Dads, Tulane Invade Tech

The man who pays the bills will have a key to Texas Tech today.

More than 1,000 fathers and mothers are expected to be on campus for the annual celebration of Dads Day, 1960.

Highlighting the day will be a top inter-sectional football game pitting Tech's Red Raiders against the Green Wave of Tulane University at 2 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

President R. C. Goodwin will report on Tech affairs and plans for the Athletic Hall of Fame will be discussed during the annual Dads Assn. luncheon and business meeting at 11:30 a.m. in the Tech Union Ballroom, according to Mark Gardner, president of the Dads Assn.

Mr. Gardner also reports that 501 new annual memberships in the Dads Assn. and 63 new life-time memberships were recently granted.

A traditional coffee hour from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the Tech Union Ballroom is to be sponsored by the Association of Women Students. Registration will begin at 8 a.m.

Dads will be honored with salutes from the band and student body as a whole at half-time ceremonies of the game. Dads Assn. officers for the 1960-61 academic year will be presented.

THE OLDEST and youngest dads present, the dad with the most children enrolled at Tech and the dad coming the greatest distance for the day will be given trophies.

The same father cannot be selected for an award more than two years in succession. Last year the dad with the most children had four enrolled.

This year planning committees know of two fathers with three children at Tech, who are planning to attend the observance.

SPONSORING the Dads Day are the Association of Women Students and Tech Dads Assn. Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, is assisting in the project.

Chairmen and committees for the event are Dads Day Committee, Lucy Fox, Barbara Martin, registration; Ellen Warren, luncheon; Phyllis Reed, coffee; and Marjie Sanders, publicity.

Texas Tech's Red Raiders will have the chance to show their stuff to the most loyal of fans, their fathers, in today's tilt with the Green Wave of Tulane.

It's Dad's Day on the Tech campus, and fathers of the football warriors will have a place of honor on the Raider bench to witness the struggle between two teams with almost identical records.

The Raiders' box score stands at 2-4-1 for the season, and the Greenies have suffered one loss less at 2-3-1. Tulane had an open date on Oct. 10.

Cooler weather and partly cloudy skies, with some chance of precipitation, indicate a good day for football, a relief from the almost unseasonably warm November temperatures so far. The weatherman says that chances of rain are slight.

Colder weather and a chance of moisture doesn't frighten Raider head coach DeWitt Weaver.

"It'll hurt them more than it will us," says Weaver.

Weaver put his injury-thinned ranks through the usual paces this week and not only managed to keep the injury bug off the practice field, but also brought some of his less-seriously wounded players back into full-tilt action.

Quarterback Glen Amerson reportedly came along well this week, and the sophomore who has filled for Amerson on the attack, Johnny Lovelace, has recovered from a bout with tonsillitis earlier in the week.

Lineups from the two opponents feature one name each of a player being groomed for All-American honors in Tulane's Tommy Mason and Tech's E. J. Holub. Holub was an All-American as a junior last year, and Mason has put in a strong bid this season, gobbling up enough yardage to put him firmly in the rushing lead in the Southeast Conference.

But Tech throws a conference leader into the fray, too, in the person of Coolidge Hunt, sophomore fullback, who has led the Raider attack all season with charges into the opponents' defensive arrays.

Weaver had praise for Mason's performances after viewing films of the Green Wave's 14-6 loss to Georgia Tech and last week's rout of William and Mary, whom the Wave smashed 40-8.

"He's being pushed for All-American," says Weaver, "and he certainly deserves it. Another thing, you know he was running behind this Terrebone boy last year, and now they've got them both at halfbacks."

That's Terry Terrebone, who led the Wave in rushing as a sophomore last year and rated a berth on the all-SEC aggregation. He will start opposite Mason this afternoon.

The Green Wave forward wall is one of the biggest the Raiders have met, averaging no less than 223 pounds tackle to tackle. Smallest man in the vanguard is Gus Gonzales, 218-pounder and one of five Texans on the Greenie squad. Gonzales is from Wharton.

Crowd estimates for the inter-sectional contest range up to 20,000, depending a great deal on the weather. Tickets are still available at the Tech athletic offices or at the gates.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m.

