Local Exhibitors Make Good Showing In Sheep Division of County Show

Billed as the largest county livestock show in Texas, the 26th annual Coleman County Livestock Show got off to a good start Monday morning and was completed Tuesday afternoon with the annual auction sale. The sheep division upheld its billing as "the biggest and best in Texas".

Some 430 lambs were entered in the show, about 100 less than last year. The drought conditions account for the decrease. Noel Fry, Del Rio rancher and wool-warehouse operator, placed the lambs and described the quality of the show as "simply wonderful". He said, "Every class here is truly exceptional in quality and finish".

Cattle, swine and capon divisions were judged Tuesday morning.

Glen Bragg, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bragg of Talpa, took top individual honors Monday in the sheep show with three championship titles. He had the champion fine wool lamb, champion Hampshire lamb and the reserve champion Southdown cross. Last year the FFA exhibitor showed two champions.

A familiar name in sheep shows over the state was also entered in the annual show. Sue Wise, sister of Wess Wise and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wise of Rockwood, showed grand champions in the Southdown and Shropshire divisions. She is a Santa Anna 4-H Club member. Both her champion lambs were bred by Wess, who completed his show career last year by showing five champions at the county show.

Gene Joyce, daughter of the Coleman Vocational Agriculture teacher and Coleman 4-H Club member, showed the grand and reserve champions in the Southdown cross division.

Milford Blanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Blanton, showed the grand champion Corriedale cross and the reserve champion of the fine wool lamb division. J. D. Grimes, Jr., of Nojave, showed the champion cross bred lamb and Kenneth Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harris, showed the reserve champion cross bred lamb. Kenneth also showed the reserve champion Corriedale cross lamb.

Bobby Densman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Densman, showed the reserve champion Shropshire cross.

Exhibitors of first place pens of three included: Bragg, fine wool; Blanton, cross bred Corriedale; Grimes, cross bred fine wool; Joyce, Southdown cross; and Wise, Southdown.

Showing second place pens of three were: Blanton, fine wool;

Harris, Corriedale cross; Blanton, fine wool cross; and Eddie Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hartman of Santa Anna, Southdown cross.

School Census Is Underway; Cooperation Urged

January is school census month for all schools in Texas, and the work to complete the school census for the Santa Anna Independent School District is well underway. This census will be used for the 1957-1958 school term.

Only those children who were born between September 1, 1939 and September 1, 1951 may be placed on the census roll. Children born on or before September 1, 1939 are over the legal school census age and those born after September 1, 1951 are under the legal census age.

The school requests the cooperation of all citizens in this vital project. Any parents who are missed on the census are requested to contact the school before February 1, 1957. The census office is attempting to contact all parents having children presently enrolled; this job should be completed before January 20.

Films On Heart Disease Shown Sun. At Methodist Church

At five p. m. Sunday afternoon three films on the heart were shown at the First Methodist Church, under the title of "Pump Trouble". These were educational films put on by the Delta Omicron Sorority. The showing of the films is a project of the state council of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Rev. Frank L. Turner conducted a short devotional and Mrs. Kenneth Bowker presided for the showing of the films. They were interesting and instructive.

It was recommended that people with heart trouble continue reasonable normal life and work with moderation. A yearly heart examination was one of the recommended features.

Dr. William Tryon was present and after the films, answered questions about the heart, which were very interesting and instructive.

Mrs. Jim Lovelady left last Saturday for a visit of several days with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Haynes and family at Albuquerque, N. M.

Blockade Saturday To Be First Major Event In March of Dimes Drive

The first major event in the annual March of Dimes drive will be Saturday when 18 members of the local National Guard have their "Peanuts For Pollo Drive" at the intersection of the Coleman and Rockwood Highways in the west part of town. Lt. Billy Joe Harvey, commander of the local company, said they plan to have the blockade set up by about 9:00 a. m. and will operate throughout the day, most likely until about 5:00 p. m. They will have 3,000 bags of nice fresh roasted peanuts on hand and will stop every vehicle and ask them to contribute to the March of Dimes by purchasing bags of peanuts.

Last year the National Guard raised more than $350 in this manner and it is hoped that more than that amount will be raised this year.

The second major event will be the "March of Dimes Coffee Day", which will be held Wednesday, January 23, with all the local cafes cooperating in the coffee sale. The Lions Club will buy the coffee for the cafes to serve; the Borden Milk Company will furnish the coffee cream and Piggly Wiggly will furnish a part of the sugar. Its all for a good cause and all the money taken in will go to the March of Dimes.

