Rural Carrier Associate Examination Scheduled

The Lubbock office of the U.S. Postal Service has announced the Rural Carrier Associate examination will be open to the general public beginning December 13, through 17, for the Littlefield Area Eligibility Register.

Offices included in the Littlefield AER are Abernathy, Amherst, Anton, Farwell, Levelland, Littlefield, Morton, Muleshoe, Shallowater, and Sudan.

Interested persons may apply at the Lubbock Personnel Office, 1515 Avenue G.; the Amarillo Personnel Office, 2301 Ross Street; or at one of the offices served by the register during the week of the open announcement.

No applications will be accepted before or after these dates.

A minimum score of 70 points (exclusive of Veteran Preference) on the examination places the applicant's name on a list of eligibles for two years. Names are placed on the hiring list according to the score on the examination.

Veteran preference is granted for employment in the Postal Service. Those with a 10-point or greater compensable service-connected disability are placed on top of the hiring list, in the order of their scores. Other eligibles are listed below this group in rank order.

The general minimum age requirement for positions in the Postal Service is 18 at the time of appointment or a high school graduate.

All applicants must be citizens of or owe allegiance to the United States of America or have been granted permanent resident alien status in the United States. Verification is required.

Rural carriers are required to accept, collect and deliver all classes of mail up to 70 pounds as well as sell stamp supplies and money orders. The rural carriers may have irregular hours.

Salary ranges from $22,780 to $32,725. Rural Carrier Associates are paid at the rate of $10.95 per hour.

Rural carriers must generally provide and maintain their own vehicle, but are given an equipment maintenance allowance.

All applicants will be required to take a written examination. The examination and completion of forms will require approximately two hours and 15 minutes.

Applicants must be drug free, have a valid state drivers license and a safe driving record.

Erosion Problems Must Be Corrected

According to the 1985 and 1990 Farm Bill's major water erosion problems on cropland must be corrected prior to December 1994 to comply with the conservation compliance provisions of the Farm Bill. If these erosion problems are not corrected by December 1994, the farms in question will be ineligible for any USDA benefits. Conservation Reserve Program payments are also tied to these provisions.

One way to correct major water erosion problems is by constructing a terrace. Erosion control and moisture conservation are two big advantages of terraces. By building a terrace, the land is using the water what normally runs off in the form of silt. This water is stored in the soil profile for crop use.

Terraces can be planted to grass or wheat and used as windstrips. Parallel terraces of today are not as big as the old contour broad base terraces built years ago. Today's terraces have steeper side slopes and have about a seven row base width. These terraces are widely spaced in row multiples that fit today's equipment. Diversion terraces work well on steeper slopes where outside water is corrected with a diversion terrace in most cases. A basin terrace is larger than a diversion terrace and is constructed where a parallel system is not feasible. Cost share is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program (GPCP) and Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

For more information on terraces or any other method of erosion control, contact Warren A. Givens, Technician for the Soil

Serve Double Capacity While On Jury Duty

The Bailey County Child Welfare Board is encouraging those individuals who are called to serve on a jury to opt to donate their jury fees to the Bailey County Child Welfare Board.

This innovative approach to fund raising would assist in meeting the need for county dollars to pay for clothing, eyeglasses, transportation, lodging, and other expenses for the children in foster care in Bailey County.

Children's Protective Services is appointed at times to serve as managing conservator of an abused or neglected child, and the county of the child's residence assumes responsibility for his or her care. Fortunately, state and federal dollars pay for the cost of most children's board whether in a foster home or other child care institutions. The state also provides Medicaid insurance to meet most medical needs of these children. What is left uncovered however, are the other expenses associated with raising children. Namely: school supplies, recreational fees, adequate clothing, Christmas gifts, medications not covered by Medicaid, eyeglasses, and other items that mean so much in assisting to make their lives normal. The voluntary donation of juror fees could supplement county dollars and greatly assist in providing a satisfactory standard of living for children already experiencing the trauma of abuse or neglect and separation from their biological families.

The local child welfare board is composed of eight volunteers, who are appointed by the county commissioners to serve as the liaison between the county, the Department of Human Services and the community at large. The board enthusiastically serves because of their strong belief in their mission of assisting children damaged by abuse and neglect.

This approach to raising funds to help needy children has been implemented in several Texas counties with great success. In Rains county, 39 out of 59 jurors donated their pay and in so doing raised $239 the first week. Jefferson county has had great success with this amount also. Although the pay seems meager to a prospective juror, the money quickly adds up.

The board also welcomes donations or memorials at any time, and is grateful to the

Lazbuddie Pheasant Hunt Begins Saturday

The Lazbuddie Volunteer Fire Department's 1993 Pheasant Hunt will open Saturday, December 11 and will run through Sunday, December 26. The fire department encourages everyone to participate in the Pheasant Hunt.

"We believe the pheasant crop to be average to above average in numbers this year," said Nicky Nickels, fire chief. "Area farmers have reported seeing a good many birds as they harvest their crops. The fire department will limit the number of hunters on our hunting preserve to 150 on opening weekend. You may hold your reservation with one third down payment," Nickels continued.

