

THE TOREADOR

Graduating from Lubbock Army Flying School today, three ex-Techsans will soon be roaring through the sky loaded with death and destruction for the Axis powers. These three men are James Winters, John Priddy, and Charles Shragek. They will finish along with many other flyers of the United States.

Senior Girls Given 11:00 Privileges

Will Be Allowed Extra Hour During Week, Dance Nights

SENIOR girls will once again be the envied group of women on Tech campus as Dean Mary W. Doak has given her approval of 11 o'clock privileges for this select group. This fact was disclosed at a housemeeting held Thursday night in the girls' dormitory.

This extended curfew will run Monday through Thursday nights. It will be extended until the dormitory closes on other nights. On Friday and Saturday nights the dormitory regulations permit girls to remain out until 12 o'clock. On dance nights the curfew is extended yet another hour, until 1 a.m. The senior women residing in the girls' dorm may now enjoy this privilege of staying out until 1 o'clock, regardless of whether she attends a dance or not.

These decisions were made by Dean Doak after a committee composed of senior girls held a conference with her, and outlined their ideas and plans. The new ruling went into effect last night after several days of completing plans. Senior girls had to make arrangements for someone to keep the dormitory open for the late-comers.

During the meeting residents of the remaining girls' dormitory decided to underwrite the forthcoming Varsity Show for $50. If any profit is shown by this a war bond will be purchased by the residents there.

Entertainment of pre-flight boys stationed here was also discussed. The boys have had little time during the week for recreation, and have been having "coke dates" with coeds in the dorm. It was decided that one hall of girls would be appointed each week to arrange for diversion of trainees in the lounge.

Students also requested that a pay phone be placed in the dormitory for long distance calls, and that a mail box be placed at the dormitory postoffice.

Dorothy Lou Emmitt, Laverne Allen, Betty McCoy, and Jean Powell were appointed to discuss the request for a telephone with the proper authorities. This will be done in the near future.

Marian Rendall, Maxine Craddock, Margie Street, and Ann Cox were appointed to investigate the mail box problem.

Mrs. Elizabeth Young, social director of the dormitory announced that Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of the college had assured her that Texas Tech would remain open to civilian students for the duration. Rumors had been circulating previously contrary to this statement. Articles have also appeared in local newspapers confirming the fact that Tech is to remain a school for civilians.

Annual Theta Sigma Phi Style Show To Be March 31

Annual style show held at Levine's each year by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity for women in journalism, will take place Wednesday, March 31 at 8 p.m. on the third floor of Levine's. Models will be chosen from the girls' social clubs and other women's organizations on the campus. A wide assortment of spring costumes will be shown, and one will be given away free to the girl holding the lucky ticket as has been executed in the past. No admission will be charged. Music and a program will be furnished by Levine's.

Nine Instructors Added To English Department Here

Will Aid Regular Faculty Group In Teaching Army Men Here

Nine special instructors have been added to complete the teaching staff of the English department. They were needed to help the regular members of the faculty who have started teaching several sections of Pre-flight students. The new instructors are:

Dr. Haldeen Braddy, formerly of New York university and Texas Christian university. He is chairman of the Chaucer section of the Modern Language association. Miss Faye Bumpass received both her bachelor and master degree here at Tech. She has taught several years in Texas high schools and has taught Spanish in the Tech summer school.

Miss Mary Sue Carlock who has been teaching English at the Murray State College of Agriculture in Oklahoma.

Miss Frances Darden taught English at the University of Texas and at the Texas State College for Women.

Miss Wilson Lott has been added as a special instructor. He has held a part-time instructorship in English here.

Dr. Minerva Martin came here from Louisiana State university.

Mrs. Zoe Ellen Murray has been on the Baylor university English staff for the past five years.

Mrs. Mary G. Strout is wife of Dr. Alan L. Strout, present member of the English faculty. She taught speech for three years at Acadia university in Nova Scotia. Mr. Clark C. Wilkes was English instructor in several Texas, Arkansas and Michigan high schools.

Regular members of the faculty who are teaching one class in English for pre-flight students are: Mrs. Olga M. Carter, Miss Gussie Teague, James C. Allen, George Smallwood, Miss Onelda Kennedy, and Dr. T. Earle Hamilton.

April 1 Deadline For Essay Copy

April 1 has been set as the deadline for copy competing in the essay contest for sophomore journalism girls being sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity for women in journalism.

The essays should be turned in to the journal staff in a box in the Press building on or before that date.

Students wishing to take part in the contest may choose one of the three subjects named by the club. They are "If I Were Head of the W.A.C.", "If I Lived in an Occupied Country," or "What I Think of the British."

Length of the essay has been set between 300 and 500 words.

The competing writings will be based on content, construction and originality. The journal staff make up the judging committee. A medal will be awarded the writer of the winning essay.

Institute Brings Art Exhibit Here For Tech Museum

Tech Art Institute is sponsoring an exhibition of twenty-two paintings, with three more to be added, by contemporary Texas artists. This exhibit will be in the West Texas Museum until March 30, and was sent here by the Texas Fine Arts association. The institute is preparing an exhibition of South Plains artists to be in the museum in April.

One painting by Mrs. H. C. Anderson of Amarillo entitled PALO DURO CANYON is of special interest. Other contributors are from East and Central Texas. "It is a good representative showing of art work of state at this time," said R. I. Lockard, assistant professor in architectural department.

These selections were made from a large group belonging to the Texas Fine Arts association. They are mainly watercolors and oil painting. Also included are a photograph by Frank Klepper entitled "THE KEY OF KNOWLEDGE," and an abstract painting by Robert Presser entitled "NUCLEUS." The majority of the paintings are landscapes of typical Texas scenes, which Professor Lockard says may be an indication of a new school of painting.

