It's The Little Things That Count Up...

Taxation without representation is still unfair. The residents of Women's Dormitory II were of this opinion when they paid their room and board this month. Instead of the $47.50, room and board was $47.55. The additional 5c had been added under "damages". It was curiosity that prompted each girl to inquire what she had damaged that just cost five cents.

The answer was that somebody had burned a new mattress while it was in the hall and no one would acknowledge doing it. None of the girls minded paying a nickel, it was just the principle involved. It was the small minority that knew anything about the incident.—B.J.B.

Editor's Note—We want to know why the mattress was in the hall. We also want to know if the dorms are not insured against damages. Is that not included in the rent? This sounds like getting the damage paid for the hard way—the hard way for the students, the business office and the dorm advisors, who must do this every time something happens similar to this in the future. The dorm got at least $20.00 off this accident. Was the damage that serious?

Artist Course 10:30 O'clocks...

Thirty minutes after performance is the length of time given the girls to return to their dorms after an artist course program. This is a sufficient, but not a comfortable amount of time.

Many students have available transportation, more do not, and in the winter it's a long, cold march or a risk of waiting until you are late for a bus or a cab. It's not so bad to walk from the High school to the campus in nice weather; but it's not advisable for winter weather.

There is something very pleasing about a cup of coffee or even a hamburger after an evening's entertainment. This added feature is not possible after an artist course for those who must walk home.

The dorm is open every night for the seniors until eleven except Artist Course nights. But seniors become underclassmen on these nights and everyone must rush madly home after what is supposed to be a relaxing evening of music. Everyone should have eleven o'clocks on performance nights, since Artist Course is usually over by a few minutes after ten. People have been late because of the shortness of time and it will happen again. Those who sign out for artist course and go other places might have an easier time.

Artist course is a combination of higher learning and entertainment. Why should there be less time given to this beneficial recreation than to weekend date-nights? Even labor unions give remuneration for over-time?—M.Y.

Ignorance Is This...

Monday night's crowd at the first Tech Artist Course performance would indicate that Techsians are interested in the finer arts, but it would also indicate that many do not know how to receive such artists.

Back in the home town at High school performances it may have been permissible to clap and applaud to hurry the curtain rise. However, famous artists are not influenced by such practices. They will appear when they are ready, and no amount of applause will rush them. The polite and acceptable thing to do is quietly sit and wait.

Tech audiences also should be reminded that obviously putting on hats and coats and leaving before the stage lights go down and the performers have left the stage is not done in appreciative circles. Even though you may not be interested in another encore, the person seated next to you may be.

The greater percentage of Tech's enrollment is from surrounding towns in West Texas where there is little opportunity to hear renowned artists. This is probably the reason that students do not know what constitutes audience etiquette. They're not too young to learn, though, and the performers will appreciate it as well as the rest of the audience.—L.L.B.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE—Nothing do we like better than Letters from Students. But there is a deadline on these, too. If you really get heated over a matter and want everyone to know about it on Friday, there is only one way to get it in the Toreador. That is to bring it by or mail it to the editor by Tuesday.

Dear Editor:

I am seldom one to complain, but there is a limit to what a person can endure. I am speaking in reference to the conduct of the Saddle Tramps at the football games.

I feel that the one time worthwhile organization now functions only as an organization to benefit its members. It is not fair for that one or any other organization to have reserved seats at football games when they do not pay any more for the seats than the rest of the student body; so why give them special privileges?

This is especially true when conditions are crowded as they are now. Such action on the part of Saddle Tramps does not make them a more popular organization, but hurts them considerably. I feel that I am speaking not only for myself, but I express the sentiments of the larger part of the student body. Can't something be done about this gross injustice?

A Loyal Techsian,

Dear Editor:

Does a girl's face or her figure make her a beauty? This is a tough question, I know, but it seemed to me that in the recent beauty election, the judges gave more attention to the girls' figures than to their faces. Or why did they ask some of the girls to remove their suit coats? This seems entirely unnecessary to me.

