MATADORS TO MEET SCHREINERS TODAY STUDENTS HAVE PREFERENCE FOR LIBERAL ARTS

FINE REPRESENTATION OF TEXAS AND OTHER STATES IS SHOWN BY REGISTRATION, SAYS DOHONEY

Registration is nearing its close in the Tech, but all parts of Texas and many other states have turned out a splendid representation. The Tech is primarily a technical school, but as there is so much territory to draw students from, there are also separate schools of Liberal Arts, Agriculture and Home Economics. The Tech has a future that no other school in the Southwest has, its entire plains country and the whole of Texas is a cotton country and as the south is coming more and more into its own in the manufacturing of staples, it is inevitable that the Tech will become the greatest textile engineering school in the south. Not only does it have a bright outlook, but it is enjoying a brilliant present. Boys and girls from all over Texas are already showing their preference for the Tech over all other schools.

Up until September, the twenty-seventh, there had enrolled one thousand, two hundred and eighty-seven students in the four schools comprising the College. More than half of the total enrollment went into the school of Liberal Arts, the number being seven hundred and twenty-five. The Engineering Department numbered three hundred and fifty. The school, however, has many ramifications. It offers courses in civil, textile, mechanical, electrical, architectural engineering, all of which are complete.

La Ventana Gets An Early Start

La Ventana 1927 will be far superior in every way to last year's book. It will be more complete, more costly, more attractive, and more carefully edited than the 1926 La Ventana.

The number of men in the college is 840, the number of women is 447. At the head of the four schools is Dean Gordon, Head of the College of Liberal Arts, and who is also the Dean of the entire college. Dean Miller is the head of the Engineering School, Dean Leddigh, of the Agricultural School, and Miss Weeks, of the Home Economics Department.

Department Of Geology Grows

By JUDGE THORPE
The Department of Geology is growing, by its large enrollment, to be one of the most popular science courses in Tech. The subdivisions of the science are as follows: General Geology, Historical and Elementary Economic Geology, Mineralogy, Petrology, and Paleontology. During the winter an inspiring course in the Civil Engineers will be given.

The advanced courses being given this year are Petrology and Paleontology. Petrology deals with the rocks commonly found nature. Special emphasis is laid on slide mounting for microscopic study. This course fits a student for practical laboratory work. Paleontology is conducted for the purpose of teaching how to identify and correlate strata by means of fossils. The large number of specimens available for study make this course a very complete and desirable one for the geologist.

LIBRARY TO BE OPEN AT NIGHT

Dr. Horn has arranged with Miss West, the Librarian, to have the Library remain open five nights a week in order that those students that work in the afternoons may find time to do reference and collateral reading. Beginning Monday, October 4th, it will be open for all students that desire to avail themselves of the opportunity. The hours are from 7:30 till 9:30.

Greetings From The President

The President of the Texas Technological College takes a great deal of pleasure in welcoming back to the college, several hundred students who were with us during our first year, and in welcoming several hundred other students who are in the college this year for the first time.

Let us this year carry on the same tradition and add to it. As Texas is a friendly state and a democratic state, let us continue to make Texas Tech as friendly and as democratic an institution as we can possibly make it.

The entire faculty is at the disposal of the student body. We are here that you may prosper and develop. The faculty will consider it an honor for the student body to confide in them and consult with them.

Of course we are going to be more or less crowded this year. We are just at the beginning of things. Every time the student body grows the campus in the main building his residence to the Administration Building he tries to see the administration building as well as when the four sides are completed, enclosing the great court in the quadrangle.

