College Pauses for Recognition

A program of speeches and music is planned to accompany the awarding of honors at Tech's sixth annual All-College Recognition service to be held Wednesday at 9:25 a.m. in the Gymnasium. James G. Allen, dean of student life, will be master of ceremonies.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, will deliver the Recognition service address following an introduction by Vice-President E.

N. Jones. The opening invocation will be offered by Rev. Hubert H. Bratcher of St. John's Methodist church.

Athletic Awards
Athletic recognitions will be bestowed by Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the athletic council. Leadership recognitions will be awarded by Robert Schmidt, president of the Student council. Scheduled to present awards in the scholarship recognition portion of the program are President Wiggins, Marjorie M. Neely, dean of women; Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences; Dr. W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture; Dr. George Heather, dean of business administration, and Dr. W. B. Gates, dean of graduate studies.

Music Selections

Musical selections will be presented by the Tech Concert band and the combined Tech Choral organizations. The closing benediction will be delivered by M. Norvel Young of the Broadway Church of Christ.

A total of 334 honors will be bestowed upon 283 students qualifying as being in the upper three per cent scholastically of the undergraduate classes, holding scholarships, campus leaders, or lettermen in athletics. Organizations of which two-thirds of the membership maintain a 2-point average also will be recognized.

Morning classes will be shortened Wednesday to allow a free period for the service, Dean Allen said.

For names of all students receiving awards see story on page 6.

Four Academic Honors

Students receiving academic awards for the first time will get Individual honors; for the second time, Class honors; for the third time, Divisional honors, and for the fourth time, College honors. Several Techsians will be honored in more than one major category.

Tuesday Deadline Is Set for Completion Of Petitions for Student Body Offices

Techsians planning to run for student body offices in next month's election should submit petitions before Tuesday, Bob Schmidt, Student council president, announced.

"Only a few petitions have been completed at the present time, and many more are needed to make the election a success," Schmidt added. Students are allowed to take out their own petitions to be signed. Two hundred signatures are required for candidates to be eligible for offices and one hundred for representative posts.

Petitions turned in to date are Harold Brannan, for SCI president; Sybil Jones, secretary; Hardy Clemons, business manager, and Peggy Karnes, head woman cheerleader.

For account of proposed revisions to Student association constitution, see story on page 4.

Petitions completed for division representatives are Charles Bowen, Shirley Harrison, M. D. Stevens, Jimmy Clark and Herbert Brannan for arts and sciences; Bob Northington, "Booz" Gordon, Brian Boyett, Richard Johnson, Bob Jackson and Jimmy Nickett, agriculture; Buddy Barron and Betty Mills, business administration; Bob Anthony, Bill Burton, Emmett Adair, Terry Young and Joe Hastings, engineering, and Donna Caldwell, home economics.

New entries were made by Centaur, Las Vivarachas, and Wrangler clubs.

Previous entries were Los Camaradas, DFD, Alpha Psi Omega, Las Chaparritas, Sock and Buskin, Delta Sigma Phi, Horn hall, Kemas, Sans Souci, Home Economics club, Silver Key, Ko Shari and Saddle Tramps.

Group Forms To Promote Tech Politics

An organization to promote student interest and participation in campus elections was formed Monday night by approximately 24 Techsians.

Anyone who wishes to aid in this project is invited by the group to attend the second meeting of the association at 5 p.m. Wednesday in A219.

At this time, the Election Booster Club, as the organization was named, will meet with the Student council elections committee to formulate plans for improvement of voting participation on the campus.

Two Fold Purpose

Two-fold purpose of the club, as outlined in the initial meeting, is to "interview candidates for campus offices and publicize their issues" and "to get people to attend election rally meetings and to encourage qualified persons to take out petitions for council positions." The fledgling organization grew out of an attempt to establish a campus political party.

Remain Anonymous

Persons who instigated the Election Booster's club wish to remain anonymous so that the campus will realize the organization was "formed to aid Texas Tech and not for the personal glory of the members," a spokesman for the group said.