Certainly a girl's walk or manner of appearing before the judge should count, but if a girl has true beauty she should not be eliminated because she doesn't have as graceful a carriage as some of the others.

The election is over. Nothing can be done now, but next year it seems only fair that the judges should be told to judge on beauty and not sex-appeal.

I do not write this to hurt or offend any of the nominees. My apologies if I have done so.

TECH - SAND

Students around the campus were surprised to learn this week that BOB MARQUIS and DONNA RAMPY, Techsians, have been Mr. and Mrs. since September. Congratulations can now be officially extended to the newly-weds.

Along with the rest of the male population at Tech, "Sleepy" Harlan seems to be having considerable trouble getting dates these days. (If you spend any more time at Women's Dorm II, Sleepy, Mrs. Elkel is going to start charging you rent. Have you investigated the possibilities of a private BUZZ SYSTEM?)

EARLYNE REID and BUDDY WILLIAMS are celebrating their first anniversary today. They have been going together one year, which is quite a record on dear old Tech campus. Congratulations guys!

The Officers' Club at SPAAF looked like a Tech reunion last Friday night. Everyone including DAN YOUNG and CHUBBY COBB seemed to be having a gay time!

Several inquiries have been received as to whether PAT MARQUIS has been chewing the same piece of gum all semester. Question is, what does she do with it at night?

Campus wolves can scratch cute DODY STRINGER off their telephone lists. DODY and AUBREY FERQUON are going "steady" and she is sporting his pin!

The next time RUSSELL WYNN throws a party over the weekend we wish that he would send out a few more invitations. We heard that last weekend's festivities were really something!

JOHNNY SUE HAMILTON and BENOY GATTIS make frequent excursions to Tahoka together—(to visit relatives, that is!).

RICHARD COLLIER and BETTY SHOOKIE are taking life and each other seriously these days.

We're wondering where O. T. RYAN, JR. got the black convertible he's been showing off. To all who are interested, or don't know, MR. RYAN is no longer on the unavailable list.

ARLINE BARNER must be studying astronomy with J. W. HANCOCK since they are together almost every night—cloudy or not.

JEAN HAMMER and ROBERT LEE JOHNSON are a couple and inseparable pair on the campus.

ALICE SLATER spent a gay weekend in Houston. Did it have anything to do with the company, ALICE?

RITA MANER surprised everyone with her sudden marriage to CLIFTON RIEK.

WE are wondering if HOWARD SCHMIDT will be spending his time between two MARTHA'S now that MARTHA TERRY has returned her pin to HUGH MONROE.

DOROTHY HARDY has a ring on her third, left that says she is engaged to JACK CREEL and they will be married December 20.

PUNCHIE BEARDEN finally convinced LYNDALE BAUGH that marriage was a good institution, so they will take their vows on the 23rd of December.

KEITH KNIGHT goes around with that "who am I going with" feeling—Well, who is she KEITH, we'd like to know?

Who is the cute blond ALFRED SPENCE is dating occasionally in Dorm II?

THEDA BETH PORTER recently received a beautiful diamond from BILL COPE. When is the date, THEDA?

MARJORIE MOOREHEAD went to Austin this past weekend to see her BF. She is planning to make a return trip Thanksgiving, Lucky people!

The off again, on again couple, BILL PHILLIPS and ANN NEWNAM are going steady A-G-A-I-N.

Solicitation By Permission Only Is Council Rule

"Financial drives, tag sales, and solicitation of funds among students shall be made only on permission of the council," according to article 6, section 605, of the Student constitution.

Troy Davidson, Student Body president, asks that everyone wishing to make sales on the campus conform with the constitution by getting permission from the council at its bi-weekly Thursday meetings.

