

Runoffs Tomorrow

Fifteen Vacancies Remain after First Elections

Fourteen remaining Student Council positions will be filled in a runoff election tomorrow, with 28 students vying for the positions.

Fifteen positions have already been filled.

TWO GIRLS and four boys will compete for the three remaining cheerleader posts.

GAIL PETERSEN and Mary Catherine Birkelback are finalists in the race for student body secretary—the only executive position still open.

Donnell Echols and David

Steinman have been elected student body president and vice president. Dan Howard was unopposed in the race for business manager.

JUDY ECKLUND faces Sandra Hendrix in the runoff for the remaining girl cheerleader post. Running for the boy cheerleader posts are Jack Burgess, Jay Johnson, Butch Lawrence and Bill Womble. Sharla Pepper was elected girl cheerleader, and Joe Naylor was elected head cheerleader.

Five positions are unfilled in Arts and Sciences. David Edwards, Richard Estes, Don Grimmes, Tom Jenkins, Mary Ann Lindley, Jill Jost, Stan Powers, Linda Roberts, Shirley Stephens and Gaynelle Williams are the runoff candidates. Pat Rainer, Wayne Gibbens, Ken Talkington and Johanna Zourmas have been elected to the other four positions.

man, Mike Montgomery and Bill

Pfluger are in the runoff. Mary Jane Cashion and Champ Turner are competing for the lone Engineering representative post left open. Bob Dyer, Larry Pinson, Claude Rogers, Gerald Seeman, Don Spencer, Hollis Swafford and Milton Vaughn have already been elected.

Bob Byrd and Roy Milhoan were elected to Agriculture representative posts, while Duery Menzies and James Knowlton are vying for the final position.

THE TWO POSITIONS in Home Economics remain vacant.

Running will be Libby Balzer, Deann Buske, Janet Vines and Kathy White.

Voting will take place Wednesday in the Tech Union, Home Economics, Agriculture, Administration and East Engineering buildings and dormitories. Returns will be posted in Administration Building and the Tech Union.

Student Council secretary Pat Rainer has announced that all runoff candidates who haven't turned in their expense accounts to the Student Council Office should do so today.

For 'Women's Day'

Co-Eds Dress in White

Tech coeds will celebrate the annual "Women's Day" today by dressing in white.

Theme of this year's Women's Day, which is sponsored by Association of Women Students, is "Women of Today Face Tomorrow. It will be carried out during the day and at a banquet tonight.

A coffee will be held from 1:30-4:00 this afternoon. It will be in the Dean of Women's Office and all women students, faculty members, and organizational sponsors are invited.

PRESIDENTS OF AWS, Pannellic, and WIDC, Barbara McDougal, Barbara Hawk, and Carolyn Scott respectively, will take over Dean Phillips, Sterner, and Garner's offices for the day.

Past presidents of these organizations, Mary Alice Richardson, Diana Smith, and Jean Elliott will serve as hostesses.

A Women's Day banquet, held in the Union Ballroom at 6 p.m. tonight will climax the celebration. Miss Margaret Weeks, former Dean of Home Economics and for whom Weeks Hall was named, will speak at the banquet on "The Heritage of AWS."

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of the banquet will be the presentation of the "Women of the Year." She will be elected today from the

"THIS IS A SORRY SIGHT," states Macbeth shortly after killing Duncan, the king. Macbeth is being played by O. C. Renfro and standing by his side is Lady Macbeth portrayed by Nancy Mahan. The Shakespearean production "Macbeth" is being staged nightly through Friday in the Aggie Pavilion.

"Macbeth" Currently In One Week Production

by DEANIE KILLION
With three performances to its credit, "Macbeth," Shakespearean production scheduled to continue through Friday, is currently scoring another hit for the speech department.

The play, directed by Ronald Schulz, is being staged in a theatre resembling the Globe Theatre in England for which Shakespeare wrote. By utilizing the architectural similarities of the Aggie Pavilion, and through construction of six of seven stage areas that Shakespeare used, the atmosphere which was originally intended is captured.

