Secret meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad held a secrecy-shrouded meeting Monday amid reports that intensive U.N. talks on a Middle East settlement were entering a crucial phase.

The U.S. sources said the meeting was just another in a continuing round of talks among many nations directly concerned with the Middle East crisis. Goldberg saw Lord Caradon, Britain's permanent U.N. representative, earlier in the day.

U.S. sources told reporters that nothing on the substance of the meeting would be made public. A member of the Egyptian delegation to the United Nations said the two men met for about 90 minutes in Goldberg's hotel suite. But he said he had no other details.

Catholic may drop rule

VATICAN CITY. — The Roman Catholic bishop synod was told Monday the church should drop its historic demand for promises that the children of mixed marriages be reared as Catholics.

The advice was also heard in the Catholic world Laity Congress, where the promises were termed "irrelevant or worse for many Christians."

BISHOPS INSIDE the synod and Christian unity experts outside claimed the document emphasized the traditional view on aspects of mixed marriage.

Justin Cardinal Darmajuwana of Indonesia assailed both the promises and the report, which he said should be thrown out.

Referring to the promise which the Church requires of non-Catholic partners in mixed marriages on the religious life of children, the cardinal said: "The Church must affirm clearly that married couples have a genuine and common responsibility for their own spiritual life and that of their children. It would be in order to eliminate unilateral promises."

Guevara's Image

HAVANA — Photographs of Ernesto Che Guevara appeared suddenly by the thousands in Havana Monday as the Cuban government set about transforming his image from guerrilla hero to martyr.

Cuba began three days of national mourning for the Argentine-born former right-hand man of Prime Minister Fidel Castro. Castro said Oct. 8, the date Guevara was shot and captured, would henceforth be a holiday.

THE BOLIVIANS say he died Oct. 9 after telling them he had failed in his mission to seed revolt in Bolivia.

The photographs, distributed by the Young Communist league, sprang up hours after Castro resignedly announced his belief in Bolivia's claim that Guevara met his end after a jungle battle with government forces.

A special edition of the party newspaper Granma paid homage to Guevara, and the Cuban radio played martial and classical music and broadcast speeches of the 39-year-old guerrilla leader.

In Havana's Revolutionary Plaza, workmen installed spotlights for a giant tribute ceremony Wednesday night.

Fires Rage

LOS ANGELES — Authorities evacuated homes and schools Monday as two massive brush fires joined in a 20,000-acre sprawl 10 miles long.

Nearly 700 men with bulldozers, shovels and water-dropping helicopters fought flames that started separately in brush-covered mountains northwest of Los Angeles Sunday amid hot desert winds from inland.

IN VENTURA COUNTY 40 miles west of downtown Los Angeles, sheriff's officers evacuated $40,000-$60,000 homes in the Kevington residential tract of Thousand Oak as fire crested a hill less than half a mile away.

Elsewhere in Thousand Oaks, deputies evacuated 1,100 children from two elementary schools, Meadows and Conejo. The flames here were within two miles, and a dozen bulldozers were cutting fire breaks in an effort to halt them.

The Los Angeles County Fire Department counted 43 structures destroyed, 16 damaged and 5 or 6 autos or trucks destroyed. The structures ranged from large homes to small sheds.

Antiwar arrests made

OAKLAND, CALIF. — Massed police broke up a blockade of the Oakland Army Induction Center with 69 arrests Monday as assorted antiwar groups opened a planned series of disturbances on both sides of San Francisco Bay.

County supervisors meanwhile asked the Superior Court to enjoin use of the University of California campus in adjoining Berkeley for an anti-Vietnam war "teach-in."

THE MEETING, sponsored by the Associated Students of the University of California and approved by university chancellor Roger Heys was scheduled to run all night.

A march from the campus to the induction center to "close it down" was scheduled for this morning.

In San Francisco — across the bay from Oakland — 235 young men put documents in a basket and tried to present it to U.S. Dist. Atty. Cecil Poole at the front steps of the Federal Building.

When he made no move, they dumped the basket in front of him. As Poole reentered the building the youths yelled: "Hand in your license to kill." A newsman counted 235 documents in the basket, of which 180 were draft cards.

HONORED DADS — Looking over their respective assignments before being presented at the Tech-A&M game Saturday are John A. Doughtie, 33, the youngest dad; William Pyne, from the Bronx, New York, the dad who traveled the greatest distance; and Joe J. Aguilar, 75, the oldest dad. By Coordinating Board

Academic freedom statement okayed

AUSTIN (AP) — The state College Coordinating Board adopted a statewide policy on academic freedom Monday that gives a professor the right to say what he wants to but calls upon him to exercise "appropriate restraint."