The picture rating first prize by the Texas Fine Arts association is a watercolor by Veronica Helfentlar of Fort Worth entitled "MESQUITE ON COURT HOUSE LAWN."

St. Patrick's Day Is Celebrated In Traditional Way

Saint Patrick's day was celebrated in the traditional manner Wednesday by Tech engineers. St. Patrick is the patron saint of all engineers.

Freshmen engineers kissed the blarney stone, one by one. The stone is mounted on a monument in front of the engineering building. It was discovered several years ago and mounted there. It is supposed to be a part of the original Irish blarney stone.

A bronze plaque commemorating this year's class of mechanical engineers, was cemented into the walk under the east archway. Plaques of this kind have been laid by the mechanical engineers on Saint Patrick's day for eight years, beginning in 1936.

Freshmen who kissed the stone were told that it bestowed upon them the gift of eloquent speech. Speeches by Harlan Dowell, senior engineer from Lubbock, and Bernard Wilder, senior engineer from Hereford, were made before the plaque was unveiled and set in the walk. Freshmen engineers assume the duty of keeping the plaques cleaned and shined.

Navigational Aid Now Taught Here

For the first time in the history of Texas Tech a course in navigational aids is being taught. Need for such a course arose with the coming of pre-flight students to the campus. Instructed by Dr. R. S. Underwood, professor of mathematics and astronomy, this course, instituted for the first time in the nation at Texas Tech, stresses familiarity with the constellations and brighter stars.

Starting Monday at 8 a. m., this course will consist of twenty-five lessons, five per week. Other topics discussed from the text, "Astronomy, Maps, and Weather," are: the conception of the earth in space; the motions of the earth; the fundamentals of time, with practice in the use of navigational timepieces; determination of longitude, latitude and Summer lines; map construction and map reading; and the principles of meteorology, particularly weather forecasting from immediate observational data.

In order to secure a report on the work being done by the soldiers in this course, 40-minute tests will be given each week.

Glenn (Bud) Barnes, formerly of Honey Grove, is visiting friends on the campus this week and after being commissioned recently as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. He received his commission at Corpus Christi. He will be here until Monday.

Application Blanks For V-12 Examination In Kent's Office

Sock And Buskin Try Out Members

Tryouts for potential members of Sock and Buskin, dramatics club, constitute the program for the meeting of this organization Tuesday night. For the first time since the establishment of the club, tryouts in form of skits were conducted before members of the club and the judging committee instead of before the judging committee only, as was formerly the practice.

In order to become members of this club, students must meet certain standards set forth by the speech department. Those students to be admitted to the club are: Jimmie Hopson, Fran Crowther, Betty Davis, Betty Steele, Johnnie Durham, Lydia Ann Duff, James Venable, Helen Nixon, Bobbie White and Katy Lee Randle. Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, head of the speech department asks members to pay the club dues by March 20.

Out of this group there were twenty-four new pledges and two hold-over pledges.

Those initiated were: Joe Boyd, Edgar Bowden, Kenneth Bishop, James Boyles, Bill Gatins, Willis Hears, Bill Hickey, Herschel Hinson, Kenneth Hodge, Victor Hooper, Hugh Jackson, Richard Jackson, Perry Johnson, Sherman Lippmann, Frank McFarland, Billy Morris, Alvin Newton, Bob Oliver, Bob Priest, Howard Schmidt, Philip Snider, Chauncey Taylor, A. Professor Wiley To Visit Cities For Band Clinics

Prof. D. O. Wiley, director of the Matador band, will spend the greater part of next week in two Panhandle cities, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 23 and 24, he will spend in Pampa and March 25 he will move on to Perryton.

Purpose of the trip is to conduct clinics at those two towns. In Pampa Wiley will conduct a concert Wednesday night after working with that band two days. Thursday night he will conduct another concert with the Perryton clinic which will be composed of several bands of that region, including Berger, Spearman, and Perryton. He will work with that group one day before the concert.

The clinics are being held this year in place of the annual State Musical Festival which has been called off for the duration due to transportation difficulties. The director finds the weak points in the bands and tries to eliminate them during his short stay.

The clinic band at Perryton will be made up of a number of the members of the near-by town bands.

The Plainview high school band is expected to do the same the later in the year, perhaps in the latter part of April. Prof. Wiley said today that he plans to attend that clinic, too.

Tech Director Has Appointment

Mulburn McCarty, Eastland lawyer and member of the board of directors of Tech, recently received notice that he has been appointed as a special assistant to the United States attorney general and will be attached to the anti-trust division of the department of justice.

McCarty is a graduate of Baylor university and the University of Texas. He has been practicing law in Eastland since 1922. He has confined his practice to civil law.

He served four years on the Democratic state executive committee. In 1931, he was an active member in forming the Roosevelt-for-president organization in Texas, and in 1932 was presidential elector. He was active in the campaign of 1936 and in 1940 was delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

He has been active in West Texas affairs and served as president of the West Texas chamber of commerce in 1938-39.

His term with the Texas Tech board of directors will expire in 1945.

Vitamin Uses Given Illumination

Home Economics Student Gives Outline of "Daily Eights"

By GWEN LAM Senior Home Ec Student

"OH DEAR, I wonder if I'm getting enough vitamins. When I was in the dormitory, I let the dietitian worry about it but now it's my problem." This tale of woe was heard from a booth in one of the avenue's popular eating places. If you are one of the people who gave up your place to the army, or for another reason live out in town and now have to choose your own meals, here are a few hints to help you. Plan to get the Daily Eight into your meals.

