EDUCATORS MEETING OPENS; WELCOME ADDRESS BY JONES THE TOREADOR

Volume XVIII TEXAS TECHNOLOGICAL COLLEGE, LUBBOCK TEXAS, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1943 Number 13

Session Concerns American Relations

Inter-American Affairs Will Be Discussed In Panel Meeting

A JOINT meeting of educators and persons interested in Inter-American relations is meeting here this weekend. It began Friday night, at 8 o'clock in West Texas Museum on the campus. This session was concerned largely with the Inter-American Relations conference.

College Chorus Sings Friday In Victory Concert

The college chorus will present a program of Christmas carols at Lubbock High school auditorium Friday night, Dec. 17, at 8 o'clock. This will be the first in a series of victory concerts sponsored by the State Board of Education and the Texas Music Educators association, according to Dr. Julien Paul Blitz, head of the music department and director of the chorus.

Dr. Charles Prescott, baritone, will appear as soloist. Dr. Blitz will play cello solo accompanied by Mrs. Blitz. The college chorus will include engineering students who have been members for the first time.

Dean Weeks Sends Letters To Exes

In order to help graduates of the home economics division keep in touch with the school and their classmates, Dean Margaret W. Weeks sent each of the members of last year's class a Christmas news letter this week.

1944 La Ventana Beauties Chosen By Lt. Don Budge

Peggy O'Brien Is Given Top Choice By Tennis Champ

La Ventana beauties for 1944 were announced today by Eleanor Cotton, editor. They were selected last month by Lt. Donald Budge, who is stationed on the campus with the pre-flight detachment. They are: first, Peggy O'Brien, Waco freshman; second, Jackie Wilkinson, Friona junior; third, Evelyn Jones, Brownfield senior; fourth, Norma Croxton, Plainview freshman; fifth, Bernice Cocanougher, Lubbock junior; sixth, Hope Cade, Sundown sophomore; seventh, Frances Keim, Floydada freshman; eighth, Elizabeth Robinson, Fort Worth freshman.

These eight beauties will be featured in 1944 La Ventana and given full page pictures in a special section. Runners-up in the final selection, who will have half-page pictures in the beauty section are: Rosemary Anderson, Lubbock sophomore; Sue Grimes, Merckel sophomore; La Rue Hall, Lubbock freshman; Martha Larche, Stamford freshman; Jeanne Roco, Houston senior; Jerry Shaw, Phillips sophomore; Frances Sitter, McLean sophomore; Thelma Ruth Strain, Tahoka senior.

Sidwell Refuses Geologist Job

Dr. Raymond Sidwell, associate professor of geology, has been offered the position of associate geologist on the staff of the U. S. Geological Survey, but declined the position, in order to continue an involved program of research which he did not want to abandon. He has been carrying on research in sedimentation in West Texas and New Mexico for a number of years, and has already published a number of papers regarding the development of his research.

Band Clinic Opens Here December 17

Matadors And Lubbock High Joint Hosts To Musicians

TEXAS TECH'S Matador band will be joint host with the Lubbock Senior High school band at a clinic session to be held at Texas Tech and Lubbock Senior high school on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 17 and 18. The clinic is sponsored by the band division of the Texas Music Educators' association, regions 1, 2 and 8.

The Friday and Saturday morning sessions will be at the high school auditorium from 10 until 12 o'clock. The afternoon sessions will be held in Texas Tech band room in the Textile building from 1 to 3 o'clock. Following the afternoon sessions, round table discussions will be held at which informal talks will be made by the visiting directors.

Music of all types and grades have been assigned directors from the three regions. First of the numbers included in the Friday morning meeting by the Lubbock High school band will be "Homage of the Pioneers", directed by Dan W. Conley of Big Spring High school. Following numbers and directors will be: "Rainbow", Jacques Nonce, Crane; "Rendezvous", Fred P. Rattan, Borger; "Knightsbridge", Col. E. D. Crites, Phillips; "Shortenin' Bread", Curtis Jarrett, Hobbs, N. M.; "Russian Sailors", Charles S. Eskridge, Lubbock; and "Stratosphere", Wesley May, Odessa.

