Five Are Named For Second Year

Tech will have thirty-one students listed in the publication, Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities, it was announced yesterday. A committee consisting of six students and four faculty members, representing each division, considered names submitted by the department heads to the deans of the divisions. Names were considered on the grounds of scholarship, leadership, prospects for future success, service to the school, and character. Only juniors and seniors with a grade average of 1.85 or better were considered.

Five of the students were automatically named this year due to their being selected last year; they are Dorothy Clift, Troy Davidson, Maxine Harp, Elizabeth Schmidt, and Barton Willingham. Tech's quota as prescribed by the national organization was twenty-six, besides the ones mentioned last year.

Junior's Thanksgiving Means More In His Big New LAAF-ing Home Fifteen To Receive Dunlap Scholarships

By DORIS BARNES
Toreador Staff Writer

Junior, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tech Veteran, has a new place to live. He and his parents, along with 39 other families, are moving to the 40 new apartments furnished by the Lubbock Housing Authority at LAAF.

This was a big step in Junior's young life and he can hardly get used to all the new privacy he has. No longer does he have to listen to long quotations from Shakespeare each night as he tries to go to sleep. The guy was beginning to get on his nerves.

Also now Junior can have a nice quiet bath in his own home. No longer does he have to be waggled down to community center where fluttering females gush over his pretty pink skin and his lovely red hair.

Junior is glad for his Mama too. You see now she can cook at home instead of dragging Junior and Papa over to the cafeteria. Junior is sure that this has helped Papa's disposition immensely. Mama has a pretty white stove and refrigerator that is just dandy to mark on when Junior can find a pencil lying around.

Junior thinks all the space of the three rooms is just fine. Before, he hadn't room enough to turn around in. But now when he gets tired of meddling in one room he can go into another and find something new to poke his freckled little nose into.

In the new place when Junior gets ready to go to bed, his Mama puts him in a room all by himself. He doesn't have to hear about strikes and rises in prices. As far as he can see, things aren't so bad anyway, that is now that he and Papa will get to eat Thanksgiving dinner at home.

Now when Papa has to read "Paradise Lost", he can go off by himself and not actually have to live the thing. He is not interrupted by the bawls of Junior when he can't throw the alarm clock on the floor or have the dog in bed with him.

Yes, Junior thinks this new life is O. K. The only thing that worries him is his little playmate who still has to worry about Shakespeare and such things until the remaining 240 apartments at LAAF have been finished.

Date Of 'Our Town' Moved Up Two Days

"Our Town", a play by Thornton Wilder, will be presented by the Tech Speech Department at 8:00, Wednesday, Dec. 4 in the Lubbock high school auditorium, instead of Dec. 6, as was formerly announced.

This play was introduced in New York at the Henry Miller Theater on Feb. 4, 1938, and won the Pulitzer Prize for that year. It was later made into a motion picture with Martha Scott playing the role of Emily Webb. The Speech Department presentation will be among the first productions of the play in this part of the country.

"Our Town" is the story of the every day life in the small New England town of Grover's Corners, New Hampshire. Jack Terrell will play the part of the Stage Manager, who serves as narrator for the play. D'Ruth Hopping and James Simpson will enact the parts of the lovers of "Our Town", Emily Webb and George Gibbs. Other members of the cast are:

Bob Nash, James Vaughn, Bill Olinger, Billie Hutchings, Joanne Crabtree, Lou Nolan, R. L. Williams, Eddie Aryan, Floyd Sadler, Jackie Cogdill and Janet Moore.

Music for the play will be furnished by the vocal students of the Music Department under the direction of Julian Paul Blitz with June Cardell at the piano.

Lucien Upshaw, graduate of Tech and present instructor in the Speech Department, is directing the play.

General admission tickets are 50c, and students will be admitted upon presentation of Tech Student Activity books.

Extra Buildings Sought By Tech

Texas Technological college has made additional requests for surplus buildings, President Whyburn announced this week. The school has previously been granted 30 to be moved from airfields at Abilene, Hondo, and Brownwood.

A representative of the Federal Works Agency will be on the campus today to confer with President Whyburn, T. C. Root, assistant to the president, S. T. Cummings, purchasing agent, and others on the need for more buildings on the campus.

"The requested buildings still under consideration by F. W. A. include additional space, beyond that already provided, for mechanical engineering shops and other laboratory fields", President Whyburn said.

