The 1983-84 Budget Hearing for the Sudan Independent School District will be held Monday, August 8, 1983 at 8:00 p.m., in the school administrative office.

More than 1,800 students at Texas Tech University received degrees in commencement exercises at the conclusion of the 1983 spring semester.

Degree recipients included from Muleshoe: Lary Hooten, Christene Vela, Ruth Locker, Richard Suduth, and Lisa Redwine. Also, from Enochs, Ronald Beasley.

Plant Clinic Planned Here

The Bailey County Extension Service will sponsor a plant clinic on July 28 from 9:00 till noon at the Muleshoe State Bank community room.

The clinic will provide an opportunity for local homeowners as well as commercial producers to bring plant samples to the clinic and have disease, insect or nutritional problems diagnosed by three extension specialists. These specialists are: Dr. Robert Berry, Extension Plant Pathologist; Dr. William F. Morrison, Extension Entomologist; and Dr. Roland Roberts, Extension Vegetable Specialist.

After lunch, the specialists will be available to make visits to homes or fields. If a homeowner has a problem that cannot be brought to the clinic, he or she should call the Bailey County Extension office and make arrangements to have a specialist visit their home. The Extension phone number is 272-4583. The clinic is free and open for everyone to participate.

ONIONS BY THE TRUCKLOAD...The T.J. Power Company is currently processing onions as well as potatoes. The load of onions just brought in, as shown here, are processed quickly and shipped back out throughout the United States and Canada. Potatoes are processed in another part of the plant. Plant officials hope that the weather holds good until all of the onions can be picked up off the ground, thus avoiding spoilage.

THATS A LOTTA SPUDS...Workers at Barrett Produce Company are staying pretty busy with potato harvest, having begun the first part of July. Barrett's expect their busy season to be over sometime around August 20. Quality of the vegetable has been good even though some hail knocked out parts of the crop. Barrett raises almost all his own potatoes.

Area Vegetable Harvest Nearing Half-Way Mark

Vegetable harvest in the Muleshoe-Bailey County area is just beginning to get into full swing and representatives from three local processing plants have stated that vegetable quality is up, prices are better or decent and that the market is fairly good at this time. While some vegetable crops had to be re-planted several times due to the large hail and unseasonable weather earlier, crops are coming along good now, but are running just a little behind schedule.

In an interview with Roy Herber, spokesman for Robert Ruiz, Incorporated, he told the Journal that some cucumbers were now being processed and shipped out of the Muleshoe facility; however, Herber stated that harvest of area cucumbers would not begin for about two weeks yet. According to Herber, early hail caused replanting in this area, setting back the tender plants and changing up the harvesting schedule. The Ruiz plant will also be processing cabbage grown locally in about two to three weeks. Green peppers and jalapeno peppers will come along intermittently. Herber stated that the cucumbers handled so far had been good quality and expressed his satisfaction at the market prices offered. Ruiz ships all over the United States and Canada.

Parade Offers Cash Prizes

The Jennyslippers will sponsor the 1983 Mule Day Festival Parade which is scheduled for August 13 at 12 noon. Diane Neiman and Rose Lee Powell are in charge of entries, and may be reached by phone.

Cash prizes of $100, $75 and $50 will be offered in two categories: riding clubs and antique automobiles. A "People's Choice" float or attraction will draw down a $100 prize for first place. All clubs, organizations and individuals are urged to enter the competition in the parade. All proceeds Company told the Journal that potatoes and onions both were being processed now at the Power facility. "Prices are good, the quality is decent and we are shipping to Canada," he stated. The T.J. Power Company built several additions to their plant last year to enable them to handle more and a different variety of vegetables. Onions are unloaded on one end of the plant and potatoes on the other, with a steady flow kept going at all times. Ingram told the Journal that the total acreage of onions and potatoes was not going to be much different than last year - however, he does expect the quality to be much better.

Ingram mentioned that one specific problem for onion processors would be if a rain came now that the onions are down in the field. The rain would cause severe deterioration to the vegetable, besides slowing harvest to a standstill otherwise.

ASCS Directors Give County Rundowns

While traces of the 1982 farm crisis and disasters still linger in the minds of area farmers, the crop outlook for 1983 is somewhat more encouraging. With thousands of acres of farm land laid out of production in one or another of governmental programs, producers stand a chance to break even this year. The PIK (Payment-In-Kind) and the regular farm programs gave these opportunities to farmers.

Farmers in Bailey, Lamb and Parmer counties were among some of the hardest hit by the 1982 disasters. However, all three counties now appear to be burrowing out from under the bad times and farming activities are now in full swing. The Journal recently contacted ASCS County Executive Directors in each of the three counties for reports of crop outlooks for 1983. The following is what we found.

In early December, 1982 farm disaster payments in Bailey County were expected to exceed $8.5 million to area producers due to the vicious storms that raked the High Plains destroying thousands of acres of croplands. Those disaster payments sifted back into the local economy. PIK and other 1983 farm programs will eventually distribute an estimated $12.5 million to Bailey County farmers who are now enrolled and in compliance with the programs.