Popular Fiction Reading Room Is Library Plan

Library plans to provide a "pleasant" room, comfortably furnished for general recreational reading of current books, stated A. S. Gaylord, librarian. Such great interest has been shown in the present small shelf of this type books that the Library is giving priority to the collection, which is to include well-written novels, interesting biographies, and books on world affairs.

With 500 volumes as nucleus, sufficient shelves will be given over to this collection. Plans are being hastened to provide a separate room, Mr. Gaylord said, adding that any furnishings which might be donated for the project would be welcome.

Not only has the rate of circulation of books doubled last year's figures, he said, but the actual per student use of the Library is increasing beyond any previous year.

Tech Meets New Mexico Saturday In Second Border Tilt

Tech Picked Over N. Mexico Lobos; Raiders Rest Mon.

By BILL SAYERS
Toreador Sports Writer

The Lobos of New Mexico University will square off against the Red Raiders at Tech Stadium Saturday at 2:30 p. m. for the second border conference battle on the Tech schedule.

The Raiders have won seven out of their nine previous encounters with the Lobos and are a decided favorite to cop the honors in this one.

Coach Morgan called off the usual Monday skull practice and work-out this week due to inclement weather but resumed practice Tuesday and with no serious injuries the Raiders are expected to be in top physical condition for the game.

Tech will take the field with a decided weight advantage both in the line and the backfield. The Raider line averages 198 pounds and the backfield 180 which gives a team average of 192 pounds.

The New Mexico backfield is very light with a 166 pound average, the line weighs in at 196 pounds giving the team an average of 186 pounds.

The loss of Doc Rumley, first string halfback and star of last year's Sun Bowl game, is a definite setback to the Lobos who are expected to use Redy Camuney, a 160 pound lad in his place. Rumley is suffering from a chipped ankle bone and will be out of the lineup for the season.

New Mexico's starting lineup is expected to look something like this:

Guards, Welch 155 lbs., and Hughes, 182 lbs.; tackles: Hankins 245 lbs., and Shephard 202 lbs.; ends: Boteler 185 lbs., and Milton 205 lbs.; center: Dear 200 lbs.; halfbacks: Camuney, 160 lbs., and Hair 160 lbs.; Quarterback: Anderson, 150 lbs.; fullback: Krall, 197 lbs.

In their previous games Tech won in 1931, 1932, 1937, 1939, 1942, and 1944. The Lobos won by a 19-14 score in 1940 and last year's battle ended in a 6-6 tie.

Eight Cross Country Hopefuls Ready For UNM Cindermen

Tech's Cross Country team will share the spotlight with the Red Raiders when they meet a University of New Mexico cross country team here Saturday. This will be Tech's second cross-country event in history and Coach John has expressed confidence that his team, made up of dash men, quarter milers, and some who have never competed in track events will be in the money.

The race will start at the north gate of the stadium, follow a three mile course laid out on the Tech campus and will be timed so that the runners will enter the northwest corner of the stadium, make a half circle around the field and finish at the fifty yard line during the half time period of the Tech-New Mexico football game.

Case expects to enter an eight man team for the event, of which only the first five places will count in scoring. Winner of the meet will be determined by taking the total score of all members of the team.

The Tech team will consist of: Seth Murphy, Levelland, Navy veteran who has not competed in track before.

S. I. Mather, freshman from Canadian, all-around athlete and former T-5 in the Army.

Hewitt Allison, Senior from Odessa, Tech 440 letterman and member of the Border Conference relay champions.

Rufus Rush, Lubbock Junior, who ran the 220 and 440 in 1943 and former Army man.

Stevens Sarvis, dash man from Corpus Christi and Navy veteran.

John Jackson, Brownwood, Army veteran, hurdler and 440 man.

Boy Cook, Hereford, Junior and former dash man.

The eighth member of the team is undetermined as yet, but with several more promising runners on hand, Coach Case feels that any one of them would make a strong addition to the team.

