☆☆☆ Danger: International Year of the Child Advocates Child Rebellion ☆☆☆

The Eternas Jr. Study Club announces an evening with Mrs. Don Workman, of Lubbock, a member of Chamber of Commerce and past President of the Lubbock Christian Women's Club.

She will be speaking on a topic that is most important to all parents, Secular Humanism and in particular the International Year of the Child, which stems from the ERA movement.

The meeting will be Wednesday, December 5 at 7:30 in the Methodist Church. The public is urged to attend.

International Year of the Child

No issue is more charged with emotion than the welfare of children. The liberation of children has been underway for more than a decade, so gradually and subtly that most parents are unaware of it. One of the most sacred of all rights and responsibilities is that of parents to rear their children.

In 1959 the United Nations passed a resolution called Declaration of the Rights of the Child. Little was done to implement it. The UN declared 1975 to be International Women's Year, and designated 1976-1985 as International Women's Decade. In 1976, the UN named 1979 to be International Year of the Child, with UNICEF as the agency in charge of implementation. The IYC is merely a continuation of IWY. The purpose of IYC is to implement the UN Declaration of the Rights of the Child. All IYC literature lists the ten rights of the child condensed as follows:

- THE RIGHT TO:
1. affection, love and understanding.
 2. adequate nutrition and medical care.
 3. free education.
 4. full opportunity for play and recreation.
 5. a name and nationality.
 6. special care of handicapped. 7. be among the first to receive relief in times of disaster. 8. learn to be a useful member of society and to develop individual abilities. 9. be brought up in a spirit of peace and universal brotherhood. 10. and enjoy these rights, regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national, or racial origin.

Sounds good, doesn't it? But as with all important documents, it is not wise to neglect to read the fine print. Who are these "voluntary organizations, local authorities, and national governments." Who will decide whether Your Child is having a "happy childhood and enjoying all of HIS RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS?"

The most suspect of these principles is number ten: "The child shall be protected from practices which may foster racial, religious, and any other form of discrimination." "PROTECTED" is necessary from You—if you should "Discriminate" by teaching your child that Christianity is superior to Buddhism, Mohamadanism, and others. Is this a ridiculous conclusion?

Congressman Robert K. Doman says, "If radical anti-family forces have their way, this UN sponsored program is sure to become an all out assault on the American family structure. To see for yourself; let me just give you four examples of what might happen under this UN-sponsored program:

1. Children may gain the legal right to sue their parents for being forced to attend church and the government would pay for the lawyers.
2. Children who perform household chores may become eligible for minimum wage.
3. Programs for children that are currently being run by state and local governments might be transferred directly under the control of the Federal Government, or the UN.

4. Public schools would conduct "behavior modification" programs, possibly under UN supervision, to make American Children better world citizens.

This all sounds incredible, but the fact is that President Carter has already ordered his staff to begin preparations for a full scale "Year of the Child" program in 1979. He has authorized appointment and funding of a 25 member National Commission for IYC with Jean Young (Mrs. Andrew Young) as chairman.

IYC is not a minor event. It is to be launched in January with a two hour sponsored prime time television special. In May there will be a national UNICEF telethon to raise funds. IYC television spots, featuring NFL players, noted personalities, and Hollywood Stars delivering the messages, will be bombarding our homes.

NGO's (non-governmental organizations that have endorsed UN principles and have applied for NGO status) provide a global network of organizations to aid in the dissemination and implementation of a predetermined philosophy to Everywhere, U.S.A.—rural areas, cities large and small. Some of the many NGO's are ACLU, American Humanist Assoc., National Organization for Women, AAUW, NAACP, League of Women Voters, YWCA, YMCA, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Amnesty International, CORE, Planned Parenthood, and Gray Panthers. Does this mean that all members of these and other NGO's endorse IYC goals? NOT AT ALL. Many members of some of these groups would be appalled to know that all these groups are lumped together and their leaders have in effect committed them to principles many members would never knowingly endorse. By going through NGO's world IYC leaders gain not only organization and funding to achieve their goals, but an aura of respectability. Almost every American citizen is a member of at least one NGO.