Planted cropland in Bailey County at this time should be in the vicinity of 158,000 acres, including approximately 18,000 acres of replanted cotton land, according to ASCS estimates. Local County Executive Director Danny Noble told the Journal that the 1983 wheat crop was one of the best in years for most county producers. "Yields were great and in the south part of the county, dryland wheat was really good." Noble estimates about 26,624 acres of Bailey County wheatland for 1983. "Some wheat got hail on it, but on the whole, the crop was good," Noble said, explaining that there were no wide-reaching storms such as those in 1982.

Acreage estimates of corn and grain sorghum in Bailey County for 1983 are set at about 44,096 acres. Noble stated that these crops were looking good, with some corn beginning to tassel.

Cotton acreage for Bailey County should be right at 87,657, the Director stated. However, a true figure could not be given due to the number of producers who were hailed out and went back in behind cotton with grain sorghum or soybeans.

Noble stated, "While crops generally look good now, our harvest will hinge on a late dry fall and some good showers within the next few weeks." A good general rain and then a dry fall to allow harvest is a necessity for the entire area since a lot of the crops are close to 30 days behind schedule. The delay was caused by inclement spring weather and the replanting problems encountered.

Bailey County ASCS office members have finished mailing out PIK Wheat Entitlements and have plans to begin making 1983 advance deficiency and diversion payments about the first part of August.

Jim McGehee, CED for the Lamb County ASCS office in Littlefield told the Journal Thursday that his county has approximately 237,991 acres of croplands in cultivation for 1983 crops. Lamb County has a total base acreage of 475,982, and as a rule of thumb, about half will be put into crops. Participation in the farm program for 1983 was about 99 percent according to the Lamb County official.

Close to 150,000 acres of cotton was originally planted in Lamb County. However, McGehee said that "Lamb County Farmers lost about 10-15 thousand acres of cotton to hail and weather problems earlier." The Director expects that 15,000 has been replanted now to cotton or soybeans.

Corn and feed grain combined planted in Lamb County in 1983 should total 44,250 acres, with wheat running about 38,500 acres. McGehee stated that most of the wheat in Lamb County has already been harvested and reported yields have been very good.

Where corn and feed grains are concerned, the Lamb County official stated that both crops were running about normal; however, a favorable fall and a dry September would be the key factors in the harvest season he said.

"Like most of our neighbors," McGehee stated, "we could use a good rain now. Cotton will have to have some moisture soon." Lamb County's cotton crop is reported to be holding up well, but the next thirty days will tell the tale.

Crops in the Earth area are generally good, but the areas near Amherst, Sudan and northeast of Littlefield were the hardest hit with severe hail earlier in the year. The CED also said that most gins in the county would open and that he expected cotton quality to be good, barring any problems.

Disaster payments in 1982 for Lamb County totaled almost $8.4 million. Although no totals were available for 1982 deficiency payments, a spokeswoman in the Lamb County ASCS said that $861,324 in 1983 advance deficiency payments had been made to Lamb County producers in just the last few weeks.

In Parmer County, ASCS County Executive Director Martin Chandler expressed a lot of optimism about 1983 crops for his county. "Although we've had little

Reserve IV Corn Released To Farmers

Corn in the farmer-owned reserve IV was released for redemption, effective July 15, by Everett Rank, executive vice president of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation.

Reserve IV corn is corn placed in reserve between Oct. 6, 1981 and July 1, 1982.

Rank said this means farmers now may sell -- but are not required to sell -- their reserve corn after repaying their CCC price support loans. However, he said, farmers may not repay reserve corn loans that are needed for their payment-in-kind entitlement.

The reason for today's action, he said, was that the national average price received by farmers for corn had reached the $3.15 per bushel release level.

Current USDA activity reports show 1.147 billion bushels of corn in reserve IV. However, a substantial quantity of this corn has been designated for the payment-in-kind program or sold to CCC under the PIK acquisition program and therefore will not be available for immediate redemption.

USDA makes storage payments to farmers with grain in the reserve. Upon repayment of the loan, farmers can keep the storage payments earned through the date of repayment.

Release of reserve IV corn will continue through Aug. 31, Rank said. If the five-day national average market price remains at or above $3.15 on Sept. 1, storage earning will stop and interest on the price support loan will begin to accrue for corn that has been in the reserve for more than one year. Interest already is accruing on loans for corn that has been in reserve less than one year.

If the Sept. 1 price falls below $3.15, reserve IV corn no longer will be in release status and farmers will continue earning storage payments.

'Hometown Boy' In Need Of Assistance

Ray Davis, Manager of Farm Bureau in Muleshoe notified the Journal on Thursday that a "hospital fund" had been established at the First National Bank in Muleshoe for Ricky Barrett to help defray hospital expenses.

Barrett was injured severely on June 5 when he was involved in a one car roll-over on FM 1760 about 2 miles out. Barrett was thrown from the auto and then the auto landed on him. As a result of emergency surgery performed in Lubbock, about two thirds of Barrett's liver was removed. According to Davis, Barrett had been home for a few days and had contracted a severe infection just the past week, necessitating his return to Methodist and to surgery this week. He is said to be in satisfactory condition at this time.

According to Davis, Barrett's current hospital expenses now total close to $20 thousand, with more to come. Barrett is a native of Muleshoe, having grown up here, attended schools and farmed. He is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Barrett.

