College Honored In Getting Branch Of Engineering Body

Only 104 Schools Members Of American Institute Of Electrical Engineers; Has Rigid Requirements

Tech has been highly honored in the opinion of officials of the Institute, by being granted a college branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. This is the highest organization of the engineering profession; it sets the standards and ethics for the profession.

There are only 104 college branches of the institute in the entire United States, and membership in it on the part of a college signifies possession not only of the highest possible technical, but also general, qualifications. An exhaustive investigation of the faculty and entire curriculum of Tech was made by a committee for the purpose; this committee contained members who are professors of electrical engineering at such schools as Yale, Massachusetts Tech, and Wisconsin. H. H. Henline, assistant national secretary of the organization, has held an extensive correspondence with Dean William J. Horn on the subject.

The committee's recommendation, which was made last November 20, was referred to the board of directors of the Institute, which made the final decision. Plans by law and other material has been sent to the Tech branch.

Student members pay $3 each year for three years as dues, and then must either drop out or become associate members. These dues include the cost of subscription to the Journal of the Institute, which is ordinarily sold for $10 a year.

Representative To A. W. S. Is Chosen

Y. W. C. A. Council Plans Party For All College Women Tomorrow Night; Offer Transportation

Election of Margaret Trigg as representative to the Association of Women Students and preliminary discussion on the coming election of members in the board of management of the Y. W. C. A. formed the principal work of the council of the latter organization in its meeting Monday evening.

Plans for a party for all college women to be given Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the home of the home economics building were also made at the meeting. Margaret Cooper, president of the Y. W. C. A. stated that all women in the college are invited to be present, and that any who did not have transportation would be given a ride after signing a list in the Y. W. C. A. room on the second floor of the administration building.

The following committees were appointed to work out the details of the entertainment: program, Irene McClellan, chairman; Lois Cooper, Faye Williams; refreshment, Ruth Love, chairman; Milledred Hinder, Ruth Ford; invitation, Jesse Walker, chairman; Lullie Halley, and Inez Hensley.

E. E. Organization Chooses Officers

Officers of the Tech branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers were elected at the first meeting of the new organization last week. They include: chairman, W. E. Street; vice-chairman, Charles E. Houston; secretary-treasurer, Wilbur Pearson; Dean W. J. Miller, head of the department of Electrical Engineering, was named as faculty counselor. The society started off with 18 charter members at this meeting.

Another meeting was held last night in order to appoint the necessary committees and plan a program. The names of these committees have not yet been announced.

The Bull Wheel

BILL WALKER and BOB PATTERSON were leaping the FULBRIGHT girls about not wearing enough clothes to keep them warm, but PEWEE LEITER stated that he thought no changes should be made.

NELL GOODLOE said she hit her hand on a counter. ELME FARRE said, "On account of what?"

MIL MADONNE FARROW makes a mental study—she says that the holidays had lasted a month, she believes her French students would have come back talking Chinese.

"I never like to drive," says Mr. DON LEACH. "Cause I have so much fun in the rumble seat."

Dean Leidigh Appointed To Work On Cotton Board

At the meeting of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, held in Austin Monday, January 6, Dean A. H. Leidigh of the school of agriculture here, was appointed by Governor Dan Moody as one of the members of the committee of that organization.

Dean Leidigh is very optimistic over the new organization. His opinion is that the idea of the $30,000,000 national cotton cooperative is a splendid one, but that the farmers of the South Plains should be advised that they are not going into something that will make them independently wealthy.

The object of the new organization is not to obtain a monopoly, nor to receive an unheard-of price, but simply to get a fairer share of the price paid by the cotton consumer.

It is hoped that 200,000 bales of cotton will enter into the cooperative, rather than merely the 100,000 bales which will be required by the Federal Farm Board. "No matter how many organizations there are formed, they must all be connected with the super selling agency, this forms a merger of farmers and avoids competition," said Dean Leidigh.

Dr. McKay Tells Of Attitudes In North

That the students in northern schools take a very open-minded attitude toward interracial questions growing out of the Civil War period was brought out by Dr. S. S. McKay, professor of history, in his lecture at Pi Gamma Mu Friday evening.

Dr. McKay based his lecture on observations and statistics made at Ohio State university when he taught there in 1923-24. He taught two classes of 50 students each and in each of which there were four colored students, a face which he explained made them very convenient for comparison and for the compilation of statistics.

The students in Dr. McKay's classes indicated that he presented a case of which they were not familiar and which they were glad to learn.

About 50 negro students attended Ohio State university at the time Dr. McKay was there. He stated that there was little association between the whites and negroes, but that the latter generally impressed one as being a higher type than is known in this part of the country.

Graduate Studies To Have Section

A new section called "the Grads" is to be included in La Ventana in the edition for the first time, according to Holmes Webb, editor of the book. The section will be made up of approximately fifty graduate students. A meeting of the graduate students will be called some time this week to make definite preparations for the section.

Prettiest Co-Eds Stir Competition

Beauty pages in an annual represent far more than just the pictures of so many unusually pretty co-eds; they represent a whole month of blushing, worrying, wire-pulling, doubting, hoping, and suspense. Holmes Webb, editor of La Ventana, has revealed some of the interesting details behind the section dedicated to Tech's fairest.

