PEACE CORPS CHIEF — Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, told Tech students that the Corps has "done what it said it was going to do." He emphasized the success and acceptance of the Corps in a speech before a capacity crowd in Municipal Auditorium Thursday.

Shriver Relates Corps Triumphs

By MIKE READ
Toreador Feature Editor

Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and head of the Johnson administration's "War on Poverty," told almost 3,500 people Thursday that the Peace Corps had proven itself by earning respect for "Yankees" in foreign countries.

"The Peace Corps has done what it said it was going to do," Shriver said. Young people have been sent abroad, where they live just like the people of a country with no special favors.

Shriver emphasized that Peace Corps volunteers lead much the same lives as people of the country they are in, eat the same food, live under the same laws and speak the same language.

ACCOMPANED ON HIS VISIT to the Tech campus by Congressman George Mahon, the Peace Corps director arrived on campus by motorcade about 9:40 a.m. He went directly to the office of Dr. William M. Pearce, vice president for academic affairs.

Vice President Pearce, in the absence of Tech President R. C. Goodwin, officially welcomed Shriver to the campus.

Dr. Pearce said later, "Texas Tech has been fortunate in having this distinguished speaker to address the students and faculty of the institution. We are grateful to Mr. Shriver and to Congressman Mahon for taking time from their busy schedules to be with us."

THE MOTORCADE NEXT PROCEEDED to the Municipal Auditorium for the convocation. The auditorium was filled to overflowing as Rep. Mahon introduced the Peace Corps head as "the man who has had the greatest impact on the young people of our country of any living American."

Shriver spoke on the Peace Corps, saying that the organization is not dependent upon partisan politics, nor does it allow any ethnic, cultural or religious discrimination in its selection.

He predicted that the current 8,500 volunteers overseas and abroad in Peace Corps projects would become 10,000 by September.

He said that volunteers have been well-liked and successful. Shriver told the convocation, "The Peace Corps has wiped out the slogan 'Yankee Go Home' wherever they have worked." He said that Peace Corps members have consistently done the jobs the experts failed to do.

THE PEACE CORPS HAS BEEN remarkably successful, according to its director. He pointed out that no volunteers have ever been asked by the government of any country to leave that country because of incompetence or misconduct.

Shriver called attention to the growing number of countries copying the Peace Corps idea. Many of these countries, he said, are forming only a domestic corps, but yet are helping in the work started by the U. S. group.

Questioned after the convocation about his possibility of being the Democratic vice presidential nominee in the upcoming election, Shriver said, "I am not a candidate." Pressed further, he said that he would perhaps have to reconsider his statement if he were asked to be the vice presidential nominee, but that he was not worrying about such a possibility.

SPEAKING BEFORE A FILLED Koko Palace at noon, Shriver compared the Peace Corps and the President's "War on Poverty" program.

He said that both programs are voluntary, require private initiative, are inexpensive for the services performed, are effective anti-communist programs, are patriotic and are not dependent upon partisan political support.

He said that the "War on Poverty" is not a political gimmick, not a handout program, not a quick and easy solution to every problem and not headed by a "poverty czar" (Shriver heads the program).

Congressman Mahon summed up Shriver's activities in both fields as "building a better image for America both here and abroad."

Royal Furgeson, president of the Student Council, said that approximately 3,400 people attended the convocation. He added that another 800 were present for the noon luncheon.

Campaign Closes In Voting Today

By PATRICIA WATKINS
Toreador Staff Writer

Students go to the polls today to name Tech's Student Council executive officers and cheerleaders for 1964-1965.

Candidates are vying for the Student Council positions of president, vice-president, secretary and business manager.

Presidential candidates are Ronnie Botkin and Bill Honey. Secretarial candidates are Holly Hunt and Nancy Shoemaker. Roland Anderson and Garland Weeks are running for business manager.

Students running for cheerleader positions are Sandra Cox, Anita Edmiston, Jan Keen, Camella Moore, Betty Newby, Kathy Osthoff, Karen Schroeder, Sondra Stargel, Mike Bohn, J. "Jim" Crawford, Cril Payne, Ronnie Siler and "Jick" Walker.

CANDIDATES ARE WINDING up campaigns which included visits to men's and women's dorms and a rally Thursday night.

Presidential candidates spoke five minutes each in the dorms Tuesday and Wednesday nights. They presented their platforms and answered questions.

At the Thursday night rally, Student Council candidates presented speeches. Student Council representatives were introduced to the student body.

Cheerleader candidates were divided into two groups and presented five minute yells during the rally.

