

'Levi Day' Highlights Weekend Slate

Vol. 32

Lubbock, Texas, Thursday, November 8, 1956

No. 22

Texas Tech's only Lubbock encounter with another Southwest Conference team will be highlighted by a full weekend of activities including welcome for visiting TCU students and a special "Levi Day" to promote school spirit among Techsians.

To honor TCU students there will be a special welcome to greet a train load of visitors at the Santa Fe Depot as well as an informal reception later in the Student Union

Student Council Will Fete Ft. Worth Visitors Saturday

Tech's Student Council will host the TCU Student Congress with a luncheon at 11 o'clock Saturday morning in the Union ballroom, it was disclosed at the Council meeting Tuesday night.

Joe Latham, President of the TCU student body, wired acceptance of the luncheon and stated that 25 members of the Congress will attend the luncheon.

Other items on the council agenda were discussion of homecoming, sending a representative to be a duchess to the Cotton Bowl Queen, and various committee reports.

Homecoming was a major item as Jess McIlvain and Bill Walker of Alpha Phi Omega, homecoming sponsor this year, came before the council and asked the members for suggestions on how to improve homecoming in the future. The members weren't prepared for such a discussion so President Wallace Wilson appointed a committee to look into homecoming and report to the council at the next meeting. Appointed to this committee were Joanne Holmes, Joan Knight, Eva Garza, Eddie Henson, Mary Ellen Carr, Frances Allison, Bob Miller, and Wick Alexander. Miss Knight will serve as chairman.

Some topics brought about in the discussion before the topic was shelved include dissatisfaction on the part of the Exes concerning the dance and the bonfire.

Each member of the Southwest Conference sends a girl to the Cotton Bowl to represent her college at the New Years Eve classic. She will serve as attendant to the Cotton Bowl Queen who is selected from the host school in the Cotton Bowl game. The council recommended that in the future that Tech's homecoming queen would be that representative.

David Thompson, Student Council Business Manager, gave a report on the activity book sales and passed out a report on the money given to each of the 18 organizations to which the council allocates money. The Council noted that in other SWC schools the Student Council only furnishes money to seven or eight other organizations.

The members decided to make the second and fourth Tuesday night the permanent meeting time for the rest of the year.

Jim Cloyd, Wallis Champion, Benny Bedford, and Neal Pipkin were absent.

Entries Due Now For Handsome Men

Campus organizations are requested to turn in their entries for Club Scarlet skits and candidates for Tech's Most Handsome Man by noon Saturday. Deadlines have been extended because of a heavy schedule of Homecoming activities.

All organizations may enter a candidate for Most Handsome Man. He does not have to be a member of the group sponsoring him. To be eligible he must have a 1-point average and be enrolled for at least 12 hours' work this semester. A 5x7 glossy photograph must be furnished with the nominee's entry blank to Mrs. Margaret Schrader, Tech Press, Journalism Building. The winner will be chosen by popular ballot at Club Scarlet, mock night club, Saturday evening, Nov. 17.

Eliminations will be held if necessary so that not more than eight skits will compose the floor show at Club Scarlet. Each group whose skit is selected to appear will receive $5 from Theta Sigma Phi, sponsoring organization. Time limit for skits is five minutes. Entries should be turned in to Mrs. Schrader by noon Saturday.

WASHBOWL WONDERS — Tech coeds in the Washbowl tilt set football standards back for years to come in the annual contest Tuesday night. Crowned "Washbowl King" at halftime was A. Craig English, senior from Midland. Shown placing the crown on the "king" is co-captain Theora Calverly, of the sophisticated plungers. The beautiful bouquet for the king is not a product of the Tech greenhouses.

and an all-campus sing. The Tech Student Council will honor TCU council members with a noon luncheon in the Union.

For Tech students, the celebration begins tomorrow with "Levi Day" sponsored by the Tech Veterans Club. Students and faculty members are asked to wear Levi's all day to help promote school spirit for the TCU game.

The day will be climaxed with a pep rally at 7 p.m. behind the Administration building, according to Carl Runyon, chairman. "Welcome-Thanks, TCU" will be the theme of the rally. Featured speaker will be O. R. (Chick) McElya, manager of Tech's first football team. McElya is now a Dallas civil engineer.

