garrison and Billy Wason.

J. P. Daffern Rites Conducted

Services for J. P. (Jim) Daffern, 93, were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Jerry Golden, pastor, officiating. Burial was in East Mound Cemetery, with Seigler Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Daffern died at 4:25 a.m. Thursday, January 11 at Childress Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. He had been living in Childress at the Leisure Lodge Nursing Home, for the past few weeks.

Born December 8, 1885 at Dublin, Texas, Mr. Daffern moved to Motley County in 1900 with his parents. As a young man he worked as a cook on a chuck wagon for Matador Land and Cattle Co., for a few years. He later worked for Newman and Lisenby, cattle buyers, and again for the Matadors in South Dakota. He lived in Albuquerque, N.M. for 40 years where he sold real estate. He married the former Lois Eisenburg in 1917, while living in New Mexico. They came to Matador 11 years ago to establish their home, and Mrs. Daffern passed away in 1969.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Irvin Pauling (Lois) of Lawton, Okla.; two brothers, Albert Daffern of Childress and Paul Daffern of Arizona; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. Lillie Blackburn and Mrs. Lorene Maxwell, all of Colorado; six grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Dude Speed, Kirby Campbell, Billy Wason, Pete Williams, James Timmons and Bill Jameson.

Garden Club Holds First Meeting Of Year

Mrs. W. W. Clements was hostess to the Matador Garden Club on Monday, January 15. Mrs. Clements, president, presided at the business session. A nominating committee was appointed to select new officers for the next year.

The program topic was "Trees" with Mrs. J. D. Craven in charge. Mrs. Ted Elliott gave a brief review from the "National Gardener" detailing the use of plants and greenery in the home during the winter months. "Famous Known Texas Tree" was given by Mrs. W. F. Jacobs. She gave accounts, some historical, some whimsical, about trees in various parts of Texas.

One especially pertinent fact was that there is a Black Tupelo tree in North Easterly, Texas that is 139 feet tall. This is the tallest of any reported in Texas. Mrs. W. N. Pipkin told about "The Beginning of Arbor Day." It was first started in Texas in the city of Temple in 1889. There were very few trees in the area at that time and citizens passed a resolution to advocate February 22 at Arbor Day. In 1949 the Texas State Legislature designated the third Friday in January as Arbor Day.

Mrs. Craven read the list of the new roses of merit: Friendship, Sundowner and Paradise. The new rose, Paradise, won its designation by the highest point total ever received by a rose, a unanimous decision.

Due to the inclement weather, the club did not go to the "Pioneer Memorial Park" to plant a tree as was planned.

Refreshment of coffee and cookies were served to the above listed and to Mrs. Edgar Lee, Mrs. Douglas Meador and Mrs. Alvin Stearns.

Station Robbed At Quitaque

Two men accused of robbing a service station in Quitaque were arrested late Sunday evening by an alert Motley County Sheriff, after a discription of the pair's car was sent out over the radio.

The men, both Mexican males who had worked for some time in the Quitaque area, were reported heading toward Turkey, but Sheriff Alton Marshall thought the fugitives might break south toward Whiteflat.

At about 9:00 p.m. Sunday he intercepted the pair two miles north of Whiteflat at the intersection of 2009 and Highway 70. He pursued them and stopped them south of the community.

The men had reportedly stopped at the gas station and paid a $5 note which they owed, then charged two dollars worth of gas. While the station attendant was putting the gas in the car, one of the men reportedly took the money bag from inside the station.

"We found $107 in cash on the men," Marshall said later. "That is a lot of cash for someone who had just charged $2 worth of gas. No checks nor the money bag was found."

One of the men was a Mexican Nationalist and the other had no papers at all. They were both jailed at Matador and picked up by Briscoe County deputies.

Rites Held For Former Resident

Mrs. Seth Sager of Chillicothe, former Matador resident, died Tuesday, January 9, in Chillicothe hospital. She had entered the hospital December 29, for an examination and tests. Death was attributed to pneumonia.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 11 in Manard Funeral Home and burial was in Chillicothe Cemetery.

