Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before. Hard work usually finds the way. Once it was thought impossible to cast gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. Many men had shut their minds to the possibility of change. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated in this operation. Finally the way was found and old methods gave place to new.

A better way of making axle shafts saved thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankcases reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary, and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car. All of these things are done in the interest and the service of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

Farmers are growing "blue" over continued hot, dry weather. The young feed and cotton are holding up well. Binders are running in most of the fields, cutting the dwarfed feed that is burning so badly. A rain soon would, however, assure a good crop.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Washington, D. C. As a Protestant I should like to know why we cannot when reciting the Apostle's creed say: "I believe in the Holy Christian Church" instead of "the Holy Catholic Church."

The best definitions of the adjective "catholic" are "universal"; of interest or use to all men; "wide sympathies," "broad minded" and "tolerant." These meanings harmonize with the genius of the Church as established by Christ. From the New Testament viewpoint the world is her parish. She conceives all its inhabitants as the specific objects of God's redeeming grace. She offers her service to every rank and condition of the race. She sympathizes with whatsoever is good, true and beautiful. She seeks with utmost moral and intellectual breadth to spiritualize the entire life of men and nations. She acknowledges the virtues of righteousness and justice in rival religions, and deems them allies rather than competitors.

Such then, is Christ's ideal of His Ecclesia. Notwithstanding her vicissitudes and divisions, she has never forfeited that ideal. It is as plain to us as it was to the Apostles. Unfortunately our practice falls far below its lofty obligations. Hence the Church intended to be and ultimately to become holy and catholic has still to fulfill her Divine Founder's design.

May not you and I as members of the one body seek to ally its interlocking strife? Then we shall not need to relinquish the time-honored name to which you object. "Christian" the Church must be, in all this title implicates, and when she is that, she will indeed be "Catholic."

As a member of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, will you not briefly state the council's attitude regarding the Eighteenth Amendment? Many of us would like to know.

The confused and conflicting claims about prohibition make it difficult for multitudes to maintain a well-defined position toward it. Yet so far as I know the Federal Council, its attitude on this hotly debated issue is both consistent and constructive.

The tendency to caricature all supporters of the Eighteenth Amendment as stupid hypocrites or fanatical zealots has only obscured the sane, dispassionate consideration of the council's prohibition policy on its merits.

The Federal Council takes the following positions:

1. It will fight to the last ditch any step which looks like going back to the saloon.
2. So long as the present laws are on the books, it stands for their enforcement.
3. It will not consent to putting either state or national government into the liquor business.
4. It will instruct any alterations of the Eighteenth Amendment to the latter's friends and not its foes.

These determinations may not express the mind of many able and good citizens who belong to the thirty churches officially represented in the Federal Council. But they embody the convictions of the majority of its constituents.

What is the attitude of Bolshevism to religion, and why do some churches refuse to join in the general appeal for prayer for Russia's persecuted believers?

Dr. Shabert of Riga, an eminent theologian and writer, states that moving cries for help reach Europe, which the Soviet Union has surrounded itself. Probably you know that theoretically the legislative enactments of the Soviet concede religious liberty to all its citizens. But the Bolshevik wing regards all which is unfavorable to its teachings as a crime, and treats it as such. This fundamental difference between political theory and actual practice based on partisan construction explains the oppression to which religion of any kind is exposed in Russia.

Following an ancient and blood stained device, the authorities fine, imprison or execute offenders on the ground that they are enemies of the State. True, faith is free so far as the individual's right to believe what he pleases is concerned. But the moment he expresses his belief in word or deed, the "Confederacy of the Godless" proceeds to harass him.

