Board Locates Museum; Okays Reserve Officers Corps And Graduate Unit

Directorate Passes On Campus Golf Course, Food Complaints

LOCATION of a museum on the campus, establishment of a Reserve Officers Training Corps unit, investigation of dormitory food conditions, construction of a golf course, and creation of a graduate division in the college were measures considered at a Board of Directors meeting in the office of President Bradford Knapp last week.

The museum will be built on the southwest corner of the campus, immediately south of the bookstore, south of the Fourteenth street entrance and cornering on the main road where College avenue crosses Fourteenth street, according to suggestion of the directors. The West Texas Museum association had asked the directors to designate a location for the museum, which will be constructed with funds recently allocated by the Texas Centennial board of control.

Consider Golf Course

It was considered likely that funds will be available to construct a nine-hole golf course west of the Engineering building. The course will be open only to college students with a nominal maintenance fee charged each player, President Bradford Knapp said after the meeting.

A unit of Reserve Officers Training Corps will be organized by the beginning of next fall semester, according to plans formulated.

Acting upon complaints of dormitory residents, directors voted to continue investigations now in progress concerning the food situation. Members of the board had been approached on the question. Directors approved creation of a graduate division of the college in the near future.

Ford Supervises Brands Collection

Gus L. Ford, head professor of history, left Monday for Dallas to assume his duties as historical supervisor in charge of a cattle brand exhibit to appear in the livestock building of the Texas Central Centennial exposition. He was appointed by W. L. Stangel, manager of livestock exhibits.

"The exhibit will display 500 prominent brands chosen from approximately 5,000 brands that are registered in the various counties of Texas," Ford stated. Maps and charts of important ranches in the state, portraits of Texas cattle barons from early days till the present will enliven the display.

The lettered designs of various brands according to importance will appear on plaques of different sizes and shapes on the walls of the livestock building, Ford said before his departure.

The exhibit will show the brands of ranches of historical importance in the development of the Texas cattle industry.

Ford obtained a leave of absence from the college until June, when he will return to teach during the summer session. During his absence, Dr. W. C. Holden, professor of history and anthropology, will be acting head of the history department.

Admiral Byrd Appears Here During Month

Explorer Of Ice Wastes Opens Artist Course For This Semester

REAR Admiral Richard E. Byrd will show 9,000 feet of new motion picture, showing how 56 men lived on the Antarctic continent and performed prodigious achievements on the second South Pole expedition in an illustrated lecture under the auspices of the Tech artist course committee at the Lubbock High school auditorium February 19.

"The ice age not only was fascinating, but a very fertile field for research—by far the most fertile left in the world, I think. The expedition served twenty branches of science. In a number of these we achieved rather dramatic results. For example, in the field of geography, maps will be made as a result of our discoveries," Byrd says in a letter to R. A. Mills, artist course committee chairman.

Study Rocks

An abundant series of snow and rock dust samples was taken for bacteriological study, and plant life was so abundant that the expedition had to scrape away lichens and moss while following small veins to study the rock structure, Byrd writes.

Illustrating his narrative, Admiral Byrd brings his motion picture film, portraying the life at Little America, the adventure by ship, airplane, tractor and dog-sledge. Polar territory and polar seas as Admiral Byrd and his crew swooped over them in a Condor plane will be pictured in motion.

Investigate Geology

The preparations for building Advance Base, the shack set up 23 miles south of Little America where Admiral Byrd spent five months in isolation from his comrades, will also be shown, and the explorer will outline his purpose in maintaining the world's southernmost weather station and its accomplishments.

Geology of the newly discovered mountains was investigated, the explorer explains, and it was discovered that millions of meters strike the earth than had previously been suspected.

Seeks Editorship

THE first candidate to announce for a student office next year is Winston Reeves, junior in the engineering division. He announced yesterday that he will be a candidate for La Ventana editor in the elections to be held February 27 and 28. Reeves is assistant editor of the 1935-36 yearbook.

Registration Figures For Last Session Set New Attendance Mark

Records In Registrar's Files Show Increase Looms For Year

WITH only five more new enrollees for this semester needed to set an all-time record registration record, college officials predicted establishment of the mark after matriculation closed late yesterday.