Those who wish to make a contribution to the hospital fund for Ricky Barrett may deposit it in the First

Judge Puts Rein On PIK

District Court Judge Filemon Vela, Brownsville, Tex., has issued a temporary restraining order on USDA's "harvest-for-PIK" plan as it applies to eight cotton producers and members of Cotton & Grain Producers of Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The group's petition asked for a restraining order for all other producers as well, but the final order was limited to the plaintiffs at the request of the assistant district attorney.

The judge set a hearing for August 3 to determine whether a permanent injunction should be issued. While temporary restraining orders are usually for 10 days, this order covers a longer period because of a court vacation.

New York Author Headlines Amarillo Workshop

Shelby Hearon, prolific Texas writer now residing in New York, will headline the Panhandle Writers Workshop slated for Saturday, Aug. 6 at Amarillo College. Sponsored by Panhandle PenWomen, the workshop will include eight other study-group leaders whose subjects deal with a wide range of concerns relative to writing and publishing.

Hearon will speak at 8:40 a.m. on the subject of "Fiction as Still Life" and again at 1 p.m. on "Fiction as Screen Memory."

Author of seven novels and widely published in the non-fiction arena as well, Hearon is a native of Kentucky who spent much of her childhood in Texas and resided in Austin during the early part of her career. She is recipient of numerous awards and prizes for her writing accomplishments and is an experienced speaker, lecturer and visiting writer.

Her novels include: Afternoon of a Faun, Painted Dresses, A Prince of a Fellow, Now and Another Time, Hannah's House, The Second Dune and Armadillo in the Grass. It was to a group of Panhandle PenWomen that Hearon made her "first book talk" in 1968. The subject of that address, Armadillo in the Grass, and Hearon's first novel, is now being reissued by Pressworks of Dallas. In addition to a non-fiction work, Barbara Jordan (with B. Jordan), Hearon has published in The Dallas Times Herald, The Washington Post, Publishers Weekly, Redbook, Texas Monthly, LA Times, Houston City, The Writers' Handbook, Vision, McCalls and The Writer. She has served as a visiting writer and lecturer at both the University of Houston and University of Texas at Austin. Her awards include the National Endowment for the Arts 1983 Creative Writing Fellowship and the Guggenheim Memorial Fellowship in 1982. She is past president of the Texas Institute of Letters, has chaired the Literature Panel for the Texas Commission for the Arts and the Dobie-Paisano judges panel. Hearon was an active member of the Austin community, serving on the Arts Council and as president of the Junior League. She now resides near New York City.

Panhandle Writers Workshop activities will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 5 p.m. All activities will take place on the fourth floor of the Amarillo College Technology Building located at 24th Street and Washington.

In addition to Hearon's two addresses, study-group sessions are arranged for both morning and afternoon hours. During the course of the day, workshop participants can attend as many as four of the study-group sessions. Study-group subjects and leaders include: Enhance Your Writing With Quality Photographs--Helena Biasatti, The Quarterhorse Journal, Amarillo; Writing for the University Press--Keith Gregory associate director, TCU Press; Copyright Law--Jerry W. Mills, attorney, Dallas; Conducting the Personal Interview--Robyn Turner, author, Austin; How to on the Article: Query, Assignments, Sources, Preparation--Candace Farmer, former editor, Texas Department of Agriculture Quarterly, now freelance writer, Austin; Commercial Copy: Print, Electronic and Film--Carol Finch, owner Finch Publications/Public Relations, Amarillo; Inspirational Writing for Children--Roy Kornegay, minister/author, Amarillo; Living in Words (poetry)--Robert W. Wylie, college instructor/poet, Amarillo.

Cost of the workshop is $35 and includes luncheon and refreshments during breaks. Advanced registration is advised to facilitate luncheon preparation. Registrations may be mailed to Panhandle Pen Women, 2517 9th Ave., Canyon, Tx 79015. Enrollment in the workshop may also be accomplished between 8 and 8:30 a.m. on the day of the event.

Claudine's Country Club Comments

By Claudine Elliot

The Muleshoe Ladies Country Club Association met Wednesday, July 20 for lunch, a business meeting and golf. The ladies divided into teams of four and competed with each other for 18 holes of play. From whoops and yells of seeming triumphs all over the golf course, the teams must have been enjoying themselves. Of course this can be deceiving at a distance, some were yelling out of frustration. But all teams played well together because there were just three strokes different in all three teams. The winning team was Carolene Hamilton, Mary Crane, Lynn Campbell and Jeanetta Precure.

Something new for the ladies has been started. Each third Wednesday of the month, a ladies scramble has been organized. The ladies sure enjoyed this first one and it was a great success.

Neats, our Hi Plains director reported on the playday in Olton this month. Seven ladies went from here and had a beautiful day to play. Jeanetta won low net in the championship flight. Congratulations to Jeanetta! The next Hi Plains Playday will be in Farwell August 10.

Cookie, our tournament chairman, reminded all the ladies of our annual ladies tournament coming up Sept. 8th. Everyone interested in playing should sign up soon.

Neats gave out awards for the month to the following: June 22-Best score on No. 3 and No. 12 to Dorothy and Analita; June 29-Longest Drive on No. 4 to Claudine, Analita and Helen; July 6-Best score minus handicaps to Cookie and Dorothy; Cookie chipped in on No. 8 and Helen chipped in on No. 5.