This would be a good day for you to enjoy that second cup and pay a good price for both of them.

No prices will be set on the coffee. You drink it and pay what you feel like paying. There will be containers on the counters where you will pay for the coffee.

The final part of the drive will be held Tuesday, January 29, when members of the Delta Omicron Sorority hold the annual "Mothers March on Pollo". This year the sorority plans to enlist the aid of a large number of students from the high school and some of the older students from the elementary school to help in the drive. The drive will be held between 4:00 and 5:30 p. m. and the entire town will be canvassed during that time. Plans are for members of the sorority to take designated sections of the town and drive the students around over it. The students will knock on every door and ask for your contributions to the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Wanda Campbell is chairman for the drive and Mrs. Gayle Stewardson and Miss Theola Stewardson are co-chairmen.

All the students taking part in the drive will be wearing arm bands as means of identification when they solicit your contributions. Everyone is requested to have your contributions ready when they come to your home.

The Mothers March and the Coffee Day are both sponsored by the Delta Omicron Sorority. Mrs. Kenneth Bowker is president.

Most of the local stores have March of Dimes containers in them and we urgently request you to put your change in these containers. A lot of small change soon amounts to a large contribution. Here is where your nickels, dimes and quarters will help at great deal.

V. L. Grady contributed $10.00 to the March of Dimes during the past week by depositing his contribution to the March of Dimes account at the Santa Anna National Bank. Others wishing to contribute this way may do so in the same manner or by leaving your contributions at The News Office.

Special Stamp Honors Polio Volunteers

UNITED STATES POSTAGE

This is the new commemorative stamp, inspired by the coming victory over polio. "Those who helped" are the millions of volunteers of the March of Dimes, scientists, doctors and technicians.

March of Dimes volunteers here and throughout the country have been honored for the fight against polio in the issuance of a special three-cent stamp. The Post Office will place the stamp on sale throughout the country Wednesday, Jan. 16.

The stamp is a "long vertical" and shows a woman with a protective arm around a boy and girl. She also holds a shield with a medical emblem symbolizing the partnership between civilian volunteers and the medical and science professions in the battle against polio. The legend reads, "Honoring those who helped fight polio."

4,000,000 Volunteers

This recognition by the U. S. Government points up the work of some 4,000,000 March of Dimes volunteers for the last 19 years in supplying financial aid to polio research and patient care. The crowning achievement of the program was the development of Salk vaccine.

However, as March of Dimes spokesmen warned, much remains to be done despite the protective power of the vaccine. There are 80,000 Americans disabled by polio who may still need treatment and rehabilitation. Thousands of trained personnel to administer care are needed.

In addition, research must be continued to improve the vaccine and develop new treatment techniques for the disabled. These are the needs to be met out of proceeds of the 1,957 March of Dimes.

Officials of the current drive urge residents to use the new commemorative stamps to send in March of Dimes Mailers—the little cards that hold coins and bills—to help finish the polio job.

POLIO: UNFINISHED BUSINESS

By mid-October, 1956, fewer than half of the 97,000,000 Americans who should be protected against polio by the Salk vaccine had started the prescribed course of three inoculations. The vulnerable age group is from six months to 35 years.

Chicago Epidemic Proves Value of Polio Vaccinations

Chicago's polio epidemic of 1956, the most intensive in the country during the year, underscored the protection afforded by the Salk vaccine, according to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Although 1,098 cases were reported up to October 30, with 682 of them paralytic, 699 of those who contracted the crippling form of the disease were children and adults who had received no vaccine. The anti-polio vaccine is designed to protect against paralysis, not against the disease in its mild, non-paralytic form.

Records of the Chicago Board of Health show that of the 682 paralytic cases, none occurred in a person having the full series of three injections; 59 were in persons with two shots; 154 in those with only one shot of vaccine. Thus 470 of the 682 paralytic cases occurred in people who were entirely unvaccinated.

Vaccination in Chicago before the polio outbreak had been confined almost entirely to school-age groups. About 73 per cent of all the cases, paralytic and non-paralytic, were in age groups in which comparatively few vaccinations had been given; 60 per cent of children under five and 13 per cent in persons over 20. However, health authorities put on an emergency vaccination program when it seemed certain Chicago was in for a big epidemic.