O. C. RENFRO, already a veteran performer, masters with great success the title role. Also contributing a professional quality to the play is Nancy Mahan, capably portraying Lady Macbeth with an experienced stage manner.

Versatile Roland Myers gave the production sparkle in a humorous scene as the porter and his acting ability was also noted in the role of Malcolm.

To be commended for excellent performances are Bill Luck as Macduff and Ron Harritt in the role of Banquo. Dramatically adding vigor to the presentation are the three witches played by Jean King, Darlene Dorrell and Benni Dunn. They predicted the rise and downfall of the tragic figure, Macbeth.

SCENES NOT to soon be forgotten are the porter sleep walk-

1958 Spring Festival Was Huge Success

"The Spring Festival was a huge success this year and I hope it will continue to grow and improve with each succeeding year," commented Wick Alexander, committee member for the festival.

This comment reflects the enthusiasm of Tech students for the first Spring Festival at its close.

Presentation of King and Queen of the Spring Festival, the dedication of the 1958 La Ventana to Dean W. L. Stangel, agriculture department, and an address by Dr. E. N. Jones, president, highlighted the all-school convocation Wednesday.

Neal Pipkin of Matador, and Liz Wilson of Houston, were elected King and Queen. Dr. Jones presented a bouquet of roses to Miss Wilson.

The Senior Carnival featuring booths made by campus organizations was held on the Ad Building parking lot after the convocation.

Zeta Tau Alpha won a trophy for making the most money at the carnival with their "Girly show" booth. The money will be used for the senior gift.

Approximately 2,000 people visited. Page 5, SPRING FESTIVAL . . .

Junior Personnel Forms Due Soon

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, director of Placement Service announced the junior students who plan to graduate in 1959 should complete their personnel forms and turn them into the Placement Office between May 1-3. Those who do not have information forms can pick them up from the offices of the Deans of their schools or from the Placement Service.

Each year a survey on job acceptances is made on seniors. There are numerous requests from various agencies and business firms as to the nature of the employment which college graduates are accepting during a given year.

The personnel information forms are used to secure this information. The filing of the form, together with two 2" by 3" glossy photographs, is a requirement for graduation.

Students who wish to order data sheets should file their requests and pay the fee of $6.50. This arrangement will permit students to have their files ready when the interviews start Nov. 1, 1958. Over 100 companies have scheduled visits to the campus for 1958-59. More than 6,000 interviews were scheduled during the current year.

Kats Honor Alumni At Calypso Party

Kappa Alpha Theta honored its alumni with an exchange party last night in Clapp Party House. The party, starting at 7 p.m., featured the entertainment of a Calypso Band and a chorus line made up of members of Kappa Alpha Theta. The members introduced some new songs to the alumni during the party.

Plans for the National Kappa Alpha Theta National Convention were also made at the party.

Greeks Make Ready For Annual Sing

Inter-Fraternity Sing, sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity, will be Friday at 7:30 in the evening at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

All Greek social organizations will be competing for the four trophies—two each in the sorority and fraternity divisions.

The three Amarillo judges will be Clyde Roller, director of the Amarillo Symphony; Cecil McMeans, Folk St. Methodist Church choir director; and Cecil Green, Jr., vocal department head of Amarillo High School.

Last year's winners were Zeta Tau Alpha and Kappa Alpha Theta in the sorority division with Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Gamma Delta taking winning places in the fraternity divisions.

The four permanent trophies and the traveling trophies will be on display in the Tech Union this week. Phi Mu Alpha glee club will sing during the intermission while the judges make their decisions.

Admission will be free and seats for the audience will be in the front section of the auditorium.

Hendrix Crowned Military Queen

Sandra Hendrix was crowned Military Queen Saturday night at the Scabbard and Blade annual Military Ball. Leta Merle Roberts and Mary Lynn Peveto were her princesses.

Other queen candidates were Cam Murray, Karen Key, Janet Hopkins, Suzie Eastwood, Jan Walner, Dorothy Jeanne Cochran, Ann Selecman, Winn Sherrill, Madelyn Maddox, Betty Hargrove and Barbara Quintanilla.

The military ball was officially opened with a grand march to the music by the Kingsman Combo.

