

U. S. Sub Sinks Jap Ships Near Tokyo

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK BY JOE PICKLE

Not over five per cent of the city and county population are yet sufficiently aroused about the nation's war effort to register for civilian defense. This is not speculation. It is a hard, ugly fact. There may be other reasons why many have not turned in their registration blanks, but the unpleasant truth probably is that most people just plain don't care. And that's a pretty sorry come off in these critical times.

Better than 5,000 of the blanks were distributed through the local school system. Not over 350 of them came back. We'd rather not talk about that showing, either.

In fact, we'd rather not talk about a community that has only 700 of 14,000 people who care enough to say by signing a registration form "I am willing to do what I can if and when needed."

And while we are unhappy, we turn to Bro. Burnside and the district WPA office to note that we hear Big Spring is in line to catch it in the neck on a WPA economy move. Catch it because we don't have any army camps right handy, as it comes to us, and we want to tell the powers that be that we are getting fed up on picking on Big Spring every time they want to cut something. We have no objection to standing our part, but we do object to being the suffering hero.

Right now lots of the flower of our youth is being called upon to face shot and shell—to die when the number comes up—to protect rights which in the final analysis mean the right to vote and run our government as we like. The least we can do is to protect that right now by paying poll taxes before Jan. 31.

What's this that comes to our ears about Red Cross can't we spend any of its funds for local welfare? Hope we misunderstand, but in case we didn't, we think it's time that Red Cross come down off its high horse and condescend to serve a few of the people who serve it.

We hope we live to not only see the return of peace, but until that good year when the chamber of commerce banquet, the Boy Scout annual meeting and the football banquet will not all be crowded right together. Perhaps, this is another way of saying we hope to live to be an old man.

Bicycle thefts are increasing at an alarming rate. Many, many months from now when they begin to get popular with adults as a means of conveyance, the theft pace will step up with demand. Consequently, we view with interest the city's study of a system of duplicate tags, one of which would be welded or soldered to the bike frame. Perhaps this would cut down on the losses.

Ninety-six coyotes and 21 bobcats may not seem like a big catch for 10 months to you, but we think that's a mighty fine piece of work Trapper Earl Brownrigg has turned in. One wolf he caught was estimated to have killed 200 sheep in his time. Of course not all these predatory creatures were that destructive, but each may or could have been plenty damaging and money spent in catching them is, we think, money well spent.

We hope the community won't stop with carrying out the chamber of commerce program regarded out by the work committee last week. It had 12 points, and even in time of emergency such as this we think it is a little too modest and conservative . . . or should we say, not aggressive enough.

And, don't forget to turn out for the first sing-song program at the auditorium at 4 p. m. today. You'll find it fun, and find you like to sing when the fellow next to you can't do a bit better than you.

Reds Report Gains In Kalinin Sector

KUIBYSHEV, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Soviet army newspaper Red Star reported today that the Russians had crushed the German rearguard on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow and had obliged the main land force to accept battle on hastily-prepared positions. The Germans tried to break away from the Russian pursuit, the paper said, and organize a retreat to a planned defense line, but the swift Russian advance overtook them. The Nazis launched strong counterattacks with tanks, backed by a screen of artillery and mortar fire, the newspaper continued, but the Russian offensive continued, leaving the enemy no time to improve his positions.

Navy Downs 27th Vessel

By The Associated Press
A United States submarine has carried the war to the stronghold of the enemy and, in the fleet's most audacious operation of the war to date, has sunk three Japanese merchant ships off Tokyo Bay, the Navy department announced Saturday night.

Coming on the heels of the report on Thursday that an American undersea craft had torpedoed a 17,000-ton enemy liner and yesterday's reported sinking of three transports and two cargo ships, this raised to 27 the total of Japanese ships sunk by U. S. naval or marine action since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The navy's communique gave no details of this latest blow at Japanese shipping, first to see the United States take the war into enemy coastal waters. But it was perhaps no coincidence that in the same communique Washington disclosed officially that Admiral Thomas C. Hart has assumed command at all allied naval forces in the southwest Pacific.

Japanese Threat To Singapore Increases

Word of this newest smash at the Japanese on the sea lanes came at a moment when, in the land fighting, the armies of the Rising Sun were forcing the battle of Malaya and the Philippines into new and more critical stages.

There was no substantiation from British or United-G. H. Q. of Tokyo's most extravagant claims—that in Malaya the troops had penetrated the British defense lines to within 50 miles of Singapore, and that on Luzon Gen. Douglas MacArthur's de-orde forces were cracking under the superior weight of an artillery and plane-supported Japanese offensive.

But the British command in Singapore, 400,000,000 safeguard of the empire, acknowledged that on the western flank the Japanese had broken through to establish a beachhead on the south shore of the Malay river, some 90 miles northwest of the island base. A Tokyo broadcast placed this spearhead well past the river, in the Batu Pahat area, and declared the invaders would be "knocking at the gates" of Singapore within twenty-four hours.

MacArthur's Troops Are Hard Pressed

The war department's report on the situation in the Philippines said only that there was heavy pressure on MacArthur's right flank. It was a laconic reference to a vital struggle, for it is the American-Philippine right flank at the neck of Batan peninsula that guards the coast road leading south toward MacArthur's possible embarkation point at Mariveles and, from there, to the island fortress of Corregidor.

District Court To Open Here Monday

January term of 70th district court will open in Howard county Monday morning, with ampanelling of the grand jury and calling of the civil docket by Judge Cecil Collins.

District Attorney Martelle McDonald indicated that work of the grand jury would cover a variety of cases, but if anything sensational is brewing it is secret. The term will continue four weeks.

Five Killed And 21 Hurt In Train Wreck

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 17 (AP)—Twenty-one persons remained in hospitals for treatment today as a result of a head-on collision between a passenger train and a switch engine at Perla, Ark., that brought death to five men late yesterday.

Speaker For CC Dinner Has Remarkable Record

A man who has crowded about as much into 43 years of life as is possible, and who now is handling a big job with an air transport company in a time of great demands on it, will speak at the annual chamber of commerce banquet here Friday evening. He is Hollis Thompson, regional vice-president of American Airlines and who has headquarters in Los Angeles, Calif. Tickets for the affair are just now going on sale. Saturday E. Reagan, a member of the organization since it was founded, bought the first pair of tickets. This week the sale will be pushed and possibly 300 or more will be at the banquet Friday evening. The program committee probably will complete its work Monday, it was indicated. Knowing that it takes time to serve a large group, the aim of the committee reported by brevity. Thompson will come here Friday for his appointment. A graduate of the University of California, he was in YMCA work before serving as cashier of a bank in Berkeley. Later he became head of the Berkeley chamber of commerce and in 1930 was made its city manager, serving in that post until two years ago to become a vice-president for American Airlines. Under three governors he was named director of the first district agricultural association in California, was a member of the Golden Gate Exposition commission, has been active in a score of other things including the American Legion, the Elks, Kiwanis club and the Masonic order.

'Apoplexy' Is Fatal To Top Nazi General

Von Reichenau Is Reported Dead By German Broadcasts

BERLIN, Jan. 17. (Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—Field Marshal General Walter von Reichenau, who since June 23 had commanded a German army on the southern wing of the sweep into the Ukraine, has fallen to a fatal stroke of apoplexy while returning from the eastern front, said an announcement today.

(The death of von Reichenau will involve a further reorganization of German high command, which undoubtedly reports say has been underway since the removal on Dec. 19 of the commander-in-chief, Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch and the personal ascendancy of Adolf Hitler as supreme commander.)

(Practically every high German general is involved in the shake-up, according to the various rumors, some of which claim well-posted agents on the continent as their source.)

(Von Reichenau was a protégé of Marshal Werner von Blomberg, who was ousted as minister of war in 1938 ostensibly because of an injudicious marriage but reportedly because of a split in the high command over the advisability of invading Austria—a coup which Adolf Hitler carried through soon after.)

Scout Leaders Plan Rally To Climax Meet

Boy Scout leaders of the Buffalo Trail council will climax their annual meeting here Thursday with a giant patriotic rally which is expected to attract 1,500 people to the municipal auditorium.

For the occasion, Jeff Williams, Chickasha, Okla., famed Southwestern orator and inspirational talker, has been secured as the speaker of the evening. Widely known particularly among Rotary circles, Williams is expected to attract visitors from a wide area. Meetings, efforts are being pushed here to have a big crowd to hear his timely message.

Body Taken From Plane In Abilene Lake

ABILENE, Jan. 17 (AP)—After day-long rescue operations, Army and Navy men tonight recovered one of the bodies of two Army, Okla., brothers—one in the Army and the other in the Navy—killed in the plunge of a Navy plane into Fort Phantom Hill lake near here.

G. W. E. Smith of Jonesboro, Ark., diver from the naval base at Corpus Christi, removed the body of Corporal Paul Letellier, 24, from the sunken ship at nightfall.

Still sought by Navy divers and the 120th engineers operations force was the body of James Letellier, 30, U. S. Navy pilot, Washington, D. C., who was piloting the Navy amphibian when it overturned in a landing attempt yesterday.

Ships Collide Off Jersey, One Sinks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Two American freighters collided off the New Jersey coast tonight, the navy department announced, one of them sinking and the other catching fire.

The United Fruit steamer San Jose, of 3,358 gross tons, was sunk. The 7,500-ton Santa Elias of the Grace Line, built only last year, was ablaze off Atlantic City, N. J. Survivors from the San Jose were picked up by the merchant steamer Welbart, and Charles L. O'Connor.

Allied Troops Win Halfaya Pass

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 17. (AP)—British imperials, Poles and Free French have won Halfaya Pass and thereby gained a direct route of supply to speed their drive toward Tripolitania for a showdown with the axis in North Africa. The unconditional surrender of the 5,500 axis defenders of the "Hellfire" canyon shorted through the coastal escarpment on the Egyptian-Libyan border yesterday morning was announced by the British today. It rubbed out the last German-Italian land short of the Gulf of Sirte, 300 miles to the west.

Carole Lombard, 21 Others Die In Crash Of Huge Airlines Ship

Man Stables His Rubber Horses

Boy, fetch the gentleman's spares!

This might have been the desk clerk's call to the bellboy Friday evening when J. Schults, Houston cotton buyer, put in for the night.

Schults happened to be one of those fortunate souls who owns two spares. But he also happens to be one of those unfortunate souls who must travel a great deal without any priority ratings. Because he has to make sure his three last as long as humanly possible he was taking no chances—so he removed the spares and took them to his room at the hotel.

Craft Plows Into Side Of Nevada Peak

15 Air Corps Officers Among Victims Of Week

LAS VEGAS, Nev. Jan. 17 (AP)—Bodies of 22 persons, including breezy, outspoken Carole Lombard, Hollywood movie star, were found scattered for hundreds of yards today on the slopes of Table Mountain, 35 miles southwest of here where a TWA passenger plane crashed last night, killing everybody aboard.

Horseback searchers found the bodies and wreckage of the Los Angeles-bound plane. It plunged against the 8500-foot mountain soon after take-off here at 7:07 p. m. under clear skies.

Killed with actress Lombard were her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peters, Otto Winkler, M-G-M studio publicity man, Mrs. Lois Hamilton of Detroit, three plane crew members and 15 officers and men of the air corps' Long Beach, Calif., ferrying command.

Film Star Clark Gable, husband of Miss Lombard, flew here early today from Hollywood. The distraught actor paced a hotel room for hours awaiting word from searchers and finally set off soon after noon with Sheriff M. E. Ward for the almost inaccessible crash scene.

Word of finding the bodies, however, met Gable on his trip and he returned heartbroken to his hotel.

The bodies will have to be brought out by horseback and this may require a day or so. A party with extra horses, being rounded up tonight, expected to leave for the crash scene at daylight tomorrow.

The 23-year-old Miss Lombard, formerly Jane Peters of Fort Wayne, Ind., was returning to Hollywood from Indianapolis where on Thursday she sponsored sales of defense bonds totaling nearly $2,000,000. The trip was an actors' committee handling personal appearances to boost bond sales.

Russians Strike At Moshaisk Wedge

LONDON, Jan. 17. (AP)—Striking hard at both the rear and flanks of imperilled Germans before Moscow, the Russians were reported dropping clouds of parachute troops behind the Moshaisk wedge tonight as red forces surged forward in a new smashing gain northwest of the capital.

The parachutists were declared to have virtually cut off the Nazi forces—perhaps 100,000 men—holding Moshaisk, 97 miles west of Moscow.

Last Of Convicts Back In Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Jan. 17. (AP)—The last of 23 convicts who fled Eastman prison near Weldon Wednesday was back behind the bars today with the capture of Carl Anderson, 28, of El Paso.

Agreement Near In Rio Parley

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 17 (AP)—Brazilian Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha said tonight that the conference of American foreign ministers was "near agreement" on accepting the proposal for a new relations—including diplomatic—with the Axis.

A proposal to this effect offered by Mexico, Colombia and Venezuela has been opposed by Argentina.

Aranha, who is chairman of the Pan American conference, told the Associated Press he was surprised the proposal had been published. "I hope to have a statement Monday," he said. "I am not sure we will succeed by Monday but we hope to put it through."

(Acting President Ramon S. Castillo of Argentina told the Associated Press in Buenos Aires that Argentina was prepared to impose rigid restrictions upon Axis nationals and diplomatic representatives to prevent their sabotaging the American war effort. Chile's delegation here declined to throw any light on the subject and the Santiago regime's attitude is not expected to be clarified until debate starts Monday on the resolution sponsored by Colombia, Mexico and Venezuela for a unanimous break with the Axis by all 21 American republics.