Voting Names Pfluger, Holub '60 Tech 'Beauty and Beast'

Three days of pitching pennies into jugs came to a climax Friday night as the winners of the Beauty and Beast contest were announced at the Beauty and Beast dance in the Tech Union ballroom.

'Utter Nonsense...'

—SOVIETS TERM RUMORS

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Vienna was stirred for hours Friday by a newspaper's banner headlined story and related rumors that a coup had unhorsed Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The Russians finally denied it all as nonsense. "Utter nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Vienna.

"Stupid nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Bonn. "Complete nonsense," said the New York office of the Soviet news agency Tass.

That summarized their reaction to talk rounded up by the independent newspaper Abend-Pressen under the banner: "Struggle for power in Moscow. Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Its story, attributed to "usually well-informed international circles," was that former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov had taken over the government in a coup engineered by the anti-party group. Red China was described as having a hand in the upheaval.

Gail Pfluger, sponsored by Bledsoe Hall, was named Beauty with $40.13 to her credit. Tech's beast is E. J. Holub, sponsored by Phi Mu. Holub won with 4,727 votes ($47.27).

Bill Dean was named runner-up Beast with $46.01 cast in his favor. Dean was sponsored by Delta Gamma.

Pete Baker, Alpha Phi Omega member, acted as master of ceremonies for the presentation during an intermission at the dance. The voting which began Wednesday continued until 10 p.m. Results were carried to Baker by a beastly-clad messenger.

Winners of the contest were given trophies and sponsoring organizations also received awards. Dean was presented with the club the messenger carried prior to the presentation.

Beauty candidates and their sponsors were: Jane Crockett, Sigma Chi; Mary Jo Garrett, Pi Kappa Alpha; Joy Keller, Delta Sigma Pi; Sandra Broxton, Scabard and Blade; Jane Seifert, Kappa Sigma; Linda Kester, Wells Hall; Peggy Maloy, Gordon Hall; and Miss Pfluger.

Beast nominees and their sponsors were: Ray Thompson, Sigma Kappa; Frank Bray, Town Girls; Pete Dyson, Drane Hall; Jere Don Mohon, Knapp Hall; Wayne Underwood, Kappa Alpha Theta; Glen Amerson, Zeta Tau Alpha; Bake Turner, Horn Hall; Carter Snodgrass, Casa Linda; Dean and Holub.

Music for the dance was provided by the Sultans of Swing. Proceeds from the contest will be used by Alpha Phi Omega in their annual campus service program.

The Beauty and Beast contest, sponsored annually by Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, was held this year in conjunction with Dad's Day.

Martin Holds Archery Title

Archery competition is complete and first round volleyball scores are posted in women intramurals.

Carol Martin, Pi Beta Phi, captured first place honors in archery while Barbara Thompson, Delta Gamma, won second place and Deanie Lynn, Weeks Hall, placed third.

In the consolation bracket Alta Rattan, Doak Hall, placed first, Beverly Alexander, Doak Hall, second and Alaire Bowen, Delta Gamma, third.

After the first week of volleyball play, teams holding the winning scores are Kappa Alpha Theta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Delta Gamma, Knapp Hall, Doak Hall, Independents No. 1 and Independents No. 2.

Waring Presents "Stereo Festival"

Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians will entertain in the Lubbock Auditorium 8 p.m. Monday. The theme of their production is "Stereo Festival."

Tickets are still available in all prices and will be on sale Monday from 9 a.m. to showtime in the lobby of the Auditorium. Prices range from $4.00 to $2.00, and special rates have been set for students at $1.50 each.

D Gamma Initiates Pledges At Church

They are Linda Hamilton, Lamasa; Ann Turner, Irving; and Rui Wise, Houston.

Freshman Cheerleaders Debut At Tulane Pep Rally Friday

The six students selected by the freshman class to lead cheers for the Tech Picadors were announced last night at the Tech-Tulane pep rally on the Saddle Tramp South-west Conference Circle.

Voting was held following try-outs at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Aggie Auditorium. Fifty-six freshman vied for the cheerleader positions, with each candidate presenting one yell.

Wayne Davis, freshman class president, announced the new cheerleaders, after which they led the crowd in a yell. The sextet will appear at all Picador football and basketball games.

Miss Elliott, 18, is a pledge of Delta Delta Delta. Her ballot number was (1).