When the office of the Registrar, W. P. Clement, closed yesterday at five o'clock, 2,680 students had registered for the long session. The present high mark is 2,684 which was the total enrollment last year.

Two hundred and thirty-nine students who did not attend the college during the opening half of the nine months school period signed registration cards for the last semester. The total enrollment for the session now stands at 2,680 with 2,290 initiating registration for the second semester. The final count for the initial semester just closed was 2,441, Clement said.

Registration began Saturday in the college gymnasium. With 1,827 matriculating on that date a record for enrollment on the opening day was established at the institution, Registrar Clement told The Torreador yesterday.

Students have until February 15 to finish registration. After that time, permission must be obtained from the Administrative Council, Clement stated.

Increase in enrollment in two departments were recorded at the conclusion of registration for the first semester this year. According to figures received from the home economics division more students than last year have matriculated for courses in that department. The agricultural division showed an increase of 34 students for the opening semester.

Do Not Destroy Student Activity Books, Ince Says

Leon Ince, president of the Student Council, advises all students to keep their activity tickets issued at the beginning of the first semester last September.

"These tickets admit the student to basketball games, track meets and fun nights during the last semester," Ince stated. "The book also entitles the student to vote in the student election scheduled during the last week of February," Ince added. Over 1,200 tickets have been sold.

The ticket sold at registration for the last semester entitles the holder to The Torreador and artist course numbers for the session. Ince explained. Fifty cents of the amount goes to the band.

Admiral Richard E. Byrd, noted explorer of ice wastes at the South Pole, opens the artist course numbers with lectures at the Lubbock High school auditorium February 19. R. A. Mills, professor of English and chairman of the artist course committee, urges students to attend the afternoon appearance. This will give more seats for town people, thus making possible the securing of the large sum paid Byrd for his lectures here, Mills explained.

Reeves, Walker Seek Jobs On Annual, Paper

Student Body Chooses Publications Heads February 28

WITH election of publications heads scheduled for February 28, two students yesterday announced their candidacy for offices to be filled next year.

Winston Reeves, junior engineering student from Plainview, announced his candidacy for editorship of La Ventana, college yearbook. Burnice Walker, junior from Littlefield, is the first student to seek an office on The Torreador for next year. Walker, journalism major employed by Tech Press, entered the race for business manager of The Torreador, student newspaper. Reeves is assistant editor of the yearbook this year and Walker occupies the presidency of the Tech Press association.

In announcing the date for the election, Leon Ince, president of the Student Council, stated that boxes would be placed in division buildings. Members of the council will have charge of the balloting, Ince pointed out.

Publishes Excerpt

The Torreador recently published an excerpt from the constitution setting forth requirements for candidates. Each prospective nominee is required to present petitions, signed by 15 percent of the student body, to the secretary of the governing organization, announcing his intention to run for office. These petitions must be presented and approved before February 14, the constitution requires.

Qualified student voters will select candidates to fill the offices of editor and business manager of the student publications. Those elected will assume office at the beginning of the 1936 fall semester.

No other candidates had signified intentions of running for the offices late yesterday.

ME Department Sponsors Welding Parley Next Week

The mechanical engineering department of the college engineering division, in cooperation with manufacturers and users of welding equipment, will conduct its second annual welding conference Thursday and Friday of next week.

The program will include motion pictures, slides, lectures, exhibits and demonstrations of welding processes. Companies participating in the conference will award prizes at the close of the meeting. Leading individuals in the industry are to speak during the session.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the college, will deliver an address of welcome to delegates Thursday morning. Chairmen of the sessions will be H. F. Godeke, head professor of mechanical engineering; R. W. Van Kirk, General Electric representative; O. V. Adams, dean of engineering division, and L. D. Sugg, Magnolia Airco Gas company.

The announced purpose of the meeting is "to bring together all persons interested in the latest developments and possibilities of welding."

Wiley Returns From Meeting

D. O. Wiley, director of the Matador band, presided at a combination clinic and conference of the Texas Band Teachers association in San Antonio Friday and Saturday. Wiley has been president of the organization for two years.