TEN COMMANDMENTS TO FRESHMEN

1. Thou shalt never appear in any public place of assembly without thy brand of shame, your fish cap. Be ready to get that button.
2. Thou shalt never loiter in public gathering places but will live thy daily responsibility. Then thou must keep thy person clean, shiny coat of ignorance by constant study and reading.
3. Thou shalt not fall to retire to thy boy's habitat at the waning hour when the barn-yard hippos seek their daily recuperation. Then thou must keep thy person clean, shiny coat of elevating tones of knowledge.
4. Never take food before thy superiors, the upper classmen have been served and then beware of thy manners.
5. Thou shalt not indulge in fire water or get the mopey habit. Neither shalt thou be caught at the precinct of the thespian, wrestling
6. Thou shalt be scattered like leaves before the cap rack winds if thou art caught holding any meetings surreptitiously.
7. Thou shalt never drag any individuals of any age, line or magnitude about town or be in danger of perpetual torture.
8. Never attire thyself in any obscene garment of modern cut but in the vags of the alley and the stonies of Woolworth.
9. Speak when thou art spoken to else maintain an inky and shiny coat of silence. Remember thou shalt ones that all upper classmen are to be titled, Sir.
10. Never pollute the green herbage of the beloved campus with thy polluted hoofs. Take no chances of leaving the above commandments for the hundred eyes of Argus and watching you.

FIRST MEETING OF ENGINEERS HELD IN PAVILION

The hairy engineers met for the first time Tuesday night in the Stock Judging Pavilion. When the engineering students registered the large majority joined the Society. The attendance at the meeting was over two hundred, the number that now belong to the organization is around that. Great interest is being manifested by the members and a successful year seems certain.

Dean Miller was elected as honorary member and Miss Knapp was voted a regular member. Most of the Engineering Faculty members were present, Dean Miller, Prof. Muedough, Prof. Camp, Prof. Tuve, and Prof. Swenson.

An election will be held on the fourth Monday in the term which is Oct. 18, at which time the new officers will be determined. Among the activities planned for the year will be an engineers' day, the practice features of which will be an open house for the inspection of all laboratories. A banquet is to be given and several prominent men of the Engineering world will be here to speak to the members at different times. There will be one or more social meetings every term.

Members of the faculty were introduced as follows:
Dean Miller, head of the Engineering school.
Professor E. W. Camp, in charge of the Department of Textiles.
Professor Carl L. Swenson, in charge of the Department of Engineering Drawing.
Professor J. H. Muedough, in charge of the Department of Civil Engineering.
Professor George L. Tuve, in charge of the Department of Mechanical Engineering.
Professor Edgar E. Shelton, in charge of the Department of Architecture.

MATADORS ARE READY FOR FRAY; EXPECT A HARD TILT WITH THE WARRIORS FROM KERRVILLE, TEXAS

The first home game of Tech's second football season is called for six o'clock Saturday afternoon. Six hills does not mean six o'clock but THREE o'clock and yell leader Dees wants to see the tonsils of the entire Tech student body all during the fray.

The football squad now numbers all the reds, DGS should empty around seventy and with the support of all the students Tech is hoping for a perfect season. There are three games before the T. C. U. game and the best way to "just have to go to the Panther city" is to start coming to the games and becoming acquainted with the team in action. Freshmen especially should know who is who in Tech athletics; meanwhile the Shreiner game is the starter for most of us. Don't forget Tech vs. Shreiner institute, fair grounds, 3 p. m. Be here!

Perhaps some amusement was derived from the McMurtry game to those with a perverted sense of humor. To the coaches it was more or less a calamity. The game had its beneficial aspects, however. It showed to the mentors that the Matadors needed a good lesson against a real attack. The line of the Bull's was excellent, no back cut was there fair line at all. The McMurtry players gave a rather humorous account of the game and I presume that they thought they were very correct. They referred to "Big On" as the innocent Mr. Freedland and in every way attempted to make the public believe that they had a better team than Tech. It arouses our ire to a certain extent but the Tech will be in the line light when McMurtry is imperceptibly in the dust from the heels of the Matadors.

There was certain reflections cast on the Matadors on the fact that several of our players are from other states. We are exceedingly proud that the Tech is already famous enough to attract students from other states. On the first line-up there was not an out of state man. But that is enough, for it all boils down to the fact that the Indians were proud to give the Matadors a hard fight, and that their scrives are good at framing up alphas.