CLASSES DISMISS Thanksgiving holidays will begin at 6 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 27. Classes will be resumed at 8 a. m., Monday, Dec. 2, according to a notice from Pres. W. M. Whyburn's office.

Christmas holidays will begin at 10 p. m., Thursday, Dec. 13. Classes will be resumed at 8 a. m., Thursday, Jan. 2, the notice stated.

Coda Popularity Is No Accident

By SUE STOCKARD
Toreador Staff Writer

Here is a tale of the "Coda", the band publication that causes high moral among all band guys and girls, and all students who read and band themselves against the wall in hearty gales of laughter, and appear to be in much happier moods for six days to come until it is Friday and the "Coda" once more makes its appearance into their harassed lives.

Students engage in fist fights games of snatching, and in just an order to obtain copies for their room-mates, the Congressional Library, Dr. Strout, and The Boston Society.

Delightful authors of this publication include M. Hawkins Starnes, noted connoisseur of Pulpitude, and his timely articles on life, love, football, family-relations, travel, and insects. J. W. King, famous movie critic is also a member of the "Coda" staff. King may be found at the Catus or Arcadia each week-end trying to pick out the "four-bell" movies that are the ones most "fitten" for Tech students. King also has the envied position as Artist Course critic. At these entertainments, he generously refuses to accept free "Coda" passes, but uses his own ticket—a gesture that has won him the warm friendship of many.

A lovelorn column is featured and lovelorn, those seeking vice and advice are advised by "Cokey Fio", noted authority who studied in France.

Serious articles are never too serious because in the middle of some sermon there is an hilarious joke, players are ridiculed in every way possible, and sometimes the "Coda" runs "Esquire" a close race, but as the little motto on the band bulletin board reads: "If it's serious you better not send it to the Coda—if you can't take a joke, you better not read the Coda—you may be the next victim!"

Talent Program Will Be Try-Outs For Varsity Show

Student talent program to discover new dancers, singers, and novelty acts will be held Dec. 7 at Lubbock High school auditorium, said Jamie Trainer, chairman of the Varsity Show committee.

Cast of the Varsity Show will be selected from participants of this program, said Miss Trainer, who stressed the need of dancers for the annual all-college musical production.

Script for the show will be written after the authors know the number of persons who will be available for next spring's production.

Prizes will be given the winning numbers. Anyone wishing to participate in the program may leave his name in the Student Council office in the Journalism building or contact members of the Varsity Show Committee. Members include Weyley Hamilton, Marshall Mason, Hoyle Moss, and Miss Trainer.

TECH - SAND

JOHNNIE MAE SMITH and PEGGY WILLIAMS are two of the most recent pinners of the week!

MARY FRANCES KELLEY seems to have had much fun at the Howard-Payne game last week.

The trial attendants appeared to be quite surprised when BOB COLE, prosecuting attorney, brought forth the marriage certificate of ROBERT PARDEE and MARILYN DAY dated October 27.

JAMIE TRAINER has been dating GEORGE WILSON lately. By the way, have you heard her version of "Divorce Me C.O.D."?

PAT SMOOT and ROY WILLIAMS may be developing a serious case right under our eyes. They may notice other folks sometimes, but not when they are together.

Guess we might as well put RUSTY WILLIAMS and LOU NOLAN on the steady list. We see them with no other dates.

You may think ROGER SMITH is outstanding, but you should see his 3 months old daughter. She's a real football sweetheart.

GLYNNA WILLIAMS is going steady with a boy who lives in Lubbock, but is not in Tech.

SNOOKIE WEEKES is also enjoying the company of an off-the-campus boy. He's one TOMMIE from Lamesa.

JOHN WATKINS shows evidence of forgetting his troubles and "Dear John Letters".

Does LAM MCKAY prefer FRED LIBBY or STAN HUCKABY or both?

MERRILYN SNIDER was here for the game. She is an Air Line Hostess on the Dallas-New York run at present.

BETTY YOUNG was happy this week when her boy friend from A&M made a surprise visit to Tech.

LANELL DOSHIER was here for the game Saturday with (as might be expected) JAMES GUNTER.

EUGENIA WATKINS is the cutie who plays the piano at the cafeteria. The cash register hasn't balanced with the amount sold at the counter since she started playing.

The play of the Sunday afternoon games was made by DOUG COCKER, when he received the kick-off and ran 70 yds. down the field only to fall before he got to the goal line.

JERRY BEAVERS and BOBBIE CLARK seem to be making serious plans. Is it to be around Xmas?

