"I SHOULD HAVE A SWORD OF MY OWN NOW; I AM BIG ENOUGH.. ALMOST. ONE LIKE MY SIRE CARRIES AS HE GOES SHOUTING INTO BATTLE.... THERE IT HANGS, GLEAMING, ON THE WALL."

"THERE ARE BRIGHT THINGS ON THE HILT—BRIGHTER THAN MY SIRE'S TEETH WHEN HE LAUGHS. BRIGHT AS MOMMIE'S EYES WHEN SHE SMILES DOWN AT ME!"

"MY SIRE'S SWORD WILL BE MINE SOME DAY. IT IS VERY FAR AWAY BUT I AM DETERMINED TO TRY FOR IT."

"I GUESS I MUST HAVE CLIMBED A MILLION MILES.... AND FALLEN A HUNDRED TIMES!"

"BUT A QUEST IS A QUEST AND MUST BE CARRIED THROUGH, SO AT LAST I REACH OUR SWORD."

"I REALLY DON'T KNOW WHAT HAPPENED, BUT ONCE MY GOOD RIGHT HAND HAD GRASPED THE HILT NOTHING COULD BREAK ITS GRIP ON MY SWORD."

"I DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH IT SO I TASTED IT, AND THE HILT WAS ALL SALTY FROM THE SWEAT OF MY SIRE'S STRONG HAND WHERE HE GRIPPED IT IN MANY A FIGHT."

"THEN, THOSE WHO SERVE ME GATHERED AROUND AND MADE MUCH ADO OVER MY LUMPS, BUT TILICUM AND MY SIRE LOOKED AT MY ACHIEVEMENT AND WERE PROUD. I AM INDEED A MAN! WELL, ALMOST.... FOR MOMMIE'S ARMS STILL FEEL WARM AND COMFORTING AND SHE SMELLS SO SWEET.... BETTER THAN ANY OLD WAR HORSE, I'LL WAGER!"

Republicans Not Anxious For Control Of Congress

By JACK BELL
AP STAFF

WASHINGTON, March 18.—They aren't saying anything about it publicly but the Republicans think the party will improve its position if it doesn't win control of Congress in November.

The theory of these hard-boiled political leaders is that the Republicans will have a better chance of winning the presidency in 1952 if they don't have anything to apologize for in the way of a record in the 82nd Congress.

That goes back to President Truman's surprising victory at the polls in 1948. It also stems from a study of the recent British elections. The GOP strategists are inclined to agree that their biggest mistake in leading up to the 1950 election was winning control of both houses in 1946.

Mr. Truman made the Republican 80th Congress his campaign issue. He said it was the worst Congress ever. And he apparently convinced the voters that he couldn't accomplish all the good things he promised them because the Republicans in Congress blocked him.

However, the Democratic 81st Congress to date hasn't produced much more in the way of approval of what he calls his "Fair Deal" proposals than did the 80th.

The President can't go on the all-out offensive this year as he did in 1948. He has to praise what his Democratic Congress has done while blasting the Republicans for keeping it from doing more.

In this atmosphere the GOP leaders think they have the President on the defensive. They think that can be translated into votes in the November congressional election.

Not all of them agree, but some Republicans would like to come about as close to winning control as the British Conservative Party came in England. It fell only a few votes short as the Labor Party continued to dominate parliament.

These GOP lieutenants argue that they will be able to stop any major Truman proposal that borders on what Republican campaigners have called "socialism". At the same time they can't be blamed for a "do-nothing" Congress, as they could if they had nominal control.

A November result which would give the Republicans control of one house would suit some of the party planners. This would mix the legislative program up so thoroughly that little but confusion could result.

Unless there is a tremendous overturn in popular vote trends, the Democrats are favored to hold on to the Senate because so many Southern and border state seats are at stake this year. But they could lose the House with only a moderate sort of Republican comeback.

The party that wins control of Congress in the so-called off years usually follows through with a presidential victory two years later, although that didn't work in the transition from 1946 to 1948.

A lot of Republicans are looking enviously at the position of the British Conservative Party. Whatever bad thing—if any—happens to Britain in the next few months will be blamed largely on the Laborites.

If a crisis appears the "Tories" may be able to force a new election. If they win then, Labor may be out for a long time.

The Republicans, on the other hand, will have to wait until 1952. If a crisis occurs before then as a result of the deficit spending into which the administration has been forced, they may or may not be able to take advantage of it. That depends on the timing.

President Truman has already drawn his formula for this year's campaign. It will be a continued crusade for congressional approval of his "Fair Deal," including compulsory health insurance, middle-income housing, the Brannan Farm Plan and other proposals.

The Republicans are concentrating on their "liberty vs. socialism" slogan. They are rapping the administration at every opportunity on the Communists-in-government issue.

They are yelling at the tops of their lungs about deficit financing, contending that it will wreck the country.

Republican lieutenants have brought back from recent tours in various sections of the country the word that grumbling about high taxes is getting to be a top issue. The GOP members of Congress can be expected to vote to lift excise levies far beyond the modest cutbacks the President has suggested.

Republicans say their party also is picking up some enthusiasm from the all-time low it reached after the 1948 elections. Democrats recognize that this year the GOP will be in there fighting. There won't be any complacency about the campaign, as many Republicans felt there was in their 1948 presidential contest.

'ONE FALSE STEP'

Powell, Winters In Melodrama

A comedy-melodrama in which an experienced cast offers thrills plus laughs is "Take One False Step," the Ritz theatre's feature for Tuesday and Wednesday. William Powell and Shelley Winters are co-stars.

Errol Fynn Goes Western In 'Montana'

Errol Fynn swashbuckling hero of "Adventures of Don Juan," and suave gentleman of "That Forsyte Woman," turns in his rapier and gallant manners for a wild bronco and a pair of six-shooters in his latest Technicolor western adventure drama for Warner Bros., "Montana."

and meets up with the Winters character, a predatory blonde whose favor he had won while a wartime colonel. Now respectably married, with Dorothy Hart playing the wife, Powell fights shy of renewing the association but is lured into a situation which puts him under suspicion of having murdered one-time inmates, who is unhappily married and involved with bigtime gangsters. Trying to clear himself before the police get him and also trying to maintain his respectable facade, puts Powell into a hectic chase from Los Angeles to San Francisco in which he is threatened not only with scandal but a painful death from rabies caused by the bite of a dog which attacked him while he was trying to retrieve an incriminating diary. Whether Powell will lose his life his wife and his good name is anybody's guess up to the last feet of the last reel.

THURS.-FRI.-SAT.—"Storm Over Wyoming," with Tim Holt.

MORE THAN ROMANCE—Jeanne Crain and William Lundigan are among the featured players in "Pinky," the Ritz theatre's feature for today and Monday. Their affair is more than the usual romance, however, as Miss Crain has the role of a Negro-born girl white enough to "pass." This racial question is tackled for the first time in pictures. Ethel Barrymore and Ethel Waters are others in the cast.

DANGEROUS MOMENT—Shelley Winters, as a dangerous kind of a gal, offers a drink to William Powell in this scene from "Take One False Step." The picture, at the Ritz Tuesday and Wednesday, combines mystery-thrills with comedy.

THE GREAT WEST—Dashing Errol Flynn is a shoot-'em-up character, Alexis Smith is the comely gal and Cuddles Sakall is the comic in a western production, "Montana," at the Ritz Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The picture is in Technicolor.

