Mountaineers Tie With Clyde O-O, Play Bangs

The Santa Anna Mountaineers already have a better record this year than they had all season last year. Friday night they tied the Clyde Bulldogs 0-0 in their first game of the season. Both teams showed lots of inexperience.

About midway in the first period Clyde intercepted a Santa Anna pass and as the result worked their way down to the Santa Anna 1-yard line, then received a 5-yard penalty and on the next play fumbled and lost the ball. By the end of the quarter the Mountaineers had pushed the ball back to their 25-yard line. Again in the second period the Bulldogs penetrated to the 11-yard line of the Mountaineers, only to be held for downs. By the end of the first half the Mountaineers had driven the ball back past midfield to the Clyde 44-yard line.

Early in the third period the Mountaineers recovered a Bulldog fumble on the Bulldog 24-yard line and penetrated to the 12-yard line before losing three yards and then fumbling the ball away. During the fourth period the Mountaineers blocked a Bulldog punt but couldn't get up steam enough to keep from losing ground.

These were the only three actual scoring threats. As the game ended the Mountaineers had begun another drive that carried them from their 24-yard line to the Clyde 46-yard line.

A large number of what we hope were first game mistakes were made by the Mountaineers, as well as by the Bulldogs. The Mountaineer offense was far from being good, but Coach Joe Van Breemen said he thought he could bring it up some this week. When Jesse Haynes and Robert McClure were taken out of the game because of injuries, it hurt both the offense and defense. McClure received a knee injury and Haynes received a shoulder injury. Neither injury is serious, but both will be out of the game this week.

Daniel Gilbert, who was injured before the season got underway, has had the cast removed from his broken hand, and is scheduled to take Haynes' place at tackle on the offense this week.

PLAY BANGS FRIDAY
The Mountaineers will play their second non-conference game Friday night when they play hosts to the Bangs Dragons on the local field. This will be the first game of the season for Bangs. They have a new coach this year and are light on returning lettermen and with experienced men. However, they are not to be considered an easy target for the Mountaineers.

Bangs was transferred into Class B competition this year. There was a good crowd that followed the Mountaineers to Clyde last week. We hope a better crowd will turn out to see the Friday night game.

AROUND THE DISTRICT
Llano, Mason, Cross Plains and Rising Star all won their opening games. Goldthwaite was the only team in the district who suffered a loss. Goldthwaite suffered a 12-0 loss to the powerful Class AA Hamilton eleven; Llano took Class AA Round Rock by a 19-6 score; Mason won over Class AA Fredericksburg by a 18-13 score; Cross Plains took Class B Baird by a 20-0 score; and Rising Star won over Class B May Tigers by one point, 7-6.

As far as we can find out, Rochelle did not play over the weekend, but both other non-conference teams the Mountaineers are scheduled to play won their games. Robert Lee took Leuders by a 46-0 score and Bronte won over the Stamford "B" eleven by a 6-0 score.

So the Mountaineers have their work cut out for them. We do not expect them to win the district, but we do expect them to have a much better record this year than they did last year.

Juniors Lose To Bangs 0-19 Tuesday Night

The Junior Mountaineers took a 19-0 pounding from the Bangs Juniors at Bangs Tuesday night in their first game of the season. The Dragons scored in each of the last three quarters, making one extra point in the second period.

Coach A. D. Donham said there was "just too much Bangs" for his inexperienced squad. Donham said the boys just did not have the fight necessary to win with. Their blocking and tackling was very insufficient, and some of them did not know their signals very well. Due to an injury in the backfield during practice Monday afternoon, the coach had to play one boy at halfback that did not know any signals. However, he said this was not the difference in the game.

Six boys on the starting lineup had never been in a game before and only one boy on the team has any experience to amount to. Donham said he expects the boys to show up a lot better after they acquire some experience but they will not be the team he had last year.

Milton Drake, halfback for the Juniors, got his left leg broken between the knee and ankle and two toes broke as the boys were practicing Monday afternoon. He was still in the hospital Wednesday morning but was expected to be moved to his home during the day. He will be out for the remainder of the season.

Next Tuesday night the Juniors will play the Junior May Tigers on the home field.

Frank Thigpen Rites Held Monday At Church of Christ

Funeral services were held at the North Side Church of Christ on Monday, September 10, at 10:30 a. m. for Frank Thigpen, who died at his home on Saturday. Jack Horton, minister, officiated.