We saw KAY PARRISH and LEM TITTSWORTH at the social club games.

LAWRENCE INGRAM, ex-Tech-san, was on the campus Sunday and Monday, en route to San Diego where he is now stationed.

Hats Off And Chins Up

We've got plenty to be thankful for! From a strictly student standpoint, we can say that again.

Whatever the trouble was which had the Raiders, Coach, student body, townspeople all in a stew has been ironed out, and the swell game we saw last week was the result.

This incident, though contrary to many theories and rumors you have heard and will hear, proves a lot to us.

It seems to us that this would be a good policy with which to handle almost any misunderstandings on the campus.

Yes, we're thankful that the Raiders and the coach showed us that they are the "Good Sports" athletes are supposed to be.

Perhaps, we may be more thankful, if we practice what they teach.

Apple-Polish Is Fruitless; Strictly Off The Cob!

By ROGER SOUTHWALL, Toreador Feature Writer

"Never park on a professor's desk!" warns a certain Tech professor. "It will be just the time the wife comes in for those car keys she forgot. Besides it's a pretty dumb form of apple-polishing!"

The professor defined apple-polishing as "working the teacher for a grade you really don't deserve."

Asked how teachers distinguish between genuine interest and apple-polishing, he said, "Well, one reacts to it instinctively. It's something in the tone of voice, the facial expression that helps to let us know whether it's sincere interest or just a game." One of the worst types, he says, are "students who telephone the instructor at his home to check on an assignment. How do you imagine it sounds to the wife when she hears a delicate feminine voice inquire, 'Is Professor — there?'"

Another type comes up after class and says, "I was so interested in what you said about so-and-so!" And the girl who confesses, "I spend more time on this course than any other!"

The intimidating type rushes up and asks breathily, "What are you gonna give me this semester?" "Well, I don't know. What do you think you'll get?" "I gotta get a B. You just gotta gimme a B."

It's almost a hopeless case, with some students, at least, the professor said. "I wonder," he added, "if they would continue apple-polishing if they knew how obvious it is?"

And then he sighed and said, "You know, I've never received a real apple, polished or otherwise, during my entire teaching career!"

BOB WILLIAMS was yelling "CHLOE!" all during the dance looking for NORMA NASH in a beautiful pair of evening sandals.

Letters To Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

It has been my displeasure to follow the recent feud between the "Loyal Techsan" and the Saddle Tramps. Last week's answer appeared to me to be a little on the childish side. Don't you agree?

As an outsider I thought I might give an outsider's opinion. In my alma mater, UCLA, the cheering section is definitely a large part of the "color" of a football game.

I have witnessed each of the home games of the Red Raiders and have also witnessed the sad spectacle of the Saddle Tramps. I dare say that even I have out-cheered many of them, and that we saw small voice that gives forth with song does not sound much like a cheering section.

The "well-behaved" Tramps might hold up, as an example, one of their members who, proudly wearing the "red", staggered up to a complete stranger and demanded that he show more spirit with a few odd words of profanity interspersed and then staggered back to his seat where he involuntarily himself in a passionate clinch with his partner for the last three quarters of the game.

The intimidating type rushes up and asks breathily, "What are you gonna give me this semester?" "Well, I don't know. What do you think you'll get?" "I gotta get a B. You just gotta gimme a B."

It's almost a hopeless case, with some students, at least, the professor said. "I wonder," he added, "if they would continue apple-polishing if they knew how obvious it is?"

And then he sighed and said, "You know, I've never received a real apple, polished or otherwise, during my entire teaching career!"

The Saddle Tramps have some real material. At least the idea is good. An Ex-Saddle Tramp's Wife.

Dear Ed: There comes a time in every man's life when he gets so fed up with a situation that he has to tell someone about it.

It appears to me that someone, or some group, in this college are guilty of gross negligence of their assigned duty in serving the State of Texas as well as those who live in Sneed Hall.

Here in Sneed we have six shower rooms and each room has four showers (and one big beautiful six-foot bathtub which no one uses.) This is a fine and adequate set-up when all the contraptions therein are in working order.

The mere fact that you are forced to dodge falling chunks of plaster while taking a shower and pick the pieces which you mis-dodge out of your hair is perhaps insignificant. However, for forty-seven-fifty per month, it seems to me that we are entitled to at least a few conveniences and luxuries in Sneed Hall.

To top the matter off, we, on second west, have been forced to showering (or plaster-dodging—if you prefer) in the dark for the past week—and there are seven such days in a week!