Churchill Arrives Safely In England

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Winston Churchill came safely home by flying boat today from his historic trip to the New World, and the happy cries of "Good old Winnie" which welcomed him subdued, for the moment at least, British recrimination over Singapore's plight.

It was apparent that the Prime Minister would lose no time in moving to assuage the distress of both nation and parliament over the humiliating defeats in Malaya. Most of the newspapers looked for some sort of cabinet reconstruction, but their speculation as to its nature was very vague. Major government changes are not now anticipated.

2nd Harding Outpost Test Staked Out

Certainly there was no sign of uneasiness in the joyous scene at London's grimy old Paddington station when Churchill and his entourage arrived by train from Plymouth, the terminus of his flight, in an American-made flying boat, from Bermuda.

Week-ending travelers at once spotted Churchill's familiar deer jacket and nautical cap and descended upon him with un-British abandon. The official welcoming party had to form a bodyguard to clear a path through the cheering crowd, and black hats went flying from ministerial heads in the cheery jostling.

Mrs. Churchill had hurried in from the England-Scotland football match at Wembley to greet her husband. The 60,000 in the stadium roared as mightily cheer when she told them, over the loud-speaker system: "My husband arrived this morning in Plymouth. I have not seen him and I know you will forgive me if I go to him."

With Churchill on the transatlantic trip were Lord Beaverbrook, his minister of supply; admiral of the fleet Sir Dudley Pound; air chief marshal Sir Charles Portal and Sir Charles Wilson, the physician. They flew from the western hemisphere in the four-motored flying-boat Berwick, skippered by Captain J. C. Kelly Rogers of British Airways.

The flight was a well-kept secret. Axis broadcasts have had Churchill in a submarine, enroute to Gibraltar. Once he was in England, however, the censorship's normal guard over the prime minister's specific movements was waived for a time.

Labor Leaders Talk Of Peace Movement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—John L. Lewis called tonight for a joining of the CIO and the AFL under "unified and competent leadership," and met a ready response from President William Green of the AFL.

In an open letter to Green and President Philip Murray of the CIO, Lewis said, "Labor imperatively requires cohesiveness in order to give maximum assistance to the nation in its war effort to defend American liberties and American institutions."

Firemen Called To Minor Blazes

Firemen made a run to a location near the Cooperative Gas on NE 2nd street shortly before midnight Saturday when a trailer was reported on fire. Little damage occurred from the blaze. Friday they had a call to Park Hill to put out a grass fire, but a diligent search failed to reveal the fire. Later they learned a company crew, passing at the time, had extinguished the flames.

Deanna Durbin's Comedy-Romance, 'It Started With Eve,' Plays At Ritz

Western Star In New Radio Serial

DICK FORAN

Hollywood's favorite "outdoor" star, Dick Foran, will sing and act in the 10-24 Ranch, a new type of radio program combining action, melody and romance in a Western ranch setting which will be launched over KBST Monday. The 10-24 Ranch will be heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday thereafter, at 5:45 p. m.

Playing and singing opposite Dick Foran in the three-weekly quarter-hour series will be Martha Mears, in the role of Pretty Peggy Pepper, owner of the ranch on which Foran is the foreman. In the cast too, will be the Pepper Hangers, a cowboy sextet who sing Western ballads as they ought to be sung.

SPECIAL FOR TODAY and MONDAY

QUEEN

Having Motion Picture Academy "Oscars" is proof of their artistry, co-stars Deanna Durbin and Charles Laughton of "It Started With Eve," are said to reach new heights as comedy stars in the feature for today and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

Miss Durbin, winner of a special Academy Award in 1937, and Laughton, who captured an "Oscar" for his title role in "Henry VIII" in 1932, appear together for the first time in the new romantic comedy.

Deanna's nine previous films, particularly the five directed by Henry Kostor, have established her as an accomplished comedienne, as well as a romantic singing star. Laughton's "Ruggles of Red Gap" and other comedy portrayals have proved his ability in the comedy line.

In "It Started With Eve," Miss Durbin is seen as a hatcheck girl who is introduced into a New York multi-millionaire's home as his son's fiancée. As the elderly industrialist, Laughton has essentially a comedy role, but it is also a characterization said to be comparable in artistic fitness to his "Captain Bligh" and other triumphs.

Robert Cummings, probably the screen's most popular leading man today and also one of Hollywood's most apt comedians, appears opposite Miss Durbin. Veteran comedians Guy Kibbee and Walter Catlett, both essaying new types of roles, add to the fun.

Margaret Tallichet is seen as the "other woman" in Cummings' life and the cast also includes Catharine Duncanson, Charles Coleman, Dorothea Kent, Gus Schilling and Irving Bacon.

Story of the new film opens with the aged millionaire on what is believed to be his deathbed. When his son cannot locate his socialite fiancée, whom his father wants to meet, he introduces the hatcheck girl as his "fiancée."

Later, the old man recovers and the son is forced to continue the deception. Romantic comedy complications ensue when the real fiancée arrives and insists on revealing the truth to the father.

Defense Group At Colorado Named

COLORADO CITY, Jan. 17 — A civilian defense committee for Colorado City was announced this week by Mayor J. A. Sadler.

Nat Thomas has accepted the chairmanship of the committee. Other members are Troy Irwin and Jarrod Rirdan.

The committee will work with the civilian defense set-up of Mitchell county.

Dogs Can't Buy Savings Bonds

CLEVELAND, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank is sorry it can't issue a $100 defense bond to "Pal."

M. J. Fleming, president of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank, said "Pal" works for Caesar Moore's filling station and hot dog stand at Loyall, Ky., taking money from customers and giving it to Moore. Often "Pal," a German shepherd dog, gets tips. Keeping these tips until he had sufficient to purchase a bond, Moore sought to have it issued in "Pal's" name.

The bank had to decline, regretfully, because the dog "is not a real person."

The strawberry had its origin in North America, traveled to Europe and finally returned home.

Deanna Again—The lovely little lady who makes nothing but hits scores again in her most delightful and devilish role—she's Deanna Durbin, of course—in a comedy romance called "It Started With Eve." The picture is at the Ritz today and Monday, and other principals in the cast are Robert Cummings and Charles Laughton.

Parachutists—Those daredevils of the new army, the glorifying in a picture playing today and Monday at the Lyric theatre. Dealing with the training of this branch of the service, the film is called "Parachute Battalion," and has such players as William Preston, Nancy Kelly, Paul Kelly, Harry Carey and Edmond O'Brien.

Birthday Program On Radio Today

A radio program marking the opening of the Texas celebration of the Presidents' Birthday is scheduled over a number of stations today, from 12:30 to 1 p. m.

Speakers will include the following civic leaders who are urging Texas response in the celebrations which mean money for the campaign against infantile paralysis: George Waverly Briggs, state chairman; Mrs. Jack Little, president of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. J. Waring Walker, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs; Former Governor W. P. Hobby; Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the Texas supreme court; and Arthur E. Beard, former Texas county chairman.

The broadcast will be over stations WFAX, WOAL, KPRC and WBAF.

Chicagoan To Talk To Underwriters

Big Spring life underwriters will hear an address by E. B. Thurman of Chicago, former vice president of the National Association of Life Underwriters, when they participate along with other north Texas life insurance salesmen in the Dallas session January 23 of the annual tri-city sales congress of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters. It was announced Saturday by Joe Fond, president of the Big Spring Association.

Thurman, who is general agent at Chicago for the New England Mutual Life Insurance company, will be a headliner of a four-man team which will open the tri-city series at Houston January 27, move to San Antonio for an all-day meeting January 28 and then go to Dallas for the first session at the Hotel Adolphus January 29.

Barq's A Superior Beverage

Bottled and Distilled in Howard County by the Barq's Bottling Co. at 1006 W. 3rd in Big Spring, Barq's Root Beer is pure, healthy and refreshing. Sold by all bottle retailers. This firm also bottles Barq's beverages in all fruit flavors.

Toward the end of the 18th century a man by the name of Priestley discovered the method of manufacturing carbonated water, which made possible the great bottling industry in America today. In 1807, a Philadelphia physician named Dr. Physick, found it of value in relieving certain conditions in the treatment of his patients and hired a chemist to prepare it for him to use for that purpose. It was this chemist, Townsend Speakman, by name who had the happy thought of flavoring the water with fruit juices and thus the carbonated bottling and beverage business was born in America.

Today there are over 5,000 bottling plants in America alone, and of the thousands of soft drinks which have been born and died in the past half century, only a few lived to achieve prominence and lasting popularity. Of those which are marketed in Howard County, Barq's seems destined to take its place in this select group. Barq's Root Beer is a superior beverage and sells in its own especially designed bottle. Deliciously refreshing and having its own distinctive taste, it is high in food value, yet not too high to spoil the appetite for regular meals.

The carbonated gas used in bottling it is a direct deterrent to the germs which cause typhoid fever, diphtheria and other serious illnesses. In fact it was this characteristic which caused Dr. Physick to prescribe carbonated water for his patients as early as 1807.

The Barq's Bottling Co. exercises extreme care in a sanitary way, thoroughly sterilizing all bottles and other containers before and after each time used. Ask for Barq's Root Beer and other beverages of the Barq's Bottling Co. at your bottle retailer and enjoy a wholesome, refreshing beverage for only five cents. (adv.)

Parachutists Dramatized In Lyric Picture

For the first time on the screen, Uncle Sam's spectacular new branch of army air service, the parachute infantry, is seen in "Parachute Battalion," featured offering for today and Monday at the Lyric theatre. The picture boasts a four star cast—Robert Preston, Nancy Kelly, Edmond O'Brien and Harry Carey, while the featured players are Buddy Ebsen, Paul Kelly, Richard Cromwell and Robert Barrat.

Depleting the enlistment and training of several young men from varying social strata, and their thrilling adventures, fears, loves and rivalries as they are moulded into the 501st Parachute Battalion, the picture is said to provide audiences with an entirely new and exciting background for its story of romance and adventure.

Harry Carey is the hard-boiled but understanding sergeant chiefly responsible for the boys' training and discipline; Nancy Kelly is his pretty daughter, for whose love Robert Preston and Edmond O'Brien eventually come to blows and come near losing their lives.

Filmed with the aid of real scenes of training activities and parachute jumps at Fort Benning, Georgia, actual home of the nation's parachute corps, the picture is realistic in every detail. Even the studio scenes were made under the technical direction of Captain William Ryder of the U. S. Army.

Scenarioist John Twist collaborated with Captain John H. Fite of the U. S. Army Air Corps in the preparation of the screen play. Leslie Goodwins directed.

Along with its drama "Parachute Battalion" provides a visual life in this branch of the service never before photographed. Its well-fabricated story delves into the emotions of the characters and the psychology behind their behavior as they train and prepare for what might well be the greatest thrill of any man's lifetime—the inevitable first jump from a plane 1800 feet in the air. The production maintains a terrific tempo of suspense throughout.

Naval Reserve Is Wanting Chaplains

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 17.—Now that the United States is at war and the navy is rapidly expanding, several more chaplains are needed at once in the U. S. naval reserve it was announced today at headquarters of the eighth naval district.

Although the duties of navy chaplains are primarily religious, there are additional duties to be performed in connection with the navy's program for the advancement of mental, moral and physical welfare of the officer and enlisted personnel.

Vacancies exist in the district for Protestant ministers of Methodist, Baptist, Disciples of Christ, Presbyterian and United Brethren denominations, and for Roman Catholic priests.

Chaplains in the naval reserve are commissioned lieutenants, (junior grade), from the ages of 24 to 34, and may be commissioned lieutenants if in the age bracket from 35 to 44, the maximum age.

Chaplains are eligible for promotion as are other officers and draw the same pay for like rank and length of service. Lieutenants (junior grade) receive $2,000 a year as base pay plus allowances for subsistence and quarters if they have dependents.

Junior Red Cross Formed At Stanton

STANTON, Jan. 17 (Sp) — A Junior Red Cross, composed of Stanton school children, has been organized under direction of Mrs. J. Morgan Hall.

The production department of the Martin county Red Cross is in full swing under direction of Mrs. Charles Ebersol, county chairman.

A first aid class has been organized with Sam McComb, Big Spring, highway foreman, as instructor. There were 42 persons present for the first meeting.

Akin Simpson Asks Reelection To Pct. 4 Place

Akin Simpson, now serving his first term as precinct 4 commissioner on the county court, Saturday announced his candidacy for reelection with the following statement:

"In announcing as a candidate for commissioner, precinct 4, of Howard county, for a second term, I want to take this opportunity again to thank the people for their help and influence they gave me in my race two years ago.

"I have tried to show my appreciation by handling the duties of the office in a business like way. "I believe the experience I have gained in serving the people will better qualify me as commissioner, and if you believe I merit your consideration, your support and influence will be greatly appreciated."

Farm Groups To Meet Tuesday

An afternoon meeting of rural people is scheduled at the Center Point school house for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, County Agents Lora Farnsworth and O. P. Griffin have announced.

Residents of R-Bar, Center Point, Fairview and Moore communities are invited to attend. Defense subjects will be discussed, including nutrition, food and feed production, defense bonds, and Red Cross. Motion pictures will be shown depicting these subjects. If the meeting is successful, others of a similar nature will be held in other communities, said the county agents.

Shakeup Due In English Cabinet

LONDON, Jan. 17 (Sp)—A "drastic reconstruction" of the Churchill government, with emphasis on the war and colonial offices, was forecast today by informed circles to follow upon the prime minister's return from the United States.

The view in qualified circles is that the prime minister has been "let down" by advisers on the Oriental situation and that immediate cabinet changes are essential because of the setbacks in Malaya.