CLIPPITY-CLOP—It's Gene Autry who becomes the driver of that storied "Mule Train," the one the song writer made famous. A picture, in which Autry sings the popular song, and which bears the same title, offers Gene and his horse Champion. The western is at the State theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

DRAMA AT THE RITZ TODAY

Racial Problem Developed Forthrightly In 'Pinky'

A milestone in movie production, in that it is the first picture to deal forthrightly with the problem of Negro discrimination is "Pinky," a Twentieth Century-Fox offering, which plays today and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

The picture has won high critical acclaim as a development of strong drama as well as a strong moral force. It was personally produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, and its director is Ellis Kazan, known for some outstanding stage successes.

The picture presents a one-time ingenue, Jeanne Crain, in the heady role of a girl born to the dark race, but who is white enough to "pass" up north. The theme: to pass or not to pass. And in passing, as much as in choosing not to pass, lie consequences. With choice, the element of conflict is involved, with decision the element of morality and the consequences the element of judgement.

Pinky suffers indignations and squalor, and comes to see that, though this is a world one did not ask to be born into, there are other choices one can make for oneself. Pinky has been trained in the north as a nurse. Though innately, by the accident of her almost-white skin; she is the personification of the broken color line, in the south she cannot break through. She prepares to set herself free and return north when her black-skinned grandmother (Ethel Waters), who serves with untaught devotion an aged southern matron (Ethel Barrymore), begs her to stay on and nurse her dying mistress. It is in this association that Pinky learns that the gradations of the human heart are as variable as those of color and that any choice, therefore, is as uncertain as it is difficult and as difficult as it is inevitable.

When, after the matron's death, Pinky inherits her mansion and converts it into a refuge that will serve the colored, she makes an ultimate and moral decision to stay in the south. This act is an affirmation of self-knowledge, the moment in the tragedy of living at which Pinky can most truthfully say that she knows herself, and, knowing, what she must do with her life in a world where there are no perfect, unregrettable choices. Pinky's final act is one not only of morality, but of wisdom.

Miss Crain has been lauded for her mature handling of a difficult role. Miss Waters as the washerwoman grandmother, Miss Barrymore as the matron and William Lundigan as Pinky's northern sweetheart add weight in the characterization.

Autry Cracks The Whip In 'Mule Train'

As the saying goes, "you've heard it, now you can see it."

Reference happens to be "Mule Train," a western opus that catches in on the fantastic popularity of the clippity-clop song. And the star is one other than Gene Autry. "Mule Train" will be at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The cast of course, includes Champion, the wonder horse, plus Shelia Ryan, Robert Livingston, Vince Barnett and Pat Buttram.

"Mule Train" which has been monopolizing the airwaves, juke boxes and record players of the country, is brought to pictorial life in the new Autry outdoor thriller. Gene cracks the whip on Western killers in this rousing story of the West's colorful mule trains, the discovery of natural cement, and how the trains hauled the cement to a dam-building project.

High spot of "Mule Train" is Gene's singing of the stinging title song. Other highlights are Gene's handling of a mule train in full gallop; Gene leading a posse to the rescue in some furious riding; a pitched gun battle with the villain and rousing flatcutts. The location shots were made near Lone Pine Calif., where the natural beauty of the countryside in that area is backgrounded by Mt. Whitney, highest peak in the U. S.

While Gene plays a marshal who doubles as a mule driver; Miss Ryan turns out to be a beautiful menace, as the lady sheriff; Livingston is the sinister villain and Barnett and Buttram provide comic relief. And Gene's inseparable mount, Champion, is also present again.

Time Near When Park Facilities Should Be Brought Apace Growth

Many pressures will be exerted in the formation of the city's annual budget when the final preliminary draft is released late this month. Water, sewer, streets, sanitation, protective service and many other items clamor for attention. Under such circumstances, it is perhaps too much to hope that the appropriations for parks will be increased substantially, although there is some indication of some added support.

good grooming. But outside of accepting the West Side park from the ABC Club and the North Side from the Business and Professional women, with token developments in both places, there has been no real start toward enlarging park facilities. The Birdwell area has been cleared and trimmed and some saplings started, but the foundation is substantially the same as a decade ago.

Affairs Of The World—DeWitt MacKenzie Acheson Informs Soviet Union It's Time To Fish Or Cut Bait

SOVIET PRIME MINISTER STALIN, first deputy Vice Prime Minister Molotov, and other prominent members of the Moscow hierarchy have been preaching the Gospel that, after all, it is possible for communism and capitalism to live together in peace and harmony. They have hammered at this thesis persistently despite the fact that it is in direct contradiction of one of the cardinal tenets of Lenin's own creed. He said there isn't room enough for both lams in the world, and that capitalism must be killed.

ing Russia exactly how she could achieve peace. In effect he called on Moscow to fish or cut bait in this matter. The secretary dealt with one of the chief bones of contention when he declared that Russia must stop using Communist Party apparatus to overthrow established governments "with which the Soviet government stands in an outward state of friendship and respect."

Investigation of McCarthy's Red Charges Is Witch Cauldron

WASHINGTON, (AP) — POLITICS AND justice, accusations and proof, treachery and a person's good name. All of them are mixed up in the Senate's investigations into charges by Senator McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, that there are Communists and fellow-travelers in the State Department. It began this way: Early in February McCarthy started making his charges in speeches around the country.

and one third of the 96 senators. Between now and then for political reasons the Democrats and Republicans will try to make each look as bad as possible. Politics was brought early into this case by McCarthy himself who said "I intend to make things so politically inexpedient on this communism issue that he (President Truman) will just have to clean out the State Department."

Jewish Patriot Who Financed American Revolution To Be Honored With Memorial

WASHINGTON — A forgotten hero of the Revolutionary War, an unspectacular money lender, will soon be immortalized not far from Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson. He was Haym Solomon, the little Jewish patriot who raised the money to fight the revolution but died penniless with out ever receiving a dime back from the government whose freedom he financed.

Drew Pearson who said the Senator would become a Democrat—I did not know that he had gone quite so far as to try to take over the majority leadership of the Senate. "I think it will be regrettable if the time comes when a senator cannot indulge in a bit of frivolity, or take a nod or a wink, or perhaps have his attention distracted by some newspaperman in the hall, without some other senator taking advantage of his absence."

States. . . . The impoverished distrust of the fabulous United U. S. masses are turning to Soviet Russia. . . . Tens of millions of American people live in terrible slums. . . . Only the rich can afford proper medical care in the United States. . . . Enormous unemployment, stark misery and the specter of hunger compel thousands upon thousands of Americans to travel up and down the country all the time to find occasionally some mental work."

Military Discipline A Necessity, But Hard On Everybody's Nerves

If you didn't see "Twelve O'Clock High" at a recent showing here, I recommend you try to catch it at a subsequent filming. It's a war story without a lot of combat scenes. There is not even a French babe to distract the boys from their duties. It's a very honestly-told drama of what spirit-shattering obstacles were faced by the handful of U.S. flyers who were first to go to Britain early in the war, and, from there, to tackle daylight bombing of Nazi strongholds against overwhelming odds.

hated that exec worse than they hated Tojo. I was one of them; but I realize now that the deal was no more pleasant for the exec than it was for the rest of us. A new skipper assumed command, later, of a fleet unit I was attached to on the west coast. The first thing he did was line up all the junior officers and give them the dressing-down of their lives and threatening mayhem on the first one who violated the smallest rule of discipline. Then he called in all the chiefs and gave them the same medicine. You may be sure that the poor enlisted men got theirs in short order.

