

Assembly Set Wednesday

Re-Vote; Run-Off Set Today

As a result of a mistake on the primary ballot in Friday's Freshman Council election, off campus students will re-vote today, as dorm residents vote their preference in the run-off.

Off campus students should have voted 10 times in Friday's election while dorm students voted for 1 representative from their respective dorms, according to Linda Bunger, Student Council secretary.

Ballot boxes for the run-off will be located in the dorms, and voting is from 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The re-vote for the off campus students, however, will take place in the Tech Union, only, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Those to be voted on in the off-campus election include: Glenna Adams, Martha Chapman, Sharon Cox, Lloyd Croslin, Sandra Davison, Mary DeShazo, Jerrell Griffin, David Hamm, and Billy Henry.

Also, Kenneth Lokey, Jerry Parsons, Bill Pearce, Bill Robertson, A. C. Sanders, Sharon Sanders, Ann Strain, Shelly White, Annette Leigh Wyche, and Carolyn Zachary.

Robert B. Green and Steve Guynes are in the run-off for Bledsoe Hall representative.

Vying for Gordon Hall representative are Bill Nevius and George W. Wynn.

Don Jones and Pem Rocap are competing for representative from Dorm 5.

Candidates for Dorm 7 representative are: Hugh Lewis, Doug Gibbins, and Bill Shannon.

John Brutsche and Jimmy Strawn are run-off candidates for Dorm 8 representative.

Included in the run-off for Knapp Hall representative are: Pris Nichols, Jackie Curry, Polly Dahl, Betty Becker, and Ann Mason.

Anne Weaver, Marty Bradt, Cindy Richards, Mary Jane Gordon, Barbara McMurray, and Susan Ziegler are in the run-off for Drane Hall representative.

Elected on the first ballot Friday were: John Compare, Sneed Hall; John Withers, Dorm 6; and Carolyn Freeman, Horn Hall.

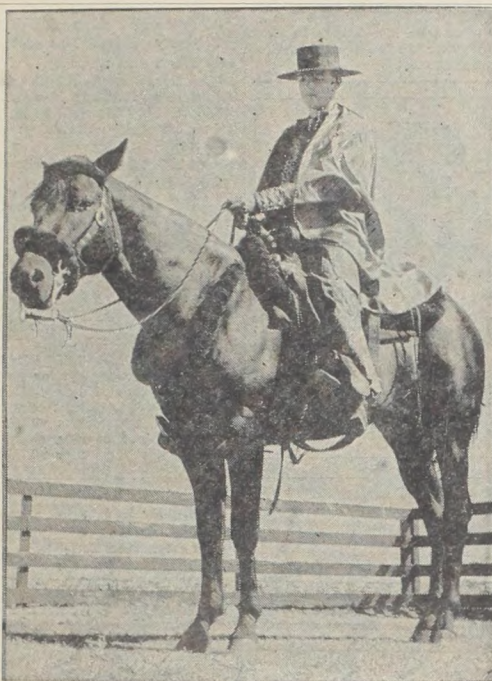

If a second run-off is required in the off campus election, it will be held Thursday.

Speech Council Okays Events

Intramural Speech Council had its first meeting Monday night to start approvals for this year's program, according to Vera Simpson Council Director.

Three of the four events were approved during the meeting — Radio Speaking (Interpretive reading of news and commercial copy), Bible Reading (Interpretive reading of the Scriptures) and Poetry Reading (Interpretive reading of poetry).

The next meeting of the Council will be Oct. 5 at 6:30 p.m.

A SCARLET-CLAD RIDER ATOP A BLACK HORSE
... Hud Rhea, this year's Red Raider

Hud Rhea Revealed Tech's Red Raider

Hud Rhea, a tall, lanky animal husbandry major from Lubbock, is this year's Red Raider — the Scarlet-clad rider chosen each year to lead the Red Raider football team onto the field prior to games.

The fourth student chosen to be the Red Raider, Rhea is riding a two-year old Quarterhorse called Beau Black, which he raised himself from a colt.