More than 100 band teachers of the state attended the gathering, the first to include a band clinic. Wiley declared the experiment successful, and the teachers voted to conduct the clinic at future meetings. It consists of high school contest numbers with a running comment by directors, the Tech leader explained.

Conductors of bands all over the nation were guests of the members. The University of Michigan band director was in charge of concerts during the San Antonio meeting. Waco was chosen as the site of the 1937 convention, which will be held early in February next year. Loyd Reitz of Big Spring was elected to succeed the local director as head of the association.

Pirtle Heads Aggie Program

The Aggie club has selected Miss Ruth Pirtle as the speaker at its first meeting of the semester. The head professor of speech will discuss "Parliamentary Procedure" before club members Tuesday night.

Arvie Elliott, in announcing the selection of Miss Pirtle for next week's meeting, released the program schedule for other monthly gatherings of the closing session. On February 25, E. K. Huffstetler will talk on "Farm Machinery as Affecting Modern Production." At the March meeting, Dr. W. A. Jackson, head professor of government and chairman of the grading committee, is to speak on the "Governmental Setup of the United States."

March 24, O. E. Russell, associate professor of horticulture, will discuss "Collecting and Mounting Insects." R. C. Mowday, acting head professor of the animal husbandry department, has selected "European Agriculture" as his topic for the early April meeting.

Fred Elliott and Rex Johnston will explain "Terracing of Fields and Pastures" and "Pasture Management and Revegetation of Grasses" respectively March 5. Guy Bratcher will speak on "Dairy Bacteriology" before the group on March 12.

The installation of officers and talk on "Seniors in Relation to Their Agricultural Fields" by members of the graduating class will conclude the calendar on May 19. Officers are to be elected March 12.

Organization President Releases Schedule Of Speakers

The preparations for building Advance Base, the shack set up 23 miles south of Little America where Admiral Byrd spent five months in isolation from his comrades, will also be shown, and the explorer will outline his purpose in maintaining the world's southernmost weather station and its accomplishments.

Geology of the newly discovered mountains was investigated, the explorer explains, and it was discovered that millions of meters strike the earth than had previously been suspected.

Graduate Accepts Job At Exposition

Frances Ford, graduate from Tech in 1932 with a bachelor of arts degree is now in Dallas filling the position of research assistant in the historical division of the Texas Centennial Exposition. She majored in history.

After receiving her degree from the college, Miss Ford attended Smith college at Washington, Mass. and received her masters degree from the University of Virginia last June. She did graduate work at Tech during the first semester.

Jackson Outlines Foreign Problems In Sunday Speech

"Current Foreign Events" was the subject discussed by Dr. W. A. Jackson, head professor of government, at a lounge meeting of residents of the boys' dormitory Sunday afternoon. In discussing the major issues now confronting the League of Nations, the Tech faculty member commented first on the Italian-Ethiopian situation.

"Italy is slowly losing in their conflict with Haile Selassie," Jackson stated. "The citizens of the European country are losing confidence in their leader, Benito Mussolini. In order to save himself, the Italian dictator is attempting to start a general world war," the speaker asserted.

Germany's persecution of the Jews is having an immediate effect upon the nations of the world, Dr. Jackson stated. In showing this point, the government department head said that 900 Jews in Germany had applied for immigration papers to the United States.

Concluding, Dr. Jackson explained the effect of the monetary setup which he said is undetermined.

"No agreement among the nations of the world can be reached until a method stabilizing the monetary system is devised," Jackson said.

Society Lists Talk By Pach

Walter Pach, New York artist and author will give an illustrated lecture on modern art tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the engineering auditorium. This appearance is being sponsored by the Texas Tech college museum society.

The visiting painter is a director of the Society of Independent Artists. He has etchings in permanent collection in the Metropolitan Museum in New York City.

Besides being an artist, Pach is the author of several books. His outstanding work includes "Elie Faure's History of Art" and "Art in America."

Pach is touring the country giving lectures on art. Included in his itinerary are appearances at National University of Mexico, University of California and other leading schools.

Matador Band Director Presides At Confab In South Texas

D. O. Wiley, director of the Matador band, presided at a combination clinic and conference of the Texas Band Teachers association in San Antonio Friday and Saturday. Wiley has been president of the organization for two years.