B. S. Steam Laundry Service Modern

The Big Spring Steam Laundry at 123 W. 1st street, provides Big Spring with high quality laundry service. Phone 17.

Modern laundry owners of the United States are affiliated together in an organization known as the American Institute of Laundering, the purpose of which is to develop better laundry practices. They maintain a million-dollar plant in Joliet, Ill., in which washing formulas, supplies and methods are tested and improved and textiles and fabrics are tested for wear and laundering ability.

The Big Spring Steam Laundry is a member of this organization and as such has access to their findings with the result that this firm's methods represent the last word in laundry practice.

Their rates on various special services for family bundles are also appealing to the discriminating housewives who demand high quality work as well as economy. In fact their's is a complete general laundry service. Their family finish where everything is finished on their Rough Day where flat work is finished and wearing apparel is returned with pieces that require starching are both popular and economical services.

During the period in which a tub of clothing is being washed at the Big Spring Steam Laundry, the water used in each tub is changed from eight to ten times

Lack of equipment is the only hindrance to a widespread terracing program in Howard county this season, according to County Agent O. P. Griffin.

With enough implements, 30,000 acres of farm land could be terraced this season, Griffin says, basing his estimate on the demands farmers are making for terracing aid.

At present, eight of the new whirlwind type tractors drawn by farm tractors are operating. These can cover a half mile per day each. If kept busy, they can cover 15,000 acres in 100 days.

County road equipment is being little used. With repair parts not readily available, the county is obliged to use the machines sparingly.

Griffin is hoping more farmers will buy the new whirlwind terracing machines. Costing only $550, these machines will pay for themselves in less than 100 days of operation, above tractor, fuel and labor costs, he says. Most men hiring out the machines are getting $15 per day, of which $8 will pay cost of tractor operation and labor.

While terracing costs $1 per acre with the machines hired at this rate, Griffin estimates that the increased crop yields the first year, alone will amount to $3.

Farm Work Sheets May Be Changed

The Howard county AAA office is ready to change worksheets for these farmers who are changing sizes of their farms this year. M. Weaver, administrative officer, said Saturday.

As for the past several years, no new worksheets are necessary if farms continue in their present size. However, if new land is taken in, or a portion of the farm sold off, the work sheet must be altered.

Morrison Asks Second Term

WALTON S. MORRISON

Walton S. Morrison, who is now serving his first term as county judge of Howard county, has authorized the Herald to announce his candidacy for reelection.

His statement follows: "In announcing as a candidate for County Judge of Howard County for a second term, I must first express my appreciation to the people of Howard county for their past consideration. This, I am doing in two days: first, by telling you that I am grateful for your help and support, and then, by showing that gratitude through applying myself industriously to the duties of the office.

If you feel that my training, together with the experience gained during this term of office, merit additional consideration, I shall appreciate your efforts in my behalf.

I can only promise to continue my efforts in giving you an honorable, common sense administration.

Since the duties of the office are many, and Civilian Defense has added many responsibilities, you will understand, should I fail to personally solicit your help.

I will appreciate your support. WALTON S. MORRISON.

715 Persons Sign Up For Civilian Jobs

An appeal for Howard county adult citizens to complete registration for volunteer civilian defense activity came Saturday from defense council leaders as they reported that only 715 registrants had been tabulated.

The large percentage of these are from rural areas, said Herschel Summerlin, chairman of the volunteer work. Last week, school children took the registration blanks home to their parents, but these have been slow to return the completed forms, Summerlin said. He asked that prompt attention be given the registration, so that classification could be completed and volunteers assigned to their duties.

"We want just as many names in our files as possible," Summerlin said, "so that this county can be prepared to meet any emergency." The blanks, which also are available at the chamber of commerce office, call for volunteer help, but they are not to be construed as strictly binding, said Summerlin. "If a person finds that he cannot answer a call to duty, it is not obligatory that he do so."

Summerlin said the registrants had indicated preferences in various activities in this number:

- Red Cross 162
- Nutrition 64
- Emergency Medical 59
- Raw Materials 57
- Fire Control 51
- Air Raid Warden 48

War Fails To Cool Baseball Interest

FORT WORTH, Jan. 17 (Sp1)—Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Fort Worth Cats, said today that the war apparently had not dampened enthusiasm of the country's youngsters for baseball.

Hornsby has transferred his annual baseball school from Hot Springs to Fort Worth for its tenth term, and so far inquiries from prospective students have come in at a clip comparable with other years.

The school runs six weeks, from Feb. 15 to March 21.

Walter Grice Asks 2nd Term

WALTER GRICE

Walter Grice, serving out his first term as justice of the peace, precinct No. 1, announced Saturday that he would be a candidate to succeed himself in office, subject to the democratic primaries.

Grice was a candidate in the last campaign, and although the late Newton Robinson won the democratic nomination, Grice was named by the county executive committee to be nominee when Robinson was killed in an automobile accident scarcely two weeks after winning the nomination. Grice went on to be chosen in the general election.

In announcing that he would be a candidate, Grice said he felt he had learned much about the workings and the duties of the office in the time he has served as justice of the peace, and that this knowledge would enable him to give continued and uninterrupted service. His aims, he said, were still impartiality, sincerity, and above all honesty in his dealings. He has been a resident of Big Spring and Howard county for 12 years and prior to his entry into an official capacity was in the used business here. He is married and to the union two children have been born.

Postal Receipts At Stanton Increase

STANTON, Jan. 17 (Sp1)—Postmaster Morgan Hall reports that postal receipts here increased from $6,597 in 1940 to $7,717 in 1941. Money orders issued in 1940 amounted to $40,523 as compared to $40,426 in 1941.

Income Tax Information And Aid Offered To Farmers And Ranchmen

Farmers will learn details of their complicated task of filling out income tax returns at a meeting at the Big Spring city auditorium at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Cyrus Timm, A&M farm management specialist, will give hints on the subject and answer all questions of farmers and ranchmen present.

In the meantime, County Agent O. F. Griffin was giving farmers a boost in this task by mailing to them a couple of forms on which they could assemble information needed in making a return.

One of these blanks provided for listing of farm buildings, equipment, and machinery so that its deterioration could be figured and deducted from the income. The other provided for detailed listing of farm income and expenses.

Griffin asserted that if a farmer would fill out each of these sheets carefully before starting on his income tax return, he would find the task reasonably simple.

Property on which depreciation would be allowed included buildings, fences, dairy cows, work stock, automobile, other machinery, equipment and tools.

The form for income and expenses shows these items which may be included on the deduction side of the ledger: hired labor, feed purchased, seed, plants and trees purchased, machine hire, supplies purchased, cost of repair and maintenance, breeding fees, veterinary and medicine, fuel and oil for farm work, storage, taxes, insurance on property (except dwelling), interest on farm notes and mortgage, utilities, rent, rent of farm, freight and trucking.

The form shows these items among those which may be listed as sources of income: sale of cattle, horses, mules, sheep, swine, chickens, turkeys; sale of grain, hay, cotton, vegetables, fruits, dairy products, eggs, meat products, poultry, wool, sorghums; other income to include machine hire received, hire of teams, rent received in crop shares, and other work off farm.

Of course these lists are not necessarily complete, but serve as a guide to aid the farmer in making out his return.

Church Roundup — East Fourth Church Calls New Assistant Pastor

The Rev. O. D. Carpenter has been called as assistant pastor of the East Fourth street Baptist church.

He was formerly assistant pastor at Wink, and received his education at Hardin-Simmons, Howard Payne and the Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth.

"Things We Know" will be the topic of the morning sermon by the Rev. R. Elmer Dunham at East Fourth church. Evening service will be conducted by the Rev. A. B. Lightfoot of Rankin, former associate pastor of the church.

Dr. R. T. Williams, Kansas City, will preach at the Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 p. m. Monday, the pastor, the Rev. Ernest E. Orton, announced Saturday. Dr. Williams is one of the four general superintendents of the church and has been in his present position 25 years.

Rev. Orton speaks on "A Real Experience of Grace" Sunday morning and "Safety First" Sunday evening.

The Rev. Homer W. Halslip, pastor of the First Christian church, has announced that beginning tonight, at 7:30 o'clock he will deliver a series of Sunday night sermons on the general theme Hitler's National German Church.

"American people ought to be wide awake concerning the brand of religion Hitler would dictate for the rest of the world if he had the power," observes Rev. Halslip.

"The new German church will have for its bible Hitler's 'Mein Kampf' and for its cross the swastika and for its Holy Spirit the sword."

"God Bless America" will be Rev. Halslip's morning topic today. Jeanne Young will sing the song of that title.

At the evening service, music will be given by the male quartet: E. B. Bethell, Doug Perry, C. M. Shaw and Ray Ogden.

Throughout this afternoon, First Baptist church members are invited to visit the house being purchased as a parsonage for the church. It is located at Lincoln and Martha streets in Washington Place and will be open for public inspection.

Regular preaching service will be held at the Center Point Methodist church Sunday. The Rev. C. T. Jackson, pastor, will bring the morning message and Rev. C. A. Long, district superintendent, will preach at the evening hour and hold the first quarterly conference.

DEFENSE Begins in Big Spring

Let's bring the war problem down close to home. What best can we, as Big Spring and West Texas citizens, do to aid our nation?

Well, primarily, we are a producer of resources . . . resources that are important to war — petroleum, livestock, food. It is our job to get the fuel for the tanks, the clothing for our soldiers, the nourishment to keep them able fighting men.

And, as important, we have to keep up the home defenses . . . financing the war through purchase of Bonds and Stamps . . . protecting the property through the Home Guard and Civilian Defense volunteers . . . helping soldier morale and refugees of war through the Red Cross . . . These are things an "ordinary citizen" can and MUST do.

Consider how all these activities head up through one central clearing house—in our case the Big Spring CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Already it works with the oil men and the refiners, using every facility to make this West Texas industry more effective and more vital. Already it works with the farmer and the stockman, encouraging more and better dairy products and livestock, more and more varied agricultural exhibits, supports "Victory Gardens" and the proper conservation of all our land and what it grows.

Already it works hand in hand with the Red Cross, the Bond-and-Stamp sales organization, the various civilian defense units. Already it is giving their activities its full and active support.

Through it, we can continue our part in the war effort. It follows, then, that by supporting our CHAMBER OF COMMERCE more actively, with all the financial and personal backing we can muster, we are doing a big part of our job on the home front!

BUY DEFENSE BONDS AND STAMPS

Don't Forget the work of your CHAMBER OF COMMERCE in 1942, and pledge it your fullest cooperation. This organization is more important to us all, and to our effectiveness as good citizens, than ever before.

Farmers Of County Exceed Original Food Goals; Need May Be Increased

Final tabulation of food production goals set by Howard county farmers for 1942 show that they exceed the quotas fixed by the department of agriculture early last fall.

But, warns M. Weaver, AAA administrative assistant, they may not be sufficiently high now that war has started.

Weaver also warned that if farmers are to do their part in food production, they must immediately begin laying the groundwork.

Last September Secretary of Agriculture Wickard announced an extensive program of food production for the triple purpose of feeding hungry friends abroad, feeding the army, and feeding defense workers, as well as for the purpose of having a supply of food on hand at the war's close to make

America's words more impressive at the peace table.

Wickard's lieutenants fixed food production goals for every county in the nation. Howard county promptly accepted those goals, and oversubscribed them. All that was before the war started, however, and the situation may have changed.

The final tabulation of these goals, promised by farmers themselves, show increases of 10 to 100 percent in major food production items.

The number of hogs slaughtered or marketed, for example, will nearly double, farmers of the county promise. In 1941, a total of 3,443 hogs were slaughtered for home use or marketed for slaughter; in 1942, farmers plan to dispose of 6,192 swine in this method.

Production of milk and milk cows will rise. In 1941 a total of 2,987 cows were milked for a production of 1,524,116 gallons of milk. The 1942 plan sheets show that 3,785 cows will be milked for 1,905,960 gallons.

Egg production, encouraged by higher prices, will rise, farmers promise. In 1941 the hens produced 522,547 eggs, in 1942 the figure is due to be 699,701.

Number of beef cattle ranchmen and stockfarmers plan to market will rise from 8,383 to 13,400 — a fact that not only will put meat on the world's tables, but will prevent dangerous overstocking of pastures.

More farmers will have home gardens, thus reducing their traffic through grocery stores. In 1941 there were 792 farmer gardens totaling 1,750 acres. In 1942, farmers are planning 831 gardens totaling 1,988 acres.

The most startling food-feed increase so far as percentages go is the most significant—that of soy bean production. In 1941, a single acre of beans were grown; in 1942 the total will be 42 acres—a 4200 percent gain!

Dry bean acreage—and that does mean something—will jump from 268 to 588 acres.

MEN WANTED: That Sign Doesn't Mean Maybe Now

Men Wanted!

That sign is hanging out on factory gates now in ever-increasing numbers, and not only in the hinterlands of West Texas men are being begged to take steady jobs with high pay.

O. B. Rodden, manager of the United States Employment Service office here, is receiving call after call for men in shipyards, aircraft plants, and other war-bombing industries.

The prospective worker does not need to be trained in the crafts named. Uncle Sam will train him free at charge, if he has promises to go to work in the war industries.

Rodden only a day or so ago received a call for 150 welders. Such calls are almost daily matters.

"We need more students to learn welding and sheet-metal work in the national defense training school here and fill these jobs," Rodden said Saturday. "Those who are interested are urged to come to my office Monday morning." The employment service office is in the Ellis building, just across the street north of First National bank and across the street east of State National bank.

Workers in these factories earn 80 cents to $1.50 per hour, with lots of overtime hours worked. Applicants must be over 18 years of age.