The board also adopted a "core curriculum" for state junior colleges and postponed until January consideration of a proposed $6.5 million statewide educational television network.

EVERY COLLEGE teacher is entitled to full freedom in the classroom, according to the board's view of academic freedom, and he must also be free from censorship when he speaks in public in his capacity as a private citizen.

"He must be free from corrosive fear that others, inside or outside the university community, because their vision may differ from his own, may threaten his professional career or the material benefits accruing from it," the board said.

BUT WITH FREEDOM goes responsibility, the board said. The teacher should maintain competence in his field of specialization. He should strive to be accurate, show respect for the opinions of others and avoid creating the impression that he speaks for his college when in fact he is speaking as a private citizen.

"A faculty member should be judicious in the use of controversial material in the classroom and should introduce such material only as it has clear relationship to his subject field," the board said.

A basic junior college curriculum was promulgated to guarantee a student full credit when he transfers to any public senior college in the state.

An objection to the statewide education television system was voiced by board member Eugene McDermott of Dallas, who said regional educational networks such as those in the Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth and West Texas areas should first be given a chance and then if they are successful, they can make connections with other areas.

Hearing postponed on drug charges

Asst. Dist. Atty Blair Cherry said Monday that no new date has been set for a pre-trial hearing for seven persons charged with illegal possession of marijuana. The hearing was postponed Monday.

Defendants are Dortha Dawkins Barrett, 40, 2815 28th St., Richard Lance Copeland, 20, Lubbock and Venice, Calif., Earl R. Ely, 20, 2813 26th St., Michael Edward Cole, 20, 2122 32nd St., Thomas Jay Roth, 21, and Jon Michael Brimberry, 20, both of 704-A Ave. X, and Allen Debs Reynolds, 21, 704-B Ave. X.

ALL THE defendants pleaded innocent to the charges and are free on bond. Mrs. Barrett received a masters degree in music at the end of the summer session, and was employed as a graduate teaching assistant in music at the college in the past year. Cole, Roth, and Reynolds were students at Texas Tech during the spring semester.

Brimberry, Reynolds and Cole were also charged with illegal possession of LSD in County Court No. 1. Cole was charged with possession of an hallucinogen, mescaline. All pleaded innocent and were placed on $500 bond.

Lubbock salons set discussion

Four state legislators from Lubbock will speak at 8 p.m. today in Municipal Garden and Arts Center.

State Sen. H.J. (Doc) Blanchard and Reps. Reed Quilliam, Elmer Tarbox and Delwin Jones will answer questions regarding the 60th Legislature and next year's special session.

ALSO ON the agenda is a discussion regarding the six amendments that will be voted on Nov. 11.

The amendments to be discussed are amendment No. 1, which would authorize counties to put all county tax revenue into one general fund without regard to source or purpose.

The second amendment if passed would extend the veterans land program to include veterans of the Vietnam War.

THE FOURTH amendment will force the county to extend medical services to county law officials that are injured in the line of duty.

Amendment five will authorize the buying of more land for state parks and recreational areas.

The sixth amendment to be discussed will concern state officials being allowed to serve municipal boards.

Parochial school aid due hearing by court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed Monday to hear a major challenge to growing government aid to parochial schools.

The issue directly up for decision is whether individual taxpayers can sue the government to try to block federal aid to church-run schools. A lower court ruled that seven taxpayers had no standing to sue because they could not show they directly suffered damages.

HOWEVER, the high tribunal's taking the case means the justices almost necessarily will wrestle with the broader claim that such assistance unconstitutionally breaches the First Amendment wall separating church and state.

In 1923 the court barred such taxpayer suits. If the current court reverses this stand, the way may be cleared for massive attacks on government spending programs—even in fields far beyond education.

The justices' agreement to hear the challenge to aid to church schools under President Johnson's major education program dominated the court's second business session of the term.

And the court turned back a plea that its one-man, one-vote doctrine may apply to the Board of Supervisors of Suffolk County, New York. This means the 10 towns in the county will continue to have one representative per town on the board regardless of their large variations in population. The 1965 Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act—the centerpiece of Johnson's education program—provides federal aid to parochial school students as well as to public schools.

OPPOSITIONERS have claimed aiding church schools is badly unconstitutional, but they have been unable to get Supreme Court rulings on the ground they have not suffered direct injury.

