

Many Departments Cooperate To Make Christmas Program Sublime

Special Stage Set, Elaborate Lighting Effects, and Pictu- resque Costumes Will be Used

In keeping with an annual tradition of presenting to the student body, faculty and town people, a Christmas program as an expression of Christmas spirit, practically every department is co-operating in making the most sublime program ever given by the college. A special stage set is being constructed, elaborate lighting equipment has been secured to enable appropriate light- ing effects, and picturesque costumes, reflecting the Christmas of Dickens' period, are to be used. A Christmas pantomime will constitute a large part of the program. According to Miss Ruth Arde, head of the Public Speaking department, many colleges and Uni- versities are now doing away with Christmas plays in favor of its form of presentation. Program Consists of Four Parts The program will consist of four parts: mass singing of Christmas songs; an address by Dr. Paul W. Horn on "The Spirit of Christmas," a tableau, "The Doctor of Louisa- me Folk," and a procession of one hundred and thirty girls wearing white robes and carrying white doves.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT

The manner in which one observes the Christmas holidays is likely to give an excellent clue as to what manner of person one really is.

For instance, with some of us the Christmas holidays bring out the very best there is in us. It brings thoughts of home, of the friends of little children with stockings hanging from the mantel, of gifts made in love, and of the Christ Child, who was once cradled in the manger at Bethlehem. Surely no thoughts in all the world could be more beautiful or more sacred than these.

Extension Dept. Gets State Okeh

Each Extension Work Is Recognized by Association Of Texas Colleges at Ft. Worth Meeting

Tech Department of Extension is placed on the approved list in four other institutions of high learning, by the association of Texas Colleges at the meeting in Ft. Worth, December 5. Both departments of extension work of Tech (correspondence instruction and extension class instruction), were okeh by the Association.

This rating of the Tech extension service is the highest of the Standards of the Association, of which Dean Colby D. Hall of T. C. is chairman. The rating is based upon a set of standards, adopted by the Association, and extensive reports made to the committee by the respective departments of the colleges of the state. Approximately twenty institutions of higher learning are doing one or both types of extension work.

Due to charges of inefficiency of extension service on the part of certain institutions a sweeping investigation of extension work of all institutions, which do extend work, will be made, and reported to the Association of Texas Colleges at the spring meeting in Ft. Worth. As a result of this investigation the colleges will be recognized for their standing in the extension service.

Women Chivalrous Debaters Declare

Assuring a debate between a team of women and a team of men on the subject, "Resolved that women are more courteous than men." Debating club held its regular meeting last evening in room 202 of the Administration building. Cook and Lizzie Belle Clemons argued the affirmative side of the question while Bob Taylor and Chester Smith upheld the negative position. The affirmative stand that women were more courteous than men inasmuch as they were courteous enough to stand in crowded buses in order that men might remain seated.

Faculty Program Set For Friday

The Christmas program of the faculty club for this year will be held Friday night, December 14, at 8:00 p. m. in the Cafeteria. This meeting is to be in charge of Mr. W. R. Wagborne and is to be in the nature of a combined social and Christmas program. Mrs. G. M. Smallwood and her committee will be hostesses for the evening.

El Toro

It is fitting and proper at this season, perhaps, to speak of El Toro (not Hollywood), for, pines, Yule logs, weather, snow, chimneys, reindeer, and white stockings. If they serve no other good purpose, an enumeration of them will suffice to make our holiday vocabulary more presentable. Of course, theoretically speaking, the mention of "chimney" would not complete a well-balanced picture without the mention of stockings hung a trifle doubtfully along the mantel-piece. Candles must come in for due notice, while stars, managers, and shepherd-boys remain discreetly in the background.

We assure you that it is in good taste to join at this time to whistle or hum a bar or so of "Silent Night, Holy Night," though there may be those who will wonder at your attention to the less significant evidences which proclaim the season. However, if you are inherently conscientious, you will continue your carol even to the furthest extent of your memory.

In anticipation of the approaching holidays, we have been doing much intensive research as to proper customs, manners, and observances which must concern us soon. We have delved with uncommon industry into the American Blue Book of Christmas Etiquette. It became evident that many of the rules found therein did not apply to our local conditions; so we will presume to pass on only a few of the more important suggestions.

"If one is a college student," says the Bluebook, "one should begin writing for Christmas spending money about the third week in September. If, perchance, one never receives any, anticipation, hope, etc., will be a sustaining force even to the last bitter examination. Then one is always free to highway himself home and say 'charge it' to the village storekeeper. Dad will appreciate the confidence you place in him."

