Fighting rages

SAIGON — U.S. troops called in artillery fire and air strikes of napalm only 50 yards from their positions Wednesday in a raging battle for a hamlet northwest of Saigon near Cambodia's border.

The Viet Cong fought back with automatic weapons and rocket-propelled grenades from trenches and spider holes in Ap Long Muc. By nightfall, the Americans were reported to have seized only one-fourth of the hamlet. Heavy fighting continued.

The bitter opposition indicated that U.S. forces in Operation Quyet Thang—Resolve to Win—had caught up with some of the main Viet Cong battalions that fell back toward Cambodia when this biggest drive of the war opened March 11.

U.S. 25th Infantry Division troops moved in on the hamlet Tuesday and ran into heavy fire from enemy entrenchments. Tanks and armored personnel carriers came up in support.

Gold process found

WASHINGTON — Development of a new process for extracting gold from previously unworkable ores, a breakthrough that might open huge new gold deposits to mining, was announced Wednesday by the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

If successful, use of the process could help meet the gold needs of U.S. industry, but it would scarcely dent the Treasury's gold-stock shortages.

AN 8,000-SQUARE-mile area of Nevada, the Bureau said, is known to contain gold-rich ores which contain carbon compounds that hang on to gold so tightly that the conventional cyanide process can't extract it economically.

The bureau said scientists at its Metallurgy Research Center in Reno have invented "an aqueous chemical treatment" to break up the gold-carbon love affair; once that is done, the cyanide process can extract the gold.

LBJ support drops

WASHINGTON — Although 14 of 24 Democratic governors are listed as Johnson supporters, administration lieutenants are finding that many state party leaders are reluctant to stand up and be counted for President Johnson's renomination.

A large share of these potential defectors to Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., are turning up in the 26 states that have Republican governors.

THESE STATES will have 1,382 votes at the Democratic convention in Chicago next August, 70 more than needed for the nomination.

An Associated Press survey disclosed that 14 Democratic governors are supporting the President, six are noncommittal, one is threatening to leave Johnson over Vietnam, one backs Kennedy and two are for former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

McCarthy raises funds

CHICAGO — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, dropping into Chicago to raise some money for his campaign, told businessmen Wednesday that if the Vietnam war continues to escalate the nation will have to plan for credit, price and wage controls.

The Minnesota Democrat took part of the day off from campaigning in Wisconsin for his April 2 primary challenge of President Johnson. He made a fund-raising appearance and a speech in Chicago—and talked by telephone with Mayor Richard J. Daley, a supporter of Johnson.

AT A NEWS conference McCarthy fielded questions about a mini-revolt in his "children's crusade."

Asked about the resignation of his campaign press secretary, Seymour Hersh, 30, and Hersh's assistant, Mary Lou Oates, 23, McCarthy said: "I don't look upon this as a serious loss to my campaign...We'll survive."

Tax vote delayed

WASHINGTON — Despite a rapidly approaching deadline, the Senate again put off final action Wednesday on a bill combining President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge with a $6-billion spending cut.

The tax-and-cut riders have been hooked onto a measure continuing excise levies on automobiles and telephone service at their present levels.

UNLESS THE BILL is passed and signed by Johnson by this weekend, the excise rates will drop sharply on Monday, with a resultant loss in revenue. The current rates could be made retroactive, however, if restored later.

The Senate spent most of the day on a series of amendments.

Gov. Wallace worse

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. Lurleen Wallace's condition took a turn for the worse Wednesday in her battle to recuperate from cancer surgery as her doctors reported finding a possible "blood clot to the lung."

Ed Ewing, Mrs. Wallace's acting news secretary, said the 41-year-old governor's doctors described the latest complication as a possible pulmonary embolus blood clot and reported they are treating it with larger doses of anticoagulant drugs.

ON LEARNING OF the latest complication in his wife's convalescence, former Gov. George Wallace canceled an airport-hopping presidential campaign tour through Mississippi, Tennessee and North Carolina which had been set for today.

Mrs. Wallace's latest hospital stay began Feb. 22 with her third operation for cancer in just over two years.

Probe reveals need for reorganization

By TOM MARTIN
Staff Writer

Tech's Traffic-Security Department would function more efficiently and more like a true police department if officers were commissioned by the university, removing restraints placed upon them by an outdated city commissioning procedure.