Members of the organization hope to see a larger percentage of the student body take part in the spring election this year. An estimated 30 per cent voted in last spring's election.

Four Applications Received for Student Publications; Deadline Set For Thursday

Four applications for campus publications offices have been received to date, according to A. B. Strehli, faculty chairman of the publications committee.

The newest applicant is Pat Edwards, junior journalism major from Fort Worth, who is applying for editorship of Treader. Other applicants are Shirley Johnson, junior journalism major from Lubbock, Treader editor; Bert Goodyear, junior education major from Lubbock, editor of La Ventana, and Adrian Combs, Memphis, Treader business manager.

Deadline for making applications is Thursday, Strehli said. Applicants will be interviewed March 26 at 5 p.m. by the committee. Final selections will be made early in April.

Offices to be filled for next year are Treader editor, La Ventana editor, Treader business manager and La Ventana business manager.

Qualifications

Applicants for editorship of both publications must have passing grades in 90 semester hours by the end of the semester in which they are elected. Business managers are required to have passing grades in 60 semester hours by the end of the same period.

Coeds Schedule Thursday Election

Election of officers for Association of Women Students is scheduled Thursday, with polls open from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 5:30 to 7 p.m. in Horn and Knapp halls, and from 8 to 12 a.m. in the Home Economics and Administration buildings, said Mary Ruth Shannon, vice-president.

Mary Jo Craig, Plainview junior, and Pat Townsen, Fort Worth junior, are candidates for the offices of president and vice-president respectively.

Journalists Plan Convention Trip

Approximately 22 students will leave Tech Thursday at 1 p.m. for the annual Southwestern Journalism congress to be held in Denton Friday and Saturday, said J. Russell Heitman, head of the journalism department.

Because of the staff's attending the Journalism congress in Denton, no Treader will be issued Friday. The next issue of the paper will be Tuesday.

Sorority Woman to Discuss Nationals Before Five Women's Social Clubs

Tech social club women will hear a representative from national Panhellenic discuss national sororities at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Aggie auditorium.

Mrs. Harry H. Power, chairman of national Panhellenic for colleges and universities, will visit the campus at the invitation of the Women's Inter-Club council, Jo Ann Applebay, WICC president said.

The Wednesday night discussion will highlight WICC investigation into the desirability of national social organizations on the campus. Information gained through the research will be presented to the women's social clubs to aid them in making a decision either for or against nationals.

WICC will honor the Austin women with a supper at 5:30 Tuesday in the Hilton hotel.

To study changes that occur when nationals are brought to a campus, WICC members and Miss Ewing will visit Texas Western college in El Paso Sunday through March 26. The college recently changed from local to national sororities and fraternities.

If local social organizations want national affiliation after considering information gathered by the council, WICC immediately will begin to take steps to try and bring national sororities to Tech, Miss Applebay concluded.

Vaughan Is Last-Minute Victor As Ugly Man

Being ugly at Tech has finally paid off—for CARE at least. Packages containing food will be sent to 33 European families, thanks to Tech's first Alpha Phi Omega Ugly Man Contest.

Final counting showed an income of $329.22 to be handed to CARE, thus allowing at least 33 packages to be made. Art Vaughan, senior architecture major who was sponsored by the American Institute of Architects, received 10,795 votes. The winner's silver key and kisses were presented to him.

The Ugly Man key was presented by George Young, president of APO, and the kisses were presented by Harriet Henderson, Sue Haney, Sammy Dunn and Margaret Wood, Tech beauties.

Vaughan's campaign manager, Clive Hatfield, received the sponsor's trophy, given through the courtesy of Lucian Thomas, local jeweler. The trophy is a sixteen-inch bronze cup which will be presented each year to the winning sponsor, engraved with the organization's name.

The contest finished with a flourish as Vaughan's backers handed in $100 approximately two minutes before the deadline.