Mrs. Sager, 71, the former Hortense Dunn, was born Feb. 24, 1908 in Mexico City, Mo. She was married December 11, 1935 to Seth Sager. They made their home in Chillicothe before moving to Matador. They lived here from 1952 until 1958, during which time Mr. Sager was employed as superintendent of the Matador Cattle Company. He retired because of illness and they returned to Chillicothe to make their home. He passed away November 6, 1964.

Mrs. Sager owned and operated the Chillicothe Florist Co.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. C. W. Kennedy of Houston; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary (Sager) Sims of Chillicothe; and a niece and nephew, the former Pat Kennedy and Chuck Kennedy.

Due to weather conditions, Matador friends were unable to attend the funeral.

ROUNDUP

INCOME TAX MEETING IS SCHEDULED HERE

For those interested in learning more about Income Taxes, a meeting will be held in the Motley County School lunchroom Monday night Jan. 22nd, starting at 7:00 p.m. Farmers and Ranchers taxes will be the theme of the meeting, but according to Extension Agent Bill Pallmeyer, information on tax features will be beneficial for all.

No one likes to pay taxes, but we know we have to or else, states Pallmeyer. The program is designed for tax management for those who have others prepare their returns as well as those who prepare their own returns. Knowing what items are tax deductible as well as proof that must be kept if the return is questioned are the keys to saving money on taxes as well as timing of buying and selling items.

Norman Brints, Area Economist for the Agricultural Extension Service

stationed at Vernon will be the speaker for the program.

TEST TO BE GIVEN FOR MOTLEY CENSUS TAKER

The Texas Employment Agency will give a test at Paducah for a Census taker for Motley County. The minimum requirements are a High School Education and a dependable way of transportation. The test will be at 9:00 a.m. Friday, January 29 at the Employment Agency Office in Paducah.

NUMBER OF BALES OUT

County Agent Bill Pallmeyer reported last week that the county cotton gins had ginned 15,459 bales, with an estimated 19,500 expected by the ginner for the year. Pallmeyer said 77 percent of the county's cotton corps were in at this time.

Sorghum Research Studies Dryland Crops

LUBBOCK -- Fitting all the pieces together to come up with a grain sorghum plant with optimum growth for dryland conditions is a tall order, but one researcher is optimistic about the eventual outcome.

Dr. Daniel R. Krieg, jointly employed as a plant physiologist by Texas Tech University and Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, said both the sorghum variety and the climate have strong effects on grain sorghum yield. But more important are the rates of leaf area development and photosynthesis because plant moisture is lost through the leaves.

Krieg is trying to identify the exact effect of these factors to help facilitate the future development of a better grain sorghum plant by cooperating plant breeders for marginal production conditions -- a plant that responds well under good conditions but remains stable under water stress conditions.

"The problem with several sorghum types capable of tolerating water stress conditions is that they do not respond well to good conditions," Krieg said.

One of the challenges in developing a better hybrid strain is that the hybrid tends to follow characteristics from one parent plant or another and not to combine the influences. Krieg has found that under non-stress conditions the hybrids follow the female parent characteristics in leaf development and the male parent's in photosynthesis. Under water stress the reverse is true -- the hybrid follows the female parent in photosynthesis and the male in leaf development.

Krieg said the ultimate goal is to develop a plant with smaller leaves and at the same time to increase the photosynthetic rate. Photosynthesis contributes as much as 95 percent of the dry, solid portion of the plant. Knowing how a parent plant will respond will aid Krieg and his team in identifying superior hybrid crosses.

The researchers are also studying the effect of particular sorghum varieties on grain production. Some sorghum is classified as perennial -- under drought conditions these plants will sacrifice grain production in order to maintain vegetative growth. Annually growing sorghum reacts in the reverse. Under drought conditions these plants will contribute the majority of the photosynthesis material to the grain and sacrifice plant growth. A farmer facing dryland conditions will want to choose a type best suited to his rainfall pattern.