This is the principal recommendation of an eight-week probe of the Traffic-Security Department conducted by The University Daily. Tech President Grover E. Murray has called for an official investigation of the department based on the newspaper's findings.

Results of the university's investigation, to be headed by interim executive vice president Dr. Gerald Thomas, are expected in June.

Greeks launch activities today

Greek Week launches today with 7 p.m. workshop sessions on various aspects of fraternity relations, management, education and membership.

There are many diverse Greek Week and Fiesta activities scheduled for this weekend.

The Tech Fiesta dance features the Buckingham at 8 p.m. Friday in Lubbock Coliseum.

The "All Greek Talent Show Spectacular" is at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Ballroom of the Tech Union. Master of ceremonies for the talent show is KTXT disc jockey Terry Wood.

Greek Week ends with Convocation at the First Methodist Church at 2 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Benjamin F. Burns, dean of Morrison Chapel and assistant professor of humanities at Transylvania College in Lexington, Ky. will speak.

are based on the assumption that the Traffic-Security Department should be similar to a city police department rather than the limited "security" force which it is now. Murray said last week the goal of the university's investigation would be an "efficient, well-trained, courteous and business-like police force" at Tech.

IF THIS GOAL is to be met, changes (in addition to commissioning procedure) will have to be made in these areas:

1. Salaries must be increased to a level equal to those at other universities. Present salaries make it difficult to hire and keep a sufficient number of competent officers.

2. Minimum standards and qualifications for hiring officers should be set, including an examination. Personnel up for dismissal should have available a method of review.

3. The university's traffic and security structure should be re-organized to eliminate overlapping of functions and to allow more objective decision making.

4. The department should be relieved of its non-police duties such as painting parking lot stripes, except in summer months.

The university Board of Director's granting commissions to campus officers would eliminate the present "two chief" system which has resulted in disagreement about who has ultimate police authority on campus.

A STATE LAW which went into effect last August give Tech's Board authority to establish a police force on campus which would be responsible only to the board. Tech is the only major university in the state which is not now utilizing this law.

The law provides that:

— Only officers commissioned under the law would have authority to issue

Riddle named president of Student Association

By JEAN FANNIN
Copy Editor

Mike Riddle swept to the 1968-69 presidency of the Student Association Wednesday, defeating Mike Ligon by a 2-1 margin in an all-campus election for executive officers.

In other races, Hank McCreight defeated Bill Turner for vice president; Rita Williams defeated Rosemarie Salvato for secretary; and John Hutt, running uncontested on the ballot, was named business manager.

The referendum on whether to continue the campus bus system next fall passed 2,693 to 900. The bus system will be financed through a $2 increase in the student services fee.

RIDDLE POLLED 3,483 votes to Ligon's 1,727; McCreight, 3,017 to Turner's 2,090; and Miss Williams, 2,625 to Miss Salvato's 2,341. Hutt received 4,411 votes.

Robert Mansker received 108 write-in votes and Billy Singleton polled 62 write-in votes, both for business manager. Thirteen other write-in candidates received one vote each.

Riddle received 67 per cent of the votes cast; McCreight, 59 per cent, and Miss Williams, 53 per cent. Thirty per cent of the student body voted.

Approximately 5,390 students voted, a six per cent increase over last year's voting. Voting last spring was approximated at 4,700. Students voting in the spring of 1966 were approximately 5,700.

Riddle's campaign platform contained planks to abolish Saturday classes, continue the housing fight, publish results of the Teacher Evaluation Program and provide freshman representation in the Senate.

Riddle was unavailable for comment following the release of election results Wednesday night by Diane Naylor, chairman of the Senate Election Committee.

McCreight outlined plans to immediately begin working with the new Senate to eliminate closed sections during registration and dormitory evaluations of students by wing advisers and legislators. New senators will be elected April 3.

"I think this (the election) shows students do want student government to work for them and I'm going to make every effort to do just that," McCreight said Wednesday night.

Miss Williams, now a member of the Student Senate, said she plans to follow through on her recent bill to abolish compulsory class attendance. The bill has passed the Senate and now requires approval by the administration and faculty before it can go into effect.

"I'm extremely excited and I hope I deserve the confidence shown in me by the students who elected me," she said.

HUTT SAID he would start work immediately on his proposal to finance the campus bus system through the traffic ticket fund of Traffic-Security.

"I also plan to begin working with the Allocations Committee in forming guidelines for working with representative organizations in their requests for funds."