Extensive campaigning has served to give students an opportunity to hear Student Council candidate platforms and to see cheerleader candidates in action. The campaigns have also been an attempt to encourage student participation in the election.

Pat Hamilton, secretary of the Student Council, said, "This is an extremely important election determining Student Council action and influencing athletic participation next year. More than 4,000 students voted in this election last year. It is very important that every student vote in the election today."

POLLING BOOTHS WILL be located in the Ad Bldg., the Tech Union, Home Economics, East Engineering and C&O bldgs.

IBM balloting will be used for the third time in today's election. On the ballot the horizontal rows of letters represents the office. The bracketed numbers arranged vertically beneath the letters represent the candidates running for the office.

Common errors in voting in the last election were marking two candidates for one office, marking candidate 01 as 1 or 02 as 2, marking too lightly and not filling in entirely the brackets surrounding the numbers.

Today's ballot order will be:

President	Column A
Vice President	Column B
Secretary	Column C
Business Manager	Column D
Boy Cheerleaders (3)	Column EFG
Girl Cheerleaders (3)	Column HIJ

Run-offs will take place next Wednesday. Only candidates competing for cheerleader will be involved in the run-offs.

Botkin, Honey Answer Queries

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The two candidates for Student Council president, Ronnie Botkin and Bill Honey, were interviewed separately by THE TOREADOR Wednesday concerning various issues in their platforms.)

By PAMELA BEST
Toreador Copy Editor

Question: How do you propose to handle the name change issue?

Botkin: I feel that the Student Council should continue to lead the opposition that has been expressed by the majority of Tech students against the name that has been proposed by the Board of Directors. I would hope that by the end of this semester, the name change committee will have documented facts as to the feelings of Tech students. I would like to make this information available to members of the state legislature. Also, I would like to talk to a large number of ex-students concerning the name change. I feel that the exes who are in sympathy with us can be the most helpful.

Honey: The Student Council should furnish strong, responsible leadership in the name change issue. As Student Council president, I would advocate the organizing of a student letter-writing campaign and a lobby in the state legislature to oppose the name proposed by the Board of Directors if such action proves to be necessary. I would emphasize, however, that any action on the part of the student body would have to be of a responsible and constructive nature.

Question: What is your stand on the fountain?

Botkin: I am for the fountain. I feel that many students have been critical of the fountain project because it was presented the same time as the name change. Certainly I do feel that there are many things such as books for the library that are needed; however, no organization as yet has undertaken to raise the money to purchase such items.

Honey: I feel that the fountain project is a good idea and it could be beneficial to the school. However, I feel that the circumstances under which the initiation of the fountain project was announced were most unfortunate.

Question: Are you in favor of the consolidation of the food service?

Botkin: As I understand it, the purpose of the consolidation of food service is to provide the dorms with a better quality of food and at the same time cut food costs. Certainly I feel that if the quality of food is improved, it is very worthwhile. We will have to wait and see, however, if the quality is improved.

Honey: Any effort, such as the centralization of food facilities, which offers possible improvement in service to dorm residents certainly has my approval.

Question: What is your opinion of co-ed dorms?

Botkin: I have been very impressed with the atmosphere that seems to prevail in West Hall. The students that have participated in this experiment feel that co-ed living should be extended to all the dorms. I do hope that the experiment begun in West Hall will be continued and studied very carefully.

Honey: In my campaigning, I have encountered much interest and favorable comment on the co-ed dorm idea. The Student Council could look into this area and see if more co-ed dorms on campus would be feasible.

Question: What is your position on the proposed Faculty Senate?

Botkin: The Faculty Senate will provide the faculty with a medium through which they may express their ideas on academic matters. I would hope that through the Faculty Senate our faculty will be able to gain the due respect that hasn't been given them from certain areas. I would like to see the Student Council and the Faculty Senate working together on many academic matters that affect both the students and faculty.

Honey: I'm in favor of the Faculty Senate as it would improve faculty morale and give our faculty stronger voice in our institution.

Sorority Plans 'Wedding'

A mock wedding featuring different kinds of wedding music will be presented by Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music sorority, Sunday, April 19, in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

This is a project of the sorority to present the different kinds of music which can be played at weddings. There will be various kinds of wedding marches, for example ... trumpets instead of organs.

The mock wedding will go through the same procedures as a real one. There will be a reception following the wedding in the Parish House. Everyone is invited to attend.

Organ selections will be presented by Kara Anderson, Shallowater; Lillian Pearce, El Paso; Vicki Pharr, Lubbock; and Tommie Allen of Dimmitt.