1. First, see that you get at least one pint of milk per day. You can get some of this amount from custard pies, ice cream and milk drinks, but remember that a pint is the minimum.
2. Get tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, or salad greens every day. These furnish many of those vitamins you were worried about.
3. Include one serving of a green or yellow vegetable. This might be green beans, any greens, carrots, or sweet potatoes.
4. You need two or more servings of other fruits and vegetables. Potatoes and apples may often be used. Often you might get the needed fruit between meals.
5. The fifth food to include in the days meals is one serving of meat, poultry or fish. Notice that you need only one serving for good nutrition. Therefore it won't be necessary for you to eat ham for breakfast, chicken for lunch, and a thick steak for the evening meal. Try a vegetable plate often, and also there are many good salad plates available now for one meal a day. Remember that beans, cheese, or nuts are a nutritional substitute for meats and should not be eaten in addition to meats. An egg a day would be good, but if you get at least three or four per week you will have the essential amount. They are good scrambled, fried in hot sandwiches combined with bacon, and in omelets. Or you may get that egg in home-made breads as muffins, waffles, etc.

7. Every day's meals should include at least two servings of whole grain or "enriched" products. Eat plenty of cereals and remember to ask for whole wheat or enriched bread. Make it a practice to have half of your bread a 100 per cent whole wheat bread.

8. You won't have to worry about number eight. It is butter and sweets, but you aren't likely to leave these out of your diet. Use sweets in moderation to make the food taste good, but not enough to spoil the appetite. Eat rich, heavy desserts, including candy, at the end of a good meal only. This ensures not over eating on sweets.

To be sure you get the daily eight and still stay in your food allowance, plan your meals ahead. Choose a clean, cheerful eating place which serves a variety of foods well-cooked. Take advantage of the "specials" but check first to see whether you need it.

No Instructions Given Concerning Army Applicants

Students Who Take Exams Not Obligated To Sign For Service

Application blanks for men who wish to take the Navy V-12 examination April 2 have been received in the president's office. The War Department has not yet sent application blanks for young men wishing to take the examination on April 2 to enter the armed services. Blanks should be available early next week, however, Dr. H. L. Kent, liaison officer, made known today.

Students who take the army or navy examination do not commit themselves to any enlistment. If the student successfully passes the examination he becomes eligible for enlistment in the army or navy to pursue training courses in college. It is assumed if the student does pass the examination he will be notified individually.

Very little information has been received by the president's office concerning the proposed army program; it will be similar to that set forth under the Navy V-12 program, however. Under those provisions enlistees will receive training on a collegiate level in technical and professional skills required by the army. Engineers of all types, doctors, psychologists, linguists, physical scientists, mathematicians and students of foreign areas are needed in a large number and the army has established this program in those colleges and universities where such courses can best be given.

It must be understood by all applicants that it is not likely that training will be continued in this institution," Dr. Kent said. "Selected young men will be sent to schools with which the army and navy has contracts for giving the desired training."

If a man has satisfactorily passed the examination on April 2, he will be given a certificate of qualification which, upon presentation at the time of voluntary enlistment, will enable the young man to be sent to a replacement training center as a potential specialized program trainee. Later it will be determined whether he is of potential officer candidate material and if so he will be assigned to this army specialized training unit. Upon enlistment he will be on active duty.

Individual choice of curriculum will be given serious consideration, although the army will assign the man to the curriculum to which his aptitudes show him best suited.

Those students enlisted in the Navy V-1 as reserves do not take this examination and must not confuse the examination to be given April 2 with the examination that all Navy V-1 reserves must take toward the end of their sophomore year. All indications are that the latter examination will be given about April 20 and will be in accordance with the announcement as to the subject matter to be covered. This examination will cover English, mathematics through trigonometry and physics.

No one will be admitted to the examination to be given April 2 without an application card nor will anyone be admitted after the examination begins promptly at 9 a.m. Students desiring to enter the examination should fill out application blanks found in the president's office.

Home Ec Club Beautifies...

THE Home Economics club started their cleanup campaign last Saturday with a general tidying up of lawns about their buildings. They cleaned flower beds and have the grounds ready for planting.

This cleanup had been planned for previous Saturdays, but had been postponed due to weather conditions and student activities. The work is to be continued today, and on following Saturdays until the grounds around those buildings take on a better appearance.

This is the first actual step taken on this campus toward the beautification project that has been proposed. No pressure was brought to bear upon officials in this department, and the work is being done through the efforts of voluntary workers. The Beautification Committee, which met last night to make plans for continuing such projects, has done nothing as yet and the Home Economics group deserves recognition for their initial step in accomplishing the task that has been set forth by the committee above mentioned.

Hedges, flower beds, and lawns surrounding various other buildings would not be harmed if they received the same treatment handed said objects about the Home Ec. buildings. No other organization has taken such a decisive step in beautifying their surroundings. It is suggested here that such action be taken. It is badly needed, and would eliminate much unnecessary expense and effort on the part of beautification officials.

These officials wish to escape no work in the project, but the job would be simplified greatly, and much more could be accomplished if other organizations would follow the example set by the Home Economics group.

New World Civilization...

AN OPPORTUNITY to build a new world civilization will confront the American people in the postwar period, declares Prof. Lyman Bryson of Columbia university, chief of the bureau of special services of the office of war information.

Professor Bryson told 829 candidates for degrees at the University of Michigan that they face a great immediate test, but declared it is necessary to insist that "what you have to go through will be worth any necessary sacrifice because the world that comes after the war will be one in which those who believe in freedom will be allowed to live by it, and those who believe in violence will be restrained.

The postwar period should not be regarded merely as an opportunity to repair damage done by the war, Bryson said. Instead he foresees a period in which the engineering ability of the United States can produce will be put to good use, and he predicts that the time immediately after the war ought to see greater scientific advance than any in the past. Also he hopes we will be scientific about human beings. All these possibilities are declared by Bryson to be evidence "that the people of America will have the means with which to build a new world civilization." No other generation of men has had an opportunity like this, he asserted.