The following morning Tech students are asked to be at the Santa Fe Depot to welcome TCU students arriving about 7 a.m. on a special student train. The Tech game is TCU's official out-of-town trip.

Tech's Vets are also sponsoring the welcome and are urging all greeters to "bring their banners and their cars" down to the Santa Fe Depot.

After the TCU guests have been ushered to the Tech campus, the visitors will be treated to a coffee in the Student Union Building from 9 until 10:30 a.m. The coffee is being planned by the Union's Hospitality Committee and will be casual and informal, according to Patti Hill, chairman of the committee.

Following the coffee will be an all-college sing in the snack bar of the Union. The program is being planned by the Union's Music Committee.

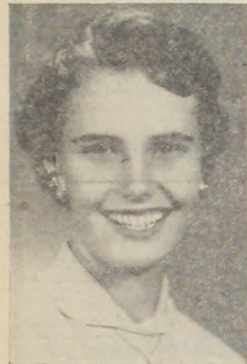

At noon approximately 25 Student Council members from TCU will be guests of the Tech Council at a luncheon in the Union. A definite location has not been chosen.

Clubs Must Plan For Annual Pages

All organizations wanting a page reserved in the La Ventana must have the necessary information in Saturday, according to the staff.

The La Ventana office will be open from 9 to 12 Saturday morning to take any information that has not been received. Payments are not required but arrangements must be made concerning them.

Sharla Pepper Is Race Queen

SHARLA PEPPER

Sharla Jan Pepper, sophomore from Lubbock, will reign as queen of Sneed Hall's fifth annual Turkey Run at 1 p.m. Nov. 17.

Entries will be accepted over the telephone or in person until 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 16 by the Sneed Hall telephone switchboard operators, according to Harley D. Henry, acting president of the dorm association.

The race will start at Sneed Hall and will cover a distance of about one mile around the campus.

Winner of the race will receive a turkey and a kiss from the queen. Second place winner will receive a duck, and third place winner will receive an egg.

Flash-Card Show To Appear Again

Tech's flash card section, sponsored by the Saddle Tramps, will again come to life Saturday during half-time activities of the Texas Tech vs TCU game.

The section, featuring some 900 students, will enact stunts in recognition of the Army, Navy, and Air Force in correlation with the Raider Band. Included in the five stunts are the spelling out of Horned Frog for TCU, according to James Babb, Abilene junior.

The flash cards, now in use at Tech, total six different colors and have been used for 4 or 5 years.

Eddie Neal, Fort Worth junior, heads the Flash Card Committee which consists of Clarence Caywood, Hereford sophomore, Bill Morrow, Dallas junior, and James Babb.

Plungers Capture Washbowl Battle 6-0

The Sophisticated Plungers, upperclass women's football team, again took the Washbowl trophy in the annual game Tuesday night, winning over the Drane Stoppers by the score of 6-0. An estimated 500 fans attended.

Pete English, coach of the Plungers, was awarded an engraved key chain at halftime when he was named as the 1956 Washbowl King. English, a senior at Tech, has coached a Washbowl team for four years.

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority received a gold washbowl as their award for buying the most game tickets of any campus organization. Kappa Alpha Theta was second as "top buyer."

Other halftime activities included the Red Raider, Perry Thompson, freshman from Houston, and a band composed of members of Kappa Kappa Psi, band fraternity.

The Women's Interdorm Council sponsored the Washbowl Game with Erna Lilly and Kay Porter in charge of publicity. Frances Smathers and Rogena Youngblut were in charge of ticket sales and Barbie Bicknell and Drane Hall were in charge of halftime.

The Interdorm Council will give the proceeds of the game to the Campus Chest, an organization which aids various needy causes.

Tech, Texas, Nation Elect Ike In 1956 Presidential Balloting

By FLOYD WOOD
Toreador Issue Editor

Announcement of the 1956 presidential election returns has proved that in this election, at least, "As Tech Goes, So Goes the Nation."

Texas Tech students voiced an almost two-to-one vote for Eisenhower in an October straw vote. Then on Tuesday the American people had their say and followed suit by returning the popular Republican to the White House by a land-slide electoral vote majority. Also of definite interest to Tech-sans was state-wide approval of Texas Constitutional Amendment Three which will allow more money to be given to Tech for building funds. Approval of the amendment also reached land-slide proportions.