More than 1,000,000 shots were given in a period of four weeks. Epidemiological surveys indicated there might have been many more cases in 1956 had the last-minute vaccinations not been so prompt and so widespread.

The story of polio in Chicago in 1956 gives ample evidence of the wisdom of completing Salk shots before the polio season. Vaccine supplies now are ample for both children and adults.

More Shots Urged

Those who have had one injection are urged to get their second if they have not yet done so, since two shots give considerable if not maximum protection. And those who have had two shots seven or more months ago most certainly should arrange for the important third or booster dose well before polio incidence starts to rise in 1957.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER
EXCELSIOR

AMID the ice and snow of winter is a good time to read again the story of a youth who through an Alpine village passed, bearing a banner with the strange device, "Excelsior!" He was later found on the highest height, cold and dead, but he still grasped in his hand of ice a banner with the strange device, "Excelsior!"

Whether in winter or in summer, in spring or autumn, amid whatever toils and difficulties, let us never be satisfied with less than the best. Let us consecrate ourselves to the doing of our tasks well, whatever they may be. At the last day, when the King shall come in his glory and all the holy angels with him, he shall sit on the throne of his glory and of the nations gathered before him he shall judge every man according to his ability. And the man's ability in certain things will fit him to do yet other great things. Whereas he has ruled over ten cities, he will be appointed to rule over twenty cities.

The man of one talent who shall be cast into outer darkness where all opportunity shall be withdrawn, shall not be so dealt with because he has had only one talent but because he has not used what he had. Do well your part, that you may one day hear the King say to you, "Well done, good and profitable servant."

Did you know that clothes which you wash can be mothproofed in the rinsing? Simply dissolve the mothproofing mixture in the last rinse water and your clothes will have all the benefits. This is a wonderful treatment for boots and overshoes when they need washing. When you wash blankets, brush the blankets with a small brush just before they dry completely to

BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

RAYMOND PARTON, 608 Stockbridge Avenue Kalamazoo, Michigan, all his adult life had been a hard-working man. But that was all right, for he not only believed that work added to one's happiness in addition to being the means of a livelihood, but also, he liked the kind of work he was doing, "Specialized Printing Jobs for Particular People." So he took on more and more work. As time went on, he found himself virtually snowed under by his work. He took on a helper from time to time, but this proved the most difficult part of his business, to get men who could do the fine work he had always promised his clients. So he began going back to the shop in the evenings for an hour or two.

working now on Saturdays as well as in the evenings. By and by more ulcers. This time they took longer to conquer, and some of the treatment had to be done in the hospital. That meant relinquishing some of the fine jobs that came to him, for no one who worked for him could handle those jobs to Raymond's satisfaction. During his hospital stay he did a good deal of reading, plus a good deal of thinking. The upshot was that when he came out he resolved not to go back to the shop any evening, not to work on Saturdays, to remember that a holiday was a day for enjoyment. To his surprise he found that his income did not diminish. Working regular hours, and not taxing himself with overtime, he found that he could do more and better work than when pushing himself to the utmost, often carrying on with a tired feeling that was not productive of the best results.

WIDE, WONDERFUL WORLD

By FRANKLIN J. MEINE Editor, The American Peoples Encyclopedia

MOTHER SHIPTON'S prophecies are not all that legend has made them. A 15th century English prophetess, her name appeared on a tract, dated 1641, prophesying the deaths of Cromwell, Walsley, Earl Percy and others. The narrative now is regarded as fiction. Her prophecies foretold the invention of the steam engine, the electric telegraph, and the end of the world in 1881. However, these were additions made by a certain Charles Hindley in 1871, who acknowledged the fraud two years later.

If you could travel with the speed of light—approximately 186,000 miles a second—it would take you about one and one-half seconds to reach the moon, nearly 238,857 miles away. A "light year" is the time it takes a beam of light to travel six million million miles, or the speed of light times the number of seconds in a year. The nearest star cluster, according to the American Peoples Encyclopedia, is about 100 light years away. Star clusters more remote than 10 or 12 thousand light years in distance cannot be seen because of clouds of interstellar dust.

Large Crowd Attends Sunday Singing The regular Second Sunday Singing, held in the First Christian Church last Sunday afternoon, drew the largest attendance it had had in many months.

Attendance locally was good and there were many from towns and communities not previously represented.

It was nice to have Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand present from Cross Plains, after a several months absence. Also Mr. F. E. Meek from near Brownwood, who had not been present since before the death of his wife.