Many pictures submitted for the contest are turned in by the fairest admirers of the beauties. The girls themselves may have completely forgot the gentle art of blushing at the right moment, but their interested friends have amply demonstrated their ability. Webb states that when a young man calls at the annual office to turn in the picture of his heart's desire, he blushes as effusively as any boy maiden of the eighties suddenly turned loose in a land of College Humor.

When there is considerable competition between two or three boys for the favor of some young beauty, there is also considerable fishing around to find out whether the other fellow is planning to turn in any pictures or not. None of them want to submit a girl's picture after it has already come in, yet none of them want to be left out.

A. W. S. Council Meeting Is Called For Afternoon

Plan To Assist Mrs. Doak In Orientation Classes; "Problem Box" Will Be Conducted

A business meeting of the A. W. S. council will be held this afternoon at 5:15 o'clock in room 263 of the administration building. According to Lizzie Bell Clements, president of the A. W. S., plans for the work of this term are to be definitely outlined and a number of reports are to be given by committees.

The A. W. S. is an association of all women students on the campus and every girl in Tech will have a part in perfecting the plans made by the A. W. S. council. Its purpose is to discuss matters of interest to all women students and to promote all worthy organizations and movements by the student body.

Next year the A. W. S. will assist Mrs. Mary W. Doak in her orientation work. Since the course is required of all freshman students the classes are very large and the A. W. S. can assist in the conducting of the classes.

An official "problem box" is to be placed near the candy counter where girls may place any problem which is confronting them and they will receive the help of the A. W. S. council. "At present plans are being made for special convocations for women students," said Miss Clements, "and these convocations will afford an opportunity for entertainment and for the discussion of problems which are of interest to the women students."

Two French Plays To Be Given Soon

Second Year Students Will Appear In Productions; Work Is Begun On Them Saturday

"Le Cousin d'Amérique" are the names of the two French plays which will be presented by the French department the latter part of this month or the first of February. Work was begun on the plays last Saturday night.

"L'epreuve Dangereuse," "The Dangerous Test" is a comedy in which a jealous young wife, thinking that her husband does not love her as much as he should and imagining him to be in love with her friend, tests his affection. The result is many absurd and laughable situations. The second play, "The Cousin from America," is a beautiful, simple story of poverty and love and a French girl who marries an American.

The characters are: Henriette, Edith, Laurence, Julian, William, Gordon, Nellie, William, Nellie, Florence Jackson and Mrs. Ova, Mary Etter.

Everyone is especially invited to these plays which will be given in the auditorium of the engineering building. The date will be announced later. There will be no admission charge, but after the plays an offering will be taken, and the money will go to the Y. M. C. A.

Tech Press Club To Resume Work

Students interested in working in the Press club are requested to meet Wednesday night, January 22, at 7:30 o'clock in the administration building, according to Miss Lucille Gill, former sponsor of the club. All members of classes in Journalism and all other who have had experience in any of the various activities sponsored by the club are especially urged to attend.

The Press club was active on the campus last year but did not meet regularly during the fall term of this year. It is planned for the club to meet every two weeks this term. Active functioning of the organization is essential to the school's participation in the annual contest sponsored by the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association.

Dr. P. W. Horn stated that the catalogue lists several new courses and other interesting features. He also stated that the copies will be ready for distribution just as soon as the printer can complete the work.

Cole Continues To Show Improvement

Mr. W. C. Cole, manager of the college bookstore, who with his wife and sister, Miss Mary Jo Cole, was injured during the holidays in an automobile accident near Snyder, is continuing to improve nicely, according to the latest word from the Lubbock sanitarium.

Tech Cage Team Takes Two From Howard Payne

Poor Blind Mice! Santy Or Stork—Which?

Santa or the stork—Which ever it is, the number of inmates of the biology house behind the chemistry building was recently increased by four young cheesers born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Mouse.

Faculty Discusses Carnegie Report

Comes To Conclusion That Compensation Should Be For Services Only And Not As Gift

Financial compensation for athletes either by the school or by other interested parties was disapproved by the faculty and a few visitors from the town Tuesday afternoon in discussing the Carnegie report on the subsidizing of athletes in the major schools of the country.

Dr. P. W. Horn in his opening statement spoke of the wide difference of opinion in regard to the whole subject of athletics. He mentioned one particular incident that affected Tech directly. He referred to the time "Pest" Welch, All-American halfback at Purdue university the past year, came to Tech looking for employment in order that he might attend school here.

The faculty, along with Mr. George Dupree, local attorney, asserted that it is unethical for a coach to receive compensation in addition to his regular salary, for too much influence might be exerted solely for the sake of physical and educational gain, and not as a vocation. The present day feeling seems to be that any kind of compensation destroys amateur standing.

Council To Make Picture At Noon

All members of the student council are to meet in the office of Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the college, at 11:55 o'clock this morning to have a group picture made for La Ventana, according to announcement by Margaret Trigg, secretary of the student association.

College Catalogues In Hands of Printer

Final material for the 1929-30 edition of the school catalogue was sent to the printer Saturday. This is the regular annual issue of the catalogue and will contain announcements for 1930-31.

