★ ★ ★ Four Cadets Are Honored By AFROTC

Four Texas Tech seniors have been designated as Distinguished Air Force ROTC cadets, Lt. Col. N. B. Wilkerson, AFROTC commanding officer, has announced.

THEY ARE Cadet Maj. Truman E. Robertson Jr., animal husbandry senior from Breckenridge; Cadet Maj. Rodney D. Gunn, petroleum engineering senior from McLean; Cadet Maj. Jack W. Drummond, industrial management senior from Hamlin, and Cadet Capt. James H. Ayres, mechanical engineering senior from Pampa.

Distinguished AFROTC Cadet candidates are designed at the end of their junior year. At that time they must be in the upper 25 percent of their college school class and the top 25 percent of their military class.

THE CADETS must remain in the top 25 percent of their group while attending summer training camp and demonstrate sustained leadership ability.

Those selected as Distinguished Cadets are eligible to apply for a Regular AF commission after graduation from Tech.

Ten Students Speak Tonight

Ten speakers will be featured at a speech demonstration sponsored by the speech department in the Aggie Engineering Auditorium tonight at 6:30.

THE STUDENTS are all members of speech classes. They will present various types of speeches, at least three of which will be from the education field.

Bill Holmes, sophomore Business Administration major from Glen Ellyn, Ill., will be master of ceremonies of the participants who represent approximately 300 speech students, said Dr. P. Meriville Larson, head of the department.

UNTIL SUNDAY MORNING

Dorms Remain Open

Thanks to a move initiated by the Texas Tech Student Council, dormitory students will have a place to stay if they remain for the Tech-University of Missouri basketball game here 2 p.m. Saturday.

STUDENT BODY AWAITS TEAM

Tech students will be out in full force to welcome the basketball team when they arrive from Nebraska today at 4:26 p.m. today at the Lubbock Municipal Airport.

Jo Naylor, head cheerleader, urges all students to be there to show the team that the student body is behind them.

MARSHALL Pennington, vice president and comptroller, announced Monday that plans had been made in conjunction with Lewis Jones, Dean of Men, and Mrs. Dorothy Garner, assistant dean of Women, to keep all men's dorms and one women's dorm open until Sunday morning.

Only Horn Hall will remain open past the official 1 p.m. Saturday closing time for women's dorms. Girls wishing to remain for the game and who plan to spend Saturday night here must make arrangements with their counselors as soon as possible, Mrs. Garner said.

HORN and the eight men's dorms will close at 10 a.m. Sunday. No meals will be served in any dorms after the noon meal Saturday.

THE PLIGHT of closing the dorms before the nationally-televised game Saturday was brought to Pennington's attention last week by the Student Council.

After consultation with the respective deans and the dorm supervisors, Pennington made his announcement Monday.

'Huskers Take Easy 54-46 Win

by BILL DEAN

Our team was not "red hot" last night —

Texas Tech's Red Raiders, colder than a mother-in-law's kiss for 30 minutes and eight seconds, dropped their second decision in a row, this time to Nebraska's Cornhuskers 54-46 last night before 6,000 pleased fans in Lincoln.

A CORNHUSKER zone defense kept the Raiders outside all night and Tech was colder than the Midwestern temperatures most of that time. The Raiders finally regained some balance midway through the second half — but it was much too late.

Leon Hill led the Raiders with 11 points, followed by Gerald Myers, 10, Gene Arrington, seven, and Chuck Key and Sid Seligman, both with four.

Al Maxey, a 6-3 Sophomore, was top man for the Cornhuskers with a booming 20 points while Herschell Turner meshed nine followed by Jim Kowalke and Bill Lundholm with six, and Dick Shipwright, with five.

THE ZONE defense set up by Nebraska Coach Jerry Bush gave Tech plenty of trouble and the Raiders were unusually cold in both halves.

This was the second game of a two-game road trip that saw the Raiders lose to Iowa 75-73 on Saturday and then finish winless here tonight.

The beginning of the game was fairly tight with the Cornhuskers finally blasting loose and building up a fat lead. They added to this in the second half until Tech finally got back in the groove, but just a little too late.

The first half was a nip-and-tuck affair for 13 minutes but the Cornhuskers broke things wide open after that.

The Raiders committed 12 fouls in the first half to Nebraska's 7. The zone employed by the Cornhuskers forced Tech to long outside shots and the Raiders were mighty cool on those.

Myers got the Raiders off with a one-hander and Lynch followed with a free toss for a 3-0 lead. But Kowalke hit with a jump and Maxey gave Nebraska a 4-3 lead at 16:27 with another one. They never lost that lead the remainder of the half, although it was tied at various points.

Maxey led the surge that sent the 'Huskers into their big lead with 13 points. At 7:30 Turner got the drive started with a turning jump for an 18-16 lead.

Then Nebraska, led by those two, went from a 24-17 lead at

Dr. Dunn Speaks On Neuro-Surgery

"Neuro-Surgery Performed to Relieve Epilepsy" was the topic of the speech by Dr. Jack Dunn, neuro-surgeon at Methodist Hospital last Monday at the Psychology Club meeting.