Violations Center On Three Spots

Traffic violations currently seem to be centered around three areas on Texas Tech's campus, Security Patrol Chief Foy Addison said.

The first location is the area across the street from the Chemistry Building parking lot. It is a violation to park north of the northern boundary of this lot.

Also, it is illegal to park anywhere along the street leading to the dairy barns in front of the greenhouses. City of Lubbock traffic tickets are given for these violations.

Another area prohibited to vehicles is along the street running from the Administration Building between the Agriculture Building and the barracks.

Parking in these areas is considered an infraction and tickets will be issued.

Embassy Sponsors French Contest

Thirty-five of Tech's top French students will compete in a comparative test this afternoon for medals awarded by the French Embassy.

The French Embassy annually awards two medals for the best first-year French students and two medals for the best second year students.

The winners will receive their awards at a 6 p.m. banquet, May 6 in the Union Ballroom.

Festival Committee Says 'Thanks'

TO TEXAS TECH STUDENT BODY:

The Spring Festival Committee wishes to thank the Tech Student Body for the wonderful cooperation exhibited during the Spring Festival. There are also many organizations that have contributed much and without whose help this event would have been impossible. We would like to recognize these organizations and thank them for all they have done:

All-School Convocation — Convocations Committee, Dean Allen, chrmn., Senior Carnival — Senior Class, Dean Rea, chrmn.; Western Dance — Panhellenic, IFC, Tech Union; Frantic Fun Fair — Tech Union, Ted Cathel, chrmn.; Varsity Show — Tech Union, Roger Lotter, producer; HE Open House, School of Home Economics; Engineering Show — School of Engineering.

Many of these organizations contributed much time, effort and money and were instrumental in the final success.

We would like to give special thanks to Dean Lewis Jones for his helpful advice and cooperation throughout the planning of the Festival.

This year's Festival is only the beginning. Of course there were many mistakes made and many opportunities overlooked. The Committee would appreciate any constructive criticism from you that might improve the Festival next year.

The Spring Festival has taken the first step forward in being the great event we hope it may someday be. The responsibility is now given to the future Techsians to keep the ball rolling and growing and improving with each passing year.

Sincerely,
Wick Alexander, chairman
Spring Festival
Committee

both text and library books, without regard for his fellow students, his college or himself.

"I DON'T KNOW why a person steals a book and many whom I have talked to can't give an explanation for their stealing either," said Dean of Men Lew Jones. "But I do know that theft is serious business and demands serious disciplinary steps."

"A person involved in the stealing of books is in danger of suspension," he warned.

John Techsan might profit from the mistake of one senior who was expelled for theft just before graduation. He sacrificed his entire college career for a few dollars from stolen books.

ACCURATE estimation of the extent of book theft is difficult, but last fall three cases were reported to the dean's office. Stealing runs in cycles. The beginning and the end of semesters are periods when theft is at its peak.

When John Q. Techsan steals the books usually are sold to the nearby bookstores, Miss Douth Hill, manager of the Book and Stationery Center, estimated that five per cent of the books sold to them by students have been stolen.

"HOWEVER, we are careful when buying used books. The students wishing to sell textbooks must sign his name on a numbered line and produce his identification card. All books bought are given the number corresponding to the seller's signature. In this way we keep an accurate record which aids in tracing stolen books," explained Miss Hill.

The campus bookstore also uses this number system for "ours and the student's protection," said W. C. Cole, manager. The Varsity Bookstore keeps a similar record according to manager Chester Banks.

OUR FRIEND John Techsan steals the majority of textbooks from the Tech Union. Students on entering the Union leave their books in the shelves provided at the doors or on the tables inside. Such an arrangement, though convenient, often is too tempting for John Q. When in the Union, all students should take precautions against theft.

"We expect and should receive honesty from our neighbors," asserted Dean Jones. "Everyone has a right to feel reasonably safe when leaving his books at the Union, and if one can't now, it is a situation which should be corrected."

BOOKS ARE TAKEN not only from the Union but also from every conceivable place on campus — library, classrooms, gyms, cars and dormitories.