Hunting permits are $75.00 for the full season, December 11-26, and will drop to $50.00 on Monday, December 13, and $25.00 on Monday, December 20.

Each hunter purchasing a permit will be given a map of all the land within the shooting preserve.

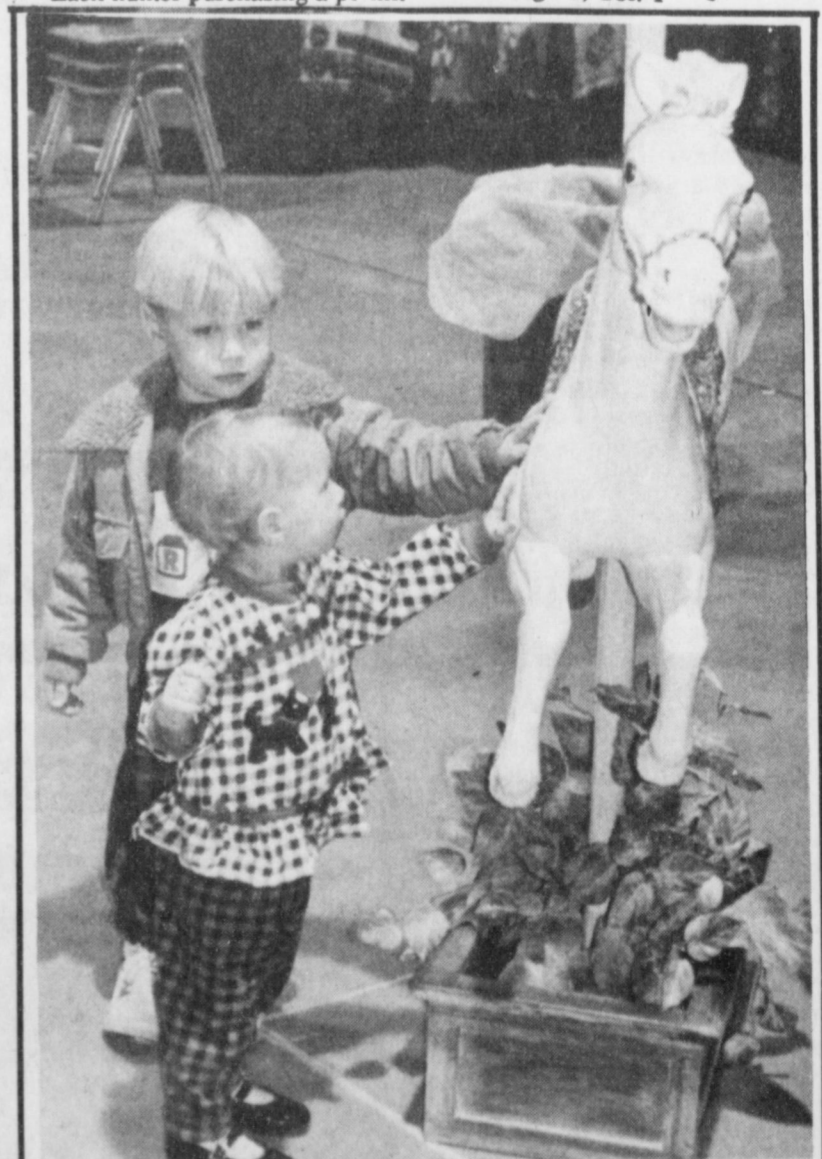

A Texas Hunting License will be required before purchasing a permit. Lazbuddie does not have a business which sells hunting license, so be sure to have your license before opening morning.

The limit is two cocks a day and a total of four in possession. The feet must remain attached till the final destination is reached.