Every Tech student should do his part in backing the squad throughout student body will help the players on the field. Those able to do so should sign immediately for the special to

"Hairy" Engineers Strong This Year With Big Increase In Enrollment And Much More Equipment In Department

By J. I. JACKSON
Of its four schools embraced by the Tech, the School of Engineering has changed probably as much as any of them. Besides a decided increase in enrollment over last year's total, there has been added three additions to the faculty between $15,000 and $20,000 worth of machinery, a new building housing a machine shop, an increase in number of courses offered, (including full Junior work), and a much greater supply of materials and instruments with which to work.

Last year it was "rip and tuck" between the Farmers and the Home Ecceers to keep from being the school with the lowest enrollment with neither school being able to gain a single victory. At this early date no accurate date can be obtained in regard to exact registration in the two schools but it will be suffice to say that the farmers are stepping high, wide and handsome. The greatest surprise came in the increase of the Junior class. This class alone gained over 65 per cent last year or more than double what the faculty had expected.

This building located just east of the Power Plant is of brick and tile veneer; being 50 by 100 feet in size. A local contractor is erecting the building and hopes to have it completed by the end of this week but several days of rainy weather, together with the Fair have delayed the work to some extent. But just as soon as possible machinery and other material will be moved into the building. Some work will be done this Fall but the Winter term will see everything almost completed. Various patterns made in wood, machine shop practice, and the Mechanical Engineering laboratory will be located here.

Quite recently the Animal Husbandry department has received over $1,000 worth of poultry equipment, consisting of incubators, brooders, feeders, sprays, etc. This will be installed in a large, commodious, brick building near the center of the present poultry ranch. In the future, now owned by the College. It has both stables and feed bins well located.

The large West room on the first floor of the Textile building is experiencing a decided change also. A corps of carpenters are busy erecting partitions, lockers, etc., to house the instruments to be used in lab work by the students in both mechanical and electrical engineering. The electrical engineering lab will be wired up as early as next week.

Visitors to the Pamhandle South Plains fair will see a large number of thoroughbred Tech live stock entered for prizes. Plans are already being made to send some to the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth next March. Aggs and Home Ecceers Fifth for Third Place

We Call For Assistance

The Toreador wishes to request that all students that are interested in the Journalistic work to see the Editor in the publication of the paper. It is hoped that every one that can will join the Tech Club which meets from the first time, Wednesday night at 7:30 in room 305.

OUR CAMPUS

How can we reverence the men that visualized the Tech? Once it was but a vision and now it is a concrete and much alive institution, as alive as the thousand and some odd students that comprise it.

The brown of the bunch grass has given way to the green of a campus covered with Bermuda. The lovely mesquite has been supplanted by sturdy Japanese elms. Sturdy young feet hasten to class over the one time homes of the prairie dog.

Perhaps there were many traditions made last year, but there will be many made this year also. When a college is new there is always much to be done in the building up or the standards of the institution. It is for us in the second year of the Tech to strive to place every branch of the curricula upon a high plane of achievement.

Did you pay your student activity fee? If not, then when the next check comes in or the next time you are lucky, call around and pay up. There are many reasons why you should. The student activity fee is supposed to take care of much of the athletics or of the expense of playing many teams which forces them into the hole each year.

I am sure that you will want your folks at home to know what we are doing at Tech, so come to the Toreador office and subscribe for the paper. We will send them each week's issue, the entire year, for the nominal sum of one dollar fifty. Don't forget it.

Remember studies that the merchants that advertise in the Toreador are the ones that make the editing of it possible and that they are he ones that are behind every movement we undertake. Take your buying to them and show your appreciation of their fidelity to the interests of Tech.

BUY TICKETS, IS PLEA

Hervey of the athletic headquarters wishes to announce that there will be tickets on sale at the business office for the today's game at half price. The admission to the game if the ticket be purchased at the fair grounds will be 50 cents and if you buy them at the college it will be 25 cents.

Mr. J. Homer Millikin and Miss Marie McDonald were quietly married at the First Baptist church by the Rev. W. A. Bowen. The bride attended Tech last year and the groom will get his degree from Baylor University this year. They will live in Waco.

COLLEGE INN COL-YUM

At College Inn a meeting of all inmates was held last Thursday evening and a College Inn Club was organized. Miss Anna Belle Collins of Channing was named president, Elizabeth Schott of Silverton vice-president and Mildred Trader of Cortes, Colorado, secretary and treasurer.