Old Ranch Acreage In Mitchell Sold

COLORADO CITY, Jan. 17.—Fifteen hundred acres of one of West Texas' oldest ranches, the old Harry Landers ranch, here and 811 acres of Colorado City, have been sold to F. F. (Bob) Fee of Colorado City. Fee will operate the ranch but does not plan to make his home there at present, he said this week.

The land is part of the ranch where the late Harry Landers, Sr., established his first herd of sheep in Mitchell county in August, 1883. The ranch at that time had been acquired by M. B. Williamson of Bridgport, Vermont, who had furnished the sheep which Landers brought to Texas. In later years Landers and his brother, Byron, acquired the ranch. Byron Landers died several years ago, Harry Landers, Sr., a few months ago.

Clint Small of San Angelo is now the owner of the old Landers home place on the ranch. He bought it from a Mrs. Belcher of Stiles. Price Turner managed the home-place part of the ranch while it belonged to Mrs. Belcher. The ranch is 10 miles southeast of Colorado City on South Champion creek.

Rev. Sheats To Attend Convention

The Tri-state Assembly of God convention will begin Monday in Amarillo for four days of business meetings and fellowship programs. The Rev. H. W. Sheats, pastor of the local church, will leave Sunday for the meeting.

John Deere Has 105th Anniversary

Originally established in 1829, the Cooperative Gin Co. at 511 N.E. 2nd in Big Spring is owned by some 300 farmer members who save money on their cotton ginning.

Farm crops have been marketed and processed by merchants and middlemen for so long that the agencies of marketing, processing plants and transportation, are now practically controlled by them. The merchant's and middleman's chief interest, of course, is to make a profit, by using as cheaply as possible, and selling for as much as possible. Long established trade practices have naturally caused them to believe that the privilege of handling farm products has become their inalienable right, and in some cases they have used their organized power and financial strength to prevent the introduction of any other plan. Excessive and unnecessary cost of marketing and distribution, as practiced under this system in past years has caused the farmer to pay more for his supplies and receive less for his products.

In late years, however, the farmer has awakened to the fact that if agriculture is to live as an independent industry—as it must live if other industry is to prosper his products must be marketed by him and in his interest instead of by and for the merchant.

The result has been the adoption of the cooperative plan by farmers all over the nation in buying, marketing and processing.

The Cooperative Gin Co. is an example of such an organization which has not only grown rapidly but it is now one of the largest cooperatives in this section.

By use of the cooperative plan the organization has enabled its members to save money on their cotton ginning and the margin between the grower and the manufacturer has been substantially reduced.

They express their thanks for your business and cooperation in the past and invite you to investigate their service and mode of operation at any time.—(Adv.)

Cooperative Plan Successful

The Howard County Implement Co. at 301 NW 2nd in Big Spring carries a complete line of John Deere tractors and farm implements which are products of one of the nation's oldest and largest implement manufacturers.

At one anvil in a little frontier blacksmith shop in 1837, John Deere built the world's first steel plow. They solved one of the most serious problems of pioneer carving out farms in the great agricultural region of America.

From the three plows made by John Deere at a single forge in 1837 to the many thousands of plows and kindred tools now made by the John Deere Plow company is a stupendous jump; yet it was made and the little blacksmith shop soon became a great plow factory — eventually the largest steel plow factory in the world.

Around this factory there grew a group of fifteen other factories each devoted to the manufacture of a particular class of implement to stand with John Deere plows in forming the John Deere full line. The John Deere Plow company's constant endeavor has been to make John Deere farm implements so good that its first cost is soon repaid in extra service given.

Now on their 105th anniversary we find each of these implements has worked its way to popularity on farms all over the world and they now include a wide variety of farm machinery.

The Howard County Implement Co. for example, can supply you with tractors or farm implements for every need. An example is the Lets feed mill, which is an individual feed mill for the farm which grinds any kind of farm feed.

They carry a stock of parts and maintain a service department in which they can care for every service need of John Deere tractor owners. They take this medium of expressing appreciation for your past business and invite your continued patronage.—(Adv.)

This home front needs a GHQ, too. We have it, in Big Spring, in our CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, an agency that has already proved its merit in such tasks as USO and Red Cross finance drives, Bond and Stamp sales, aid with the Civilian Defense setup, the Civilian Air Pilots, the Home Guard. Before the war clouds have passed, your CHAMBER OF COMMERCE will have been called on for many another service just as vital to the war effort. How well Home Front GHQ succeeds will be determined largely by the amount of support it gets from the citizens of Big Spring... support in finance and manpower!

Sheriff Asks Second Term

ANDREW J. MERRICK

Sheriff Andrew J. Merrick Saturday formally announced his candidacy for election to that office. He issued the following statement:

I take this method of announcing as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Howard County, Texas, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary July 25th, 1942.

Having been a resident of Howard County for the past 25 years I feel that most every one knows me. However for the benefit of those who do not, I wish to state that I am 46 years of age, married, and have two sons. I have served for the past 17 years as a law enforcement officer, and now serving as your sheriff by appointment, and asking for my first elective term.

Since serving as your sheriff I have made every effort to modernize the department, and to enforce the law in a fair and impartial manner, and to keep down the operating expenses as much as possible. I have well qualified and efficient deputies. We have made a close study of the F.B.I. report received from the F.B.I. pertaining to our National Defense, and I feel that we are well qualified to take care of our part of the job along these lines.

Should I be elected I will continue to give my full time, and best efforts to the enforcement of our laws.

May I ask for your vote and assistance.

Sincerely Yours,
ANDREW J. MERRICK.

B'Spring Student In Radio Work

AUSTIN, Jan. 17 — Eighteen University of Texas students will be "on the beam" soon, as they begin work with the student workshop of Radio House, University broadcasting unit.

Radio House, in addition to its work in training students in radio techniques, produces two programs weekly for the Texas School of the Air as well as a nightly campus newscast.

The workshop is composed of students who pass reading and dramatic auditions. About one-third of those trying out are accepted. The 18 who entered the workshop this week fill the second semester quota, and further auditions will not be given until next summer.

Warren Baxley, Big Spring student now a member of the workshop, will take a laboratory training course for six weeks before having part in any University broadcast.

Martin People To Hold Mass Meeting

STANTON, Jan. 17 (Sp) — A mass meeting of Martin county people will be held Tuesday night at the Stanton high school auditorium to promote the sale of the county's quota of $194,000 in defense bonds and stamps during the year.

Living costs are moving ahead at a rapid rate and reflect the earlier advance in primary markets, the department of commerce says.

Funeral Sunday For Mrs. Altom

Funeral for Mrs. Ona May Altom will be held Sunday afternoon, but placed and hour have not been definitely fixed.

The Rev. Homer Sheats will conduct the service, and Eberly funeral home is making arrangements.

Mrs. Altom, a resident of the Lees community, had been visiting near Gladewater and died there Friday noon. She had been in ill health four years, and confined to bed the past eight months. She was born September 19, 1900.

Survivors include her husband, Asa A. Altom; a daughter, Mrs. Opal Wilkerson of Big Spring; two brothers, Hal Sanders of Odessa and J. C. Sanders of Oklahoma City; and a sister, Mrs. Lucille Kennedy of Gladewater.

Funeral services will be held at Eberly's, 215 N. Main St., Big Spring, at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the Lee cemetery.

Marketing of Feed Through Beeves Proves Profitable

Skilful marketing of excess feed paid big dividends to a Lomax farmer during the past week.

Feed that might otherwise have rotted in the shock or sold at a give-away price went to Fort Worth in form of flesh on 51 fine baby heaves belonging to A. J. Stallings.

They topped the market and Stallings brought home more than $5,000. That was just a year after he had bought the 51 dogs for 10 cents per pound.

During that year, Stallings allowed the calves to eat feed from the previous year's crop on his farm, then placed them on sudan during the summer and early fall. He has only a half-section farm, but he had sudan to waste from his government acreage.

By time the sudan had died out, he told friends he could sell the calves at a profit.

Then he started feeding grain from his own fields and 2 pounds of cottonseed meal daily. And just a year after he had bought the calves he topped the Fort Worth market with them and made "a killing."

He sold 42 head at $12.50 per hundred to top the market for the day and received $11.50 for the other nine head, since heifers were bringing a dollar less than steers. The animals averaged 800 pounds, to bring him $5,028.

Stallings has been marketing his grain sorghum crops in this on-the-hoof fashion for three or four years and has expressed satisfaction with the results each year.

Production Credit Grows Rapidly

Organized in 1935, the Production Credit Association with its main office in Midland and field office at 167 W. 2nd in Big Spring, is one unit in the growth of hundreds of similar associations which blanket the nation and provide the stockmen and farmers with adequate funds to operate on a cash basis. Annual stockholders meeting will be held Feb. 2nd at the Scharbauer Hotel, Midland.

On September 12, 1933, a group of 30 farmers met at Champaign, Illinois, to organize the first Production Credit Association, which was a cooperative organization of ranch and farmer borrowers which was operated at cost, for the benefit of its members. Its primary function was to provide a permanent source for credit which would enable them to take advantage of the discounts available through cash buying. Its success was immediate and now nearly nine years after the first association was organized there are 525 similar associations which, in this period, have made over 1,500,000 loans, totaling over $1,500,000,000 to the 800,000 ranchers and farmers who are members and stockholders of these 525 different units.

The Production Credit Association is one of these 525 units. Organized in 1935 they have made

Howard County Bond Sales Keep Up With Quota

Carrier Boys' Sales Of Defense Stamps Booming

Distribution of defense savings stamps through The Herald carrier boys was on a booming basis as the second week of the program ended.

Boys reported Saturday night they had distributed the equivalent of $738 in 10-cent stamps (the special denomination they are handling) during the week, to bring their total to 8,630.

Many of the carriers' patrons were purchasing bonds from the boys, too, and these helped to boost the total. During the past week newsies delivered five $25 bonds, one $50 bond and one $100 bond.

They looked for their business to continue on the upward, as more people signed orders for regular weekly delivery of the stamps. The carriers are offering this service as a contribution to the war effort, and get nothing out of it but the knowledge they are serving their country.

People who want stamps delivered on a regular system have only to sign an order the newsboy has; then he will deliver the designated amount each week, furnish stamp albums and make the collections.

Only about 100 California carriers are known to exist.

The teacher, Mrs. Burnett, reports that the class has bought $7.00 worth in two months. Other grade rooms are planning to begin saving for defense stamps.

Neel's Hatchery In 13th Season

Neel's Hatchery at 108 W. 3rd in Big Spring offers high quality chicks from culled, blood-tested and inspected flocks.

As a result of constant urging by county farm agents and our National Department of Agriculture during the past 15 years, many farmers all over the United States have turned to poultry raising in a small way as a sure means of producing a steady income. Crop failures and the uncertainty of markets has caused many a one-crop farmer to fall back on poultry production as a sideline to insure against complete lack of income in bad years. That judgment has been good is shown by the fact that of all farm products, poultry and eggs showed the smallest decrease in price during the depression and they made the quickest comeback.

To the commercial hatcheries such as Neel's Hatchery, goes much of the credit for this increase in poultry production, as well as flock improvement, which has transpired in the past few years. They encouraged, and in some cases introduced, culling, blood-testing, standard breeding, balanced feeding and proper care into what had been a haphazard industry with most farmers in the past. By paying a premium price for hatching eggs of a desirable kind they have made it pay the farmer to do these things and caused poultry production to become one of the most specialized industries in the average farmer's business.

Originally established in 1929, Neel's Hatchery is now in its 13th year of service to poultrymen in this section. They pay a premium price for desirable hatching eggs and with their hatching capacity of 28,000 eggs, they will pay growers hundreds of dollars in the form of premiums over and above the market price in the course of a hatching season.

Neel's Hatchery invites farmers and poultrymen to call, write or visit them for information regarding the quality and breeding of their chicks or any other information you may desire. (Adv.)

After falling slightly below the mark set for it by the government in the purchase of defense stamps and savings bond, Howard county came booming back Saturday with the largest single purchase reported here since the campaign started last year.

Saturday night the total stood better than $123,000, reported J. B. Collins, county chairman.

The big purchase was made by the First National bank, it was learned, in the amount of $50,000.

Total sales for the first 15 days of the month had amounted to $61,293.45, said the chairman. This represented less than half of the approximately $125,000 needed each month in order to attain the county quota of $1,486,000 for 1945.

While greatly pleased over the big purchase, Collins pointed out that not even big amounts like this could do the job. It is, as he said, the ever-lasting little and systematic purchases that will do the job in the long run. However, the sale did make sure that the county will finish January far in excess of its pro rata part for the year and set a good pattern for succeeding months.

During the first half of the month, bond sales aggregated $58,950. Collins was slightly less pleased with the $2,443.45 stamp total for the same period, especially since he felt it is in this direction a telling savings must come if the quota for the year is reached in subsequent months.

Postmaster Nat Shick told the county chairman that stamps were being made available in every postoffice window so that there no longer would be any necessity for waiting in long lines. Patrons may go to the window that is not busy and be assured of getting stamps quickly.

Bonds will continue to be sold at the defense window, said the postmaster, who felt that the distribution of stamps also would lessen the demands on the bond window and improve service there.

More emphasis will be placed this week on efforts of merchants to sell the stamps, and it is possible that an impromptu campaign will be waged in behalf of this means of promoting sale of stamps.

Collins was pleased by the pattern set by Central Ward school under the direction of Joe Ratliff, who started weekly sales as an example and challenge to other elementary schools; and of the showing by Latin, English classes and the guidance group headed by Lillian Shick.

Central Ward students, after three weeks, have raised $243 in stamps, last week boosting their total to $143, one room putting in $48 or more than all the school invested the first week.