Mr. Thigpen had been in failing health for a longtime. He had been in town in the morning. About 12:30 Mr. Thigpen went to take a bath. Mrs. Thigpen became alarmed after he had been in the bath room until about two o'clock. She called a neighbor, Mrs. John Gregg, for help. Mrs. Gregg called her husband and Dr. Tryon, who removed his body from the bath tub. The doctor said he had been dead approximately one hour when he arrived, from natural causes.

William Frank Thigpen was born on May 31, 1880 in Comanche County, being 76 years, 3 months and seven days old at the time of death.

A retired farmer, he had lived in Coleman County 45 years and about 16 years in Santa Anna.

Seven children were born to this union, all of whom survive: Mrs. Mattie Mae Watson, Gila Bend, Arizona; Mrs. Daisy Huddler of Fort Worth; Frances Fletcher of Graham; William Thigpen of Fort Worth; Ralph Thigpen of Santa Anna; D. L. Thigpen of Abilene; and Leland Thigpen of Stanton.

Four sisters and one brother also survive and eleven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Pallbearers were Charlie Fleming, Dick Baugh, John Perry, Alvis Griffin, Roy West and Bill Pritchard.

Flower bearers were Mrs. John Gregg, Mrs. Marshall Wallace, Mrs. Max Eubank, Mrs. C. T. Moore, Mrs. John Perry, Mrs. Buck Mills, Mrs. Bill Pritchard and Margie Fleming.

Stark as Adjutant; Ray Owen, Sergeant-at-Arms; and John Guthrie, Service Officer.

After the election of officers the members turned to other business and voted to attend a church as a group on Veterans Day, Sunday November 11. ## MERCHANTS SET PROGRAM FOR CHRISTMAS SEASON; PICK HOLIDAYS

The Santa Anna Merchants set up a tentative fall and Christmas Program schedule similar to the one held last year and selected six holidays to be observed for the year 1957 at a meeting last Thursday night.

Ford Barnes, manager of the Community Chamber of Commerce, this week is in the process of contacting all the local merchants and asking them if they have any new ideas on a fall program for Santa Anna. He is also requesting them to join other local merchants in sponsoring a Christmas Program on the same basis as was held here last year.

The group of about 20 local merchants voted to observe the following days as holidays during 1957: January 1st, Memorial Day (May 30), July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day. The group also voted not to observe Veterans Day on November 11, this year because the day falls on Sunday. Veterans Day was not selected as one of the 1957 holidays. November 30th was set as the day for the Christmas Opening in Santa Anna. Plans at this time call for a parade with a number of neighboring bands participating along with the Santa Anna Bands. Also every civic organization in the Santa Anna trade area is invited to enter a float in the parade. Prizes will be awarded winner, the amounts to be announced later. Santa Claus will also be present with candy and other goodies for the children.

Organizations are requested to decide on plans to enter floats in the parade at your next regular business meetings and to get your float committees to begin making their plans.

A large number of free gifts will be given away on Christmas Eve and all the cooperating merchants can tell you how the plan will work. It is planned to get the program under way on October 1st.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

It is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you. (Mat. 10:20.)

When I was still a young boy, I heard a preacher speak about Samuel and how God had spoken to him. I went home so much impressed with the sermon that I resolved to hear God speak to me.

That night I knelt beside my bed and asked Him to speak to me, for I longed to hear His voice and advice. I stayed in that position for a long time but heard nothing. Finally, I decided to go to sleep. I had not lost hope; I said to myself, "Maybe God will speak to me at another time, in another manner."

Many years have passed since that night. Now I can look back and say that God has spoken to me. I have heard His voice many times in many different ways. He has guided my life.

True, God does not speak to us when we decide we want Him to, but He will come to our aid when we seek Him diligently and in sincerity and truth.

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy guidance. Thou hast always been with us and ready to speak to us. Sometimes we have not listened to Thee or sensed that Thou wert speaking to us. Help us to hear and heed Thy voice that we may live in the spirit of the Master. In His name, we pray. Amen.

By faith we hear God speaking to us; by Christ's love in us we try to do His will.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

Divine Mind's triumph over the forces of materialism will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter".

Accounts of divine power and healing — including Joshua's victory at Jericho and Christ Jesus' walking on the sea — will be among passages read from the Holy Bible.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read (139:4): "From beginning to end, the scriptures are full of accounts of the triumph of Spirit, Mind, over matter. Moses proved the power of Mind by what men called miracles; so did Joshua, Elijah and Elisha."

The Golden Text will include the following (Psalms 81:10): "I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt."