Miss McCarthy, 17, was a cheerleader for four years at Casper High School in Casper, Wyo. Her ballot number was (44).

A cheerleader for four years at Richardson High School, Miss Buxton, 18, is a pledge of Delta Gamma. Her ballot number was (22).

Phillips, whose ballot number during tryouts was (51), was a cheerleader at Freer High School and is majoring in pre-law.

Benson, 18, cheered at South Houston High School his senior year and is majoring in engineering. His ballot number was (36).

Butler, a cheerleader at Paschal High School, described his newly-bestowed honor as "totally unsuspected." He is a finance major and his ballot number was (43).

Four Faculty Members Read Papers At Language Meeting

Four faculty members will represent Tech at the 17th meeting of the South Central Language Assn. next Friday and Saturday in Oklahoma City.

In a session on American literature, Mrs. Grace Wellborn, assistant professor of English, will read her paper, "The Mystic Seven in 'The Scarlet Letter'." Dr. W. B. Gates, dean of the Graduate School, will read "Echoes of Shakespeare in the Works of Bret Harte."

Contributing to the section on Latin American literature, Dr. Eunice J. Gates, professor of foreign language, will present "Charles Darwin and Benito Lynch's Englishman of the Bones." She also will act as secretary of the Spanish literature section.

Dr. John C. Dowling, head of Tech's foreign language department, will present his research on "The Theater of Alfonso Paso."

Theodor W. Alexander, associate professor of foreign languages, is a member of the executive committee of the South-Central Foreign Language Assn.

Members of the association include states in the central and southern states. Approximately 33 colleges and universities will be represented at the meeting.

Studies in literature and linguistics of English, French, German and Spanish will be presented in different sections. Papers on American literature also will be read.

Techsan Wins Unique Award

George Adams, junior electrical engineering student from Rockwall, was awarded a different kind of scholarship recently. It was not based on any academic work.

This scholarship was based on the amount of sales made while working this summer for Fullrick Enterprises. He is now organizing a college sales group to work under the company's winter scholarship program which offers scholarships for as much as $1000.

NO ONE CAME TO THE PARTY

It will probably never happen again. After decorating the room next door, a Tech coed couldn't find the guests she had invited to her roommate's surprise birthday party. Deciding to go to her own room she found the unaware roommate had planned a surprise going-away party for her at the same time.

Result: two surprised but happy roommates and guests who enjoyed the double fun as well as the double refreshments.

Flight B Receives AF-ROTC Honors

Flight B of the 822nd Squadron of the AF-ROTC took top honors at the biannual Field Day Thursday at Mackenzie Park.

All flights participated in direct competition with each other. A total of 14 units completed for the first prize: a trip to Convoir—Fort Worth next Thursday.

A barbecue dinner was served.

Humble Talks With Students

Tech students who will graduate in the schools of engineering, mathematics, chemistry, and physics in 1961 have a chance to be interviewed by representatives of the Humble Oil & Refining Company on November 7 and 8.

Prospective graduates in chemical and petroleum engineering at all degree levels, and in chemistry, mathematics, and physics at advanced levels only, will be interviewed for permanent employment with the company.

Summer employment will be offered to junior students in chemical and petroleum engineering.

For additional information students may contact Mrs. Jean A. Jenkins, placement service director.

Organizations Plan Dad's Activities

Sneed Hall, men's dormitory, will have open house for all Dad's Day visitors today from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Other open houses will be given by Delta Gamma at 9 a.m. in the D. G. lodge and by Delta Delta Delta in their lodge from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

Sigma Kappa will sponsor an Alumnae Dessert Party at their lodge at 6:30 p.m. today, and Kappa Sigma has scheduled a dance today at 7:30 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Caprock Hotel.

Nov. 13 Begins Week For Fine Arts Festival

Nov. 13 marks the beginning of the third Annual Fine Arts Festival sponsored by the Tech Union.

The Texas Tech Symphony Orchestra, Choir, and Singers will present the Bruckner "Te Deum" and Schumann's First Symphony the first day.