The final contributing factor in breeding the ideal plant is weather, Krieg said. Climatic data need to be gathered for areas where grain sorghum is a major crop. With that data researchers should be able to predict a type of weather distribution pattern which might statistically occur during specific times periods each year -- all with about 80 percent accuracy.

With a relatively accurate long-term prediction farmers not only will be able to choose a variety more exactly, but plant breeders will also have a better idea of which characteristics to breed into the sorghum.

Although he is working with a limited number of parent plants and hybrids, Krieg eventually plans to devise a quick screening system for the 12,000 to 15,000 different types of grain sorghum in the world. He predicts that it may take three to five years, but the screening, based on known characteristics and reactions of each plant, would yield information within a relatively short time about which seed to choose for specific weather conditions.

Krieg is also doing limited work with the effect of photosynthesis rates on cotton's yield and plans to expand that work once he finishes his sorghum research.

Krieg emphasized that developing a superior sorghum for dryland conditions will have to be a cooperative effort between plant physiologists, plant breeders, land managers and others.

He has received research funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Texas Tech Water Resources Center and College of Agricultural Sciences, and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

County Agent Says

Improper watering is a major cause of houseplant failures, and this is especially true during the winter months when plant growth is slow because of low light intensities.

People frequently get impatient and apply additional water and fertilizer, hoping to make the plant grow, however, during periods of low light intensity, plant leaves are producing little food and cannot grow.

The worse thing to do is to overwater during periods of slow growth. Excess water keeps oxygen from reaching roots, resulting in loss of the small feeder roots and eventual death of the plant. Never water plants by a strict schedule such as every other day or twice a week. Instead, water them only when they need it. Water houseplants so that it runs through the potting soil into the pan below, and always discard this excess water to prevent the accumulation of soluble salts in the potting soil.

Other conditions beside low light intensity also affect plant growth and watering needs. For instance, plants in a cold room need less water than those in a warm dry room. Flowering plants and those with much foliage require more water than those without blooms or with little foliage.

A common but usually not damaging nuisance during wet fall weather is slime molds. These molds cover plants, particularly lawn grasses, with a dusty-gray, black or dirty yellow mass.

Slime molds do not feed on living plants. They normally live on the soil and feed on decaying organic matter, using plants only for support during reproduction. The molds move up on grass blades and other small plants to reproduce, forming spores in a mass of sooty-like powder.

The only damage to grass and other plants from slime molds is shading them from sunlight. If the fungus-like growth becomes too heavy, it may cause leaves to yellow. Most cases of slime mold will not require control measures other than breaking up of heavy masses by sweeping with a broom or spraying with water.

Early spring is the best time generally to plant fruit and nut trees, and this also includes December, January and February. When spring begins to break rapidly, a difference in two weeks in the date of planting often results in obviously better growth of the earlier-planted trees. Since roots will develop when the soil temperature is above 45 F, earlier-established trees have a period of some root development in their growing location before the leaves appear. This gets a tree off to a vigorous start.

The best fruit trees that a person can buy are the ones that are two years old and 3 to 5 feet tall. Not only do they survive transplanting better, but they become established faster. The largest tree is not necessarily the best! One-year "whips" or very small, unbranched trees are often preferred because they cost less, are inherently more vigorous, start growth sooner, are easier to plant, and most important, can be trained properly to look shapely and bear heavy crops.

Once the fruit or nut tree of the proper variety has been selected by the individual, several hints should be remembered to insure a successful transplant operation. One such hint is to keep the roots moist. Most young trees should be kept with their roots wrapped in a damp packing material or sawdust. The roots must not be allowed to dry out! or the tree will die. Trim off broken or injured roots. Set the tree about the same depth as it grew in the nursery.