The assistance, under Titles I and II of the 1965 law, is based on the "child benefit" theory.

For Law School

Board approves exterior design

By DAVID SNYDER
Editor-in-chief

The Tech Board of Directors both accelerated and delayed the university's building program Saturday, approving the exterior design of a $2 million Law School building and delaying for at least a year building of phase II of the Wiggins Complex.

Selection of a site for the Law School building was delayed for approximately a month pending study of locations at 19th Street and College Avenue and 19th Street and Indiana Avenue. Director Al Allison of Levelland pushed for approval of the 19th and College site, but was defeated by a 3-2 vote.

a site at that time. The architects requested a site as early as possible, although they said a month's delay would not hinder their work.

Concerning the Code of Student Affairs Chairman Marshall Formby said board members "have not had enough time to study the document. We need time to compare it to the old Code, and will then be ready to vote on it in December."

Senators set meet tonight

Student Senators will introduce 12 bills and three resolutions at its regular meeting tonight.

Committee reports will also be given by the chairmen of the rules, elections, allocations, public relations, judiciary, academics and campus facilities committees.

Senators will vote on a bill to delete the salaries of the Student Association secretary and business manager. The bill was amended in committee to include the salary of the Senate president. Presently, the four executive officers receive monthly salaries of $75 each.

THE BILLS AND resolutions to be introduced include the following:

The Constitutional Revision Act to make 25 changes in the Student Association Constitution;

A bill calling for a student referendum to determine whether Tech's Student Association should join the National Student Association, which was accused last year of receiving subsidies from the CIA;

An act which would prohibit candidates in an election from working at the polls during that election;

A BILL to repeal the Elections Revision Act passed last year which abolished the circus-type elections on campus;

A bill to create a Student Government Week to acquaint students with the Senate;

An act setting up the office of parliamentarian on the Senate;

A resolution to adopt the official "add and drop day" which was abolished last year;

A RESOLUTION which would lengthen lunch periods in dorms;

The Student Senate Recognition Act to publicize the Senate;

And a resolution emphasizing the need to prevent hazing in campus organizations.

The open meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Biology Auditorium.

Local businessmen surprise Raiders

At a surprise meeting Monday night in the Red Raider dressing room 100 Lubbock businessmen turned out to express their thanks and give their support to the Texas Tech football team.

Heading the delegation was Charles Verner, president of the First National Bank, who told the team, "We're behind you all the way."

Several of the businessmen spoke, including "Coach" Brown who gave a three-minute pep talk. Co-captain John Scovell said that more effort than ever before will be shown and that all the gentlemen would see a tremendous close to the 1967 season.

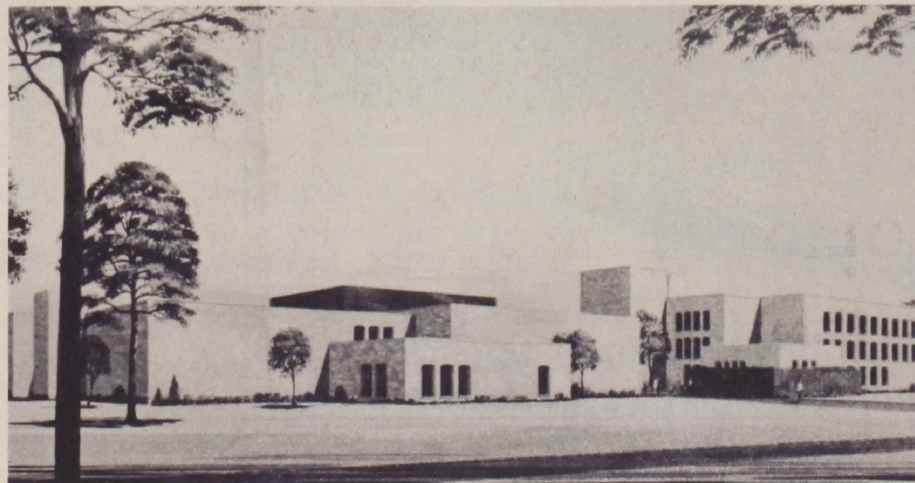

Committee trims Johnson's budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee approved Monday legislation for a $2.85-billion reduction in President Johnson's budget, but Republicans stepped up their campaign for deeper and quicker cuts.

The showdown comes Wednesday when the House takes up an emergency measure to finance for a month government agencies whose regular appropriations still are pending. The budget cut legislation is attached to this measure, which must be passed by House and Senate by next Monday if the present emergency funding is not to expire.