This has been a fun month for golf with our new, bigger water hazards. A lot of lost balls to the water! See you next month.

INTERMEDIATE TWIRLERS... A contest Twirling Clinic for Intermediate Twirlers was held on Saturday, July 16 at the American Legion Hall. Grow Flowers To Tantalize Your Taste

Did you know that you can eat many of your favorite flowers?

Pink carnations, chrysanthemums, dandelions, geraniums, pansies and roses are just a few that will tantalize your palate, says Dr. Bill Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. They can be used in butters, soups, sauces and salads as well as in beverages, sandwiches, casseroles and desserts.

Either the buds, petals or leaves of these flowers may be eaten, Welch says. Wash them thoroughly, bathe in salt water and then dip in ice water to perk them up. Petals may be refrigerated for a short time in plastic bags.

The delicious possibilities are endless, says the horticulturist. Try lining the bottom of a cake pan with marigolds. Or blend softened cream cheese with chopped petals for a spread on crackers and nut breads. You can even freeze whole small flowers in ice rings or cubes for party beverages.

We don't know what it is about a $20 bill today, but you can't get any wear out of it.

Sarpalius

To Dedicate

TSTI Building

Senator Bill Sarpalius will be guest speaker at official building dedication ceremonies for the new Graphic Communications Technology Center at TSTI-Amarillo.

Ceremonies are slated to begin at 10:00 a.m. August 4 at the new building site on the campus.

The Graphic Communications Technology Center is the second new construction on the TSTI-Amarillo campus since classes began in the fall of 1970. The building spans approximately 29,500 square feet and will accommodate 220 students in any class hour. It houses Commercial Art in Advertising, Drafting and Design Technology and Interior Design Technology.

TSTI received funds appropriated by the 67th Texas Legislature, 1981 regular session, for the construction of the Graphic Communications Technology Center.

The completion of the building is one of the many steps taken by TSTI-Amarillo toward reaching campus master plan goals. Upon completion of these goals in 1995, most instructional facilities will be located in a pedestrian campus setting.

Architects are Hannon & Daniel, Amarillo, Texas; construction contractor is Perry Cates Construction Co., also of Amarillo.

In addition to Senator Sarpalius, dignitaries participating in the ceremonies will include: James DeCamp, Minister, Covenant Presbyterian Church; Ron DeSpain, Campus President, TSTI-Amarillo; and Dr. Jack Tonpkins, President, Texas State Technical Institute.

Following the ceremonies, the building will be open for public tours.

Vegetables...

duce Company, east of Muleshoe stated that the potato harvest for them began on July 4 and is expected to run through at least August 20. Ms. Box reported that fewer acres of the vegetable were planted this year and that hail had hurt the crops to some extent. However, potato prices seem to be at a good level and most of the quality is good according to workmen there.

All three processing plants have new and up-to-date equipment allowing them to process their particular vegetables in a minimum of time and making increased volume possible without increasing employees.

While some of the labor must be done by hand, the produce companies have made every effort to eliminate hand labor, even to the weighing of the vegetables. However, separation and grading must still be done by hand.

Vegetable harvest in the County area is just a little under the half-way mark towards being finished for 1983 and with a little luck and a steady market, vegetable producers could find themselves in very good condition by the time the harvest is through.

Chandler thinks that yields will be good if the needed moisture and a late, dry fall is the case.

Wheat in production in Farmer County totaled about 80,000 acres for 1983, and is already harvested, with some of the best yields reported in many years. The Farmer CED stated that hail did not severely damage the wheat in that county except in the extreme southwest part, being near Bovina and Lariat.

Farmer County has approximately 467,735 cultivated acres for 1983 distributed among 1390 farms. Of this total, about 55,000 acres is in cotton; 110,000 acres in corn and grain sorghum; 5,000 acres in Barley and 80,000 in wheat. Approximately 2500 acres of damaged cotton, according to Chandler, was most likely replanted to some other crop.

At this same time last year, most of Farmer County had virtually no crops in cultivation. Some producers had begun a replanting process. Because of the extreme devastation there, Farmer County farmers in 1982 received a total of $3,218,981 in disaster payments. Advance 1983 deficiency and diversion payments will be forthcoming in the near future according to Chandler.

And, so, this survey ends, but the prospects for the 1983 harvest are significantly brighter than those were in 1982. Many changes have taken place in farming in the last couple of years, and many more are expected. At any rate, those citizens who live in farming communities will know that the situation is much better now than it was a year ago; and hopefully, there is no way to go but up.

A GOOD STAND—Cotton in Bailey County, though behind schedule, is looking good right now. Blooms will be appearing in the next week or so and the need for moisture will increase as the plants put on more blooms. County officials say that a late fall and some rain is almost imperative for the 30 day late crop.

Avoid Mosquito Hazard

With Texas' heavy spring and summer rains, homeowners need to be on guard against a "bumper crop" of mosquitos and the health hazards they bring.

Encephalitis is spread by the bite of an infected animal, says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

State Horse Show Set July 25-30

Approximately 600 young people are expected to assemble in Waco July 25-30 to take part in the annual State 4-H Horse Show at the Heart of Texas Coliseum.