In some of the poorer soils, a preplant preparation should be made. Make a generously-sized hole, at least half as large as the spread of the tree's roots. Pile topsoil, if any, and subsoil separately. Use the richer topsoil in the bottom of the hole to nourish roots. To loosen the soil and give it good moisture retention and drainage, mix in one part peat moss to every two parts of topsoil and subsoil. Where very little topsoil and unacceptable subsoil exist, a more desirable soil type should be brought in. Tramp the soil lightly or water as soil is filled in around the root zone to prevent leaving air pockets which may dry out root sections.

Fertilizer should not be used at planting time in the hole next to the roots. Burning may result on the newly developing roots. If any fertilizer is to be added, put 2 lbs. of a balanced fertilizer in a ring on the surface, one foot from the tree.

Half of the plant's top growth should be removed at planting time. Many nurseries provide this service to customers whom they can convince of its necessity. This convincing procedure is difficult. A customer pays for a 4-foot tree, and he wants a 4-foot tree; but he must remember that when the 4-foot tree was dug at the nursery, about half of its root system was lost. An equal amount of top growth must be removed to bring the top and bottom into balance again -- the root-shoot ratio. If this balance is not maintained, the tree will grow feebly, if at all, and branches may die back anyway. Pruning does not mean "whack off the top half". The object of initial pruning is to remove branches that total about half of the top growth, starting with weak and poorly-placed ones. The result should be a tree that has three to five strong, well-distributed scaffold branches from which new growth will soon come. Choose good branches now, and you won't have to pay the price of broken branches and poorly-shaped trees later.

After planting and pruning the nursery tree, water thoroughly. Remember that the newly-established tree is operating on a limited root zone, and it cannot "reach" for additional soil moisture during times of stress. To retain moisture in the soil and keep down competing weeds, mulches can be spread 2 or 3 inches deep around the trunk. This early care will keep the new roots actively growing and insure a vigorous, well-established tree which will have a potential of earlier quality and quality production.

After great care has been given to the newly-planted tree, and it has established a substantial root system, a systematic cultural program should be established. This will involve watering, pruning, thinning of fruit and control of insects and diseases. Remember, if you don't control insects and diseases, your crop is poor, and if you do, often a late freeze will shorten your crop, but if you get by the late freeze, you have a nice crop. What odds do you wish to give yourself?

The Directors of the Greenbelt Cotton Producers, Inc. announce that the Annual Meeting of the Organization will be held on January 27, 1979. The meeting will convene at 2:00 p.m. at the USDA Cotton Classing Office in Memphis, Texas. Mr. F. H. Pennel, the officer in charge of the Memphis Cotton Classing Office will be on hand. The Memphis Cotton Classing Office began receiving samples on November 6, 1978. There were over 332,000 samples classed in 1977. So far this year there have been 145,000 samples classed and 180,000 to 200,000 more are expected.

The election of officers and directors and a resume of the past years business will be among the important items on the agenda. The Greenbelt Cotton Producers, Inc. was formed in 1959 for the purpose of establishing a cotton classing office in Memphis. This office serves cotton farmers in Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hemphill, Hutchinson, King, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Motley, Roberts and Wheeler Counties. Officers and directors currently serving are President, J. J. McDaniel, Memphis, Vice Pres., Roger Brunson, Quitaque, Sec. Treas. A. J. Garland, Clarendon, D. D. Pennington, McLean, Bert Degan, Turkey, Leonard King, Childress, Hubert Rhodes, Clarendon, Forrest Creamer, Paducah, Doug Coleman, Shamrock, Roy Bob Keith, Guthrie, J. R. Hefley, Twitty and Mr. Johnny Farnsworth, Memphis serves as Executive Secretary.

F. H. Pennel, of the Memphis Office extends a welcome to all producers to visit the office and Mr. Pennel would be glad to offer information on the operation of the Cotton Classing Office in Memphis.

How's Your Knowledge Of Dog Care:

Which of these statements is true?