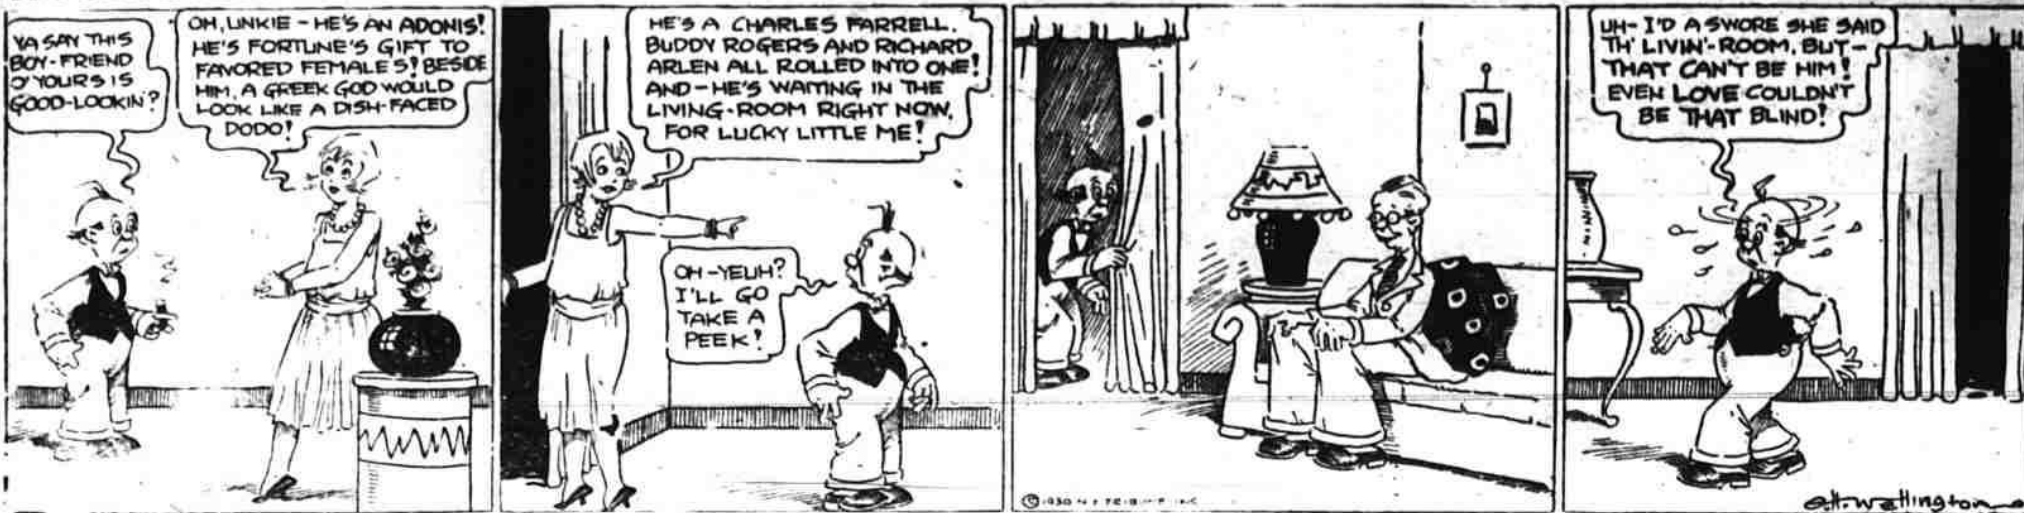

Lenin, the infallible prophet of Bolshevism, announced before his death that religion was "a sort of spiritual alcohol in which the slaves of capitalism drowned their manhood." Therefore, he continued, "we are obliged to fight religion." Thousands of victims have been involved in the ensuing persecutions and probably thousands more will be.

The churches which have declined the invitation of the Greek and Roman Catholic Churches, and of the Anglican and reformed Churches of Europe and America, are as fully opposed to all forms of physical compulsion in matters of spiritual belief as any religious body on earth. But they do not wish to be implicated in some possible political aspects of this distressing situation. Further, the Federal Council in our country has referred the entire matter to its Committee on Research and Information for additional light on Russian internal struggles.

with city and county officials in regard to improving the conditions as they exist at the present time. According to Shine Phillips, president of the organization, the cemetery "is the worst in the state and is a disgrace to a city of this size." T. S. Curry and C. W. Cunningham were appointed on a committee to confer with Howard county commissioners in regard to obtaining some form of relief for the cemetery.

An effort will be made to have fraternal and religious organizations owning property in the cemetery to improve the various lots. According to John Wolcott, the greatest need of the association at the present time is water with which to beautify the lots. He suggested acquisition of land nearby the cemetery and drilling of wells for the sole purpose of watering the various lots. He also suggested another man be engaged to work at the cemetery daily.

The nominating committee, composed of V. R. Smitham and E. A. Kelley, recommended that present officers of the organization be re-elected for another term. By a unanimous vote Shine Phillips, president, Dr. W. B. Hardy, vice-president, and Mrs. E. A. Eubanks, secretary-treasurer, were re-elected.

