La Ventana beauties to be chosen tonight

Miss Mademoiselle Contest, sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, will be at 7:30 p.m. today in the Municipal Auditorium.

KLBK disc jockies, Casey Jones and Phil Morgan, will serve as master-of-ceremonies.

Miss Mademoiselle will be chosen from 25 finalists who were selected from over 170 entries November 22.

MISS MADMOISELLE will be featured on the cover of the Mademoiselle section of the 69-70 La Ventana. She will also occupy a page along with the top ten finalists in the same section.

Any woman student at Tech was eligible. They were not required to have a sponsoring organization. They will be judged in a swimsuit and evening gown competition.

Judges are Dr. James Granbury, Lubbock councilman; Mrs. Pat Laverton, Mrs. Jack Strong, and Ken Weaver, manager of the Coed and Village Shops on University Avenue. They were also judges of the Miss Lubbock contest.

THE 10 PLAYMATE finalists will also appear in the Municipal Auditorium tonight. They will be judged in a swimsuit competition by three professional photographers. Judges are Jim Childress, director of Public Information at Tech; Jerry Rooker, Reeves Studio, and Leon Qualls, Avalon Studio.

The 25 Miss Mademoiselle finalists and their sponsoring organizations are: Lynn Alderson, Kappa Alpha Theta; Betsy Brown, Kappa Kappa Psi; Bobbie Jean Darden, Gordon; Janice Harrod, Pi Beta Phi; Jeanne Hatcher, Kappa Alpha Theta; Jami Hough, Zeta Tau Alpha; Debbie Houghton, Zeta Tau Alpha; Rita Isham, Delta Delta Delta; Mary Beth Johnson, Gordon Hall; Janis Jones, Alpha Tau Omega; Mickye Ann Kendrick, Gamma Phi Beta; Pamela Kirk, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Diane Pounds, Alpha Tau Omega; Beth Ryan, Alpha Phi; Cindy Saied, Zeta Tau Alpha; Kathleen Shannon, Alpha Phi; Marilyn Smith, Alpha Chi Omega; and Linda Young, Angel Flight.

The 10 Miss Playmate finalists and their sponsoring organizations are: Cathy Anderson, Angel Flight; Hedy Bailey, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Monte Dodd, Gamma Phi Beta.

Doneeta Hancock, Gates Hall; Lora Hunt, Beta Theta Pi; Mary Beth Johnson, Gordon Hall; Kathy Kwilosz, Gaston Hall; Suzy McCrary, Thompson Hall Association; Marilyn Smith, Alpha Chi Omega; and Francine Tippen, Alpha Chi Omega.

Admission is $1.50 for couples and $1.00 for singles.

'Hey, has anyone seen...'; look at lost and found

Lost your Volkswagon wheel ... or your I-A draft card or your A&M check book, Social Security card, sunglasses, coat, binoculars, dress, dorm key, car key, books, drivers license, jewelry, ID .....

Whatever, you've lost, you're bound to find it or something like it at the Alpha Phi Omega Lost and Found.

A Phi O's 82 actives and 24 pledges man the Lost and Found Office on the second floor west wing of the Union. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-3:30 p.m.

ROLAND COUR-PALAIS, Lost and Found chairman, said only about 15 per cent of the material turned in is ever picked up. "Maybe it's just because people don't know where it is," said Dale Buckner, publicity chairman.

The many articles left over are cleared each fall when a Phi holds the annual sale. Everything left from the previous year goes on the block. Jewelry is appraised by local jewelers to obtain a sale price, but

The immediate future of Tech's athletic program will face its biggest hurdle tomorrow when the Board of Regents is expected to take action on an athletic dining hall and artificial turf for Jones Stadium.

The Board is also expected to receive and consider a recommendation from the Athletic Council concerning the contracts of Athletic Director Polk Robison and Head Football Coach J.T. King.

The council met in a session, which was closed to the public, yesterday and was expected to decide on a recommendation. Both King and Robison have one year remaining on their present contracts.

THE BOARD WILL ALSO consider construction bids for the athletic dining hall to be built adjacent to the Wiggins dining hall. The base bid of $559,000, submitted by H. R. Bundock, a Lubbock contractor, was more than $100,000 over earlier estimates reported by the athletic council.

A council recommendation to install an artificial turf in Jones Stadium is also to be considered by the Board. Both the new dining facility and turf have been cited by Robison and the council as being outstanding additions to the athletic recruiting program.

Other action to be considered by the Board will include:

★A recommendation allowing certain persons over the age of 65 to continue work at Tech based upon the recommendation of the department in which they are employed.

★A request for an increase in the revolving fund to finance payments to hour-wage employees at Tech who will be paid twice a month beginning in January.

★A proposed location and preliminary plans for swine facilities, to be presented by the College of Agricultural Sciences.

★The approval of a new school seal, and a name change for the dairy department from Dairy and Food Industry to Department of Food Technology.