Vocal soloists will be Barbara Shipp, Shallowater; Sue Suttle, Shawnee Mission, Kansas; Royce Harris, Lubbock; and Janis Carthel, Lockney.

The string music for the reception will be furnished by Sallie Manicapelli, Lubbock; Anita Schroeder, Odessa; Michelle Schroeder, Lubbock; Gertrude Wolf, Odessa; Betty Walword, Amarillo; and Karen Parks of Midland.

The bride will be Kaye McGee of Lubbock. Bridesmaids will include Claudia Little of Dallas and Judy Sell of Lubbock.

Tommie Allen, local president, will present the narration accompanying the music. Mu Phi Epsilon will be assisted by Phi Mu Alpha, music fraternity.

Coeds Present Views On Secretary Post

By HOLLY HUNT

An active secretary is a vital figure in the strength and efficiency of the student government because she handles the mechanical organization in running your Student Council Office smoothly, and the campus communication among the Student Body, Faculty and Student Council. These, with heading the Elections Committee and taking minutes, are the primary responsibilities and are the areas of power of the secretary.

TO IMPROVE Council efficiency I propose that the secretary:

- Distribute agendas of coming council meetings to representatives a few days prior to meetings. Having the agenda before meeting, members may familiarize themselves with the issues and look for student body feeling on matters before voting.

- Maintain a running calendar, posted in the Student Council Office of elections and events set by the council committees from the time set. In this way the secretary would act as an executive communications center for the twenty-six council committees and facilitate organizations and individuals in obtaining information from the council much ahead of event of election.

IN STRENGTHENING the council by improving communications with the Student Body, I propose that the secretary:

- Post in the central academic building of each school a list of representatives from that school with their phone numbers to encourage your Student Body to contact representatives concerning any opinion you may have.

representatives concerning any opinion you may have.

- Run-off extra copies of the minutes and post them with the representative lists in the academic buildings. Also copies will be made available to any interested persons.

- Strive to increase campus understanding and ease of I.B.M. voting through more publicity of the system.

- Aid freshman orientation by sending letters during the summer from the executive officers to entering freshmen acquainting them with an active Student Council.

IMPROVING communications with the faculty is, I believe, of major importance and can be of great value to the growth of academic standards and standing of our University. To aid in the communication, I propose that the secretary begin a correspondence with faculty members, inviting the faculty to submit any ideas to the council thus broadening the council's view of Tech.

THERE ARE NUMEROUS long range plans and issues in which I am interested in improving. But under the charge and office of secretary the above are some of the real, the tangible and the specific ways in which as secretary I would like to serve you by strengthening your council in 1964-65.

MY QUALIFICATIONS for serving as secretary of the Student Council include serving on the Freshman Council, on the A.W.S. Council and on the Student Council.

While a member of the Student Council, I served on the Teacher Evaluation Committee, the Allocations Committee and on the Committee on Student Organizations.

I also participated in the Honors Program. My sorority offices include pledge class president, activities chairman, rush chairman 1963-1964 and rush chairman 1964-1965.

By NANCY SHOEMAKER

There are certain things that I believe in for the future of Texas Tech, and it is for these beliefs that I am running for secretary of the student body.

The duties of secretary primarily concern communications and elections. I have several suggestions for improvements in both of these areas.

I suggest that the names of student council representatives be posted on a bulletin board in every academic building and dorm on campus to be sure that all students have the opportunity to know who their representative is.

The minutes of the last meeting would also be included, as well as a place to write suggestions. The bulletin board would be changed once a week. I also propose that minutes of each meeting should be sent to every organization on campus.

I also suggest that communication with freshmen through Freshman Orientation should be improved. Academic advisement and registration should be handled in the summer prior to the fall semester for the entering freshmen. I.B.M. voting should be continued but made clearer. On the day of the elections, the TOREADOR should publish I.B.M. voting instructions as well as the names and numbers of the candidates.

I think that freshmen interested in running for Freshman Council should undergo an orientation process prior to filing for candidacy.

My qualifications for the office of secretary of the student body include my having served as secretary of the freshman class, as a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, on the freshman council, as a president's hostess, as secretary of Junior Council, as secretary and assistant chairman of the Student Union Ideas and Issues Committee, on the Tech Union Public Relations Council, as a member of the Student Council in 1963 and 1964.

While on the Student Council, I served as a member of the Elections Committee and the Academic Recruiting Committee and will serve next year as Chairman of Freshman Orientation. I am also a member of Sigma Tau Delta, the English Honorary.

I feel that Tech is moving ahead of the other schools in Texas with increasing speed. It is up to the student council as representatives of the student body to assist Tech in the progress she deserves.