"Carelessness of owners with their texts encourages theft," stated George Koon, manager of the textbook department of the campus bookstore. "Students are tempting others to steal when they leave a book in an unlocked car, classroom or any public place."

"BOOKS ARE valuable and expensive, a fact any student will readily agree with. Therefore, why shouldn't we protect them in relation to their value?" commented Bank of the Varsity Bookstore.

Several precautions, if taken by the entire student body, should discourage John Q. Techsan's book stealing:

1. Write your name in your texts as soon after purchase as you are sure you have the correct one for the courses. Under the name along the outer rim is preferable, because then the identification is clearly seen and difficult to remove.

2. Always remember a carelessly placed book may soon be a stolen one.

3. Report a stolen book to the bookstores immediately after theft. Lost books may be found in the Union.

These steps would perhaps make it harder for John Q. to steal, but "steps which would stop theft completely must come from the integrity and conscience of the guilty," said Miss Hill. Only when John Q. realizes the consequences of his deeds and corrects them can Tech boast about student integrity.

It would then be possible to diminish or even eliminate the continued growth of the stack of 34 books in the corner of the Dean of Men's office described as "stolen."

...wet wash...
—wetherington

It was a balmy, lovely morning in Spring, somewhere close to the 10th hour of a Monday, when Horace dragged himself up three flights of stairs in the Ad Building, down a corridor, and into the classroom. Lazily he walked to the window, and dragged himself on the ledge next to a classmate with golden locks.

"HEY, AGNES," he said, "c'mon, let's cut class."

"Heavens, Horace," she replied, somewhat unnerved, "why I couldn't do that. I'm already mixed up enough in this history course. If I miss a day there's no telling how much confusing material I'll miss!"

"Aw," said Horace, digging his shoe in the radiator, "but lookit the beautiful day. Listen to the sounds outside; it's too much for me to take." He rested his chin on the ledge. "I am lackadaisical. I am despondent. I cannot tolerate the passion of spring bursting within me. In short, I'm going to cut class and dream the day away wallowing in the weather."

AGNES REMAINED silent for a moment, gazing out the window with Horace, following a shapeless puff of cloud. She shook the gleam of desire out of her eyes. "Look, Horace," she said in a throaty whisper, "you know how the prof has no patience with absentees. When you cut three weeks ago you had to get a signed affidavit from two nurses and the surgeon, remember? And how about the other student who had to bring his appendix to class as evidence of his two-week layup?"

"I can't help it," sighed Horace. "It's too big for me." He gestured towards the Great Outside. "Life is too, too big today for me to coagulate it into an hour's discourse on the Crimean War." He grasped her hand. "Come, go with me up to the hill. We will survey the totals of life and chew on grass blades. How can you refuse the call of Earth?"

"I LIKE HISTORY. I want to learn it. It's required. The professor is required. And he doesn't tolerate absences."

"Phaugh!" exclaimed Horace. "Do you care nothing for Nature's own education?"

"I don't have time for an education," snapped Agnes. "I'm having a hard enough time getting a degree!"

"VERY WELL," resigned Horace. "I shall leave you to the stifling classroom. Today I have no intention of studying history." He gathered up his books in his hands. "I'm going to make it out of here instead!"

And he floated out the window on a white cloud and was consumed in the glare of sunlight and greenery.

Tennis Team Slams ACC; Golfers Beat Rice

by BILLY ELLIS

David Kent and Dick Spiers, playing number two doubles, rallied in the last two sets to down Neil Carroll and Kent Comoli, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3 and give the Red Raiders a 6-0 win over the Abilene Christian College Wildcats yesterday on the varsity courts.

The final match of the day was the only one in which Tech was extended beyond straight sets, as the Red Raiders took time off from SWC battles to post their fourth shutout of the year, second over ACC, while running their season tabulation to seven wins, two defeats and one tie.

Coach George Philbrick's netters were in charge all the way. In the first match of the day, Billy Edd Gowan defeated Mike Richards of ACC, 6-4, 6-4. Bob Macy, who has been playing number one matches all season, was shifted to number two, and thrashed James Tudor, 6-1, 6-2.