Now, for the past several weeks, someone has had the unchristian gall to send someone else around to inspect old 214 and see that we haven't kicked out the windows and don't have the floor littered knee deep in coke bottles, newspapers, and dirt.

Ed, I have tried to frame this picture in publishable language in hopes that you would give it a spot in our free and unrestricted press. If anyone reads this and would like to view the situation, come over to Sneed and buzz 214A and I will be glad to get my flashlight and personally conduct you through the premises—naturally if I can get the proper permission!

Disgustingly yours, Roy L. McClellan

Red Raiders Fly To Arizona Friday; Oklahoma Aggies Victims Of A Meet Third Border Conference Foe Smashing Raider Eleven 14-7

Border Loop May Be Scramble In Final Rounds

Tech's Red Raiders who last Saturday gave local fans a view of what they can do when the chips are down will fly to Tucson Arizona today to engage the U. of Arizona Wildcats in their third Border conference tilt.

This game has all the potentials of throwing the Border Conference into the type of a scramble that is typical of the neighboring South-west conference.

Arizona, defeated by Hardin-Simmons would put H.S.U. in a very tough position by a win over Tech while a Raider win would put Tech and Hardin-Simmons in a championship finale with perfect records.

The return-to-duty of Left Half-back Art Pollard has caused considerable jubilation to those in the Arizona camp who think he may be the spark needed to out-gun the Raiders.

Although he has been out of action for five games due to a pulled arm muscle, Pollard still remains one of the conference's high ground gainers and passers by virtue of his performance in three early season games. He was believed to be ready for action for last Saturday's New Mexico tilt but was held over to make sure of his complete recovery.

The Arizona offensive record has been good enough to keep them in 12th place in the nation and Border Conference leaders until Hardin-Simmons ousted them from that position last Saturday.

Tech has won five of the seven games with Arizona U. since 1932. Arizona has won from Arizona State College of Tempe, Texas College of Mines, Santa Clara, and

One Bowler That Likes To See The Pins Fall . . .

Ben Brown Has High Rating In Nation With 201 Average

By BILL SAYERS
Toreador Sports Writer

Ben Brown, freshman Arts and Science major at Tech, can hear a pin drop from 60 feet. As a matter of fact he has gotten into such a habit of hearing them drop that he is very unhappy about the whole thing if he hears less than ten fall at a time.

You guessed it; we are speaking of the manly art of kegling upon which subject Ben is a pretty reliable authority, boasting one of the outstanding records in the nation.

In twenty-seven games Brown has maintained an average of 201 which gives him the highest score in the Lubbock bowling league and South Plains area. His highest game for this season, which started Sept. 30, is 268 which also is the highest individual game score in the league.

Being a man who is hard to please Ben was not satisfied until he had rolled up a score of 662 for three consecutive games which puts him at the head of the league in this department also.

A check of bowling scores in surrounding towns on the South Plains has revealed that no bowler has come within several pins of equaling that record.

You don't have to delve into higher calculus to find that this record means that in 27 games Brown has unseated no less than 5427 pins. As an example, in a recent match against New Day, National singles champion in '42 and '43, Joe Wilman, the present champ compiled an average of 201, exactly what Brown has gleaned in 27 games.

Though he seldom mentions the fact, he is a freshman English major who calls Lubbock his home. He was born 22 years ago in Brownfield and is unmarried though willing to discuss any new angles on the subject.

He sweated out the recent breach of etiquette on the part of Hitler, Hirohito & Co. in the Navy where it is rumored he held off the entire Japanese fleet for three days with only the use of bowling balls.

Keys-College Club Tie Sunday; Kemas Drop Wranglers

Two more inter-club touch football games were played Sunday with the Kemas defeating the Wranglers and Silver Keys and College Club battled to a scoreless tie.

In a thrill packed game where long passes were the order of the day the Kemas Club came from behind to score in the final seconds of the fourth period to eke out a win over a fighting Wrangler team at Chapman Field.

Early in the first period a field goal off the toe of Chick Trout put the Wranglers in the lead 3-0 and the game progressed in a series of ground gaining plays by both teams with neither managing to score. On the last play of the game Lem Tittsworth gathered in a Kemas pass on the 10 and dashed over for the score. The kick for the extra point was wide.

Silver Keys' and the College Club battled to a scoreless tie in Tech Stadium at 3:30 Sunday in a game in which everything was used for a weapon but the water bucket. With line play sparking on both sides the teams fought up and down the field with neither able to push to pay dirt.