Ted Kennedy Asks Civil Rights OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., invoked the memory of President John F. Kennedy on Thursday in an emotional appeal to the Senate for passage of the civil rights bill.

In an off-the-floor development in the long struggle over the House-passed measure, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican leader from Illinois, failed to unite Republican senators behind his proposals to alter the bill's fair-employment section.

Kennedy was the focus of attention on the Senate floor.

Making his first speech since he entered the Senate in January 1963, the youngest brother of the slain president spoke in a voice that sometimes broke as he faltered and struggled to control his emotions.

Reorganized System Improves Education

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A high California educational official told Gov. John Connally and his "Committee of 25" Wednesday a 1960 revision of his state's higher education structure "has saved us from extravagances and has improved education."

Dr. Donald McLaughlin, chairman of the board of regents of the seven-school University of California system, said the reorganization was recommended by a committee similar to the Texas group, which must present Connally suggestions by Sept. 1 to improve higher education in the state.

Connally remained with the committee in closed session after McLaughlin's talk.

Tuesday, a subcommittee headed by Dallas industrialist Gifford Johnson proposed to the full committee that it recommend reorganization of Texas' system of public colleges, universities and junior colleges along lines similar to those of California.

On several occasions, in open session, committee members and staff have spoken with admiration of California's colleges and universities.

"California has set a standard of excellence that I must say I, at least, envy," said Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson, who introduced McLaughlin.

McLaughlin said California's universities are headed by one board of regents, as are the senior colleges. Only the top 12½ per cent of high school graduates may enroll as freshmen in the universities. The freshman classes in the senior colleges are limited to students who graduated in the top third of their high school classes. The state board of education governs the junior colleges, he said, which are open to all high school graduates.

A coordinating council was set up by the California legislature in 1960, McLaughlin said. The Texas committee has talked seriously of setting up some sort of coordinating agency, although Dr. Arleigh Templeton, committee executive director, said it would be different from California's.

The council "is not a superboard in that it doesn't establish policy," McLaughlin said. "It's a little bit like the Supreme Court—it decides when you are in line and when you're not in line."

No new schools can be set up without the council's approval, and it reviews institutions budgets, with recommendations to the legislature and the governor, McLaughlin said. Budget reviews, however, are only in general terms, he added.

Before 1960, McLaughlin said, "the situation was becoming rather chaotic." He said the main problem was state college ambitions.

The legislature appointed a committee to make recommendations, which were adopted in 1960, with only a few changes, as the state's master plan for higher education from 1960 to 1975, McLaughlin said.

The restriction of university and senior college freshman classes to top students has been in effect for some time and seems acceptable to the legislature and the public, he said.

California has been generous to higher education, McLaughlin said.

"We're going to put some very severe strains on our tax system," he said, but education costs are under study. "It's heartening to see the way the university is supported."

He said there is no tuition at California public institutions of higher learning. A decision to charge tuition would have to come from the regents, but "a very articulate minority" in the legislature is pressing for tuition, he said.

"If a state university has tuition, it must be accompanied by a very generous system of scholarships if it is not to confine itself to the well-to-do," he said.

Tech Election Time

"Too pooped to politic."

This, undoubtedly, is the feeling of many of Tech's student office candidates today after last night's spirited rally. Plus a week of campaigning.

However, today is election day at Tech and the politicking must go on. And, let's hope, so will the voting.

Don't forget or neglect to vote in today's all-school elections. After all, you'll be choosing YOUR leaders.

18 Vie

There'll be 18 names on today's ballots and from this list 1964-65 Student Council executive officers and cheerleaders will be chosen.

There are seven candidates vying in the Council race and 11 in cheerleading competition.

In the past, throughout the country, there have been numerous elections decided by a one-vote margin. So, remember to vote today. Your ballot might be the winning number for your candidate.

This year's slate of candidates is outstanding. Especially in the Council competition, office contenders have shown adept abilities this year in working for the Council and Texas Tech. So regardless of the outcome of today's race, Tech should get some top student leaders.

This year's Council helped bring the four-year name-change controversy to a climax and fought for the student voice to be heard on the issue. Royal Furgeson, Council president, led the struggle which resulted in a name-change public hearing.