THE CONSULTING FIRM of McKenzie and Co. will speak to the Board concerning administrative requirements for the Tech Medical School. The firm will advise the Board as to how foundations for the school can be set up and how other means for obtaining money can be established.

A committee of Board members may also make a recommendation concerning the possibility of Tech purchasing Robby's, an off-campus dormitory. Members of that Board committee were in pre-meeting conferences and unavailable for comment on the proposal yesterday.

The recommendation to allow persons over 65 to continue working will be based on individuals "valuable to the school and the department." The list of names to be presented to the Board for consideration was unavailable prior to the meeting, and Dr. S. M. Kennedy, vice president for academic affairs, was not available for information on any of the individuals.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE'S request for additional funds for the two-a-month wage payments will insure that the school's revolving fund will have the requirements to meet a twice-monthly payroll.

All school employees who are paid by the hour will be subject to the new payment system and will receive their paychecks at the first and middle of each month.

Council meeting ends in secrecy

The Tech Athletic Council stepped from their meeting room at the Gridiron Restaurant last night and gave less visibility than the dense fog which had fallen over Lubbock.

Following the five hour and 40 minute meeting behind locked doors only T. L. Leach, council chairman, would give any comment.

He said it has been the council's policy not to speak of their meetings as they are an advisory committee.

WHEN ASKED IF Head Football Coach J. T. King's contract had been discussed at the meeting, Leach replied, "No comment."

Leach went on to say, "No special sessions are planned for the future. All business was taken care of tonight."

WHEN ASKED IF King would be informed of board actions taken tonight, Leach said after a lengthy pause, "I will not be the one to tell Coach King of any recommendation."

An employee of the Gridiron, when asked about the meeting, said, "It's really top secret. I've never seen anything like it. We opened the door one time to give them some fresh air, and they immediately closed it again."

Senate meets with Regents

Members of the Student Senate and the Board of Regents will meet at 4:30 p.m. today to discuss problems relating to Tech and its student body.

"This meeting will be a first for Tech. We hope to develop a relationship between students and board members," said Student Senate Vice President Byron Snyder.

Young Republicans to sponsor drive for local liquor election

By GARY MANGUM
Staff Writer

A drive to secure local option liquor election may find opposition before it even begins.

Tech University Young Republicans (UYR) are sponsoring such a drive in Justice Precinct 6, in conjunction with a voter registration drive. The precinct includes the Tech Campus, and the centers of student population north of 19th Street to the west of the campus, and north of Broadway Avenue.

Roger Settler, Lubbock senior and UYR president, said that if Tech students will support the drive, there will be no problem in getting signatures. "If it gets on the ballot we are confident it will win. A large registration of Tech students is essential to accomplish this goal," he said.

IN A LETTER sent to the presidents of all recognized campus organizations earlier this week, it was stated that all Tech students, 21 years of age may register to vote in Lubbock. They must have resided here for 6 months and in Texas for 1 year. The letter said that dormitory residents were included also.

Settler said his group had checked with the County Tax Assessor-Collector in regard to dormitory residents registering to vote. "They told us that the dorm residents could register in this county if they met the residence requirements."

However, Russell Hardin, Lubbock County Tax Assessor-Collector, stated that this would not be possible. "The dormitories are not considered legal addresses because they are located on state property," Hardin said. "I don't believe I have ever said anything about dorm residents voting."

He said, in order for Tech students to vote they must register in their home counties. "Out-of-county dorm residents cannot register to vote in Lubbock county," Hardin said. "This is a state law and I can do nothing to change it."

IN AN INTERVIEW, Settler said the group would have its attorney, Mark Smith, file for a writ of mandamus, if the county or state tried to prevent dorm residents from voting. This writ, if issued, would force county officials to allow dorm residents to register in Lubbock county and vote.

Precinct 6 Justice of the Peace Wayne

Lecroy said a writ of mandamus is very seldom issued. "This would probably be taken before a district judge, who would study every possible point involving the case. He would then act accordingly."

SETTLER AND PAUL Gartland, Paris sophomore and vice president of the UYR's said they had discussed "legal aspects" of the liquor election with County Judge Rod Shaw.

"Settler and Gartland did come to my office, but they misled me as far as what they wanted to know," Judge Shaw said. "They asked for the legal boundaries to Precinct 6, so I showed them a map. I distinctly remember asking if one of them was planning to run for Justice of the Peace. They said no, but they thought one of their friends was considering it. I informed them that the position in Precinct 6 would not be available for 3 years."

Judge Shaw said that in order for there to be a liquor election, a petition must be presented to the county clerk. This petition must have the signatures of 25 per cent of the qualified voters from the last election. "When this is done, the Commissioner's Court will approve the election," Shaw said.

Six to be charged

LOS ANGELES—A prosecutor said yesterday he will seek murder and conspiracy indictments against at least six persons in the killings of Sharon Tate and others, and that Charles H. Manson will be the object of one conspiracy count.