Final votes in the contest were: Art Vaughan, 10,795; Charles Joplin, 6,253; Coffee Conner, 3,127; Red Phillips, 2,451; Jimmie Mason, 1,708; Austin Young, 1,475; Bob Jacobson, 1,421; Pete Morris, 1,310; Don Hart, 906; Benny Bruckner, 1,133; Joe Barclay, 1,012; Bob Lile, 760; Bassel Wolfe, 401; Jack McCabe, 100 and Jim Daniel, 70.

HOT SCRAMBLE

Seconds after a telephone alert to a nearby Air Force base to "scramble," pilots hustle to their jets. In minutes, the stubby, swept-back interceptors thunder skyward.

Modern air defense requires lightning-fast, dependable communication. That's why our radar defense system is interlinked by a web of direct telephone lines.

This is the real thing. Pilots call it a "hot scramble." Live ammo rides in their guns. It starts when an Air Force radar station detects an aircraft which cannot be identified. A telephone call by direct wire galvanizes the jet crews into action.

Some of today's college graduates will be piloting Air Force jets. Others will be welcomed into the Bell System where they can help, in peace or war, in the tremendous job of meeting the communications needs of our nation.

Tech Pauses . . .

Texas Tech will pause Wednesday to honor its outstanding students. Two hundred eighty three Techsians will receive recognition at the sixth annual All-College recognition service at 9:35 a.m. in the college Gymnasium.

Students will receive honors in four categories—leadership, athletics, scholarship holders and academic achievement. Several Techsians will be honored in more than one classification.

Also to be recognized are all campus organizations whose members have maintained a 2-point average during the past two semesters. Honors will be bestowed upon students from all undergraduate divisions, representing varied fields of interest and endeavor.

The Toreador extends congratulations to every student being honored in the formal ceremony. Though only one day each year is set aside for recognizing Tech's outstanding students, the college profits continuously from their efforts.

Under the Breezeway

By SHIRLEY JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

Before we leave the subject of Taft's speech for posterity, we have one more anecdote we'd like to share. A press conference was held for him Wednesday afternoon immediately following a luncheon in his honor.

As the representatives from the Toreador arrived, the guests were just leaving the luncheon. One man brushed past with a very unhappy look on his face and a "I Like Ike" button on his lapel.

One interesting fact which Taft feels should aid him in getting the nomination—he doesn't play the piano; but, if that is an "irredeemable good virtue (i.e., you can't get along without it)", he had a son who does play.

Some of your girls who may have been wondering just how in the world your dates have been looking so much better lately might be interested in this note we received.

On the window of one of the rooms in Doak hall is a small hand-painted sign "Beauty Shop."

All of the students on this campus who have brains are not being recognized in the Recognition service Wednesday.

As an example, we refer you to the student, who, taking a test over legal terminology, came across the word "demurer." He groped a minute for the correct answer, then gave up, settling for a merely satisfactory answer.

His definition: "One who demures."

(Correct definition: "A motion which contends that even though certain alleged acts are true, they do not indicate crime.")

And then there was the student in class (during a spelling quiz) who could not understand the word the teacher was giving. After two or three repetitions, this student finally requested, "Would you please write that on the board? I can't understand what you are saying."

No, the teacher did not fall. Here's the view of at least one independent teacher on Tech campus . . . and he probably reflects a lot more people.

"I've never been a member of a political party, and never intend to. But when a party runs a good man for president, I'll patronize it."

BACKTALK

Dear Editor:

Looking over several past issues of The Toreador, I notice in the "Backtalk" column far too many letters of criticism—letters criticizing everything from The Toreador itself to conditions of various roads. Many of these letters have sound basis for grievances but too many are written without enough fact and information to warrant their authors' airing their views.

Don't the students of Texas Tech realize the magnitude of their college? Do they realize how much money is spent by the state for their campus and how much effort is made to take care of the student? Texas Tech is a "big business". It is a big business that will never secure profit in terms of dollars. Improvements in a business or an institution such as Tech come slow and they usually come hard. The administration cannot spend all the money that they feel they need to spend. When one department or building is improved, some other department—human nature being what it is—is going to feel slighted. The college officials can only spend what money is allotted to them with the most urgent needs first to be considered.