Pointing out that we did not enter this war with the crusading spirit so evident in World War I, Bryson declared that on the whole this was a great advantage because if we can fight and win a war in a mood of grim realism we may be more ready to take the grimly realistic measures that will be necessary afterward.

Americans are just beginning to learn the hard lesson that we will have to resort to power until we have created a world in which violence and injustice are impossible, he said, and such a world is not now in view. "Men are going to be dangerous to each other for a long time to come," Bryson predicted. "The countries of Europe are going to be cut up by civil wars, by bloody quarrels among their leaders and be hot with the fevers of revenge."

Bryson warned that Americans cannot withdraw into a shell of isolation as long as Europe and Asia are in a long drawn-out guerrilla warfare.

"We shall have to help combat anarchy as we have fought against aggression," he asserted. "Unless peace and order can be established everywhere we will have to choose between anarchy at home or a degree of military preparation and control that will be almost intolerable. What this amounts to is to say that your generation carries an enormous weight of responsibility put upon it by the long series of failures to which my generation has contributed so much. You have not only a war to fight and win. You have also a world to straighten out."

"Provided our production reaches the desired volume, the coming spring and early summer, if not sooner, will witness a gigantic Axis disaster by simultaneous attack from without and by revolution of the subjugated nations in Europe from within. The actual establishment of a second front on European soil may well be the signal of Nazi Germany's internal collapse and of the outbreak of European revolt of the nations against the Nazis." Curfew On Teen Age Youths...

A Techsan Speaks

—By Barnett

THE present problem of juvenile problems in the city of Lubbock is prompting drastic action on the part of city officials. It has been proposed, and may be accepted, that all persons who are under the age of seventeen, and who are unaccompanied, be forced to be off the streets by 10:00 or 1:30 p.m.

This measure has already met with the whole-hearted approval of a citizens' committee drawn up for the purpose of solving the problem. No date had been set at press time for the institution of such a law on the streets.

The committee that approved this measure stated that the plan had worked well in the city of Waco, and other cities. This writer happens to know that the ordinance in Waco prohibits young girls from being on the streets after a set hour, but has no clause in it about boys.

The problems, and instances, presented seemed to be directed more toward the girls than toward the male youth. This receives my whole-hearted support. Since the establishment of two army bases here, and now the pre-flight students on the campus, the younger set of girls have come to know more about the "facts of life" than some of the older women, around the age of twenty and twenty-one years. This is not as it should be.

I do not propose that older girls be turned loose to run madly about chasing soldiers. Those who have been raised in proper environment, know enough about the opposite sex not to hang around downtown night spots seeking dates of any description. The younger set is the one to deal with. They are boy-crazy, will go to any extreme to get a date with soldiers, or civilians.

Classes will have to worked out in this proposed ordinance, however, many young girls and boys have jobs in downtown drug stores and business houses, and some of them will not get off work until twelve or one o'clock. It would not be fair to force the youngsters to give up their jobs because some other teen age boys or girl got drunk in public. These youths must be allowed to continue work, yet the other two-thirds must be kept at home, if it is at all possible.

Nothing is more revolting than a fifteen year old girl, or younger, hanging around cafes and drug stores in hope of "landing" some soldier, or civilian. These young girls will smoke, drink, or "cuss" like the proverbial sailor" to obtain a date with some older male. They try to put up a tough front and impress their date, but most of the time they only succeed in losing what little self-respect they have.

This writer proposes no temperance lecture here. I am not in a position to do so. Doubtless I have done things during my past years that are seemingly as bad as these misdemeanors named, but I think that I voice the opinion of the majority when I say that such occurrences should be, and can be, stopped.

I am not so concerned with the males as the females. I feel that the younger boys are fully able to take care of themselves. No youth today who has acquired the habit of late hours will meet any obstacle he can not hurdle in this city. The writer does not feel Lubbock to be a congested den of iniquity, but does feel that the future of many girls is being darkened considerably by present conditions.

In the facts given concerning the move, one instance was cited of a young boy who had become quite adept at handling the "galloping dominos." It said that the youth acquired enough money in this fashion for the purchase of a "substantial amount of war bonds." That seems much better than some thirty year old man winning several times the amount and never giving a thought to war. Dice shooting is not endorsed, but it will be encountered no matter what steps are taken. It is probably more prevalent among the twenty year olds than among the teen age boys.

The writer feels that curfew plac-

From Other Campuses...

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(ACP)—Miss You Couroux-Magin, niece of the French hero of 1918, General Mangin, and now a student at Trinity college, spoke to her fellow Frenchmen recently in a broadcast arranged by the office of war information and carried over 14 short wave stations.

The slender, 19-year-old Frenchwoman told her countrymen of the universal desire of Americans to defeat the enemy, and how American colleges are preparing their students.

After the broadcast, Miss Mangin told friends she could picture muffled radios to catch the faint words of hope which I have tried to give them. It was the greatest moment of my life."

ST. PETER, Minn.—(ACP)—A system of free college education which would be open to all American boys and girls is advocated by Dr. W. A. Lunden, president of Gustavus Adolphus college, to give the country the trained manpower and leadership now lacking.

"America loses 80 percent of her potential leaders because they do not have the privilege of advanced education," he declared.

"Accident of birth, geographical location or insufficient funds are the reasons why these groups do not go to college. Although we have a splendid grade and high school system, democracy in education in this country ceases after that point and only a very small percent of our capable youth continues."

Dr. Lunden pointed out that 75 percent of the colleges in this country are private schools.

"Sixty-five percent of all college teachers teach in private institutions and almost 60 percent of students attend private colleges."

"Private education offers the solution for the opportunity for 80 percent of the youth now attending school."