The Friday afternoon session by the Tech band will include: "El Caballero", R. C. Davidson, Plainview; "Horizon", Dale McCook, Seminole; "If Thou Be Near", Gerald McGuire, Wink; "Pantomime" from the opera "Il Cid", R. T. Bynum, Abilene; "Coronation", M. J. Newman, West Texas State Teachers college; "Three Negro Dances", Gerald McGuire, Wink; "Saltarello", Ray Robbins, Pampa; "Fete Suite De Concert" (No. 1 and 4), D. W. Crain, Abilene Christian college.

Numbers as assigned for the Saturday morning session are: "Vanity Fair", R. C. Davidson, Plainview; "Czech Rhapsody", R. T. Bynum, Abilene; "Intermezzo", Don Hayes, Poyryton; and "Rusticon", W. J. Finley, Levelland.

Ex-ROTC Students Commissioned In Officers Reserve

Twenty-seven members of the 1943 senior ROTC unit at Tech received commissions in the Officers Reserve corps of the Army of the United States Dec. 1, according to Maj. Frank E. Hanz, head professor of military science and tactics. They were commissioned after completing a four-months course at the Engineer Corps Officer Candidate school, Fort Belvoir, Va.

Those receiving commissions were: George E. Acton, Carl R. Alters, Jr., Henry W. Coffey, Hugh C. Fry, Lucius Bower DeLaney, John Russell Pesser, Leroy W. Foester, James L. Gaunt, J. A. Hall, Charles Lewis Harris, Rayburn H. Haskins, Norman Igo, Joe W. Lair, Robert W. Lipscomb, Robert M. Lively, Henry H. Lucock, Jesse A. May, Weldon B. Mize, Noost L. Murphy, Charles S. Neel, Thurman Pinkerton, Melvin C. Robertson, Theodore B. Shalkevitz, Robert V. Skinner, Clifton A. Tammill, Ruebert S. Wier, James C. Wright.

Fingerprinting Campaign By APO Continues

Campus fingerprinting, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, ends Thursday, Dec. 16, according to APO president, Fike Godfrey. Latest figures show over two hundred students have cooperated in the voluntary project.

Fingerprinting will be carried on Friday and Saturday in the east lobby of the Administration building. Starting Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock fingerprints will be taken until 4:30 p.m. Saturday morning it will be carried on from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock. APO will take fingerprints Monday in the Engineering building from 1:30 until 4:30 p.m. Tuesday night they will probably be in the Women's dormitory. Fingerprints were also made in the dormitory last Tuesday.

Graduate Physics Student Lectures At Next Seminar

Physics seminar 411 will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 14 to hear a special lecture by O. C. Southall, graduate physics student. Southall's subject will be "X-rays in Medicine."

Lt. Joseph F. Hink public relations officer of the ASTU at Tech, returned this week from his home in Manhattan, N. Y., where he spent a short leave with his family.

Fike Godfrey, Alpha Phi Omega president, opens the fingerprinting campaign of the service organization by taking the prints of Student President Maxine Craddock, as Dr. Clifford Jones, President of Tech, watches.

Faculty Christmas Party Is To Be Wednesday At Hilton

The Faculty club Christmas party will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Hilton hotel. Faculty members and their guests will attend. Heading committees on decorations and program arrangements are Prof. Ray C. Mowery and Miss Ada Vivian Johnson.

Discussion Contest Subject Selected

Information On Third Event Received By Local Officials

"THE BASES for Permanent Cooperation Among the American Republics" is the subject selected for this year's National Discussion Contest. Information for the contest, which is the third one to be held, has been received by the local faculty committee of manuscript, student eligibility, and deadline.

The National Discussion contest is part of the program of the Office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs which was established by executive order on August 16, 1941. The purpose of this office is to strengthen bonds between countries of the western hemisphere and to further national defense through use of governmental and private facilities in such fields as arts and sciences, education and travel, the radio, the press and the movies.

The purposes of the contests are to promote inter-American friendship and cooperation, to stimulate national affairs, to insure more accurate knowledge and intelligent understanding of the other Americas by the people of the United States, and to encourage an understanding of the bases for permanent cooperation among the American republics.

Are You A "Go-Getter"...