Rhea was announced as the 1959 Red Raider at last Saturday night's game with Oregon State.

The sleek, black horse will bear a black saddle with scarlet trimmings, while Rhea will wear a scarlet suit with gold trimmings, and a scarlet cape. A flat-crowned Spanish-styled hat and black boots complete the colorful garb.

Rhea lives west of Lubbock with his parents, where he also keeps Beau Black and three mares.

The tradition of the Red Raider began on January 1, 1954, when Joe Kirk Fulton, then a student at Tech and now vice-president of a Lubbock bank, led the Tech football team onto the field at the Gator Bowl.

Fulton also rode in 1954 and 1955, using his own horse, a stallion called Silver.

In 1956, Jim Cloyd was the Red Raider, riding Tech Beauty, a horse furnished by the Tech School of Agriculture.

Riding a horse loaned by the 6666 Ranch in North Central Texas, Don Hollar served as the Red Raider during 1957 and 1958.

Security Opens New Parking

Off campus students will be allowed to park in the extreme east area in front of Horn and Drane dormitories, Bill Daniels, chief security officer, announced yesterday.

THAT AREA is not being filled by the girls' cars, Daniels said. Off campus parking at this location will not interfere with dorm parking, he added.

Freshmen are requested not to park on the Red Raider lot east of Jones Stadium or on the coliseum lot. The dirt area east of the stadium is designated for freshmen parking.

Accounting Group To Hold Meeting

Beta Alpha Psi, national accounting fraternity, will have its first meeting of the year tonight at 8 in Room A of the Tech Union, President Buddy McCree announced today.

A short program will follow the organizational meeting McCree said.

Goodwin to Speak In Keynote Address

All 10 and 11 a.m. classes will officially be dismissed Wednesday for the All-College Convocation in the Municipal Coliseum.

"Getting the Job Done" will be the keynote address of Dr. R. C. Goodwin, acting president of Texas Tech.

The convocation is the one time during the year that the entire student body and faculty get together as a group to discuss problems facing Tech as a whole.

This is also the time when students in all four classes get together to elect their class officers.

"Beguine for Band," performed by the Texas Tech Concert Band, will open the Convocation. Immediately following, Dr. A. W. Young will give the invocation.

The Tech Choir and the Tech Singers, under the direction of Gene Kenney, will sing "Almighty God, God of our Fathers" and "Salutation to the Dawn."

After Dr. Goodwin's address, everyone will sing as the band plays "O College Mother, Beautiful" and "The Matador Song."

BILL PFLUGER, President of the Student Association, will introduce the Student Council officers.

At 11:10, the four classes will go to their respective places to hold elections. Freshmen will remain in the coliseum while sophomores proceed to the Aggie Auditorium, juniors to Chemistry 101, and seniors to the Aggie Engineering Auditorium.

Many faculty members, deans, administrators, department heads, students and student council officers, Monday expressed hope that more students will actively participate in the election of class officers.

Allocations Applicants Interviewed

Representatives of 18 campus organizations were interviewed Monday and today by Bob Dyer Student Association business manager, to discuss allocations.

Approximately $10 of the $16.50 Student Service Fee paid by each student in registration is used to finance the Treador, the Tech band, the Student Association and athletics. Part of the amount given to the Student Association will be allotted to various campus organizations, explained Dyer.

Dyer said, "The purpose of interviewing these representatives is to decide which organization deserve and need these funds."

Dyer heads an Allocations Committee made up of a student council representative from each of the five schools.

THIRTEEN YEARS AS SPONSOR—Mrs. D. O. Wiley, wife of Prof. Wiley, former Texas Tech band director, receives a silver platter at the regular meeting of Tau Beta Sigma, honorary band sorority, Monday night. Mrs. Wiley, sponsor of Tau Beta Sigma since its founding in 1946, will continue as sponsor this year. Names of all members are engraved on the back of the platter.

Luncheon Set By Psych Club

Affiliation plans with national Psi Chi will be discussed at the Psychology Club luncheon today.