"This, of course, will cost money, but had we invested more in the youth and the educational institutions of America yesterday, we would not be talking about manpower shortage today."

In addition to an educational program, private colleges set up standards and ideals for the student to develop, he declared, adding if the private colleges cannot give this to their students, they have no place in the educational world.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—(ACP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt believes that after the war the government should pay the expenses of students who were drafted from college and who want to resume their education. She also told University of Misssouri students that citizenship in a democracy is "no rocking chair occupation."

CINCINNATI, Ohio — (ACP)—One indication of far-reaching steps contemplated by the Polish government-in-exile in London for eventual restoration of its war-shattered homeland has come to light at the University of Cincinnati.

Prof. Ernest Pickering, director of the division of architecture in the school of applied arts, has received word that his volume "Architectural Design," has been selected by the Polish government for publication in Polish as an aid in postwar planning and reconstruction in Poland.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(ACP)—Tulane officials have noted a curious parallelism in the university's war record. To date three university athletes have given their lives in service of their country.

Each was a member of the army air corps. Each died as a result of a plane mishap. Each had been a member of the Tulane boxing team two years and won his letter in that sport.

The university heroes were Bill Peak, Nelson Slayton and Samuel Zemurray, Jr.

Senior Girls May Be Officers In WAVES or SPARS

Candidates Required To Present Letter Of Recommendation

Senior women students in Texas Colleges and Universities will be accepted as officers candidates for the Navy and Coast Guard Women's Reserves under a modification of enlistment requirements announced recently. Candidates applying to the Navy or Coast Guard must present an endorsement from a special faculty committee. They will not be called to active duty until after graduation.

This move has been made, it was explained, in order to enable the Navy to enlist outstanding college seniors who have talents and ability to contribute to the Naval Service despite lack of professional experience. Previously the only non-college graduates accepted by the Women's Reserves as officers were those who had had two college training plus two years of business experience.

Since enlisting women on college campuses is not authorized, a student must report to the nearest Office of Naval Officer Procurement. Texas offices are located in Houston and Dallas. A certificate from the dean of the college stating that the applicant is a graduate on a certain date, and a full endorsement from a special faculty committee, must be presented upon application for enlistment.

Letters have been mailed to accredited colleges explaining the details of the new procedure and requesting the colleges to establish these committees. Faculty members will be charged with recommending applicants on the basis of outstanding scholastic achievement, leadership in their curricular activities, and personal qualifications for officer status. Although such committee endorsements are required, they do not guarantee selection by the Navy.

Successful applicants will be sworn in as Apprentice Seamen in the V-9 or W-9 class and put on inactive duty for the remainder of their college course. Immediately upon graduation, they must submit a transcript of their college records to the Officer Procurement Office.

Accepted officer candidate may be called to active duty promptly after graduation and sent to the Naval Reserve Midshipman's School, Northampton, Massachusetts. If not called immediately upon graduation, the women may return home and report that their papers be transferred to the Office of Naval Officer Procurement nearest their home residence.

Accepted applicants who fail to graduate may request to be transferred to enlisted status (V-10 or W-10) or be discharged.

No quotas have been set for the number of women to be enlisted under the new procedure.

Experienced Frogs Miss Workouts Due To Injuries

Coach Dutch Meyer of the Texas Christian Horned Frogs put his potential 1943 squad through rough scrimmages during the past days. The squad has been going through rough workouts every day that the weather permitted. Several of the more experienced linemen have been out due to injuries sustained in early scrimmages, and some have been unable to report for duty with the squad due to pre-training ailments.

The training will continue for thirty days, as is a rule of the conference. amateurs will tee-off in the annual Texas Cup Matches.

CAPITAL TO CAMPUS

EDUCATORS are studying a plan for giving academic credit to soldiers, WAACs, marines, sailors, et al for education acquired in service. The plan was developed by the American Council on Education in cooperation with the Joint Army and Navy Committee on Welfare and Recreation.

With the same goal in view, Army Air Forces recently wrote college and university presidents asking commitments to give credit for the proposed basic Air Force training program. But work in this program is part of the over-all record and measurement program developed by the U. S. Armed Forces Institute, formerly the Army Institute. Since the Institute is part of the Council's plan, the Air Forces agreed to withdraw their request until the broader plan could be acted upon.

THE MARINES HAVE A WORD

Probably no news story in the history of the war has been refuted more times than the yarn about how union seamen refused to unload a ship at Guadalcanal because it was Sunday.

Soon after the report was published, it was denied by Joe Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, who pointed out none of his union's agreements prohibit Sunday work. Other denials came from Lt. Col. Lewis B. Fuller, Marine veteran of Guadalcanal; Maj. Gen. Alexander Vandergrift, commander at Guadalcanal, and Admiral William F. Halsey. Finally a House naval subcommittee proved the charge and found it false.

So far the refutations have had much less effect than the original baseless story. Many still think union seamen refused to unload a vessel at Guadalcanal because it was Sunday.

The Marines themselves have an undignified word for such rumors. It's "scuttlebutt."

BALLYHOO FOR BONDS

With selective service drafting men from the nation's campuses, the Treasury is turning its big bond selling guns on the coeds and women's colleges.

A survey of 300 schools netted a huge collection of bright ideas for boosting bond sales. There are such appeals for savings as "Cut the Cokes" and "Get along without that cashmere cardigan." At Vassar, the girls called off their class rings and a prom in favor of war savings. At Goucher college in Baltimore, they're giving mock driver's licenses to every student purchasing an interest in the jeep the school is buying with bonds.

Sophomores at Mundelein college in Chicago invested proceeds from a cotillion in bonds. Exchange booths for accessories—a cast-off lapel pin for a war savings stamp—are favorite devices elsewhere. At Hood college, Maryland, a tolling booth prowls the campus, preceded by buglers and a chorus.