The Council also:

- Set up IBM voting.
- Had the first joint Council-Faculty Advisory Committee meeting.
- Saw administrators approve its request for a day break between Dead Week and finals. The break will go into effect next fall.
- Placed new emphasis on voluntary teacher evaluation.
- Is working on new words to revise Tech's school song.
- Led in organizing the Religious Interest Council.
- Brought Sargent Shriver to Tech and has high hopes of having Gordon Cooper on campus later this semester.
- Established a new Communications Committee to serve as a channel between students and Council members.
- Initiated dorm visits where Council members went to dorms and discussed school happenings with Techsians.
- Worked out new freshmen orientation policies and set up a committee to study the possibility of summer freshmen orientation.
- Strived to increase Tech's good relations with other Southwest Conference schools. The Council's efforts, undoubtedly, was one of the primary factors in Tech winning the SWC Sportsmanship Trophy this year.
- Swung its support behind the Saddle Tramps' entrance marker campaign.

These are some of the major accomplishments of the Council. There are many more—day-to-day contact with students, long hours of ballot counting, tiring committee meetings . . .

The list could go on. But to summarize, the Council has worked hard and accomplished much for YOU as a student at Texas Tech.

Also, with Smiley Irvin at the helm, Tech's cheerleaders did a highly creditable job this year.

So today when you go to the polls, remember the fine accomplishments of this year's student leaders and elect candidates who will do as fine a job for Texas Tech.

Collegians 'OK' Classes

AMPERST, Mass. (I.P.) — Most undergraduates would be unwilling to attend classes on a year-round basis according to the recent poll conducted on the campus of the University of Massachusetts by the Student Senate Academic Affairs Committee. Believed to be one of the largest samplings ever taken here, some 1600 students returned the questionnaires.

According to the committee chairman, 1143 students said they would be unwilling to attend classes year-round with 334 stating they would attend. When asked if they favored the principle of year-round operation the student body was much more closely divided; 943 students said they opposed year-round operation in principle, while 743 thought the proposed academic schedule was acceptable.

On the question of a reading period before finals, the student body was overwhelmingly in favor of the idea. Of the three choices given the student body, a two day, three to four day, or four to five day reading period, the vast majority of students favored a three to four day period. As proposed by the Academic Affairs Committee, the reading period would be a review period and not one in which additional assigned work would be given.

Yep, 'Higher Education'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This article appeared in Thursday morning's Avalanche Journal.)

It is no news to parents with a son or daughter in college, or planning to go to college, that the cost of education is moving upward at a rapid rate. Some have referred to this cost spiral as "knowledge inflation."

Whatever it may be called, parents think they know what is meant by "higher education." And they are not thinking of it only in an academic sense, either.

For President

Candidates Outline Platforms

By RONNIE BOTKIN

Texas Tech can be justly proud of its outstanding physical growth in the last few years; however a lag can be noticed in academic development in certain areas that mar the record of over-all achievement. In many areas there is a decided lack of intellectual opportunity provided outside the classroom.

IT IS MY BELIEF that a major goal of the Student Council in future years should be alleviating the conditions causing this deficiency. One means is the encouragement of students' critical analysis of ideas and opinions concerning current issues.

By Student Council sponsorship of several outstanding speakers brought to the campus, we as students would have an excellent educational opportunity in learning to evaluate for ourselves the ideas and opinions presented.

THERE ARE MANY other areas related to academic development which the Student Council should be striving to improve. The freshman orientation program that we are now using is very inadequate.

Our entering freshmen do not have adequate opportunity to receive academic advisement during the week of registration each fall. Within a three day period the demand for academic advisement from a very large number of upperclassmen and freshmen has caused such an overload on available faculty counselors that many have been turned away with either very little counseling or none at all.

I WOULD LIKE TO continue the investigation of freshman orientation that has been started by this year's council. I feel that a move has been made in the right direction and it definitely needs to be continued.

To facilitate Student Council emphasis on academic development I would like to revise the present Academic Committee of the Council placing Teacher Evaluation, Academic Recruiting, and an academic committee from each school under the chairman of the Academic Committee.

THE REPRESENTATION of the individual committees would consist of one council member and four or five students at large from that school. They would advise the Student Council on existing problems in each school and suggest possible solutions to these problems. In this way the Council could contribute more significantly to the academic growth of Texas Tech.

By BILL HONEY

A candidate running for elective office is often tempted to put forth programs with "voter appeal", and to ignore more important yet less glamorous issues.

But what are the important issues in this year's presidential campaign? Student comments such as, "Who cares about the Student Council, it's too weak to help us get the things we really want!" or "The Student Council isn't representing my interests!" are indicative of what the most important issues are.

Most Tech students seem to have little idea of the function of the Student Council, and it often seems that the Student Council does not know what its constituents really want.

This situation exists because of the rapid growth of our school and complications arising from this growth.