Nutrition Studied By Faculty Club

Animal nutrition was the subject of a talk made by Professor W. L. Stangel to the faculty science club last Tuesday evening, January 7. Miss Vivian Johnson discussed vitamins, their sources, effects, and various processes. A reply was made by Miss Margaret Weeks of the recent progress of nutrition. A luncheon served after the meeting was prepared under the charge of Miss Maymie Tynford.

Miss Hattie Mounford, a student in the school of home economics, began teaching in the high school Saturday Monday. She is teaching courses in home economics.

Hodges And Maxwell Prove To Be High Scorers For Paynemen; Locals Taks Series By 53 To 31, And 40 To 18

Taking their victory over the Wayland Jackrabbits as a sort of warming-up, the Tech Matadors rounded into splendid form and won two contests from the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets in handy fashion. The first game was copied by the one-sided score of 53 to 31, and the second went to the Scarlet losers by 40 to 18 count.

In these two the Scarlets showed a little of everything. Accurate passing and goal shooting is the only explanation of the large scores that were rolled up. Behind all this is the evidence of real team work. There were practically no "grandstand" plays in either of the two past engagements. The boys displayed a hard smooth offense and an air tight defense that bids fair to bring in many victories before the season is finished.

Matador Quintet To Face Capable Simmons Cagers

Coming out of their games with Howard Payne realizing that everything is not as lovely as some are inclined to think, Coach Payne and the Matador basket tossers are up against a tough assignment this evening in the game with the Simmons Cowboys. Last season besides winning both games from Tech the Cowboys won the Texas Conference title without dropping a contest. This year the contest comes from practically a sure bet for the conference championship again. The Cowboys are probably not the powerful club that they were last season, but they have several lettermen back on the squad and will be able to deal the Matadors as much misery as any team on the schedule.

On the other hand Tech appears to be considerably stronger this year. The team has a better back-up, not counting Bill Maxwell who has shown up so admirably in every contest so far. The Tech squad is smooth and fast and has exhibited some smart basket ball in all of the past games.

It will require all of this and even more to win a victory over Simmons. Captain Smith and former captain Greg of the Simmons quintet were all-Texas conference selections last season, and it is on this fact mainly that the Cowboy supporters are basing their claim to the title. This game will be a real test of the Matador's strength. If they win it, they will fair to ward going through the season undefeated.

Announce Contest On Race Relations

Two awards of $100 each for the best papers on "Justice in Race Relations" are being offered by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, a southern organization with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia. The papers are to be submitted by students in Southern colleges during the present school year and must be mailed to the commission not later than May 1, 1929. They are to be between 1,500 and 2,500 words in length.

Dr. J. C. Granbery, head of the department of sociology and philosophy in the college, is working with his classes on the matter of submitting papers, and he has stated that he will be glad to explain the nature of the contest to any other student who might be interested.

Band To Play For Basketball Games

Harry Le Maire, director of the college band, has announced that the band will play for all the basketball games this season. So far this term Mr. Le Maire has been pleased with the turnout of the band members. One new member, Francis Tyler of Claude, was admitted to the band this term.

Auditor Tells Of Early Days Here

Mrs. Stiles was Switchboard Operator, Book-keeper, Auditor, Stenographer, and Postmistress At First

"How busy you are down here!" was the remark at the business office on registration day. "I look like with all this money these checks, and the long lines of students everything would get in a dreadful mess and everything would go haywire."

"Things do go wrong and get in a jam sometimes," said Mrs. J. H. Stiles, auditor, "but I only have to think of that first hectic registration day at Tech and then it doesn't seem at all bad."

Mrs. Stiles came to Tech in the latter part of August in 1923 when she was employed in the business office. At that time the home economics building was the only one completed on the Tech campus. All the offices were in one big laboratory room there. Mrs. Stiles' desk was a rough, unpainted kitchen table which had been donated by a local furniture company. She had a swivel chair but she had to put books and magazines in it in order to be higher than her desk. Her wastebasket was a card box.

In their wildest dreams the officers of the college anticipated 750 students. They really expected about 300 to enroll and made plans to take care of that number. Nine

1500 South Plains People Expected For Short Course

Plans Underway For Second Annual Event Which Has Interested Farmers Of Vicinity

Under the direction of Professor H. J. Bower, head of the Agronomy department in Tech's school of agriculture, plans for the second annual farmers' short course which is to be held here February 3, 4 and 5 are being rapidly made.

It is expected that approximately fifteen hundred farmers and housewives of the South Plains area will gather here at that time to attend the lectures and demonstrations which will be given. The ladies will be entertained by Dean Margaret W. Weeks, and the school of home economics.

The first course of this kind was held here last year, and it proved to be such a success that it was made an annual affair.

The first day will be regarded as marketing day. At that time lectures will be given by such prominent visitors as: J. D. Tinsley, agricultural agent of the Santa Fe railway; Glen Stokes, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association; Harry Williams, manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, and R. F. Cook, of the Texas Wheat Growers association.

At 6:00 p. m., a dinner prepared from Lubbock county products will be served in the cafeteria to the visitors.