The Bluebook also suggests that in going through a city the size of Chicago one should not feel too keenly a moral obligation to read all the signs which advise, "Buy Early and Avoid the Rush." Of course, there are variations to this inscription: "Get Yours Before Things Are Piled Over," or to put the idea a trifle more subtly, "We respectfully advise you to do your purchasing with all expedition, else we assure you that the crowds will be most nauseating."

Personally, we would advise you to wait for a pre-Christmas sale which always comes along about Christmas Eve. Things are marked down half-price, and the original price tag is left on each article. These articles make admirable gifts, and are not necessarily misleading to the recipient.

Another glance into the A. B. C. E. (the Bluebook) reveals one more clever holiday precaution. I shall quote verbatim: "If one is in doubt about sending a gift at all to a certain person, one should refrain from all worry on that score until at least the day after Christmas. If then he receives a gift from the doubtful client he may then purchase a modest but attractive gift and send it along being careful to pre-date it so that no one may suspect an improper attitude."

Bound Magazines Sent To Library

Periodicals Which Are Returned From Binder Are In Book Form; To Be Placed On The Reference Shelves

A number of general and technical magazines which are bound in book form have just been received by the library. The magazines were sent from the library to a binder and have just been returned. Among them are: Science, The Journal of the American Medical Association, Poetry, The Atlantic Monthly, Scribner, The Nation, The New Republic, The Forum, and others along the same lines. These magazines are bound in volumes just like regular books. They afford an excellent source for reference materials, and are the only place in the library where information can be obtained on recent affairs. They are to be catalogued as reference books and placed on the reference shelves. They cannot be taken out of the library but may be used there without signing a call slip.

Teachers Meet At College Saturday

High school home economics teachers of the South Plains met here for a district conference, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7 and 8. The meeting was conducted by Dean Weeks, of the school of home economics.

On Friday the members of the conference met in the Lubbock high school building from 9 to 12 o'clock, and on Saturday they met in room 104 of the Home Economics building.

Miss Peck of the state department of home economics was a visitor at the conference. WANTED—By seniors of that group of engineers better known as coulomb chasers—a system of 48 hour days without night. If one is found please keep it a secret from the instructors.

Tech Is Admitted To Southern Assn

Admission To Southern College Association Gained After Inspection Visit and Trip to Ft. Worth

Admittance of Tech into the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States was gained at a meeting of the Association in Fort Worth last week. Tech's admittance came after Mr. J. R. Reid, representative of the association, had made an inspection tour of the college and after several Tech faculty members attended the meeting.

This recognition of Tech means that she meets entrance requirements and the general standards as set up by the association. Representatives from Tech who attended the Ft. Worth meeting are: Dr. Horn, Dean Gordon, Dr. Evans, Prof. Cecil Hearn, and Prof. J. F. McDonald.

Marriage of Tech Couple Announced

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Jamie Tatum, of Tatum, N. M., and Ray Sawyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Sawyer, 2214 Broadway, was made Tuesday morning. The couple was married on November 20 in Olton, and had kept the wedding a secret until last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer are students in Technological college and Mrs. Sawyer is a member of the Sans Souci club, a prominent social organization on the college campus. She is a junior student although this is her first year in Tech. She attended school in Mississippi and Tennessee after completing high school in Tatum where her father, J. G. Tatum, is a prominent citizen.

Mr. Sawyer has lived in Lubbock for a number of years and is a graduate of the Lubbock High school. He has been attending Technological college since he finished his high school work.

Seniors Banquet At Cafeteria Monday

Tech's first four-year class gathered around the banquet table last evening at the college cafeteria for reminiscences of the years in college and to celebrate the holiday season. This group of seniors is the largest that numbers in the ranks of the Technological college since the founding of the institution and at a roll call last evening each one attending answered with the number of years studied he has had here. A large percentage of these students have secured all of their college training at Tech.

Scott Fikes, class president, was toastmaster for the occasion and proposed a toast to the class. Clarence Whitledge responded. Each of these young men has been in the Tech for four years.

Gus L. Ford and W. A. Jackson, sponsors for the class members during their freshman year, made speeches. Mr. Ford gave reminiscences of the class history and Dr. Jackson explained how the first sponsor should be elected.