Dr. Dunn discussed the various forms of epilepsy and correlated portions of the brain. He stated that there is a definite question as to the validity of neuro-surgery in eliminating the disease since there is a 50 per cent possibility that the epileptic will outgrow his diseased condition.

An informal discussion period followed Dr. Dunn's speech. Members of the Psychology Club were present and members of the Pre-Med Club were also invited to attend.

A GRADUATE of Farwell High School, Dr. Dunn attended New Mexico Military Institute and completed pre-medical studies at University of Texas.

Upon graduation from the Medical Branch of Texas Medical School in 1948, the doctor interned at Geisinger Memorial Hospital at Danville, Penn.

HE LATER served as a medical officer in the U.S. Navy. Dr. Dunn then spent five years in specialty training in neuro-surgery in Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

After spending 7 months at the National Hospital for Neurologic Diseases in London, England, Dr. Dunn began practicing neurologic surgery at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

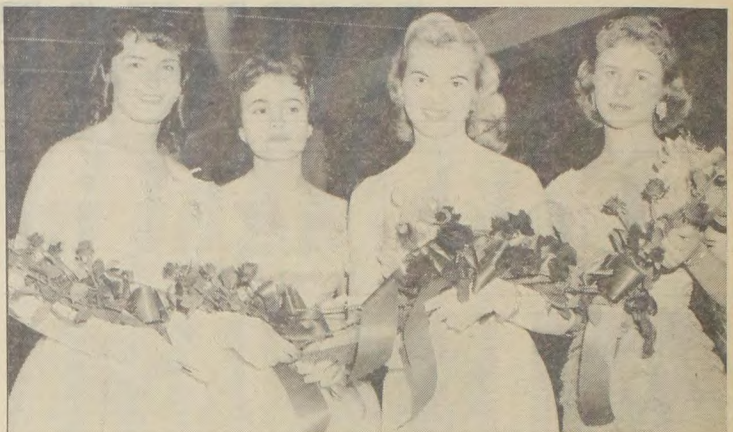

DR. DUNN is a member of the American Medical Association, Congress of Neurologic Surgery and the Texas Neuro-Psychiatric Association.

Pledges Cut, Regret Deeds

Two more Tech sorority pledge classes are regretting their misdoings during this "penalty period" which follows the yearly pledge cuts.

ALPHA PHI pledges are now sporting brilliant red headache bands carrying the Greek letters. These bands are designed to impress upon the girls the fact that they are the sorority's "headaches."

In addition to these items, each girl is wearing freshly starched white blouses each day until further notice. Every pledge also carries a goodie box and upon request can furnish activities with candy, matches, Kleenex, and other needed articles.

Myrna Jo Phillips is Dream Girl Of Kappa Alpha for 1958

Myrna Jo Phillips was chosen Phi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl at the fraternity's Formal Dance Saturday night.

SHE WAS elected by majority vote of the chapter, and her identity was kept secret until she was surprised with a bouquet of roses.

Her attendants, Patsy Junker, Kay Jones, and Johnnie Wade, were also presented with roses.

Myrna Jo, Odessa, freshman, is majoring in marketing and retailing. She is a Delta Delta Delta pledge, Third Battalion ROTC Sweetheart, and she was also in the Top Fifty of the La Ventana beauty contest.

1957 Dream Girl was Kay Henry, a junior from Dallas.

PATSY JUNKER, El Paso, is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha, and is majoring in secondary education.

Kay Jones, Midland, is a sophomore, and a member of Delta Delta Delta.

JOHNNIE WADE, McCamey, is a sophomore, pledging Phi Mu.

Horn Hall was leading the friendly competition on campus late Monday in the Toys for Tots campaign, sponsored annually by Circle K International.

A CHECK of dorms on campus revealed many of the collection barrels were still empty, but several dorms indicated they intend to exert all efforts for the gifts for needy children.

Stacked high under the Christmas tree in Horn were colorful presents ranging from red wagons to coloring books.

HORN REPORTED a big gift collection including several dolls, a wagon, teddy bears, coloring books, a mysterious musical instrument and others deeply covered in the bottom of the pile.

ORGANIZATIONS on campus are taking children's gifts to their Christmas parties instead of exchanging presents between members.

OTHER DORMORIES on campus said they had collected a variation of gifts and many more are expected to begin rolling in as the drive continues.

DESIGNATED as collection spots are barrels in the dormitory lobbies, however, the spot check by the TOREADOR indicated most dorms favored putting them beneath trees.

A trophy will be awarded to the group turning in the largest number of serviceable toys or new toys to Circle K.

TOYS WHICH have been broken are being repaired in the Marine Reserve Bldg. from 8-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. daily. The Marine Reserve unit is sponsoring the drive in connection with the Circle K.

Tech students are invited to join Santa's helpers in preparing these toys for distribution.

Union Exhibits College Scenes

Campus scenes from well known American universities and colleges, both in color and black and white, are on exhibit in the Tech Union lobby.

Holiday College Photography exhibit by the Curtis Publishing Co. presents "The Wellesley Girl," "Posting of Grades at Virginia Military Institute" and "Crowning of Ugliest Man at University of California."