DAVID KENT took the number three game, 6-2 and 6-2 over Neil Carroll, and Dick Spiers downed Kent Comoli in the number fours, 6-3 and 6-2.

Macy-Gowan had little trouble in the number one doubles match, taking the measure of the Richards-Tudor duo, 6-0 and 6-1.

In a special practice match, featuring two fine freshman prospects, James Harvey of Tech defeated Charles Bleiker of ACC, 6-1, 6-2.

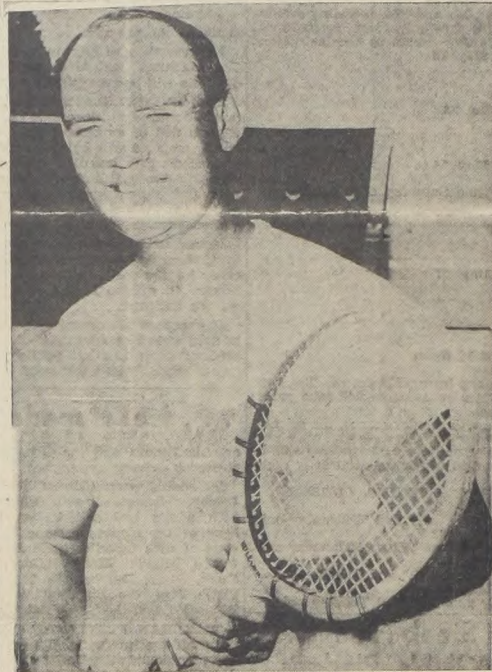

The Red Raiders, who stand 2-1-1 in conference play, with a 14-0 total matches count, now have won 43 matches over the season, while dropping only 17.

Tech will host North Texas, a team beaten 6-0 in Denton, in matches slated Thursday to begin at 1 p.m. on the Varsity Courts. The Raiders swing back into conference action on Saturday afternoon, hosting the SMU Mustangs.

Tech's remaining schedule:
 April 24—North Texas, here
 April 26—SMU, here*
 April 29—TCU, here*
 May 1—H-SU, here
 May 2—Trinity, here
 May 8-9-10—SWC Tournament

SPACE MICE OUT
 SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Space mice temporarily came out Friday for air and then resumed their simulated journey at the Southwest Research Institute.

Dr. William E. Thompson of the institute said there wasn't enough algae to achieve a balance of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the experiment.

COACH GEORGE PHILBRICK, Tech grad, has his Red Raider netters among the Southwest Conference leaders in their first season of play. The Raiders, who downed ACC 6-0 for their fourth shut-out win of the season, play North Texas here Thursday.

Rice Beaten, 5-1

Tech's Red Raider golfers took their first Southwest Conference golf victory since becoming a part of the conference yesterday, whipping visiting Rice Institute 5-1 in matches at Meadowbrook course.

John Farquhar, playing in the number three slot, was four under par in defeating the Owls' Jed Dunningan, 7-6. In the number one match, John Paul Cain trimmed Mickey King, 5-4.

Don Kaplan, number two, decided Brooks Godfrey, 7-6, while Rice's Tommy Driscoll edged Tech's Gene Boyd, 1-up in the only match to go the route to avoid a shutout for the visitors.

In doubles play, Cain-Kaplan downed King-Godfrey, 6-5 and Farquhar-Boyd took Dunningan-Driscoll, 4-3.

The Raiders, who lost to Texas A&M here Saturday, 2½-3½, now have an 11-13 conference record.

Pflugger Fans 18; Fijis Retain Lead

In a tight nine-inning pitching duel Sunday, Phi Gamma Delta edged out Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 1 to 1 to retain their lead in the Fraternity League.

Pitcher Bill Pflugger went all the way for the Fijis while striking out 18 and giving up only one hit. Ted Coker lasted nine innings, for the losers while giving up eight hits and striking out seven batsmen. Four of the Fijis' eight hit came in the ninth frame.

PHI GAMMA DELTA drew first blood in the top half of the fourth inning when Bobby Brown opened the frame with a single into left field. Robert Echols got on base by an error and Jerry Blair walked to fill the bases with no one out.