This week is College Inn Slime week. Each day something new and original is proposed to the slimes which they have to do. About the most interesting thing participated in by the slimes was a mock wedding the reading of the stock market to the tune of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," etc.

The College Inn Club was organized for the purpose of showing our loyalty and interest in every activity entered into by Tech. We intend to stand behind the Matadors. Our motto is: "Your sweetheart around the arena." Last year over half the honors offered by the college were awarded College Inn girls.

A wedding that came as a surprise to most of the girls was the marriage of Miss Purney Booth to Estelle Hulot, which occurred in the spacious drawing room of the Inn. For the occasion the reception room was in exquisite floral array.

The impressive ceremony which was performed in the presence of the austere Sophomores was solemnized by Rev. Loranda McCommas. Promptly at the hour of three, Miss Mildred Batis sang "I Love You Truly," she was accompanied at the piano by Miss Elizabeth Wyatt.

First to enter was Miss Clovanna Hendley in a beautiful blue bathrobe on the arm of Wuanita Hudson. Miss Lois Sneed clothed in a gorgeous night gown of yellow followed on the arm of Elta Mae Ware.

ful rose colored negligee. Her escort was Hanna Jackson. Little Misses Ella May Tom and Fay Preston were veritable doll flower girls they wore fluffy white gowns and preceded the bride strowing rose petals in her path.

The bride was never more lovely than when she stood in the presence of those who loved her best. She was charming in a beautiful white crepe dechene gown trimmed in old lace with accessories, house slippers and a gorgeous night cap to match.

The groom was cleverly attired in a handsome pair of tailored yellow pajamas of crepe dechene, with glimmering black mules to match. Following the congratulation of the immediate friends assembled the happy young pair betook themselves down the halls of College Inn where it is hoped that they will live happily ever afterwards in room 207.

The Freshmen girls as I think they may be termed, were very much in evidence at the pep rally that occurred Monday night. Under the stern direction of Miss Anna Belle Collins and others of the harsh upper-classmen that inhabit and terrorize College Inn, the slimes were corralled into the presence of the supercilious males and were put thru their paces.

It was a bad night but these loyal College Innners braved the raging elements to lend a hand in putting the rally over. Stay in there and fight.

REVISED QUOTATIONS

A little learning makes you walk in. Of all sad words of tongue or pen, they are these, she wouldn't get in.

A flask in the hand is worth two in the bush.

Man's inhumanity to man makes countless widows mourn.

SIN CUIDADO

Say fellows—and the rest of you, have you heard of the brand new club, the Sin Cuidado's? All its members live at Doak Hall and by the way, we noticed last week that Mr. Toreador called it Work Hall—boy, you have those babies down all wrong, they don't work—much.

The Sin Cuidados organized Friday evening with Miss Ivo Wilson as sponsor, the following officers were elected: President, Mart Chamberlin; secretary-treasurer, Eleanor Frear; sergeant at arms, Lila Underwood; reporter, Winnie Miller.

If I don't miss my guess you are going to hear from these girls quite often, now if you don't believe it just notice who's there (proof for everything—that's me all over). You don't know the members? Well come on over and get acquainted with: Grace Roberson, Vivian Watkins, Margie Fette, Winnie Miller, Lila Underwood, Claudine Cook, Kate Bean, Grace Hunter, Margaret Short, Willie Mae Marshall, Mart Chamberlin and Anna Belle Clark—They are all pretty good girls—no foolin'.

We wonder why Slime Bean came in all wet and muddy the other night, we're not curious but just want to find out things.

Someone told me that Lila Underwood is getting wise but I'm not much surprised 'cause she's cutting a wisdom tooth if you don't believe it just ask—well, ask Lila!

Cherub has a taking way. He don't know which girl he likes most. He took the portable, he took the clock. Then he took the Doak Hall hostess!

The girls who eat at College Inn have terrible appetites—every night they lock their doors and chew their sheets—and that ain't all!