The reductions ordered by the committee hit hardest executive agency payrolls and research. Some 110,000 government positions might be abolished but the committee said this could be done largely by leaving vacancies unfilled rather than by firing employees.

The $2.85 billion estimate of cuts embraces some $1.35 billion in reductions already voted by the House in appropriation bills, but still subject to change. The effect of House and Senate passage of the committee measure would be to nail down the full $2.85-billion reduction, regardless of future action on individual bills.

LAW SCHOOL DESIGN — Architect's drawing of the proposed Law School was approved Saturday by the Texas Tech Board of Directors. The building is estimated to cost $2 million. The board delayed action on a site for the structure.

Editorials

Follow state law

Revised regulations in the new Code of Student Affairs concerning the use of alcoholic beverages at social events sponsored by campus organizations considerably broaden present regulations, and suggest it may be a bit premature to attempt to enforce rigid rules which will undoubtedly have to be dropped in December.

The new Code states that "officers of organizations will be responsible for their organizations complying with state law" concerning alcoholic beverages. This is in contrast to the controversial "no serve" rule in the old Code, interpreted by some to mean no consumption.

The new regulation takes a much more sensible approach and, as President Murray points out, goes a long way toward eliminating any double standard so far as student drinking is concerned. Under this clause students have no more restrictions or rights than non-students, which is the way it should be.

Curtailed of all drinking at social functions would not only be all but impossible to enforce, it would be a violation of this "double standard" concept. This should be considered, along with the fact that state law is far more practical than arbitrary rules.

Hardly a surprise

Postponement of Vaggins II for at least a year comes hardly as a surprise for two reasons: (1) existence of approximately 1,125 vacancies now, with Coleman Hall completely closed and (2) the great amount of publicity given the housing situation due to rescindment of the 21-year-old housing rule and the housing situation.

The original timetable called for issuance of a work order on the $9 million project next month, with occupancy scheduled for September, 1969. Now the earliest possible date is 1970.

Tech's dormitory system now stands at 87.34 per cent occupancy, the lowest fall semester percentage since 1959-60, the year after Weeks, Gaston, Thompson, Wells and Carpenter more than doubled previous dormitory capacity to 4,477 units. Since that time it has doubled again.

Faced with a loss in dormitory revenue of almost $1 million this year, the time for building 1,716-unit new dormitories obviously isn't now.

Public knowledge of the university's requiring students to live on campus before allowing them to register and of granting certain students permission to live off campus and then denying it because of over-building have gained little sympathy for the university and created no small amount of public pressure.

Taken together then, the postponement shows reaction to both profit-and-loss and adverse public opinion. That the Board decided to openly admit it had made a mistake is a commendable action and, as the Board obviously had in mind, will work to the advantage of the university.

Saddle Tramps handle reunion Raider Roundup

More than 300 Saddle Tramps, and their families including 5 of the original 1936 group, were present for the bar-b-que Saturday as part of the ceremonies for the first reunion in the organization's 31 year history.

The familiar red tramp shirt, some a little tight around the middle and others faded from time, dotted the national guard armory floor as past and present Tramps discussed their association with helping to build Texas Tech.

Mr. Wayne James, executive director of Ex-Student Assoc., gave the major after dinner address in which he praised the work of the Tramps and called the students of Texas Tech "the finest student body in the country."

COACH GENE GIBSON, representing the athletic department at the festivities, called the work of the Saddle Tramps invaluable to the athletic recruitment and the support of Texas Tech athletic teams.

Montoya slates Lubbock show

Carlos Montoya, world-famous flamenco guitarist, will make his third Lubbock appearance in five years when he performs at Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Montoya was born in Madrid and started playing guitar at the age of eight, learning first from his mother and then from a local barber. By the time he was 14, he had studied under some of the greatest flamenco guitarists and was playing in the "cafes cantantes" during the height of flamenco dancing and singing.

Tickets for Montoya's Lubbock performance are $2-4.

Tax vote due

Harlingen (AP)—Representatives of 14 lower Rio Grande Valley cities and towns, apparently spurred by Hurricane Beulah, tentatively agreed to hold elections December 12 on a proposed one per cent city sales tax.

The group agreed that if the proposed tax increase does not pass, ad valorem taxes will be increased to meet the rising cost of operating city governments plus the unexpected cost of Hurricane Beulah and the subsequent flooding.