This college is only twenty-six years old. I imagine that in its short lifetime, it has experienced some very acute "growing pains". Since the end of World War II, seven years ago, an uncomprehensible sum of money has been spent on the campus. New dorms, with the ultimates in improvements and luxuries, new class buildings, and forever improvements to old buildings, have placed this campus second to none of its enrollment.

I think the administration is to be highly commended for its work in building the reputation of our college. Tech is well recognized, both scholastically and as a good college to attend. Which is the more beneficial, money spent paving roads for the students with cars, or money spent for improvements for the entire student body? Not all improvements can be made as each one of us would like.

Students should try to grasp the purpose and problems of Texas Tech before making grievances about minor affairs. Sound criticism is essential to improvement but petty criticism is not-

"Fellows . . . I'd like you to meet my mother."

Texas Tech Talk

Big Crowd Expected For Recognition Day

By JOHN NORCROSS
Toreador Editor

To the many parents and friends of Texas Tech who are visiting the campus this week for the annual All-College Recognition service, we extend a cordial welcome from The Toreador staff.

Several thousand persons are expected to attend the service to be held at 9:35 a.m. Wednesday in the Tech Gymnasium. Two hundred eighty three students will be honored in this year's ceremony. This will mark the sixth year of the all-college service.

March 20 has been declared the deadline for submitting applications for publications posts on the campus. Petitions for Student council positions must be signed and returned to the council office by March 25. We are hoping to see a lively election this year, with many hopefuls entering the various races.

Colorful campaigns stimulate interest in campus elections more than any other factor. Campaigning should be in full swing by the end of the week.

What makes a good campaign?—well, for one thing, we'd like to see some well thought out platforms. This may sound idealistic and impractical at first thought, but there is actually a great need for election platforms, even on the college campus.

A good platform clarifies the issues and gives the voter an idea of what to expect of the candidate when he is elected to office. Platforms should be built on specific issues, not vague or intangible ideas. A good platform will fix responsibility, and is of benefit both to the candidate and the voter.

Just what are some issues which might be listed on the campaign platform? Specific improvements of the campus such as paved parking lots and better telephone systems in the dormitories might well be included on election platforms.

A platform should not be too long, but it should pack a wallop—that is, it should let students know what to expect of a candidate.

Sincerely,
Geo. Allen White

Revisions Planned For Constitution

Two proposed revisions of the Tech Student association constitution will be voted on in the general election April 8, said Jim McGraw, chairman of the Student council constitutional revision committee.

Section 500 of Article V has been revised to read: There shall be a general election on the second Wednesday in April of each spring semester for the purpose of electing all Student association officers, representatives and yell leaders.

Election date would thereby be changed to Wednesday, since there is a larger enrollment for MWF classes and publicity for the election could be given in the Tuesday Toreador, he said.

New Sections Added

Second of the proposed revisions is that section 507 of article V be replaced with two new sections, 507-A and 507-B, to clarify nomination procedure. Section 507-A will read: Any person desiring to be nominated as a Student association executive officer or yell leader, shall, at least two weeks before the general election, present a petition to the President announcing his intention to run for the office. Each petition, unless otherwise provided in this constitution, must be signed by at least 5 per cent of the members of the association based on total enrollment figures of the current semester as furnished by the registrar.

Section 507-B contains the same wording as section 302, article III, which would be removed from the constitution. The article will state: Representatives to the council shall be nominated by petition which shall be signed by a minimum of 100 members of the Student association. Any person desiring to be nominated as a representative to the council shall, at least two weeks before the general election, present a petition to the president announcing his intention to run for the office.