Besides its dormitories and facility buildings, the group camp has a large recreation hall, a combination kitchen and mess hall with walk-in refrigerators, large ranges and a complete supply of utensils. An administration building and cooks' quarters make the camp operation easy.

Day campers and picnickers have large shaded areas for their use.

Connected with Bastrop State Park by a parkway 500 feet in width is Buescher State Park. There are small lakes in both parks.

1956 AMENDMENTS TO THE SOCIAL SECURITY LAWS

By R. R. Tuley, Jr.
Social Security Admin., Mgr.
Abilene, Texas

The 1956 Amendments to the Social Security law extends coverage to a large group of persons formerly excluded. Self-employed lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists will get social security credit and pay social security taxes on their net earnings for taxable years that end after 1955. Doctors of medicine are now the only self-employed people who as a group are not covered by social security.

The same provisions that have been in effect since 1950 for other self-employed persons will apply to this new group. First, unless the net earnings from self-employment amount to at least $400 for the taxable year, no social security tax or credit is possible. Second, the tax is to be paid in connection with the filing of income tax returns, even though there may be no income tax due. Form 1040, the standard income tax form, and Schedule C, showing how the amount of net earnings was arrived at, will be used.

Each such person should have a social security account number to enter on the tax return in the proper place. Returns filed without an entry showing the correct social security account number might mean that the person paying the tax would get no social security credit for the income reported. Every effort would be made to contact such person and secure the information, but the Social Security offices have found that they are not 100% successful in such searches.

Newly covered persons in this group will be fully insured for retirement at 65 or after (62 or older for women), or for survivors benefits on and after April 1, 1957, if their net earnings from such self-employment was at least $400 in each taxable year ending after 1955. A new booklet on this part of the Amendments will soon be available to those writing the Social Security Administration District Office, Abilene, Texas, and requesting a copy.

THE BLACK BLIGHT ON COTTON

A little considered but increasing alarm among processors of cotton is the costly presence of "tar spots" which result in big losses to the mills.

These black blights, unnoticed in the ginning process, are collected among freshly gathered cotton either through use of asphalt-coated pick sacks or by carrying cotton to market over freshly tarred roads.

When this happens and the cotton is subsequently ginned, all cotton in the bale is "contaminated" with tar spots which show up during cloth processing at the mills.

What's worse, when one bale of tar cotton is mixed with 39 other bales in the bleaching room at a mill, all material made from the entire 40-bale lot contains tar. This results in necessary price reductions of 10 to 20 percent, and in some instances, total rejection.

Now, more than ever, mills are pin-pointing areas from which blighted cotton continues to come. This may result in general penalties by industrial purchasers to innocent farmers who live in an area of careless neighbors.

The wise thing would be for everyone to discard the old asphalt-covered pick sack and to keep his raw cotton as clean as possible as long as it is still in his hands.

LATE REPORT ON THE MEDFLY

An alien insect who evaded immigration officials is the cause of growing concern among fruit-growing states.

The Mediterranean Fruit Fly, black and yellow and about 1/2 to 3/8 the size of a housefly, was first seen about three months ago in a grove near Miami, Fla. Since that time the pest has spread into 20 Florida counties and a resultant concentrated campaign is underway to check infestation.

For, if the Medfly should get a foothold in this country, the fruit industry of which Texas is a major part will be doomed to great losses.

The female of the species lays her eggs under the peel or skin of the fruit, and when they hatch, little white worms emerge and burrow into the fruit. Their wide appetite includes citrus, peaches, figs, peppers, tomatoes, cucumbers, squash and cantaloupe to name a few.

Texas and Federal quarantine experts are keeping a close watch on this worst of all fruit pests with a determination to prevent any westward movement.

H. W. Walker was home for the weekend from near Waco, where he is employed, visiting with his family. On Sunday morning he took his sons, Harold and Harry, to Abilene where they had an outing and he attended to business.

All farms with acreage allotments for cotton, wheat, peanuts, rice and tobacco, or base acreages for corn, are eligible to take part in the Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank. Farmers who participate will reduce their 1957 acreage of one or more of these crops below the allotment or corn base. All farmers who wish to participate in 1957 should work out their plans with the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announces. Payments will be made to compensate farmers for loss of net income resulting from crop acreage reduction. These payments will be based on normal crop yield for the reserved land, as determined by the County ASC Committee. Farmers may leave this land idle, or apply soil or water conservation practices on it. This land cannot be cropped or cut for hay during 1957 calendar year, and may not be grazed unless the Secretary of Agriculture determines an emergency exists. Farmers also may participate in the Soil Bank's Conservation Reserve for which all farm land regularly used to produce crops is eligible.