JOHN WILLIAMS THANKS THE PEOPLE OF HOWARD COUNTY AND ASKS THE VOTERS TO CONSIDER HIS RECORD IN SEEKING RE-ELECTION TO A SECOND TERM IN AUGUST PRIMARY.

I want to thank each and all for the vote given me in last Saturday's primary and the many courtesies shown me during my campaign for re-election to my second term as your constable, while it was impossible for me to see each voter personally due to the many duties of my office.

The constable's office, as you know, is one of the most important offices in the county. You have a right to demand that the one who holds this office be very mindful of your welfare. Whether I have performed faithfully the duties of this office must be answered by the people of Howard county. I party of the biggest and fifth most populous state upon questions vital to the next nomination and to Texas' support of the next nominee for president.

Uncertainty arising from the Hoover victory in the last national election, and the growing importance of Texas in national party and official councils heighten the significance of this selection. Gov. Dan Moody now appears in the most favorable strategic position to command the office of national committeeman from Texas. He would succeed Jed Adams, Dallas, who has served a long time since the ku klux klan took charge

State Democratic Convention In September Expected to See Fight Between Smith-Hoover Democrats

By Raymond Brooks
AUSTIN, July 30.—Winding up Sept. 9 there will be fought out in Texas one of the first-trench battles of the 1932 presidential election.

That battle, to be finally decided at the democratic state convention in Galveston will decide the choice of a new democratic national committeeman from Texas, and will commit the organized majority party of the biggest and fifth most populous state upon questions vital to the next nomination and to Texas' support of the next nominee for president.

of the party's affairs at Waco. Importance of the Texas choice readily may be seen. The committeemen decide upon the national chairman, or directing head of the party. They and he have much to do in dominating and directing the selection of the next nominee for president.

It is to be remembered that Texas caused the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for president, and changed not only the history of America but the history and geography of the world thereby. Washington analysts already are discussing the potentiality of Cong. John N. Garner, Uvalde, minority leader, as the next democratic nominee for president. Regardless of the long chances involved, the selection of a Texas national committeeman hostile to him would nip all possibility of this achievement. Naming one friendly to him would mean doing all possible to advance the minority leader's cause and Texas' first bid to furnish the nation a president, so far as the breaks of the occasion might permit.

Alfred E. Smith's sagacity in looking over the democratic field in 1928 caused him to send a personal messenger to Austin to invite Gov. Moody to become his running mate as nominee for vice president.

Had Gov. Moody consented, it is obvious that Texas would not have been lost to the democrats for the only time in history.

The point here is that Smith, one of the ablest politicians in the party, aided by the best advice of highest party councils, found Texas as an important factor for the first time in the national campaign.

It could not be expected to be less important in 1932, since Texas now officially is listed as a "two party state" and since the germinal sprouts of a far-flung democratic comeback already are showing above ground.

Many reasons, many considerations sketched upon the ample map of national campaign strategy, and numerous factors of state party aspect suggest Gov. Moody as the foremost Texas for consideration as national committeeman.

The entertainment committee is laying plans to provide the visiting dentists two days of real entertainment, according to E. A. Kelley, chairman of the public relations committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Lamesa Milk Plant Establishes Record In Its First Week

LAMESA, July 30.—The first week of operation for the Lamesa powdered milk plant was one of record, according to figures given out today by W. M. Whittkamp, manager. The first week the plant received 49,066 pounds of milk, he said. The $200,000 factory received 6,661 pounds on its opening day, July 22, and the amount increased daily until 8,246 pounds were received the seventh day. Marshall's milk plant opened with 3,300 pounds, Tyler's factory with 4,700 and the plant at Mount Pleasant with 3,200. Lamesa's daily receipts of milk have already reached Mount Pleasant's daily amount, which is something over 8,000 pounds and the latter plant has been in operation over a month. The number of customers for the local industry also increased, rising from 93 to 151. Forty cents is the price paid farmers for the milk per butterfat pound. This price is to be raised to forty-two cents after August first due to the high quality of milk received. Whittkamp stated. Not a single bad can of milk has been taken in, he said. The official opening will be held August 8 in Lamesa when several noted speakers are expected to be here and address the throngs that will swarm to this city. Over 4,000 visitors are anticipated during that day to make inspection of the plant. Lunch is to be served free. The milk plant here is owned by Lamesa and South Plains farmers and business men and is the only plant of its kind in West Texas. Products manufactured during the first week were skim milk powder and sweet cream butter. "Sunburst" is the trade name of the West Texas Dairy Products company's commodities.