Billed as one of the world's largest and most competitive youth shows, the annual event will bring top 4-H horsemen of the state together for six days of fast-paced activities, announces Dr. Doug Householder, horse specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The State 4-H activity will feature some 28 different classes and these major events:

A "qualifying show" for 4-H contestants who have competed and placed high enough in district competition to be eligible for the state show.

An "open show" for 4-H contestants who take part in classes that did not require qualifying at the district level.

Futurity classes for yearling halter fillies, yearling halter geldings, and two-year-olds in a Western Pleasure futurity.

Open show classes, including Western and Hunter divisions, will be staged Tuesday through Wednesday night.

Qualifying show classes will be staged Thursday through Saturday.

Awards will be presented, to the high point winner of each category.

The public is invited to view the horse show.

Texas offers an ideal environment for encephalitis because of its large bird populations which can become infected with the virus and carry it great distances, she adds.

So far this year, the Texas Department of Health has reported no human cases of mosquito-borne encephalitis. But last year in Texas, 18 cases of St. Louis encephalitis in humans were reported.

In addition, infection from scratching mosquito bites and allergic reactions causing redness, swelling and itching are other possible health hazards.

While many areas have mosquito control districts or local health programs for reducing mosquito populations, homeowners should still take measures to prevent infestations, declares Shirer.

Homeowners should keep doors and window screens in good repair and make sure they fit tightly to keep mosquitos outside. A commercial spray can eliminate mosquitos which get indoors.

The best practice, however, is to eliminate standing water.

City Police Activity

Not So Fast Paced

Muleshoe City Police officers have been fairly active over the past week or so, with several types of incidents occurring. On July 12, officers arrested Sidney Dale Kirk of Monahans for the alleged issuance of bad checks to grocery stores in the city. He appeared before Judge Huckaby and was released after promising to pay checks off. On July 11, Roman Garcia, Jr. was arrested on a failure to appear warrant for an alleged traffic violation. He was booked into the county jail pending bond.

Maria Solelo was arrested on July 15 on charges of alleged possession of alcoholic beverages for resale. He was booked into the County Jail pending bond. Also on July 16, Modesto

Guzman was arrested on alleged charges of public intoxication and was transported to the county jail, pending bond.

On July 17, Juan Cardenas was arrested on charges of alleged public intoxication. He was placed in county jail pending bond. Also arrested on July 17 was Lupe Hernandez on alleged charges of Public Intoxication. He was placed in the county jail pending bond.

Stop Sale

Order On Fire

Ant Poison

The Texas Department of Agriculture wishes to warn consumers about the marketing of a product which may mislead them as to its effectiveness in killing fire ants. TDA has placed a stop sale order on Fire Ant Special Ant Liqueur, manufactured by Hide International of Longwood, Florida. Ron White, TDA's assistant deputy commissioner for regulatory programs, said the order was placed on Fire Ant Special Ant Liqueur because of the company's failure to provide any information about its effect on fire ants and to otherwise register the product under the Texas pesticide law.

"The product label makes no specific claim to control fire ants," said White, "and the label does not disclose its ingredients so it is impossible to evaluate its usefulness."

One Texas distributor of the product has voluntarily agreed to remove the product from sale, but the department does not know how many other outlets may be selling the Fire Ant Special Ant Liqueur, and White said, "we want consumers to be aware of this problem—they may be wasting their money."

Student Loans

The second lender, Certified Savings, will lend to students with a need of $1,750 or more and an expected graduation date of 1985 or beyond. However, applications must be received before September 10, 1983. Qualifying students should mail their applications to the following address: Certified Savings Student Loan Department 8525 North Lamar, Suite 245 Austin, TX 78753.

Mule Day Festival Tickets Go On Sale

Saturday, August 13 will be an eventful day in Muleshoe, packed full of events beginning at 6 a.m. and concluding on that day sometime after midnight.

The occasion is the annual Mule Day Festival, to be held at the Jeff Smith farm, two miles east on Highway 70 and one-half mile south. Everything for the day except the 10-K run, the miniature golf tournament and the regular golf tournament at the Country Club is scheduled to be held on Smith's farm.

At this time, Smith is constructing a new rodeo arena, which will incorporate a portable 'track' for the mule races. The new arena is just off highway 70 two miles east of Muleshoe.

He expects to also have adequate bleachers for the visitors at the rodeo and races, along with concession stands and an all-new arena for the performances.

At this time, Smith is asking for volunteer labor to help get the arena ready for use in three weeks. Most of the poles have been set, and the wire will need to be stretched and a roping pen built. A foundation has been run for the announcer's stand, and that area is expected to be completed soon, said Smith.

Advance tickets went on sale this week at several locations, including Reynolds & Young, Inc., Poyner's White Store; Valley Grain; Winkler Meat Co.; The Journal; or from the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Club members or any chairman for the Mule Day Festival events.

Tickets will be $10 on the advance sale, a savings of $2.50. They will be good for the rodeo, races and the party to wind up the eventful day. Tickets for the party only are $10 and may be purchased the night of the party.

Nine events are on tap for the rodeo alone, to be followed by the mule races at the arena.

Beginning at 6 a.m. will be the Omelet Rodeo, a breakfast to be served by the Muleshoe 4-H Club; this will be followed at 6:30 a.m. by the hot air balloons, with 10 already committed to be here, and an additional 5-8 balloons expected.