On the second day speeches will be made by other men of renown, such as: Sterling C. Evans, of Texas, A. and M. College; Don F. Jones, of the Lubbock station; Frank Triplett, Plainview; Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, director of the American Farm Bureau association; H. J. Lucas, president of the Texas Farm Bureau federation, and Mrs. M. S. Hudson, director of the thirty-fifth district of the Texas Farm Bureau association. In the evening the visitors will be entertained by a class in tumbling under the direction of Dr. F. G. Harbough, assistant professor in the department of animal husbandry.

The third day will be devoted to the animal husbandry department, and will be under the direction of All indications point toward even greater success for the farmers' short course this year than that which characterized it last year.

Directors To Meet In Corsicana Soon

Coaching Situation At Tech And Appropriations Of Legislature Are To Be Considered

Several matters of great importance, including the coaching situation at Tech and the legislative appropriations, will claim the attention of the members of the board of directors of the college when they meet January 28 in Corsicana. The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. F. N. Drake, one of the members of the board.

Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the college, stated that the board would come to some definite decision regarding coaches for next year if possible. He has already announced that in all probability there will be a change made. Dr. Horn also stated that many applications for the position of guiding the Matadors next year have been received. The matter of appropriations will be in line with the action of the state legislature on the requests made by the board. The legislature will meet in Austin January 30.

Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the school of home economics, addressed the Parent-Teachers' association at the Central Ward school Tuesday on the relation of nutrition to mental development.

It is beginning to look as if all these predictions about our winning basketball team are going to be realized. The Scarlet quintet has already shown some real basketball; but better than that the team has a lot of undeveloped power. When Hodges, Maxwell, Fisher, Tadlock, and Vinzant hit their mid-season form we are going to see some fireworks sure enough.

Tech certainly has a pair of scoring threats. If it isn't Maxwell it's Hodges. Looks as if these boys are taking time about being high point man. Maxwell has the highest individual score for a single contest; he chalked up 20 points Monday night against the Yellowjackets.

We have with us tonight the Cowboys from Simmons University. The Cowboys have a strong club and are hoped to win the Texas Conference title. A victory over Simmons would indeed be a credit to the Scarlet crew.

Some basketball coaches over the country have registered a deep disapproval of the stalling practice, but it has been in evidence quite a bit this season. Simmons used the stall last year, and Coach Crawford of the Cowboys declares that he will employ the delayed offense again this year but not in the same manner as it was used last season.

From this we take it that the stalling will not get the ball and hold it for five or ten minutes at a time as they frequently did last year. We would not be surprised to see some stalling, however, if the Simmons crew gets out in front in the game tonight.

Before a team can afford to stall it must establish a rather substantial lead, and before any team playing Tech can do this it must first silence Clarence Hodges, Bill Maxwell, and Dennis Vinzant. They are three good reasons that will probably keep Simmons from doing very much stalling tonight.

Coach Francis Schmidt of T. C. U. is very much opposed to stalling. He says if it continues to develop it will ruin the game, and that some means should be taken to halt the practice. We believe he is right. Basketball will lose all of its appeal to the sporting world if the fast offensive play that furnishes all the thrills. Some declare that teams must learn to come out of their defense and go after the ball, but this idea seems to be directly opposite to the real object of the game.

A good coach is necessary to a good team, but evidently that is not all. Coach Francis Schmidt turned out a wonderful team at Arkansas last year, but this season his Progs were defeated twice by the team he had formally coached. A good coach can't build a good team by himself—he must have some good material.

The 1930 football schedule will be available soon. It is rumored and generally understood that there will be at least one or two new opponents on the line-up. There will probably be a game with New Mexico University regardless of what becomes of the proposed conference. The Thanksgiving game with Simmons will be played in Lubbock and a game with Canyon will no doubt come earlier in the season. If a Southwestern Conference team is scheduled it will probably be T. C. U. which game will be played in Fort Worth.

Had a little chat with Sam West the other day. Sam is center fielder for the Washington Senators. We never read so much about West in this part of the country, but just pick up an Alabama paper if you want to know all about him. Sam played with the Birmingham club for a season and then went to the Senators where he has been for the past three years. West is a fine fellow and is certainly a model athlete. He never uses tobacco or alcohol in any form.

If we may be permitted to wander a few moments from the field of athletics in general, there is one little thing we would like to mention. We have the greatest respect for the laws of the land and for those whose duty it is to enforce these laws, but nevertheless we can't understand the discrimination that is being made against Tech students by those who are trying to enforce the law in Lubbock. True enough the officers are doing their duty, but it should no longer serve as an excuse. It is hoped that students and members of the faculty alike will make use of the columns of this paper to say the things they think ought to be said.

All articles in the nature of the above suggestions must be signed before they will be printed, unless special arrangement has been made with the editor.

Failure to receive contributions expressing the opinions of other members of the school may be due either to a lack of understanding that such articles would be acceptable, or to the lack of a public concern in the welfare of the school. The former possibility is probably the responsible one.