Other features of the week-long festival are a discussion of the French playwright Gideaux on Nov. 14 by Dr. C. B. Qualla, professor of foreign languages; presentation of "Ondine" by the Speech Department; poetry readings in a Civil War theme by speech students; Nov. 15; showing of award-winning German comedy, "Der Kaupfman Von Kaepenick."

A lecture on "Creativity" by Dr. C. E. Kincaid of the applied arts dept., Nov. 16; speech by Mack Robertson, Lubbock's community ambassador, on the "Five Arts in Europe," Nov. 17; a jazz concert by the Tech stage band, an opera theatre and Twilight Music Hour presented by the Tech music dept. with the faculty of the music dept. and Tech modern dance group, Nov. 18; and an elementary art education conference conducted by the applied arts dept. Nov. 19.

On exhibit in the lounge of the Student Union will be "Rembrandt Etchings and Sketches," and "Abstract Painting," "Applied Arts Showing" and "Modern Architecture" will be exhibited in the Ballroom lounge area.

In Politics

LBJ, Political Opportunist?

Modern politics makes strange bedfellows when conservatives, liberals, moderates, moderate liberals, moderate conservatives, ultra-conservatives and ultra-liberals all get together and fight it out under the name of national convention.

Most of the time the emerging victors will be of one faction or the other. At other times there will be a coalition of the major factions which will seek to unify their various and far-flung party members, and keep them from bolting because of ideological differences.

The great state of Texas has been fortunate in these past troublesome years in having two outstanding leaders in Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate majority leader, and Sam Rayburn, the venerable speaker of the House.

In all probability Johnson had to change from his strict conservative pattern which has long been identified with Southern politicians to facilitate compromise in the Senate. You can't blame him for this — it was his job.

What can you blame LBJ for? It might not be wise to say that he sold out Texans or Southerners when he accepted the vice-presidential nod even after saying in no uncertain terms that Jack Kennedy was not the man for the job.

The truth is that LBJ betrayed himself. He compromised his own principles. He became not a senator from Texas who was working for the good of the state and nation but an ambitious man, a political opportunist.

This editorial is not to be construed as one which takes sides in the campaign. It is merely pointing out one of the many devious political twists which this country has endured since its founding.

In Mock Election

Good Turnout Draws Comment

When 2,434 Texas Tech students turned out to vote in the mock presidential election Wednesday, they proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that the oft-expressed comment that Tech students won't become interested in political affairs is so much malarky.

The 2,434 proved that Techsians will go to the polls and vote when and if they are sufficiently interested in the question before them.

The surprising fact of the election was that while the ordinary procedure of putting ballot boxes in dorms during the noon hours was dropped, one of the largest percentages of student turnouts in recent years was experienced in the election—undisputable evidence that students will go and vote when interested.

The question then arises that if students will show this much interest in a mock election on national candidates, why won't they show the same amount of concern in the actual elections for student officers whose actions directly affect the students voting.

In the past the Tech campus—student-wise—has often been literally dripping with apathy as far as student political affairs are concerned. The truth has been, it seems to us, that most students have known little and cared less about the affairs of student government.

Yet the election turnout Wednesday raised strong questions in our minds as to why this should ever be allowed to be so in the future.

We believe that if the strong awareness of politics now present on campus could be sustained and allowed to permeate the affairs of student government, such awareness could inject the needed life into a campus political realm which has oft-times, at least in the past, been reeking with a lethargy that has been, frankly, pathetic.

Such interest and the resulting large turnouts of voters in campus elections could help to keep student government hotly aware of student opinions and interests, as well as preventing the election of any socially popular duds to the Student Council—since a few such persons have been known to win some campus elections at times in the past.

Perhaps the organization of campus political parties on a permanent basis could provide the mechanism to generate such political interest. At least such parties would be worth some serious consideration among students.

An aroused political interest on campus could keep Tech political races from having—as at times in the past—about as much life as a race between two rock-ribbed conservative Republicans running for county treasurer in Hap-snatch, Vermont.

Once upon a time, there was a country of freedom-loving people who worked, played and lived—sometimes not wisely, but well—with only minor little problems to pester them. Problems like who won the latest "Walkathon", or what did Will Rogers have to say today, or was Tom Mix really a "square-shooter"—these were, for the most part, the plaguing concern of The Country of Individuals.