Since IWY and IYC are inseparably connected (same world leaders, same Humanist philosophy), resolutions passed at the National IWY meeting in Houston in 1977 furnish a very clear picture of their goals. Among the many recommendations totally unacceptable to all who cherish traditional family values are: reproductive freedom (abortion), sexual performance (homosexuality), non-sexist education at all levels, and federally funded child development centers for all children.

All the resolutions passed at the Houston IWY conference have been presented to the President and Congress, with the request that such form the blueprint for future legislation. All these involve YOUR CHILDREN because, if implemented, they would completely restructure the society in which your children must live. All the IWY resolutions are based on the promise that the Federal Govt. is the answer to everyone's personal problems from the cradle to the grave—a promise which has never worked.

IYC leaders would have you believe that the goal is merely to help poor, neglected, or abused children. Under close scrutiny, however, we see that the international social planners have more in mind. From what do they see to "liberate" today's children? Let their writings tell us.

They want children liberated from traditional morals and values. The White House Conference on Children, Report to the President, 1970 says, "The real solution requires a fundamental change in the value commitment, and the actions of the persons who control the public and private sector of our common life—parents, and those whose decisions determine the life styles of other human beings."

Gloria Steinham, editor of Ms. Magazine and active feminist leader says, "By the year 2000 we will, I hope, raise our children to believe in human potential, not God." Again we see the Humanist philosophy. What is Humanism? The Humanist Manifestos I, and II, signed by many members of the International intellectual elite, including heads of world organizations, educators, authors, counselors, and many professionals, declare a denial of the existence of a Supreme Deity, a Sovereign God. It supports situational ethics (if it feels good, do it) Humanists say there are no absolutes—everything is relative. They promote one-world government, sexual freedom, for all persons, abortion, euthanasia, and suicide.

World IYC leaders want children liberated from parental authority. The White House Conference on Children, Report to the President, 1970 says, "We recommend that laws dealing with rights of parents be reexamined and changed where they infringe on the rights of children...amendments

Community Thanksgiving Service

The sanctuary of the new United Methodist Church was the setting Sunday night for the Annual Community Thanksgiving Service. Speaker for the occasion was Rev. Jerry Golden, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

"We pause to give thanks for our country," Rev. Golden said. "Regardless of all its problems, America is still the best place on earth to live."

Rev. Golden explained that although the first Thanksgiving in this land was in 1621, it was not until through the efforts of a woman -- Sarah Hale that the event was proclaimed a national holiday in 1863, by President Abraham Lincoln.

Reading from Psalm 103, Rev. Golden stressed the need to give God the praise for all our benefits. He cited the benefits of being saved, as set forth by the Psalmist David, and by the writers in the New Testament.

"We must always come back to the fact that Jesus Christ paid the ransom for our sins. God created us, but also became one of us...through one woman we have Thanksgiving; through one man we have full benefits of freedom from sin...Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits."

The congregation was welcomed by Rev. Kenney Kirk, host pastor, and special music was by a trio composed of Max Barton, Stanley Martin and Rev. Golden who sang, "Learning to Lean on Jesus," with taped orchestration. El Progreso Club Visits Solar Home

For a program on Solar Energy, members of El Progreso Club made a field trip Thursday, Oct. 11, to La Casa Del Sol, the solar home of Mrs. Georgia Mae Ericson, located 10 1/2 miles northeast of Crosbyton, in Blanco Canyon.

The group also toured the Crosbyton Solar Energy Project, south of town, which is being developed for research, by the town of Crosbyton, the Electrical Engineering department at Texas Tech University and E-Systems Inc., of Garland.

Phase one of the Project, a 65-foot solar dish and the largest solar collection of its kind ever built, is a scaled-down version of the planned ten 200-foot solar dishes when the final phases of the project are completed. The federal government's Department of Energy has funded the initial phase.

The project is expected to be ready for dedication day ceremonies which have been tentatively set for Nov. 29, according to coordinator Dr. Travis Simpson of Texas Tech. He said President Carter has been invited to attend the ceremonies, but that Carter hasn't said whether he will attend or not.