Following the talks presents were distributed to the guests and a concert of bugle blowing, drum beating and musical tinkles was given. The season's appointments were carried out in place cards, postcards, official snuff and red candles placed in holders made of wreaths, holly and pine burs. A large tree, highly decorated, was placed in the center of the room. The evening's program was concluded with the dimming of lights and the lighting of myriads of red candles while Christmas carols were sung with Miss Ivo Wilson at the piano. A four-course dinner was served.

First Cage Match Will Be Thursday

Intramural Basketball Competition Holds Attention of College Fans; Liberal Arts Appear to Be in Lead

Intramural basketball ball occupies the attention of sport fans of the college at the present time. At the time the Toreador goes to press four games have been played. The season started off last Thursday night when the Liberal Arts won from the Aggies 33-23 in a fast game. The next night the Liberal Arts repeated by trimming the Engineers 23-9. The first game was featured by the smooth playing of the Liberal Arts team. The Barnyard team, led by their scoring ace, Rodge, played a good game but were unable to cope with the teamwork of the Campus' largest school.

ADS — POLICY — EXAMS — CHRISTMAS

Perhaps some students will think this Toreador is a little crowded with advertising.

If such is the case we offer three major reasons. In the first place news is as scarce as the proverbial fowl's masticators around the college at the present time when everybody is thinking of examinations and of Christmas. In the second place, our advertisers have special Christmas suggestions to offer you. And, in the third place, several members of the staff have a term's work to do in the next few days. (Ask their instructors if you have the least doubt in your mind about this.)

Furthermore, the paper will appear to have lots of advertising because its readers are accustomed to about sixty-five percent straight matter. The Toreador for the term which is just closing, has probably established a record of carrying more reading material than any previous issue over a period of one term. In fact, we carried so much straight matter in a few issues that we lost money on the publication. It is with these facts in mind that we allow so much advertising to appear in this issue.

In addition to the extra amount of reading material we would like to submit that the paper has not been late one single issue this term; something which we believe no previous staff would be able to say.

With this issue we write fins to the first chapter of volume four. During the intermission will be Christmas. Then we'll be back ready to serve you. If there is any difference in our policy next year we expect it to be an improvement. We already have some plans which, if they materialize, will add greatly to the paper. We hold no ill feeling toward anyone. We hope we have contributed something to the fine spirit which is prevalent on the campus this year. Others have said we have. We want to believe it. For, our policies will be remembered long after the news which we publish is forgotten.

With many thanks for the moral support of Tech and Lubbock, we salute you until after Christmas. May your examinations express advancement and may your Christmas be a merry one, it is our wish.

Series Of Movies Shown At School

Engineering Auditorium Is Used As Theatre To Show Educational Pictures To Public and Tech People

"Thirsty Cotton," a three-part moving picture film showing the necessity of humidified atmosphere in the manufacture of best cotton materials, was shown free to the public last night at the engineering building auditorium.

The film was made for the Parke-Cramer company by the Worcester Film corporation, in advertising the humidifier which corrects atmospheric conditions in the factory. Tech bought the textile manufacturing equipment from this company.

Professor E. W. Camp of the Textile Engineering Department, secured the film for Tech. The film was both interesting and educational. It made clear the need, use and advantage of the humidifier in textile manufacturing plants.

In addition to "Thirsty Cotton," the film "Separating Facts from Opinions," a film on the Studebaker automobile, was shown. This picture was secured by Professor Tuve of the Mechanical Engineering Department.

HALL COUNTY CLUB ENTER-TAINED

Georgia Lee Drake entertained the Hall County club with a bridge party last Wednesday evening. Eighteen members attended including Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ford. Mr. Ford is sponsor of the club. Lee Vardy won high score.

Toreador Names All-School Team

Although the intramural basketball season is not over, several games have been played and as a result quite a few men have been outstanding. The Toreador issues a first and second intramural team as a result. This being the last issue of the Toreador for the Fall term the team is now named while it is news. This is not offered as official but is the unanimous opinion of several men. Take it or leave it as you like.

Announcements

Everyone in school is requested by the post office officials to call for their mail before leaving for home. This request is made to all students whether they have been receiving their mail at the college office or not.

A beaded watch fob with diamond design has been lost. Finder please return to B. L. Maudre, 2421 21st street or to the Information office, 101 Ad bldg.

Information from the business office of the college states that no more checks will be accepted from students this term after December 12. This applies to all college newspapers, as the book store. Students wishing to purchase examination supplies will have to bring the cash.