New Extension Course In Health And Hygiene Under Direction Of Misses Gilkerson And Weeks To Be Offered

A new phase in the way of an extension course in health and hygiene will be offered at the senior high school building in the west study hall beginning Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, January 21. The course has for its general name "Health Education," and is required by the superintendent of the public schools for all teachers in the Lubbock schools. It is also open to other citizens of Lubbock who care to enroll. The course is being given under the direction of Miss Johnnie Gilkerson, head of the department of physical education, and Dean Margaret Weeks of the School of Home Economics. A series of lectures will be given

- 1 He's not very fat but he's very tall
Runs like a rabbit, plays basket ball.
- 2 His arm got broken in a wreck
As he came from Dallas to Texas Tech.
- 3 A little freshman, son of a dean
Has the girls badly on his brain.
- 4 Has as many dates as any girl
Lives in Lubbock, her name is—
- 5 Dark eyes greet boys as well as girls
Plays in the band, has two brothers.
- 6 Knows her Spanish like an English noun
She's a student-teacher of high renown.

Brandt Talks At Bobbin Meeting

Mr. Carl D. Brandt, new head of the textile engineering department, spoke at the meeting of the Bobbin club Monday night on the possibilities of the textile engineering profession and on the possibilities of the club. Mr. M. E. Heard also talked to the club members.

New officers and committees of the Bobbin club were selected at the meeting. R. J. Candler was elected president, and Charles Woodrige was elected vice-president.

It was also decided at the meeting that a group picture of the club would be made Tuesday, January 21, at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Gordon of Amarillo, spent the past week-end with their son, James L. Gordon, Tech sophomore, who has been ill with tonsillitis.

Miss Corrine Overstreet, Tech sophomore, has accepted a position with the Anton schools. She began teaching there Monday of this week.

Problem: If one boy tells one College Inn girl one naughty joke how many more jokes the next day?

Answer: How many girls are there in College Inn?

Some people go to college and eventually succeed in getting out. Others go and never do get out. The latter are called professors.

but it seems they never see any violators except Tech students. Recently at a downtown dance everyone was having a nice time and outside of the noise and uproar that is always heard at such functions, the affair was exceptionally orderly.

Those in charge expressed themselves as being most satisfied with the general conduct. Toward the end of the dance certain popular numbers caused most of the customers to give vent to hilarious outbursts of happiness. This continued intermittently during the remainder of the evening, and those in charge registered no complaint whatever.

But two of the local police force were on hand and seemed intent on arresting someone, so they nabbed ONE Tech boy and took him to the station. The judge asked if the boy was intoxicated and the officers replied that he was not, nor had he even been drinking. He was just making too much noise, they claimed. That's justice for you.

This is only one of the many unreasonable cases that could be sighted. If the city knew the sort of impression that such actions are creating on the campus it might request its exponents of law and order to mix a little reason and common sense with their authority.

Tech Four Years Ago

How the world do move and how tempus do fugit! Four years ago today we were more or less in the academic nursery, so to speak; a brand new institution of higher learning just acquiring the use of our vocal cords. Research among the 1926 Toreadors and newspaper clippings, as well as glimpses of our first annual, proves highly diverting. How we have grown! Already the exploits of 1926 have taken on a faded, half-buried appearance.

Behold the headlines of the Toreador for January 16, 1926: "Charlton Gains in Popularity; Whole Institution is Re-hearing." This is followed by quotations from the leading members of the student body (i. e., Edna Yonge, Richard Cavett, Jim Flanagan) in regard to this popular pastime. College dances were prohibited back in those days. Hence such a story was considered outrageously risqué—even bordering on scandal.

"Professor Wagborne write new song for Tech College" screams another headline. It seems that Professor Wagborne had this college song idea from the very first. He's been trying to get one written ever since.

"Leut. Killin Has New Name: Is Uncle Now." A ten pound youngster, and a "fit product for anybody's army," was born to Lt. Killin's sister.

The first Freshman caps arrived and were evidently received with enthusiasm. Even the girls wore them.

President Speaks To Latin Society

Dr. F. W. Horn, in his address to the members of the Latin (S. P. Q. R.) club which met last Friday night, stressed the importance of taking more than one year of Latin. Dr. Horn also discussed the Roman ideal of citizenship and how this ideal has come down to us.

The meeting opened with a Latin hymn sung by all the members and closed with the singing of the Latin version of "America." Several musical numbers were rendered during the evening. Miss Ellibel Tilroy gave a violin solo. Miss Mary Francis Akard a piano solo, and Miss Eleanor Nelson and Mr. B. L. Mantre sang a duet.

Plans are being made for a Virgil program at the next meeting of the club which will be on the first Friday night in February.

Mr. Gus L. Ford and her daughter, Frances, have returned from New Haven where they visited Mr. Ford, who is studying for a Ph. D. degree from Yale.

They were met in New York by Mr. Ford, Dale Wallace, and Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Knickerbocker, all of whom are on leave of absence from Tech. Mr. Ford will return to teach during the summer term.

Tech Art Exhibition Committee Conducts Showing Of Pictures Of Southern Artists; To End Sunday

The Tech art exhibit committee has been conducting a showing of the Seventh B Circuit Exhibition of the Southern States Art League for the past week, and will continue the exhibition until January 19 in the auditorium of the engineering building.

This exhibition comprises 30 pictures chosen from the ninth annual exhibition of the league in San Antonio last April, several of them having been awarded prizes. They are sent out from the New Orleans headquarters and will circulate throughout the South for a year to make Southern communities better acquainted with the work of Southern artists.