Pennsylvania Dems Rejoicing Over 1950 Election Outlook

WASHINGTON — Pennsylvania Democrats this year are equipped with good state-wide candidates and a fierce family fight among the Republicans. In a har-mony luncheon here at the capitol they have now agreed to push their good luck to the utmost. Sen. Francis Myers was host to the love feast which also served to introduce to Washington the Democrats' gubernatorial hope, Richardson Dilworth. Dilworth is the crusading ex-marine who piled up the floor boards on the noisome Philadelphia scandal. He lost his first campaign which was for mayor but, as the truth of his allegations became all too evident, he coasted in as city treasurer in the next local election.

the 1948 Republican national convention when Grundy delegates bolted to Governor Dewey, is roaring back his own accusations. Duff now wants to go to the Senate in Myers' place and has his own candidate for governor—Jay Cooke, Harold Stassen's former campaign manager. This is said to be all right with Cooke but does not deceive anybody about the strong basis for Cooke's campaign. Until the primaries Senator Myers and Dilworth are not disposed to complain about the attention accorded the G.O.P. feuding. They are happily collecting press clippings about it, especially those juicy personalities that enliven political speech-making.

Celebrities Made to Order Are Not Guaranteed for a Lifetime

NEW YORK, (AP) — THE FROSTED door pane bore the sign: "The Celebrity Stable—Celebrities Bought, Sold, Rented and Exchanged." Inside the office with his feet on his desk sat the famous Broadway agent and celebrity manufacturer, Wheeler "10 Per Cent" Topchop. The door opened and in strode a tall, rawboned youth carrying a straw suitcase.

ELMER ENDORSED THREE BREAK-fast foods, four kinds of cigars and three brands of cigarettes and seriously considered learning to smoke. Three million women bought "Kiss With Elmer" kits. In a year he earned $450,000. But Wheeler, his public representative and 10 per cent as his business manager, 10 per cent as his personal secretary, 10 per cent as his publicity representative and 10 per cent for writing his gags, which he copied from a file of "College Humor." Then Wheeler took another 10 per cent just because nobody was looking. All this left Elmer owing Uncle Sam about $37,000. One morning, wearing a bright tan polo coat and dark sunglasses, Corsonne dropped in on his agent to borrow his usual $5 daily allowance. Wheeler gave him the $5 and said: "This ends it, Elmer. You're done — washed up." "Your sponsor has cancelled out. You're a has-been. People are tired of seeing you knit with your teeth. They think it's just a trick."

Former Texan Directing Work Of U. S. Geological Survey

By J. EVETTS HALEY
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Once in a great while, an apparently casual news note seeps out of one branch of the federal government that still maintains a commendable measure of modesty to indicate the integrity of its nature and the vital character of its work.

WILLIAM E. WRATHER

It is perhaps — aside from the vast, vague and dangerously flowering organization dealing with atomic destruction—the most remarkable venture in the scientific research in the Western World. It is the 70-year-old United States Geological Survey, directed by William E. Wraether, for many years a citizen of Texas.

Within the intriguing but blighting glow of this politically-minded city, the survey maintains a business-like detachment from politics. As such it stands in striking contrast to those atomic scientists who helped conceive the instrument for the destruction of the world, and then set up a political lobby here in favor of giving the secret away — especially to Russia. The sad sequel reveals that what they failed to do directly was done by others in treason.

This country has much material to engage its labors—when men are willing to work—but little that it can afford to give away. For years now, the sober scientists from the survey, while cataloging the shrinking resources of this continent, have issued reports warning the nation against the disposition of its natural resources.

At the very time that some of our atomic scientists—mistakenly assuming that technical knowledge was a substitute for political profundity—were laboring to give the bomb away, the Geological Survey was scouring the face of the world for a sufficient supply of the vital minerals and metals this sometimes industrious and widely industrial nation must have.

As time progresses the search is intensified. Bound up in this quest are all the fascinating elements of exploration that have quickened the pulse of healthy men since a closely circumscribed world first thrilled to the tales of Marco Polo.

Now more than 8,000 adventurous scientists for the survey resort to every means of travel known to the ancients and to modern man. Their crews may be found busily mapping the ragged coast-line and topography of Alaska by boat, hacking their way through bamboo jungles in search of manganese in India, figuring the extent of great iron deposits in South America, fantastically prospecting the earth's surface for uranium with geiger counters mounted in planes, measuring the density of silt in the Colorado above the Hoover Dam, computing under ground waters upon the High Plains of Texas, and even analyzing the mineral content of plants in various sections as subtle indicators of undiscovered mineral deposits. All this and more falls within the field of the politically untagged workers for the survey.

The profound student and genial gentleman who directs this search was, for years, a distinguished geologist in Texas. At one time and another he has held the presidencies of the great national organizations in the geological and mineral fields.

He has traveled extensively throughout the world. One great venture as a consultant in private industry took him upon an exploration of the length of Africa. Another trip took him to a council of scientists in Russia before her international outlawry shut her off from the moral world.

Again during the War, Wraether and another great Texas geologist, Everett DeGoyer, were sent to study and report on the fabulous Saudi Arabian oil fields for the benefit of this government. But for nearly thirty-five years Wraether's major work was confined within the generous bounds of Texas.

He grew up on a farm in Kentucky, and when still in his teens went to Chicago to advance his education. Apparently mild of manner and perfectly poised, he was no ascetic student, but got his education while holding down a job with the Illinois Steel Company at its South Chicago mills. When the Illinois became one of the parent companies in the organization of United States Steel, Bill Wraether put his first savings into a certificate of its stock. He still owns that share of stock.

After graduation from the University of Chicago under the rigorous tutelage of a professor of geology who weeded out the mediocre and advanced the able, Wraether made his way to Muskogee to work and observe the Oklahoma oil boom. From there, in the summer of 1908, he moved to Beaumont and shortly to employment with the Gulf Company as an oil scout, since at that time the field of geology was not established as an essential adjunct of the industry. In 1911 he was at work in the Wichita Falls section, where he lived with Judge A. H. Carrigan. That pioneer figure introduced him to the interesting field of western history.

Whatever Wraether pursues, he pursues with interest and avidity, and whatever he reads or observes is catalogued in a capacious memory for future use, pleasure and reference. He was fascinated by the history of Texas and the frontier, and began building a highly selective and notable library upon these subjects.

The story that is disclosed was amplified by penetrating observations of topography and terrain, and of geology and growth, as he covered the country about which he read and over which he worked, with the meticulous care and detail of a great scientist. Consequently, he became one of the best informed students of Texas history by the time he reached the peak of the geological profession, and was chosen as president of the Texas State Historical Association for several successive terms.

Meanwhile he had covered much of Texas with the fine-toothed comb of scientific observation and inquiry. He had anticipated the discovery of the Breckenridge oil fields, and in advance had helped plaster much of Stephens County with leases for his company. After many years with the Gulf he left to go his individual way as a private consultant and active prospector. He did the geological study of and discovered the Desdemona oil field. During the first world war he pioneered the appraisal of the life and value of oil properties while the science of petroleum engineering was in its infancy.

With a voracious and insatiable mental appetite he pursued his manifold interests as a student wherever his work carried him. After every high honor of his profession had been heaped upon him for his always modest but tremendously meritorious work, he was, in 1943, called to the job of directing the United States Geological Survey.