It is announced that a much better appreciation of the Christmas program for Saturday night will result from reading the prologue. It is published in this issue of The Toreador.

The Pre-Laws meet tonight, room 217, at 7:30. A rather informal program that will concern every member will be given.

The first basket ball game of the season will be played Thursday night with Wayland College of Plainview. The affair is in the nature of a practice tilt. Activity tickets will admit.

Freshmen Groups To Have Picnic

At 5:15 this afternoon the men's and women's branches of the Freshman Council will meet in front of the Administration building after which they will go to the County Park for a joint picnic and wienie roast.

Details of the affair have been arranged by the co-operation committee which consists of four men and four women.

Chapparitas Give Dinner Thursday

New members of Las Chapparitas club entertained old members with a four course dinner Thursday evening at the Corner Tea Room. After the dinner, Santa Claus came in and old members received gifts from a Christmas tree. Horns were given as favors. About thirty-two were present besides Mrs. Allen, sponsor, and Mrs. Doak, special guest.

AG Club Program Is Varied Affair

Combined Home Economics And Agriculture Entertainment Is Planned And Committee Appointed

A feature of the program at the Agg club meeting last week was a contest in which the stock judging team was judged as "feeder steers." Freshmen were selected to do the judging, and from the results Tech was chosen as sponsor, and the following officers were elected: President, Don Boggs, Oak Cliff; secretary-treasurer, Annette Clark, North Dallas; reporter, Clarke Ragland, Oak Cliff; Fenton Harding was appointed chairman of the program committee, with assistants Annette Clark and Guy Pougé. Members of the club from the different schools are as follows: Bryan Street; Lloyd Reeves, Jon Currie; Forest; Bob King; Hookaday; Evelyn Perry; North Dallas; Ben High; Langford Shaw; Annette Clark, Oak Cliff; Don Boggs, Clarke Ragland, Guy Pougé, Fay Wiggins, Alpha Wiggins, Horace Moss; Sunset; J. B. Shannon, Wm. H. Ritcheson; Terrell; Prep; Quentin R. Wilson.

The club will have one regular meeting and any number of call meetings each month. The regular meeting will be held the second Monday of January, 1929. The club voted a section in La Ventura, and all members or prospective members are requested to make arrangements to get their pictures in before they leave for the Christmas holidays.

ORCHESTRA GETS MENTION

Texas Tech Collectors gain mention in "The Billboard," on of the most widely read theater and orchestra magazines of America. A statement in a recent issue of the magazine is that the Tech orchestra, under the management of Newell Houghes, is one of the most popular playing in the college. The members with the instruments were also mentioned.

YI GANMA MU TO MEET FRIDAY P. I Ganma Mu will meet for the last time this term on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Doak, 2421 Broadway. The feature of the program will be a discussion of modern negro poetry, by Mary Hope Westbrook.

SNAKE IS GIVEN BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT

A snake was presented the Biology department last Friday by the Lubbock Fruit and Vegetable company. Members of the firm found the snake in a bunch of bananas. It probably came from Central or South America. Announcement is made by members of the Biology department that they are always glad to receive specimens to the additions already collected. It is planned to have an exhibition of living species in the museum of the new Chemistry building upon its completion.

GETTING IN TOUCH WITH THE BEST

One of the greatest things in connection with a college education is that it affords an opportunity to the student to get in touch with the very best along various different lines.

For instance, quite recently students of the Texas Technological College had the opportunity to hear Mr. Sousa conduct the wonderful band which he has been directing for years.

CAMPUS JUSTICE

Examinations are upon us with the many opportunities for mental larceny. We will be tested for what we are as well as for what we know.

Whether or not the situation is equally as serious at other colleges we do not know, but whatever the condition may be in other schools, there is no excuse for its continuance here.

What are the solutions? Monitors, traps, expulsion honor systems, examinations of a type that renders cheating, etc. ad infinitum? Many solutions have been tried, and many have failed.

We must rise to the responsibility for eliminating mental larceny. The initiative is in our hands and rightly so.

ENCOURAGE HIM

Come out of the rut and commend your fellow student for what he has done. Is it that he has done nothing to be commended for, or is that so blankly blank that you are unable to see any good in him?

THINK IT OVER, FELLOW STUDENTS

If we were called upon to judge a man who had stolen an immortal poem and published it as his own, few of us would laugh it off, and call him a "regular fellow" because he could get by with it.