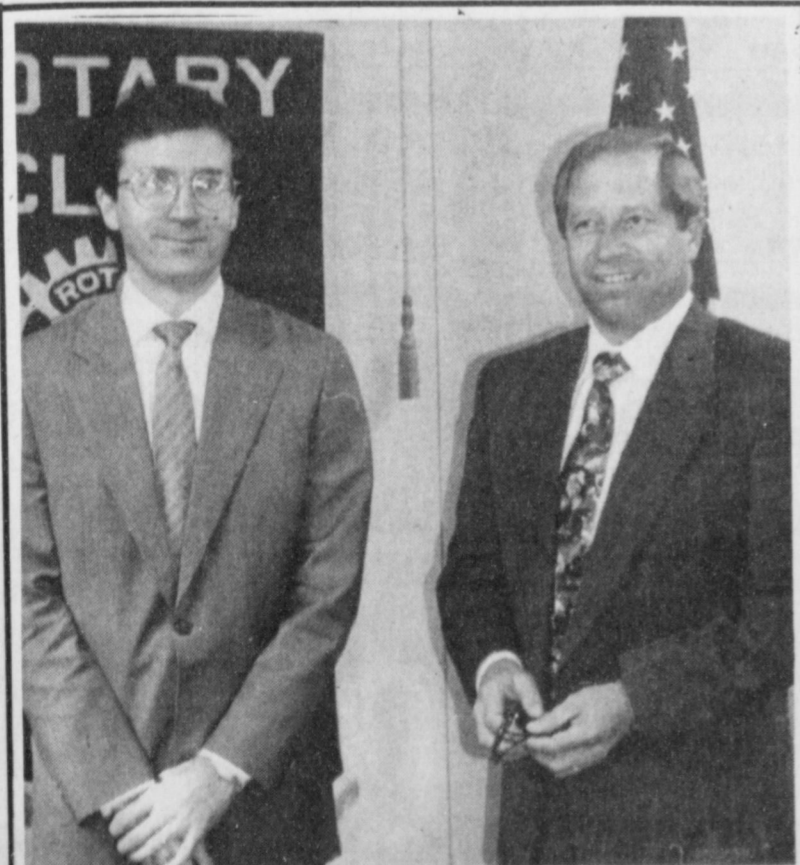

Hunting permits may be purchased at Treider Electric at the Intersection of FM 145 and FM 1172 or Glenn Lust, three miles west and one fourth mile south of Lazbuddie.

The fire department will be serving coffee, cinnamon rolls, and doughnuts, free of charge to those purchasing permits on opening morning from 6-8 a.m. at the

Avoid Accidents By Hunting Safely

Texas, as well as most states, is in the midst of its heaviest hunting pressure of the year now through the end of the holidays, a prime time for hunting accidents to occur by careless hunters.

Most hunting accidents can be avoided by following the rules of shooting safely and by successfully completing the hunter education course, which is mandatory for those born on or after Sept. 2, 1971.

There are several rules to follow while hunting. One of the most often violated rules is not keeping the muzzle pointed in a safe direction at all times. Another common violation is having a loaded firearm in or around vehicles or camp. Hunters also need to be sure of their target before pulling the trigger.

"If you can't identify it, why are you shooting at it?" asks Terry Erwin, recreation coordinator at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "Everything you see and hear in the woods should be considered a human until there's absolutely no doubt. Bird hunters should stick to their 'safe zone-off-fire' and know where their companions are at all times."

Here are some other general tips to remember.

*always point the muzzle in a safe direction, NEVER in someone's direction.

*make sure the firearm is unloaded every time you pick it up.

*unload and put firearms in their case when traveling, separating them from ammunition.

*do not load the firearm until you're in the field and actually hunting; when through hunting, always unload firearm before returning to vehicle or camp.

*use a hauling line to raise and lower unloaded firearms into and out of tower blinds and tree stands.

*keep your finger outside the trigger guard until you're ready to shoot.

*know where your companions are at all times; never swing a gun towards them outside of your safe zone of fire.

*control your emotions by thinking safety first at all times.

*avoid alcohol and drugs before or during a hunt.

Five of six hunting fatalities during the 1992 season occurred because the person had a loaded firearm in or near a vehicle and it went off. The sixth occurred while two people were poaching.

Many more accidents may be avoided by wearing hunter orange clothing, Erwin said. Hunter orange is required in 40 states. In Texas, hunters on wildlife management areas and other public hunting lands must wear at least 400 square inches of hunting orange while hunting, including a minimum of 144 square inches on both chest and back, plus an orange cap or hat. National Forest lands require all hunters and those accompanying them to wear a minimum of 144 square inches on both chest and back plus a cap or hat.

"We recommend that people wear daylight fluorescent orange for the safety factor," Erwin said. "I recommend wearing it at all times while in the field. If it's not on, it's not doing you a bit of good."

If you're absolutely against wearing hunter orange while hunting, at least wear it to and from the stand, said Steve Hall, TPWD education director. "Hunter orange will allow your companion to see you if you get out of position or stray from your hunting plan. Non-hunters also should wear orange if moving about on public lands or in the field during general hunting seasons."

"Hunting is fun, but safe, responsible hunting is even more fun, and it makes good sense," Erwin said. "Hunting is a relatively safe sport, but one accident is too many."

Many Texas hunters have waited to take the mandatory hunter education course and now are panicking because hunting season is here and they haven't taken the course. Also, any big game or upland game bird hunters headed out of state should check to see if they need hunter education certification.

Every Texas hunter born on or after Sept. 2, 1971, must successfully complete a hunter education training course. If you were born on or after Sept. 1, 1971, and you are:

*17 years old or older-you must successfully complete a hunter education course.

*12-16 years old-you must successfully complete a hunter education course or be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 or older.

*under 12 years old-you must be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 or older.

The program is reciprocal with all other states and Canadian provinces. The minimum 10 hour course, which must be scheduled over a minimum of two days, focuses primarily on hunting safety, responsibility, ethics, game laws and a number of other topics. The course costs $5. Certification is not required to purchase a license but the person must carry certification while hunting.

For more information on hunter education, or to check the requirements for other states, call 1-800-253-4536 or (512) 389-4999.

The Better Business Bureau Report

Honest! Craig Shergold is alive and well

Your Better Business Bureau has recently heard that the chain letter to help Craig Shergold make the Guinness Book of World Records is making the rounds again here in the South Plains. Although this appeal to help Craig collect the most business cards is a touching one, it is outdated and is now presenting problems for the boy's family as well as the charity that started it, CHILDREN'S WISH FOUNDATION of Atlanta, Georgia.