Despite his deep affection for Texas and the appeal of his ranching interests in New Mexico, he left for Washington to take over the grueling wartime job of anticipating our vital mineral needs of finding the sources, and surveying the supplies. With the saving grace of wit and humor, infinite patience and astounding wisdom, he still pursues that highly important and adventurous work.

Murder Suspect Freed On Bond

AUSTIN, March 18. (AP)—Diego L. Carlino, charged with murder in the slaying of Vincent Vallone, was released from Travis County jail on $20,000 bond today.

He said he would return to Houston with his attorney, Percy Foreman, immediately.

Carlino insisted he was innocent in the country-road slaying of Vallone near Houston last July 15. He claimed he was the victim of a "burn rap."

Carlino's trial is set for April 17. He was brought to Austin on a change of venue.

Arizona Auditor Wins Spurs in Man's World

By JAMES CARY
PHOENIX, Ariz., March 18. (AP)—Ana Frohmler — the trim, gray-haired state auditor of Arizona — has proved women can be a success in a man's world.

She has held her office for more than 23 years. The voters, who like her diligent watch over state expenditures, have re-elected her 11 times in succession.

Energetic, friendly Mrs. Frohmler has tried in turn to see that the public gets its money's worth from government. She has established a statewide reputation as the "watchdog of the treasury."

But the lively 58-year-old woman feels her efforts (she is credited with saving taxpayers an estimated $100,000 yearly) have only touched a field that needs much more cultivation.

"I have a lot of sympathy for the people paying the costs of government," she says. "They're paying for many things they don't get."

With that philosophy, Ana, as she is known affectionately to her friends, has earned the respect of her employees and official colleagues. Most of them are men.

"Being a woman was a handicap at first," she asserts, "but I was reared with four brothers and learned how to get along with men. Besides I like them; they're easy to talk to — down to earth."

When a claim for a questionable expenditure crosses her desk it is Ana's duty to say "no."

That she does with alacrity, and no amount of persuasion, desk pounding or threats of reprisal can move her. Only a clarification of the law, or a court order will change her stand.

Such tactics of firmness and fairness, and a refusal to become embroiled in arguments, have worked equally well with her employees.

"I never give a man an order," she says. "I find it's easier to ask them to work with me. They're usually co-operative."

Ana was born in Burlington, Vt. on July 28, 1891. When she was seven her family moved to Phoenix. She took commercial courses in high school later worked as a bookkeeper and was appointed treasurer of Coconino County in 1922. She won her first race for state auditor in 1926.

To offset her arduous work she has developed a hobby. At night or on holidays, she works on the latest additions to her collection of early American furniture.

She likes to peel off the old finish and get a good look at the natural wood. "That way I can tell how old it is, and perhaps how good," she says.

Ana also collects old glassware and has dabbled in ceramics.

Caught in a reflective mood, she will speak of the things she has learned in watching a new state grow.

"There is so much more we could do if we had the authority," she says. "Government is still wasteful streamlined to eliminate many duplications. But even with that she offers a word of caution.

"Reorganization is needed, but it's no cure all. Governments will still have to be run by people. Our needs are for better educated, better trained people in public life."

SPRING TOUR SCHEDULED

McMurry Band Will Play Here Saturday

The McMurry College Indian band of Abilene will appear at the Big Spring Municipal auditorium Saturday at 8 p. m. according to an announcement from J. W. King, Jr., director of the Big Spring high school band.

The McMurry group, under the direction of Raymond T. Bynum, will be in Big Spring as part of a six-day spring tour of the Northwest Texas area. Their Big Spring concert will be the first of 15 scheduled for the coming trip. Members of the high school band are selling tickets.

Saturday night's concert, sponsored by the Big Spring high school band, will be the third appearance of the McMurry band here since its reorganization in 1946. The group presented a concert at the First Methodist church in Big Spring in the fall of 1947. Part of the band participated in the Centennial parade here last fall.

Combining more serious types of music with selections of a lighter and sometimes more comical nature, the Indian bandsters have established for themselves an enviable reputation among college bands in this area. Newspapers, educators, bandsmen, church leaders, and music lovers of every level have termed the McMurry group "a most versatile organization." The band, as well as several smaller groups within it, are continually in demand to provide entertainment for luncheon clubs, banquets, church functions and other activities. The band has accepted invitations from television stations at Fort Worth and Dallas to present two one-hour shows for television fans of that area.

Saturday night's concert will include "Light Cavalry" overture by von Suppe; "The Four Horns" featuring the horn quartet; "The Three Jacks" played by the trumpet trio with band accompaniment; and "Comedian's Gallop" by Kabevsky.

One of the highlights of the program will be the playing of Bill Campbell, marimba and vibraphone soloist of Slaton.

Norma Sechrist of Spur and James Pollard of Vernon, popular young singers with the band, will also be featured in the band's program. They will sing "Indian Love Call" and "Wanting You." Miss Sechrist is a senior this year. Pollard is a sophomore.

And Big Spring folks who have seen the band perform before will not be disappointed, because the Indian bandsters will be in their usual form, leading out with some Latin American rhythms and providing the sunny side with one or two novelty selections.

SWALLOWS DUE ON SCHEDULE TODAY AT SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO MISSION

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif., March 18. (U.S.)—The engrossing legend of the San Juan Capistrano swallows will be perpetuated again Sunday.

Sunday is St. Joseph's Day. The legend of the San Juan Capistrano Mission, dedicated in 1776 by Father Junipero Serra, founder of the Franciscan chain of California missions, is that the swallows arrive here annually on March 19 and depart Oct. 23 St. John's Day.

Father Arthur J. Hutchinson, 74-year-old, head of the rambling adobe mission, said the swallows never have varied their arrival date since he came here from Brooklyn 13 years ago.

"The swallows will be here early tomorrow morning," the white-haired padre said.

There were none on the mission grounds today.

How the swallow finds his way from winter quarters in South America is still a mystery to man, who has to depend on his five senses for data which to shape his actions.

Swallows born inside the ancient walls of San Juan Capistrano Mission this summer will band together in the fall and without guidance from the older birds, will emigrate alone on a flight perhaps 10,000 miles to their winter habitat along the southern coasts of South America.

Ingrid Is Coming Back to America

LOS ANGELES, March 18. (U.S.)—Ingrid Bergman is coming back to the United States and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, is preparing to meet her head-on in the fight for custody of their 12-year-old daughter Pia.

It will be the first face-to-face showdown between the couple since the actress went to Stromboli, fell in love with Roberto Rossellini and had a child by him.

Water Vote Set

KILGORE, March 18. (U.S.)—A $600,000 bond election for city waterworks and sewer system improvements and expansion will be held here April 4.

Unified Command Results Reported At Army Groups

Reports on economies and the unified command, together with open forums, dominated the conference of Army advisory committees in San Antonio Wednesday and Thursday.

Cecil D. McDonald, who was flown in an Army transport to Brooks Field for the conference embracing the Fourth Army area, said that Army officers gave an accounting of various functions.

One was by Lt. Gen. LeRoy Lutes, who told how the unified command pattern was functioning. Another was Col. F. E. Dodd, who said that the Fourth Army was within its budget and had effected heavy economies. Maj. Gen. A. D. Bruce, deputy Army commander, gave reports on general operations and procedures. Stressed at the meeting was the necessity of intensifying the training of a hard core in the reserves.

One tragic turn marred the conference. Thursday morning at breakfast, shortly before the men were to board DC-3s for home, Dr. W. P. Martin, Clovis, N. M., roommate of McDonald's, was stricken by a heart attack. He toppled over in McDonald's arms, dead.