Frankly, fellow students, if you were called upon to judge somebody who had copied his examination from his neighbor and signed his own name, would you truly say that it was all right if he could get by with it?

Next week, fellows, we will be called upon to give ourselves a thorough cleaning. We will be called upon to empty our stores of accumulated knowledge upon the examination page.

Some students have cut classes until recitation periods are no longer classes to them. They are CLASHES.

Of course the real test would be when the novelty of the affair wears off. We have enough confidence in the student body, however, to believe that the proposition would work again, and again.

Getting Our Names In The Paper

Alvis Ellis, a Liberal Arts freshman, wears a smile that is as broad and as wholesome as the country he represents, Anton, Texas.

Mary Pickford has often been called "Everybody's sweetheart." We now enter the name of Blanche Groves, a Junior, in so far as Tech is concerned.

Robert Burdett, popular Agg student, has originated a new variety of beans or peas, you can't tell which. Because they are black and white spotted, he calls them Holstein Peas.

Tradition has it that a girl does not debate. She does all the talking. Lois Harkey, senior, Baylor college transfer, and a candidate for girls' debating team disproves this theory.

Irwin Hancock, who was one of the high point men of Cheri Casa in a social way, has reformed. Hancock has a weak as well as a loving heart.

Oscar Hubbert is a member of the college band. He is another student who has a big outlook for Tech. The other night he worked until about eleven-thirty on a project which would have benefited the entire college had he been able to put it over.

Rummage Sale Is Decided Success

Articles are Sold Readily at Nominal Price; Y. W. Association Plans Another Saturday

The Y. M. C. A. White Elephant Rummage Sale which was conducted Friday and Saturday proved to be a great success from a financial standpoint as well as from the co-operation of numbers of girls on the campus who helped in conducting the sale. The sale was held at 1008 Main and was under the direction of Miss Margaret Cooper, a member of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet.

Donations of old clothing of all kinds, food, bric-a-brac, etc., were received from citizens of the town, merchants, and many students. That the sale really served a decided need in furnishing warm clothing to the poor of the city at a nominal price is evidenced by the ready sale of such articles.

Since this sale met with such a hearty reception, the "Y" girls are planning a similar one for Saturday, December 15. All Tech students and faculty members are asked to leave any donations in the "Y" room of the administration building or call Miss Margaret Cooper at 333 so that she may have cars call for the things. People out of town who have articles for the sale are asked to call Mrs. W. H. Redwood, the member of the Y. W. C. A. Advisory Board who is assisting the college girls in the sale.

ocratic national convention under the leadership of that "young, handsome, black-headed, silver-tongued" warrior, William Jennings Bryan, who literally swept the convention off its feet by reciting a Chautauqua speech and securing the nomination. "He did not win," said Mr. White, "but I am a Republican—he scared us almost to death." The speaker addressed Bryan a major figure in the political history of the country.

The liberalism movement was made still more respectable, according to the viewpoint of Mr. White, when Theodore Roosevelt adopted for the Republican party the principles previously advanced by Bryan. Railroads, trusts, and conservation came under the control of the government, which was made the agent of human welfare.

Says Liberalism Is Appeal to Reason.

Woodrow Wilson was the next great liberal leader. Wilson adopted much of the platform of the Bull Moose party which was the most liberal platform ever advanced up to that time. "War is always reactionary. War is an appeal to force and liberalism an appeal to reason. There can be no peace without justice, and Wilson's idea of world peace approximated justice more than any other thing in history. This contribution of his will bring renown to his name after the apparently outshining figures during the past decade have been lost in the dust of oblivion." The speaker declared that the election of Harding was a perfect expression of hate in a time of dissatisfaction and disillusionment. When Coolidge became president—"some say that he was weaned on a pickle, but I think that he was weaned on a clothes-pin." "A curious, little, thin, hard, visionless man who shocked me incredibly with his first public utterance which was this: "The nation's business is business," but who with his cool, hard boiled economy was exactly what the people wanted—he led them exactly nowhere, which was exactly where they wanted to go." Mr. White declared that prosperity was never justifiable as an end within itself but must secrete something greater.