NOTICED ON the campus this week was a sign in the Agriculture administration building, urging all Techsians to try and sell Texas Tech to prospective college students, while the former group is at home Christmas. We have no idea as to the author of that little notation, but we wish to say that it is something that has been needed here for a long time, and we hope that more students than just the Aggies will pay heed to its vital message.

It is easy to recall the day when we were still in high school, and looking ahead to a collegiate future. Also it is easily remembered that we, most of us, had not the slightest conception of our future Alma Mater, and that the most important thing we considered was the records of collegiate athletic teams.

During these troubled times students have little time for college, and therefore are seeking the best. We could do Tech a great deal of good if we were to inform all of our home-town friends just what this school has to offer.

We have been in circles with other college students when back home for the holidays and spun yarns with them about activities that are held on our respective campuses. This helps the situation greatly, and it is proved that a college with a full social calendar is more successful than one with a half-hearted attitude toward the lighter side of college.

This is one reason for our urging all collegians to take a part in college activities, both social and intellectual. A student who has a part in the various departmental clubs, and also in the student government, will have a better knowledge of the college and its functions than one who is simply on the campus for the "all work and no play" education.

We could name several colleges who claim to have the most democratic school in the world, and a survey would disclose many more. But we feel that a discussion of our system would prove to the listener that this is not simply a means to the end for Tech. It is a truth, and every person who has ever visited our campus will verify this.

To cite a case in point, typical of Tech we will discuss a certain man who visited this campus as a representative of the Division of Agriculture for our government. The gentleman was from an Eastern state, and had toured various colleges across the nation. He was so impressed by the students of Tech that he insisted that his daughter attend Tech the next semester. The young lady came to Tech with the notion to dislike everything about it, (this through her own admittance), but became so attached to the campus and here that she stayed in school after her allotted "trial" was over. That is just one example in many of the things that Tech has to offer, other than scholastically.

However, we are just as interested in seeing that our various divisions and departments get the boost they deserve. Some high school students are really interested in what Tech has to offer, and each individual here is their best source of information.

If each of us has a thorough knowledge of what our own division has to offer, then we will be doing our part for the college, and for ourselves. Many persons probably have the idea that Tech has done nothing for them, so why should they not return the favor. This is entirely wrong. If we begin to sell Tech to interested persons, it will increase our enrollment. An increased enrollment will gradually increase our alumni. And, a large alumni will increase Texas Tech's position among the leading colleges and universities of the nation. Then the college will begin to do more and more for the individual.

The selling of Tech is rather like a business cycle, in that it always returns to its original point. So if we put something into this, our own reward will come in time.

We might insert here a statement that has been made many times in the past. The soldiers stationed on the campus are also interested in a college education after the war. What they see and do here will be remembered after they leave. Also with them will go their opinions of the college, and this will reach other persons who have never been to Lubbock, or even to Texas. A few of us might do well to remember this when we turn an envious eye toward the three different barracks.

Sinclair Lewis in Babbitt summed up our idea, in a different field, when he said, "The Romantic Hero was no longer the knight, the wandering poet, the cowpuncher, the aviator, nor the brave young district attorney; but the great salesman, had the Analysis of Merchandising Problems on his glass-topped desk, whose title of nobility was 'go-getter'."

Who's Next...?

WE WISH to urge every Techsan who has not done so, to immediately have his fingerprints taken. It is not for the novelty of the affair that Alpha Phi Omega is sponsoring this project on the campus. It is a tedious and tiring job for workers, but they have pledged themselves to aid the government in this field, and are carrying out their pledge as much as they can with the cooperation received.

When the project opened last Friday, Fike Godfrey, APO president, announced that Techsians might consider it their partial contribution to the war effort to have their prints taken. The Office of Civilian Defense asks that all civilians be fingerprinted as a means of identification, and assure all that catastrophes occur everywhere, and that Lubbock is not an exception.

Little time is taken for this service, and it will perhaps benefit the "printee" some day in the future. It is a very serious project, as we have said before, and we feel that Techsians should continue to carry the drive through to a successful close next Thursday, with prints taken in the same building for the final time. So, go immediately and do your duty... have your prints made before it's too late.

Life With The Exes--

Thomas W. Green who enlisted in the Army last January is now a sergeant and is stationed with the United States Army somewhere in England.