The county ASC office is now signing up wheat agreements. Joe K. Taylor said there was a limited amount of funds and are being used on a first come, first served basis. He said he didn't know whether more funds would be available or not and urged wheat farmers to call at his office in Coleman for information.

Dates Set For Vehicle Safety Inspections

The Texas Public Safety Commission has set September 15, 1956 to April 15, 1957, as the period during which automobiles and other motor vehicles must be inspected under provisions of the State's Motor Vehicle Inspection law.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said in announcing the Commission's action that motorists should avail themselves of the opportunity to have their autos inspected as soon after September 15 as possible in order to avoid the inconvenience and delay which is usually associated with the end of the seven-month period by a "log-jam" of car owners who wait until just before the deadline to have their vehicles safety checked.

George W. Busby, Chief of the DPS Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, stated that the more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations in the State would have sufficient supplies of stickers on hand by the starting date and would be equipped to check vehicles without delay.

Garden Club Has First Meeting Of The Year on Friday

The Mountain City Garden Club had an interesting meeting in a colorful setting on Friday, Sept. 7, at 9:00 a. m.

The meeting was in the form of a breakfast with french toast, jelly and coffee being served. Decorations were elaborate.

Plenty of zinnias and other late summer flowers were used with potted caladiums and other greenery.

Soloist for the occasion was Sharon Hoke, with Mrs. W. V. Priddy playing the accompaniment. Sharon was presented a gift by the club.

Sixteen ladies were present. Ladies mostly responsible for the lovely decorations and other features of the morning were:

Mrs. Arthur Casey, President; Mrs. T. A. Mills, Mrs. D. R. Hill, Mrs. Charles Moseley and Mrs. Sam Collier.

After the breakfast, business was attended to. The fall flower show was discussed. The time has not been decided upon, but it will be held in the Hotel Hospitality Room.

The club will continue to have cemetery improvement as its project.

The club continues to meet on the first Friday in the month, September through June.

Quinn - Purvis Vows Exchanged

Miss Rosemary Quinn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Quinn of Brownwood, became the bride of Merlan Randall Purvis, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Purvis of Santa Anna, on September 6 at 8:00 p. m. in the First Baptist Church in Brownwood.

The bride's father, assisted by Rev. Purvis, read the double-ring ceremony. Lighted candles illuminated the profuse decorations.

The bride's brother, David Quinn, was soloist and Jim Woodie was the organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Rev. A. J. Quinn Jr., was wearing a full length gown of candlelight satin, Alencon lace, French tulle and a semitrain.

Mrs. A. J. Quinn, Jr., was matron of honor and there were 4 bride's maids. Glenda Purvis, sister of the groom, was Junior brides maid.

A reception was held following the ceremony, in the formal parlor of the Girls Dormitory at Howard Payne College. Following their wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Brownwood, where they are both senior students at Howard Payne College.

The groom is music and youth director of the First Baptist Church of Santa Anna. Both Mr. and Mrs. Purvis are active in Baptist Student work on the campus.

Rev. and Mrs. Purvis, the bridegroom's parents, entertained with the rehearsal dinner on Wednesday evening in Brownwood, with 27 persons attending. On Tuesday night Sept. 4, a shower was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elgean Harris, honoring the bride to be, by the Y. W. A. of the First Baptist Church of Santa Anna.

Sen. Hardeman Discusses H. J. R. 15 Amendment

(Editor's note: This is the second of two articles by Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, concerning the proposed Constitutional Amendments, to be voted on in November)

This article concludes the brief resume of the proposed amendments of the Constitution to be voted on at the general election. It deals with H.J.R. 15 known as the "stock gambling" amendment.

A similar proposal was defeated in 1951 when it was submitted as a single and separate issue. Now, it is included with two other proposed amendments in a package-deal. Whether this was to mislead is not known. Certainly, it is "sugar-coated" in such fashion as to be hardly recognizable by the less discerning.

After embracing two lengthy proposals relating to the College Building Fund which are, more or less, window-dressing, although Lamar Tech at Beaumont and the Negro University at Houston are added, despite the allocation of certain other monies to these two schools for building purposes.

This "package-deal" is designed to provide a "legal" plan for "playing the stock market" with "O. P. M." (other people's money), namely, one-half of the Permanent University Fund of $250,000,000 with no other requirement than the exercise of "judgement and care under the circumstances then prevailing."