Along with its approval went the "okay" for change in seven other amendments ranging from Tax Reallocation to Jury Trial Waiver for sentencing mentally deranged persons to the insane asylum.

HANDS OFF . . . HATS OFF

Hands off!
That's the gist of President Eisenhower's policy toward the present mess in Egypt and Israel, and we're thankful for it.

It is encouraging to have a President in office who does not seem over-anxious to get the United States entangled in the affairs of nations thousands of miles from our shores. How disappointed Russia must be not to see American boys rushed to the uttermost parts of the earth to spill their blood and weaken our nation's security.

Statesmanship, according to Webster, is the skillful management of public affairs. Mr. Eisenhower has proven his statesmanship by putting America first and not allowing Britain and France to drag us into a needless conflict just to satisfy their own imperialistic aims.

American young people belong in school, training for their future. They belong on farms, helping our nation to stay strong and healthy. They belong in cities and towns, managing and working in industries that make our economy click.

But they do not belong on some lonely desolate battlefield fighting a war that was never declared. They do not belong in a miserably cold foxhole watching their buddies die. They do not belong five thousand miles from home wondering why we are embroiled in a murderous conflict that was none of our affair in the first place.

Hats off to Ike. May he continue to hate war. May he not let the United States be duped by smart foreign diplomats whose primary aim is to bleed America dry.

WELCOMING THE FROGS . . .

If the Raiders win Saturday in their contest with the Frogs of TCU, it won't be necessary to hang out big signs proclaiming an hour of celebration.

Chances are, however, with Swink, Inc., still in full operation, that the Raiders will come out on the short end of the score, and even the most avid Raider fan yells "beat the Frogs" with a doubtful tone.

We can still chalk up a "win" Saturday—maybe it won't show on the scoreboard, but it'll be a victory just the same. A victory in good will with a conference school. Instead of "rip the Frogs" as a watchword during the pre-game activities, a "Welcome TCU" plan has been adopted.

Levi's Friday has been designated as part of the plan, and a reception has been set for TCU students who will arrive in Lubbock Saturday on their official out of town student trip.

Cards to be worn by residents of the men's dormitories will say "Howdy TCU," and a huge sign has been prepared for the occasion.

Chances are that a "rip the Frogs" campaign would be a failure, no matter how we went about it, so let's make TCU students glad to have us as the newest member of the Southwest Conference.

Tech Prof. To Address Art Group

"What I Should Take Home from the Conference" will be the discussion topic led by Bill Lockhart, associate professor of applied arts, at the second annual Art Education Conference Saturday, Nov. 17.

"Fun with Paint" is the theme of this conference sponsored by the applied arts department in the Home Economics Building from 9 to 12 a.m.

Elementary art education students will display and demonstrate various media. Tempera, crayons, silk screen and block printing will be part of the demonstrations. Several commercial companies will have exhibits of art supplies.

Registration will start at 9 a.m. Demonstrations and exhibits will be open from 9:30 until 11 a.m. The general meeting at 11:15 until noon will conclude the conference.

All interested in child art, teachers, administrators, and parents are invited to attend. A 25 cent registration fee will be charged.

Sophomore Class Schedules Meeting

Sophomore Class will have its first meeting today at 5 p.m. in the Aggie Auditorium. Class sponsor are to be nominated and projects for the coming semester will be discussed. Names of standing committees will be announced, says David Steinman, president.

elections in past years, Eisenhower was not strong enough to sweep a Republican House and Senate in his appeal.

The lineup of Congress shows Democrats in control of the House by a majority of 232-203 and controlling the Senate by 50 to 46.

Most observers attribute Stevenson's disastrous vote getting ability to his choice of issues which included stopping of H-Bomb tests and eventual discontinuation of the draft.

MIDC To Welcome TCU Fans Saturday

Fifteen hundred cards bearing the words, "Howdy TCU," will be worn all day Saturday by men's dorm residents, according to Mike Henderson, publicity man for the Men's Interdorm Council. The Council has printed the cards in an all-out effort to make visiting TCU students feel welcome to the Tech campus.

The visiting Frogs will be welcomed with a huge sign made by Men's Interdorm Council members at the Santa Fe Depot at 7 a.m. Saturday.