When completed, the five megawatt power plant will be able to supply 28 percent of Crosbyton's electrical needs by late 1982. The 65-foot solar dish is designed to power a steam-driven turbine.

Mirrors for the dish had been received, but were not installed when the Matador women visited the plant last week.

Mrs. Ericson's solar home is located on the Ericson Ranch and George Smith farm where she was born and grew up, and is just 1 1/2 miles east of the first house built on the staked plains, a rock house built by her pioneer grandfather, Hank Smith. Although the solar home is a far cry from the rock house, La Casa Del Sol, too, has been described as "a witness of pioneer vision."

Letters To The Editor

I want to thank Mrs. Warren for her letter concerning the closing of the Whiteflat School.

Dear Sir,

Concerned citizens of Afton and surrounding areas have many friends in Matador, among merchants and citizens, but now feel it is time to band together and express concern over being stopped (by highway patrol) constantly every time we try to come to Matador to do business or shop.

So if our friends here wonder why we go other directions maybe you should stop and consider. True we uphold the law to the utmost but do not like harassment.

Take a look around town, and consider, do you want the town to die out or grow with help of farm and ranch people who have helped build it all through the years. (Name withheld by Publisher)

TFU Says USDA Considering Cotton Set-Aside

A group of knowledgeable cotton leaders from the South Plains and Gulf Coast regions of Texas say there is strong sentiment held by some USDA officials that a set-aside should be implemented for the 1980 cotton crop but that Administration budget officials appear to be opposed.

Returning from a trip to the nation's capital, around a dozen members of the Texas Farmers Union said they found Department of Agriculture authorities well aware that the accumulated carryover of cotton stocks will increase to around 6.1 million bales for 1979's crop, a prediction which has reflected an impact already in deflated prices.

TFU is asking for a minimum 10% set-aside when the 1980 crop program is announced December 15. The farm organization is also asking for an increase in the target price that reflects inflationary production costs and a change in the law as regards the loan to allow the Secretary to use the loan as a tool for orderly marketing and price support.

"There are considerations beyond the obvious price suppressing impact of an increased surplus," said TFU Vice President Joe Rankin. "Without a set-aside, the increased consumption of energy, water and other scarce resources used to produce a crop in surplus is unwise at best, if not foolish. The USDA recognizes this, but there are certain Administration advisers who persist in fighting food and fiber inflation by encouraging surpluses to cap producer prices," Rankin noted.

If a set-aside were in place cotton farmers would be required to stay within a base acreage prescribed by law as well as reduce plantings by the announced percentage in order to qualify for farm program benefits. A set-aside would have further impact in that cotton farmers who raise other crops would be required to keep within their base acreage for all commodities.

"There are huge companies operating farms in the West using federally subsidized water that don't want a set-aside," pointed out Bob Gibson, a cotton farmer from Meadow. "They can make money with cheap cotton prices because they don't pay what we do for water," Gibson said. "Plus, they would be limited as to the amount of acres they would receive water for."

Gibson was referring to a part of federal law that prohibits delivery of subsidized water to newly irrigated acres that are part of an expanded reclamation project whenever a crop is determined to be in surplus by the USDA.

The TFU cotton group spent two days in Washington meeting with both USDA and Carter Administration advisers. In addition to making the case for a set-aside, the farmers visited individual congressmen to oppose a Senate passed measure that liberalized limitations on corporations in the West to allow them to maintain their now illegally held acres receiving water subsidies.

Said Rankin, "Every cotton farmer in Texas should be aware that there is a direct conflict of interest with those corporations. We are competing with California and Arizona cotton farmers who receive millions in subsidies. If we went out of business tomorrow, they'd be happy. They'd be in Washington tomorrow asking the government to expand their water bonanza and totally displace Southern growers."

Others making the Washington trip included Wayne Richardson of Wolforth, Melvin Lowrey of Tokio, Doug Higgins of Kress, Steve Carrier of Hamlin, C.W. and Charlotte Garner of Seminole, Anthony Hlavinka of East Bernard, Ken Lane of Haskell, and Gary Cook of Wilson.