Other photographs of typical campus life include "A University of Minnesota Cheerleader," "Dartmouth Winter Carnival," "University of Wisconsin Freshman Crew" and "A Table Down at Mory's."

PRESS GROUP MEETS TODAY

Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity, will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Reading Room of the Journalism Building.

All persons interested in affiliating with the group should attend the meeting. Interested men students need not be journalism majors, but must be interested in the profession.

MARKETERS MEET TONIGHT

The Student American Marketing Association will meet at 8 tonight in the Tech Union Ballroom Lounge to discuss organization and questions pertaining to the Association in Marketing and related fields. Coffee will be served.

Birds, Beware Next Tuesday!

Attention pigeons! Make yourselves scarce on Dec. 22.

Tech's annual pigeon shoot, sponsored by the Army and Air Force ROC, will be from 8-11 a.m.

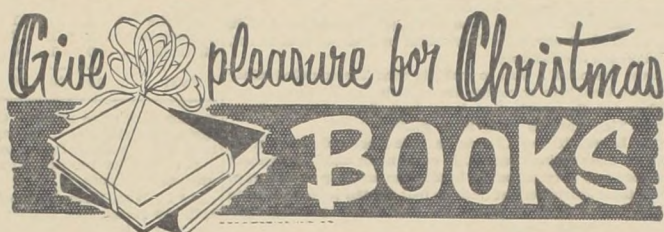

THE PIGEON SHOOT is limited to ROTC cadets and college faculty members. Faculty members wishing to participate should call Captain Arnold L. Grover, Air Science department, Ext. 325.

Approximately 50 people are expected to participate in the shoot, according to Captain Grover. During the shoot campus police will block streets leading onto the campus.

THE PIGEON SHOOT was first held in 1955, when the pigeons became so numerous that they created a nuisance. It has been an annual affair since then.

Since the money to pay for milady's weekly hairdos must come from somewhere, it usually comes out of the allowance for cigars, chewing tobacco, razor blades, after-shave lotion, and father's pocket money.

Outlook

Texas Tech's swimming team will be host to the Southwest Conference Relays here Friday and Saturday in the new Men's Gym.

Swimming hasn't reached great heights on this campus yet — but it's been trying hard. These Relays should do a lot to help that along.

Swimming is listed as a minor sport. But to the men who work out every afternoon and direct the majority of their efforts towards improving themselves in that sport, it certainly is not minor.

I wonder sometimes just what is the basic distinction between a major and a minor sport. Is it attendance at games, salaries paid coaches or scholarships given athletes? This is probably the distinguishing features most consider when they classify sports on any college campus.

There are primarily two "major" sports on our campus at present — football and basketball. Track and baseball come next. Then follow tennis, golf, swimming, fencing, and so on down the line.

The same is supposed to hold true in our country. But does it? Does it hold true even here? Tennis, golf, swimming and some of the other intramural sports such as bowling and handball are sports that people continue to play to a ripe old age.

How long can one continue participation in football, basketball, track and baseball? All these sports definitely have their limitations. People reach a certain age where the wear and strain are just too much for them. Baseball is a slight exception — but sooner or later the same holds true here also.

When people reach this age of no return what do they do? Well, if they have retained any sense they might become coaches. If not, they probably turn to officiating.

Seriously, the point I wish to make is this: The so-called minor sports that we have here in college are actually the life-blood of our society. They are the sports that keep down the middle-age bulge in later life. They keep us going so to speak.

It might be well if we all learned a little more and took a more active part in these "minor" sports. It could mean untold enjoyment later. One good way is to get on the bandwagon and help to encourage and support these sports here at Tech so that we can point with pride to our participation in these events just like we are pointing right now toward our basketball team.

It's all part of our college life.

You can look for the Texas Longhorns to be tough to stop again next fall. Out of 31 Steer letter-winners for this past season, all but six have eligibility remaining.

There are 17 juniors, 14 of them lettering for the second time, and eight sophomores who earned awards. There were also 38 members of the undefeated freshman team that earned awards, the first to achieve an unblemished record at TU since 1940. It looks a little tough!

'Huskers Outshoot Raiders

4:28 to a 30-17 advantage in about three and a half minutes. The rest of the half was about even with the half-time score 35-23.

The second half started off slow with neither team hitting anything short and even then the Raiders were still cold. They did manage to play the 'Huskers on even and meet Louisiana State Friday terms for the last nine minutes. This loss ended the two-game Tech road trip and left the Raiders winless. They return home today to play the 'Huskers on even and meet Louisiana State Friday terms for the last nine minutes. This loss ended the two-game Coliseum.

for the first three minutes. Once again the Raiders were extremely cold from the floor, failing to hit a field goal for the first 10 minutes, eight seconds.

AS IT WAS Maxey in the first half, the second half scoring was dominated by the Cornhusker's Shipwright who meshed five and Hester with four.

The only Tech points until 9:52 were free throws by Gene Arrington and Sid Seligman. Hill finally broke the ice with a jump to make it 44-27 and the Raiders began to act like a ball club for the first time.