Picadors, H-SU Meet Tonight On Gridiron

Texas Tech Picadors football squad seeks its first victory in three contests Thursday night against the Hardin-Simmons Butrons. Kickoff is 8 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

Coach Tom Hamm's charges have dropped games to San Angelo Junior College, 27-0, and Tyler Junior College, 57-0. Both games were played in September.

The Picador's probable starting backfield includes Ronnie Rice at quarterback with Mickey Barron starting at one halfback post and Jerry Creager, Forest Johnson, and Dwayne Powell, fighting it out for the other halfback position. Wallace Miller will start at fullback.

If Bobby Martinez has recovered from an ankle injury he will start at right end, with Clyde Evatt and Jimmy Allison vying for the left end position. Allison will go to right end in the event that Martinez is unable to start.

Bobby Cline and Homer Rosenbaum will start at the tackles. Gene Bay and Ed Strickland, or Aubrey Conner, will fill the guard positions. Charles Flanagan will start at center.

Joe Legette, halfback from Tyler, and Billy Sisk, tackle from Lewisville will be sidelined because of injuries.

San Angelo Junior College is the only team that both the Picadors and the Butrons have played. The Hardin-Simmons frosh lost to the junior college by a 19-7 score.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Activity books will admit Tech students.

Bentley Leads Red Raider Rushers

Big Gene Bentley, Texas Tech's 240-pounder fullback, has surged into the rushing leadership of the Red Raiders who meet Texas Christian here Saturday afternoon.

Bentley's 82 yards in Tech's 13-13 tie with Oklahoma A&M last week sent his total to 175 on 43 tries. That's an average of 4.1

yards a try. Best in the yards-per-try category is halfback Duke Frisbie, whose 119 against the Aggies gave him 133 for the season on 38 tries, for a 7.6 mark. Between Bentley and Frisbie is fullback Doug Duncan, who has 147 on 38 tries for a 3.9 average.

Don Williams' extra point gave him scoring leadership over Buddy Hill 16 points to 15.

Otherwise the leaders are the same: Hill in passing (20 of 41 for 270 yards and 49 per cent), punting (38.3 average), and total offense (320 yards); end Ken Vakey of San Antonio in pass receiving (8 for 103 yards); halfback Ronnie Herr of Muenster in kickoff returns (24.5 average on 4); Williams in punt returns (12.4 average on 7), and guard Ray Howard in pass interceptions (3 for 71 yards).

Incidentally, Tech in six games has now intercepted nine passes, or two more than the Raiders did all last season.

As a team Tech is rushing 169 yards a game, and averaging 65 yards a contest through the air. The Raiders have permitted 237 rushing yards a game and 69 passing.

RED RAIDER QUARTERBACK — Buddy Hill leads the Red Raiders in pass offense by completing 20 out of 41 attempts, leaving him with a 49 per cent record which has netted the Raiders 270 yards.

Entries Open For Bowling Tourney

Intramural tournament bowling will begin Dec. 1. Entries open Sunday and close Nov. 24.

Bowling will be on a team basis with four bowlers to a team and with each bowler bowling three lines. A reduced fee of $4 has been set by the Lubbock Bowling Club for the tournament.

Total pins will recide the league champs, and the winners in each league will bowl in a play-off tournament to decide the all-campus championship. The Lubbock Bowling Club will award a trophy to the all-campus champions.

All matches will be scheduled for Saturday afternoons. Eight of the 16 lanes will be available to intramural bowlers. Fees must be paid at the time the entry is made. Edsel Buchanan is intramural director.

Montovani Troupe To Present Concert

Montovani and his 45-piece symphonic orchestra will present a concert Nov. 16 in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m.

It will be the only Lubbock show, and a sellout is expected according to David Blackburn, auditorium manager. Prices range from $1.80 to $4.20.

Montovani is from England and has been in the United States for about a month on a concert tour. He presents a big string show of semi-classical and popular music. Some of his well-known recordings are, "Some Enchanted Evening," "Song from Moulin Rouge," and "Autumn Leaves."

Faculty To Meet

Research at Tech will be the topic of a faculty meeting at 4 this afternoon in the Union Ballroom. Faculty members are invited to the Campus Club at 3:30 for a coffee hour.