This was the first word that the bearded, bushy-haired Manson, leader of a band of roving hippie types, some of whom are blamed for the slayings, would be the target of prosecution in the case.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron Stovitz declined to name others for whom indictments will be sought.

Black Panthers killed

CHICAGO—The leader of the Black Panther party in Illinois and a party member were slain and six persons injured yesterday in the second shootout within a month between the militant organization and Chicago police.

Three members of the Panther party were charged with attempted murder and aggravated battery in the pre-dawn gun battle in an apartment on the West Side.

The dead were Fred Hampton, 21, chairman of the Panther organization in Illinois and considered No. 3 man nationally in the organization, and Mark Clark, 22, of Peoria, Ill. Two policemen were injured slightly.

Aid agency bill clears hurdle

WASHINGTON—A bill to create a permanent cabinet-level agency to help the nation's estimated 10 million Spanish-speaking persons cleared a major hurdle yesterday.

Approval by the House Government Operations Committee came after a series of snafus—including assignment of the bill to the wrong committee.

The Senate already has passed a bill to establish legislatively what former President Lyndon B. Johnson had created by executive order in mid-1967.

The Inter-Agency Committee for Mexican-Affairs would be renamed the Cabinet Committee on Opportunities for the Spanish-speaking.

Medina denies massacre order

WASHINGTON—Capt. Ernest Medina firmly denied yesterday he ordered a massacre of a South Vietnamese village but admitted that he shot a Viet Cong woman who had been wounded.

"I did not see any slaughter at My Lai 4 that day," the former commander of the company involved in the alleged mass killings told reporters.

"None was reported to me.

"I did not order any massacre at My Lai 4."

The captain made his statement at a brief news conference in the Pentagon where he had earlier appeared before Army investigators looking into the possibility of a cover-up of the alleged massacre.

Don't let the public find out

Shh-h-h-h-h!
 Don't tell anyone, but Tech's Athletic Council had a secret meeting last night. No one is to find out that they discussed the contracts of Athletic Director Polk Robison and Head Football Coach J T King.

If the public knows where the council is going to meet and what the council is going to talk about, it won't be long before the public thinks it has a right to try to influence council decisions before recommendations are made to the Tech president.

The shock of the whole thing is that student representatives on the Council have agreed to follow the policy of keeping information from the public. Why bother to have students on the committee if they immediately allow themselves to be coerced into such a commitment. We respect the fact that the students stuck with their commitment, but we can't figure out why they made the agreement in the first place.

Athletic Council Chairman T. L. Leach, when asked by the press about the location of the meeting, said, "I don't see why it's any of your business... There's not going to be a report after this meeting anyway."

In explaining that the public would not be allowed to know what would transpire at the meeting, Leach also pointed out that the council would not issue a later report revealing their decisions.

In considering SWC rules about how athletics are to be controlled by the faculty, one wonders why Tech's faculty allows its representatives to keep all their work away from public scrutiny.

Oh well, let's not concern ourselves with such trivial things as secret meetings. After all, students and faculty should realize by now that we have no right to know what goes on in such meetings.

Letters To The Editor

Believes Coach King 'is and has been credit to Tech'

I am not writing this letter as director of student publications. I am writing it as a former Tech student and athlete (baseball), and a current supporter of Red Raider athletics.

In view of the present controversy over Coach J T King's contract, there are some basic truths concerning the Tech football program that should be recognized.

Regardless of how each individual might feel about Coach King, I think that if you are going to blame him for all the losses and bad things that have happened to Texas Tech since he took over, then you should be fair enough to give him credit for the victories and the good things.

WHEN COACH KING was hired in 1961, the football picture here was certainly not a rose one. The Red Raiders had just finished their first season in SWC play with a 3-6-1 record. It marked the fifth consecutive losing season under DeWitt Weaver (2-7-1 in 1956, 2-8-0 in 1957, 2-7-0 in 1958, 4-6-0 in 1959 and 3-6-1 in 1960).

The athletic budget at that time stood at $606,000.

King was employed at $12,000 a year and had five full-time assistants. The athletic department was not only financially in a hole, but was noticeably lacking in quality football players. There was no organized program of athletic recruiting employed.

KING AND HIS staff began the job of building, not rebuilding, a football team that could compete successfully in the Southwest Conference.

Now, let's look at what has happened.

In a story by Berle Pettit in last Sunday's Avalanche-Journal, it was noted that Tech's record for the past 10 years has been 47-49-4 for a .490 percentage and third position in the conference. King's record for this time has been 44-43-3 for a .506 percentage.

During the past 10 years in conference play, Tech's record has been 28-40-2 for a .414 mark and fifth place. King's record has been 27-35-1 for a .435 percentage.

IN THE PAST five years Tech has been third in both season and conference play. In season marks they have posted a 28-20-2 record for .580. In conference play they have been 20-15-0 for a .577 record.

Tech and SMU are the only other teams besides Texas and Arkansas to break the 500 mark for season and conference play during the past five years.