Mansker withdrew from the race for business manager Tuesday after charging the University Daily with "yellow journalism" and "slanted stories" concerning his campaign.

VOTING ON AN IBM card and lack of an ID seemed to be the major problems confronting election workers Wednesday in elections on executive officers and the bus referendum.

Most polls reported light but steady voting with the most voting between classes and at noon. Poll watchers agreed that the heaviest turnout seemed to be at the Union.

Senators and cheerleaders will be elected Wednesday.

Track coach advises boy to quit 'Forum'

By GARY SHULTZ
Copy Editor

Rolf Wigand, former contributor to the Forum, has dissolved his relations with the paper because of "encouragement" from James V. Hilliard, Tech track coach.

"I did not tell Rolf he had to quit the Forum. I merely asked him where his loyalties were, with the Forum or with the track team," said Hilliard.

Wigand is an advertising major from Berlin, Germany and is attending Tech on a partial track scholarship. The Forum is an off-campus newspaper published by Tech students.

"ROLF TOLD me he didn't really do much for the Forum and that he didn't even know his name would be used on the masthead," Hilliard said.

"I encouraged him to dissolve his relationship with the Forum for three reasons.

"I feel that by having his name appear on the masthead, people might mistake the Forum's views as the views of the track team.

"In my book boys on my track team are students first, track men second and whatever else they do must be done in the time that is left. I felt Rolf did not have the time to be an effective student and a good track man and still work on the Forum."

"I DO NOT want my track team to be split because different members hold different political opinions and insist on expressing them in writing. I don't mind so much their talking about politics as I do their expressing opinions in writing."

When asked about dissolving his relationship with the Forum, Wigand said, "I don't feel like I was intimidated into dissolving my relationship with the Forum. After all, I was given a choice between either the Forum or the track team."

"I don't know what my name was doing on the masthead. All I did was advise them on how to lay out the pages, place the ads and print the paper. I had no idea they intended to put my name on the masthead as a contributor," Wigand said last Wednesday night.

"SINCE TECH is helping put me through college, I feel like I should be loyal to it. Also, just because I helped them lay out the paper doesn't mean I agree with what they said in the Forum. For these reasons, I have sent the Forum a registered letter instructing them to take my name off the masthead."

"I knew the Forum would be in opposition to some of the school policies, but I did not know the exact nature of the material that was to be put in it."

When asked if Hilliard was the only one he talked to, Wigand said, "I talked to Dr. Ross about the situation and he said he agreed with Coach

Hilliard."

Dr. Billy I. Ross, associate professor of marketing and Wigand's adviser said Monday, "I told Rolf about the same thing as Coach Hilliard. I said since he was accepting money from Tech, he owed it a certain loyalty. Unlike most students who pay for their services, Rolf receives these same services through scholarships offered him by Tech.

"I HAVE NO objection to the Forum itself. I merely feel that since he is receiving aid from Tech, he owes Tech a certain loyalty."

Wigand is receiving help from the Don Belding Fund in addition to his partial track scholarship.

The Don Belding Fund is a grant and aid to foreign students interested in advertising to encourage them to study advertising in the United States and then return to their own country and employ what they have learned.

"I was not told by anyone in the administration how to act on this matter. I acted on my own. I don't really care how many copies of that paper they print. I just don't feel that any of my boys have time to mess with it," Hilliard said.

Ross said the first he heard of Wigand's name being on the masthead of the Forum was when it was pointed out to him by one of his students.

"I did not call Rolf into my office," Ross said. "He came in on his own to ask my advice on the matter and I told him what I thought."

WRC to plan questionnaire

After heated debate, the Women's Residence Council Wednesday night passed a motion to set up a committee to construct a questionnaire to be used in the referendum on women's rules.

The committee will be composed of one member of WRC who will act as chairman, one member of the General Council of the Association of Women Students, one member of the petition committee, and one qualified outsider who has some experience in questionnaires.

Sandra McCown, one of the originators of the petition asked that a member from her committee be allowed on the committee to insure that the questionnaire follows the intention of the petition.

"SOME OF THE questions on the petition were signed 'as written' by a large number of people and we don't want to see these particular questions changed," she said.

Her request that the referendum be held next Wednesday drew heated opposition.

Several members of WRC expressed the belief that it would be better to wait until they are sure they have the questionnaires correctly worded.