Bad investments or losses will be borne by the children of this and future generations and the Regents will have enjoyed the thrill of "playing the stock market" and competing with Wall Street operators at no personal loss or responsibility whatsoever.

The proposal is presented as broadening the investment base of the Permanent University Fund "to increase earnings... without any increase in taxes." Sounds good. Suppose, however, there is a loss of capital, then will it not have to be restored by taxes?

The sensitivity of the stock market to the President's health is well known. His heart attack threw a five billion dollar loss in the market in September, 1955 (later recovered with inflation) and his stomach ache in the early summer, likewise, caused a violent reaction in Wall Street.

Did the founding fathers who wisely established this Fund and provided for its investment in Tax-supported securities ever intend that a group of political appointees - nine Regents - should "play the stock market" or speculate with this Fund or any part thereof?

The yield from authorized securities - government bonds, etc., is now 2.7%. It is only proposed to increase the yield, assuming no loss, and all profit, to 3.4% percent or the magnificent increase of only sevenths-tenths of 1% if no loss is sustained.

The Regents are all men of highest integrity, engaged in various pursuits as to their financial wizardry or ability. I only know that "playing the stock market" is a hazardous undertaking, and, more so, with public money. If they are financial wizards their services would be "snapped-up" by investors everywhere.

An examination of the official

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM

AND LET US PASS IT ON TO HELP OTHERS IN SOLVING THEIRS.

BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

IN 1916 the United States Government retired as unfit from the Navy for service a young man twenty-eight year old who had been born with ambition. He loved to work, he loved travel, he loved knowledge, and he loved his country. His lack of fitness was due to a broken bone in his foot, suffered when playing football.

His problem was how to work toward his goal when he had been dismissed from the service where he might have had a chance. He might have even become an Admiral in the Navy if his chance hadn't been snatched away from him.

But there loomed over the horizon a new hope!—flying. World War I had demonstrated the potentialities of the airplane. That was IT. Aviation, that didn't require strong bones in his feet. Strong hands were more important—and a good head. Now he could travel. He would go North—maybe to the Pole. A high flying ship, the Shenandoah, offered him a chance. Then the Shenandoah was destroyed in a test flight. He appealed to the Government, and although his father was a Senator of the United States, no favoritism was shown him. The government refused his first request; that he be allowed to make test flights to ready a plane for crossing the Atlantic Ocean; then he made an appeal to be allowed to go with Amundsen to the Arctic Circle. "No," said the government. "We are sending only unmarried men; you are married."

But he wouldn't give up. He had a problem but he would solve it. Through what medium? Perseverance! So he persevered. Since then he has not only flown across the Atlantic, but over all the other oceans. He not only got to the North Pole, but to the South Pole—several times.

Today his title, conferred by the United States Government, is Admiral Richard Evelyn Bird. Is the name of any other American Admiral better known to you?

Traffic Emergency:

Although Traffic Problem Is Local Affair, Mounting Tolls Could Bring Federal Action

(Last of a Series) Federal intervention and all that it implies in the way of regulations, red tape and bureaucracy could be a distinct possibility and a threat unless local and state governments take firm steps to halt the nation's soaring traffic toll. Howard Pyle, former governor of Arizona now serving as deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, recently told a regional safety conference that the federal government may be required to act if traffic deaths continue to mount. "The people of the United States could cut traffic deaths in half in six months if they really wanted to do it," Pyle told the delegates. "What's happening on America's streets and highways today is murder—we might as well call it by its right name! And murder is something you just don't tolerate in a civilized society. "Nevertheless, we are tolerating it and we're assuming it's something that can't be helped. But it can be helped. "If the terrible traffic death rate continues, you're going to find an increasing determination on the part of some to appeal to the federal government to take over. "That is not the answer," Pyle stated. "It's the last thing President Eisenhower wants, but the drain on our resources must be stemmed. Hathaway G. Kemper, president of Lumbermens Mutual Casualty