In five days of stamp selling, the nine classes and the home room of Miss Shick has purchased $133 in stamps, one girl buying enough to complete a book for a bond. Many are just now starting their books and the classes are dividing for contest purposes—the losers to fete the winners either monthly or quarterly. At the end of the year, all will have a big stamp social.

Actress And Singer Says Keeping The Men Happy Is Woman's Job

By ADELAIDE KERR
AF Feature Service Writer

Women may be playing new roles in defense and world affairs, but Julia Sanderson thinks holding their men and keeping them happy is still their most important job.

The chestnut-haired actress and singer is a veteran of the stage and radio. She has had to learn the technique of dealing with both men and women. She also has some definite ideas on how to keep a husband happy and interested, and when I asked her about them, she told me a few.

"One of the most important things is to keep your job after you are married," she advised. "I think a woman who has a career of her own is more interesting to a man. It keeps her vivid and alert and gives her some interests of her own. Married women who do nothing seem to grow rather peevish and petulant."

(Miss Sanderson practices what she preaches. After her marriage to Frank Crumit, with whom she starred in "No No Nannette," she retired. But she didn't remain on the sidelines long. She began a new career in radio and now stars with her husband in "The Battle of the Sexes.")

"Another important thing in keeping a husband happy," she says, "is to keep a supper on your mind. Women like to express opinions, but men don't care about hearing what they think about everything. A woman can think what she pleases, but she shouldn't say too much."

"The most important thing of all though, is to be a good companion, a good friend. Play with your husband, dance with him, go out with him when he wants to go. Meet his mood. If he is gay, be gay too. If he is quiet, go along with him."

As Miss Sanderson sat in the studio, it seemed to me she would please a husband pictorially. She wore a slim black frock whose bodice was accented with black sequin figures. A brimmed hat topped with black feathers shaded her blue eyes. Bands of diamonds and sapphires blazed on her wrist and a gold chain anklet shimmered through the sheer stocking above her steel-buckled pump.

"There's something else very important in keeping a husband happy," she went on. "Don't try to possess him completely. Let him have a life of his own. If he loves golf or long hours of fishing, let him enjoy them. Men are like little boys, they love to run away and play while at their own games. They come home exhausted—and they come home sooner if you don't resent and complain about their outside interests."

"And last, but very important. Don't pry. Never try to make a man tell you something if he doesn't want to. Don't ask too many questions. Often men will keep secret for awhile a thing they know quite well they will have to tell you in the end. It gives them a feeling of independence to think they're running things. If you don't upset that, you'll be happier."

... Let hubby have his way ...

Miss Sanderson's career as a wife and radio star keeps her shuttling back and forth between New York and Long Meadow, Mass., where she and her husband live. They bought a house there some years ago to be near Miss Sanderson's mother.

Farewell Party At Knott Honors Mrs. Brownrigg

KNOTT, Jan. 17. (Sp.)—The sophomore class of Garner school honored Mrs. Earl Brownrigg, their sponsor, with a farewell party Thursday evening at the gym. Mrs. Brownrigg is leaving Garner school to teach at Big Spring. Games and contests were played and gifts were presented to the honoree. Punch and cookies were served.

Present were these students: Ailyene Brownrigg, Eugene Long, June Adams, Joy Beth Phillips, E. L. Grain

CHICAGO, Jan. 17. (AP)—Grain prices held to a narrow range today as traders marked time pending congressional agreement on the price control bill.

Wheat and rye dipped about 1-2 cent while soybeans were off as much as 1 3/8 cent but these losses were wiped out and small gains substituted in a late rally stimulated largely by week-end short covering.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1-8 higher compared with yesterday, May $1.31, July $1.32 1/4; corn unchanged to 3/8 up, May $6 1/4, July $7 7/8, oats 1-8 to 3-8 up; rye 3-8 to 1-3 higher; soybeans 3-8 to 5-8 up; lard unchanged to 5 lower.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, Jan. 17. (AP)—(USDA)—Cattle salable $0.00; total $50. Caves salable and total 100. Trade nominal. Top mature beef steers 12.00; yearlings 12.25; cows $7.75; slaughter calves 11.50.

Hogs salable 9.00; total 11.00; steady to 10 lower than Friday's average; top 11.65; packing sows steady, 10.25.

Sheep salable and total 100; trade nominal; closing top fat lambs 12.00; bulk good fat lambs 11.50; aged wethers 6.50-7.00.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17. (AP)—Cotton futures closed steady, 4 points net higher to 1 lower.

C. L. Richards Grocery Modern Store

Established in 1929 and featuring a complete line of nationally known and advertised canned goods and all other items in the grocery line, C. L. Richards Grocery at 208 Bell in Big Spring can supply your every demand for food supplies.

The American grocery store as it is known today had its inception in the early colonial store houses of more than 300 years ago in New England. Despite this early start, however, the grocery stumbled rather blindly through three centuries of time without achieving the development it possesses today.

Since the turn of the century, however, a sense of importance in the handling of food, assembly and distribution—as related to public health has arisen, and tremendous strides have been made in the methods of preparation, handling and distribution of foods. The typical grocery of today, of which C. L. Richards Grocery is a splendid example, is a model of convenience, attractiveness and sanitation. At C. L. Richards Grocery the stocks are arranged in orderly and efficient fashion, easily accessible to the shopper and branded so that you may find those most appealing.

Times was when the butcher dealt in meats, the grocer in a limited supply and the baker in open products. Today, however, at C. L. Richards Grocery the entire range of food supplies is available. Served by clerks whose every action suggests a sincere desire to serve you in such a way as to make a lasting friend of you, shopping at C. L. Richards Grocery is a delightful experience.

They invite you to visit them when shopping for food supplies

Annual Vision Test Essential

Dr. George L. Wilke with offices at 108 W. 3rd in Big Spring, has fitted thousands of people with glasses in the 25 years he has practiced optometry—with the consequences that their vision was substantially improved and in some cases, completely restored to normal.

What in the past always seemed to be a lamentable trait in human nature was the aversion which the average person had to wearing glasses. The majority of people, unfortunately, never consulted an optometrist, until their vision had become substantially impaired with the result that in many cases, it was not only more expensive but more difficult to correct or improve their vision.

According to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, for example, it is estimated that 114,000 people in the United States are blind and that more than half of them need not have lost their sight.

Defective vision will not improve with passing of time. If neglected or if improperly fitted with glasses, disastrous results may follow. It is therefore always advisable for any person to have a periodic examination of the eyes by an optometrist.

Dr. George L. Wilke constantly pursues a course of study to keep him abreast of the times and during the years he has practiced he has fitted glasses for hundreds of people in this section, whose vision was consequently conserved, improved and restored to normal.

Do not take chances with your vision or that of members of your family. Make sure that children's eyes are watched and have them examined and tested, with proper glasses fitted when required. This allows them to use their eyes during the developing stage, free from eye strain, thereby giving their eyes a better opportunity to develop normally and possibly eliminate the necessity of glasses later on. That this is important is shown by the fact that 25 of the 48 states now have statutes providing for eye-test in school.—(adv.)

We have kept thus far from advances on laundry prices, but it is now necessary to make advance on the following Laundry Work—family finish, rough dry, flat work, uniforms, shirts, and work clothes. The advance is made for reasons of a constant rise of supplies and higher wages paid our help, and we are being our prices as reasonable as we can to meet these advances. These are as follows:

- Family Finish, per dry pound 25c
- Flat Work and Rough Dry 6c
- Wet Wash 3c
- Shirts, each 15c
- Work and Khaki 12c
- Uniforms: Nurse, Waitress, each 25c

For Cash and Carry we will give 10% off and will ask for rough dry and flat work bundles to be at least 5 pounds and shirt bundles to be 15c. At these prices we can continue to get good supplies and keep a better class of help, which has been the reason for us having our present good business, for which we surely thank you.

Looking 'Em Over

None expected Big Spring to win the district 3-AA cage race, but the Bears, thanks to some hard and effective work by Coach Derward Marcum, have snapped out of it right nicely. They are tied with the other teams for the lead, and boast the second best defensive record in the loop.

One of the things that may win Big Spring several more games before the season is over came to light Friday night. Colorado City hopped on Peppy Blount, son of the Steer squad, and had him effectively bottled up the first half. Then Marcum got over the idea that if the Wolves insisted on bottling Peppy, then so it is to Fallon. It worked, for Fallon began throwing them in. When they tried to cover him, Blount went to work. That's a fine combination.

A little more about basketball. According to scores for four of the 14 games to be played this season, Sweetwater has the best defensive record, having allowed only 71 points. Midland has the worst, having permitted the opposition to toss in 187 points. Abilene's 158 points stand up for the best offensive record with Colorado City's 88 proving the weakest.

Well, quail season is over as of Friday, and the area still has its best crop in years. Cover was excellent all year and rains were just right for putting out water but not hurting eggs or young. Consequently, there were never more or larger coveys than in 1941.

Rural All-Stars Gird For Battle

Both boys and girls teams in the Howard county rural basketball league will take time out from their regular league round robin playoff January 27 for a pair of all-star games, to be played in the Midway gymnasium.

All-stars from the Richland and Midway schools, representing the east half of the circuit, will tangle with the west-enders, comprised of star players from Lomax, Center Point and Moore.

Composition of the west side team has not been announced, but the east end coaches have selected Junior Ringner of Richland, Aubrey Conway of Richland, Eldon Jones of Midway, and George Barker of Midway as forwards; Charles Hood of Richland and Gene Whitaker of Midway as centers; Howard Shanks and Charlie Shanks of Richland and Weldon Jones and C. A. Tonn, Jr., of Midway as guards.

Since there are only three girls' teams in the loop — Moore, Midway and Lomax — selection of two all-star teams was difficult, so membership of each team was drawn by lot.

Anna Smith of Moore will coach the "Green" team, comprising its squad will be forwards, Lavene Fuller and Florence Gonzales of Moore, Irene Turner of Lomax, Elna Joe Forch and June Rice of Midway; guards, Gladine Fields and Eula Faye Newton of Moore, Leona Phillips of Lomax, Ovelia Shirley and Bobbie Townsend of Midway.

Miss Anderson of Lomax will coach the "Blue" team, comprised of forwards, Basalia Gonzales and Frances Phillips of Moore, Willie Pearl Tonn of Midway, Betty Ellissard and Viola Cerda of Lomax; guards, Cell Wileman of Moore; Joyce Jones of Midway, Junita Cerda and Vivian Lomax of Lomax.

At present, Lomax is leading the girls' league and Midway the boys. Coach G. Hannaford's Midway boys have won eight straight games this season, four of them in league competition. Center Point's boys are second, Moore third and Richland and Lomax at the bottom.

Lomax girls have won one game and lost none, Midway has won two and lost one, and Moore has lost one.

The statement by President Roosevelt, expressing the hope that baseball would be kept going during the national emergency, certainly will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of many here. Some folks are worrying about what might become of the ancient and honorable game of golf due to restrictions on the manufacture of golf balls, etc. Eventually, it may pluck plenty—but that day shouldn't be too near. Meanwhile, why worry? Why not get out on these pretty days and make the most of the balls you have in the bag, and while you still can buy a good putting ball if you need it.

If you can spare just a wee bit of rubber in exchange for lots of excitement, you have it by going out to Bennett Field, near the airport, for the polo game this afternoon. Nothing is quite as exciting and few things can get rougher than a fast round of polo... and the boys in this neck of the sand dunes don't know how to play any other kind. The game, as usual, is more or larger coveys than in 1941.

Cellarites in Classic Loop Show Power

Cosden, the team that had never lost more than one game an evening until it suffered a complete reverse a week ago, took it on the chin again at the hands of cellar-dwelling Clay's No-D-Lay Cleaners in the Classic Bowling league Friday evening.

This time the count was 2-1. Clay's took the first 750 to 730, the second 800 to 806 and then dropped the third 788 to 773. However, the last lacked a lot turning the tide, even on a total pin basis.

Big Spring Motor found up-and-coming Schlitz Beer too tough, dropping a 2-1 decision despite the 88 handicap Schlitz had to give away.

Lee Hanson trampled over R. & R. by a 2-1 figure with Mel Richards rolling 531 for R. & R. Jimmy Hanson ranked next with 525, one ahead of Jake Douglass.

Due to the round of banquets and meetings this week, there will be no bowling in the Classic league, but on Jan. 28 a doubleheader will make up for lost time.

Odessa, Sweetwater Hit Hardwood Skids

Abilene Looks Like Team To Beat In 3-AA

Abilene looked more and more like the team to beat in the district 3-AA basketball campaign Friday night and Odessa began to take on the appearance of the great dip-y-doodle, with Sweetwater running a close second in reverse direction.

Abilene plastered Midland 46-20 in another great sustained offensive push. However the Bulldogs bristled to do more scoring on their own account. For Abilene, Stovall tossed in 19 points to lead the Eagles to their 20th straight win on their home court. After a momentary feeling out period, Abilene suddenly spurred ahead to take a 19-3 lead before Midland could holler time. At the end of the third the Eagles held a 44-12 margin and called out the reserves to finish the chore. Kelly was high with four points for Midland.

San Angelo completed the conquest of Odessa, 39-27 after Lamesa had softened the Bronchos earlier in the week. Anderson tossed in 18 points to lead in the victory parade, but Big Jon Coward equalled it for Odessa. However, he happened to be the only Hoos hot for the evening.

Odessa had Sweetwater's Mustangs on the Tornado ballwick, and even Sweetwater couldn't stand that. Consequently, Lamesa had no trouble in bottling up their visitors for a 20-12 win.