CALENDAR

Sunday October 3. 9:30 a. m.—Tech Sunday school classes at First Baptist church. 11:00 a. m.—Preaching service. 6:45 p. m.—Student B. Y. P. U.'s at First Baptist church. 8:00 p. m.—Evening preaching service.

Monday, October 4. 8:00 p. m.—B. S. U. council meeting at First Baptist church. Wednesday, October 6. 7:30 a. m.—Student prayer meeting at the college.

Last year we had about three hundred seventy-five Baptist students enrolled in Tech. We carried on a great work. This year we have nearly four hundred Baptist students, a larger program, more trained workers, and in short a larger field of operation. We need the co-operation of every Baptist student in the college to make this program mean what it should mean to every other Baptist student. Come join our Sunday school classes, join our church, join our B. Y. P. U., lend your prayers with ours each Wednesday morning, and we assure you that you will reap a great blessing.

First Convocation Was Held Thursday

The first convocation of the Tech was held Thursday the twenty-second at the Stock Judging Pavilion. The student body arose in accordance with the precedence, when the President entered the building.

After a selection by the band the invocation was given by the Rev. Mr. Wells of the Hemphill-Price company, then presented the squad with their Matador blankets. Captain Hurley Carpenter responded for the team and expressed the gratitude of the team for the splendid donation. The blankets are black trimmed in red with the Matador in the center waving a crimson cloth. The student body expressed its appreciation with a deafening roar of applause. Tech will never forget this manifestation of their loyalty to our cause.

Dr. Horn then presented letter sweaters to those that lettered in oratory last year. Those that received them were: Alton Hutson, Harry Montgomery, Cooper, Holcomb, Eugene Jurdon, Moore and Irving Coleman.

Catch Freeland spoke to the assembly saying that great things are to be accomplished if every one will pull together. He urge his men to beware of ineptibility and make every effort to keep on the passing list of the college.

Yell leader Deece then announced that there would be three pep meetings to prepare the student body for the Schreiner Institute game. Have any of you been out to see those Matadors scrimmage? If you haven't then you have been falling down on your duty. Say, they are certainly fighting to make a birth on the famous eleven. They fight as if they were playing the Horned Frogs. Doc Harris and Salohe Hill are doing their stuff not to mention Stevensfelt, Carpenter, Red Smith or Stevens. Itell you that there is going to be a real game Saturday with that consumptive outfit from Kerville. It is essential that every student be there with his fog horn going for it is going to be one of the stiffest games of the year. They will try hard to pour it no Tech as they themselves are a comparatively new school and desire to excel us for that reason. All behind the Matadors.

Dr. Horn in his usual superb oratorical manner, quoted Gen. Pershing, "We are here." That is enough for we have registered up to this time one thousand one hundred and twenty nine students in the four schools comprising the college. He said that the increase over this time last year is sixty per cent and that by the end of the scholastic year there would be seventeen hundred if the present rate of increase continues and it should.

He exhorted his student body to refrain from committing any of the three high crimes which he specified as hazing of Freshmen, drinking or selling of intoxicants and cheating on examinations. here are laws in the state constitution that prohibit the hazing of new men in a college, he said that the principle idea was to make the Freshmen feel at home. "The paddle is more dangerous to he that wields it than to the one upon whom the paddle falls."

He did not dwell long upon the matter of ineptety as he believes that the student body is above such turpitude. Smoking will not be counter-acted in the building but the student that sees fit may do so on the campus though it is a bad habit.

Those that desire to study it off hours will find the library and third floor at their disposal. Dr. Horn urges every student to join one or more societies as they form the backbone of the institution. The several literary societies, debating clubs, gramatic clubs and other worthy organizations merit our assistance and membership.

He also urged upon every student to attend the church of his choice even as he would at home.

Mr. Wells of the Hemphill-Price company, then presented the squad with their Matador blankets. Captain Hurley Carpenter responded for the team and expressed the gratitude of the team for the splendid donation. The blankets are black trimmed in red with the Matador in the center waving a crimson cloth. The student body expressed its appreciation with a deafening roar of applause. ENGLISH DEPARTMENT HAS NEW MEMBERS

Two new instructors have been added to the English Department within the last two weeks according to Prof. Harrison, head of the Department. Miss Gussie Lee Teague comes to us from Louisiana State Normal School. She is a graduate of Oklahoma University and has an M. A. from University of Colorado. Mr.