Then, the roof fell in! The monetary fluctuations of The Street sent everyone into panic and all The Individuals could think of, or say, was, "Oh, what are we gonna do?" "Who's gonna help us?" And most of The Individuals decided to stop being Individuals and ran to the Great House with their plea: "Help us!"

The Man in The Great House said, "There, there, now! We of The Great House (and all The Little Houses around us) will see to it that you folks are taken care of. We'll all be one big Group, and we'll give you everything you need." And so it was, and The Individuals—or most of them—joined The Group and were cared for.

They were cared for on the farm, they were cared for in the city, they were cared for in the CCC, and the WPA, and a zillion other alphabetical concoctions . . . yes, even in WWII!

When they came back—if—from being cared for in WWII, they were still cared for. But there was something else in the world they discovered: There was USSR and NKVD and "Cells" and "other groups" who were bent on taking care of them in quite another manner.

The new Man in The Great House couldn't tell them that if they didn't start being Individuals again, that The Thing would surely "take care" of them. It seemed that they no longer cared about whether they could do something themselves or not. As long as The Great House and The Little Houses could do it for them, why should they do it for themselves?

Meanwhile, a staunch few decided that in order to defeat The Thing and his Group—which was only unlike the other Group in degree—they would become again INDIVIDUALS! They started thinking for themselves, worked for themselves, didn't ask for Great House Help, and, to their surprise, found they didn't need it anyway!

But they were considered "Anti-Country" because they weren't in The Group and they were looked down upon, or considered "strange" and "odd!!!" Still, they struggled against The Group and proved to a few that what The Country REALLY needed was more Individuals.

They were still outnumbered—so it appeared—when The Country was about to choose a new Man for The Great House. Some wanted a fine fellow with a shiny red nose and suit to match. Others wanted a fellow who—although not a complete one—was, mostly, an Individual.

So everyone who'd registered (or paid their fees) went to make their mark for the man they wanted—except for some who said they didn't like either of 'em—and others who were just waiting to see if The Thing wouldn't take care of everybody, first!

When the marks were all counted and the "College" came up with the winner, who do you think it was???

Well,—"Nobody will kill 'The Great Pumpkin', will they?"

To which The Thing answered "Who's he?"

WUS Drive Gets Cooperation; Campaign Winds Up At Noon

At noon today World University Service will close five days of fund raising.

Only four hours remain for students to get shoe shines at the Inter-fraternity Council stand in the Tech Union and to contribute to the mile of pennies co-sponsored by the Women's Service Organization and Circle K in front of the Union. Both open at 8 a.m. today.

Wayne Underwood, chairman of the WUS drive, commented that co-operation through the campaign has been outstanding. One of the most time-consuming projects has been the mile of pennies which Circle K and WSO have sponsored. In three days $140 of pennies have been collected as compared with $34 last year in five days.

Underwood expressed the hope that Tech students have a better understanding of WUS through raising activities finished, the drive. The primary purpose is WUS drive on the Tech Campus to provide material assistance to have over $180 of the $800 goal. The Panhellenic car wash made world.

Kurt Von Osinski hands pennies to Rose Ann Cantrell for WUS. In three days, the mile of pennies drive collected $140.

THE PARTY WEEKEND: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

With the season of party weekends almost upon us, my mail of late has been flooded with queries from young inmates of women's colleges wishing to know how one conducts one's self when one has invited a young gentleman for a weekend, so let us today take up this burning issue.

Well, my dear girls, the first thing to remember is that your young gentleman is far from home and frightened. Put him at his ease. You might, for instance, surprise him by having his mother sitting in a rocker on the station platform when he gets off the train.

Next, what kind of corsage should you send your young gentleman? Well, my beloved maidens, orchids are always acceptable. So, indeed, are phlox and delphinium. In fact, most any flora will serve. Do try, however, to avoid carnivorous plants.

If you find, my esteemed fillies, that your local florist has run out of stock, do not be dismayed. Make a corsage out of paper. But pick good, stiff, durable paper—twenty dollar bills, for example.