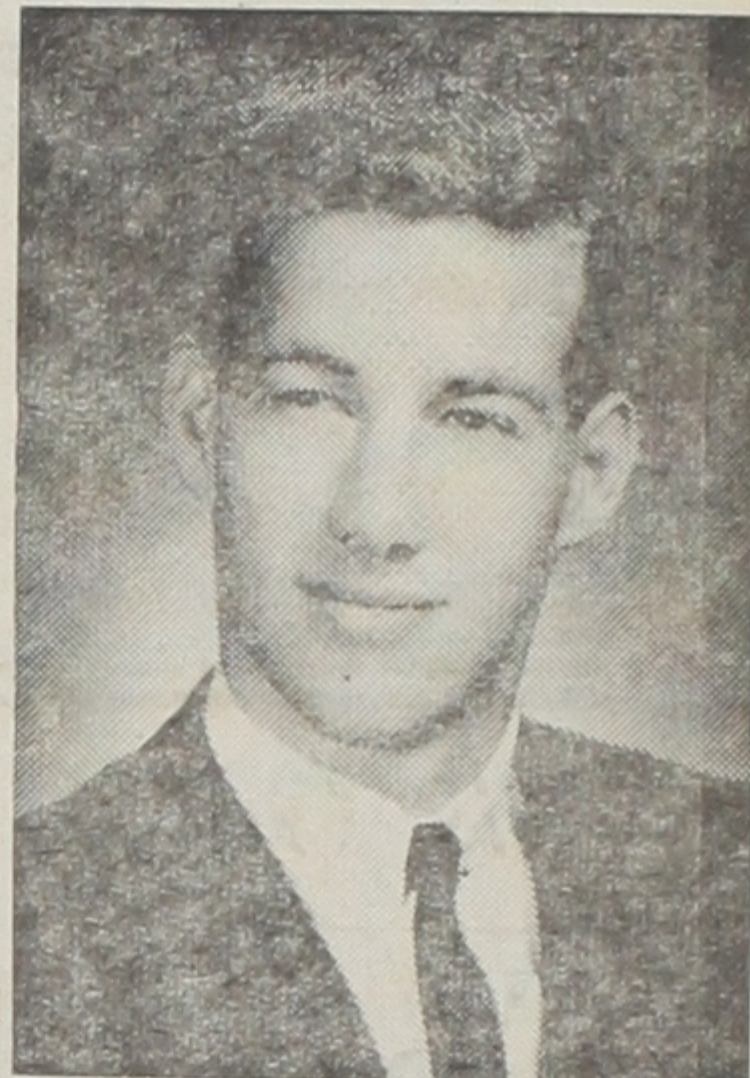

As a result, the Student Council's means of communication and representation are somewhat inadequate and in need of improvement. With improvement in these two areas will come renewed student interest and a stronger Student Association. And, certainly, a stronger Student Council will be essential to provide effective leadership in the name change and other important issues.

As Student Council President, I would strive to improve communications through the posting of Student Council minutes in dorms and on campus, through executive officer visitations of the dorms at least twice a semester, through "Town House" meetings for off-campus students on the same basis (the dorm and "Town House" meetings would be held for the purpose of determining student opinion and discussing activities of the Student Council), and through a president's column in THE TOREADOR on a regular basis.

Improvement in representation under my administration would be through the posting of representatives' names and telephone numbers in dorms and in prominent places so that students will be able to contact representatives easily, through articles and pictures in the TOREADOR to familiarize the student body with its representatives, and through the use of students not on the Council on Student Council Committees.

In addition, I would try to have ballot boxes placed in the dorms during the lunch hour on a trial basis to make voting more convenient.

Reevaluation of the present system of electing representatives is also badly needed, for the system provides unequal representation for students living in different areas.

For example, dorm "A" may have six representatives while dorm "B" has only one. The same inequality could apply to those living off campus.

And finally, I would seek to impress upon your representatives the fact that their primary function is to represent your interests, not their own personal opinions. If these improvements are made, then the Student Council will be better able to represent the interests of a growing student body.

The remainder of my platform would concern the following areas:

- Strong, responsible leadership from the Student Council in the name change issue. I would favor a student lobby and a student letter writing campaign as method of influencing the state legislature if such action proves to be necessary.

- The strengthening of the academic and athletic recruiting programs through greater student and organization participation.

- Establishment of a committee on the Student Council to evaluate present Council functions and to seek new ideas from other Student Councils across the nation.

- Continuation of efforts to solve traffic and pedestrian hazards on and around the campus.

- A foreign students' committee to help foreign students in registration and in adjusting to our environment.

- Greater Student Council-Student Union co-operation in areas where mutual efforts are possible.