Three Burned As House Destroyed

FORT WORTH, March 18. (U.S.)—A Tarrant County farm wife and two of her children were severely burned today when an early morning fire destroyed their home at Dove, five and one half miles north of Grapevine.

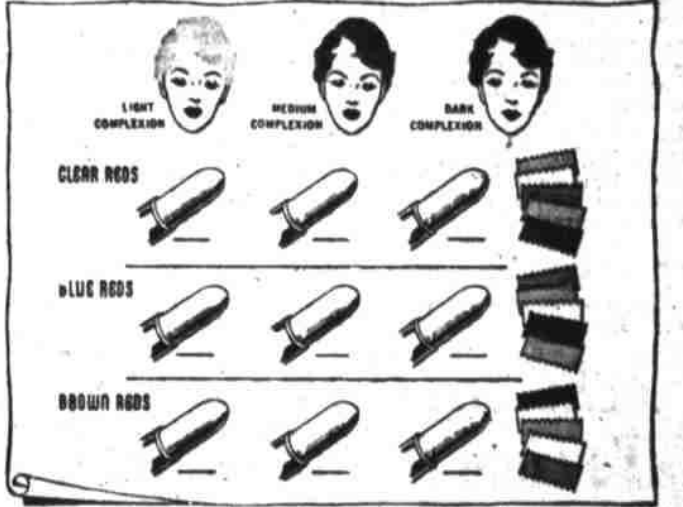

They are Mrs. Corine Cook, 27, and Tommy, 2, both critical, and Charles Cook, 4, serious.

The father, Morris Weldon Cook, dairy farmer, watching anxiously over the injured at City-County Hospital here, said he was milking at a barn 100 yards distant, when he heard his eldest son, Jimmy, 8, shout "the house is on fire." He said his wife rushed to two older children, guided them to safety and then carried out the younger boys.

this year has been the band chorus of 25 voices. The band members, all experts on their respective instruments, discovered that both vocal and instrumental music have their advantage. So they decided to combine the two, and the results were surprisingly well received. The chorus will sing Fred Waring's arrangements of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Truman Favors Kerr Gas Bill

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP) — Reports circulated today that President Truman approves the Kerr Natural Gas Bill, which the Senate will vote on next week. An administration lieutenant who asked not to be quoted by name reported the President had given clearance to the bill before he left Washington for a Florida vacation. The measure, sponsored by Senator Kerr (D-Okla.), would prohibit the Federal Power Commission from regulating the operations of so-called independent natural gas gatherers who sell the product to pipeline companies. The President's reputed approval of the bill left Democrats divided on an issue where most of the Republicans appeared to be lining up in opposition. Some of Mr. Truman's most ardent followers are fighting the measure.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

Hops she knows what she's talking about, because Mrs. Marjorie Child Husted of Minneapolis, Minn., one of the nation's outstanding business women, says that many more opportunities are coming for women in business.

Last year, Mrs. Husted received the "Woman of the Year" award. She says that women today find themselves at the crossroads between a past that demanded certain things of a woman and a future that demands other things.

She states that "Women feel uncertain of their position—at home and in business." She says that college girls have told her they do not know what they should do: They want to go into business, yet don't want to give up the idea of marriage and children.

She said that during World War II, there were eighteen million women in business, but it was thought they would go back into the homes. Latest figures show seventeen million still employed.

Indications are that before long there will be as many women in business as men, Mrs. Husted says.

She asserted that she was not a feminist, but feels that women have special contributions to make to the business world. Her own career is in the field of home economics, and she is best known as the woman who directed the staff back of Betty Crocker for General Mills.

She said that she feels that in business, women will regain the partnership with their husbands which they lost when the industrial revolution came.

Modern research, she said, is changing the view that women are the weaker sex.

In 1940, she pointed out, the number of men in the United States equaled the number of women, but the balance is changing. By 1970, it is estimated there will be two and a half million more women than men.

Who said this wasn't a woman's world?

IT'S HIS HOBBY — Breeding and training five-gaited show horses is a hobby with Frank H. Kelley, for 26 years land man for Magnolia at Colorado City. Kelley is shown here driving Frontier General, one of his string of 21 horses. Public service, too, is a hobby — almost a vocation with this veteran West Texan, who has served 23 years on his city's school board. (Ehr Studio, Colorado City).

KELLEY AN INDIVIDUALIST

Civic Interests And Horses Keep Colorado Oil Man Busy

COLORADO CITY, March 18—One of the best known oil men in this part of Texas is Frank H. Kelley, land man for Magnolia since 1924. Kelley, an individualist if there ever was one, is known also for his many interests in public service in his hometown and over Texas. In Colorado City he is president of the school board, a body on which he has served for 23 years. Fortrightly, he says he hopes to be elected again on April 1 "because I want to be around when all the improvements we've worked for—the new primary school building, the new football stadium, and modernization of other buildings—become a reality." At home, too, he is director of the chamber of commerce, a Mason and a Kiwanian. Kelley is second vice-president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, a local director in the regional chamber. He was named by the late (Gov.) Beauford Jester as coordinator for the water research survey in West Texas, and currently he is on committee "A" of the state Good Neighbor commission.

—he is Mitchell county's foremost horse fancier. Loving horses does not set him apart from fellow citizens in this historical "queen city of West Texas," but his tastes do. Kelley goes in for gaited show horses—"American saddle horses"—instead of the area's quarter-horses. At his Frontier Stables in the south part of town he has 21 head. Favorites include Kodochrome, a five-gaited mare that won reserve championship in class at El Paso. A native of Missouri, Kodochrome brought $8,500 at the disposal sale after death of George Brandies, her former owner. Other top animals include Frontier Sensation, promising junior mare, Frontier General, who "has given a good account of himself," Astral Marillo, Kelley's five-gaited champion mare of the Southwest in 1939, currently awaits a foal with less visible excitement than Kelley or his head trainer, Harvey Rodman. Captain Kelley, an outstanding five-gaited entry as a 3-year old, and Melaine Wilkes, consistent winner for three years in the ring are well remembered. It was Jolly Jean, who tied for second place in a class of $80,000 worth of horses in Fort Worth, and then all but shattered Kelley's heart by promptly dying. Kelley is now busy expanding his horse and farm interests. His boyhood ambition to be a "stock farmer" rather than his landman experiences have made him a farm owner for the past 20 years. Today he owns a total of eight in Mitchell, Borden and Lubbock counties and recently helped his son, Jimmy, purchase a farm south of here. From his office he can look to the southeast and see two of his farms. Soon Frontier Stables will become Frontier Farms because the area is being enveloped and Kelley is moving to a new farm on U.S. 90 east of Colorado City. On that 184 acres, he hopes, with counsel from Al Robertson of the Soil Conservation Service, to develop half of the land into pasture. "A bit of blue grass in the heart of Texas," Kelley admits is a secret fancy. Salem, Indiana, where he was reared, was in the blue grass country where "we could stand on our porch and practically look into Kentucky." Born the son of a country doctor, Kelley turned a deaf ear on suggestions that he follow his father. With the eighth grade behind him, he announced "I've got all the education I need. I'm going to be a stock-farmer, and I know enough now." His father looked him over and replied calmly—and rather firmly: "I'm not going to turn you loose on the world as ignorant as you are. You're going to finish school if it takes my last dime." Frank Kelley did. Moreover he attended Indiana University, Indiana State normal and Industrial school, and Columbia University. He taught school in Indiana for a year and later was in charge of industrial arts at Las Cruces, N. M. When World War I came on, he was one of 21 (the youngest) selected to collect and publish texts used for the Navy's artisan schools. He lectured twice weekly in the USN school off San Diego. About the time he left the service, an oil boom was in full flower at Ranger. Kelley became an independent oil operator at Gorman. Three things happened. First he was married to Mabel Turner, also daughter of a country doctor, at Rockdale in June 1924; second, he went "flat broke;" and third, "flat broke again." The oil business bug also bit him fatally, for Kelley likes his job. "I've been land man for Magnolia for 26 years. I shall be land man for them until I get fired, die or until Gabriel blows his horn."