In 1989, Craig Shergold was diagnosed as having a brain tumor and given little chance of survival. It was his wish to make the Guinness Book of World Records as the individual who received the most get-well cards. His case was brought to the attention of Children's Wish Foundation, a non-profit organization which tries to fulfill requests of terminally ill children.

The Foundation publicized Craig's request, and as a result, his goal was surpassed. At last count, Craig had received more than 33 million cards from well-wishers. In April, 1990, the Foundation informed the BBB/Atlanta that the campaign had concluded and requested that NO more be sent. Craig underwent surgery in March 1991 resulting in the successful removal of a brain tumor and he is now in good health.

The BBB/South Plains encourages businesses and consumers to check on the authenticity of any charitable appeal before making a decision to give. Call the BBB at 763-0459. In the case of Craig Shergold, save yourselves some time and postage. It's time to break the chain!

Texas Travel Industry Grew From 1991-1992

The Texas travel and tourism industry grew by an estimated $800 million from 1991 to 1992, according to information listed in Texas Travel Facts, a quick reference guide to statistics and current travel trends in Texas. Texas Travel Facts is distributed by the Texas Department of Commerce Tourism Division.

In the 1992 calendar year, total travel expenditures in Texas were $21.4 billion, an increase from $20.6 billion in 1991, and represents a 5.9 percent gain over the previous year. Of the $21.4 billion expenditures during 1992, $18.8 billion came from domestic visitor spending, and international visitor spending amounted to $2.6 billion.

Texas was second in the nation, among states, for domestic travel in 1992, with approximately 151 million visitors, an increase of 12 million visitors from 1991.

Another indicator of Texas travel activity is the number of inquiries for Texas travel information. During fiscal year 1992, (September 1-August 31) there were 991,870 inquiries for Texas travel information, which is a 7.6 percent increase over the previous year's total of 921,513 inquiries.

Coupled with the increase in overall expenditures was a one percent increase in employment in the Texas travel industry. An estimated 405,900 persons were employed during 1992, versus 402,100 for 1991, according to figures listed in the guide.

Domestic pleasure travel is far and away the largest component of travel in Texas, accounting for 73 percent of all travel activity in the state. Business travel accounted for 27 percent of all travel in the state during 1992, according to information listed in Texas Travel Facts.

Texas Travel Facts is compiled from information provided by the Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts, DK Shifflet & Associates, the U.S. Travel and Tourism Administration, and the U.S. Travel Data Center.

Two Fathers

"We could well have done without that one."

Oppressed by debts, crushed by the weighty and seemingly impossible chore of putting food into four hungry mouths, the bitter father looked at his distraught wife as he made this sad pronouncement. Tragic words these, but the tragedy was immeasurably heightened by the fact that "that one," a spindly, wispy, sobbing four-year-old girl, was listening behind the door.

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

They were just words, those careless syllables which had leapt unbidden from her daddy's mouth, but their tones reverberated in her little head and brought her small world crashing down. Her father never spoke the same words again, but, in the months and years that followed, those words, often unrecognized consciously even by her, played over and over again in her mind.

I thought of this haunting example of a father's despair and disdain (though I don't remember now where I first heard it) as I was pondering one of Jesus' most touching portrayals of his Father's love.

How much does God love his children? Just as much as the shepherd in the parable of the lost sheep, a shepherd who owns one hundred sheep. Ninety-nine of these sheep, each of whom the shepherd could lovingly call by name, are safe, but one is lost.

What does the shepherd do? He searches with all his might for that one lost sheep, and when it is found he shouts for joy and calls for his friends to share in his happiness.

Such, Jesus says, is the love of God for his lost children.

"Just so, I tell you, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous persons who need no repentance" (Luke 15:7).

"We could well have done without that one."

That's a statement no one will ever hear from the lips of his heavenly Father. As someone has said, God loves each one of his children just as if there were only one of us to love.

Curtis Shelburne is the minister of the 16th and Ave. D. Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

Texas Dept. of Transportation News

Keep your holiday safe--don't wreck your life.

December is Drunk and Drugged Driving Prevention Month. Every year, the holiday season ends in tragedy for some, tragedy that is avoidable.

Last December, 90 people were killed on Texas roads in alcohol-related crashes. This year, the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) wants that number to drop by at least 5 percent.

"Of course, we'd like to see that number be a zero," said Gary Trietsch, director of TxDOT's Traffic Operations Division. "But every year, people who don't normally drink are going to parties and drinking more alcohol than they're accustomed to. Unintentionally, they become impaired drivers--and that's when they endanger themselves and others."

The safety message for TxDOT's December campaign is, "Texans Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk." The message encourages others to be responsible for themselves and others.

"If you are going to drink, know how to get home safely, by designating a sober driver, catching a cab, or calling a relative or friend to drive you home," said Trietsch. "Don't let your friends drive home if they've been drinking. They may not appreciate your intervening at the time, but they'll live to thank you the next day."

In the United States, traffic crashes are the greatest single cause of death for people ages 6-33. Impaired drivers are responsible for half of these accidents.