Remember at all times, my fond wenches, to show your young gentleman courtesy and consideration. Open doors for him, walk on the traffic side of the path, assist him to the punch bowl, zip his parka, light his Marlboros. (What, you ask, if he doesn't smoke Marlboros? Ridiculous, my precious nymphs! Of course, he smokes Marlboros! Don't you? Don't? Doesn't everybody who knows a hawk from a handsaw? What other cigarette gives you such a lot to like? Such easy-drawing filtration? Such unfiltered taste? Such soft pack or flip-top box? No other, my sweet minxes, no other. Marlboro stands alone, and any man worthy of you, my estimable damsels, is bound to be a Marlboro man.)

Surprise him when he gets off the train...

If you will follow the simple instructions stated above, my good lasses, you will find that you have turned your young gentleman into a fast and fervent admirer. There is nothing quite like a party weekend to promote romance. I am in mind of a party weekend some years ago at Miss Pomfrit's Seminary for well-born females in West Linotype, Ohio. Serafina Sigafos, a sophomore at this institution, majoring in napkin folding, sent an invitation to a young man named Fafnir Valve, a junior at the Joyce Kilmer School of Forestry, majoring in sap and boles. Serafina had been afe for Fafnir since high school, but Fafnir preferred a girl named Gelia Fleshwood, the high school drum majorette who once threw a baton so high she impaled a south-bound mallard.

Anyhow, Serafina sent an invitation to Fafnir, and he came, and she showered him with kindness and cuff links, and then he went away, and Serafina sat anxiously by the mailbox, wondering whether she would ever hear from him again. Sure enough, two weeks later she got a letter: "Dear Serafina, Can you let me have fifty bucks? Yours, Fafnir."

Whimpering with ecstasy, she ran to the bank and withdrew the money and mailed it to him. From then on, she got the same request every week, and as a result, she became very well acquainted with Ralph T. Involute, teller of the West Linotype Bank and Trust Co., and their friendship ripened into love, and today they are happily married and live in Stamen, Oregon, where Ralph is in the extruded molasses game and Serafina is a hydrant.

Cards Set For Dads

Three displays will be presented Saturday by the card section during half-time activities at the Texas Tech-Tulane football game. The Saddle Tramp Association will sponsor the card section.

According to Tramp president Mike Montgomery, seat section 120 will be the card section and all persons seated in this section are asked to remain in their seats at the half.

The three displays, a Double T, Hi Dads and TU, will be formulated with 864 sets of cards to be passed out by the Saddle Tramps just before the half. Instructions for the displays may be found stapled under each seat.

The Saddle Tramps ask that all students in the section please cooperate with leaders of the section.

Tourney Pits Bridge Skills

Team entries in the bridge tournament at the Tech Union room 2:30 p.m. tomorrow are expected to top 30, according to Buzz Strehli, chairman of the Union games and tournament committee.

Deadline for entries is 11:30 p.m. tonight at the Union newsstand.

Duplicate bridge will be played at the tournament unless there is enough demand to play party bridge. The winning partners in duplicate bridge will be given individual trophies and medals will be given to the winning partners in party bridge if it is played. Dr. Ray Flege, textile engineering professor, will officiate the tournament. Coffee will be served.

The tournament will be a duplicate bridge tourney and will be conducted under intercollegiate tournament rules.

Last year's winning team was composed of Cam Cunningham and Bill Holmes. According to Strehli they were second in district and regional competition.

12 Men Compete In Theta Sigma Production Of Club Scarlet

At least 12 handsome men exist on Tech's campus.

That was the number of entries yesterday in Tech's Most Handsome Man Contest which will be decided Nov. 12, at Club Scarlet, mock night club sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, national professional fraternity for women in journalism.

Seven Club Scarlet skits have also been received.

Most Handsome Man Entries thus far are Kent Rabon, Kappa Sig; Tom Link, Phi Beta Phi; Bill Tex Cowart, freshman council; Brownie Higgs, Delta Delta Delta; John Stokes, Delta Gamma; Jim Williams, Kappa Alpha Theta; Jim Stowe, Drane Hall; and John Grist, Phi Mu.

Other entries were Bryan Adams, Alpha Chi Omega; Vernon Walker, Gamma Phi Beta; Tommy Atkins, Sigma Nu; and J. L. Roberts, Delta Tau Delta.

The deadline for Most Handsome Man Entries is 5 p.m. Tuesday. A 5 x 7 glossy print of the candidate must accompany the entry blank. They should be submitted to Mrs. Louise Allen in the Journalism Bldg.