But there have been no titles for the Raiders under King. Only SMU and Texas A&M have broken the Texas-Arkansas domination of the throne room during the 60's.

TECH'S TOP records came in 1964, '65 and '67.

In 1964 the Raiders were 6-3-1 and lost to Georgia in the Sun Bowl. The following year they were 8-2 and lost to Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl. They were 6-4 again in 1967 and did not receive a bowl bid.

During King's career here, Tech has produced five All-Americans compared to one prior to that time. These included David Parks in 1963, Donny Anderson in 1964 and 1965, Phil Tucker in 1967, Kenny Vinyard in 1968 and Denton Fox this year.

The Red Raiders have also had 19 players named all-SWC since King took over. He has also seen many of his players picked to play in post season bowl games. (Shrine East-West — 5, Blue-Gray — 8, Senior Bowl — 3, Hula Bowl — 5, North-South — 4, All-America Bowl — 1).

KING HIMSELF has been named to coaching positions in the Blue-Gray game (1968, 1969), East-West game (1966) and Hula Bowl game (1965).

The athletic budget now stands at $1,174,000 compared to the '61 figure of $606,000. King now receives $20,000 a year and has nine full-time assistants. The average attendance figure has gone from 19,475 for six games in 1960 to 43,199 for six games in 1968.

What I would like to point out is that there has been great progress made here in the past nine years. It certainly could have been much worse. We have yet to be placed on NCAA or SWC probation and our record is better than five other schools in the conference.

In those nine years Coach King has built a highly respectable football program. His teams have reached the stage where they are now competitors for the title every year. But they have never won it and this is the rub.

This is not being presented as an argument for retention of Coach King's contract. I present it to point out that this man has done a good solid job for Texas Tech, and he has done it the right way and under plenty of adverse circumstances.

He may not be the most dynamic coach in the Southwest. He may not be the great "motivator" that many, including past and present players, feel a head coach should be. But he is and has been a credit to Texas Tech.

Along with the great abuse he has received, I think he also deserves credit for the progress he has built and the progress it has made.

Tech fight song of 30's evaluated

There is one Tech fight song which students have never heard while attending a football or basketball game. It is known as the "Red Raider Song" and has not been performed for 11 years.

"This was the best fight song we ever had," said Dr. D. O. Wiley, former Tech Band director. Wiley, who served at Tech from 1934 to 1959, said there were several Tech songs besides the "Matador Song" and "Fight Raiders Fight."

The "Red Raider Song" was written especially for Tech by Fred Waring in the late 1930's. The song, which was adapted in part from the "Toreador Song" in the opera "Carmen," was sung on one of Fred Waring's nationally broadcast radio shows.

The first chorus of the "Red Raider Song" goes as follows:

Let's go Red Raiders, let every man get in.
 Let's go Red Raiders, let's fight until we win.
 May the bells of victory we'll ring out.
 And everyone in Texas Tech is going to sing out.
 Let's show the foe that Texas Tech is going to win.
 We'll show the foe the Matador is master.
 We'll show the foe the meaning of disaster.
 They'll turn their backs to the Red and Black.
 They'll run like hell and we'll ring the bell and show them where they're from.
 When the Red, Red Raiders go to town.

A DOLLS HOUSE with living dolls is shown at Knapp Hall. Girls bought dolls to give to the Salvation Army to give to needy Lubbock children.

Mid-Winter Retreat planned by Tech Baptist fellowship

Mid-Winter Retreat, a Christian fellowship sponsored by the Baptist Student Union, will be Jan. 8-11. It will be an opportunity to promote ideas through guest speakers and the exchanging of thoughts and reactions.

The retreat will be held in the mountains at Glorieta, New Mexico, 15 miles from Santa Fe. Everyone attending will stay at the Texas Hall Lodge which is owned by the Glorieta Baptist Assembly.

The theme for Mid-Winter will be "Christ '70." Guest speakers will be Bill Lawson, Negro pastor from Houston; James Dunn, member of the Christian Life Commission; and David Matthews, Oklahoma pastor.

There will be programs each morning and evening with the afternoons left open. Hiking, football and trips to Santa Fe provide some good afternoon fillers.

Something different will be initiated this year with the introduction of a coffee house. It will be open after the evening program from 10-1 with the current speaker available for discussion. This will give the students an opportunity to ask questions and react.

Nell Parker, in charge of the retreat, said that plans for functions like a talent show and folk singing at the coffee house are being organized. A fellowship will be held the first night to get everyone acquainted.

The program will consist of Dunn speaking the first night on the world and things that are going on in it. The second night Matthews will speak on different approaches to take to the world.

Saturday Lawson will talk on motivation and what the individual can do. Dunn will follow it up with a talk on action through the church.

Sunday morning will be a time for individual introspection. Matthews will conclude the program with "My world and commitments."

Last year 295 students from Tech attended filling seven buses. The cost is $35 which covers the bus trip, insurance, lodging, programs and meals.