Association Of Women To Hear Bahm Discuss Age Of Science At Meeting

Dr. Archie J. Bahm, instructor in philosophy and sociology, will speak to the Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in room 108 of the Home Economics building. Dr. Bahm's subject will be "In This Age of Science, Why Philosophy?"

Dean Margaret W. Weeks of the home economics division, is president of the local association branch.

Debate Team Goes To Abilene Friday

Three debate teams will represent the college at the annual Abilene Christian college tournament in Abilene Friday. Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, professor of speech and debate team coach, said yesterday. Clay Edward Thompson, senior in the arts and science division, and Alton Hankins, junior in the same division, will compose one of the two boys teams entering the meet. They won second place in the annual Winfield Kansas tournament held in December.

Janus Carter, debate club president, and junior in the arts and sciences division, and Noel Edgar Thompson, freshman contestant, will also go to Abilene. LaVada Eaze, senior, and Jane Woodruff, junior, both enrollees in the arts and sciences school, compose the girls' team to represent Tech.

About 50 teams from Texas, Arkansas, and New Mexico usually attend the AOC tournament. Miss Pendleton states. Baylor university men's team won the silver cup at the contest last year.

Extemporaneous speaking and oratory contests are held in connection with the debate tournament, but the college is sending no contestants other than the debate teams, Miss Pendleton said.

State Association Meets On Campus

A statewide meeting of the Certified Sorghum Seed Growers' association was held on the campus Tuesday. Approximately ten breeders were present. A. W. Young, associate professor of agronomy, stated.

W. M. Pool of Muleshoe, president, and A. E. Brown of Anton, secretary, were in charge of the meeting. The breeders met to appportion eight carloads of seed which have been received since the last meeting.

R. V. Mills, chief of the division for field seed certification, spoke on Centennial plans for the organization.

Don Jones, director of the Lubbock experiment station, also addressed the group.

Eight Faculty Members Receive Appointments To League Directorate

Eight Tech faculty members have been appointed directors of the district Intercollegiate League meet which will be held on the campus during April.

Dr. A. W. Evans was named director general. Other directors are as follows: J. W. Jackson, director of debate; J. T. Shaver, declamation; Miss Ruth Pirtle, extemporaneous speech; Earl Huffman, athletics; R. A. Mills, essay writing; Annah Jo Pendleton, one-act play; and Mrs. Mamie Jackson, typing.

Public schools of fourteen counties will be represented.

Students Direct Drama For Joint Club Meeting

"Casualties," a one-act tragedy drama by Flavin, will be presented to Sock and Buskin dramatic club and the debate club in joint meeting Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in room 202 of the Administration building. The meeting was postponed from February 4 because of the conflict with "Accent on Youth."

Lillian Heard and Clay Thompson are directing the play. The characters are: Thompson, Roy Thruston, and Elizabeth Arnett.

CALLS MEETING

George Townsend, president of the joint cabinet, has called a business meeting of the college Y organizations for 7:15 tomorrow night. The groups will gather in room 220 of the Administration building.

Leap Year Brings Chance For Coed; Girls Show Jitters In Male Chase

"THIRTY days hath September, April, June, and November,"—yes, this is the year that February has 29 days. Leap year is here. Coeds are busy thinking up ways of pursuing gentlemen. Boys avoid running into girls, fearing that a "woman-made" date will be arranged. "Leap-year" parties are planned. Telephone booths in the girls' dormitory bear names and telephone numbers of the stronger sex. Several women students failed to register for second-semester classes, stating "that they were going home to get married."

A wandering coed sits in a nearby campus drug store and mashes a soda straw to the tune of "I love me, loves me not, loves me," and if the straw comes out just right the girl is encouraged and given a new lease on life.

Reeves Addresses Block And Bridle Club Members

Garnett Reeves of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce explained the financing of a fair and livestock show at a meeting of the Block and Bridle club Tuesday night in the Aggie building. Special reference was given to the annual show held in Lubbock.

Fred Elliott is president of the agricultural division organization.

Knapp In Austin

Bradford Knapp left Monday for Austin to hold a two day conference with the state department of education. He will return tomorrow.