After a decade of the combined efforts of TxDOT, the news media and many other organizations and volunteers, Texas has had a 32 percent decrease in the number of people who die in alcohol-related crashes during December.

"The holiday season is a time of giving thanks for all the good things--family, friends and health," said Trietsch. "A crash caused by someone under the influence of alcohol or drugs destroys that celebration. Our message to all of Texas is, 'Enjoy the season and don't wreck your life.'"

Turkey's Gone, Bring On Christmas

by Lyndal Waldrop
TPWD News Editor

Now that Thanksgiving has come and gone, Christmas stuff may officially begin. Being one filled with the Christmas spirit, I appreciate good holiday music. I also enjoy the outdoors.

'Tis the season for a new version of an old Christmas jingle. This one is called the 12 Days of Christmas-the Outdoor Version. (You have to provide your own harmony.)

"On the first day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the second day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, two mourning doves (in season of course), and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the third day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, three cock pheasants (in possession) two mourning doves, and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the fourth day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, four mallard drakes (not in one day), three cock pheasants, two mourning doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the fifth day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, five golden retrievers (you have to say retrievers pretty fast or the song won't work), four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves, and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the sixth day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, six Canada geese (among a few hunters), five golden retrievers, four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the seventh day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, seven sandhill cranes (between at least three hunters), six Canada geese, five golden retrievers, four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the eighth day of Christmas, (this is a long song, isn't it?) my bird dog gave to me eight bird dogs nursing, seven sandhill cranes, six Canada geese, five golden retrievers, four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the Ninth day of Christmas my bird dog gave to me, nine wives waiting (usually not to welcome us home), eight bird dogs nursing, seven sandhill cranes, six Canada geese, five golden retrievers, four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the tenth day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, a 10-point whitetail (with two huge drop tines and a massive spread), nine wives waiting, eight bird dogs nursing, seven sandhill cranes, six Canada geese, five golden retrievers, four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the eleventh day of Christmas, my bird dog gave to me, 11 game wardens chasing (I have my license here somewhere), a 10 point whitetail, nine wives waiting, eight bird dogs nursing, seven sandhill cranes, six Canada geese, five golden retrievers, four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

"On the twelfth day of Christmas my bird dog gave to me, a new 12 gauge shotgun (with all the shooting going on in this song, the other one's worn out), 11 game wardens chasing, a 10-point whitetail, nine wives waiting, eight bird dogs nursing, seven sandhill cranes, six Canada geese, five golden retrievers, four mallard drakes, three cock pheasants, two mourning doves, and a bobwhite in a mesquite."

Well, that's it. I don't think Garth Brooks has anything to worry about, but if there were any more days of Christmas, I'd have to buy more shells. Jingle bells, shotgun shells...

"Past Time Favorites"

Schaefer Video Home Services (SVHS) is proud to announce the release of an exciting new video series, "Past Time Favorites," an interesting and entertaining collection of 17 tapes covering each of the pivotal years from 1950 through 1967. A portion of proceeds from the sales of this series will be used to support the education and information services of the Missing Children...HELP Center, a Division of the National Child Safety Council.

"Past Time Favorites" recaps year by year the decades of the 1950s and 1960s. What were the major news stories and the latest in sports, fashions and entertainment? What were the newest technological advances of the time? Through a unique combination of original color and black and white film, each captivating edition of "Past Time Favorites" serves as a nostalgic video greeting card for all occasions. (Running time of each is approximately 45 minutes.) Each entertaining episode answers the questions of what was going on in your special year...the year you were born, married or perhaps graduated from high school or college.

In 1945, with Europe and Japan in shambles, America embarked on a spending frenzy that would fuel our economy like no other period in our history. America would quickly leave behind the hardships of the war and the Great Depression and sail into the fabulous 50s where everything was right with our world. The 1950s would give us Elvis, Ike, Korea, the Cold War, Baby Boomers and economic prosperity.

The innocence of the 1950s quickly gave way to the turbulent 1960s when America plunged into Vietnam, campus unrest and the assassination of John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King, and Bobby Kennedy. "Past Time Favorites" captures many of the historical events that shaped our lives from 1950 to 1967.

"These films certainly spark more than a memory...they really take one back in time," says Ivana DiNova, executive director and founder of the Missing Children...HELP Center. "We need more of these subtle, good feelings," she adds.

Each edition of "Past Time Favorites" contains pertinent information and helpful tips on child safety from the Missing Children...HELP Center. The contribution from your purchase will help promote their good work and aid the center in finding some of our missing children.

To order your special year of "Past Time Favorites" please send $19.95 per year ordered plus $2.00 postage and handling to SVHS, 7753 Fulton Dr. N.W., Massillon, Ohio 44646. Be sure to specify the year you want (1950 through 1967). Christmas delivery guaranteed if ordered by December 12, 1993.

A Happier Home For The Holidays

Children look forward to the holidays with a sense of eager anticipation. Their shining faces remind us that there is indeed something magic about this time of year. Families seem to draw just a little closer, and we're all a bit more inclined to count our blessings. In keeping with this holiday spirit, I'd like to remind you that children desperately need and deserve the love and support of both parents-not just during the holidays, but all year round.