- Up-dating and revision of the Student Council Constitution and By-Laws.

- Improvement in freshman orientation through a summer program to introduce new students to college life and to our school traditions.

- The introduction of a faculty-student council in each of the academic schools to improve relationships between faculty and students and to work out problems in the respective schools. A council of a similar nature has already been set up in the school of agriculture with considerable success.

- Cooperation with the Religious Interest Council in obtaining non-sectarian university chapel if such action should prove feasible. This chapel could provide a convenient place of meditation for students of all faiths and creeds.

I BELIEVE A MORE effective Teacher Evaluation program can and should be developed. Possibly, if the faculty does obtain permission from the Board of Directors to form a Faculty Senate, the Student Council can set up a joint committee with the Senate concerning Teacher Evaluation and other academic matters of mutual interest. Also, I feel that the Academic Recruiting program needs more emphasis through a concentrated effort aimed at bringing top high school students to our campus.

Student Council cannot be concerned only with work in academic areas. Communication between council representatives and students continues to demand improvement.

A WEEKLY COLUMN in THE TOREADOR from Student Council could better inform the students as to the issues scheduled to be discussed in the next meeting. This would provide opportunity for the students to discuss the issues with their representatives and actively participate in the decision making through their representatives.

By knowing in advance the issues to be discussed, interested students could be sure to attend Council meetings.

IF I AM ELECTED to serve as next year's Student Council President, I will insist that the student body be provided with all information available to the Student Council in order that students will not continue to be "spoon-fed", but will be allowed to participate in all actions of the Council.

There are internal mechanics within the Council that I would like to see revised or changed. The committee system shows need of realignment and shifted emphasis in certain areas. The Constitution and By-laws should also be studied and certain portions revised.

I WOULD LIKE TO set up a committee to study our present registration system. This is an area about which many students have been concerned for some time, but little effort has been made to reach effective conclusions.

Of course the name change will again come to the surface as the present proposal goes to the legislature. I feel that the Student Council should again spearhead responsible opposition to the name that has been selected by the Board of Directors.

WE, AS STUDENTS, can and should express in a proper manner our opposition to the proposed name. Let me emphasize, however, that if we should lose our battle in the legislature with the Board of Directors, we must do nothing to further hurt the future of our school. We should all strive to make this the best possible institution of higher learning regardless of name.

I feel that these areas of academic development and improvement, communication on the campus, registration, name change and other concerns should have continued emphasis.

Of course, these are only a few of the many areas in which I would like to work if I were elected your Student Council President.

Students Attend Congress

Eight Tech students are in Norman, Oklahoma attending the Southwest Journalism Congress. The meeting will continue until Saturday.

Students attending are: Johnnie Lu Raborn, Carolene English, Carrie Chaney, Liz Lyne, Bronson Havard, Cecil Green, Mike Wall and Cal Moore.

Also attending the meeting are W. E. Garets, head of the journalism dept.; Ralph Sellmeyer, assistant professor of journalism; and Phil Orman, director of student publications.

The meeting is an annual gathering of newspaper editors, staff members and sponsors of all major Southwestern colleges.

Brazil Forces Launch Drive

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian armed forces launched a drive Thursday apparently aimed at sweeping extreme leftists from positions of influence they enjoyed under Joao Goulart's administration.

Troops searched the University of Brasilia within a few hours after military and congressional leaders agreed in Rio de Janeiro on a law to purge Communists and fellow travelers from Brazil's Congress, government and armed forces.

Some Congressmen vanished. One was known to be under arrest. There were unconfirmed reports that several students and teachers were detained by the soldiers who, reportedly hunting weapons, searched the university.

Tech Athletes Face Full Sports Slate

Everything from golf to football will be in the air this weekend as the Red Raiders engage in golf, track, tennis and football competition.

GOLFERS IN HOME DEBUT

Tech golf coach Jay McClure has decided to go with senior Richard Yates, 1962 state amateur champ and sophomore Steve LeCrone in the first two slots against Rice today.

Coach McClure said that he isn't attempting to build up suspense when he says his lineup may not jell until tee-off time. He simply hasn't decided beyond the first two linksmen and wants to be sure he has the strongest alignment possible.

The number 3 and 4 positions will be chosen from senior Housty Brewer, sophomore Joe Huber, junior Rick Rogers, sophomore Jerry Hrniciar, junior Mike Morrhead and sophomore Tom Orndoff.

The golfers' recent games in Waco and Austin have placed them in second place with a 7-5 record after two matches. They defeated Baylor 4-2 and tied Texas 3-3—both games won under on-the-road competition strains.