Sponsors are Calvin Zongker, director of the B.S.U.; Claude Dollins, associate director; and Dan Yeary, college director for the First Baptist Church. Anyone who is interested in attending should sign up by Dec. 18 at the B.S.U. on 13th and Ave. X.

Instructor wants no structured classes

By CINDY SWIM Staff Writer

No text — no test — no mandatory attendance — at least there aren't any in the classes of Johnny Carmichael, sociology instructor.

The structure of the course, Introduction to Sociology, consists mainly of eight book reports or a term paper, whichever the student had rather do. The books are chosen from a list given by Carmichael. There are also panels on books in which three or four students read the same book and discuss it for the class. When there are no panels, the students are allowed to talk about whatever they wish.

The only test will be the final and it will be a general essay question. The students' grades come from the book reports. Carmichael feels that grades should reflect what the student has learned and that students can learn more by free discussion and reading books on related material than by lectures.

Carmichael said he doesn't use the lecture method because the student doesn't learn anything. He feels most lecture classes bore the student.

"Structural classes are geared to the teacher, not to the student," said Carmichael. "This is wrong. The university should be for the student."

Recently one or two students who didn't like his unstructured method complained to Arts and Sciences Dean Lorrin Kennamer. Kennamer called Walter Cartwright, chairman of the sociology department.

Cartwright told Carmichael that he would have to structure his classes.

When he told his 10:30 a.m. class that he was structuring the class and then started his lecture, half of the class left. A group went to the department chairman and talked to him about it.

In his 7:30 a.m. class, the whole class left together and went directly to the dean. The dean then told Carmichael he could teach how he wanted to. The only stipulation was that he had to give some kind of final.

He says his classes are student centered. He got his idea for his teaching method from the books "How Children Learn" and "How Children Fail" by John Holt and "Summerhill" by A. S. Neill. All three books stress the importance of freedom for children in learning.

Carmichael thinks college should be just the beginning of learning and that it should open new doors to the student. College should prepare the student for learning for the rest of his life.

Carmichael also says classes should be within the students' interest. Many of the courses that students have to take in college have no relevance to their chosen field of study.

At present, the students are required to see Carmichael individually only once a semester. However, next semester he is planning to make it once a month. The purpose is to talk to the student about any problem he might have regarding the class or his book report. This way he can make suggestions for improvement of the student's book report.

'Cow Country' debuts Sunday

By JULIE McCABE Staff Writer

Every MWF at 10:30 a.m. the cry of "Last call for knowledge" can be heard resounding through the halls of the journalism building.

The voice is that of Tanner Laine, part time journalism instructor and author of a new book, "Cow Country." The book will be presented at the Baker Gallery Sunday.

THE 360 pages of "Cow Country" are bound in a hard cover of Air Force orange. When Laine was in the Army Air Corps he learned that orange is seen better at a distance than any other color, and he didn't want people to have to look too hard for his book.

"Cow Country" contains 150 short stories about cowboys and the southwest. Also in the book are 161 photographs of cowboys taken by Laine and 150 drawings by Don Johnson, head of the commercial arts department of the "Avalanche - Journal," and Tanner A. Laine, sophomore at Tech and son of the author.

Laine's first book, "Campfire Stories," appeared in paperback form in 1966. The locally printed book contained 51 short stories about this part of the country.

Laine is originally from Spur. He entered SMU in 1934. The next year he came to Tech to study journalism. He graduated in 1939 but dropped out one year to put out his home town weekly, the "Texas Spur", whose editor had become ill.

AFTER GRADUATION, he went to work on the Las Vegas, New Mexico "Daily Optic". From there he went to Midland to write for the "Midland Reporter Telegram".

With the coming of World War II, Laine enlisted in the Army Air Corps. He was in the same Officers Candidate School in Miami class as Clark Gable, and got to know the movie star well. He also became well acquainted with Chuck Yeager, now Maj. Gen. Charles Yeager. Yeager was the first man to fly faster than the speed of sound, and he is qualified to fly more planes than any other pilot in the Air Force. During the war, Laine had been compiling notes for a book to be called "Encounter Report". Encounter reports are filed by pilots after each mission and he had gathered some of the more interesting ones for a book.

While enroute from France to Austria on his way home, Laine's plane developed engine trouble and the pilot ordered all to bail out. Laine threw out a trunk containing the notes for his book and a German officer's uniform that he said he "could have had a lot of fun with."

Laine came to Lubbock in 1952 and started working for the "Avalanche-Journal". He left in 1957 to edit the "Kerrville Times" for one year. He returned to Lubbock in 1958 and has since earned the job of regional editor for the "Avalanche-Journal".

Laine specializes in human interest features. He won the Texas Railroad Association contest in 1964 and 1965. The contest is for the best story of the year about railroads. The winner receives a $250 cash award and a trophy.