Big Spring had trouble with Colorado City for a half Friday night, but the lads began tossing to Fallon instead of bottled Peppy Blount with the result that both sides scored and sewed up the game 24-11. It had been 7-7 at the half. Blount had 11 points and Fallon nine.

Instead of the six teams tied for first place in a weird turn of events, the slate after Friday showed the number locked for the lead reduced to four.

In games Tuesday night Big Spring will meet a severe test in journeying to Odessa, a game the Steers could lose despite Odessa's crumbling in the last two games. There is little doubt about the outcome of the others, even with Abilene taking on Sweetwater in the Nolan county seat. Lamesa goes to Midland and San Angelo to Colorado City, with the outcomes assuredly favoring the visitors in both cases.

At Annual Banquet -- Steer Gridders To Get Recognition

They didn't win the district title as did their predecessors, but the Big Spring Steer football team of 1941 will be just as much the center of attraction Monday evening as if they had socked up the state crown.

Occasion of their honor will be the third annual grid banquet sponsored by the Lions club. The place is the Settles ballroom, the time 7:30 p. m. and the plate charge $1.00.

Not only will the 15 lettermen be given their awards at the dinner affair, but all members of the squad will be guests of the club and other fans.

Late Saturday, Dan Conley, secretary of the club, said a survey indicated a minimum attendance of 200, and he felt that the total might be considerably larger.

Speaker of the evening will be Frank Kimbrough, a native West Texan who has progressed to the point that he is a Southwest conference coach at Baylor.

Widely known among West Texans—for he played high school football at Haskell, collegiate ball at Hardin-Simmons and coached at Amarillo Junior college and Hardin-Simmons before going to side officers in the state. Sahley Riley, club president, said there was still another "bang-up" surprise parcel of hilarity coming up, and that the festivities would be topped by the singing of Shirley June Robbins with Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser at the piano.

In the three years the club has sponsored 13 banquets, three Southwest conference coaches have been speakers. The first year Homer Norton, A. & M. coach, spoke. Last year Dana X. Bible, coach of the Texas team, appeared as guest speaker.

Just when the team will make the trip is uncertain, since the tourney starts March 1 and continues through May 15.

Team members include Ward Hall, Jimmy Eason, J. L. LeBlanc, Stanley Wheeler, Pete House and Jake Douglass. Wheeler is captain and Douglass is manager.

New uniforms will be ordered for the group, but the team will play under the Douglas colors in the West Texas league until the end of the season's play.

Besides the ABC affair, other tournaments to which the team may go are the West Texas-New Mexico in Midland in February, the Oklahoma Times stagers tourney in Oklahoma City this week, and perhaps the Southwestern in Wichita, Kas., and the state in San Antonio.

Fair weather is promised for polo-playing time Sunday afternoon, so Big Spring's horsemen are due to take on a Lamesa aggregation at 2 p. m. on the local field.

Previously scheduled games with Lamesa and Midland were cancelled, but a new Lamesa team has been assembled. Elmo Smith will lead the invaders.

Dr. M. H. Bennett, Lloyd Watson, Lewis Rix and Rip Smith are due to ride for the Big Spring organization. Make-up of the Lamesa team was not learned here.

Dean Curlee's team bested the Ike Robb outfit, and a crew headed by Maurice Howard defeated the Char A. Davies aggregation in bowling contests of the high school league, played at the Billy Simon lanes Saturday.

The Curlee margin was 1285-1788. Bobby Hickson of the winners had the best score for the series, 406, while Robb was tops for a single game with 165.

The Howard-Davies match went to the former on a 2180-1843 count. Howard Smith of the winning combine had high singles of 166 and high series of 405.

ATLANTA, Jan. 17 (AP) — An athletic speed-up, to keep pace with a quickened war-time academic program, was announced today by Georgia Tech.

Bluff W. Alexander, veteran athletic director, said Tech would move exactly opposite the trend of some schools which have curtailed or abandoned sports, and disclosed plans for a summer program to round out the third semester, arranged to expedite graduation of men needed for military service.

"Now is the time for colleges to put more emphasis on athletics," Alexander declared. "The government advocates it, especially after draft examinations showed so many military candidates to be suffering from lack of exercise."

Forsan Beats Garden City Easily, 39-8

FORSAN, Jan. 17 — Forsan's Buffs had an easy time of it with the Garden City basketekers here Friday night, running over the visitors for a score of 39-8. Cowley, Long and Smith for the locals carried the big guns in the scoring, chalking up 14, 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Cagle Hunt's boys take on a stronger foe Tuesday night, when they play Sterling City on the home court. The Sterling lads bested Forsan, 17-14, in the recent Sterling City tournament.

Vines May Return To Tennis Courts

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 17 (AP) — Ellsworth Vines, the former professional tennis champion long since turned amateur golfer, is considering giving up hitting the little white ball and return to his first love where he can "win one in a while."

"This golf game is too tough," Vines said today. He is a contestant in the Oakland Open golf tournament. With a third round 75, he posted a 54-hole total of 223.

Forsan Girls Beat Garden City Team

FORSAN, Jan. 17 — Forsan girls were victorious over the Garden City team, 45 to 4, in a volley ball match played here. Players included:

Forsan — Sybil Jo Claxton, Geneva Ragdale, Wanza Nell Gladd, Charlene Grissom, Lynn Fay Dunlap, Alta Mae Claxton, Ovelia Nell, Vonell Sewell, Bobby Jean Peck, Juanita Sewell.

Garden City — Vera Frizzell, Norma Calverley, Helen Rountree, Reba Hull, Lucille Morgan, Betty Low.

Oklahoma City To Train At Tyler

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 17 (AP) — The Oklahoma City Indians announced today their spring training camp would be held at Tyler, Tex., this year with the entire team leaving March 15.

Previously the Tribe sent the battermen ahead a week earlier, but Owner John Holland explained:

"We're all going at once this time, cutting a week off our drills as we will work an even month this time, compared to five weeks in other years."

Leadership of the fast league in the city basketball race will be at stake in contests billed for Monday evening in the high school gymnasium.

Cosden and Crystal tangle for the second time this season, and for the second time they each will be fighting for the lead. In their first encounter, Cosden copped the decision by a three-point margin but lost the advantage when Carnett's ross up to deal a mighty up-setting blow.

Opening game Monday at 7:15 p. m. in the fast league is between Carnett's and Vaughn's with the former favored. But Vaughn has been improving rapidly of late and this may be the time for an upset.

The featured game comes second, or at 8:15 p. m. and in the only slow league tilt of the evening, slated for 9:15 o'clock, the American Business Club engages the Sea Scouts, new entry in the league replacing the City. ABC will be favored.

Nelson Clings To Lead At Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 17 (AP) — Cracking par and the hopes of his rivals for the third successive day, Byron Nelson racked up a 69 and a three-round total of 205 today to cling to his lead in the 72-hole $5,000 Oakland open golf tournament.

The two-time national champion—open and P. G. A.—left no doubt as to who was the best golfer in a field of more than 160 hot shots. He compiled sensational performance with some duffer brand golf but in the end walked off the 18th fairway still holding a four-stroke advantage

Equalling Nelson's one under par 69 today was slender Lloyd Mangrum of Monterey Park Calif. Mangrum's 209 was one better than that of the pre-tournament favorite, little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa. Hogan posted a 70 for his third round and completed the 54 holes tied with Lawson Little, San Francisco, at 210.

Par for Sequoyah is 35-35-70. Nelson took it apart for the third time with a 35-34. He set the first round pace with a 67 and followed that super-effort with a 69.

Although he scrambled a bit during the third round big Byron proved as agile as a cat. He managed to land right side up despite a missed shot on the seventh, where he took a bogey 5. On the hole before he bagged a birdie 4, after his approach shot had hit the pin and the ball had bounced 18 feet away. He merely dropped the long putt.

The best round of the day, a 67, was turned in by Larry Brazil, San Francisco, who came up with a 66-hole total of 218. E. J. Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., upset par with a 68 Nelson, Mangrum and Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., with 69's, were the only others to get under standard figures.

The field for tomorrow's final round was reduced after today to the 64 low scorers among the professionals and the ten low amateurs.

Fast League Lead Staked Monday Night

Leadership of the fast league in the city basketball race will be at stake in contests billed for Monday evening in the high school gymnasium.

Cosden and Crystal tangle for the second time this season, and for the second time they each will be fighting for the lead. In their first encounter, Cosden copped the decision by a three-point margin but lost the advantage when Carnett's ross up to deal a mighty up-setting blow.

Opening game Monday at 7:15 p. m. in the fast league is between Carnett's and Vaughn's with the former favored. But Vaughn has been improving rapidly of late and this may be the time for an upset.

The featured game comes second, or at 8:15 p. m. and in the only slow league tilt of the evening, slated for 9:15 o'clock, the American Business Club engages the Sea Scouts, new entry in the league replacing the City. ABC will be favored.

Fast Work In Last Stanza Saves Steers

Some fast work in connecting with the basket in the last quarter, with Peppy Blount and James Fallon leading the way, gave the Steers another District 3-AA cage win Friday night, with Colorado City's Wolves the victims.

The final count was 24 to 21 for the locals. This margin was challenged after the intermission had brought a seven-all count, and the third quarter ended with a 13-11 tieup.

The lengthy Blount pushed in 11 points and Fallon was next high man with 9.

Horace Bostick started the scoring, with a toss in the first 30 seconds of play, and Blount added his first goal before the minute was up.

Opening of the second half saw Shurtliff, one of the visitors' top scorers, lead off with two points, and his teammate Cooper added another goal for Colorado's brief lead. Blount and Fallon retaliated to knot the count as the third stanza ended, and from then on it was Big Spring's game.

A four-one defense was used by the Wolves, with one man roving under the goal. The Steers used their customary three-two zone defense.

Tidwell and Womack showed balance on defensive and offensive work, but couldn't make their tosses count. Shurtliff and Cooper each scored four points for the Coloradans.

Stanton Wins In Basketball Tourney

STANTON, Jan. 17—The Stanton Buffaloes swept through the Dawson county invitation basketball tournament for the championship and a 16-inch gold trophy, and two Stantonites, Mashburn and Eason, were named to the all-tournament team. The Buffs defeated O'Donnell in the final.

Friday night the locals defeated the Courtney Eagles 14-12, with Heaton pacing the scoring with 8 points. The Stanton B team bested the Courtney B quint, 25-15.

Curlee And Howard Teams Victors In High School Bowling

Dean Curlee's team bested the Ike Robb outfit, and a crew headed by Maurice Howard defeated the Char A. Davies aggregation in bowling contests of the high school league, played at the Billy Simon lanes Saturday.

The Curlee margin was 1285-1788. Bobby Hickson of the winners had the best score for the series, 406, while Robb was tops for a single game with 165.

The Howard-Davies match went to the former on a 2180-1843 count. Howard Smith of the winning combine had high singles of 166 and high series of 405.

ATLANTA, Jan. 17 (AP) — An athletic speed-up, to keep pace with a quickened war-time academic program, was announced today by Georgia Tech.

Bluff W. Alexander, veteran athletic director, said Tech would move exactly opposite the trend of some schools which have curtailed or abandoned sports, and disclosed plans for a summer program to round out the third semester, arranged to expedite graduation of men needed for military service.

"Now is the time for colleges to put more emphasis on athletics," Alexander declared. "The government advocates it, especially after draft examinations showed so many military candidates to be suffering from lack of exercise."

THE FEMME FATALE mood is well served by this slinky black dinner dress with draped front and elbow length sleeves. The girl is Brenda Marshall, all set for an important evening.

GLAMOROUS IS THE WORD for this negligee of satin and lace, guaranteed to produce a Queen-of-Sheba mood for any Cinderella. When you feel that life is a dull, drab vale of tears, slip into something like this for the good of your own vanity. It is worn here by lovely Lynn Bari, of the films, who demonstrates that beauty in the boudoir is a prime antidote for that well-known tired feeling that often afflicts career girls.

Trainmen Ladies Celebrate 29th Anniversary

A birthday celebration of the Trainmen Ladies lodge was held Friday at the W. O. W. hall by the organization on its 29th anniversary. The local lodge was formed on January 13th, 1913.

There are three surviving charter members, Mrs. C. A. Schull, who was present at the celebration and presented with a gift, and Mrs. E. J. Smith and Mrs. Beale Tolliver of Fort Worth.

Refreshments were served from a lace-laid table centered with individual cake squares each holding a birthday candle. Each member lighted the candle on her cake and made a wish. Green candles in red holders on the white cakes carried out the lodge colors.

The group voted to sew from 9 o'clock to 1 o'clock on regular meeting days for the Red Cross and then to hold regular lodge sessions.

Mrs. Frank Powell was co-elected reporter and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins was named corresponding reporter to the lodge magazine.

Mrs. Albert Smith presided and Mrs. Minnie Riggs of Canyon lodge 830, Nampa, Idaho, was only guest. Songs were sung and others present were Mrs. B. N. Ralph, Mrs. G. B. Pitman, Mrs. A. J. Cain, Mrs. S. R. Johnson, Mrs. L. Y. Moore, Mrs. D. C. Cagle, Mrs. J. P. Meador, Mrs. C. A. Schull, Mrs. M. C. Knowles, Mrs. H. W. McCannless, Mrs. D. C. Robinson, Mrs. Herbert Fox, W. E. Clay.

Royal and blue and white were the colors chosen and the class song is to be "Every Day With Jesus." The class will meet once a month.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

Theoretically speaking, if all the first aid students' attempts at bandaging and artificial respiration were ever turned loose on a set of victims, the result would be something to see.

To date the boys and girls have learned how to treat snake bite, drowning victims, shock, apply tourniquets and locate the six vital points where the flow of blood can be stopped.