All of which may remind you to put some loose change into war saving stamps today.

Texas Longhorn Lettermen To Be Named In Future

Following Close Of National Tournament Awards To Be Given

Texas University basketball lettermen for the 1943 squad will be named after the National Collegiate Athletic Association Western Tournament in Kansas City March 26 and 27. This is being done, according to Bully Gilstrap, Texas basketball mentor, in order to give all of the team a chance to earn their letters. Of course this will delay the awarding of the letters but the actual season will not be over until the final game is played.

The team is tapering off this week in order to be in good shape for a week of tough work-outs which will begin Monday. All week the schedule has been only light drills.

At the National Collegiate tournament, two games will be played each night, and the winner of the Western division will go to New York to play in the National finals on March 30. The Longhorns will carry a squad of 14 players which will leave Austin the morning of March 24, arriving in Kansas City the next morning.

The officials for the tourney, not been chosen, will include one from each of the four districts represented.

March 25 the Texans will work out in the large Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, which houses six by four feet clear glass backboards, the same that are used at Madison Square Garden.

The only other time the Texans were represented in the National Tournament was in 1939 after winning the Southwest Conference flag they lost to Oregon in the first round at San Francisco. Then to Utah State, 51-49 in the consolation bracket.

Aggies Threaten Longhorn Title

The Texas Aggies, Texas University's arch enemies, for the first time in eleven years threaten Texas' hold on the southwest swimming conference title March 20 in Gregory Gymnasium at Austin. The Longhorns swimming team was expected to be one of the strongest of the southwest this year but like all college athletics the team has been hard hit by the call to colors.

Possibly the hardest stroke to the team was occasioned when Texas lost Captain Wade Smith. Coach Robertson admits that Smith could have easily been the difference between victory and defeat this year.

Joe Demmer who is expected to take Smith's place and pace the team was called up with the Air Corps, but he was given a deferment until March 22, when he had the mumps. Demmer has recovered fully from the mumps, and his deferment will enable him to participate in the title meet.

At a dual meet at College Station, Demmer took a first place every time that he hit the water. In the 50-yard free style, he made

Owls To Make Bid For Tourny Title Monday In Garden

The Rice Institute basketball team which entered the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden will not see action until Monday night when they meet the St. Johns team.

Play will begin Thursday night with Creighton number one team according to wins and losses, playing Washington and Jefferson, the eighth ranking team in the tournament; and Toledo, all-freshman squad that won 20 and dropped two tangles with Manhattan in the second game of the evening's activities. Manhattan team is composed of four freshmen and one senior, a combination which gave them 18 victories and two defeats.

In Monday night's activities Fordham will meet Western Kentucky, last year's runner-up.

The Eastern Regional Championship which will start March 24 sends Dartmouth against DePaul and New York University against Georgetown.

Appearing in the same tournament with the Rice Owls will be Coach Eddie Hickey's powerful Blue Jay squad from Creighton University. These men are determined to prove that the "third time is charm". There are three seniors on this squad, and all of them have appeared previously in the New York Tournament.

The Blue Jays wound up their conference race with the title in the bag, and with no team having even a partial claim to the title. The Creightons captured ten conference wins and lost none to their league foes.

Last year, after sharing their conference crown with the Oklahoma Aggies, the Blue Jays quint traveled to Madison Square Garden to grab off the consolation prize.

This season Dick Nolan, senior medical student, was held out of play due to studies, but returned to the squad for the last three games.

Nolan, Beisser, and Langer, all of them seniors, are determined to top their careers with a title at Madison Square Garden's invitation tournament. They will be one of the favorite teams in the tourney, and have already played one game.

The University of Texas bacteriology department will offer a graduate course in serology at the state health laboratory in Austin next summer.

The entire Harvard university one-mile relay team has joined the armed forces.

Colleges of London's Cambridge university are planning a short course in swing music in April.

Dutchy Smith Sent To Chicago Training Center

Former Line Coach Is Now Lieutenant Commander In Navy

Russel T. (Dutchy) Smith, former assistant coach at Texas Tech and now a lieutenant commander in the navy, has recently been transferred from the navy pre-flight school in Athens, Ga., to the air technical training center in Chicago.

Smith may be remembered by Tech fans as the line coach under head coach Peter Willis Cawthon.

LINE COACH RUSSELL SMITH

both of whom saw several Tech teams through successful seasons.

Both Smith and Cawthon resigned their positions here in 1941.

Before his position at Tech, Smith was line coach at Louisiana State university.

He was one of the first college athletic leaders that entered the naval aviation physical fitness program.

During his instructorship here, more than a majority of the 200 officers and instructors were from Texas and under his tutelage continued nine of his former football players from Texas Tech who were junior officers.

A majority of the cadets will be under his supervision in the extensive sports program were also from Texas.

Commander Smith was first chosen to work with the personnel selection program for the new naval aviation physical fitness program in January, 1942. After two months service as a civilian aide, he was commissioned in March.

He served his indoctrination period at the naval academy in Annapolis and after a couple of months was transferred to the school in Athens.

Creighton Wins Conference With Ten Victories

Last week when Creighton defeated Kansas by the longest score in the history of those two teams' engagements, three of the men who helped in that defeat were wearing Creighton's colors for the last time on the home floor.

Three of them, Ed Beisser, Ralph Langer, and Dick Nolan had been regulars on the squad for the last three years. Barney Burdick, a junior member, had volunteered his services as relief center after Elmer Munden was called to the army.

Beisser, Creighton's candidate for All-American center and co-captain this year, is a graduate of Des Moines, Iowa, high school. He had been chosen as center on the Missouri Valley conference team.