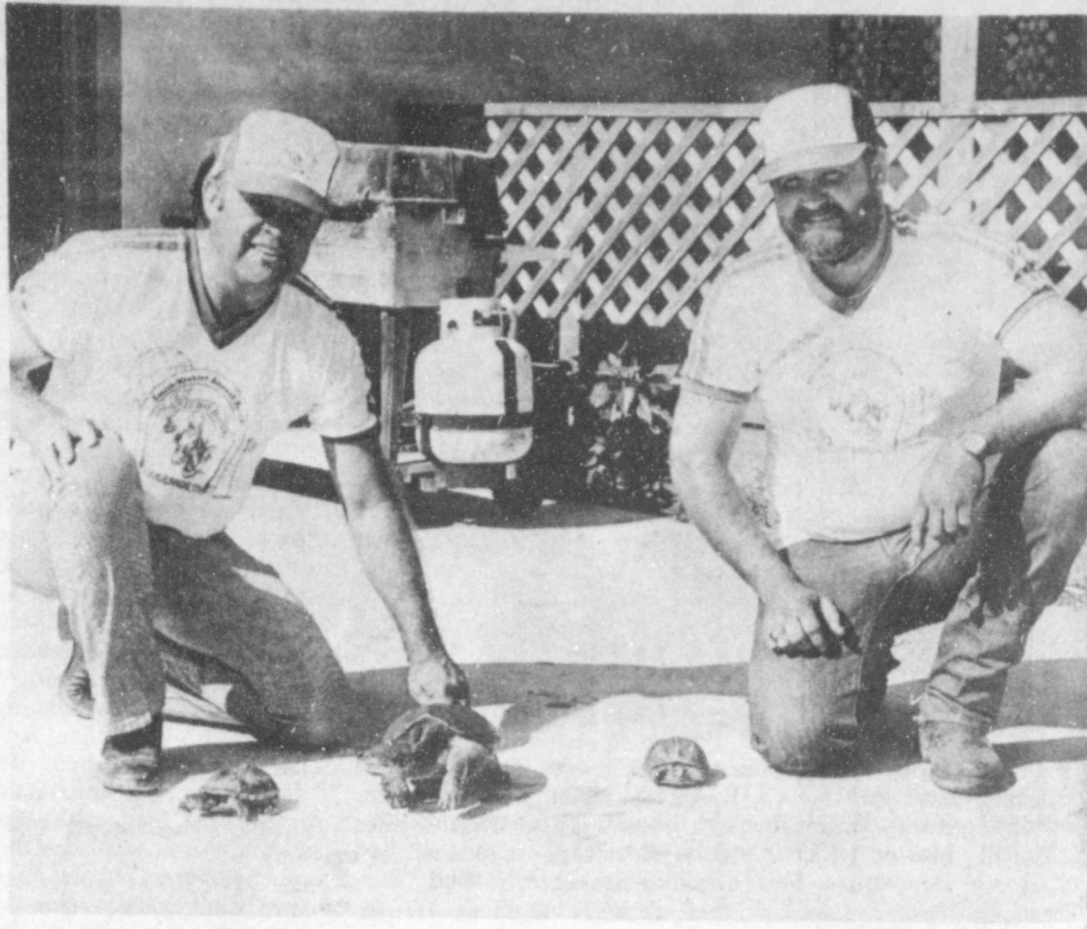

At 8 a.m., the partnership golf tournament at the Muleshoe Country Club, the 10-K run and the 2-mile run will get started. At 8:30 a.m. will be the Western Art Show, and the Old Settlers Reunion will be at 9:30 a.m.

Scheduled for 10 a.m. will be a square dance exhibition followed by the turtle races. Smith said he has two turtles "in training" and Larry Winkler is taking his turtle for "walks" as he trains it. The duo appears to be planning some fierce competition for the turtle races.

Most of the events during the day will be "free" but, the ones that will cost will be the Omelet breakfast, $3 for adults; the noon barbecue, $3.50 for adults; the rodeo and races, $2.50 for adults; and the evening party, $10.

Door prizes will be given during the afternoon for persons holding the advance sale tickets, which are numbered.

T-Shirts and caps also went on sale this week and are available at Antiques and Junk; the Muleshoe

Pawn Shop; Poyner's White Store, Valley Grain and Winkler Meat Co.

Smith and Winkler, and others, will be racing their turtles at 10:30 a.m., followed by the barbecue lunch served by the Chuck Wagon Gang from Odessa at 11 a.m.

The Mule Day Parade gets underway downtown at 12 noon, followed by the fiddling contest and the Mule rodeo at 1 p.m.

The Mule races will follow the skydivers. Skydivers are expected to perform at 5 p.m. and the races at 6 p.m.

It will be party time at 7:30, with the Muleshoe Fire Department serving calf fries, fish and all the trimmings at the barn.

Shelters have been started to help provide persons in the area of the barn shade and some comfort from the sun.

Monday night, attending a coordination meeting of the Mule Day Charitable Foundation were Jeff Smith, Larry Winkler, Doran Reynolds, Wayne Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Phillips, Rosalee Powell, Dr. Barry Cowart, Lionel Lane, Sandra Lane, Herman Morrison, Dick Chitwood, Rex Black, Lonnie Adrian and Cleta Williams.