Cathy Obriotti, speaking for the group said from experience they have learned that to be really effective and to insure accurate results it is better not to rush, but that WRC wants to see this referendum carried out and will see that the referendum is held as soon as possible.

In response Miss McCown said, "If you had worked so hard on something for three weeks and you had still received no satisfactory results you would see why we are pressing a date. We took this petition to AWS three weeks ago and were told that tentatively the referendum would be held today, (Wednesday), here we are tonight without even a committee working on it."

She said if no action as to the date is taken by the committee set up Wednesday night she would submit a formal protest to the committee on the Code of Student Affairs.

Scholarship should not carry stipulations

The Forum, an off-campus student newspaper which seeks to be "a means of expression for thoughtful dissent, to bring issues into open and honest debate" has apparently not impressed some persons with its goals.

Recently a holder of an athletic scholarship whose name was included among the Forum's contributing writers was given his choice of being loyal to Tech or being loyal to the Forum. Faculty members advising him apparently could see no compatibility between the two. Even though linking the athlete's name to the Forum appeared to be as much a misunderstanding as anything else, the principle remains the same.

Neither the student nor the faculty members termed this action intimidation—it was choice. Perhaps it was a choice, but there was no need for it. Certainly an athlete must train and make his grades, but there are other things in life, one of which expressing one's ideas without fear of restriction.

But while the action was not direct intimidation, it certainly was implied intimidation. It is doubtful that anything would have happened had the athlete been listed as a contributing writer to The University Daily, or an occasional story written by him had appeared in the UD.

Action of the type taken, or even the theory, is totally inconsistent with the supposed objectives of a university. The purpose is not to tell persons where their interests may lie, by intimidation or by "choice," but to provide varied interests from which the student can choose one or all, confident that his allegiance to one need not exclude his acceptance in another.

'Army' not effective

Student Association elections Wednesday were a far cry from the days of duck dresses, donkeys, helicopters and other assorted ridiculous activities, but well-meaning voters were still plagued by the army of "campaigners" outside the polls plucking at sleeves and begging votes.

This last-minute seemingly desperate plea for votes most likely drives away more voters than it attracts, as anyone who has lied "I've already voted" just to get someone off his back will testify.

Elections are rarely won on the day of voting anyway, and we suggest that vote solicitors could do their work in a less offending and more effective manner.

Here's more about

Tech police need reorganization

traffic and parking tickets on university property.

— Officers commissioned under the law would have "all powers, privileges and immunities of peace officers" while on university property. They also would have "hot pursuit" privileges.

— In Tech's case, officers would issue moving violation citations to be handled by Lubbock Corporation Court or a Lubbock Justice of the Peace, whichever the officer specified. Campus moving violations now go only to the city court.

— Officers commissioned under the law would have authority to "eject any undesirable person" from university property.

— Officers commissioned under the law would have authority to enforce university rules and regulations that are unenforceable under a city commission because they do not violate civil law.

By establishing a separate police force on campus, the campus chief would have authority to ask for assistance from any other law enforcement agency. This would include the Highway Patrol, the Texas Rangers, the Lubbock County Sheriff, the FBI and the Lubbock Police.

ANOTHER recommendation of the probe is to raise officer's salaries and to hire more men for the force. Present salaries make it difficult to hire top quality personnel.

Average salary for a Tech patrolman is about $360 a month. This compares with $450 at the University of Texas, $500 at the University of Houston and $490 for Lubbock police.

There are only enough men on the day shift to work entry stations and patrol campus streets. As a result, parking lots have gone unattended most of the day.

Non-commissioned personnel could be used to work entry stations and to give parking tickets. This would free regular officers for police work such as traffic control, patrolling accident investigation and investigation of crimes on campus.

Students are hired at the present time to work relief shifts on entry stations. The use of exclusive student, non-commissioned personnel on entry stations and writing parking tickets could ease the departmental appropriations and provide additional campus jobs for students.

THERE IS NO examination procedure for officers to be hired or promoted at the present time. One must only "pass" an interview with the campus chief to be hired. Promotions are granted by the chief.

There is no review procedure for firing an officer.

It is recommended that an examination system for hiring and promoting personnel, and a system of review of personnel up for dismissal be established.

Another recommendation is to separate as much as possible the responsibilities of campus departments in police affairs.