THE UNITED Press International and the Associated Press sponsor state contests in several categories that daily and weekly newspaper staffers may enter. Papers are assigned categories on the basis of population and circulation. The "Avalanche-Journal" competed with papers in Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston and other large cities. Laine has won first and second place prizes for short features, regular features and photographs.

Laine has been teaching a class in feature writing at Tech for seven semesters. Following the example of other universities, the head of the journalism department asked Laine to teach the course as an experiment in having professionals give instruction.

Laine says he teaches the course as he would break in a new reporter. He also said that "students of 1969 are better students, better writers than I was at the same age. They have more experiences, think more, are more independent."

ROTC awards given to Army and Air Force

The combined Army and Air Force ROTC awards assembly presented awards to outstanding cadets, CorpsDettes and Angels yesterday in the University Theater.

An honorary award was given to Jack Davis, a member of the Armed Service Committee of Lubbock. He received a plaque in appreciation for his work in the ROTC program at Tech.

Dr. Lorrin Kennamer, dean of Arts and Sciences, was presented with a plaque that was given to Tech by Mayor W. D. Rogers proclaiming ROTC week on the Tech Campus.

Cadet S.Sgt. Russell E. McDonald, Amarillo sophomore, was awarded the Army Cadet of the Semester award. He was also a recipient of The Military Excellence Ribbon and the Good Conduct Ribbon.

James D. Teigen, sophomore English major, received the GMC (General Military Curriculum) award given by the AFOTC. The outstanding Angel award was given to Laura Murray, Dallas junior.

The Angel Flight is a drill and service organization promoting the Arnold Air Society, AFOTC, Tech and Lubbock.

The CorpsDette of the Semester award was given to Linda K. Guinn, Waxahachie junior.

The CorpsDette is the women's auxiliary of the 4th Army Regional Area.

High academic standing, participation in extra-curricular activities and potential leadership ability are the criterion for the award.

Holiday art shown in museum special

The special Christmas exhibit of the Tech University Museum entitled "Christmas is for children" will open at 2 p.m. Sunday.

"Exhibited in the rotunda of the museum is a Christmas tree that is decorated in the traditional American manner," said Lou Key, field representative of the museum. In the safari case, a permanent case in the rotunda, is an arrangement of Christmas dolls from around the world called "Happiness is a doll in every part of the world."

In the gallery on second floor is a Christmas tree made from Mexican paper flowers. Also on exhibit are art works done by the children of the third and fourth grades of Bowie Elementary and Bayless Elementary schools.

Toys of the past and their modern day counterparts can also be found on second floor. Toys such as stoves, paper dolls, cars, and trucks can be seen.

Besides the exhibit, there is the annual planetarium show, "Star of Bethlehem." It is shown at 3 p.m. every Sunday in December. It shows how the stars looked 1,969 years ago. In the commentary during the show, the narrator gives all the different theories concerning the star of the East. Mrs. Key said one such theory is that it was a conjunction of two planets.

Prof publishes English paper

Geoffrey Grimes, Tech English instructor, has recently published his third article for this year.

The article, "Brandy and Water: American Folk Types in the Works of Artemus Ward," appears in the December issue of the "New York Folklore Quarterly." The article deals with the writings of Ward, a well-known American humorist of the last century.

This year Grimes, who teaches composition and literature, has presented papers at two conventions of English teachers, in addition to the articles published.

New fraternity forms chapter

Wednesday the Interfraternity Council voted to allow Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity to start a new chapter at Tech this spring. Larry Adams, secretary of the council, said Rush Chairman Mike Price will now write to the national office inviting the fraternity to participate in open rush next semester.

Adams said the fraternity will follow national and Tech rules in the pledging and organizing of the new chapter.

"I don't believe that any additional action is needed to start the new chapter," Adams also said.

The office of Dr. William H. Duvall, assistant dean of student life said the administration had not ruled on the new fraternity and nothing definite had been decided.

THE MARLBORO TRIO will present a concert at Tech Monday night. The trio, internationally known, features Charles McCracken, cellist, Mitchell Andrews, pianist, and Gerald Tracek, violinist.

Artists Course series

Trio to perform in Tech concert

The Marlboro Trio, internationally known ensemble featuring pianist Mitchell Andrews, violinist Gerald Tarack and cellist Charles McCracken, will come to Tech for a concert performance at 8 p.m. Monday in Tech Union's Coronado Room.

The program, presented under auspices of Tech's Artists Course series, will include Dvorak's Trio in E Minor, Op. 90 ("Dumky"); Leon Kirchner's Trio (1954) and Beethoven's Trio in D Major, Op. 90, No. 1 ("Ghost").

ADMISSION, which is free to Tech students, will be $2.50 for the general public and $1.50 for non-Tech students and university-related personnel. Tickets may be purchased in advance at Tech Union or at the door on performance night.

Since its founding in 1961 at Marlboro, Vt., the trio has appeared on nearly every major chamber music series in America, on coast-to-coast radio and television and has won critical acclaim on three European tours.