This first meeting of the year will be in the Tech Union workroom at noon. Sixty cents will be charged for lunch.

Suggestions for money-making projects are needed in order to bring a national installation officer of Psi Chi to Tech. Plans for the year also will be made.

Students wishing to become members of the Psychology Club are welcome.

Two Groups Choose Fall Semester Officers

Two Tech organizations have elected officers for the fall semester.

Arnold Air Society, AFROTC honorary, chose William D. Scott as the new commander. Other officers include Phillip C. Reynolds, deputy commander; Virgil Buck, treasurer; Walla Parsons, secretary and Gordon Graves, information services.

Newly elected Bledsoe Hall officers are Dance Smith, president; Robert Sandidge, vice president; George Matson, secretary-treasurer and Larry Pelt, MIDD representative.

Beatniks 'Out' Here

by TRAVIS HARRELL and JANET SIMPSON

There are no beatniks at Tech. According to Tech students, the distinguishing characteristics of the modern beatnik are:

"He has a negative personality. Everything is either 'in' or 'out,' and to be 'in,' you have to be 'way out.'"

A WIERD SORT of character who wears sunshades in the moonlight, spouts poetry in an unknown language, is too lazy to shave, carries the worries of the world on his shoulders and wouldn't have it the other way."

"He is a person with plenty of money who tries to look like a bum while he spends it."

"He is a true pessimist."

AFTER A FUTILE search through the so-called "beatnik" hangouts in Lubbock, the reason for this strange animal's absence was disclosed. "The people of Lubbock who can afford to be beatniks love money too much to become one."

The Purple Onion and Le-Kook are invariably pointed out as the "cave" of the college beatnik. The Purple Onion is located on College across from Weeks Hall. Le Kook is in the 2400 block of 19th.

ANOTHER COFFEE HOUSE of similar reputation is the Crossroads, behind the SSS Drugstore on Main.

The only evidence of beatniks found were legless easy chairs and espresso coffee.

THE COFFEE HOUSE bears much resemblance to a private living room. Wall to wall carpeting — soft lighting and printings lend to this homey atmosphere.

Soft music by a variety of popular musicians fills the room. The Lubbock coffee houses also feature combos at various times.

FOLLOWING THE tradition of the original coffee houses in England, coffee, conversation, pastries and relaxation are featured.

Seven blends of imported coffees are offered. They are Italian,

French, Swedish, Turkish, Hawaiian, Mocha Rich and Mocha Java.

ALL COFFEES ARE freshly brewed as ordered and vary in strength from the near caffeine-free to the "night before finals" type. Prices begin at 25c per cup.

Iconoclast

P. J. N.

It has been interesting, but a little sickening to watch the physical plant at Texas Tech develop over the last few years. A surplus student body, overworked and underpaid instructors, and overcrowded classes all must take a back seat to the most obvious, and horrifying symbol of Tech's growing pains. For those still in the dark I am referring to the architecture of this "noble" campus.

The architectural style of the campus is traditionally supposed to be Spanish Renaissance, but over the past few years this has only meant that the builder should occasionally throw in a buff-colored brick, or a red tile.

Now Tech boasts a wide range of buildings which have little or no recognizable relation to one another. Ranging from the Ad Building, which is probably the best example of Spanish Renaissance, to that all new, ridiculously out-of-place pile of masonry stacked up by the Journalism Building, the Techsan can see such wonderful examples of order and consistency as: the dorms, old and new; the textile building, the new gym, the museum, the sub, bookstore, etc.

Undeniably, the beauty of a college campus has much to do with the respect granted on the campus. How can Tech manage to retain even this slight semblance of respect, when the architecture is such that any student, by simply looking around him, can trace every architectural fad for the last 35 years?

The Iconoclast has been privileged to visit at least one college campus where the tradition of the founding fathers has been retained over the years. This school has consistently followed a pattern of maintaining the Georgian Colonial influence in which the first campus buildings were constructed. As a result of the ensuing order and beauty this campus has been generally acclaimed for its devotion to a single and beautiful style.