These departments can be broken into three branches, similar to the branches of the government: executive—Traffic-Security Department; legislative—Traffic-Security Commission; judicial—Traffic Appeals Board, traffic and parking counselor and dean of men.

At the present time membership of the executive branch and the judicial branch constitutes two-thirds of the legislative branch. This overlap of responsibility has kept the commission from being an objective body.

Membership on the committee should be made up of both faculty and students not connected with the police operation.

Dear editor:

Claims housing suit 'self-interest'

The real injustice in the administration's housing policy has, up 'til now, escaped public notice. In the Student Senate's well-publicized "crusade" to modernize the rules regarding dormitories, their real motives have been concealed.

The furor which arose just before the end of the fall semester had as its basis the terror of several highly-placed "student leaders" that they would have to move on campus and live like students.

Before the administration's infamous letter advising these BMOCs that they were going to have to become like the herd, there was little agitation within the "student government" for dormitory reforms. Even now, in the midst of an expensive legal battle to free the Blakneys and Snyders from their responsibilities there is no action being taken on the real problems of student housing—dormitory conditions.

Under the present set-up votes of several commission members are influenced by their interests in other areas.

Tech police have many duties that waste valuable time.

James Kirkpatrick
408 Carpenter

EDITOR'S NOTE: If you like dormitory living, that's your privilege. Many students do. But others don't, and if they want to live off, they should be able to do so just because they want to. As for myself, I have "legally" lived off-campus for two years, and the "infamous letter" did not affect me one way or the other. Mr. Blakney says the same is true for himself. I agree that dormitory conditions should be improved.

'Graduate' acclaimed

A comedy of exceptional merit and appeal is currently showing at the Arnett-Benson Theater.

It's "The Graduate," a film deserving of your time and praise.

THE PLOT concerns a young man fresh out of college. He was a track star, a scholar, and head of the debating team. But where does he go, what does he do now that he's out? In the case of Dustin Hoffman, he becomes wonderfully depraved, doing all sorts of good things.

Pi Tau Sigma pledges named

Tech's chapter of Pi Tau Sigma, national mechanical engineering honorary fraternity, has named its spring pledge class. The new pledges are: Carl Johnson, Virel Curfew, Robert Heath, William Heitzman, William Potts, William Roeh, Larry Taylor, Keith Kastor, Douglas Robertson and James Nall.

The ten pledges were chosen on the basis of their outstanding academic record while pursuing a degree in mechanical engineering at Tech.

PI TAU SIGMA also announced it will establish a sponsored tutoring session. The sessions are to be held every Thursday at 7:00 p.m..

"It's time to do a wretched thing or two. So vow to make each precious day one you'll always rue."

And Hoffman does exactly that, happily regretting every sinful day of his now-free life.

ANNE BANCROFT stars as Hoffman's anti-conquest. She is a broken-down alcoholic, who denies she is seducing Hoffman as she seduces him. And there is Katharine Ross, who has a silly role, and never seems to wear flattering clothes, but who nevertheless serves her purpose.

Hoffman doesn't have to compete with anyone for his scenes. Each line, each piece of comedic material is exclusively his, not by writing or directing, but by his unconscious talent for provoking laughs. Director Mike Nichols, formerly of Broadway and "Virginia Woolf," has turned to comedy with a wry eye for catching bits of black among the gold. It's really his tiny efforts which contribute most heavily to the film.

IT'S SHEER GOOD NATURE, and happiness, that make "The Graduate" a success. Great scenes like the final wedding invasion, illicitly reserving a hotel room, and standing at the bottom of a pool, all make it worth your while. There really isn't too much to be said against it.

P.S. And the Simon and Garfunkel score is great, too!

BUCKINGHAMS AT FIESTA - Columbia Recording stars The Buckingham will play at the Tech Fiesta Dance from 8-12 p.m. Friday in the Coliseum. Tickets may be purchased at the door. The event is sponsored jointly by the Dance and Special Events committees of the Tech Union.

Trap and Bradley travel to national debate contest

Robert Trapp and David Bradley will represent Tech at the 22nd annual National Debate Tournament, Director of Forensics Vernon R. McGuire said Wednesday.

Debate teams from 40 colleges will compete April 15-18 in the tournament at Brooklyn College, N.Y.

TRAPP AND BRADLEY will be the first team to represent Tech at the national tournament.

They have debated together for two years. Trapp, a junior speech major, has debated for three years, and Bradley, a senior government major, has debated for four years.