There are 30 pictures in the exhibition, 23 oil paintings, five water colors and two black-and-whites. Composing the group are portraits, figure studies, landscapes, marines, flower studies, decorative studies, street scenes and interiors. Seven of the oils are by Texans: Ruth Monroe Augur, El Paso; Mrs. A. K. Bell, San Antonio; Raymond Everett, Austin; Bertha Louise Hellman, Houston; Polly Hoffman, Wichita Falls; Ella K. Mowhinney, Holland; Mrs. Clara C. Pancoast, San Antonio; Mrs. Phil Walker, Luling; Jessie Aline White, Dallas; another oil is by a former Texan, Ralph McLellan, now working in Philadelphia. Another former Texan, Charles Hutson, now of New Orleans, contributes one of the water colors, and Agnes Lillenberg Muench, La Porte, contributes a charcoal drawing. Texans and former Texans, therefore, contribute one third of the exhibition.

There was a special showing Tuesday night, January 7, with a lecture by Professor Kleinschmidt and a reception with members of the Woman's Forum in charge.

Tech Cage Stars Win 2nd Go With Wayland Quintet

Payne Men Pile Up Score Of 35 to 16; Hodges, Maxwell, And Fisher Are Leading Scorers

Texas Tech's basket tossers opened the season at home with an impressive victory over Coach Kimbrough's Wayland Jackrabbits last Friday night by a score of 35 to 16. It was the second game between the two clubs this season. Tech copped the first tilt at Plainview 40 to 23.

The game on the whole was a good one. At times it was rather dull—both teams having considerable difficulty in locating the basket. The first half was about two-thirds over before the Rabbits succeeded in scoring a goal from the field. Tech scored in the first few minutes of play, and their lead was never overcome. At one time it was cut down to one point, but two quick baskets placed the Crimson well out in front again.

Tech's goal shooting was spasmodic. At times two and three baskets would be rung up in rapid succession and then several minutes would elapse before the Scabbard five could score again. Following the resumption of play after the first half it was a good five or six minutes before either club could locate the basket.

Hodges and Maxwell again stood out on the offensive for the Matadors. Hodges led the scoring of the evening with five field goals. Maxwell was next with nine points to his credit, and Fisher was a close third with seven points. Mobley topped the Wayland shooters with five points.

Private Dinner Given Saturday Evening

Charming in its appointments was the five course dinner given at the Hilton Hotel Saturday evening. A color scheme of red and green was carried out in buttonholes and wrist corsages of cypripedium and red roses. Red birds perched on the water glasses held in their bills clever place cards for the following couples: Raymond Pfleger, Lucille Hartzog, C. A. Rose, Johnnie Jo Whitley, Don Maddox, Jo Ann Estes, Carl Pfleger, Virginia Murray, Jack Camp, Donna Vaughn, Walton Nixon, Mary Lois Gamel, Jay Lumsden, Katherine Jamison, J. P. Ruhman, Marjorie Ann Ainsworth.

A. A. U. W. To Give Benefit Party Tonight

The local chapter of the American Association of University Women will give a benefit bridge and forty-two party at the Hilton Hotel tonight from 8 until 10:30 o'clock. During the first hour a reception will be held and at this time a musical program will be given. The games will be played the remainder of the time.

Proceeds will go to a fellowship fund for women students which the national organization is raising. It is said that this is the only fund of considerable size open to women. Mrs. William Dingus, instructor at Tech, is president of the local organization.

Las Chaparritas Honored With Luncheon

New members of Las Chaparritas honored old members with a four course luncheon in the Spanish dining room of the Hilton Hotel Saturday at one o'clock. The table, beautifully decorated with yellow candles and a centerpiece of trailing smilax, carried out a color scheme of orchid and yellow. From the handles of grape fruit baskets hung place cards attached to lacy wrist corsages of sweet peas.

Miss Gail Quinlan charmingly presided as toast mistress. Hostesses for the occasion were Misses Lucille Hartzog, Vonelle Gilkerson, Galle Quinlan, Evelyn Hartzog, Jo Ann Estes, Elizabeth O'Connell, Elizabeth Pickett, Brilla Mae Williams, Inez Hensley, Camille Stobough, Louise St. Claire.

Centaur Club Entertains Friends

The members of the Centaur club entertained their friends with a dinner and social hour at the Glorietta Sunday evening.

Special guests for the occasion were: Weaver Medin, W. B. Rushing, W. R. Ficks, Warren Huff, Riley Ham, Dick Carter, Lennis Esker, and J. D. Waller.

College Club Has Smoker

Members and pledges of the College club were entertained Sunday evening from 6:30 to 8 o'clock in the private dining room of the Hilton Hotel with a smoker and "get-together" meeting, the object being to introduce guests to members. Coffee, sandwiches and cigars were served. Special guests were: Earl Jones, Fred Jordan, Jack Durham, Herman Houk, James Logridge, Johnny Young, Walter Castle, and John Wulfman.

Geological Society To Give Banquet

Plans for a banquet to be given by the Geological society within the next few weeks for members and for other geology majors were made at the meeting of the organization Monday night. The place and date were not definitely decided upon, but Elmer Moore, president of the society, appointed committees on finance, program, and decoration to work out the details of the banquet.