Horne has a B. A. from Baylor and Yale Universities. He is experienced in the field of journalism and Prof. Harrison expects to turn over to him some of the sections in Journalism.

The SAVAGE WASHER & DRYER

Not another in the world like it

The Savage Washer & Dryer is the only electric washer in the world in which you can maintain just the proper amount, purity, and temperature of the water in the tank.

It is the only one that fills and empties through its own hose (regular equipment).

It is the only one that washes, blues, rinses and dries an entire load (7 double sheets) in 18 minutes—or less.

It is the only one that rinses and dries in one simple operation—without wringing or breaking buttons.

It is the only one with the wonderful innovation "Spin-Rinse, Spin-Dry" which keeps your hands out of the water, makes pails and "set" tubs unnecessary.

Without any obligation have us give you the FREE HOME TEST of the famous "Savage" Washer innovation:—

The Savage empties by means of its own electric pump—at the touch of a foot!

TECH NEWS BRIEFS

Beginning on Monday, Oct. 4th, the Library will be open at night from 7:30 through 9:30 throughout the month of October. If the use of the Library justifies the continuance of these hours, the arrangement will be made permanent.

Miss Pauline Trippet, student assistant in the Library, will be in charge of the desk during these hours.

During the vacation the Library has been rearranged and in part catalogued. The cataloging is being pushed as fast as possible by Miss Emma L. Main, cataloguer, with the assistance of Misses Edna Yonge, Pauline Trippet, and Rue Eubank, student assistants.

As soon as the progress of the organization of the Library makes it profitable, systematic instruction in the use of the Library will be given.

Other student assistants besides those named in the preceding paragraphs are Horace Grady Moore and Miss Lola Mae Rozzell.

Miss Elizabeth Howard West, librarian, left on Wednesday afternoon for Atlantic City and Philadelphia, where she will attend the fifth anniversary meeting of the American Library Association, October 4-8. The meeting will be held partly in Philadelphia, where the Association was organized in connection with the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition, fifty years ago.

After the conclusion of the meeting, Miss West will spend about two weeks in Philadelphia, New York and Washington, returning to the College some time in the third week of October.

The Style Show at the Palace Theater, put on jointly by the Barrier Bros. Retail Dry Goods, Palace Theater and Vogue Emporium Hat Shop was a whizz. Did you see it? Well I did, and let me tell you this that I have seen things but I never expect to see any better models for men's fall and winter wear than I saw displayed there. It was partly of course the models that made the style review a success. Boy, how C. W. and Deese did strut their stuff. Then of course there were the Tech girls and they made the hats, coats and gowns look like a million dollars.

The Matadors played the opening number and then furnished the banjo music that is necessary for models to strut around by.

The personnel of the business office by which I mean the office of Mr. Chittwood and the telephone exchange, are as follows: Miss Marguerite Bennett, cashier and auditor; Ophelia Steele, bookkeeper; Dan Gillean, assistant cashier; Ella Xovene O'Neale, postmistress and secretary; Bill Ponce and Houston Frederick, telephone clerks. There are the ultra-sophisticated personages that know all about every thing that happens in the Tech. They say that they are played with more asinine questions and harassed by the students more than even the Registrars Office. Fifi and Ella are more than capable of causing tumult among the students.

Mr. Don Gilleons is with us this year doing post-graduate work. He is formerly of Perdue and Trinity Universities, Indiana. The work he is chiefly inexperienced in is in connection with the agricultural department.

Man, man—how these books do cost. Clapp must be intending to retire soon. It is common enough to buy five good round wheels for one text. The school of experience we hear so much about, I think it is in Ohio, must be a cheap school for you don't have to buy books. The books have a most uncanny way of disappearing. I would like for the student that borrowed by calculus to return it when he is thru with it. That is another fish tale.

Don't you think the slimes look good in their pretty green cape?