Business And Professional Women Sponsor Local Easter Seal Drive

Two years ago Mary Smith sat in her wheel chair at the front window of her home and watched her little brother cut playing with the other children of the neighborhood. Mary wasn't even considered as a possible playmate for Mary couldn't walk.

But that was two years ago, before Mary came to the attention of the Society for Crippled Children.

And today, as a result things are different.

Mary still isn't playing a hide and go seek but she will one of these days, the doctors and therapists hope and meantime, she is right out there on the front lawn, taking part in less strenuous games of the neighborhood children.

She is learning many new skills with her hands and catching up on school work that had been abandoned when Mary was hurt.

Altogether life is becoming livable for Mary what with medical services, therapeutic treatments, educational help and new crutches that are given her by the Society.

Officials of the Society for Crippled Children, report that there are a lot of Mary Smiths in our area, state and nation, which are being aided each year.

All of these services are financed by funds raised during the annual Easter Seal Drive sponsored by the Society which is now in progress and will continue until April 9. They are services given to many crippled children who may need them. They are made possible by the contributions of those who use Easter Seals.

Want to know what the 1950 Easter Seal looks like?

Well, if you haven't gotten yours in the mail, here's a description of the little stickers that may mean health and help to crippled children.

This year's seal symbolizes the conquest of a handicap by a child and shows a small boy tossing away his crutches and starting to walk by himself, his face upturned and smiling. The boy is wearing shorts and a turtle neck sweater against a foreground of medium magenta and a background of pastel green. It bears the slogan "Help Crippled Children" and the year "1950." The stamp is nearly an inch in height and a little more than 3/4 of an inch in width.

This year's Easter Seal is the design of a Michigan High School boy, Ardy Kazarosian, 17, of Detroit, and was selected in nationwide competition sponsored by the National Society for Crippled Children and its 2,000 affiliated societies.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club are sponsoring the distribution of Easter Seals in Big Spring this year.

Easter Seal letters were addressed and sheets of one hundred seals each were folded into the envelopes by a corps of club members assisted by the Indoor Sports club members and high school typing students under the direction of their instructor, Myran Shields. The Indoor Sports club is an organization for handicapped people and is sponsored by the local B&PW club.

Cap Rock Slates Annual Meeting

Tenth annual meeting of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative is to be held Saturday in Stanton.

Business session is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. in the high school auditorium, but the electric appliance displays continue from 10 a. m. to 6 p.m. at the Cap Rock offices.

Principal address of the meeting will be made by J. T. Rutherford, state representative from Odessa. Other business will include annual reports from the directors and manager, O. B. Bryan; election of directors and officers, and an explanation of the capital credits plan.

The latter item concerns the crediting of capital structure among the membership according to patronage.

In connection with the show at the co-op plant, immediately west of town, there will be $300 in prizes awarded during the day.

Since the last meeting finishing teachers have been put on the $75,000 office plant. Records reflect addition of 48 miles of line serving 286 new members. During the past fiscal year $44,000 was paid the REA in principal and interest loans.

In addition, Cap Rock purchased $54,000 in bonds to be used as a reserve for emergencies (against ice storms, etc.) and contingencies.

Average consumption rose from 100 to 130 KWH per member last year. Cap Rock records show. Today the system has 1,113 miles of line serving 2,124 members in eight counties, principally Howard, Martin and Midland.

Bailey Named Vice President Of Teachers

WALKER BAILEY

Walker Bailey, Howard county superintendent and veteran schoolman, has been elected vice-president of the West Texas Teachers association.

Bailey was chosen at the annual meeting in Midland Friday to serve with Ross A. Buckner, Seagraves superintendent of schools, who was named president.

Although there is no precedent attached to the elevation from the vice-presidency to presidency of the district association, it was conceded that Bailey would certainly be among the most favored to step into the head spot a year hence.

Approximately 150 administrators and teachers from Big Spring, Comstock, Foran, Knott and the common school districts of Howard county participated in the one-day parley.

At the house of delegates Thursday evening in advance of the general and sectional sessions E. C. Dodd, Howard County Junior College president, Roy Worley assistant high school principal, and Mrs. A. C. Kloven, president of the local Classroom Teachers association, were elected local representatives of the state house of delegates.

Scholastic Census Shows Upward Trend

Initial tabulation of the annual scholastic census shows an upward trend.

Total announced Saturday by W. C. Blankenship superintendent and census trustee, was 4,032 for the initial count. This compares with a final adjusted total of 4,129 for the current scholastic year.

The comparable count for the same stage of the census a year ago if the 1950-51 school year is estimated to be one hundred or more lower. Before final corrections and transfers into the district last year, the Big Spring Independent school district census was less than 3,000.

Blankenship said that the roll had been checked fairly well against enrollment, but that this phase of the work was being double checked. In addition, teachers who made the canvass are calling back at houses where they failed to find anyone home on their initial visits.

This year enumerators are finding a number of scholastics who were not on the rolls here last year.

Patrons are required to furnish information to the school district by April 1 on all children who will have attained their sixth birthday on or before Sept. 1, 1950 but who have not attained their 18th birthday by that date.

Parents whose children have not been enumerated (they will know whether they have because parents are required to sign the blanks) are asked to call the administrative offices (3520).

First Unrehearsed Youth Discussion Put on Air Saturday

The first in a series of unrehearsed discussion programs, conducted by members of the Big Spring Hi Y and Tri Hi Y clubs, was broadcast over radio station KTXC Saturday.

Members of the panel were Jo Ann Smith, Sandy Swartz, Jimmy Wilcox, Woody Wood, Peggy Toops, and Jean Stratton.

Similar programs, forums for the discussion of various problems facing persons of high school age, are to be aired each Saturday.

They are sponsored by the local Hi Y and Tri Hi Y clubs and differed members of the organizations are to make up the panel each week.

Missing Cadet Feared Slain

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 18. (AP)—A handsome West Point cadet who disappeared mysteriously two months ago on his way to a dinner date, was believed by authorities today to have been slain.

While a nationwide hunt for the cadet continued, Lt. Col. Edwin N. Howell, provost marshal at the U. S. Military Academy, said Friday:

"I am convinced this is foul play. I'm sure we will not find this man alive."

The cadet, 21-year-old Richard Cox of Mansfield, O. disappeared last Jan. 34 when he left his quarters to keep a dinner appointment on the reservation with a man he referred to as "George."

Since then, scores of officers and enlisted men have combed the 15,000-acre reservation daily without finding any trace of the youth. A New York police helicopter will join the search Tuesday.

Some of the reservation is hilly and thickly wooded and parts of it still are snow-covered.

The Army's criminal investigation division, aided by the FBI and state police, has pressed a nationwide hunt for clues, checking on Cox's former Army buddies overseas and other possible leads.

Cox, an Army sergeant before he entered West Point in 1948, told fellow-cadets before his disappearance that he had served as an enlisted man in Germany with "George."