Honors given at Dad's Day Banquet

A faculty award, two additions to the Athletic Hall of Honor, and eight student scholarship awards spotlighted the annual banquet of the Texas Tech Dad's Day Association Saturday.

More than 100 dads were present to honor these people for their achievements. George Welss, 1966-67 Association president, was master of ceremonies for the luncheon held in the Union Ballroom.

Speaker of the event was Frank P. Davidson, New York attorney and financier. He spoke to the dads on the ever present opportunities for the younger generation. With the pooling of private funds from interested citizens, he said that many important engineering improvements could be made in the United States. He said the action of influential individuals could bring about the solution to some of the problems that face America today.

Spencer A. Wells Faculty Award was presented to Dr. Paul Prior of Tech's biology department. The award of $500 was given for his outstanding work in broadening Tech's honor curriculum and for his programs designed to promote academic excellence among students.

Prior has been on the faculty since 1956.

The two new members named to the Athletic Hall of Honor were Marshall Gettys and Jim Reed. Gettys, a Houston engineer, was on the Tech football team during the late 40s. Reed, manager of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, played basketball at Tech during the 50s.

Eight students were given scholarships by the Dad's Association. They were: James Marvin Bass, Lubbock, freshman English major; Kenneth Seth Halbert Jr., Crowell, junior pre-dental major; Sylvia Y. Rea, Ennis, senior art education major; Bobby Lynn Reed, Mexia, junior government major; Larry Dwayne Shields, Jacksboro, freshman accounting major; Jack Don Sprawls, Denver City, sophomore accounting major; Cheryl Lynn Perry, Houston, senior elementary education major and Russell L. Zickler, Bandera, sophomore, civil engineering major.

Three dads were honored at the game Saturday night. The youngest dad was John A. Doughtie, 33, from Fort Worth, whose daughter Diana is a freshman. Joe J. Aguilar, 75, of Seminole, was the oldest dad. His son Charles is a senior. William Pyne from Bronx, N.Y., received the award for the dad who traveled the farthest.

President Welss turned over his office to the newly elected officer for 1967-68, Finley Hurlbut of Corpus Christi. Other officers are W. B. (Dub) Rushing of Lubbock, first vice president; V. A. Clements Jr. of Longview, second vice president; Martin Mastenbrook of Fort Worth, secretary; and Edwin Smith of Lubbock, treasurer.

Peter Benequista, a Manager of Substrate Process Engineering at IBM, says:

"Want a company where bright guys can leapfrog ahead?"

Then see IBM on campus November 1st or 2nd."

Sign up for an interview at your placement office—even if you're headed for graduate school or military service.

Join IBM and you'll launch a career in the world's fastest growing, fastest changing major industry—information handling and control. This growth is one of many reasons young people can move ahead at IBM. (We have over 5,000 more managers today than we did less than four years ago.) You'll work individually or as part of a small team (two to six people) no matter how large your project. That means you get quick recognition of achievement and also a strong sense of personal contribution.

You can stay technologically hot. You'll have an opportunity to do state-of-the-art work in many different technologies or computer applications. IBM makes it easy to continue your education. One program, for example, pays tuition and fees for qualified applicants while you work on your Master's or Ph.D.

Where would you like to work? We have 19 plants, 21 laboratories, and over 250 offices throughout the U.S.

Peter Benequista graduated with a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering in 1964. He started in IBM's Systems Development Division as a Junior Engineer. Less than two years later, he was promoted to Manager of Substrate Process Engineering at a major IBM plant.

We'll be on campus to interview for careers in Marketing, Computer Applications, Programming, Research and Development, Manufacturing, Customer Engineering, Finance and Administration. Come see us.

P. S. If you can't see us on campus, write to Mr. E. C. Purcell, Jr., IBM Corporation, 3424 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, California 90005.

A&M's win over Tech still makes a good show

By RODNEY KEMP
Assistant Sports Editor

Although the outcome is distasteful and unbelievable it must be said that Saturday's 28-24 upset of Texas Tech by Texas A&M was one of the best football games ever played in Jones Stadium.

Not even a Hollywood script writer could improve the plot — two valiant armies fighting visciously for a prize, which in end, only one could have.

The first part of the show was marked by the surge of the underdog—the Aggies had not won in four games, yet now they were putting it all together. They combined a tenacious first half defense with the best arm in the SWC, in the person of Edd Hargett, to humble the once-considered mighty Raiders before a count of 14-3.