EACH MEMBER of the ensemble is an artist in his own right. After completing his formal training with Rosina Lhevinne, Andrews performed as soloist with orchestra, recitalist and chamber musician in the U.S. and abroad. His versatility is reflected in his many recordings, including a performance as a soloist with Leopold Stokowski.

Tarack, who also has recorded with Stokowski, is familiar to New York concert audiences as a frequent soloist with the Mozart Festival Orchestra and Clarion Concerts. A former student of Max Senofsky and Ivan Galamian, he has served as concertmaster of the Puerto Rico Symphony and participated in the Casals Festivals. His many European appearances include a State Department tour of Russia.

McCracken, a former pupil of Felix Salmond, has a State Department tour of Germany. Five years' membership in the Galimir Quartet and a myriad of chamber music recordings to his credit. He has been heard as a soloist with the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, the Little Orchestra Society, the Lincoln Festival Orchestra and Alexander Schneider's chamber orchestra.

The three artists have shared many musical experiences. All have worked at Marlboro, the musical center established under the leadership of Rudolf Serkin in the 1950s to encourage the development of young talent.

Andrews and McCracken were both Juilliard students, studied chamber music with Salmond and performed in concerts together. McCracken and Tarack have had a long association as musical colleagues in concerts and recordings.

IFC announces stronger stand for campus issues

The Tech Interfraternity Council plans to take a stronger stand on important campus issues in the future. The member fraternities reached this decision Wednesday evening at a meeting in the Alpha Tau Omega lodge.

"I see no reason why the Council can not take a stand on the important issues on our campus," said Gary Harrod IFC president. "We represent 12 important organizations on campus and our members need to know what is happening. It is up to us to take a stand on issues such as the War Moratorium and housing regulations."

The IFC appointed Greg Wimmer BA senator and IFC

treasurer, as their spokesman on the Student Senate. The Council plans to voice its disapproval of the new athletic seating plans for organizations which is now before the Senate.

It was announced that the IFC has made arrangements to buy Christmas decorations for the State School for the Mentally Retarded here. A formal presentation of $350 will be made next week. This money comes from proceeds of the Ugliest Man on Campus contest.

An emergency loan fund was established by the Council for use by all member fraternities. The fund will be administered by the IFC cabinet. This money will be used to give financial assistance to member fraternities and their members.

The National Interfraternity Council notified Gary Harrod, IFC president, that Tech's council has been given a special award for scholarship in its member fraternities. The $50.00 cash award will be presented to the Tech library to purchase new books.

New club to hear Carr today

Campus disorders and the upcoming Texas primaries will be the topics of Waggoner Carr's address to the 21-35 Democrats of Lubbock County today. Then a question and answer session will follow. 21-35 Democrats is a newly organized club promoting political involvement in the 21-35 age group.

Delegates from IFC and Panhellenic will also attend the speech.

Mike Minor and delegation will greet Carr at the airport this morning and Carr will speak at 7:30 in the Arnett Room of the Citizen's National Bank.

Carr, a member of the Tech Board of Regents, is the first in a series of speakers that are to address the club. "The purpose is to get students interested in what's going on," said Bob Baker, publicity chairman of the group.

OFFER GOOD: Thru Dec. 7

This is a Christmas present to yourself.

Why not? After all, you're splurging on everybody else. Why not splurge a little on you? On some special fashion something you really can't expect anyone else to give you because how could anyone else really know? Maybe it's that maxi coat you've wanted and wanted. Or that sweater dress. Maybe it's a great fringed shawl. Or a quilted patchwork at-home thing. Or some smoldering black jewelry. Maybe, it's a gown that clings to every curve. Like to give yourself such a Christmas present? It's easy. Don't write to Santa Claus. Come see us.

Cindermen to run first season meet

Tech cindermen will face runners from eight universities in the first major track meet of the season Saturday at the University of Houston Invitational.

Vernon Hilliard, Raider track coach, will enter 10 Raiders in the meet. Runners and events are: David McKinney, Larry Schovajsa, Dave Gnerre and David Nelson, distance medley; Allen Schriever, Bill Garrett, Craig Lawhorn and Zane Reeves, 440-yard relay; Ken Ford, Sammy Skinner, Schovajsa, and McKinney, mile relay and Ford, 440-yard intermediate hurdles.

"We're taking a makeshift mile relay team," said Hilliard. "We're not ready to run." Hilliard said that the relay team needs more time for conditioning and preparation.

The distance medley team clocked a 10:15 time while preparing for the meet, five minutes slower than the Tech record for the medley.

Other schools competing in the University category are Louisiana State (L.S.U.), Texas Christian (T.C.U.), North Texas State, Texas A&M, Lamar Tech, Baylor, University of Texas at Arlington and the University of Houston.

Last year L.S.U. placed second in the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet and Texas A&M was the winner of the Texas relays.

Hilliard expects most competition from the two teams. He added, "We don't have to look for competition any more though."

