VOICE OF THE POOTHILL COUNTRY Matador Tribune

77TH YEAR-No. 23

MATADOR, MOTLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1973

TRAIL DUST DOUGLAS MEADOR

It is no wonder that the nation has a shortage of practicing physicians. Too many are engaged in regular television shows, which are watched by many people who need medical attention.

It is that time of year when the highway departments are giving the borrow ditches and roadside areas a burr haircut and exposing an ecology lapse. Not all the beer cans have been recycled.

It is easy to worry about the future of this nation but is easier to feel secure. A vanguard is rising against evil and injustice, in the little churches in the country and the great palaces of worship in the cities. The defenders of the future are young people in every community who are going to have the reins in their hands in a few years. More are attending churches than ever before. They have found the way and will pursue the course that will restore a nation's lost dignity. Older people have had their opportunity but they have failed the responsibility; go to church for a change and meet the young people who are going to produce tomorrow's leadership.

If you are not satisfied with a mistake you have made, forget it for a sufficient time and you can make it again.

Now that bars and lounges are legal in most large cities, I have not seen anyone drunk on the streets. This, of course is only a partial survey and may not indicate anything, except perhaps that the lush runs out of money before he gets out of

The scabs of old wagon roads are still visible in many places in West Texas. Often they follow the ridges and passes in areas that are close to modern highways. They are monuments to the pioneers whose courage, privations and work drafted designs for the better world we know today. Someone had to believe in the land and its future.

About all you can say for an argument is that it is going to leave the broken glass of bitterness on a path which might have been covered by the soft carpet of mutual understanding.

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

Last week we noticed three prophecies about the Jewish nation, and now three more. "And it (Nation from afar -L.E.O.) shall besiege you in all your towns until your high and fortified walls in which you trusted come down throughout your land, and it shall besiege you in all your towns throughout your land which the Lord your God has given you." Deuteronomy 28:52. For the fulfillment of this prophecy, you may read a record of Rome's conquest of Palestine by the historian Josephus. Not only was Jerusalem besieged and its walls destroyed, but the same thing happened to every Jewish city.

In the next verse of Deuteronomy we have another prediction concerning Israel and the peoples' miseries during the Roman siege. "Then you shall eat the offspring of your own body, the flesh of your sons and of your daughters whom the Lord your God has given you, during the siege and the distress by which your enemy shall oppress you." Josephus records one incident which proves the fulfillment of Moses' prophecy. "... she slew her son, and then roasted him, and eat the one half of him, and kept the other half by her concealed." Wars of the Jews: Book 6, Chapter 3, Section 4. Moses wrote the prophecy and the fulfillment was executed during the Roman siege about the year 70 A.D.

Consider this prophecy by Amos, speaking of the kingdom of Israel. "Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are on the sinful kingdom and I will destroy it from the face of the earth; Nevertheless, I will not totally destroy the house of Jacob," Declares the Lord, "For behold, I am commanding, And I will shake (sift, KJV) the house of Jacob among all ." Amos 9:8--9.

That the Jews have been scattered to the four corners of the earth since the Roman siege is common knowledge. According to an article by Louis Cassels in the Avalanche-Journal, May 26, 1973, there are 14,236,420 Jews in the world. Only 2,632,000 (about 18 percent) live in their homeland. Eighty-two percent are scattered among nations in both hemispheres. Amos got his information from God many centuries ago.

Prophets of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit. The Bible is truly the WORD OF GOD.