Mildred Earhart, who completed her work in the home economics division last week, is teaching vocational home economics in the Elbow school.

National Bureau Places Exhibit In Annex On Campus

A travelling exhibit from the Bureau of Home Economics at Washington, D. C., is being shown in the Home Economics building annex through February 15. The exhibit includes photographs of hooked rugs, slip covers, window curtains, built-in storage spaces, and old furniture. It is a special interest to homemakers and senior students taking home furnishing. Miss Mabel D. Erwin, professor of clothing and textiles, said. The exhibit is open to the public.

Wiley Returns From Meeting

D. O. Wiley, director of the Matador band, presided at a combination clinic and conference of the Texas Band Teachers association in San Antonio Friday and Saturday. Wiley has been president of the organization for two years.

Start Of New Semester Brings Clean Slate To Every Student

WITH final examinations for the first semester over and the second session beginning this week, many students who have been lax in the preparation of assignments week by week are doing the same thing that they have so often done previously. They are resolving that this semester will find them doing their school work more nearly as it should be done.

Then, at the same time, there is an almost equal number of students who are reaping the satisfaction which comes with the completion of a job well done. This group has labored hard during the past four and half months. They have answered in the negative to many things which would have detracted seriously from their getting an education.

Now that the closing semester of the year has started, both groups of students will begin a new stretch of work with a clean slate. But before this week ends, these students will begin to drift into the same separate groups of which they were a part last semester.

Considering the plight of the members of each group, there is one undeniable fact concerning each student. The enrollee of the college can choose which group he will enter and his ability to stick with that choice shall determine the degree of success that awaits him in the rapidly approaching years.

They Look Down On Us

COMING as the climax to similar complaints made by freshmen during the semester just closed, a first year student was heard to complain recently about the fact that in one of his classes a paper which he had truthfully written by himself had received a rather derogatory treatment by the professor in that particular course. The point emphasized by the professor was that he doubted the student's ability to write a paper of that caliber. The faculty member further stated that if the paper were written by the student, any letdown in the standard of the papers to follow would be treated summarily.

As one editorial writer in another student newspaper voicing an opinion about the same situation asks, is this the attitude or reaction of an enlightened faculty member? Our opinion is that it is not. This point brings to the surface an accusation which can be made while dealing with the above incident. Certain professors and instructors on the college teaching staff take the position of looking down upon their students instead of treating them as intelligent persons desirous of securing an education.

TRUE it may be that while the student is intelligent, he may not be informed in the course the professor is particularly teaching. But in treating the student as both unintelligent and uninformed, the faculty member is making a mistake, and should not be given the privilege of teaching college students. It is his purpose to enlighten the student and help him see through blurry facts that appear in the outlined course of study. The professor who is loved and respected by students is not necessarily the one who fraternizes or who loses his identity by too much formality or action.

A strong and enlightened faculty is a powerful influence in moulding a college environment capable of building and supplying a cultural background that will lift the school from the mere rank and file. At the same time it can have an even better influence upon the individuals who apply for knowledge under its tutoring.

The professor who reprimanded the freshman was wrong by doubting that the caliber of his work was wrong. He has not only earned a student's disrespect but should be stripped of his responsible place in an institution which houses the supposed cream of the youth of West Texas.

Today's Thought

WE all want to do great and important things, and that is all right; but let us never forget that to do the smallest thing in the world successfully will help us to do something greater and better.

From Other Campuses

STUDENTS at Martha Berry College in Georgia may dance only waltzes and quadrilles, have dates of only an hour and a half duration on Sunday, may not have radios in their rooms and not enter into competitive athletics with other colleges.

There was something gassy, of course, about that case of the Southwestern university students and the nude girl who danced for them on the athletic field. And there was something delightful about the stern comment of the dean after the investigation began. ## Somewhat Literary HALF-WAY MARK

I STARTED IN September with my mind and heart ablaze—With the firmest resolutions to make a bunch of A's;

October came and vanished and I still felt pretty sure I could hold the pace I'd started and keep my record pure—

But I found out in November, with the season going good, I would have to hustle harder than I ever dreamed I would!