UNM Keglers Will Meet Tech Team

A five-man team of keggers from the University of New Mexico will meet a quintet of Techsans Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in an unofficial matched bowling series at the Lubbock Bowling club in downtown Lubbock.

Master Sergeant LeRoy E. Behrens, instructor in the Texas Tech ROTC unit will act as coach and faculty representative. He reports that several students who are entered in the city bowling league and have high season averages are being contacted this week in preparation for the match.

There will be no admission charged for the games.

H-SU Cowboys Top Texas Grid Teams

Tech's final opponent of the year is still going great guns. The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys are still among the undefeated, untied ranks of the nation. Last week they turned back Arizona 19-8 to ward off another swing at their impressive record.

The Cowboys have rolled up 200 points to their opponents 28 in six games this season. The University of Texas rates second place in the state's grid teams with 6 wins, one loss with 244 points to their opponents 40. Texas Tech is in fifth place with five wins and two losses.

This week the Cowboys are heavy favorites to win over the West Texas State Buffaloes.

DOUBLE-T DOPE

SAM MALONE, Jr.
Toreador Sports Editor

Upon advice from a prominent Lubbock physician we learned that a change from Lubbock's 3,200 feet above sea level to Houston's zero should have worked in favor of the Red Raiders rather than the assumption of many fans that it worked against them. It seems there is more oxygen down there.

There goes our last fleeting hope for a way out of last Saturday's fracas—other than the fact that Rice had the very stuff to whip Tech's ears back—and did.

In near desperation Coach "Dellcate" Dell Morgan turned to Assistant Coach Berl Huffman and asked, "Berl, reckon you can get in there and stop that end play of their's?" Huffman crawled out of the hole he had dug in the Houston turf and declined the offer.

"While the Raiders did have a Field Day in reverse, those Rice Owls are the best balanced team I have seen in the past six years, Coach Morgan told the Downtown Quarterback club Monday night.

"The score of the game didn't indicate the kind of game that our boys played, Morgan continued.

So goes the story—as history. The game ball used certainly must have been Rice trained, too. Roger Smith, having a little trouble on an Owl punt and falling down on the four-yard line; Smith again kicking out-of-bounds, located the coffin corner only to have the ball bounce away from the sideline where the Owl safety man scooped it up and took-off, T. D-bound. Rice fumbled, at one time, when a halfback kicked the ball accidentally with his knee—that's right, the Owls recovered—sixteen yards down field.

Come to think of it, Rice simply had the kind of team Saturday that every coach in the country spends so many sleepless nights

Two Intramural Games Set For Sunday At 2p. m.

Seven Men's Clubs Enter Touch Football League

Pass-touch football division of the men's intramural sports get under way for the season with two social clubs meeting Sunday afternoon at Chapman field beginning at 2 o'clock.

Playing in a league composed of seven clubs Centaurs play Kemas in the opening tilt, followed by the Wranglers meeting Las Cams.

Plans for the intra-school competition call for a round robin schedule during the opening weeks with a Shaughnessy playoff of the top four teams scheduled to determine the league winners.

The league will run for eleven weeks and games will be played at Chapman field, in Lubbock until the Raiders complete their regular home schedule Nov. 16.

League rules call for eleven-man teams, ten yards for first downs and no special equipment may be used except tennis shoes.

Crowds Increase To See Raiders

The Texas Tech Red Raiders have played before over 100,000 spectators and indications are that crowds will approach double that amount before the season is over, an increase of 40 percent over last year.

Tech opened at home against West Texas State, drawing 10,000 trying to develop. They blocked, tackled, ran, and scored in the best prescribed manner. Where you find that kind of team (or teams—Rice had two) they are the clubs that will not be stopped.

ACC B Team Takes Tech B's 20-12 At Kermit Saturday

Ablene Christian College Wildcats whipped up a fury Saturday night—that is the B portion of the Abilene outfit—as the Tech B eleven dropped a 20-12 decision at Kermit, Texas.