Whether they could do it in the case of a real emergency is something that each individual will probably have to find out for himself.

There are a lot of laughs in classes—like the man who would apply a tourniquet around the neck to stop flow of blood on a head wound, and the girl who would put a blanket over the face of the patient so he couldn't see what she was doing in case he knew first aid.

There are a lot of serious moments too, when the thought comes home that what you are learning now may someday save your life or someone else's life—if you learn your lessons correctly. It's times like that when you get an awful feeling of responsibility.

But once you start the darn course you are afraid to miss a lesson for fear you'll miss out on something new. It's like starting in a glowing fireplace. Once you get started you can't very well stop.

In case of a real disaster you might turn away helplessly but then again you might save a life. Maybe this is the fascination that is keeping half the town plugging away twice a week at lessons.

Powells Hosts At Supper On Ranch

STANTON, Jan. 17 — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Powell were hosts to a group for Mexican supper at their ranch home, the Bar X, Saturday evening. Honorees for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor of Seattle, Washington, whom they met on their trip to Alaska last summer. Mr. and Mrs. Poe Woodard in whose home the Taylors are spending the weekend, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kelly were also guests.

Edna Cochran Weds Vernon McCoslin In Morning Ceremony

Rites Read At First Baptist Church Here

In a 10 o'clock ceremony held at the First Baptist church Saturday morning, Edna Cochran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cochran, became the bride of Vernon B. McCoslin, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. McCoslin of Jewitt.

The Rev. Dick O'Brien performed the ceremony in the parlor of the church.

The bride was dressed in a navy blue and pink ensemble with navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetpeas and violets. For something old she wore a cameo that Mrs. Cochran wore at her wedding. Something borrowed was a yellow gold and pearl bracelet belonging to Wanda Neel and something blue was a blue linen handkerchief.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Martha Cochran, who wore a navy blue dress trimmed in white with navy accessories. Her corsage was of red roses and violets. R. E. (Dick) Hambrick was best man.

Wanda McQuain sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me" as the pre-nuptial solos. Mrs. Anna Gibson Houser played accompaniment and played the processional "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, C. M. Cochran. Following the ceremony the couple left for Fort Worth, Jewitt and Houston. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece suit of burnt orange and brown with brown accessories.

The bride was graduated from the Big Spring high school in 1937 and has been employed as attendant at the Alexander hospital and at the Big Spring state hospital.

McCoslin moved to Big Spring from Fort Worth in 1941 and is employed in the accounting department of Cosden Petroleum corporation.

The couple will be at home at 104 West 13th St.

CUNNINGHAM PHILIPS

Dallas, Waco, Fort Worth To Be Visited

Although the average woman is still wearing woolen dresses and keeping the fur coat in pretty constant use, it's already springtime to local store buyers. This week several will leave for markets in Waco, Fort Worth and Dallas to pick out what Miss and Mrs. Big Spring will be wearing come March.
First to go were Mr. and Mrs. A. Swartz who left Saturday night for Fort Worth and Dallas to buy for their store, the Hollywood shoppe. Mrs. Dora Glenn left Sunday for Fort Worth and Dallas markets to spend several days selecting frocks and hats for the Vogue.
Mrs. P. Teague and Mrs. Bert Read, owners of the Settles Style Salon, will get off Tuesday for the markets of Fort Worth and Dallas. Mrs. Paul Darrow is leaving Wednesday for a two-day fashion clinic and buying session for Montgomery Ward.
Going from Albert Fisher store are Mrs. Grace Miller, Mrs. J. L. Milner, Mrs. Mildred Corbin and Mrs. Alice Cravens who will leave Sunday for Fort Worth and Dallas. They will return in about four days and then Mrs. Cravens and Mrs. Miller will leave for Los Angeles for markets there.
Other stores are sending no buyers since their buying was done earlier by headquarter buyers.

American Business Club And Auxiliary To Begin First Aid

The American Business Club members and members of the auxiliary, the X. Y. Z. club, will begin first aid class Friday of this week at the district courtroom at the courthouse under instruction of Jake Morgan.

John J. Raschok, the 1928 Democratic national campaign manager and General Motors executive, is only one of hundreds of business and financial geniuses in America's industrial world who laid the foundation for their astonishing success by acquiring a thorough business college training such as the Big Spring Business College offers its students. We likewise have many successful business men who gathered their business training from the practical school of experience. However, time is the most valuable asset any individual possesses and this latter group of business men were unquestionably severely handicapped of a thorough business training.

The opportunities where an embryonic business man or woman can use to his or her financial advantage are myriad and every business man who lacks one knows only too well the value such training possesses.

In this respect the Big Spring Business College is offering to the aspiring person the opportunity to receive this invaluable training in a very short time and at minimum expense.

They can teach you in a few months what it would take you years to gain by experience and prepare you for a short cut from mediocrity to business success to efficient and progressive commercial achievement.

This institution teaches typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, accounting, Morse calculator, English, correspondence, filing, spelling, commercial law, business arithmetic and related subjects. Their rates are very reasonable; their instructors skilled and experienced; their methods the recognized ones of efficiency; their

1942 THE YEAR OF DESTINY

There's a challenge to the World to Win the War, and this challenge is as much to the citizens of Big Spring as to any area in America.

It is our job to produce food and oil, both essential to Army and Navy. If we do that job well, then the war will end just that much sooner, and Free People will be Free People again.

Through all the years the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has been a factor in regimenting the man-power of this area. At no time in the past two decades has it been more important than to have now and through this Year of Destiny the Chamber of Commerce Clearing House.

It will not only continue to serve the community in common causes, but in its office and through its officials will come the solidity so essential in these war times. Like all other good things the Chamber of Commerce must be financed. There must be an investment on the part of Big Spring citizens during the year to keep this civic control station open and on duty every day of the year.

We must be prepared for every emergency. We must have this focal point around which all our civic and Victory War program can rally.

This advertisement is one of a series bought by local business houses as a contribution to the Year of Destiny of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and Big Spring.

What Does Pearl Harbor Mean?

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

NO TIME FOR LOVE

By WATKINS & WRIGHT

Chapter 20
Flight

Nearing the Inn Lavinia saw people upon the wide veranda, and tried to rearrange her features, as it were, so as not to give away her real feelings. Several people looked up as she mounted the steps, and she immediately sensed excitement in the air.

Groups were talking in an excited, tense sort of way — as though something extraordinary had taken place. She was tempted to stop and make inquiries, but knew this would mean being drawn into conversation. It would be better to get to her room and rest for a time. She had no desire for dinner. She much preferred to stretch out upon her bed and try to collect her thoughts.

But before she could reach her room Margot Linden saw her. She came hurrying forward.

"Where on earth have you been all day?" she asked, excitedly.

"With my aunt in Portland," said Lavinia. "We lunched and saw a movie."

"And missed all the excitement!" Margot said. "Imagine, those government men locating the escaped prisoners, and actually rounding them up."

"You — you — mean they came here?" Lavinia said in a voice she scarcely recognized as her own.

"Yes, they were in the Inn," said Margot. "It seems that several men in and near Harbor Head have been helping the men who escaped from Canada — supplying them with outfits, and aiding in any way possible. You know, enemies of the Allies — that sort of thing."

"Yes, I — I — know," said Lavinia.

"They even used their boats to hide the men," Margot rushed on. "But the government representatives got them all. They were marched off today, to be locked up awaiting trial."

Lavinia couldn't speak. Her thoughts were running around in mad circles. Rod gone. Also his boat. Rod, who had been so reticent about himself. The odd way he had acted the night before. Could he have known this was going to happen? Was that why he had said he had no right to kiss her?

"Was — my friend —" she tried to speak lightly, "was he an escaped prisoner, or one of the men who helped?"

"I don't know — only he did have a boat," said Margot. "You ought to remember that."

"Do you know about the trip?"

"I suppose you all lined up on the porch with field glasses the day Rod took me to the island?" Margot laughed. "No, not as bad as all that, my dear," she said. "But I warned you there's always a lot of gossip at a summer resort."

"And how right you were!" said Lavinia. "I'm sorry I missed all the excitement. You must tell me more about it later on. I'm going up now and get a little rest. Aunt Dorcas and I had a strenuous day."

Margot touched her arm as she turned to go.

"Tell me something, Miss Prentiss," she said.

"What is it?" said Lavinia.

"Maybe I'm barging in where I've no business," Margot said, "but you hadn't grown fond of the

More Than One Use Can Be Made Of This Slogan

We Americans are great on slogans. We can wear one out quicker than any people on the face of the globe, and at the same time it can mean less to us than those more moderately used in other lands.

For instance, take the much over-used "Remember Pearl Harbor."

Frankly, we'd like to forget everything about Pearl Harbor except its stunning effect in awakening a nation. Of course, those who made the supreme sacrifice there are to be hallowed, their memories enshrined in free hearts for generations to come.

But for the purposes of revenge — the very idea most people have in mind when they repeat, for lack of any good thought of their own, "Remember Pearl Harbor" — we have no great use for the slogan. It hurts us to see it used that way.

Sure, most of us are human enough to want to get even, to avenge harm done us or pain inflicted upon us. But revenge for the sake of revenge never yielded anything but hate. And the nation that harvests nothing but hate out of this critical conquest is doomed to an empty, miserable, and unproductive future.

If we are to remember Pearl Harbor, it should be with the full knowledge that it symbolizes the result of a nation asleep, a nation with its head in the sand.

Remember Pearl Harbor? Then remember how congress debated too bitterly and perhaps much too long. Remember how we permitted ourselves to be split into isolationists and interventionists. Remember how this or that high person had nothing better to do than to make stinging and often times libelous accusations at others in responsible places.

Remember Pearl Harbor? Then remember how capital and labor squared off in an endless parade of costly squabbles. Remember how profits of business came before operation for the nation. Remember how higher wages for labor came before sorely needed production.

Remember Pearl Harbor? Then remember how we insisted there was no cause for alarm, how we gave eloquent lip service in sweet patriotic nothings. Remember how we bred inflation by such trying to jump on the bandwagon first by increasing prices without good cause? Remember how we were looking out for ourselves with no real regard for the safety and security of the country.

Remember Pearl Harbor? Then remember a military that apparently had caught the fever from the civilians who must support it. Remember how it wouldn't believe that it could happen here — even to the point of carelessness.

Remember Pearl Harbor? Then remember how we let ourselves in for it. Remember it with shame. Remember it with a resolve that it shall never happen to us again. Remember it as a bitter dose, but perhaps the only one that would have sufficiently jarred us into recovery.

"I hope some ambitious archeologists aren't after me to get off another digging expedition," she said. Then: "Oh, it's from my niece."

The Professor examined a piece of bone with a magnifying glass, and Mrs. Plunkett watched him, holding a handkerchief to her nose.

"Well!" Miss Dorcas exploded. "Nothing unpleasant, I hope, my dear," said Mrs. Plunkett.

"Do they want you to go into a jungle again, Miss Dorcas?" asked the Professor.

"No," said Miss Dorcas. "It's a message from Lavinia Prentiss, the niece I told you about."

"Is she ill?"

"No, she's not ill. She's cut short her vacation and gone home."

"But why should she do that?" Mrs. Plunkett wanted to know.

"That's what I'm going to find out," said Miss Dorcas. She got down off the high stool. "Professor Plunkett, you'll have to get along without me from now on."

The Professor looked up, pushing his glasses high up upon his forehead. "What's that, Miss Dorcas?" he said.

"She said you'd have to get along without her from now on," said his wife. "Ethebert, I wish you would pay attention to what people say."

"But, Miss Dorcas," the Professor said, ignoring his wife's remark, "I can't get along without you."

"You'll have to," said Miss Dorcas.

"Why — why — the research is at a critical point," said the Professor, much distressed. "I've discovered a decided similarity in the vertebra of the whale and the prehistoric animals, and now —"

"Sorry," said Miss Dorcas briskly. "But I've an idea my niece is on the verge of making a mess of her life. The business of vertebra will have to wait. Maybe I'm being silly and precipitous, but I can't help feeling, Professor, that my niece's heart is more important than a whale's backbone."

No amount of argument would make Miss Dorcas change her mind.

"And so you're going to leave me all alone with the whale," the Professor said sadly.

"You've got your wife," said Miss Dorcas. "Why can't she take notes for you?"

"And smell that awful odor!" said Mrs. Plunkett. "No indeed."

Dorothy Thompson Says -- Just Call Your Income Tax Insurance

By DOROTHY THOMPSON
To The New Seven Million:

The seven million are the new seven million taxpayers—the new seven million who, this year, will pay direct income taxes to the federal government. Up to now you have been paying federal taxes on everything you eat, wear, or amuse yourself with. But now you are going to go through that annual experience known as computing, filing, and paying a certain percentage of your annual income to the United States of America.

May an old member of this hitherto rather exclusive club welcome you to the fellowship, and tell you how the ordeal may be rendered relatively painless?

First of all, adopt a philosophical attitude toward it. The United States of America is a going concern with an immense annual turnover, and it is distributing an increasing percentage of the gross profits to those who most need help. A generation ago, if you were hungry, sick, old, or out of a job, the United States expected you to shift for yourself. Today the United States insures you, in some measure at least, against the major catastrophes that are likely to overtake you during your lifetime.

That has increased the rate of taxation, but such additional taxation had best be regarded as a general mutual insurance.

Also, the United States is your home, and if you lose it you have lost everything. You've been invited into the income-tax club because at this moment your home is in desperate danger. If your house is on fire, you are glad to pay for the fire brigade and immensely thankful that you carried that heavy insurance all the years.