Boy, how that north wind plays havoc with the girls hair in the entrance to the Administration Building. This cold spell has its advantages. I am certain that heavy coats will be worn by the co-eds this year out of necessity, style or no style.

Remember that we have a hard game here Saturday with Schreiner Institute. Let's all be there strong and willing to aid the Matadors in putting over a touchdown if necessary. It is going to be one of our hardest games and every man must be there to put the old pep into the rooting. Much has been said about the proper fighting spirit and the school spirit in general but too much cannot be said. We must have no demarcation, there can be none if we are to put the activities of Tech on the map. We must co-operate, upperclassmen and fish, to maintain a morale that will not recognize defeat, he overcome by disaster or falter when the luck runs low. The fish have already shown their aptitude in learning to yell. We are confident that when the enemy is on our one yard line that they will not see defeat ahead but a strong fight. The upperclassmen will do well to imbibe freely of the same cup as the fish. The proper spirit is the fighting spirit the spirit that never says die.

We must also remember that the best way to show ones loyalty is to buy that pep squad uniform, and to make a way to go to that big game with T. C. U. October the 13th. All aboard the band wagon for Cowtown. That will be our greatest and hardest game. It not only will show Texas as what a school we have out here but it will also show how the Matadors stack up against the Southwestern Conference teams. Much depends upon our turnout to that game, start hoarding a dollar or two so that when that special pulls out you will be on it, bound for the city of evil smells.

Two boys wanted to enter Tech so badly that they bought a lot and built a house upon it. The house they built themselves. This they did last year when it was even more difficult to procure rooms than now. Their property has increased in value fifty per cent and they intend to hold it until it goes still higher. Both of them are from East Texas and they are intending to stay here in old Tech until the parchment is awarded them. Such undaunted spirit and ingenuity as this is what makes Tech so strong in her youth. It is the old fight that counts these days.

J. C. Hardgrave, who is in charge of the mechanical engineering shops, presided over the meeting.

Miss Evelyn Knapp, secretary to the Dean.

The student assistants are Jack Maddox, Wm. E. Street in the Department of Civil engineering, James Biggers, Allen Beatty, and Leo Sparks in the Department of Engineering drawing. The student officers are Melvin Hunter, President, Frederick Houston, Jack Maddox, vice-presidents.

CHERI CASA COL-YUM

Robert Board, the slim shiek from McKinney, announces to his lady friends that his chapped lips will soon be in condition for action.

Gonnie (Pop) Johnson says that radios are responsible for the denying the fair sex his company.

James Bradford Biggers has at last succeeded in informing everybody that he is a junior engineer, an assistant in C. E., and that he is off the women. However, upon investigation, we have found that he is dated up for the next two weeks, so all young ladies wishing dates with this distinguished young man must get their bids for dates at least two weeks in advance.

Oscar Duff, a distant relation of McDuff, came running up to his aunt, Mrs. Roach, and said, "Aunt, the garbage man is passing by. Shall I stop him?" Our matron replied, "No, son, we don't want any today. We had plenty left from yesterday's dinner."

Happy Davis, the tough little guy from Sweetwater, seems to be getting along nicely; we saw him strutting down the hall with Gussie Sugis the other day. Happy should make rapid strides in social circles because he rooms with Pop Johnson and we all know that he is a scream with the ladies.

What have we here, Mutt and Jeff? It is Jeff alright, but in this case Jeff is the tall one. It is quite a sight to see him walking down the corridor with Billie Elliott. Jeff Newton, the tall boy, comes to us from Missouri University and is six feet-seven inches tall. He says that it is not so cold up there.

Come clean with us, and we'll dye for you.

Yes, We want'em all -Especially Saturdays Game

Matadors, the town is pulling for you just as strong as folks at the School. We'll be watching you Saturday and pulling for you.

NEW FALL CLOTHES WILL BE MUCH IN EVIDENCE AT THE GAME

You who play the game from the bleachers—what of your clothes for the occasion? You will find here just the clothes young fellows like for they have been produced by college men who have thought of all the little things college men want. More than this you will be served in this store by young men who "speak your language."