If you're a parent who has fallen behind in your court-ordered child support payments, or are the father of a child for whom paternity has never been legally established, make an early New Year's resolution to do something about it. My staff is ready to help you. It is the single most important thing that you'll ever do for your child, or for yourself. The rewards will last long after the holiday decorations have been put away and the new toys forgotten. I must also remind you that failure to pay child support is a crime and the worst offenders may be put in jail.

WTAMU To Host Variety Of Holiday Happenings

Santa has begun to pack his bag of goodies for his famed world-wide tour, and that bag includes many exciting holiday happenings and several special appearances, on the campus of West Texas A&M University.

The University's holiday season kicked off at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec 1 with the annual Carol of Lights on the lawn west of the Jack B. Kelley Student Center. The evening, sponsored by the Residence Hall Association, included caroling with the WTAMU choral program and lighting of the campus for the holiday season. The event culminated with cookies and hot cocoa sponsored by the WTAMU Foundation in the Second Floor Foyer of Old Main and featured a special seasonal guest for those who wished to bring their wish lists.

Friday, Dec. 3 featured a couple of events for holiday revelers. The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum once again hosted their Victorian Christmas Open House at the museum. The open house featured an elaborately decorated Victorian Christmas tree, an antique sleigh with a visitor from the north Pole and the traditional "coming alive" of Pioneer Town, all decked out for the Christmas season.

After enjoying the holiday splendor at the museum, holiday sojourners made their way across campus to Mary Moody Northern Recital Hall to enjoy the annual Christmas concert performed by the University choirs and orchestra.

A highlight of the University's holiday celebration took place December 4. Noble lords and ladies donned their 16th century (or 20th century if you preferred) holiday finery to begin the 11th annual Madrigal Dinner, sponsored by the Office of Student Activities and the Sybil B. Harrington College of Fine Arts and Humanities. The gathering began with the traditional wassail bowl in the Main Dining Hall. The great holiday feast began with guests enjoying the renaissance sounds of the madrigal singers and the Matilda Guame Early Music Concert.

Lunch goes in the JBKSC on Thursday, Dec. 9 will be treated to the "Sounds of Christmas" performed by the Randall High School show choir "Bravo!" The Munch 'n' More program will begin at 12:20 p.m. in the Commons Area.

For many WTAMU students, nothing in Santa's bag could be more inviting than the event that

WORLD AIDS DAY-Wednesday, December 1, 1993 was designated as World Aids Awareness Day. People across the country and around the world were wearing red ribbons as part of a global effort to increase awareness about this deadly virus. In recognition of this day, students from the Texas Migrant Council are shown hanging red ribbons on a tree in front of the Bailey County Courthouse. (Journal photo) will take place Friday, Dec. 17. Winter commencement ceremonies will be conducted at 7 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center's Cal Farley Coliseum. The ceremonies add a special touch of holiday cheer to the University's Christmas celebration. All events are free and open to the public.

The bells will be on display at the Library through the month of December. Nadine and husband Wesley, Muleshoe residents, have three daughters and 8 grandchildren.

Area Host Families Needed For Teens

Foreign high school students will be arriving soon in the Muleshoe area for homestays, and the sponsoring organization urgently needs a few more local host families for their upcoming second semester programs.

According to Pacific Inter-cultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, have their own spending money, are fully insured and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. P.I.E. currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the "perfect match". As there are no "typical" host families, P.I.E. can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a large family.

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50.00 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax

Small Doesn't Mean Necessarily Week

How such a small insect with nothing more than a fleeting life span can cause so much damage to a crop, is a question sorghum growers have been asking themselves for the past 20 years.

The sorghum midge is one insect that has crossed the economic threshold, able to cause a level of injury that creates a direct economic loss to the sorghum grower.

Research being done at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock has been targeting ways of controlling the midge.

Following mating, the female midge begins her wrath upon the sorghum crop. The female immediately begins to look for receptive florets to lay her eggs. Sorghum is only receptive when it is flowering, or during anthesis.

Once an egg is deposited and hatched, an immature larvae begins to develop. It will take between 14 and 20 days to fully mature.

The growing larvae feeds on the developing sorghum kernel and eventually causes aborted kernel development, said Dr. Gary Peterson. Peterson is an associate professor of grain sorghum with the Experiment Station at Lubbock.

The most common method of controlling the midge involves the use of insecticides. It is also the most expensive.

Peterson said a field having midge will have to be sprayed three to four times and each of these applications costs the producer not only time, but also money.

Another method of control is uniform planting. Peterson said this is somewhat effective because it doesn't allow a midge population to build up.

Peterson's goal is to develop midge resistant hybrids and therefore greatly reduce the need for spraying.

"The problem with midge resistant hybrids is that resistant sources are so difficult to work with," said Peterson.

He said that the inheritance of resistance is quantitative and therefore controlled by many genes. Thus obtaining midge resistance requires resistance in both the male and female plants.

Other problems include developing females with good yield potential and seed set under midge infestation, said Peterson.