Tradition and function are always at odds in architecture, but I feel that at least on the college campus tradition should reign supreme.

Unfortunately, Tech has not followed this course. When the plans for a new building go into the bid "grabag", influence, money, and politics decide the architecture; not devotion to a single, consistent style.

Thus, we have structures like the new business building being erected on the campus. There is nothing wrong with the building except that it is out of place. In addition, the structure is strategically located so that its full beauty can only be appreciated from the West Engineering parking lot. Let's face it; a whole lot of campus visitors will never see it from this angle.

On second thought, corrective measures are probably too late. The best solution would be to completely raze the campus, destroy the buildings (brick by brick), plow up the ground, sow it with salt, and level it. Then if one feels that there is sufficient excuse for recommitting the mistake of ever founding this school, in this town, in the first place, . . . . . begin again.

Goodwin Speaker

Convocation Coming Up

For the fourth consecutive year, Texas Tech's All College Convocation will be staged in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum with the college president, Dr. R. C. Goodwin (although at this time acting president) giving the keynote address.

The Coliseum was completed in 1956 and that fall, students gathered for the first time in a building capable of housing the complete Tech population.

In previous years, Tech had conducted similar Student convocations, but there never had been a structure large enough to house every Techsan — whether students, faculty, or administrative members.

Each year since 1956, Tech enrollment has increased. But attendance to the meeting has failed to climb accordingly and sometimes has not quite equalled its mark of the year before.

This year, for the first time in several years, there will be a different main speaker.

He is Dr. Goodwin, the dean of Arts and Sciences who took over as academic vice president in the summer and then became acting president when Dr. E. N. Jones resigned as president of the college.

Dr. Goodwin, in his few weeks at the helm, already has impressed many with his point-blank frankness in discussing problems and policies of the college.

In fact, a faculty petition was circulated last summer supporting him as president of the college. However, acting president seems as close as he will come to the position — and may be as close as he wants to be.

No Tech student is so occupied in his spare time that he can't spare an hour or so to attend something as important as this. And it's certainly important since 10 and 11 a.m. classes will be dismissed.

Many students never have met Dr. Goodwin; others have never seen him. A lot have known him only as the man at the end of long registration lines at the beginning of each term.

The fact remains, the convocation this year should be a most interesting one, what with an address from a new college head. It would be a shame if students do not realize this and forego the experience for two hot hours in bed.

Word Ignorance Can Hurt

Now that Khrushchev's visit to the United States is over and done, there is some speculation among students as well as national leaders, that at last peace will reign.

This so-called "peace" has been an over-worked word in every kind of speech lately. A student of international politics will recognize this word as being used interchangeably with the Russian favorite "co-existence."

THOSE WHO HAVE studied Bolshevik dialectics know that "co-existence" to the Russians only means the infiltration of the free world by means of subterfuge rather than by warfare.

Mr. K. also talks of increasing trade with Uncle Sam. What most citizens do not understand is that Russia has very little that Americans want. In addition, it has been proven that even if trade were started, it would not last since the Reds only copy the particular article and then stop orders.

IT WOULD SEEM that this talk of peace points out that America has not fallen flat on her face in the field of defense or economically as the Communists had hoped they would.

What does this mean to Tech students? Nothing if he knows anything at all about the Cold War situation.

"peace" and "co-existence" might also be applied to words used in American politics.

FOR INSTANCE, does the average Tech student know the meaning of such mysterious words as left-wing, right-wing or the middle? Does he know what a conservative or a liberal is?

Does the Techsan understand bureaucracy, the eNw Deal or Modern Republicanism? Does he know what the Southern Democrats stand for as opposed to the Northern Democrats?

HAS HE EVER thought about what progressives want and what reactionaries don't want? Does he know the difference between the Democrats of Texas and the Democratic party of Texas?

The college student needs to know these things or be taken in by a fast talking politician such as Nikita.

It is needless to mention here that today's college students will inherit tomorrow's world. This is preached incessantly. But tomorrow's leaders must learn to cope with these devious words and their meanings to make sure that he will not be fooled by them.