Silver Keys To Give Banquet And Dance

One of the most brilliant social affairs of the season will be the first annual banquet and dance of the Silver Key club, boys' organization, which will be held Friday evening in the Masador ball room of the Hilton Hotel. An elaborate program has been arranged to be given during the dinner, beginning at 7:30 and lasting until 9 o'clock, which includes solo dances by Lucille Walker, songs by Sadie Thompson, presentation of the pledges, speeches by Terry Evans, Doc Howard, president of the club, and Aubrey Arnett, with Mose Clark presiding as toastmaster. The last course of the dinner will be served in the private dining rooms in order to clear the hall for dancing. Music will be furnished throughout the banquet and dance by Ralph Britt's orchestra. Dance guests will be received at 9:30 o'clock.

The following members and their guests will attend the banquet: Harold Ammons, Christine Denny; Ruth Amnell, Kathryn Jamison; Dick Busbee, Virginia Murray; Jolley Brown, Aline Spears; Merrill Craver, Alice Keyton; Julius Craver, Lena Bert Medin; Country Coker, Margaret Dell Prim; Mose Clark, Francis Ford; Terry Evans, Louise St. Claire; Ellis Forman, Donna Vaughn; Doyle Greer, Frances Stevens; Ben Geer, Margaret Williams; Dick Green, Alyn Arnett; Walter Howard, Dorothy Rushing; Max Harrison, Dorothy Oscheer; John Keathley, Kate Boyd; Joey Linger, Hattie Linger; Curry Mills, Elizabeth O'Connell; Guy Pogue, Brilla Mae Willis; John R. Powell, Christine Carter; Brooks Penney, Marjorie Ann Ainsworth; Clarence Rollo, Jo Dunman; Clayton Reed, Veda Stafford; Frank Wright, Gail Quinlan.

Pledges and their guests are: Jay Hall, Jo Ann Estes; Red Harmon, Gladys Townes; Bill Frye, Madeline Ellis; Julius Bergfeldt, Totsy Shipp; Olan Purcell, Camille Stobough; Bill Yeager, Lorraine Ayers; Mose Witherspoon, Bob Horton; Edwin Spakek, Mary Lois Gamel; J. Lumsden, Louise Stevens; Thomas Hickey, Marie Butler; J. W. Gill.

Rifle Team Bests Johns Hopkins U. In Recent Match

Tech won its first 22-calibre rifle match recently when it scored 3275 in a match shot the week ending December 21. The high Tech score was 378 out of a possible 400 and Johns Hopkins' was 351. Seven Tech men scored higher than the leading man of the eastern team, with Earl Cain, winner of the intramural match as best of the Tech riflemen.

Matches to be shot in the future include those with Clemson, Agriculture College of South Carolina, the University of Southern California, and the University of Vermont, to be shot the week ending the eighth of March; and one with the Texas School of Mines April 21. The El Paso school will come to Lubbock on that date to shoot its third match with Tech. Since the mining school is in the proposed conference of which Tech is also to be a member, this encounter will be important, says Lt. H. E. Kulin, coach of the rifle team.

Debating Group Discusses Plans Tuesday Evening

The Debating club met in room 202 Tuesday night and discussed plans for the coming two terms. The coming intercollegiate debate season was the main topic discussed. It was planned to give more or less elaborate entertainment to all of the visiting forensic teams, which entertainment is to be sponsored by the debating club.

Wayne Castleberry outlined plans for bringing representatives from the various high schools to Lubbock to hear a debate on the interscholastic question. This policy proved very satisfactory last year. Several high school coaches have inquired if the practice is to be continued this year.

Freeland Talks To Boys Fish Council

Coach E. Y. Freeland gave an inspiring talk to the members of the boys' freshman council Tuesday evening on future traditions and athletics in Tech. This was the first meeting of the council for the new term.

Letters for sweaters for the members of the council were passed out.

Intramurals To Begin Football Practice Soon

Football will be the next intramural sport. E. Y. Freeland, director of physical education announces that practice will start as soon as the ground is dry enough. Work was to have begun the first of this week but the heavy snow made this impossible.

Coaching will be in charge of Rhodes Ingerston, Gralley Higginbotham, and Vic Payne. Each of these will have a member of the varsity football squad as his assistant.

Freshman Councils To Meet Together

The girls' freshman Y. W. C. A. council is planning to entertain the members of the boys council at their next regular meeting Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. A special program, including the initiation of several new members, will be given.

A program committee consisting of Rhoda Lou Clark, Geraldine Clewell, Mary Chavesux, and Melba Mae Tatum, was appointed to take charge of the meeting.

The plans for the joint meeting of the two councils were made at the last meeting of the girls' council Tuesday evening. It was also planned to investigate the possibility of having a page in the annual.

These letters are done in blue, red and black on a large "Y," across which runs a small rectangle with the word "Tech" on it.

Bob Patterson recently received a letter from his father in which he said "If you know enough mathematics, please try to figure out how long it will take you to get through school at your present rate." Bob says he never could work fractions.