Both sides feel assured of a moral victory though the spectators claim there were no morals involved.

Swordsmen Invited To Enter Southwest Conference Meet

Texas Tech's fencing team has received an invitation to participate in a Southwest conference fencing tournament to be held at Baylor university November 22 and 23. Other teams that have been invited include: SMU, Texas, Texas A&M and Baylor.

Recently Tech's hopes for a winning team of swordsmen received

Cowboys Are Hot; Undefeated In Nine Starts This Season

A rivalry which dates back to 1926 will reach a climax on Nov. 30 when the Red Raiders of Texas Tech invade Eagle Stadium in Abilene to lay the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys in a game expected to decide the Border Conference championship.

The Cowboys currently leading the conference with five wins and no losses are going to be ready for this one. A win or a tie will give the Cowboys a clear claim to the title. The Raiders on the other hand, must defeat Arizona this week-end and the Cowboys the following week to have a clear claim to the title.

In 1942 the Raiders and the Cowboys played to a scoreless tie in Tech Stadium in the last meeting of the two teams. Hardin-Simmons did not field a team during the war years after 1942. In the series dating back to 1926, records show Tech won 6, Hardin-Simmons 3 and two ended in scoreless ties. The ties, incidentally, were the first and the last games in the series. The largest scores in the series were run up by Hardin-Simmons in 1928 and 1929 when the Cowboys won by 19-0 and 21-0 scores.

Coach Warren Woodson set about building a new team this year around a backfield of "Doc" Mobley who lead the nation in 1942 in total yards gained from scrimmage, George Trautman, a fullback, "Bullet" Cook, quarterback, and Al Johnson, a fine passing back, Virgil Turner, brother of "Bulldog" Turner of professional fame, and Hank Brown, an end converted into a fullback, gave the backfield added strength. Mobley is again currently leading the conference in total yards rushing and Johnson has not had a pass intercepted this season, although he has done most of the passing. The Cowboys set some sort of record when they went through the 1942 season without having a pass intercepted.

The Cowboy line features some linemen from Van Noy, Calif., that Coach Woodson picked up in service. An outstanding end, Bob McCasney, was injured earlier in the season but may be in shape to play against the Raiders.

Coach Woodson is determined to win this one as was proved by the fact that the Cowboys have scouted the Raiders no less than five times this season.

Following a quarter of play that failed to net any yardage through the Tech line, the Oklahoma boys took to the air completing nine out of twenty-five passes. The Red Raider defense, looking better than at any time this season slipped only once when the Aggies connected for their only counter late in the fourth quarter on a pass.

Early in the second half the Raiders, sparked by Lee Jackson, Roger Smith and Glen Lewis drove to the Aggie five where Ernest Hawkins whipped a short pass on the fourth down to Joe Smith who was standing on the goal line. Officials ruled that goal-line time that Smith stirred up as he caught the ball was not close enough and gave the ball to Oklahoma on downs. Nabors efforts to have the chain brought in for first down measurement were in vain.

Tuffy Nabors set up the closing Raider tally in the fourth quarter when he hauled one of Halfback Carey's passes in on the Oklahoma 20 and looped to the two-foot line. Jackson plunger over the next play with J.

Smith converting.

In the closing minutes of the game Brown covered a Tech fumble on the Oklahoma 45 and the Aldridge brothers, B. J. to Ben connected on a 25 yard pass with Ben gathering in the ball behind the Tech secondary to cross the goal line standing up.

a boost when Keith Wells joined the squad. Prior to his service with the Marines, Wells was captain of the Texas A&M fencing team. He was also a standout on the Aggie wrestling team.

George Beakley, coach of the interest accers, invites all students to attend practice sessions which are held in the Aggie pavillion each afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock.

Oklahoma A & M ran smack into the short side of a ball game Saturday afternoon before a stadium-packed crowd as the Red Raiders drew plenty of the old-time power to topple the Aggies 14-7.

Holding the Aggies to a net gain of 52 yards for the tilt the Red Raiders ramblbed through the visitors line to roll up 220 yards.

Tech drew first blood early in the opening stanza when Robnett, Lewis and Roger Smith collaborated on line plays to move the ball to the Oklahoma four yard line. After failing to gain through center one a single try Robnett tossed a snap pass to Joe Smith in the end zone for the score. Roger Smith's kick for the placement was good.