AFTER SECOND VICTORY

Techsans Laud Team

What did Tech students think about the Raiders come-from-behind win over Oregon State?

Following are a few comments selected at random after the Raiders' 15-14 victory:

RICHARD POTTER, Soph., Tyler—"It was sorta close for comfort, but the team improved in the second half and simply took the game away from them. I don't know what was said in the dressing room at the half, but I do know they played football the last half."

GLEN HUMPHREY, Soph., Dallas,—"The Beavers would not have scored their second touchdown if Tech's first unit had remained in the game."

BUD HENDERSON, Jr., San Angelo—"It was a great victory for Tech. I would have paid $5 to see it on any night. The team looked sharp to me and ready to win again."

SUSAN CRAIG, Soph., Houston—"I think our school spirit is simply great. The team did a great job for us and deserve support."

FRANZ HELBIG, Jr., Germany—"They seem to have the best spirit of any Tech team I have seen. I don't know an awful lot about football but they sure looked good to me. I was pleasantly surprised by Tech's passing attack."

JUDY HARPER, Soph., Dallas—"I thought it was a very good game. They wanted to win this one. They got mad in the last half and did it."

JAMES BIRD, Jr., Wingate—"I thought they looked great in the last half—they can go when they have to. I credit the win to determination—not the new offense."

BILL SCOTT, Sr., Denver City—"I liked the last half the best. Our guys played their hearts out—with their spirit and determination they are going to be tough to beat—against anyone."

NANCY STRIPP, Fresh, Hobbs—"I thought our team did some great playing. It was a real exciting game. If they continue that well they may win every game on the schedule. I know one thing—the student body is behind them."

LERROY PLUMLEE, Jr., Cleburne—"I thought we might score twice in the last quarter. I figured the Beavers might tire out since the altitude there is so different from Lubbock's. If Mike Seay had gotten to play a little more, I believe he would have broken our pass reception record for one game."

NORMAN JOHNSON, Soph., Post—"I think we will have a good team if they play every game as they did the second half. The new offense is sure pleasing to watch. Anything looks better than running off tackle three times and then punting."

RALPH'S RAMBLINGS

by
Ralph W. Carpenter

For a while Saturday night it looked as if Tech was going to lose its first home game. Tech's play in the first half looked a lot like the Raiders of old—1956, 1957, and 1958 variety.

They had racked up only two first downs and nine yards rushing at the end of the second quarter. It appeared that the Raiders were about ready to roll over and play dead. Tech fans, hopeful for a better showing, were shaking their heads and looking toward the exits.

However, when the second half opened, it was soon apparent that these were not the Raiders of old. They returned to the field and literally took the game out of the stunned Oregon State crew's palm. The Beavers thought they had it won—the Raiders refused to believe it.

The line blocked and the backs ran like Texas tornadoes. Someone had forgotten to tell Tech they were 14 points behind. When they scored their first touchdown and passed for the extra point the Raiders could sense a win. They were a determined, spirited band of footballers with only one goal—VICTORY.

The 1959 Raiders are not a big, beefy team. They don't possess a Don Meredith or a Jack Spikes. They have something better—GUTS. They simply refused to quit—the Aggies had them down—the Beavers had them reeling—they came back.

It would probably be foolish to say that the Raiders will win more games they will lose—the road ahead is rocky—TCU, Baylor, SMU, Arkansas, loom large in the Raider's path—a schedule of teams to turn a coaching staff's hair white. I would like to say, however, that any team the Raiders face had better be prepared to play 60 minutes of football. If they aren't, the Raiders just might bomb them into submission.

I was barred from Oregon State's dressing room after the game. It seems that Tommy Prothro, Oregon State coach, has a policy against reporters talking to his players after a game. I was met at the dressing room door by the unsmiling Prothro and told of his policy.

He had plenty to say however—mostly against the officials. Prothro thought that the officials had favored Tech. He said "Hell, the officials were the biggest ground gainer for Tech—they only walked one way tonight."