A. C. "Gus" Gallagher enlisted in the Navy last July and is now stationed in Pittsburgh, Kan., where he is going to school under the V-12 program.

J. E. Bledsoe, Jr., has been transferred from Chanute field, Ill. to an Air Corps replacement center at Salt Lake City, Utah. He attended Tech until his enlistment in the Air Corps in May.

Tom B. Ward is in the U. S. Air Corps now stationed at Minnor, Calif.

Isaac T. Spivey is now taking his advanced pilot training in the West Coast training center.

Lt. Robert Shipp, Jr., is reported missing in action since a bombing raid over Germany. He received his commission last April, and was a pilot of a Flying Fortress.

David Beaman has finished his primary flight training at the Naval Air station at Hutchinson, Kan., and has been transferred to Corpus Christi where he will receive his commission as ensign in the Naval Reserve or second lieutenant in the Marine Reserve.

Henry R. Wolf, at present a staff sergeant in the 13th Air Force headquarters, has been awarded a second award for meritorious achievement and heroism. His first award was the Air Medal which was awarded him for participating in the raid last Christmas Day against Japanese-held Wake Island.

This last award was a Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster. It is believed that this award was given him for activity in the same vicinity. Sergeant Wolf is a radio-gunner on a four-motored bomber.

J. R. Bertrand who received his BS degree from Tech is now an ensign in the Navy and is in the submarine service.

James H. Chance recently received his wings as a bombardier at Victorville, Calif., and is now stationed at Salt Lake City, Utah. John R. Sparkman received his commission as ensign last March after completing Midshipman school at Columbia university and is now stationed at Little Creek, Va.

Cecil S. Travis has been transferred to Carlsbad, N.M., for study in advanced high-level bombardiering.

Edwin L. Dawson has completed his primary training in the Army Air force from the 8th flying training detachment at Jackson, Tenn. He is now being transferred to another school for his basic training.

Elba Hunt is at Macon, Ga., taking his basic flight training. He was accepted as an aviator cadet at Nashville, Tenn., in July and has completed his primary training at Union City, Tenn.

Clay E. Thompson, Jr., has recently been promoted to captain in the Army Air forces training com-

A Day For The Races... A Techsan Speaks

-By Barnett

WHILE browsing through the columns of The Daily Texan recently I discovered a letter to the editor discussing a question that has become one of the nation's biggest problems. I want to reprint most of it here, and then try and give a few personal ideas on the subject. Not so long ago the same question was discussed by my predecessor, Bill Latson, and met with some disapproval from persons who wish to keep away from this rising problem. However, I feel that the only way this question is to be met is to face it squarely, and try to work out a satisfactory solution. The letter:
Dear Editor: The negro is fighting in this war just as hard as any American. He is dying on the battlefield to keep his country free of something that he has been under for years, slavery. A negro, Robert H. Brooks, was the first war casualty of the United States armed forces, killed in the Philippines, December 8, 1941. The parade grounds at Ft. Knox, Ky., has been named in his honor.
Before we can ever rid the world of slavery we will have to start at home. In our country the Negro is so dominated by slavery that it is pitiful. A lot of people refuse to admit this truth. They put forth the old cry—the Negro has more rights today than he ever had but he only has those rights we choose to give him and not what he deserves as an American citizen.
Many questions could be asked about the Negro, but there are a few close to us. Why do the buses have certain seats for Negroes? The Constitution says the Negro is no longer a slave. Why is it that the Negro can not vote because he has not paid his poll tax? The Constitution says that anyone obtaining the right to vote is a citizen. Why is it that the Negro is kept down, and everyone is ready to put him lower? I challenge any reader of this letter to answer my questions sensibly and truthfully. The answers to most of the questions are obvious—we do not want the Negro to get his rightful share of democracy. We want to keep him as the underdog and a slave because we refuse to admit the honest truth—that he is a human being and that he does have a right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.
We are students going to the greatest University in the world, we are trying to better ourselves in this world, we are trying to reach those immortal words of Christ, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," yet, we as students blind ourselves to the truth of our race hatred as our parents have done, we refuse to admit that we as American citizens would let slavery exist, but yet it does! etc.