Tee-off time is slated for 12:30 p.m.

TRACK TEAM COMPETES

Coach Don Sparks takes the Raider track team to Norman, Oklahoma for competition in a triangular meet with Oklahoma University and Kansas State Saturday.

Coach Sparks said that he felt his men were doing "real well" this season although they haven't reached their potential yet. He also said that his team had been hurt by injuries—this hurts a small team. Noel Carter, the top quarter-miler in the Southwest Conference is out again this week.

"We stand a good chance of winning both hurdle events with Ronnie Biffle, and Richard Vogan should give the sprinters some good competition," Sparks predicted. "Our two relay teams, the mile and two mile relays, and Scott Wood entered in the 880 yard run also stand a good chance of winning a high place in the meet," he added.

TENNIS TEAM MEETS AGGIES

The Raider tennis team makes a belated 1964 debut in SWC tennis in meeting the Texas Aggies at College Station today and Rice in Houston Saturday.

In all-season play the Raiders have beaten Northern Illinois 6-0 and New Mexico 4-2 and lost to Trinity 6-0.

FOOTBALL GAME ENDS CLINIC

Concluding the high school coaching clinic Saturday will be a semi-final spring football game in Jones Stadium at 2 p.m.

Coach J T King said that he felt the Raiders were definitely a stronger team this year.

"Actually I believe the team is much further along this year than it has been at this time the past two years," he said. "Our young linemen have shown the most progress. If our young backs can do the same we will have more depth for substitution this year," King added.

Longhorns Take Nod For 1964

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the time of the year for Coach Darrell Royal of Texas to express concern over his team's chances of contending for the championship.

He has found spring training unsatisfactory, there were too many players out of action and missing the drills, he lost too many good men the preceding season, et cetera.

The record indicates his fears have almost always proven groundless. In seven years as coach at Texas, his football teams have won 59 games, lost 14 and tied 3.

Texas has won two Southwest Conference championships, tied for two, tied for second, finished second and fourth in Royal's regime.

Royal has had his team in a bowl game six times. His 1963 team was undefeated, untied, champion of the Cotton Bowl and champion of the nation.

That record, however, is bound to be disheartening. How come Texas wasn't in seven bowls?

Anyway, as Texas looks toward next fall, Royal has given out the mournful report that Texas must have reached the end of the row, for a spell anyway, since he lost 16 seniors.

He doesn't take heart in the fact that he has 16 seniors on his 1964 squad.

Quarterback is quite a worry. Imagine: he lost Duke Carlisle and has to shift a defensive back — Jim Hudson — to the spot. Yet that's what happened previously. Carlisle was shifted from defensive back to quarterback and all he did was lead Texas through 10 straight victories and a smashing 28-6 triumph over Navy in the Cotton Bowl.

Hudson promises to pick up where Carlisle left off. But even that worries Royal. He's regretful that he never used Hudson at quarterback in the first place. The safety man was a quarterback as a freshman. But what would have happened to Carlisle?

Texas will have 27 lettermen next fall, 25 of them from the past season, the other two from the preceding year. They were injured and couldn't play in 1963.

Royal says he lettered every man who played, regardless of the number of minutes, so many of the returnees didn't see much action. But since Texas played 11 games, they are bound to have gotten in about as much as those on the other teams. And besides, how about those 16 seniors?

All of which adds up to the situation that while Royal is undoubtedly sincere in his fears, nobody is going to expect them to be realized. Texas, as usual, should be the favorite.

Raiders Try Comeback

Texas Tech's baseballers probably could have found an easier place to break a losing streak than Alpine, where the Red Raiders meet Sul Ross in a single game Friday and a doubleheader Saturday.

Sul Ross, enjoying one of its better seasons, downed the Raiders 13-2, 6-5, and 3-1 at Alpine last year.

Since edging Texas Christian 7-6 at Fort Worth the Raiders—now 4-7—have dropped five straight contests—to New Mexico Highlands University 4-0, 4-2, 3-2, and 4-0 and to Texas A&M 12-2. Also on the Tech record are a split with Abilene Christian, 1-2 and 3-2 and two triumphs over Eastern New Mexico, 16-2 and 16-0, and a 9-3 loss to TCU.

Coach Berl Huffman plans to use his junior right-hander, David Harter of Muleshoe, in a starting role for the first time this season. A reliever so far this season, Harter appeared in nine contests last spring and posted a 2-0 mark.

PALMER TIES

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Golf's Arnold Palmer slammed out of an extended slump with a three-under-par 69 Thursday and shot into an unprecedented five-way tie for the first round lead in the 28th Masters Tournament.