Seven finalists will be chosen from the entries and the winner will be determined by popular vote at Club Scarlet, 9-11:30 p.m., Saturday night in the Rec Hall. He will receive a trophy and will be featured in La Ventana.

Skits entered are "Lullaby of Birdland," Kappa Alpha Theta; "Are They or Aren't They?," Phi Mu; "The Wind Is Gone," Gamma Phi Beta; "French Can-Can," Sigma Kappa; "A First Date," Delta Tau Delta; "In a Little Gypsy T Room," Alpha Phi; "Folk Music," Phi Delta Theta.

The skits will be presented to the mock night club. They will be judged on the basis of originality and showmanship. A concession stand will be open and music dancing will be provided by a jukebox.

Tickets will be on sale Wednesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Tech Union lobby, and will be exchanged for ballots at the door. Tickets are $1 per person.

Union Begins Music Library Chimp Leaves Home To Tech

Opening of the Tech Union record lending library Monday will be featured by a record listening party in the Union lounge 4 p.m. Friday.

Jim Sudduth, a music major, will narrate a record on jazz at the party.

This year the library will have a wide selection of jazz, popular, and classical records, many of which are new, according to Martha Mackey, sub-chairman of the arts and entertainment committee of the Union.

Students may check out records for ten cents a week. Stereo records may be checked out to play on the record player in the lounge for ten cents also. Proceeds are used to buy more records.

The fine for overdue records is a nickel a day.

The former home of Elmer, chimpanzee, has been opened faculty and students of the psychology department as a lounge.

The grand-opening of the lounge was Nov. 2. The furnishings of the room were all donated and the decoration was done by psychology students.

The former resident of the room was brought to Tech by Dr. Sylv. Kaplan, head of the psychology department. It was Elmer's home until he was recently given to the Fort Worth Zoo.

The lounge will be open from a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The grand opening ceremony were attended by Dr. R. C. Goowin, Tech president; W. M. Pearce, vice president; D. M. McElroy, Assistant Comptroller; and Dean M. Kennedy, Arts and Sciences.

Wave Shows Power

NEW ORLEANS, La., (Spl.)—Tulane's Green Wave showed its finest offensive power in the year, Tulane's Green Wave notched its second win in convincing fashion with a 40-8 romp over last year and boost one of the nation's great linemen in E. J. Holub, who is expected to be everyone's All-American center and linebacker this season.

over last year and boost one of the nation's great linemen in E. J. Holub, who is expected to be everyone's All-American center and linebacker this season.

"TEXAS TECH has a fine football team," says Wave Coach Andy Pilney. "They had a number of players hurt last week against Rice and didn't look too good, but we expect them to be ready for us this week and know we'll have our hands full."

It'll be the first of three straight road games for the Wave. Tulane has been established as a slight favorite in the game. The Greenies have defeated Tech for two years running.

AGAINST depth-shy William and Mary, the Greenies piled up three first half touchdowns and then let the reserves take over in the second half. It was the most points ever scored by a Pilney-coached Tulane team.

All-American candidate Tommy Mason scored three touchdowns, gained 110 yards rushing, caught two passes for 24 yards and took over the Southeastern Conference scoring leadership. He already led the SEC in rushing and continued to pace the field. And Mason only played some 15 minutes of the game.

PILNEY GAVE his sparkling sophomores an opportunity to earn some game experience and they came through with flying colors. Teddy Miller returned a punt 80 yards for a touchdown and etched his name in the record books with the third longest return in Wave history.

by Billy Patton

Welcome, Dads, to where your money goes. We hope you enjoy our weekend here, and especially those of you who have sons wearing the Raider red when the Green Wave moves into Jones Stadium.

— QK —

It is mostly to you, the fathers of Tech athletes, that we dedicate this column today. Mainly we want to tell you that your boy is among a fine group that plays rugged football all the way, will play basketball the same way this winter, or run track or play baseball or whatever your boys does.

We have the opportunity of seeing these boys and talking with them all the way from the dressing room to the class room and everywhere in between, and we know them as an outstanding group of young men with character who play their hearts out. We're just as proud of every one of them as you are of your own, and we think if you don't already know why, you will after your visit today. Again, Dads, welcome!