I was quite surprised to find such a letter appearing in the Texas, and could not help but admire the student who wrote it. It is indeed a ticklish situation on both sides, and is very seldom that a student in a Southern institution will speak freely and clearly how he feels. However, I believe that the writer has let his "enthusiasm" get the best of his better judgment.
His first question, "Why do buses have different seats for negroes?" and his third one, "Why is the negro kept down, and everyone ready to help put him lower?" are two that are entirely erroneous. The truth in history. In a recent survey, government experts found the economic and social condition of the negro better in the United States than in any part of the world. I contend that the negro has the equal rights the writer demands, but that the main trouble is the colored man's desire for intimacy. This will probably never be realized to a satisfactory degree.
The negro is given a separate seat on buses, and in other public vehicles because none of us desire to have them become that intimate. It has been noted before that if you give a person an inch, he will take a mile. So why not stop the situation before it goes too far?
As for keeping the negro down and continuing to kick him, I can see no backing what-so-ever for such a statement. Texas has several colleges for colored people, and the negroes are given every chance to advance themselves as far as the white race. It has been noted by yours truly that the educated negro is the type who never complains. He does not resent his position, and has learned to contentment with his lot. The uneducated of not being able to eat lunch with white people. The uneducated on the other hand are the ones who start the race riots, and cause most of the trouble between the two races.
As for paying poll taxes, the Constitution also has given the states certain rights. The State of Texas is in its full powers as such to levy poll taxes for internal revenue, and that can in no way be defined as unconstitutional. In fact, it has become almost necessary. Those negroes who are able to pay do so, and vote. Those who are without means, are not qualified to vote, and it keeps much unfavorable buying of votes out of politics.
I think that the gentleman who wrote to the Texas editor should have given subject, and his points, more thought before he produced such a radical letter. It is all well and good to be "worldly," but it is all wrong to be stubborn and narrow-minded simply because you wish to appear a deep thinker, and refuse to admit that some points are entirely ridiculous.

Callahan - Hale Placed On AP All-Southwest Team

Former Raiders Inactive During Part Of Season

Both Men Named As 1943 Co-Captains By 1942 Teammates

LAST spring Texas Tech's Red Raiders chose J. R. Callahan and Billy Hale to lead their football destinies during the 1943 football season. Along came the call of all reservists, and away went Callahan and Hale with the rest of the squad. People on the South Plains said that these two stars had done all they could for Tech, and that after the war the college would benefit once again from their football performances.

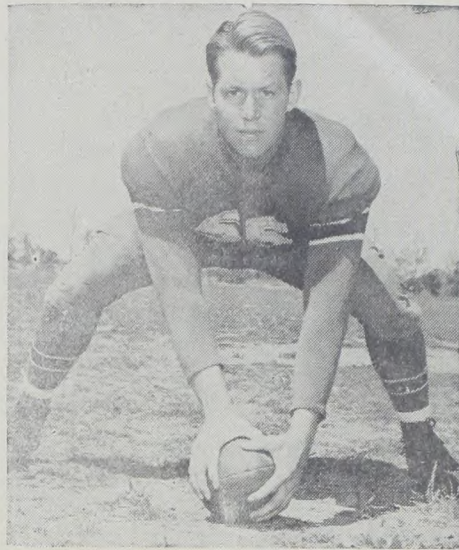

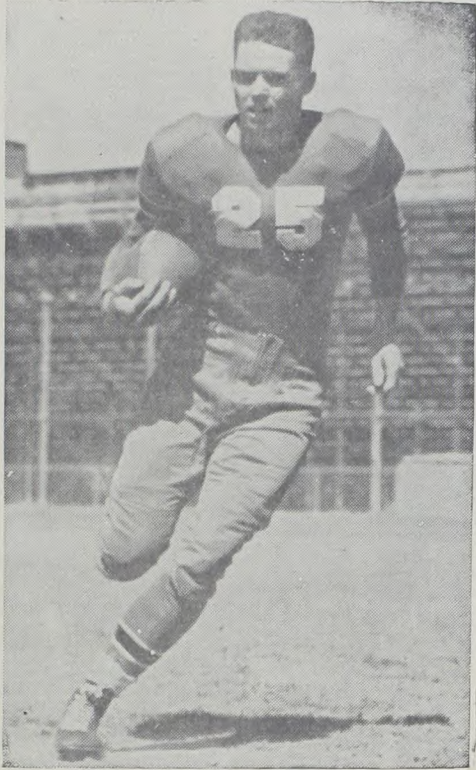

But the Navy and the playing ability of these two men changed the entire set-up, and Texas Tech has the distinction of having two men on the Associated Press All-Southwest conference team, although not a member of that league. These two players who spread the name of Texas Tech in the season's headlines were the same J. R. Callahan, back; and Billy Hale, center, who performed for the Texas Longhorns, conference champs, and for the TCU Horned Frogs, respectively.