Politics takes sporting twist

(AP)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and other political dignitaries are scheduled to view the National Football League game Sunday between the Minnesota Vikings and the Los Angeles Rams.

A Ram spokesman disclosed Thursday that the vice president, U.S. Sen. George Murphy—R-Calif.—and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California will have seats on the Rams' side of Memorial Coliseum.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is also slated to attend and you can guess from which side of the field the former senator from Minnesota will watch the game.

An organization called the New Coalition for Peace plans to march from the University of Arkansas Library to a hillside overlooking Razorback Stadium to hold a peace vigil during the Texas-Arkansas football game Saturday.

Vikings, Rams vie for laurels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings fell before Los Angeles by sizeable margins in two encounters in 1967 and 1968 but are an even-money choice to beat the rams here Sunday.

Swimmers host meet

Tech swimmers will host New Mexico State Saturday in their second dual meet of the season.

The 2 p.m. meet will be the fourth meeting between the two schools in a rivalry starting in 1967. Tech has won all three meets, outscoring the Aggies 249 to 75.

The Raiders lost their first dual meet of the year to a strong Air Force team, 62½-50½, but Coach Jim McNally was pleased with the progress of his team.

"Air Force has a good team, and I was pleased by the way our swimmers performed. I feel we are far ahead of last year's pace."

Last year's team recorded the most successful season in Tech history with a 9-3 dual record meet.

Courtmen go for second

Raiders to face Tulane

Tech's Red Raider basketballers face the Tulane Green Wave tomorrow night at 8 in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Tulane's Green Wave cleaned up on the Raiders last year, 114-90. In the first game of the rivalry in 1967, Tech was the victor, 88-60.

Both teams will have an almost totally new look this year, however.

Though Tech returns eight of 11

lettermen from last year's squad, including four starters, the Raiders will take the court under new management of Bob Bass and will start two of three junior college transfers.

Tulane will return six of 12 lettermen and only two starters from last year's Green Wave team will be back.

Both Tech and Tulane enter the game fresh from victories; Tech defeating Houston Baptist, 76-66, last Monday and Tulane downing Tampa, 91-65, in New Orleans last week.

Tulane's 114 points against Tech last year marked the highest point total ever scored against the Red Raiders.

Starters for the Raiders will be: senior Steve Hardin, 6-5, juniors Steve Williams, 6-0, Jerry Turner, 6-3, and Gene Knolle, 6-4 and sophomore Greg Lowery, 6-2. Tulane starters will be: seniors

Ned Reese, 6-1, Dennis Riddle, 6-7 and Greg Roberts, 6-7 and juniors Mike Henry, 5-0 and John Sutter 6-8.

Tech's Picadors will host Wayland Baptist College at 5:45 in the coliseum.

No. 1, No. 2 near equal say stats

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Although Texas is averaging more than 44 points a game and Arkansas is the best in the nation against scoring, the Longhorns can do more than score and the Razorbacks do not win by defense alone.

THE TOP-RANKED Longhorns and the second-ranked Razorbacks match 9-0 records here Saturday in what may be the Game of the Century in college football's centennial year.

The winner will be the Southwest Conference champion, the host in the Cotton Bowl against Notre Dame, and probably will be crowned the national champion.

Most of the talk about Texas has been about its triple-option attack out of the Wishbone-T offense. Sometimes overlooked, though, is that Texas' defense ranks fourth in the nation against scoring. The Longhorn defenders have permitted less than 10 points a game, which isn't far behind Arkansas' 6.8 average. The Longhorns' first defensive unit has allowed only 34 points.

CONVERSELY, Arkansas has averaged more than 35 points a game with its pro-type attack. This is close behind Texas' 44.4 scoring pace. The Razorbacks have not scored less than three touchdowns in any one game this season.

Texas has scored a touchdown once every 13.8 plays and Arkansas has given up a six-pointer once every 105.8 plays.

"It's just which one you want to pick," Texas coach Darrell Royal said. "They're more effective defensively and we're a bit more effective offensively, or we have been over the last nine games."

Still, Arkansas coach Frank Broyles is concerned with how to halt Texas' triple option.

"COACHES SAY that when it's executed properly, it can't be stopped," Broyles said. "We can only hope their execution isn't perfect. Options aren't always perfect."

Royal notes, however, that "when a defensive team leads the nation in defense against scoring and this is after nine football games, it's no flash in the pan thing."

The game is considered of such importance that President Nixon is making a special trip to attend.

"It's a great honor that he (The President) is coming to the game," said Arkansas tailback Bill Burnett. "That may be a little extra incentive to win."

UT, Arkansas kick-off time causes crisis

AUSTIN (AP) — Sports publicists at the University of Texas sent out a cry for help Tuesday.

"We're being besieged by dozens of long distance telephone calls" for the starting time on Saturday's football game between No. 1 Texas and No. 2 Arkansas.

Kickoff time for the nationally televised game is 12:20 p.m., a UT spokesman said.