— QK —

And off we go into the wild blue predictions, seeking vengeance after Ralph Carpenter, Toreador editor, stretched his lead to three games last week.

Azures Capture Upset To Gain Intramural Tie

The Azures upset Baptist Student Union 12-0 Thursday to tie the independent league leaders. BSU had four straight wins before falling to the Azures.

In other Thursday action, the Hornets slipped by Church of Christ 12-8. The fraternity and dorm leagues were both idle Thursday.

The top game in the independent league comes off Monday when WSU and the Azures square off for the league title. Both teams now have identical 4-1 records.

Sneed Hall sewed it up in the dormitory league this week with five victories and no losses. In the fraternity league race Phi Delta Theta practically wrapped up their conference with two wins during the week giving them a 7-0 standing. The Phi Deltas have two games remaining and must win one to assure them of the fraternity crown.

Edsel Buchanan, director of intramurals, stated that entries for bowling and swimming are needed. "Entries for both intramurals sports are now being taken and will be accepted for the rest of the month," he said.

A FAST RISER is the Raiders' sophomore fullback Larry Jones, who has come into the limelight as a replacement for Tech's injured defensive wildcard Charles Harrison. Jones is expected to bolster Tech's defense against Tulane this afternoon.

IN TOP GAME

Iowa Gambles Lead

Iowa's top-ranking Hawkeyes take on third-ranking Minnesota Saturday in a key clash of all-winning powers highlighting the best and most important college football program of the year to date.

Big Ten and Rose Bowl hopes will be on the block in the nation's No. 1 game at Minneapolis. That's the way it is almost down the line for most members of the top 10 in the first week of decisive November.

Although Iowa has whipped Minnesota five straight times, the fast-striking Hawkeyes (6-0) are rated no better than a toss-up against the big, defensive-tough Gophers (6-0).

All-conquering Missouri (7-0), second-ranked faces Colorado (5-1) at Columbia, Mo., in a game that could decide the Big Eight title. The quick-clawing Tigers are two touchdown favorites to close in on the Orange Bowl bid.

Navy, ranked fourth, seventh-ranked Washington, eighth-ranked Tennessee, ninth-ranked Syracuse and tenth-ranked Rice will have to fight for their lives against rugged opposition. Or fifth-ranked Ohio State (5-1) which is host to Indiana, a sixth ranked Mississippi (6-1) which entertains Chattanooga, can breathe easily.

Cowboys Take Aim On Skyline Crown

LARAMIE, WYO., (Spl.)—The stage is set. The cast: Wyoming and Utah State, both unbeaten in conference competition. The Place: Utags Romeny Stadium, today at 1:30 p.m. At Stake: The Skyline Conference football championship.

Wyoming's Cowboys, aiming for their third straight Skyline title, will match their depth, balance and the nation's top defensive unit against Utah State's top-ranked offensive power.

LAST WEEK'S NCAA statistics showed Coach Bob Devaney's Cowpokes riding at the top of the total defense list and second in rushing defense. The Utags on the other side of the ledger, led the nation in rushing offense and were second in total offense. The Pokes ranked fourth and sixth respectively in total and rushing offense, and Utah State was fifth in rushing defense.

The two schools set up the "summit meeting" last weekend with convincing league wins—

Wyoming 17-7 over Utah State 34-0 over BYU—to run the conference marks to 5-0. The Aggies boast a 7-0 overall record while Wyoming stands at 6-1.

FOUR CONFERENCE foes have faced both the Cowboys and Aggies, and all four have lost. Wyoming defeated Montana 14-10, Utah State 14-12, Wyoming defeated Denver 41-2, Wyoming 31-8, it was Wyoming 40, CSU and Utah State 21, CSU 0, and finally Wyoming 13, New Mexico 3, Utah State 46, New Mexico 7.

The series history, dating back to 1903, shows Utah State on the front with 25 wins against 15 for Wyoming. There have been ties. The biggest Aggie win was 57-0 in 1917, and the widest Pokes margin was 37-0 in 1951. Last year Wyoming won 27-2 in Memorial Stadium, coming from an 0-2 time deficit to score a pair of touchdowns in each of the final periods.