A new addition to the day will be a trail ride that will begin at Lubbock, on Thursday, August 11. The

Other additional events are also scheduled, and will be listed as soon as final details are worked out.

Last, and perhaps most important, all the funds from the day will be given

Sudan All Stars Capture Tri-City Tournament

The Sudan All Star baseball team showed they are truly "Super Stars" Friday, July 8 as they handed the Earth All Star team a 8-6 loss to capture first place in the first Tri-City league tournament.

The Earth team was defeated earlier in the tournament by Sudan and had to battle their way back, only to face "power house" Sudan again.

The first inning was scoreless as each team had its feelers out, testing each other. The second inning Earth exploded to take a 4-1 lead with Sudan's only run coming from a RBI by Monty Edwards.

The third inning saw a struggling Earth pitcher give up two runs scored via base on balls, while the stiffening Sudan defense allowed Earth only two runs making a 6-3 ball game.

In the fourth inning the Sudan stars once again slipped on their glass slippers and their pumpkins turned into a coach bound for victory. Relief pitcher, Kyle Maxfield took the mound at the top of the inning, gave up two singles and sent three Earth batters back to the dug out. The Sudan offense came alive with singles by Gary Boyles and Jared Bellar, a double by Kyle Maxfield walked by Justin Holley and Jamie Gatewood, plus heads up base running and tied the game 6-6.

In magic number five after one out and two earthlings got on base Kyle Maxfield fielded a bloop back to the mound, fired to Joe Gonzales on second base who relayed to Jarrod Bellar on first base and the Earth offense was shut down without posting a single score. The Sudan trio of Boyles, Bellar and Maxfield stung the Earth defense for two more runs to take a 8-6 lead at the top of the sixth inning.

In the sixth inning Sudan held Earth as Maxfield struck out the first batter, allowed three walks, one deliberate, posted one out on fielder's choice at short stop and Maxfield again blew three past the next batter retiring the side.

The final total was the Sudan All Stars 8-Earth All Stars 6.

Sudan took first place, Earth second place and Amherst third.

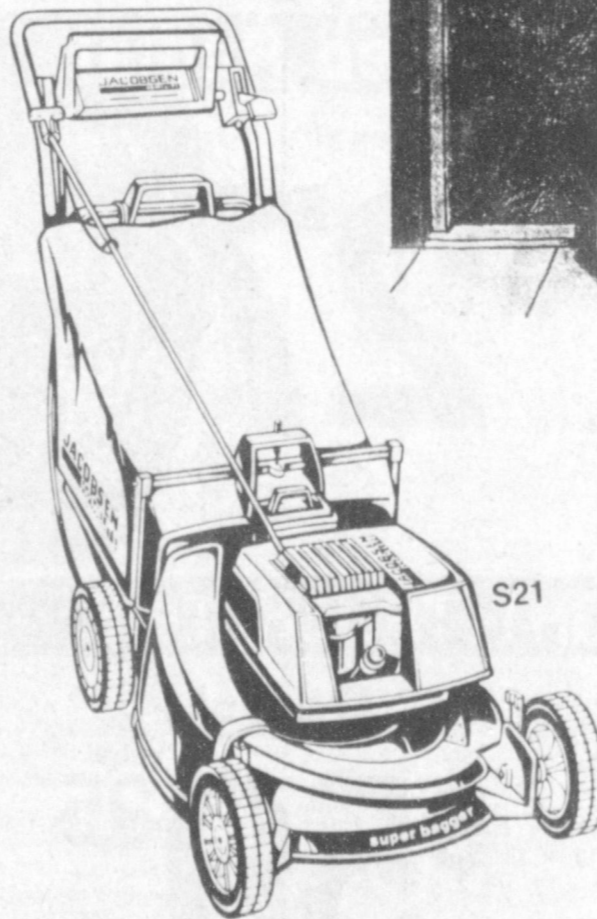

CORN IS LOOKING GOOD—Corn crops in the area are looking exceptionally good right now. Most of it is tasseling and farmers are really pouring the water to it, since this stage of growth requires a lot of moisture. With a dry fall, area corn harvest is expected to be good, according to officials.

Demand For Blood Donations Increasing

The demand for blood and blood components is rapidly increasing in communities across the country, as the tremendous therapeutic value of blood is realized. Medical advances and modern surgical techniques -- cancer treatments, organ transplants, and open heart surgeries -- continue to create an increase in demand. Lubbock and the surrounding counties on the South Plains and in Eastern New Mexico is an area in which the medical community plays a major role not only in the health of its citizens but also the health of the economy. Without an adequate supply of blood and blood products, the medical community cannot continue to advance. The all-volunteer blood bank is one way of assuring that safe blood supply for the region.

The all-volunteer blood bank operates on the basic premise that donating blood is a community responsibility which is part of one's service to the community, just as United Way or other community activities. Blood should be available to anyone who needs it, regardless of whether he or she is a donor or a part of a special donor group. Since blood is freely given by volunteers, there is never any charge for the blood itself. The patient is charged only a processing fee which covers the direct cost of recruiting donors, collecting, processing, testing, storing, and distributing the blood. Just as there are costs in any business, such as salaries, supplies, postage, electricity, etc., which must be paid in cash, there are costs for the blood bank. The processing fee covers these costs.