Peterson has been investigating midge resistance for the past 11 years and the Texas Grain Sorghum Board has been supporting the program for the last three and a half years.

Research is conducted in three primary locations across the state. Besides Peterson's base in Lubbock, research devoted to the problem is conducted in College Station and Corpus Christi.

"In many cases, it's a matter of taking two steps forward and one step back," says Peterson. "You have to have all of the other things in a hybrid in addition to midge resistance."

Although midge live for only a few short hours, they manage to cause a lifetime of damage.

Disabled Veterans To Receive

Benefits Increase

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has announced that disabled veterans will receive a 2.6 percent increase in their compensation payments.

The cost-of-living allowance was included in legislation signed by President Clinton on Veterans Day, Nov. 11. Veterans will begin receiving the higher payments in their January 1994 checks.

Almost 2.2 million veterans are affected by the increase. Their monthly payments will now range from $87 for a single veteran with a 10 percent disability rating to $1,774 for a single veteran with a 100 percent disability rating.

Also affected are more than 340,000 survivors of veterans or service members who died from service-connected causes.

Veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated 30 percent or higher may receive additional allowances for dependents, based on the number of dependents and extent of disability.

CCAD Makes Christmas Sacks For Elderly

The holiday season is upon us and for most, this is a special time of closeness to spend with family and friends. A time to be thankful for what we have. A time for celebration. Of course, this is not true of everyone's situation. Especially when it comes to the needy, elderly and disabled. All too often this part of our community spends Christmas alone, with very little celebration. Yet, there are some individuals who are trying to make this holiday season brighter for some of these people in our community.

Debbie White, a community services caseworker for the aged and disabled, and Polly Otwell, a volunteer for CCAD services, are putting together Christmas sacks for 25 needy, elderly and disabled clients of the Texas Department of Human Services.

The sacks will contain personal care and household items and will be delivered shortly before Christmas. However, in order to make these sacks possible, donations will be needed from the Muleshoe community.

Items needed include: hand lotion, shampoo, bath soap, dish soap, dish rags, powdered cleansers, deodorant, band aids, light bulbs, toothpaste, toothbrushes, fruit and hard candy.

For more information on how you can spread this season's holiday celebration to others, contact Polly Otwell at 272-3163.

If You're Behind In Your Payments

It is in your best interest, as well as your child's, for you to pay your delinquent child support voluntarily. If your payments are made through the OAG, call your nearest regional Child Support office for help. We cannot reduce the amount of your accrued court-ordered child support, but we can work with you to establish a reasonable plan for paying off your arrears. Unemployment and illness do not excuse or reduce the amount of child support owed, but my staff will certainly take those factors into consideration (as will most judges) if you are making a good faith effort to meet your obligation. Again, by seeking to settle your delinquency voluntarily, you may save yourself the added expenses of attorney's fees and court costs that would result from a contempt action being filed against you. We're here to help. If you have any questions, or if you need assistance with a child support matter, call the OAG Child Support Enforcement Division at 1-800-252-3515.

Christmas Time!

Christmas this year is on Saturday (the Jewish sabbath), the fifth day of winter, and but three days from full moon.

Cards and gifts which don't reach their destination by the 24th probably won't be delivered until the 27th. Stores normally open the day after Christmas may be closed this year on the 26th, a Sunday.

Readers are advised to shop early, prepare in advance for the holidays, and avoid the Christmas rush.

To do this is to enjoy to the maximum the spirit of Christmas, its magic for little ones, and the true meaning of the year's greatest holiday observance.

A VITAL PART

A stop watch is a vital part in many sports. For instance, in track man races against time. The stop watch has enabled us to compare racers of one generation with that of another. In football it is a race to end up with the highest score when time runs out.

The Church is a vital part in man's life. The Church offers comfort, love, peace, and understanding. Just as we wouldn't leave the watch out of football, don't leave out the vital part in the greater things of life.

ATTEND CHURCH REGULARLY

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by living his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, one should support the point of view, the welfare of Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

News From Congressman Larry Combest

U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) insists that Congress provide the meaningful cuts in spending that he and his constituents continue to demand. Instead of voting for what Combest referred to as the continued "smoke and mirrors" of the proposed plans, the congressman supports an across the board spending freeze. However, the majority in control of Congress would not allow consideration of an overall spending freeze. The congressman noted that the package of spending cuts was promised by President Clinton in exchange for passage of the largest tax increase in history, but the spending reductions are far less than expected. Combest added that the Senate will not have time to act on any spending reductions because they have adjourned until January.

"In an effort to wind up this session of Congress and go home saying that they voted on issues of real concern to their constituents, Congress has once again failed to come up with meaningful action," said Combest. "This bag of so-called budget cuts is full of inconsistencies and false numbers. I have always told the people of my district that the most honest and workable way to lower government spending is a freeze across the board. I will continue to support that concept."

Combest pointed out that instead of cutting the deficit, any savings will actually be used to pay for new spending. The proposed packages also inflate the savings by counting projects already cut from the budget, such as the honey, wool and mohair subsidies.