Lt. Col. William Proctor, West Point public relations officer, said he believed that "Cox has been done in by 'George' or they were both done in by somebody else."

Navy Plane Engine Damaged By Fire

An aircraft engine fire was the only occurrence to disturb the routine of normal activity at Municipal airport during the past week.

The blaze broke out in the left outboard engine of a Navy PBY Friday as it taxied to the ramp following a landing. A backfire was blamed for starting the fire, observers said.

The ship has been grounded pending arrival of new engine parts.

Test flight for the reconditioned Cessna "Airmaster" belonging to J. D. Church has been postponed until the early part of this week.

The plane was scheduled to make its test hop last Monday, but the flight was put off when mechanics were unable to secure proper fairing screws to complete refabrication work. Church is expected to return from Fort Worth today with necessary materials.

He will probably test the craft Monday or Tuesday. The new covering has been installed by Bill Edwards.

Lambert Ward left Wednesday for Akron, Colo., where he will spend a few days with his parents on the family ranch. He made the flight in a Cessna 170.

Highline patrol was the most extensive operation from Hamilton field during the last week.

Cecil Hamilton flew the western section of the Texas Electric Service transmission line, going as far west as Wicket.

Deputy Bargains With Felons, Wins Freedom For Two Guards

McALESTER, Okla., March 18. — The deputy warden at the state penitentiary here walked into a punishment building where 22 incorrigible prisoners were loose and successfully bargained yesterday for the lives of two guards they had overpowered.

Warden C. P. Burford was investigating the incident today after the prisoners staged a one-hour riot in the prison's "Little Alcatraz" yesterday.

"Little Alcatraz" is a building inside the walls used for solitary confinement of incorrigible prisoners.

separated from the other 1,850 prisoners.

Warden Burford said Deputy Warden H. C. McLeod entered the building unarmed to bargain with the prisoners.

Burford gave this version:

Only one prisoner is permitted out of a cell at a time. When Guard Joe Bates released one prisoner, he was turned upon and overpowered. The prisoner, whose name was not made public, took the keys to the other cells and released the others.

The second guard, Otha Martin, was in another cell block. He was attacked by the released prisoners.

The guards were armed only with tear gas guns. There was no way for the prisoners to escape from the buildings. Even the guards are prisoners inside the building with the only key kept in the guard tower.

Chester Dillard, serving 25 years for armed robbery from Oklahoma County, used an intercommunications system to call the warden's office.

He asked for Burford and was told he was in Oklahoma City. McLeod then rushed to the "Little Alcatraz" building and entered under the watchful eyes of armed guards.

The prisoners asked for more privileges, especially better food and more reading material.

Several votes were taken among the prisoners during the bargaining session before they agreed to go back to their cells.

Burford said he did not know what action could be taken against the 22 prisoners because they already had very few privileges.

Texas Woman, Father Reunited After 25 Years

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 18. — A Texas woman and her father are getting acquainted after a 25-year separation.

Mrs. Bernice Borden, Wichita Falls, Tex., Friday was reunited with her father, Jack Khalil whom she thought dead.

Also joining in the reunion was Mrs. Borden's sister, Mrs. Hedy Fraley of National City.

They were separated in Everett, Wash., where Khalil and his wife were divorced. The two daughters and a son, Albert, now of Turanga, Calif., were reared by their mother and stepfather.

In 1940 a friend told Mrs. Fraley her father was dead.

About a month ago an acquaintance remarked to Albert that he knew a man named Khalil in Sacramento, Albert came here and found his father. He could not be here for the second reunion held with the daughters.

CHICAGO FAIR SET AUG. 7-19

Foreign Exhibitors Will Have Entries In U. S. Exposition

By LOU KRAMP AP STAFF

CHICAGO, March 18. — The lure of American dollars is drawing manufacturers from many parts of the world to the first United States International Trade Fair. It will be held in Chicago Aug. 7-19.

Government trade officials in many nations are urging their business firms to participate. They consider the fair a quick and economical way to enter the American market and establish dollar credits.

"Businessmen seem to agree. Already they have reserved 113,700 square feet for exhibits. Another 162,000 feet is being negotiated. The fair will be patterned after the famous trade fairs of Leipzig, Brussels and Paris.

The entire range of consumer and industrial goods will be represented in exhibits.

Of space reserved so far, 40 per cent is for finished consumer merchandise; 10 per cent for textiles, 12 per cent for foodstuffs, 18 per cent for machinery and equipment, five per cent for chemicals and raw materials, and 15 per cent for travel, information and miscellaneous groups.

The fair will use about one million square feet of gross exhibition space in Chicago's Navy Pier, International Amphitheatre, Coliseum, and Arena. Two-thirds of the space is allotted to foreign exhibitors.

To cut down red tape and speed shipments of exhibits, special legislation is to be sought in Congress to ease problems of foreign producers.

Also, government experts in foreign commerce and tariff problems, and banking experts and interpreters will attend the fair to help foreign exhibitors and visitors.

The fair is a non-profit corporation supported by American businessmen and Chicago civic leaders. It has support from various U. S. government groups.

On the fair's board of directors are some of the nation's top ranking businessmen and industrialists.

They say the fair and a resulting increase in American imports will lead to reduction of Marshall Plan funds, and thereby reduce the load on the American taxpayer.

The Marshall Plan last December established a European trade fair board, sponsored by the organization of European Economic Co-operation.

Under its commissioner general, Frederic Berbigier of France, the board is co-ordinating exhibits from the western European countries.

Berbigier and his technical adviser, Barthold Biersma de Haan of The Netherlands, have told I. S. Anoff, president of the fair, that they will do all they can to assure a successful exposition.

They met in Chicago for three weeks until Feb. 16. Returning to Europe with them was Dr. Jacques Kunstenaar. He has been granted a leave of absence from the U. S. Department of Commerce to become director of foreign affairs for the fair.

He has established offices in Paris, Zurich, and London.

Fair headquarters in Chicago are in the Merchandise Mart. It is getting reservations for space directly from individual business firms and from national committees.

The bulk of them so far are from western European firms, possibly because they are most familiar with fairs of the Leipzig, Brussels and Paris type.

However, applications also have come from eastern Europe, Canada, Latin America, India, Japan, Africa and the Near East.

First Construction In Ridgela Terrace Due To Begin This Week

Construction is to start this week on the first of some 30 residences in the Ridgela Terrace addition, Charles Ridd, developer, announced Saturday.

Several houses are to be completed within four or five weeks, Ridd stated. They are to be constructed under section 561 of the Servicemen's Readjustment act and will carry 100 per cent loans for World War II veterans.

Ground clearing and leveling crews have been working in the area just north of the baseball park for the past week, preparing ground for the development. Plans for the addition, showing 53 residential lots, was approved by the city commission several weeks ago.

Ridgela Terrace is to have two circular drives. One of them has been named Caylor Drive, honoring H. W. Caylor, pioneer rancher and painter in the Big Spring area.

Rudd, who recently moved to Big Spring from Midland where he developed similar housing projects, is to maintain a field office at the site of construction.

Dairymen Plan Organization At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, March 18. — Organization of dairymen in the Wichita Falls area is expected Monday night. A meeting was called by several milk producers.

The organization is expected to be affiliated with the North Texas Producers Association, attempting to organize at least 75 per cent of the dairymen in North Texas.

The object is to present a united front in negotiating with milk distributors. Association meetings have been held this week in Denton and Cleburne.