And December saw me struggling on through doubt and misery To keep my records running as high as B and C—

And I'll never quite forget, I know, that January race To make the port in time and save my academic face!

And now I'm starting over, full of purposes and hope . . . I wonder if it means again the same, and downward slope? —Francis C. Cook

Do You Know?

There was once a chess club on the campus.

The average weight of Tech girls was found in 1935 by counting all their fingers, and toes, finding the size of their shoes, and then multiplying all the figures. The average weight of a Tech coed was 120 pounds and the average shoe was size five and a half. Further investigation showed that as the weight of a girl increased, the shoe size also increased. There was once an all girls band on the campus.

Matadors Scuffle With New Mexico Aggies This Week

Poor Grades Place Four Cagers On Ineligibility List For Entire Season

Border Conference Team Invades College Barn Friday Evening

AUBREY BUTTS, the congenial understudy of Berl Huffman who played a neat game of football for Coach Pete Cawthon two years ago, is perhaps about the most worried man in the athletic department this week. Aubrey has charge of the intramural basketball tournament which is scheduled for next week. But, so far, the response by entrants hasn't been rushing. It is a disappointment to the athletic department, and your scribe, because plans were made for a big tourney several weeks ago since such a large number of teams were expected to enter the meet.

The sports desk is piled high with application blanks, but no necks have been broken to get applications. At least 24 teams were expected several weeks ago, but twelve or even less will probably be the limit. It seems as if the teams are not interested because they can't workout every day as they should. But the gym just can't accommodate the varsity and fish squads, let alone several intramural teams. Some have suggested delaying the meet, but that is impossible because February 13, 14 and 15 are the only dates available for the tournament until late in March. And certainly, the athletic department does not want to delay the tourney until then. The intramural tournament (See DOUBLE T, page 4)

Four former promising Tech basketballers will watch the games from the gallery Friday night and Saturday night and for the rest of the season when Coach Berl Huffman's white and red clad Matadors scuffle with the second place New Mexico Aggies in an important conference series. The opening whistle is expected at 7:30 o'clock on both nights.

Returns of the first semester grades counted three of the prospects out while scholastic trouble in a junior college disqualified another. The three counted on addition who were supposed to give more life to the Tech quintet, Captain Leroy Crews, Pete Burke and Bob Simms, Cameron junior college transfers, and Dan Corbin, "flunked out" after the final exams had been recorded. Simms' transcripts were not received in first rate order, and he will be unable to don a Matador uniform until he has passed required scholastic work.

Lineup Same
The Tech lineup, which hasn't seen action since the Sul Ross fracas three weeks ago, will remain the same. Judge Garrett and Bob Hale will start at forwards; Curly Wilkinson, center; Paul Morris and Hugh Snodgrass, guards.

Jerry Hines brings a veteran Aggie lineup into the Tech gym Friday night. The Ags have been defeated twice by Arizona. Other than defeats at the hands of the loop leaders, the Aggies have not been beaten this year. Arizona won two close decisions over the New

Butts Sets Final Tourney Deadline

Teams entering the intramural tournament, carded for February 13, 14, and 15, have only three days in which to turn in their playing roster. The deadline for entrance is Saturday, Aubrey Butts, assistant intramural director, announced yesterday.

"Previous announcements which have been running in The Toreador should have given every club interested in entering the league an opportunity to file their playing roster to Bob Cannon," Butts said. "The final date for the drawing cannot be later than Saturday. A team that does not sign up by then is out of luck for tournament entrance," he added.

Drawing for places in the opening rounds of the tournament takes place in the gym Saturday afternoon, Butts said. All team captains and coaches are to be there, or their teams will not be able to compete.

An intramural champion and consolation champions will be decided during the three night meet. At least two dozen teams are expected to enter the tournament. The College Inn quintet won the intramural title last year.

Mexico team last week. The Aggies were defeated by one point in both games.

Arizona Beats Aggies
Led by the Apodaca brothers, the Aggies will not present the tallest team in the conference, but they will have one of the classiest, most (See AGGIES INVADE, page 4)

Paces Miners

PAT Lenahan, crack New Mexico guard, is the leading scorer on Coach Butler's quintet. Lenahan was all-New Mexico guard last year. The Matadors face Lenahan and his mates Monday at Socorro, New Mexico as the first stop on their two weeks road trip.