Combest was specific about eliminating spending such as the $13 billion foreign aid budget as well as $331 million dollar AMTRAK subsidies, the $170 million dollar budget for the National Endowments for the Arts and eliminating $48 million for the National Endowment for Democracy, to name just a few. Combest also supported the

Staying Healthy During The Christmas Holidays

Holidays do not have to be hazardous for those who have recently adopted healthier lifestyles. New habits of eating foods lower in fat and exercising regularly can help you survive the temptations of holiday parties and the stresses of holiday preparations, said Dr. John Foreyt, director of the DeBakey Heart Center's Nutrition Research Clinic.

low-fat eating habits is all most people need to survive the holidays without sabotaging a healthy lifestyle," Foreyt said.

The DeBakey Heart Center is a joint program of Baylor College of Medicine and The Methodist Hospital supporting cardiovascular research, treatment and education.

"Renewing your commitment to eating less fat and planning ahead for holiday detours can keep you on the track of a healthier lifestyle," Foreyt said.

A behavioral psychologist and professor at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Foreyt offers these tips for maintaining healthy habits during the holidays.

- Remember that many "party" foods are high in fat. Survey the refreshments and exercise your right to choose those lower in fat.

- Look ahead on your calendar. Acknowledge that you may consume more fat and total calories at a party or holiday meal than in your usual daily meals. Reduce the fat content of your meals on the days before the party to compensate.

- Do not skip meals. Eat a light, healthy snack or supper before going to an evening party. If you do not feel hungry, fat-laden foods will not be as appealing.

- Limit alcohol consumption. Try alternating an alcoholic beverage with a glass of water. While alcohol is not high in fat, it can make you feel hungry and create cravings for foods you would not ordinarily eat.

- Use your knowledge of healthy eating and food preparation to make family holiday treats healthier. Substitute low-fat ingredients when you can and cook without adding fat.

- Stick to your exercise routine. As holiday preparations and celebrations crowd calendars, taking time for daily exercise can be difficult. Try to combine exercise with holiday activities by walking the children on a walk around the neighborhood to view decorations.

"Empowering yourself to maintain a lifestyle by sticking to an exercise routine and continuing elimination of $1.6 billion five-year funding to develop a new rocket motor for the space shuttle.

Congressman Combest supports reducing the rate of spending to two percent, with the exception of Medicare, Social Security, Head Start, military and veteran's benefits, civil service retirement and interest on the national debt. By holding spending to two percent, the deficit would be reduced by $136 billion in five years and in seven years there would be $351 billion in savings.

The deficit (the amount the federal government overspends each budget year) is currently $255 billion. The debt that has accumulated from deficit spending is currently $4.3 trillion. In the 1993 budget year, the interest on that debt was $213 billion.

Healthy Eating

As we have seen in recent weeks, many Americans have been attracted in recent years to ancient Chinese methods of healing, treatment and proper diet.

Many who try every new theory have looked into Chinese traditions. We have mentioned some foods the Chinese believe help certain body organs. They additionally believe celery acts on the stomach and liver, carrots on the lungs and spleen, eggplant on the spleen and kidneys, etc.

They also believe certain foods are best eaten at different times of the year. Next week: winter foods.

The real art of living includes the art of loafing.

TDA Inspected Christmas Trees For Pine Beetles

The Texas Department of Agriculture has again conducted random inspections of live and cut Christmas trees at retail and wholesale outlets throughout the state, Commissioner Rick Perry said. The inspections are aimed at protecting Texas Christmas trees, tree nurseries and the state's timber industry from the pine shoot beetle, which could cause severe economic losses if allowed to enter the state.

"We have a growing Christmas tree industry that contributes about $17 million to the state's economy," Perry said. "We must protect the nursery and forestry industries from outside pests, and we want to assure consumers they are getting quality products."

Wreaths, logs and other ornamental foliage and timber products will also be inspected. The destructive beetle, which has wrecked economic havoc in parts of the Northeast, was discovered in July 1992 on an Ohio Christmas tree farm. It has since been located in Illinois, Michigan, New York, and Pennsylvania.

To prevent the spread of the beetle, the U.S. Department of Agriculture issued a federal quarantine on Nov. 13, 1992 that forbids the interstate shipment from these six states of trees or foliage unless they have been inspected and certified pest-free by federal or state inspectors. TDA adopted this federal quarantine on July 9.

Under the Pine Shoot Beetle Quarantine, Perry said TDA inspectors will issue stop sale orders on trees and other regulated products from the six infested Northeastern States unless the items have been certified pest-free. Timber products from infested areas are considered pest-free if they have been fumigated and have federal or state certificates attesting to the treatment. If the beetle is found, TDA may also require products to either be returned to their point of origin or destroyed.

The beetle primarily attacks Scotch Pine but also infests white pine and has been detected on fir, larch and other pine species worldwide. Adult beetles feed on pine shoots, killing the shoots, stunting growth, causing deformities, reducing size and occasionally resulting in the loss of the tree or product. It is a major economic pest in much of Europe, Asia and North America. USDA has estimated potential losses nationwide over the next 30 years at $861 million.