Answers Questions.
After the address members of the audience were given an opportunity to ask questions and several availed themselves of the privilege. In answer to the question: "What kind of a book are you writing while you are making political speeches," the speaker replied that he had not made any political speech since the election—"judging from the returns I do not think it necessary"—and stated that he was at present writing a life of Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. White gave the audience an intimate glimpse of Hoover as he knew him and expressed the opinion that the Hoover administration might develop liberalism and that it was possible a new alignment of parties would be an alliance between the liberals of both parties. He said that Hoover was making an effort to find a solution to the farm relief problem and that he would not accept a superficial solution.

Addresses by Professor C. H. Mahoney of Tech faculty and R. F. Bayless, general freight agent for the Santa Fe railroad, were features of a meet held by the Lubbock County Farm Bureau Association Saturday afternoon.

Librarian Returns From Long Trip

Miss Elizabeth H. West returned Dec. 5 from a visit to Louisiana, Mississippi, and other places "east of the river."

She first went to the Southwestern Library Association at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, where representatives from all of the South, including Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico were present. Arizona and old Mexico sent no representatives. The executive board of the American Library Association was there, and there were also present some people from the Southeastern Library Association. The Baton Rouge Chamber of Commerce took the delegates on a drive to Rosedown, an old Louisiana plantation. At another meeting there was a lecture and a picture show from the films made during an expedition in South America, by a member of the faculty of Tulane University.

From Baton Rouge Miss West went to Pensacola, Fla., to visit her sister, Mrs. R. P. Price. While she was there she went to see the private library of the Youngs family.

Goes to Mississippi Also.
The week-end of Nov. 10 she attended the meeting of the South-eastern Library association at Biloxi, Miss., taking especial interest in the college and university section meetings, and meeting many old friends. Libraries east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio were represented there.

Then she went to New Orleans, where she visited Miss Ethel Hutson, secretary of the Southern Art League; she attended several art events, including the Sophie Newcomb Art School. She also visited the Howard Memorial Library, and the private library of Mr. Parsons.

Attends Texas Meetings.
From New Orleans she proceeded to Houston, where she conferred with Miss Portia Owens in regard to plans for the Texas School Library Yearbook, 1928. Then she spent two weeks in Austin doing some personal research work, in the state library, and collecting material which is hoped to result in a gift to our library.

The day before Thanksgiving she went to San Antonio to attend the Texas State Teachers' association, giving special attention to the library part; she presided at the library section meeting, and laid plans for next year. She visited several libraries and museums, and then returned to Austin. From there she went to Ft. Worth, where she attended the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States, and then returned to Lubbock.

GAUCHOS FORM CLUB

The boys pep squad, Los Gauchos, met at the gymnasium Friday afternoon and organized themselves into a club. The club will retain the old name, Los Gauchos, with the following officers: Frank Stone, president; George Berry, vice-president; and Bruce Scott, secretary and treasurer. The club has its first regular meeting Thursday night in front of the library. All the "Gauchos" are requested to be there.

Members of Tech stock judging team and their coach, R. C. Mowery, were guests of the Kiwanis club at their regular weekly luncheon Thursday. Prof. Mowery made a talk in behalf of the team.

Resume Of Last Football Season Gives Totals In Punting, Passing, Etc.

It's all over. With this issue, the Toreador gives the final news of the 1928 Matador football season. Some consider the season a success. Some do not. The Toreador, in giving the news, does not attempt to say. The statistics as given in this article will perhaps aid in formulating opinion. But it matters not as to the relative success of the team. The Toreador is solidly behind athletics, regardless. We believe that this statement can be proven by the fact that this year's Toreador has carried more news regarding athletics than any other previous year. We are not boasting as to the quality of the news, but nevertheless the time, effort, and space has not been sparingly used. The Toreador will, as in the past, continue to support athletics in the same spirit. With the exception of the Daniel Baker game, the Toreador has carried a play by play account of every game. The editor was unable to go to Brownwood and subsequently was not able to get the game play by play. The account finally reached Lubbock but arrived too late to be run in the next issue. As a climax to the season the Toreador carries a bird's eye view of the 1928 Matador edition:

Team Scores:
 Tech 7; Schreiner 0.
 Tech 0; Texas U. 12.
 Tech 13; St. Edwards 6.
 Tech 3; McMurry 0.
 Tech 6; T. C. U. 28.
 Tech 0; Daniel Baker 0.
 Tech 0; A. C. C. 7.
 Tech 0; Simmons 12.
 Tech 18; Canyon 7.
 Total, Tech 47; Opponents 79.