Big League Player Visits Tech; Tells Of Experiences, Including Art Shires

West Led Fielding In Major Leagues In 1928

Sam West, center fielder on the Washington Senators baseball club, was a visitor on the Tech campus this week. His home is in Rusk, Texas, and he is an intimate friend of Foster Davis, Tech senior, whom he was visiting.

Mr. West made some interesting remarks concerning the life of a professional baseball player. He told of the training rules which are very rigorous and which are enforced to the letter. The use of alcoholic drinks or tobacco is positively forbidden. "To violate this rule is just too bad," West declared.

Mr. West told of his intimate friendship with the much talked-of Arthur (The Great) Shires, "Shires is a wonderful personality," according to West. "He is friendly and well liked by all the players in the major league; he is not the sort of person that the newspapers have painted him."

When asked about association of ball players off the diamond, he said that it was like the association of a group of college boys, but that the minute the teams took the field all this good feeling was forgotten until the game was over. He stated that if Washington was to win the American League pennant this year she would have to beat Connie Mack's Athletics.

West and Davis attended Duke university together in the summer of 1928. Before going to the stadium in 1925, West played with the Birmingham Barons of the Southern association.

He plans to be in Lubbock until about March 1, at which time training camp for the Sens opens in Mississippi.

Need For Accumulated Savings To Be Stressed Throughout Country During National Thrift Week; Starts Friday

"KIPLING UP TO DATE" A fool there was who had saved some rooks; Even as you and I, But he took them out of his old strong box When a salesman called with some wildcat stocks, And the fool was stripped right down to his socks, Even as you and I, But another fool worked early and late, Even as you and I, Some hard-earned coin to accumulate, Even as you and I, "The plan," said he, "that I contemplate Is 'Before you invest—Investigate.'" And he died and left a large estate— So may you and I.

Campus Fads Ags Could Try Bulls And Horses

Among the latest fads in collegiate apparel are the black jackets with "doo-dads" on the back now being worn by the engineers. About 25 of them evidently think it's worth four dollars and a quarter to be sure everybody else knows they're engineers, and are proclaiming it on their backs with yellow letters, and a T-square and triangle to prove it. Not to be outdone, some of the geologists are sporting jackets with oil-wells on the backs. The fad has even gone so far that rumor has it that some of the girls will be wearing them soon. Wonder what they will have on their backs?—rolling pins and egg-beaters?

Classes in English have increased to the extent that several new sections have been added. Whether this surplus is due to the increase in registration, or to increasing interest in literature on the part of students is difficult to determine. Dr. A. L. Carter, Dr. A. L. Strout, Mr. R. A. Mills and Mr. W. B. Gates have extra class hours this term.

to be quite concerned in improving the quality of material from which the selections are made. With so many eligible young men on the faculty it would be next to impossible to guess which of them are guilty of losing themselves so completely, but perhaps the annual will have little stories all its own between the lines next spring.

Thus far no boy has turned in the picture of more than one girl. One, however, has indicated that he thought his sweetness would have a better chance if she might have her beauty picture made in a bathing suit.

expected someone to shoot me through the door at any minute and get away with the money." She saw the back of a man's head just outside the glass door. She counted some more money and still the man was standing there. "I don't know what to do," Mrs. Stiles said. "I considered jumping out the window, but the storm was terrible; so finally, after hiding most of the currency and leaving only the small bills exposed, I opened the door." It was Guy Orr who had been employed as a night watchman. Mrs. Stiles had no idea that there was one anywhere around, but in the emergency a student nightwatchman had been employed. "I felt much better after he and his gun came into the room. About 11 o'clock that night I finished my work. The cashier of a local bank not only agreed to open the bank and deposit the money, but he came out after us." Mrs. Stiles is truly one of Tech's pioneers, having been the first woman to start active work in the new institution.

Girls Sell Bonds For Radio Money

Girls in the home economics practice house are selling thrift bonds in order that they may buy a radio with the proceeds. Several radios will be demonstrated to the girls, and they will select the one they like best. Those in charge of the sale of thrift bonds are: Fay Kemp, Mabel Howell, Roselle Romance, and Ruth Ford.

Sock And Buskin Elects Officers For Winter Term

Tech dramatists, members of the Sock and Buskin club, met Tuesday evening January 7 for the first time this term. After the meeting had been called to order by the retiring president, Warren Huff, a report of the committee on nomination was heard. Election of officers of the club for the winter term followed. R. V. Willis was chosen to fill the position of executive. Other officers are: Claudine Cook, vice-president; Lillian Hopping, secretary-treasurer; John Cook, Sergeant-at-arms; and Warren Huff, reporter.

Following election of officers, a short program was presented. A reading by Evelyn Rutherford entitled, "The Newly-rich Buys a New Dress;" a piano selection by John Cook; and a reading, "Bud and Waffles," by Pearl O'Dell comprised the entertainment for the evening.

Wyona Gilbreath, Margaret Cooper, and Hal Lary constitute the committee on try-outs which has been occupied this week in granting hearings to aspiring candidates for membership in the club. The report of this committee and the presentation of new members will take place at the next meeting of the group. Initiation ceremonies are in charge of Annah Jo Pendleton, Pauline Patterson and H. Y. Price.

"The Wonder Hat," a play directed by Louis White, will be staged at the next meeting of the organization Tuesday night.