SAE pitcher Ted Coker struck out two men and then pitched wild to allow Brown to come home. Robert Echols was thrown out trying to steal home to end the inning.

The SAE's retaliated in the half of the fourth inning when Ted Ferguson walked, advanced to second by the stolen base rout and went to third on a wild pitch. Ferguson scored the only SAE run on a long sacrifice fly by Burke.

THE WINNING runs came for the Phi Gams in the ninth stanza when Jerry Blair opened with a single and advanced to second as Gail Kring beat out a bunt. Bot runners advanced on a sacrifice bunt by Ed Aiken and Blair scored as Pflugger lofted a long fly to center field. Neil McMulle doubled to score Kring to end the scoring.

SAE failed to score in the bottom half of the ninth inning to end the game.

by ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Auburn drew one of the stiffest penalties in the history of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. NCAA rules enforcement program Monday and had Seattle and Southern Methodist for company in the do house.

The action against SMU means athletic policies and the athletic program will be subject to close scrutiny.

Auburn, winner of the mythical collegiate football championship last fall, is in the final stages of an earlier probation, but would have been eligible for post-season games next fall. The new penalties ban the Plainsman from NCAA title events and post season games until Sept. 1, 1961.

The NCAA banned Seattle, runner-up to Kentucky for the NCAA basketball title until Sept. 1, 1961. The action, however, affects only Seattle's basketball team.

The one-year probationary term given SMU does not outlaw Tech Mustangs from post-season games. The probation will be lifted Sept. 1, 1959.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the action taken against Auburn was outstripped only by penalties handed North Carolina State and Kentucky previous years. North Carolina State drew a four-year probation in the Jackie Moreland case at Kentucky's basketball team was extracted during the 1952-53 season.

Byers said Auburn was found guilty of offering a prospective football player "illicit financial aid for the benefit of himself and his family." Although Byers declined to identify the player involved, the Birmingham News identified him as Don Fuell, married quarterback from Greenville, Ala.

The penalty against Auburn was double hard, Byers said, because the school knew an alumnus offered the illegal aid to the player and must be held responsible.

Byers said the action will not affect the game between Auburn and Tennessee, scheduled for national television on Sept. 27. Byers said the contract was made

Tech Falls to SMU; Plays A&M Today

DALLAS, April 21—(Special)—Southern Methodist University scored a pair of runs in each of the third and sixth innings, then drove Texas Tech starter Houston Powell from the mound in the seventh with four more runs as the Mustangs downed the visiting Red Raiders, 8-2.

The game marked the first baseball meeting in history between Tech and SMU.

SMU'S LEFTHANDER, Wolfe, went the distance for the Mustangs, allowing the Raiders but four singles. Tech's two runs were not scored until the ninth frame.

Lefty Bruce Boyd relieved Powell in the seventh, and pitched the eighth inning for Coach Beattie Feathers' nine.

Washburn, the SMU right-fielder, led the Pony attack with a home and double in five trips to the plate.

THE GAME was played almost in its entirety in the rain, which washed out the Austin-Dallas Texas League contest slated here tonight.

The win left Tech with a 3-5 season record, and brought SMU even at 8-8, as each team was striving for the .500 mark for the year. SMU has a 6-3 mark in the Southwest Conference, good for a second-place tie with Texas A&M, behind leading Texas' 8-1.

Tech, not competing as a conference member in baseball, moves to College Station Tuesday for a game with the Aggies, then closes its SWC tour by meeting the Rice Owls in Houston. The Rice game will also be the first in history between baseball teams from the two schools.

Auburn, SMU Slapped by NCAA

by ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Auburn drew one of the stiffest penalties in the history of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. NCAA rules enforcement program Monday and had Seattle and Southern Methodist for company in the dog-house.

The action against SMU means athletic policies and the athletic program will be subject to close scrutiny. Auburn, winner of the mythical collegiate football championship last fall, is in the final stages of an earlier probation, but would have been eligible for post-season games next fall. The new penalty bans the Plainsman from all NCAA title events and post season games until Sept. 1, 1961.