Tournament rules divide the United States into eight regions and the top nine schools in each region hold a meet to pick the four top teams who will represent their schools nationally.

Anderson's - For Over 44 Years - West Texas Trusted Name in Diamonds

The Bitterness Of Poor Quality Remains Long After The Sweetness Of Cheap Price Is Forgotten!

One of the greatest American "comeons" is the lure of buying at a "discount"...for less than the standard price. Don't fall for it! diamonds, in particular, have a determinable value. If a diamond has any worthy quality to it, the seller can obtain a standard price for it and doesn't need to sell it to you "wholesale." Expert examination of a "bargain or discount" diamond will reveal why it is unworthy of a higher price.

It costs no more - perhaps less - to purchase from a reputable jeweler, and the advantages are many: Larger selection, assurance of the utmost value, budget terms, peace of mind, pride of ownership...to name a few. Here, at Anderson's, we prize our 44 year reputation as Lubbock's Oldest and Finest Jewelers...your assurance that we know and guarantee the quality and value of every diamond we offer for sale.

The diamonds priced are in stock for your comparison. Let us show you what a difference quality makes in beauty.

J. V. basemen win games

By RODNEY B. KEMP
Assistant Sports Editor

The Texas Tech junior varsity baseball team used an afternoon's total of 19 hits Wednesday to sweep a doubleheader from the Amarillo Junior College Badgers, 5-4 and 7-6, at the Tech field.

The two one-run wins evened the junior Raider's record at two wins and two losses.

In the first of the afternoon's contests, Coach Chris "Mad Dog" Galanos' spikemen were coasting with an easy 4-2 lead going into the ninth inning. However with two down in that frame the Badgers suddenly came to life and tied the score at 4-4.

IN THE HOME HALF of the last inning, with one out, losing pitcher Jack Bogan walked Steve Hurt, Dick Shaw, who was to hit a towering home run over the right field wall in the second game, reached first on an error by the Amarillo second sacker.

This moved Hurt into scoring position and he tallied the winning run when the next Tech batter, third baseman Lennie Schenk, singled.

The second game went by much the same pattern with the junior Raiders leading by 7-2 in the top of the seventh and last inning.

A THREE-RUN DOUBLE by Jim Hoving following two infield errors and two walks, one which came with the sacks jammed, brought the count to 7-6.

The runner at second base attempted to take third on a wild pitch by the pitcher Terry Newton but he was gunned down on a fine throw by Tech's backstop, Larry Neal. And that was the ballgame.

IN THE FIRST INNING of the second game Amarillo got one run across on starting and winning pitcher, Harold Wood.

Following this shaky start the freshman right-hander settled down and allowed only one more run in the remaining three innings that he toiled.

Meanwhile the junior Raider's bats were picking up where they left off in the 10 hit first game barrage.

In the home half of the first Don Howe, the lead off man drew a walk. Then Stanton, who lead the hitting for the afternoon with four, got one of his three safeties in the second game to move Howe to second.

HURT FOLLOWED with a single which drove in the first run. Next Tech's big portside hitting first baseman, Shaw, hit his three-run homer to make the score 4-1.

Lee Watts was given credit for the win in the first game while Badger reliever, Bogan, was tagged with the loss. The losing pitcher for Amarillo in the finale was Hal Oates.

Danny Sparlin, Tech outfielder, had a perfect day at the plate with three hits in three trips. Two of the singles were clutch pinch hits while the other came in the sixth inning of the second game when he had replaced the injured Howe in the line-up.

Swimming

Jones to compete in NCAA

Bill Jones, Tech diver and swim team co-captain is competing this weekend in the NCAA diving championships at Hanover, N.H.

Jones, high point man on the Tech swim team this year, merited the trip by his performance in last year's national championships. Jones finished 18th in both the one and three meter competition in last year's NCAA meet at Lansing, Mich.

The Houston junior must execute four compulsory dives in the qualifications. If Jones makes the semi-finals, he will attempt three dives of his own choice for the judges evaluation.

The eight finalists will execute four dives, making a total of 11 different dives required for all finalists.

TECH SWIMMING COACH Jim McNally said, "Bill's success, or lack of it, will depend a great deal on the judges. In each section of the country the style and movements of the diver are evaluated differently by the judges. For instance, what a Southwest Conference judge feels is a perfect dive differs in many respects from what a judge in the east would say is a perfect dive."