In fact, you had better look at these annual payments as just additional insurance, and let it go at that.

Secondly—and this advice is given warmly, out of bitter experience—set your tax money aside out of every pay envelope. It is an old saw but true that what you don't have you don't miss.

Compute your income for the coming year, investigate what you can deduct from it as non-taxable exemptions, find out what the tax on the net income will be, divide it by twelve or fifty-two depending on whether your income comes monthly or weekly, and set that sum aside, right at the outset.

Your bank can tell you about tax anticipation bonds—perhaps you will want to buy those. Or put the money in a savings bank. But anyhow, kiss it good-bye the moment you get it.

If you put a little more aside than you will require when the tax collector comes around, and thus can pay your taxes with some left over, you will kid yourself that you are getting a bonus instead of making a payment, and it will be a positive pleasure.

Take comfort in the thought that even if you had the money, you will find difficulty in spending it for many of the things you want, and that just by not spending it, you will be helping to stave off inflation, and arm the country more quickly and more efficiently.

Defense production needs practically everything that you are likely to want to buy, aside from basic necessities like food and shelter. Make your old clothes do as long as possible. Remember that anything you buy containing metals of any sort is just that much less for defense. If you curtail your demands, prices will remain more stable. That holds for food, too. By and large you need about twenty-five hundred calories a day food, and you probably eat vastly more than that.

Much of what we spend above real necessities is for the sake of keeping up with the Joneses, but the inferiority complex is going to be removed from poverty very quickly. It will be smart to be poor. If you put up your car and take the train or subway you are performing a patriotic service. If junior walks to school, it won't do him any harm, and he can brag his father and mother are saving rubber for defense. If you cut down the menu you usually serve at parties, you can remind your guests that the government wants to store and preserve food for the war and for reconstruction afterward.

These are going to be Calvin Coolidge years, and the more so the better. If the government is spending money in the way it must and you are too, money will become more and more worthless, and inflation is a catastrophe hardly less than war.

Since you are paying for this war, watch how the money is being spent. There's no reason why you should be submissive and silent about the overlapping agencies, with hundreds of people running around in circles because nobody quite knows what job belongs to whom. You are paying for the waste involved, waste of money and waste of energy.

You have a right to be sore about the hundreds of middle-men who are peeling a commission out of contracts made by the government with industries—some of them as high as twenty or thirty per cent. The commission gets stuck on the price that you, via the government, pay for planes and tanks and everything else. There's no reason why your tax money should support parasites and plain thieves, who profiteer on this war. Raise the price.

I'm glad there are seven million more of us.

HOLLYWOOD: Plot Against Fat Men In Air

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—There's a plot a-foot, a low-down Hollywood plot to throw down that grand old theme song and solace of the pleasingly plump. It went, remember, "Everybody Loves A Fat Man."

Ever since the days of John Bunny and Flora Finch, through the Fatty Arbuckle era right down to the present reign of Eugene Pallette, movie audiences have loved the fat man obediently and with joy. The first glimpse of a blimp-like figure has been sufficient to throw the kiddies into the aisles, and such as Andy Devine, Billy Gilbert, Guy Kibbee, Cecil Kellaway and Robert Greig have profited by their varying degrees of blimpiness.

Today the fat man, owing directly to his enemies in Hollywood, is under a cloud of suspicion. You glimpse the blimp, but you look twice to be sure of your subsequent course of action.

Should you roll in the aisles, or should you run screaming from the theater and call a cop?

You all know Edward Arnold, don't you? Eddie's a two-faced blimp. Now he's jovial and gay, but you can't be sure this good-natured stuff isn't a mask for villainy. You've seen him do lovable, kindy things in the first reel only to tear off his mask in the sixth, with the hero off base, and whip out a machine gun. Just for confusion's sake, he'll do an "All That Money Can Buy," very heroic and disarmingly human.

And Charles Laughton. Laughton's been dabbling in comedy enough recently—"The Tuttle of Tahiti!" and so on—to make you forget that he used to be that terrifying Captain Bligh and that bloodhound Javert of "Les Miserables." But keep an eye on Charles.

Charles Coburn is another. What a kindly, bewildered papa Coburn is in "H. M. Fulham," Eqq.—but what a human devil in "Kings Row!" Light-heavy in frame, Coburn's villainy in this one is strictly heavyweight, and psychopathic.

If you saw "The Maitess Falcon" you won't soon forget the genial, smooth blimp who was ringleader of the assorted cutthroats. That was Sydney Greenstreet, a monster balloon of sophisticated iniquities.

And there's Laird Cregar. When they started off 1941, exceedingly well, by plucking Cregar's tongue from the stage, they put him in comedy—three times running. Then he did that psychopathically lovelorn detective in "Hot Spot," the fellow who carried such a torch for Carole Landis that he wanted to fry Victor Mature for her murder. After that, Laird saw a monstrous future for himself and tried to ward it off by going on the local stage in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," a comedy.

But the local boys must not have seen the play. They saw "Hot Spot" instead. Laird was rushed into "Joan of Paris" in the character of a super-sadist, a Gestapo chief, and after that into "This Gun for Hire," in which he plays a really sweet character; a gent who is nauseated at the thought of violence and just dotes on chocolate candy, but hires Alan Ladd to murder a couple of people; a gent who has no guanas about having Veronica Lake tied up to be drowned in a reservoir.

And after all this, will ANYBODY love a fat man?

Twins Named For Jap Attack

CONWAY, S. C. — A Conway farmer was wondering what he would name his newly born twin daughters when he picked up a newspaper carrying headlines on the Pearl Harbor bombing. That settled his problem. He named one "Pearl," the other, "Harbor."

Return CAP Blanks, Asks Commander

Those who have out application blanks for enrollment with Civil Air Patrol were urged Saturday to turn them in as soon as possible at the chamber of commerce.

The appeal came from Dr. P. W. Malone, group commander for West Texas under appointment from D. Harold Byrd, Dallas, state wing commander.

Blanks were taken out by many here last Tuesday evening at an area CAP party addressed by George Haddaway, Dallas, editor of Southern Flight, and Les Bowman, Dallas aviator.

Since then, Dr. Malone and J. H. Greene, chamber manager, have been to Dallas to confer with Maj. Gen. John F. Curry, U. S. Army Air Corps, who has been assigned as national commander of CAP.

Radio Programs Will Publicize Birthday Balls

A series of radio programs to publicize the President's Birthday Ball in Big Spring will be inaugurated over KBBT Monday, with a broadcast at 11:15 a. m.

Plans are to have programs daily at the same hour. The annual dances here—which provide money for the campaign against infantile paralysis—will be held on Saturday night, Jan. 31.

Grove C. Dunham, Howard county chairman of the President's Birthday program; Dr. M. H. Bennett, and Mrs. Ira Thurman will participate in Monday's KBBT broadcast.

Three dances will be held here the night of the 31st, with a $1.05-per-couple ticket good for any and all dances.

Six Passenger Tire Sales Get Approval

Six passenger car tires, the first to be certified here since tire orders were frozen by government order, were included in the authorizations by the tire ration board here Friday.

To date, the board has passed favorably on applications for six passenger car tires, as many tubes, for 25 commercial truck casings and 22 truck tubes. This is considerably under the 53 passenger tires and 44 tubes and the 99 truck casings and 83 tubes allotted to the county for January.

Catholic women of Big Spring Saturday reported success in their annual chili dinner.

Mexican food was served in a downtown building from 11 a. m. to 9:30 p. m., with $175 grossed for St. Thomas Parish Council and Altar Society funds.

Nearly every woman in the two organized aided in one fashion or another—selling tickets, donating supplies, and cooking. Donations were so numerous that it was believed $150 would be netted in the venture.

Massey-Harris, Allis-Chalmers Superior

Leslie Walker Implement Co. at 205 N. E. 2nd offers in the Twin Power 101 Tractor and Allis Chalmers Tractors and Farm Implements, products for every farm need.

In choosing the Massey-Harris and Allis Chalmers line of farm implements as the brand to sell and service for West Texas farmers, the Leslie Walker Implement company was motivated by the desire to sell a brand of implements which was time proven all inclusive as to variety of units and products of these two manufacturers have for almost a century spared no time or expense in their efforts to develop better equipment than the ones they had built the year before.

It was back in 1847 that a rugged square-jawed native of Vermont, Daniel Massey, established his little machine shop and foundry to build farm equipment. In 1891 the company merged with an important competitor, the John Harris Company. Since that day the Massey-Harris Company has grown to be one of the world's largest manufacturers of farm equipment.

Remember The Satkos? They Are Doing Right Well In Alaska Now

By SAM JACKSON AP Feature Service Writer

JUNEAU, Alaska—If during or after these troubled times you feel an urge to get away from it all and really pioneer, you could do worse than try Alaska.

They made lots of fun of husky, middle-aged Paul Satko when he left Tacoma more than a year ago in a crudely constructed "ark" to establish himself and his family on the edge of Tongass forest wilderness. The authorities tried to stop him.

The ark is a wreck. But it was not wrecked on the long voyage north, as confidently predicted, but at Eagle River landing in the Juneau Channel which was just where Satko wanted to go.

Five miles inland the Satkos have taken up and cleared land and erected a log dwelling that is less a cabin than an auditorium. Ed and Ruth Britzell, I spent several enlightening hours with the Pencovic party but was never enlightened as to why they made this extremely dangerous trip.

Most publicized of the Alaska pioneers are those who settled the great Matanuska Valley under government auspices at the depth of the depression. The whole project was the center of tempests of economic and political controversy.

A concise current summary: The groups have been successful, the colonists have not.

Main current issues in what seems headed for perpetual squabbling are these: Whether the loans so freely granted by the government are so great that the individual farmer can never "get out from under," and secondly, whether the cooperative marketing organization is functioning the way it should.

ALL MODERN conveniences at the Satkos.

As you sail north among the thousands of islets of the Inland Passage, you see here and there a spot where some family has hewn a place for itself out of the forest of hemlock and pine.

Most of these people make a living from fishing—about six weeks a year of intensive work and the rest of the time on just household chores.

The University of Alaska (farthest north in the world and with an enrollment of only 308) has done its best to tell prospective settlers—or pioneers, if you like—just what they need to know. It has a booklet, "Information for Prospective Settlers in Alaska."

The gist of it is: Have some farm experience and at least $2,500 to see you through the first year.

Midland PCA Meeting Set

Annual stockholders meeting of the Midland Credit association will be held February 2 at 9:30 a. m. in the Scharbauer hotel at Midland, C. C. Thomas, secretary-treasurer, said Saturday.

Not only are members being urged to attend the session, but this year members of the farm and ranch families are being invited. Thomas felt that the meeting was vital to all participating in the association because of fundamental changes in agricultural industry.

The Production Credit association is controlled by farmers and ranchers who use its credit services and this one serves Midland, Ector, Ward, Crane, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Upson, Reagan, Glasscock, Winkler, and Loving counties. During 1941 it made a total of $1,648,000 in loans for farming and livestock production and operating costs, family expenses, repairs and machinery and supply purchases to purchasers who have a sound basis for credit.

Most British Columbia pulp and paper producers have arranged for plant expansion since the beginning of the war, the department of commerce reports.

Howard Co Politics Shows Signs Of Life

The political pot is boiling high.

Candidates for local offices became more numerous this week-end, although the picture remains quiet yet as compared to most election years.

Undoubtedly the war is holding back the electioneering, for several candidates openly admit they do not believe the public is ready to think about the July primaries yet.

Four candidates for reelection to their old posts make their campaign announcements in today's issue of The Herald. They are Andrew J. Merrick, completing a full term as sheriff by appointment, who wants an elective term; Walton S. Morrison, asking a second term as county judge; Akin Simpson, who asks election to a second term as commissioner in precinct 4; and Walter Grice, asking a second term as justice of the peace.

Two of these face opponents already in the field. J. B. Garlington is after the judge's job, and C. E. Prather is on the ticket for precinct 4 commissioner. Both have had previous campaigning experience.

H. C. Hooser and George Thorp, as both asked the job of county attorney during the past week. Anna Martin is asking another term as county school superintendent.

That completes the list of formally announced candidates, but the wild winds say that every office holder now in the courthouse, with the exception of one, will have his name on the ballot, come July.

The number of outsiders challenging these bids for reelection remains few—and if others have the political bug, they have kept mum about it.

Weather Forecast

Texaco Is Known All Over the World

Sold in 48 states of the union and 102 foreign countries, Sky Chief gasoline, Fire Chief gasoline and other Texaco products are among the most widely used petroleum products in the world today. Wholesale and distributed in Howard county by Mrs. T. W. Ashley, local Texaco consignee.

There must be some good reason why the Texaco Company, which was organized by a group of Texans in 1901, has grown from a small corporation operated in South Texas into one which now serves 48 states of the union; why from one distributing station in Laredo, Texas, it has grown until it now has 2,000 bulk plants which serve over 50,000 retail outlets in the United States alone.

The answer is superior quality and service with no extra charge. Owing 182 marine units, 6,000 tank cars and 8,400 miles of pipeline which extends to all major oil fields in the United States, the problem of economical transportation of the crude oils to their primary has been solved.

These three gasolines not only meet the United States government specifications for emergency motor fuel—but they actually exceed by 47 per cent those same specifications. The new Texaco and Havoline motor oils, both of which are 100 per cent paraffin base oils, are insulated against heat and cold and made to meet the requirements of the new, high compression automobiles.

These and other Texaco products can be obtained at any of the numerous Texaco stations identified by the red star and green T. Mrs. T. W. Ashley, local Texaco consignee, owns her own equipment, employs her own personnel, expresses appreciation for past business and invites your continued patronage.—(adv.)