Prothro gathered some Oregon State supporters around him and immediately headed for the officials' dressing room. He returned shortly—still unsmiling. I never did get inside the dressing room.

Tech Desire Given Credit for Victory

"The team that has the most desire wins."

THIS PHRASE, scrawled on a blackboard in the Red Raider dressing room following their win over Oregon State, seemed to sum up the game and the feeling of the jubilant team and coaches.

The origin of the phrase was unknown. It was written by a player, coach, or fan.

JERRY SELFRIDGE, Raider tackle and captain, had a simple answer for Tech's phenomenal closing rush.

"We outthrusted them the second half. They outplayed us all through the first but we came back with confidence and hustle that proved sufficient."

KEN TALKINGTON, the other captain, who quarterbacked the Raiders to both touchdowns, said he wasn't thinking about being nervous when the pressure was heavy in the closing seconds of the game.

His passing put the Raiders in the game and could well be credited with providing the winning margin. A Talkington pass found Bake Turner on the Beaver five yard line to set up the tying tally.

"OUR LINE WAS simply great!" Talkington said. "They gave me time to pick out the receivers, and all I had to do was hit them."

"They (the Beavers) were big and tough and they really ran over us in that first half. We had to come out throwing in the second half," Talkington said.

Talkington said he didn't think about missing the extra point conversion.

Assistant Coach Beattie Feathers, who scouted the Beavers last week, said they played better ball against Tech than they did against USC.

"WE CHANGED defensive patterns more often in the second half. That helped us stop their offense. They (OSC) played a great game but our kids just wanted it more than they did," Feathers said.

Feathers said the entire team looked great but he singled out E. J. Holub and Pat Holmes for their outstanding lineplay.

BAKE TURNER who starred for Tech as a runner and pass receiver, had high praise for the Beavers.

"They hit us much harder than the Aggies but we have two fine passers that were just more than they could overcome," the sophomore said. He was referring to Talkington and Glen Amerson.

"WE BEAT a great bunch of boys," said Holub, who was all over the field and a bulwark in Tech's defense. "But I think we deserved to win."

WEAVER THOUGHT the Raiders played better ball against Oregon than against the Aggies last week.

IN PLAYOFF BATTLE

Braves Downed, 3-2

MILWAUKEE AP -- Young Larry Sherry's brilliant relief pitching and John Roseboro's sixth inning home run gave the aroused Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-2 victory over Milwaukee Monday in the opener of a best-of-three playoff series for the National League pennant.

THE SERIES WILL continue today in the vast Los Angeles Coliseum with the Dodgers' Don Drysdale (17-13) trying to close it out in two straight. Lew Burdette (21-15) will work for the Braves. Game time is 4 p.m. EST.

Sherry, a 24-year-old right hander from Los Angeles, came to the rescue of wild Danny McDevitt the Dodger starter in the second inning.

WORKING WITH the coolness of a veteran, the young man who was brought up from St. Paul in early July allowed only 4 hits in the last 7 2/3 scoreless innings.

All this fine pitching in rain, fog, and heavy dew would have been wasted if Roseboro hadn't slammed a 2-1 pitch by Carlton Willey over the right field fence for his 10th home run as he lead off the sixth. The blow by the Dodger, who is doing a man-sized job of trying to fill the ample shoes of Roy Campanella, fell five rows into the bleachers, about 375 feet from home plate.

NEAL AND LARKER each had three of the 10 Dodger hits off Willey and relief man Don McMahon who pitched the last three innings.

It looked for a long time as though the game never would get started. Ten minutes before game time, it started to rain, gently at first and then harder and harder. The ground crew pulled the tarpaulin over the infield while the players sat down on the bench to wait it out.

FINALLY THE rain let up and the umpires came out with President Warren Giles of the league to confer with the opposing managers. After a long discussion they ordered the cover off and the warmups started. The game got under way 47 minutes late.

It was played under lights from the very start. In the late innings a fog rolled in. Both teams played remarkably good ball under the circumstances but it was not one of those thrillers you will retell to your grandchildren.