Played as a feature of the Kermit high school stadium fund campaign, the game was witnessed by a capacity crowd of more than a thousand persons.

Coach Dell Morgan and Morley Jennings, athletic director are shopping around for another opponent for the B outfit later this season. Most schools that are using B teams already have their schedules filled.

G. C. "Mule" Dowell, formerly assistant athletic director for Texas Tech handled the coaching chores for the Reds Saturday.

spectators. At San Antonio against the Texas Aggies over 24,000 were on hand and in the Cotton bowl in Dallas over 27,000 saw Tech defeat SMU. The Tulsa university game in Tulsa drew 17,000, while back in Lubbock the Red Raiders appeared before 13,500 against Baylor and 10,000 against Denver U.

Tech is hopeful it will have its new stadium ready next fall, incorporating 16,000 seats. Plans call for enlargement of the stadium in 1948, if crowds next year warrant.

The time is rapidly approaching when the girls who have wanted bare legs to look like they are bare.

Texas Tech's Red Raiders, seeking their fourth consecutive South-west conference win against Rice last Saturday were virtually crushed under an avalanche of power and speed exhibited by the Owls.

Dazzling runs early in the game by Keeney, Walmsley, and Anderson set off a touchdown parade that stunned the Raiders and they were never able to recover. The best they could do was to slow the Owls down in the second and third quarters.

Tech's lone score came in the second quarter on a lateral pass play with Rice leading 21-0. Don Orr recovered Oather Pugh's fumble on the Owl 29. Roger Smith's pass to Bill Kelley was complete on the 20. Ray Hopkins, substituting for Hawkins at quarterback, hit Kelley again, this time for a first down on the Rice 14. Jim Conley hit the line, fumbled and recovered on the 12. Then, on the next play, Hopkins passed to Vernon Ray in the left flat. Ray appeared to be trapped but managed to lateral to Smith circling left end and Roger ran the remaining 10 yards without being touched. Smith's attempted conversion hit the crossbar and fell no good.

The fleet-footed Owls were 'red hot' from the beginning and just couldn't do anything wrong. They took over the ball after Tech had marched 48 yards with the opening kick-off to the Rice 30 on hard running plays by Smith, Lewis and Robnett. Earhart kicked out on the Rice 18. Don Anderson circled left end for 24 yards. Eikenberg lost five yards attempting to pass and on the next play Eikenberg flipped a lateral to Wamsley going to the right. With perfect down-field blocking, he went all the way.

'Froggie' Williams kicked the extra point, his first in four successful attempts for the Owls.

Tech received the kick-off, but could not gain. Earhart kicked to the Rice 31 where Huey Keeney gathered it in and with perfect blocking went all the way for

Women's Quarterback Club Will Meet Each Tuesday

The Women's Quarterback Club will meet every Tuesday at 8 P. M. in the Engineering building auditorium. All women are urged to attend, said Miss Sue Rainey, instructor in the Department of Physical Education.

Rice's second score. The score, although the second most decisive defeat in Tech history, was not a true indication of the strength of the two teams. Tech made nine first downs to 15 for Rice. Tech completed eight of 21 passes and the Owls seven out of 15. Rice outrushed the Raiders 272 yards to 111. Tech punted 11 times for a 36 yard average and Rice kicked only three times for a 32.3 yard average.

Bill Kelley's play at end for Tech was outstanding. Besides completing the two passes that set up Tech's touchdown, he slipped into the Rice backfield on several occasions to throw the Owls for losses. Ernest Hawkins also played good defensive ball stopping several Owl plays that appeared headed for touchdowns. Most of the offensive punch was provided by Smith who ran hard, did most of the passing, and got away some good kicks out-of-bounds.

The game, played before about 22,000 fans, was one of the cleanest fought on record. Tech drew only one off-side penalty for five yards and Rice was penalized five times for a total of 25 yards.