Langer, the team's top scorer for the last two seasons is a graduate of Ainsworth, Nebraska, high school. He is co-captain and was also a member of the All-Missouri

Baylor May Not Conduct Spring Football Training

Tennis is the only sport that is now being pursued by Baylor university. They expect to go ahead with their limited tennis schedule while the sport situation in other fields remains uncertain.

Whether or not the university will have spring football training and track and field competition is still being debated among officials of the college.

Other schools in the circuit have completed their spring practice or are having it now. Texas, A&M, and Rice have turned their gridsters loose to participate in other spring sports. TCU is now having strenuous spring football training.

Coach Dutch Meyer is trying to train every man on the squad for every position. According to the coach, he is prepared for all things, even the abandonment of the sport by the school, but is going ahead with plans for another season.

With the uncertainty of men, best bet for the coach is to have a well-rounded team and to have every man able to play every position.

Idea behind spring training in most schools is to have their teams ready in case intercollegiate football is carried on next fall and, if not, the rigorous training will be good preparation for the football players when they enter the army or navy or similar service.

Three Tech Exes Get Commissions

Three former Texas Technological College students received their commissions last week at the Naval Training Center at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Marion Ernest Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman LeGrand of Southgate, California, was commissioned an ensign in the United States Naval Reserve. He left Texas Tech in January, 1942, and received his preliminary flight instructions at the Dallas, Texas Reserve Aviation Base.

George Olen Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ross of Littlefield, withdrew from Texas Technological College in January, 1942, and after several months of schooling has been commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve at the Corpus Christi Naval Training Center.

The third former Tech student to receive his commission last week was Glynn Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newt James Barnes of Honey Grove, Texas. Barnes was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps Reserve. He left Texas Tech and volunteered for flight training last January, 1942.

Suddenly a sentry stands at attention before them. They stop—startled for a moment. Thinking it is probably all a game, they walk on. At the end of the block they are halted again.

What's the meaning of it all? Why are they stopped by these soldiers who watch over the two buildings, not so long ago occupied by college boys?

Slowly realization dawns on them. These are not just dorms, they're walking in front of them, they are army barracks. There the nation's soldiers are stationed being trained in the technique of war, and these sentries are watching over them all through the night.

Dances, spring wardrobes, hair-do, all begin to fade from the girls' minds. In the far-off distance they can almost hear the low rumbling of the cannon, the drone of airplanes, and the singing of bullets. Out there somewhere some lonely sentry keeps vigil over a camp—walking, ever alert, and watching for a sign of the enemy. Even so, a sentry walks on Tech campus, guarding a small part of it—a small piece of the world, yet so vital to a pattern of a world at war.

Lubbock Football Schedule Given For Coming Year

Lubbock High School football team will play in Odessa, this year in spite of the war with but one major change, E. J. (Pinky) Lowrey, business manager of athletics, announced.

Due to transportation difficulties and other probable changes brought about by the war, Breckenridge was dropped from the schedule and Lamesa added to it. This was a non-conference game. The schedule shows Lubbock in five home games and games against San Angelo, last year District 3A, Odessa, Odessa, an "unofficial" district titleholder; Temple, almost perennially high on the schoolboy grid slate, which comes to Lubbock on October 22 for a night game; and Big Spring.

In Conference play the Westerneers will go against the powerful Golden State district titleholder, semi-finalists last year who were upset by Sunset of Dallas; Pampa, always the team to beat in District One; Brownfield, which pulled an unexpected upset over the Lubbock team last year in their first year of AA competition; Plainview and Borger.

Lowrey and Coach J. "Mule" Davis got together in the statement: "We'll have all the opposition we'll want."

The schedule is as follows: Sept. 17, Odessa at Odessa, night Sept. 24, San Angelo at San Angelo, night

Oct. 1, Big Spring at Lubbock, night

Oct. 8, Lamesa at Lubbock, night

Coaches Willing, Feud Between Schools May End

Dispute Arose Over Which College Had Best Team In 1913

A thirty year old feud between the University of Texas and the University of Oklahoma may be culminated this year if both coaches agree.

The feud started back in 1913 and they have been arguing ever since over who should be credited with having had the best track team of that year.

Both schools had fine teams that year and when they met in a dual meet each school had a star hurdler. Clyde Littlefield, now track coach at Texas, had never been defeated.

John Jacobs, now track coach at Oklahoma University, was the only man who was ever doped to beat Littlefield.

Jacobs did beat him—the only race in hurdling that Littlefield lost in four years of competition. He had beat Jacobs before and he beat him again after that.

Jacobs and his Oklahoma team will come to Austin April 3 to seek Texas Relays honors. He has been named honorary track referee for the outdoor meet and field carnival.

He and Littlefield have been close coaching friends for years. They were opposing high school coaches for a time at Greenville, Sherman and Corsicana high schools.

But between the two universities, the feud has not been settled. Students and members of the schools have suggested that it could be run off this year at the time of Jacobs visit to Austin. Littlefield agreed if the distance is limited to 20 yards with not more than two hurdles. Jacobs has not answered the challenge yet.

tended that action was essential to avert "disaster" for the food situation, since production will need to be increased next year in order to supply food for civilian consumption, our armed forces, and for lend-lease aid.

Before the bill can become law, it must be passed by the House of Representatives and signed by President Roosevelt. Long debate is expected in the House over the measure.

Senate Votes Bill Satisfactory That Defers Farmers

A bill, passed Wednesday by the United States Senate, would defer all men employed substantially full time as agricultural workers from the armed forces.

The bill was passed over protests by the War department by a count of 50 to 24. The measure, now ready to go to the House, directs all draft boards to defer these men. It would replace the amendment to the present law which does not make mandatory these deferments but authorizes them.

Passage of the bill came as a result of reports of forthcoming imminent food shortages. Senators said that approximately 70 per cent of the farm workers have already been drafted.

Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, had strenuously opposed blanket deferments on the grounds that the armed forces would be deprived of one of their best sources of man power and that essential farmers had already been deferred.

Sponsors of the measure con-

Steers, Aggies, Bobcats To Stage Three-Way Meet

The University of Texas, Texas A&M, and the Southwest Texas Teachers of San Marcos will participate in a triangular track meet at Austin today.

Texas is smarting from a defeat handed them by the Aggies last Friday at Laredo, and would like to come back with a win in their home meet this week. The Longhorns will play host to the first and fourth place winners of the Border Olympics. In that tournament the Aggies took first and the San Marcos Bobcats took fourth while Texas was taking second in the college division.

Coed's Corner—

Dorm Girls Entertain Soldiers In Lounge

—By Kara Hunsucker

DORM residents are planning to provide special entertainment for the pre-flight students, with an "open house" to be held in the dorm lounge each night during the soldiers' off hours. This was decided at house meeting Thursday night when Prexy Kathryn Weeth offered suggestions for arranging programs.

There's talent aplenty among 480 girls and it should be a comely lounge and talk with the visitors, play bridge, and the like. Most of these boys are hundreds of miles from home and have been transferred here from college classrooms all over the country. A uniform hasn't changed their tastes and personalities to any great extent; they still like to have dates when they can, and most of all, they want companionship and new friends while going to school on Texas Tech campus.

For those coeds who cannot sing or play the piano, there's still a need for "hostesses," that is, girls who will come down to the lounge and talk with the visitors, play bridge, and the like. Most of these boys are hundreds of miles from home and have been transferred here from college classrooms all over the country. A uniform hasn't changed their tastes and personalities to any great extent; they still like to have dates when they can, and most of all, they want companionship and new friends while going to school on Texas Tech campus.

During the winter months, the fat from using leg make-up instead of hose has been retarded somewhat, probably because most coeds had rather wear rayons than expose their legs to biting north winds. However, with the coming of warmer weather, we're predicting an even greater use of "artificial hose" than last summer, because the last pair of nylons are about extinct. Here's one male's idea on the subject.

Painted eyebrows, painted lips, painted cheeks that shame the painted toe-nails—yes, and now the gals are painting on their hose. Since silk's offensively symbolic, Emancipated gams now frolic. I think the femmes have something to say to the boys.

With the exception of two or three more dances, the couple of presentations, Ko Shari and DFD, the formal season has just about subsided on the campus to make way for the gay season of spring dances. Likely, there'll be a growing popularity for cotton in the spring, as there is a shortage of other types of fabrics on the market. And nothing could be more suggestive of spring itself than a coed in a pastel evening dress of pique or dotted Swiss. There'll probably be more "wearing of the cotton" to classes this year, also.

Tech Students Aid Bond Sales

Lubbock county citizens and Tech students can get another big financial drive next month—that of the 11th Federal Reserve district War Bond sale. In proportion to the amount of $500,000,000 which is being asked of the district, it is likely that Lubbock county will be asked to sell around $5,000,000 in bonds and stamps as its part of the quota.

It is assumed that Tech will conduct a smaller drive at the same time. Details for either the city or campus organization have not been worked out.

far beyond Manpower Commissioner McNutt's prediction of one-fifth of our men in the service by the end of 1943; eighty per cent of the high school students agree that "most of the men will be in the Army or Navy."

In general, pupils are optimistic regarding the general postwar future, but pessimistic regarding economic problems both in war and thereafter. Many of them show that they need encouragement in reminding them that war is but a temporary part of their lives and in emphasizing the importance of their own postwar future. This will help cure a common attitude of poor emotional health, points out Dr. Cronbach.

Parade of Opinion

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

TESTED after a year of war, the morale of high school students is healthy but far from perfect, comments Dr. Lee J. Cronbach, associate professor of psychology at Washington State college, whose succession of morale tests extending back prior to Pearl Harbor is proving helpful to educators and others concerned with the problem of helping youth make its adjustment to crisis.

On recent samplings, about half the high school group checked seemed more pessimistic than it justified by our progress in overcoming war problems. "An important minority of the pupils appear to be confused and misinformed," summarizes Dr. Cronbach. "On most questions, pupils have not become more realistic and more confident than they were at the start of the war."

"The passage of a year has not removed the misconceptions about war which have made the pupils more emotional than need be. Pupils need information about war, about prospects and plans for the wartime and the postwar future. A continuous survey of morale is necessary, for the schools and the government to attack those fears which are most serious and unwarranted."

Nationwide interest is generated in this morale study, which was so fortunately timed that it was in the hands of all high school administrators in the state of Washington less than a week after our entrance into the war. Next month the Stanford press will publish, under auspices of the American Association of Applied Psychologists, a technical monograph on results and methods of testing written by Dr. Cronbach.

The Educational Policies commission, set up by the National Education association, has drawn upon the findings in planning wartime policies and curricula to re-

WAR BOND QUIZ

Q. Can Stamps of various denominations be placed in one album?
A. More than one denomination in an album greatly increases the work and cost of redemption. Please, therefore, don't mix denominations.

Q. May a minor designate a co-owner or beneficiary?
A. Yes, if the purchase is made by the minor from his own wages or earnings.

Q. Do I lose my investment if my War Savings Bond is lost, stolen, or destroyed?
A. No; upon satisfactory proof of loss or destruction, the Treasury Department will issue a duplicate, usually without requiring a bond of indemnity.

Q. May I register the name of a beneficiary on a Bond without his knowledge?
A. Yes. Records of War Savings Bonds are confidential. It is not necessary for the Treasury to contact the beneficiary during the owner's lifetime. Only individuals may be named as beneficiaries. No associations, churches, or clubs may be so named.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, the more valuable they become.