Since donors are not being paid and there are no extra costs to administer a blood assurance plan or non-replacement plan, costs to the patient remain among the lowest in the country. While total medical costs increased 146.5% between 1977 and 1981, the processing costs for red blood cells increased only 29.8% system-wide through 1982. Costs remain at the same level as 1981.

The all-volunteer system not only has the advantages of lower cost to the patient, but also helps to assure the continuation of a safe blood supply. With all the press coverage on AIDS, many people are concerned about the blood supply. Because donors in an all-volunteer system have no reason to not be honest about their medical history, the screening process is much more adequate than in other systems.

Shopping Around Difficult

Consumers don't always feel like they can shop around for the "best buy," especially when it comes to an operation or financing a new car.

"Consumers simply find it more difficult to shop for some products and services than others," says Nancy Granovsky, a home economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

In a Lewis Harris poll of attitudes toward the consumer movement conducted recently for the Atlantic-Richfield Company, consumers rated the food and gasoline markets at the top of the list for ease in shopping around, she reports.

It's easier to shop for good buys in food and gasoline because product information is easily available, there are many vendors, and prices are well-posted and advertised.

These markets are also more competitive, and the ones consumers use most frequently, notes Granovsky.

It's just the opposite when it comes to shopping for credit and medical services, which is why they were rated most difficult by consumers in the Harris Poll, explains the home economist.

According to Granovsky, who specializes in family resource management, credit and medical services are also viewed as more technical and complicated and may be characterized by long-standing relationships with a banker or physician.

Luther Malcolm Services Held In Brownfield

Funeral services for Luther Malcolm, 70, of Brownfield were held at 2 p.m. Friday, July 22 in the First United Methodist Church of Brownfield with the Rev. Glenneth Perry Harrington, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Terry County Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Brownfield Funeral Home. Malcolm died at 3:30 a.m. Thursday in Brownfield Regional Medical Center following a lengthy illness.

A Knox City native, Malcolm was born July 30, 1912, he moved with his parents to the Johnson Community in 1916. He was the postal clerk and carrier for the U.S. Postal Service from Oct. 14, 1941, until retiring Dec. 31, 1978. He married Ruth Groves on Nov. 10, 1949, in Clovis, N.M. He was a mason and a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth; two stepsons, Jesse Bryant of Muleshoe and Donald Bryant of Tyler; his mother, Mrs. Iva Lee Malcolm of Lubbock; six sisters, Mrs. Dolda Blackstock of Brownfield, Mrs. Ona Pauley of San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Iola Hopkins and Mrs. Francis Purtell, both of Lubbock, Mrs. Open Jones of Ropes and Mrs. Belda Wilson of Dallas; one brother, Geraydon of Waco; and five grandchildren.

tems. The incidence of transfusion related incidents is extremely low, and your community blood bank works around the clock to assure the public that the local blood supply is safe.

But an all-volunteer system will not work without volunteer blood donors. People must be willing to give the 70-80 pints of blood required each day in our area, and to give on a regular basis. Without the volunteer blood donor, there is not volunteer blood bank.

Local Woman's Sister Dies In Lubbock

Services for Molly J. Randolph, 73, of Lubbock were held at 4:30 p.m. Friday, July 22 at the Parkway Drive Church of Christ with Bill Yasko, minister of Sunset Church of Christ, officiating.

Interment was in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Resthaven Funeral Home of Lubbock. Mrs. Randolph died at 4 a.m. Wednesday at Colonial Nursing Home following a lengthy illness.

A Lubbock resident since 1955, Mrs. Randolph moved there from Roswell, N.M. She married Josh Randolph in April of 1926, in Tipton, Okla. He died Dec. 10, 1961. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include two daughters, Vonna Glass of Lubbock and Shirley Harris of Phoenix, Ariz., three sons, Troy Dawn, Royace Deloy and Kelly Dan, all of Lubbock; four sisters, Mrs. Nettie Watson of Muleshoe, Mrs. Ollie White of Santa Cruz, Calif., Mrs. Luda Scoggins of Cache, Okla. and Ovie George of Lubbock; two brothers, Alvin Bates of Hot Springs, Ark. and Melvin Bates of Hooks; 18 grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Beautification Grants Generate Employment

Twenty-nine Texas cities in predominantly high unemployment areas of the state have been awarded $1.7 million in federal park beautification grants that will generate new employment opportunities, Governor Mark White announced today.

Part of the federal Emergency Jobs Bill, the funds will be distributed by the Texas Department of Community Affairs for the rehabilitation of public parks, recreation areas and publicly owned or controlled land. TDCA is administering the Texas grants for the federal Small Business Administration.

Governor White said the Parks and Recreation Area Development Program will help generate approximately 800 new jobs for Texans that are not now receiving unemployment compensation. Only those communities with the highest rates of unemployment were allowed to apply for the funds.

"South Texas, where the national economic recession and loss of trade with Mexico have had a severe impact, will benefit greatly from this program," the governor said.

Over $1.1 million of the park rehabilitation funds will go to South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley.

TDCA will host a series of five public hearings to explain the guidelines for implementing the grants. Small, minority-owned businesses, such as nurseries and hardware stores are also expected to gain from the program which will include landscaping, tree planting, maintenance, renovation and conservation projects.