Hale was unable to finish the season at the Ft. Worth school, but sports writers deemed his services and outstanding playing creditable enough to rate a place with the first 11 players of the circuit. Hale was stationed at TCU with the Naval V-12 unit and was a junior at Tech last year. He has two varsity letters from this school.

Callahan came to Tech a little over three years ago and from his first day of practice until the day he left was a star performer on the gridiron. He had two varsity letters here and has one remaining year of eligibility at this school. Callahan was not ruled eligible to play until mid-season, but saw action in all of the Longhorns' conference games. He was on the starting lineup for the first time after three days of practice and continued to be a leading ground-gainer and scorer for the Texas eleven. Callahan lacked one vote of being a unanimous choice on the UP team, announced Monday, and was the only player near attaining that goal.

Hale came to Tech from Ama-

These Two Techsians Are All-Conference

J. R. Callahan, left and Billy Hale, above, were selected by teammates at Tech last year as their Co-Captains. These two men were called to the services this season and saw action at Texas University and Texas Christian University, respectively. Both were outstanding performers on their respective elevens and sports writers thought them good enough to be placed on the Associated Press All-Southwest eleven, although neither of the two played over one-half of the season.

rillo, where he was a member of the Golden Sandie team of that city. Callahan was a star performer until Wink for four years.

Others chosen on the All-Southwest team were ends, Joe Parker of the Longhorns, Abe Croft of Southern Methodist; tackles, Clyde Flowers of Texas Christian and Charles Malmberg of Rice; guards, Goble Bryant of Texas A&M and Leon Pense of Arkansas; center, Hale. In the backfield were Callahan, Ralph Ellsworth and Joe Magliolo of Texas; and Jim Hallmark of the Texas Aggie eleven.

This is the first time in many years in every school, except Baylor who did not participate, was represented on the all-circuit poll; that freshmen have appeared on the list, these two being Bryant and Hallmark; and the first time in history that an out-side school has placed men on the list, this being due to the war with the honors going to Texas Tech.

Wranglers Downed 18-13 By Socii

Opening the 1943 inter-club football season, the Socii downed the Wranglers 18-13 in a heated contest on Tech field in a contest that was never determined until the final whistle blew ending the game.

The Wrangler opened the scoring in the first few minutes of play when Jerry Longley scooped up a blocked punt on the Socii 20 and scampered across. The conversion was no good.

A few minutes later the Socii returned the favor and Joe Vaughn took an Irvin St. Clair pass and ran 40 yards to score. The try for point failed.

Late in the second period Longley took a pass from mTailback Huckaby and scampered across to put the Wranglers ahead 12-6. Ly-

THE TEXAS TECH 1943-44 basketball season tonight at 7:30 against the powerful Bergstrom Army Air field quintet of Austin. Polk Robison, head basketball coach at Texas Tech, and Lt. John Hensley of the Bergstrom team closed the contract Tuesday of this week.

The Bergstrom loopers will play three games in Lubbock. They played the South Plains Air Field Thursday night at the air field gymnasium. Friday night they played the Lubbock Army Air field at that field, and then tonight they clash with the Red Raiders in Tech's first game of the season.

The Bergstrom team is composed of former professional and college stars. They have won their only two games this season. They beat the highly touted Randolph Field loopers 53-43, and put a 70-43 defeat on the San Marcos Air Field.

Players on the Bergstrom quintet include Lt. Wade from Purdue University who is 6 feet 5 inches at forward; Sgt. Flanagan, Lt. Townshend, a 6 feet 5 inch giant from the University of Wisconsin; Lt. Honnicut, an All-America star from the University of Indiana; Corp. Stigger, a sharpshoot who reaches 6 feet 4 inches from the University of Louisiana, and Lt. McFadden who hails from Washington, was an All-Eastern selection. McFadden is 6 feet 2 inches tall.