THE BUZZ OF THE crowd dominated the intermission and the questions were much the same from all: What has happened to a once potent offense? (At this point, the offense had not produced a touchdown in eight quarters going back to Scovell to Gilbert pass in the second quarter of the Texas game.) Was the dream of honor, fame, and tall cotton to be lost forever?

Mike Leinert's appearance at the start of the second half was indicative of the drama that was about to unfold to set the stage for the director's surprise ending.

This is the point at which a Sunday Matinee movie might end, but someone got carried away and decided to go for an Oscar, with the time remaining.

Hargett, who would have probably received acclaim for an outstanding performance as a supporting actor, on the merits of his 13 for 32 passing, apparently forgets his lines and ad-libs in the final scene.

WITH 11 seconds showing on the clock and the situation fourth down for the Aggies on the Tech 43, Hargett finds a receiver on the 15 yard line and Bob Long makes an unbelievable catch.

A few moments later Hargett wins the game, the best actor's award and maybe a share of the SWC crown for the Aggies.

The final scene is a darkened Jones Stadium. A bustling roar coming from the east wing where A&M celebrated and a deathly silence marking the opposite side.

Somebody had to win it, but it sure was hard to choose between the two sides. The saying is old and oft over used, but it sure fits well here— "that's show biz."

Five lettermen return

B-ballers open drills

The familiar sounds of bouncing balls and squeaking tennis shoes were echoing off the hardwoods Monday as the 1967 Red Raider basketballers opened their pre-season drills.

Beginning his seventh year as head basketball coach, Gene Gibson returns five lettermen, including three regular starters, from last year's team, that won six of its last seven games to finish with a 7-7 record and fifth place in the Southwest Conference.

Gibson, whose Raiders are rated as one of the pre-season conference favorites, along with Texas Christian, is expecting an improved ball team, but one which still has its weaknesses. "We should be a better ball club this year, especially with so much returning experience," said Gibson. "Right now, we appear to be adequate in rebounding and defense, but a little weak in ball handling and speed."

LEADING THE LIST of veteran returnees is 6-7 senior Vernon Paul, who made all-Southwest Conference last season after overcoming almost every physical handicap imaginable — mononucleosis, elbow operation, cuts requiring 17 stitches, an auto wreck and a mid-December appendectomy.

But despite these physical obstacles Paul wound up as the team's leading rebounder and top scorer, averaging 16.1 in conference (10th highest in SWC) and 12.6 for the season. Paul also rates as one of the league's top defensive men, as last season he blanked A&M's Ronnie Peret at College Station and limited TCU's James Cash to three points, in a game in Municipal Coliseum.

Little Jerry Haggard, a 5-10 junior, who developed into one of the conference most effective floormen last year, also makes a return appearance.

Termed by Coach Gibson as a "dedicated athlete" Haggard averaged 8.4 points a game last season and it's hoped that his added experience will prove valuable to this year's team.

JOE DOOBS, a 6-5 junior from Lubbock High, adds his returning experience to the fold. Dobs averaged 6.9 points and brought down 64 rebounds in 14 conference games last year.

Jim Nelson, a 6-4 part-time starter last season, also adds strength to the Raider's game. Nelson averaged 5.6 points in conference action last season and is ranked as a top defensive prospect.

Benny Wiggins, 6-7, returns as the team's fifth returning letterman, but saw limited action last season.

Wayne Schneider, a 6-7, 230 pound transfer from Kilgore Junior College, rates as one of the top new comers joining Tech this year.

Others include sophomores Steve Hardin, 6-5, who averaged 10.4 as a freshman; Randy Sherrod, 6-5, 14.8; and Lee Tynes, 6-6, 12.0.

Rounding out the varsity will be 6-7 Russ Byington and 6-5 Roger France, both sophomores.

JUNIOR LETTERMEN Larry Lewis has been academically redshirted for this year, as has Gary Washington. Sophomores Wayne Nash and Wayne Cheshire have also been held out of varsity action this season.

Although the Raiders have been pegged as one of the early conference favorites, Coach

Gibson is looking towards a tight league race.

"It should be a pretty well balanced conference this year," said Gibson. "Everyone lost pretty heavily at graduation. In fact, seven of the top ten scorers graduated."

ALTHOUGH TECH and TCU rated as the early favorites, Gibson also pointed out Texas A&M, Texas and SMU as top contenders.

Will winning six of their last seven games last season be an asset to this year's team?

"Of course, we're hoping that the momentum will carry over," said Gibson. "I know one thing though. It gave us the confidence of knowing we can win by just doing a lot of hard work."