1. (a) Dog shouldn't be fed starches or carbohydrates.
- (b) Don't let your dog eat raw egg whites.
- (c) A little raw garlic will prevent worms.
2. If your dog smells as a result of an encounter with a skunk, (a) shave his hair; (b) grin and bear it—odors go away; (c) bath him in tomato juice?

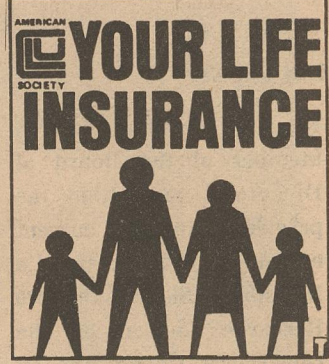

3. If you see dandruff on his coat, (a) give him more exercise; (b) shampoo him with a strong soap; (c) apply a medication specifically formulated for canine skin disturbances?

4. Normal temperature for a dog is (a) 101.2°; (b) 98.6°; (c) 103.0°?

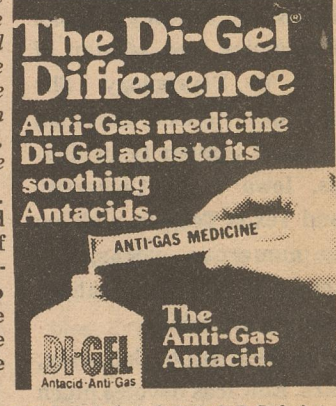

5. Older dogs should be (a) given less exercise; (b) fed more food; (c) washed more frequently?

ANSWERS: 1. (b) Raw egg whites destroy biotin, a vitamin in the dog's intestines. 2. (c) Use tomato juice. 3. (c) Flaking or dandruff, often a symptom of Seborrheic Dermatitis (localized dandruff) can be treated with Sulfonamide Medication for Dogs, a painless skin medicine. 4. (a) 101.2°. 5. (a) Older dogs need less exercise, more rest.

TREAT YOURSELF TO BREAKFAST IN BED

There are some luxuries in life that most of us can only dream about, but breakfast in bed is one luxury that anyone can enjoy. It's a special weekend treat when you can prop yourself up against the pillows and eat a tempting breakfast while reading the latest fashion magazines or watching your favorite TV program.

Your breakfast menu should be nutritious since this is the most important meal of the day. The ideal breakfast includes fruit, bread or substitute, eggs or meat, and milk. In other words it should include something from each of the four major food groups.

A breakfast of Grapefruit Ambrosia and Ham and Cheese Pancakes with Peanut accompaniment, by a glass of milk or two cups of coffee or half milk and half coffee—a nutritious, well-balanced meal that's as pleasing to the eye as it is to the palate. The Grapefruit Ambrosia combines fresh grapefruit and orange sections with pitted dates, flaked coconut and Planters Cocktail Peanuts.

The Ham and Cheese Pancakes with Peanuts are made by tucking slices of boiled ham between fluffy pancakes and topping them with a creamy cheese and peanut sauce.

Both recipes use Planters Cocktail Peanuts. Peanuts supply large amounts of protein, niacin, riboflavin and other important food elements.

GRAPEFRUIT AMBROSIA

- 3 grapefruits
- 2 oranges
- 1 cup quartered pitted dates
- 1 can (3-1/2-ounce) flaked coconut
- 1/2 cup halved Planters Cocktail Peanuts

Cut away peel and outer membrane from grapefruits and oranges. Separate fruits into segments. Combine segments with dates, coconut and peanuts. Toss mixture. Chill 1 hour before serving. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

HAM AND CHEESE PANCAKES WITH PEANUTS

- 1 4 cup (1/2 stick) margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Generous dash white pepper
- 1-3/4 cups milk

- 1/2 cup Shredded Swiss cheese
- 1/2 cup chopped Planters Cocktail Peanuts
- 2 tablespoons dry sherry
- 6 slices boiled ham
- 12 hot pancakes

Melt 3 tablespoons margarine in saucepan. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Cook over medium heat, stirring, until smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat and gradually stir in milk. Return to heat and bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly. Add cheese; stir until melted. Stir in peanuts and sherry. Keep warm.