On his way to Japan is Lieut. Vernon Bradley, 1950 management graduate. Bradley was home on a 15-day leave last month. He is a personnel officer in the air force.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 37...THE SWORDFISH

They crossed swords with the wrong man when they engaged this swashbuckling senior in combat! At first, he was foiled by the tricky, "one-puff" . . . "one-sniff" cigarette mildness tests. But he parried their thrusts with this gleaming sword of logic: The only way you can judge mildness is by steady smoking. That's the true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests . . .

Camel leads all other brands by billions

Tech Thinclads Finish Fifth In University Class at Meet

The Raider Track team placed in six events to finish fifth in the University Track and Field meet held Friday and Saturday at Fort Worth.

SMU won the university division with 55½ points. Houston was second with 32 points and Arkansas and Baylor tied for third with 15 points each. Tech was able to muster 10 points to finish fifth.

Jerry Fairley finished second in the 220-yard dash. Buddy Goode of SMU won the event with a time of 22.2.

Jim Farrell placed third in the 120-yard high hurdles. Val Joe Walker of SMU won this event with a record time of 14.1.

Don Covey leaped 21 feet 7 inches to finish third in the broad jump. A jump of 21 feet 10 inches, by Jerry Norton of SMU, won the event.

Bobby Cavazos tied for fourth place in the high jump with Rodney Guidry of SMU at 5 feet 6 inches. Jerry Norton of SMU and Bob McFarland of TCU tied for first place with jumps of 5 feet 10 inches.

Tech's 440-yard and mile relay teams both finished fourth, giving Tech a total of 10 points for the meet.

Tech competed Saturday without Sonny Stanford, Bobby Hawkins, Bill Killough and Ben Wilson, all of whom were dropped from the squad Friday morning for training rule infractions.

Finmen Flounder In Initial Meets

The Tech swimming team was decisively beaten by the Southern Methodist aquatic group and Texas A&M last week.

The outcome of Friday's meet against SMU, which was Tech's first collegiate dual meet with official college distances resulted in a 71 to 8 victory for SMU.

Thirds taken by Tech were: Bob Kain, 220-yard free style; Loftin Witcher, two-length free-style; Ben Street six-length individual medley; Milton Tucker, one meter diving; Witcher, 100-yard free-style; George Morris, 220-yard backstroke; Street, 220-yard breaststroke, and Kain, 440-yard free-style.

Saturday saw the Tech team take its second defeat of the week when it met the Texas Aggies, getting but three seconds—two of them in relay races.

Street took a second in the 100-yard breaststroke and a third in the 100-yard medley.

Other thirds were by Tucker, diving; Witcher, 100-yard free-style and Don Davis in the 50-year free-style.

Southwestern Loop Teams Blank Raider Golf Squad

Tech's golf team lost to both Texas Wesleyan and SMU last Thursday and Friday by identical scores of 6-0.

The Tech team came in seventh in a field of 18 at the Southwestern Recreation Golf meet in Fort Worth on Saturday.

Holcomb and Parsons Meet With Graduates in Atlanta

Dysart E. Holcomb, dean of engineering, and L. E. Parsons, head of textile engineering, met with a group of Tech graduates last Saturday in Atlanta, Ga.

The group reviewed and discussed the present Tech curriculum and formed an advisory committee to help locate summer employment for students.

Women's Fencing Squad To Host Three-Way Meet

Tech's women fencers will meet teams from Fort Worth YWCA and Texas State College for Women Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Tech Gym.

Walter Phillips, 1950 graduate in management, has been sent to Quantico, Va. for ten weeks basic training in the marines. He will be sent to officers training school after completing training at Quantico.

Father: Who was that young man I saw you kissing last night?
 Daughter: What time was it?
 Bride: I want the stark truth, dear.
 Groom: Well, honey, there isn't any stark. Didn't your mother ever tell you?

Before a fellow can print a kiss on a girl's lips, he has to be sure he's her type or she won't go to prison.

Darling, what would life be if I didn't have you?
 Oh, just some sap asking the same fool question.

"That's the guy I'm laying for", muttered the hen as the farmer walked by.