The Bergstrom left Austin Thursday and arrived in Lubbock late that afternoon. They are quartered at Lubbock Army Air Field and South Plains Army Air Field. The Red Raiders, almost whipped into shape by Coach Robison will be the heavy under-dogs against the experienced team. The Raiders will also be the shorter of the two teams, although ranging in height from 6 feet 1 inch to 6 feet 6 1/2 inches. The Raiders will

Junior Council Holds Clean-Up

Junior council's campus clean-up campaign begins at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Techsans wishing to participate in cleaning up the campus will meet between the women's dormitory and Home Economics building at that time.

The clean-up campaign will concentrate its efforts on the area around the Women's dormitory, Barracks 3, north to the pre-flight barracks, and west to the Administration building, possibly including the circle, according to Anna Baker, Junior council president. After the clean-up, coffee and doughnuts will be served near the Home Ec building to Techsans participating in the campaign.

Betty Herring is chairman of the clean-up campaign committee. Margaret Leonard is in charge of arrangements for refreshments. Betty Hurt of equipment and Josie Lee Barnett of advertising for the campaign.

Award Given Employee In Military Science

E. Juanita Love, civilian employee in the military science department for the past 14 months, received a civilian service award for meritorious service in a ceremony held at the military building Dec. 8.

Annual Club Reception Is An Informal Affair

The annual Home Economics club Christmas reception will be held Friday, December 17, from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. in the Home Management house. All Tech students are invited to attend the informal affair.

Naval Aviation Program Opens For Young Men

College men between their 17th and 19th birthdays may enlist now in the Navy aviation V-5 program by making written application to the Cadet Selection board, 1530 Allen building, Dallas, according to information released from President Clifford B. Jones' office.

Information necessary in applications is full name of student, age, address, standing in college, which means the semester enrolled and the division.

After making first applications, men will receive further instructions or the Navy Cadet board will request from the college further information. The Navy will notify all men eligible for acceptance, and they will be required to go to Dallas for a physical and further examination. Transportation to Dallas and return transportation will be paid by the Navy if men have been called by the Navy office.

College men who are accepted will probably be called at the end of the current fall semester or at the end of the spring semester. They will be called as new classes in Navy training at colleges or universities begin and as quota permit.

Notice To Members Of Chorus All members of the college chorus will be expected to have a copy of the Golden Book of Favorite Songs by Monday night. A check will be made at chorus rehearsal. Julien Paul Blitz

Helm And Weeth Made Las Leales

Ellen Helm, junior journalism major from Austin, and Madelyn Weeth, senior music major from Vernon, were initiated Tuesday night into Las Leales, an honorary service organization. After the candlelight service at the home of Ophelia May Beall, president, members had dinner at Mexican inn.

Las Leales is composed of twenty outstanding women students. Members are selected on basis of scholarship, leadership, participation in extra-curricula activities, and personality.

Library Compiles List Of Books To Aid Students

The library has compiled a list of books which are designed to give readers a better understanding of our Allies. A book of particular value to Americans who want to understand why Poland has suddenly become the key to peace in Europe is Raymond Bull's Poland: Key to Europe. David Dallin's Soviet Russia's Foreign Policy 1939-1942 is a scholarly, well-rounded and very convincing picture of Soviet foreign policy during the last three years. Two of the outstanding histories of China are Victor Yakontoff's The Chinese Soviets and Emily Hahn's The Soong Sisters. Edward Buxton Shanks' My England is a book about England and the English before World War II. The Twilight of France, 1933-1940 is Alexander Werth's study of the decline of the Third Republic in France. These books are available at the library loan desk.

Coed's Corner

Clean-Up Campaign Is Sponsored By Council

By Ellen Helm

NOW IS the time for all good students to come to the aid of the Tech campus. Junior council asks that all Techsans interested in helping clean up the grounds around the buildings meet in front of Doak hall Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock ready to go to work.

Students have been remarking since the opening of the semester that "something should be done" about the looks of the campus. Well, here is the best chance of the year to get that something done. With good cooperation from the student body, Junior council should be able to make our campus one really to be proud of.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served to those students who help with the work.