Business Club Gives Banquet

Guests Include Matador Athletes And Coaches; Celebrities Attend

Football players, coaches, baseball players, business men and drug store quarterbacks swapped yarns and dined Friday night when more than 125 attended the Lions club annual grid banquet held in honor of the Tech football squad in the Hilton hotel ballroom.

Coach Cawthon presented J. V. West, stellar Tech right end with two trophies for outstanding service in intercepting passes and blocking punts. Herschel "Red" Ramsey was awarded the pass defensive trophy; Charley Duval was given the best blocking back award; Jim Neill received the pass interception honor; "Bronxway" Browning was voted the trophy for making the most tackles on kick-off plays; and Captain Walker Nichols received the award for the best blocking lineman. Nichols was also presented with a scrapbook, containing clippings of the past season compiled by Mrs. Cawthon.

W. H. Evans, president of the Lions club, introduced Dr. Jackson Sam West and Jack Knott, big league baseball players, were introduced as special guests.

College Offers Boxing In Physical Education Classes This Semester

Boxing has been included in the physical education department, Milton Coffey, boxing instructor, announced yesterday. Students desiring credit in gym can earn an hour's work by taking boxing lessons twice each week.

Leib Seeks Red Raiders As Armistice Opponent In Legion Benefit Game

Conflicting Date Causes Delay In Completing Final Negotiations

A TELEGRAM from Tom Leib, head coach at Loyola of Los Angeles, wanting to play the Red Raiders on Armistice Day in the Olympic stadium as a part of the American Legion benefit program may alter the Tech tentative schedule somewhat, if the Matador coach can find some way to keep from playing three games within 10 days.

Last season UCLA and SMU played in the Olympic bowl game Armistice Day. The Mustangs and Uclens drew more than 46,000 fans, and both teams made a killing financially. Since then, the Legion officials have given Coach Leib a five year lien on the stadium rights for the annual affair. The Loyola officials guaranteed the Raiders a healthy lump of cash to meet the lions on that date. According to the telegram Leib sent Coach Cawthon (See LOYOLA COACH, page 4)

NYA Subsidizes College Athletics, Student Charges

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 5.—A new angle on the perennial charges of professionalism brought against college football players was dug up by Milton Frensky, a senior in Teachers college, Temple university, when he declared in a speech before the city community council today that "certain college football teams were being subsidized by the government through National Youth Administration funds."

"Members of football teams seem to get the preference for this student aid rather than others who need the money more," he declared. "There is also the problem of state senators telephoning the administration officials to be sure and fix a job for their particular student friends."

Here's one cigarette that writes its own advertising..

It's like this—
You see I'm reading a Chesterfield advertisement and I'm smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and all of you are smoking Chesterfields.

Now listen— Chesterfields are mild (not strong, not harsh). That's true isn't it?
Then you read "and yet they satisfy, please your taste, give you what you want in a cigarette." That says it, doesn't it?

Wait a minute—
It says now that Chesterfields have plenty of aroma and flavor. One of you go out of the room and come back. That will tell you how pleasing the aroma is.

Ko Shari Presentation Dance Friday Ushers In Activities For Semester

Campus Organization To Give Annual Affair At Auditorium

SECOND semester social activities will be ushered in Friday evening with the presentation of thirteen pledges to the Ko Shari club. The annual dance is to be given at the Auditorium from 9 until 12. Dr. W. C. Holden, sponsor, will present the pledges with their dates before a modernistic scene styled to spell the club name as inscribed on the organization pin. Ned Bradley's orchestra will furnish music for the dance.

Pledges being presented are Helen Bostick, Dorothy Hembree, Betty Krauss, Adeline Walker, Betty Jane Peter, Quenelle Sawyer, Geraldine Youngblood, Frances Cooper, Natalie Tandy, Jo Griffith, Dorothy Peterson, Marion Bullock and Mary Jo Bledsoe.

Escorts Named
Their escorts will be Jack Bostick, Bobby Butcher, J. T. Epperson, Jimmy O'Kelly, J. H. Nail, Winifred Stout, Harold Hamilton, Monroe Dunn, Jessie Holmes, Homer Hall, James Stanberry and Earl Dodd.