Melt remaining 1 tablespoon margarine in skillet. Add ham and heat through. On each of 6 serving dishes place one pancake. Top with a slice of ham and a second pancake. Spoon on sauce. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Varsity Boys Have Outstanding Game

By Shannon Jameson
The Motley County Varsity boys played an outstanding game ousting the Guthrie Jaguars 72 to 49. The Matadors showed Friday night why they're 2-0 in District with good passing and shooting that was no match for the Jaguars. Motley County jumped to a 39 to 21 half time lead and never fell behind, widening their score to a comfortable lead. Robert Parker pumped in 18 points and Lester Campbell had 16 points to lead the Matadors. Mike Gibson respectively had 17 points for Guthrie.

TO PLAY AT JAYTON

evidence at the crash site which accounted for the sudden plunge. FAA officials ordered autopsies performed Saturday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

The plane, which McCandless had reportedly purchased the day before in Dimmitt, was cleared for takeoff from Lubbock International Airport at 2:30.

Jim Ridpath, son of James Ridpath, said the two pilots had planned a local flight Friday, but no flight plan had been filed. Jim operated Ridpath Aviation north of Lubbock with his father. Authorities said the plane did not run out of fuel. The craft's fuel tanks burst on impact and there was a strong odor of gasoline around the plane. Fire Fighting units from Roosevelt were called to the scene to guard against fire.

Comedy Basketball Game Set For February 5

Art "Bones" Smith will be one of the feature attractions February 5, when the Harlem Thrillers invade the Motley County Gym to play the Barton Bombers, coached by Max Barton.

"Bones", now in his 16th season of comedy basketball has thrilled fans all over the world with his comedy routines and amazing basketball skills. He is considered as one of the most versatile performers around today, plays all positions. At 6ft 8in., he handles himself with the greatest of ease. It doesn't matter if he is shooting one of his long thirty foot jump shots or dunking it through with one or two hands, the "Bones" makes it look as the old saying goes -- "Easy as eating pie."

Smith is a graduate of Paul Quinn College of Waco, Texas, helped put the school on the basketball map, setting records there which still stand. Joining the Harlem Magicians in 1959, he moved right into a starting position with the club. He later played with the Harlem Clowns and Harlem Travelers and then formed his own club, the Thrillers, three years ago.

The Student Council is looking for a capacity turnout for this sports attraction. Tickets may be purchased at the School from Student Council Members and at the door. Advance tickets are $1.50 for students and $2.00 for adults. At the door they will be $2.50 for students and $2.50 for adults.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Varsity Girls Take Win Over Guthrie

by Shannon Jameson
It was tough going in the first half for the Motley County Varsity girls but they proved the better team against Guthrie by defeating them 58 to 50. It was a see saw battle in scoring and at half the game was tied at 23-23. The Matadors pulled away eventually with Ann Moore and Sharlene Smith having 15 points to lead the team. Melanie Keith had 29 points for Guthrie.

THANK YOU

To all my friends and relatives for their prayers, cards and phone calls. Those who visited me while I was in the hospital at Paducah. A special thanks to Charlie and Nancy Long for making it possible for me to get to the hospital.

May God Bless each and every one who thought of me in anyway.

Mrs. Ora Stonecipher

CARD OF THANKS

This is to express my appreciation of the kindness shown me when I had plumbing troubles during the severe weather. To those who brought me water, those who came to see me, and to those who telephoned with offers of help I owe a great deal of gratitude. Blessings be upon you all.

Artie Smiley

NOTE OF THANKS

I would like to thank all of my friends for their phone calls, cards and food brought to my home since my accident. Thank you to all of you who helped in any way. You will always be remembered.