The NCAA banned Seattle, runner-up to Kentucky for the NCAA basketball title until Sept. 1, 1960. The action, however, affects only Seattle's basketball team.

The one-year probationary term given SMU does not outlaw the Mustangs from post-season games. The probation will be lifted Sept. 1, 1959.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the action taken against Auburn was outstripped only by penalties handed North Carolina State and Kentucky in previous years. North Carolina State drew a four-year probation in the Jackie Moreland case and Kentucky's basketball team was estracized during the 1952-53 season.

Byers said Auburn was found guilty of offering a prospective football player "illicit financial aid for the benefit of himself and his family." Although Byers declined to identify the player involved the Birmingham News identified him as Don Fuell, a married quarterback from Gunterville, Ala.

The penalty against Auburn was double hard, Byers said, because the school knew an alumnus offered the illegal aid to the player and must be held responsible.

Byers said the action will not affect the game between Auburn and Tennessee, scheduled for national television on Sept. 27. Byers said the contract was made earlier and would be honored, but Auburn is now banned from appearing on national television for the duration of the probation.

The Seattle case involved the head basketball coach offering two prospective players "financial aid and like inducements" not permitted by the NCAA or the university.

One case, Byers said, involved $90 per month and the other $200, but he pointed out that "no money exchanged hands in either case." The coach also offered the same two athletes cost-free transportation to and from home at the beginning of each school year and during Christmas vacation during their freshman year, the NCAA said.

In keeping with NCAA policy, Byers again refused to identify the athletes involved, but admitted neither attended Seattle.

Byers said the punishment given Southern Methodist "was not major." The case involved a prospective student for whom the university obtained a summer job with an oil company. The NCAA ruled that the job was "tailor made" and the player involved did not have experience for such a job.

In Dallas, SMU Athletic Director Matty Bell called the probation "the most absurd thing I ever heard of."

ATO Sweetheart Named; Duke Professor Speaks

Dr. Beard Discusses Viruses and Cancer

In a speech yesterday to the Tech Club of Sigma Xi, graduate research fraternity, Dr. J. W. Beard said the door is open for scientists to determine whether viruses are a cause of cancer in man.

The Duke University medical professor stated that a systematic investigation of virus tumors in the human has been a tedious, time-consuming and expensive enterprise, and there have been many obstacles to practical demonstration of the theory that cancers are virus induced.

HE EXPLAINED that now the combination of electron microscopy and ultra-thin sectioning of tumors from man offers science great possibilities for protracted search of tumors from unknown causes.

In addition to pointing out hopeful signs that the possible role of viruses in cancer may be determined, Dr. Beard also reminded that "despite occasional clinical correlations, the mechanisms of origin of the myriad of tumors in the human remains obscure."

He called for expanded work in this area.

DR. BEARD is professor in charge of experimental surgery and associate professor virology at the Duke University Medical School. He is known for research on surgical shock and influenza vaccine as well as for studies of viruses.

Bob Burnett won the first go-around in calf roping and Tom Neff won fourth in the last go-around in ribbon roping. Gerald Leonard won second place in the first calf roping go-around and Dale Burnett placed fourth in the over-all average in calf roping.

"Red" Berry placed third in bareback riding events. Don Holter was sixth in bareback bronc riding and tied for fourth and fifth places in bull-riding.

Sticklers!

IF SILENCE WERE REALLY GOLDEN, fishermen would be up to their hip boots in cash. They're so noiseless, they won't even wear loud shirts. But when they (Groan!) run out of Luckies, they almost lose control. They rant, rave and blow their stacks—all in sign language, of course! Result? The unusual phenomenon called a Quiet Riot! Lucky's popularity, after all, is no fluke. A Lucky is the best-tasting cigarette you can buy—and for good reason. It's made of naturally light, good-tasting tobacco, toasted to taste even better. So why flounder around? Get Luckies yourself!

Stuck for dough? START STICKLING! MAKE $25

We'll pay $25 for every Sticker we print—and for hundreds more that never get used! So start Stickling—they're so easy you can think of dozens in seconds! Stickers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (Don't do drawings.) Send 'em all with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.