Members to attend are Mary Frances Johnston, Nell Walker, Mildred Francis, Doris Jobe, Cora Fox Yonge, Leila Mae Zorns, Roubie Triplett, Martha Vernon Smith, Frances Brown, Frances Moore, Rachel Lindsey, Mrs. Geneva Kerr, Katherine Johnston, Dorothy Walker, Sophie Alice Hardgrave, Idyle Glenn Abbott, Elise Tucker, Evelyn Sloan, Natalie Crosby, Maxine Burrus, Lorena Owens, Pauline Phillips, Helen Hollingsworth, Frances Mayhugh, Mary Bender and Laurie Lee Davis.

Alumnae To Attend
Their escorts will be Tommy Chesser, A. D. Ray, Lewis Kerr, Sid Stout, William T. Thomas, Jowill Triplett, Bill Yeatts, Wendell Watson, Raymond Falls, Wesley Webby, Emmett Kerr, Wayne Sellers, Bruce Zorns, Joe Shelton, Duane Fuqua, Charles Ashley, Bill Davis, Jerome George, M. K. Foster, Carl Harris, Bedford Caldwell and A. G. Rainey.

Alumnae and ex-students expected to be present include Ruby Doris Johnson and Nona Varian, both of Vernon, Elizabeth Dryden, Sierra Bianca, and Katy Walker, Kermit.

Dance At Dorm
The men's dormitory association is sponsoring a dance Saturday night with Duane Fuqua's orchestra playing for the affair. The entertainment is from 9 until 12 in the dining room. A dance is scheduled for the Community Young People's group from 10 until 12.

A stag supper given by the Los Camaradas pledges for the club members will be held in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel this evening.

The University of Pennsylvania has restored a three per cent cut to its teaching staff.

Approval of a fund of $1,983,000 for radio education has been given by President Roosevelt.

Educational Director Holds Demonstrations For Home Ec Students

Miss Agnes Young, educational director of the Singer Sewing Machine company, is giving special demonstrations in the use of the Singer machine, in the Home Economics building today.

Miss Young has been offering free instruction to certain classes in the home economics division since Monday, Miss Mabel D. Erwin, professor of clothing and textiles, stated. Senior students are studying the special use of attachments for buttonholing and picotting.

Aggies Invade Matador Arena This Weekend For Two Games With Raiders

experienced quintets the Matadors play in the Border circuit. In conference games Arizona has been the only club to have any success against the Aggie defense. They have amassed large scores against Texas Mines, Flagstaff and New Mexico university, and Hooley Apodaca is the man the Matadors have been watching. He is one of the top scorers in the conference.

Coch Huffman has kept the Matadors in practice throughout the exam weeks. At first he was expected to give them a week's holiday during exam week but was depending on the eligibility of Burke and Simms, so he changed his mind and considered exam week as any other work day. "Although I am disappointed in the failure of these three men (Burke, Simms and Crews), I believe that the combination we started out with at the first of the season can give the conference teams plenty of opposition," the Matador coach commented.

Red Raiders May Meet Catholic University In Olympic Bowl

thou, the two teams and the Legion split the gate three ways.

"At the present we have Arizona scheduled for November 14 and Oklahoma Aggies November 7," Coach Cawthon said. "If we can get Arizona to change dates, we'll play Loyola in the American Legion benefit game at Los Angeles on that date."

DePaul Signs
Coach Cawthon announced that he was in contact with Arizona in an attempt to change their scheduled date. However, he was not sure that the Blue Brigade would accept the date he offered.

DePaul, the highest ranking secondary eleven in the nation last fall, has signed the Tech contract for an interconference game here November 20, Coach Cawthon said. The Demons were held to a scoreless tie in Chicago by the Raiders last fall. Two years ago Tech defeated the DePaul eleven 48 to 19 in the local stadium.

Six other teams, Centenary, Loyola of New Orleans, Oklahoma Aggies, Oklahoma City university, Texas Christian and Wichita university, have already signed contracts for games with the Raiders next fall. Dates, however, have not been set for sure, Cawthon stated.