A group of 22 Wichita Falls area milk producers attended the Cleburne meeting last night. They set up a tentative organization, which is expected to be completed Monday. Rufus King was elected temporary chairman of the Wichita Falls group.

We say FREEZING is the modern way to preserve

It's easier! It's cooler! It's quicker!

NO hot-water bath!

NO vigorous boiling for hours!

NO scalding of jars, rubbers and lids!

NO cooling jars to watch and turn!

Some day you'll wonder why you ever stood over a hot stove for hours to preserve, when it's so easy with a home freezer.

Just picture yourself preserving this modern, easier way:

1. You seal your vegetables.
2. Pack and seal them in sanitary, airtight containers.
3. Put them in your home freezer! And that's all!

We have the General Electric Home Freezer that's roomy enough to hold 200 pounds of food. There's also a smaller model—6-cu-ft.—that holds 100 pounds. You can preserve foods the year round—and keep them delicious and fresh up to a year.

General Electric Home Freezers Available in 4, 8, and 11 cu. ft. models. Immediate delivery.

General Electric Home Freezer $219
And Up
$21 Down—$2 Week

THE GE Home Freezer is, we think, the smartest home freezer you can buy. We say this after making comparisons throughout the field.

For one thing, it's dependable. In the General Electric Home Freezer is the very same type refrigerating system used in the General Electric Refrigerator. And, more than 1,700,000 of these systems have been in use ten years or longer.

The General Electric cabinet is called the "Frost Seal." Repeated laboratory tests have proved that the cabinet keeps food frozen for several days after the current has been shut off.

After all, we don't have to sell you on the General Electric name. You probably have as much faith in this great electrical organization as we have.

With the General Electric Home Freezer, you get a written five-year protection plan, consisting of a one-year warranty against defective material or workmanship—plus an additional four-year protection on the sealed-in refrigerating system.

Remember, when you're buying a home freezer you're making a long-term investment. So invest in the best. Invest in a dependable, proved General Electric Home Freezer.

You may see our convenient Payment Plan to purchase your new GE Home Freezer.

CHAMPIONS — Darrell Robinson, 14-year old R-Bar 4-H club boy, holds his champion 780-pound steer after taking the title at the 13th annual Howard county club boy show here last Wednesday. In the sale Thursday evening, the steer brought $1.25 per pound. In winning, Darrell's steer edged one fed by Bobby Powell, Coahoma FFA feeder. Durward Lawler, county agent whose boys had had an outstanding year, smiles at the last of his champion feeders for the spring season.

TO SELECT NEW CALVES

4-H Clubbers Get Only Brief Recess

Howard county 4-H club members, who closed their most successful livestock showing season in history last week, will take only a brief recess before starting a new campaign. County Agent Durward Lawler plans to begin helping club members select calves for their next projects within a few days. Lawler said he probably would visit several ranches next week. Prospects are that about 40 calves will be fed in club projects this year. Their first showing date will be at the State Fair of Texas next fall in Dallas. The junior feeders concluded a showing season at the annual Howard County Fat Stock show last week, after winning high honors at expositions in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Amarillo, El Paso, San Angelo, Abilene and Odessa.

Calves for the next showing season must be placed on feed early this spring in order to attain showing condition by the time the next season opens.

During the 1950 feeding season Lawler plans to devote his 4-H activities exclusively to steers, while Jack Waide, assistant agent, will supervise other types of feeding projects. Both the county agent and his assistant will divide time between club work and agricultural programs for adults.

WANTED ON SEVERAL CHARGES

Juarez Nightclubs Watched For Missing Cohen Henchmen

EL PASO, March 18. (AP)—Fleeting Juarez night clubs—just across the border from this Texas city—are being watched closely for two of Mickey Cohen's missing lieutenants. Frank Nicoli, 28, and David M. Ogul, 29, wanted in Los Angeles, Calif., on several charges are believed to be hiding in the vicinity of the Mexican border city. Investigation into Cohen's activities also spread into southern New Mexico. Armed with photographs of the fugitives, Capt. Frank Manning of the El Paso County sheriff's department investigation division, and El Paso Police Detective Bill White prowled the night spots last night in an effort to locate the men. Officers also said they are checking report that Ogul has been killed and buried near Juarez. Cohen sold his fancy clothing store in Los Angeles to post $14,000 bail for Nicoli and Ogul, who vanished last September. Charges against them include conspiracy, assault with deadly weapons and obstructing justice. Sheriff Joe Campbell of El Paso recently conducted a quiet investigation at Las Cruces, 40 miles to the north in New Mexico, at the request of Inspector J. G. Bowers of the detective division of the Los Angeles sheriff's department. He said he was attempting to confirm a report that Cohen was purchasing what was described as a rest home in the southern New Mexico city. El Paso officers were alerted to the possibility Nicoli and Ogul might be in this area "recently." Inspector Bowers called Sheriff Campbell to warn him Nicoli and Ogul had left Tucson headed for a rendezvous with a man described only as an El Paso gambler. A hotel room in El Paso where the meeting reportedly was scheduled was surrounded by five deputies and watched for two days and a night. The men failed to appear. A later report to Captain Manning said that another "local gambler" and the two men and a woman crossed the Zaragoza Bridge from El Paso into Mexico. Nicoli and Ogul, Manning said, did not return. Manning said even later reports indicate the men may have moved farther south to a large hotel in Chihuahua City.

Olden Neyland, Tahoka, and Lester Freeman, Edward Gaddy, William Sturdivant and Earnest Hicks, all from Seagraves, were enlisted in the Army. Neyland, a former serviceman, is to go to Fort Riley, Kans., for assignment. The other four are to go to Fort Ord, Calif., Main station, recruiters said.

Lawler Named To A&M Committee

Durward Lawler, Howard county farm agent has been named chairman of one of 25 special committees recently appointed by the A&M college extension service. The special groups will study ways and means of increasing the effectiveness of the A&M college system during the annual agent's conference this summer in College Station. Lawler heads the range committee. The 25 chairmen, along with extension service officials, have scheduled a meeting at the Seattles hotel here for April 13.

Festival Due To Draw 400

Approximately 400 square dancers from nearly a score of West Texas towns are expected to gather in Big Spring Saturday for the Big Spring Square Dance Festival. The affair, sponsored by the Circle 8 Square Dance club, has been scheduled as a benefit program with all proceeds to go to the high school athletic fund, Oscar Nabors, Circle 8 president, announced. It will be held in the high school gymnasium. Callers for the festival, believed to be on one of the biggest square dance programs ever held in West Texas, are to be selected from surrounding towns. Nabors said. Music will be provided by Jim King and the Caden Playboys, a six-piece orchestra. Dancers and spectators are scheduled to be on hand from Abilene, Albany, Anson, Rotan, Roby, Sweetwater, Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa, Rankin, Monahans, Crane, Odessa, Midland, Coahoma, Stanton, and Garden City. Approximately 250 spectators can be accommodated at the festival, according to Nabors.

Atlanta Papers Announce Merger

ATLANTA, March 18. (AP)—The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Constitution today announced an agreement had been reached for a merger of the two papers. The announcement was made in front page statements published in both papers. The Journal, an afternoon and Sunday paper, has the largest circulation in the South. The Constitution, a morning and Sunday paper, has the next largest circulation. They are the only dailies of general circulation in Atlanta. The announcement was made by Clark Howell, president and publisher of the Constitution Publishing Company, and James M. Cox, chairman of the board of The Atlanta Journal Company.