From the above score at first glance it will appear that Tech was greatly outclassed but the fact remains that four games were won and four were lost, and one was tied. All games tied and lost were to teams at the very top of the Texas Conferences. Perhaps Tech was raised in the estimation of football fandom more by the 12-0 loss to Texas University. Daniel Baker won the T. I. A. A. championship and at the same time tied Tech 0-0. Tech nosed out McMurry and lost to A. C. C. T. U. who are tied for second place in the T. I. A. A. race. Simmons rests in third place in the Texas Conference race and was able to beat Tech by the breaks of the game, 18-0. This was a sickening, heart-breaking game in which the best team lost. Tech gained almost two times as much yardage as the Cowboys. In addition the Matadors made 10 first downs to 4 for the Ranchers.

The last game lost was in Fort Worth when T. C. U. trimmed Tech 28-6. And it must not be forgotten that the Frogs only missed first place by 9 points. As it is they are third in the Southwestern Conference ratings.

Yards Gained From Scrimmage
 During the nine games Tech backs gained a grand total of 1145 yards from the line of scrimmage. The combined total of the opposition was 1241. Or, in other words, Tech was outgained by 96 yards. Tech was badly outclassed in the Saint Edwards game when the Saints ran up a total of 340 yards. Even the two Southwestern Conference teams were unable to equal this record made by the Catholics. To Daniel Baker goes the honor of holding Brownwood to the lowest total. In the Matadors to the lowest total. In the Matadors, the Bull Fighters made only 62 yards from scrimmage. A list of Matador ball toters and their total for the season follows:

Passing
 In the passing game the Matadors have been criticized as being very weak. A comparison with opposing teams, however, shows them to be about average. During the season the Matadors attempted 94 passes; the opposition 98. Tech completed 30 passes. The opposition completed only 28. Tech has only 49 incomplete passes as against 58 for the opposition. Tech had 14 of her passes intercepted. The opposition also had 14 intercepted by the Matador defense. Totals however show that Tech gained only 379 yards from passes as against 482 by the combined efforts of the opposition. A list of pass receivers and their season's total follows:

Punting
 Buddy Brothers, Levi and Percy Walker have kept punting on a high plane. In fact Tech has outclassed all opponents in this department. Only one team has equalled Tech in this respect. And that was T. C. U. To be exact Tech had an average in this game of 37 1-4. Tech outclassed Canyon badly in punting—41 to 35. The Matadors also outclassed A. C. C. 49 to 35. The punting on Nov. 10 was the best of the season.

Taking the season as a whole we find that Tech averaged 39 2-7 yards and the opposition average 32 5-7 yards.

The season's average for Tech's three punters is as follows:
 Percy Walker ..... 43 1-15
 Brothers ..... 32 9-15
 Levi Walker ..... 32 4-15

Number of Substitutions
 During the 9 game schedule Coaches Freeland and Payne sent in 120 substitutions. The members of the opposition sent in 102. Or in other words, Tech averaged 13 1-3 substitutions per game. The opposition averaged 11 2-3 per game or 2 less than Tech. Tech sent in 22 in the A. C. C. game in an effort to beat the Wildcats but to no avail. Tech sent in the least in the McMurry and Daniel Baker games when only 7 changes were made. Texas University and T. C. U. each sent in 25 substitutes each.

With thoughts of examinations come thoughts of Christmas and the folks at home. Around the college there is an air of planning on the part of students in order to "get through" as soon as possible and get on the way to see mother, dad, the little brothers and sisters. Though activities continue to a fair extent, there does not appear to be that energy and enthusiasm about them which was characteristic at the first of the term. All activity seems to be laced with thoughts of the home—Christmas. A fond admiration renews itself in the heart for old dad who has

Different Departments of Home Ec School Aid With Sale; Club Members Are Busy As Christmas Nears

The Home Economics club is holding its annual Christmas sale of novelties, the proceeds of which are to be placed in the Home Economics Students Loan fund, which amounts to about $350 at the present time. The departments of foods and of applied arts are helping with the sale, and the following articles are being displayed in Room 108 of the Home Economics building; pieces of brass, including candlesticks, book ends, nut crackers, knockers, bowls, and dinner gongs; Japanese prints and etchings, many designs; and etables, such as fruit cakes and candy. Should the demand for these articles exceed the supply, orders will be taken, and delivery will be made before Christmas.

Club Meets
Much important business was conducted at a recent meeting of the club. It was decided to hold the annual party of the club in the Practice House Friday night, December 14, and each member is asked to bring some gift to this party. Many of the girls are planning to