Company and of American Motorists Insurance Company, said the problem "can and must be solved on the local level and the state level because that's exactly where it exists." Kemper pointed out that two out of every three drivers involved in fatal collisions live within 25 miles of the collisions. Five out of every six drivers in fatal collisions are residents of the state in which the collisions occur. "The fact that most drivers involved in traffic fatalities live nearby clearly shows where the traffic death problem must be attacked," Kemper said. "Because the problem is essentially a local one, I'm sure that individual communities and the states can do a better job of solving it than anyone in far-off Washington. "We also must recognize that federal intervention and federal control over 70,000,000 drivers must result in a new government bureau that will be larger than any we have today. Safety experts are agreed that our rising traffic death toll, which is now headed toward a record mark of 42,000 lives in a single year, can be halted by a determined effort that includes: Strict and impartial enforcement of realistic laws. —More vigorous prosecution in court and stiffer penalties for the more serious offenses. —More rigid license requirements to keep unqualified drivers off the road. —Revocation of driving privileges for accident repeaters and habitual traffic lawbreakers. —Uniformity in state traffic laws and practices. —Greater co-operation among states and among agencies within states. Progress is being made on all these fronts. But it isn't enough. It won't be fast enough until you, your family, your friends and your neighbors insist on it. To speed the progress and to make the roads safer for you and your loved ones, you'll have to get really angry whenever any police officer, prosecutor, judge or any other public official doesn't do his job properly. As an individual driver, you can help save your own neck, by obeying the traffic laws. Actually, traffic laws should be known as "safety" laws because the motorist who abides by them is a safe driver. Whenever you're a pedestrian, obey the law, too. About one of every four traffic victims is a pedestrian. Most pedestrian deaths occur because pedestrians, themselves, violate the law. They literally ask to be hit. Even if you, personally, obey the law, you still have to worry about getting hit by the drivers who don't. By insisting on and supporting strict and impartial traffic law enforcement, you can help reduce the toll taken by highwaymaniacs.

McCLOUD TURNS A TRICK

By D. L. Alexander

WHERE the trail ended and the street began the rider pulled his horse to a stop, and his eyes roved searchingly around, peering into the darkness and dense shadows that enveloped the sleep enraptured town. His ears were tensed to catch the slightest sound, but not even a dog barked to betray his presence.

He slipped to the ground after several minutes with a slight creaking of saddle leather, and ground hitched his horse. He walked cautiously in the tall grass that lined the street and made his way toward a light that struggled through the grimy window of the sheriff's office and splashed weakly on the building on the opposite side of the street.

Sheriff Jim McCloud was busy with a mass of papers on his desk. He wasn't aware of the presence of anyone until a small pebble hit the wall behind him and clattered noisily on the floor. He turned and regarded it in startled surprise until the order "hands up and freeze" was spoken. He obeyed instinctively.

The young man lounging in the doorway was trail weary and covered with dust, but the gun he held in his hand was steady. His face was darkly wind-blown, and a lock of uncombed brown hair straggled from the Stetson that was pushed far back on his head. McCloud regarded him with a half smile.

"You look just like your father, Jim McClaren, when we buddied together years ago on the Texas plains," he said.

"You can take your hands down," the young man said. He slumped into a chair and holstered his gun. "You were probably expecting me, and I'm so near played out I can't go any farther. I'll surrender. A posse is behind me, and they would catch me soon, anyway."

"Yes," McCloud answered, "I kind of expected you," he nodded at the telephone on the wall. "You're pretty tired, ain't you?"

"I've been riding for three days and nights, and have hardly had any rest or anything to eat. I've reached my limit."

"You show it. How far behind is that posse?" "About four hours."

"Hm. They ought to get here by daylight." He sat lost in reflection for a few moments.

"I'm running away from a murder I didn't commit," the young man explained. Old Ben Garwood was shot in the next county and it was blamed onto me. Hell, Sheriff, Ben and me were good friends. I looked after him and kept him from starving when no one else paid any attention to him."

"I see. Well, go back into the cell block and get into one of the bunks. Tell me where your horse is, and I'll look after it." "Up the street. Thanks, Sheriff." He rose and put his gun on the desk. McCloud watched him as he strode slowly through the doorway into the cell block.

The first streaks of daylight were showing when the posse rode up to the office and stopped. One man, evidently the leader, dismounted and entered the building.

"I'm Hitch Danvers, deputy from the next county," he announced to McCloud. "We're chasing young Jim McClaren who is wanted for murder. Have you seen him?"

"Glad to meet you, Danvers. Yes, McClaren is asleep in one of the cells. Want to go and see him?"

"Yes." "Lay your gun on the desk, then. I don't allow weapons back there. It's safer."

"Danvers obeyed. The two men entered the cell block, and the sheriff opened a cell. "Step inside," he suggested.

"Now, my friend, consider yourself under arrest. I received a telephone call a while ago saying Ben Garwood became conscious just before he died, and named you as his killer."