Among those from a distance who had not attended before were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Center and son of Gustine. They added much to the afternoon in special numbers. His mother, Mrs. J. D. Center, Sr., came with them. Her late husband is remembered as a fine song leader in this vicinity.

The next singing will be at the North Side Baptist Church at 2:00 p. m. February 10, when a good attendance is hoped for.

Two New Booklets Will Help Your Fix Your Income Report

This year two booklets have been developed by the Internal Revenue Service to assist taxpayers in preparing 1956 tax forms.

The 1956 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax" booklet, a very popular publication in past years, contains a wealth of information. There is a marked increase in subject matter, and covers such subjects as: who must file a return, when and where; nontaxable income, personal expenditures, sick pay, retirement income, deductions, medical expenses, traveling expenses, collections, and refunds, what type of return to file, and the substance of many of the regulations based on recent tax laws.

In addition, this year is a new companion publication entitled "Tax Guide For Small Business." This informative booklet provides the answers to tax questions and problems common to most small businesses, deals with Federal income, employment excise tax problems of corporations, partnerships, sole proprietorships, and covers the operation of a going business, the establishment of a new business, and the liquidation of a business. Copies of either, or both of these booklets, may be had for 30 cents per copy, from the Dallas Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, Room 3-104, Merchandise Mart Building, Dallas 1, Texas. Sorry, a remittance of postage stamps is not acceptable.

HINTS OFFERED ON ESTABLISHING AND MANAGING THE LAWN College Station—Good lawns don't just happen. They are the product of considerable time and effort, says E. M. Trew, extension agronomist. A fertile soil, adapted grasses, and drainage along with proper watering, fertilization and mowing are essentials for establishing an attractive lawn.

A sandy loam soil high in organic matter is considered best for lawns. The lawn area should be graded for proper drainage and smoothness. Sand may be added to clay soils or clay to loose soils in order to make them suitable for lawns, says Trew. A soil test is recommended in order to know just what kinds and amounts of plant food should be added to the soil. The fertilizer should be worked into the soil by plowing or spading. The addition of organic matter will improve the organic and water holding capacity of the soil but in new lawns, Trew recommends the use of a nitrogen fertilizer along with the organic matter to take care of the decomposition process.

and Kentucky bluegrass can be used in the Panhandle area for Perennial Ryegrass, tall fescue permanent lawn grasses if irrigated.

Trew recommends that only high quality seed of a single grass, not a mixture, be used for lawn seeding. Lawns may also be established with sprigs or by sodding, depending upon the grass used. The new lawn should be watered lightly and frequently until it is established. Then less frequently and in increased amounts as needed. Mow frequently, clipping only about a half inch of growth at each mowing. Fertilize throughout the growing season for an attractive, vigorous growing lawn.

SCANNING THE NEWS

ONE of the most interesting questions which most likely will arise in the 85th Congress, is whether the legislators will accept the pre-statehood election of two United States Senators and a Congressman-at-large from the Territory of Alaska.

There are precedents both ways. For instance about 160 years ago, the Territory of Tennessee had difficulty in establishing its own state sovereignty and being admitted to the Union. The land now comprising Tennessee was originally owned by North Carolina which ceded the territory to the general government in 1784 on condition that it be accepted into the union within two years. Congress, however did nothing and North Carolina took back its territory. However in the meantime Tennessee had organized its territorial government and was ready to fight for it, until finally in 1790 North Carolina again ceded the territory and this time the Federal Government accepted and set up a territorial government at Knoxville. In 1795 the territory had the necessary 60,000 white inhabitants then necessary for statehood and a constitutional convention was called in 1796. The legislature even though the territory was not yet a state, elected William A. Blount and William Cooke as United States Senators and Andrew Jackson as a Congressman-at-large. The trio went to Washington and demanded credentials in the Congress. However history reveals they were permitted to sit as "spectators." Tennessee was admitted to the Union on June 1, 1796, but the elected senators and Andy Jackson were forced to go back home, stand for reelection and took their seats in Congress the following December. This Tennessee plan, so-called was adopted by Michigan in gaining admission to the union in 1837, by Iowa in 1846, California in 1850, Minnesota in 1858, Oregon in 1859 and Kansas in 1861.

In the California case, William M. Gwin and John C. Fremont, "senators" elected from California, elected before statehood, were permitted to take their seats on the same day the President signed California statehood bill despite the efforts to declare them illegally elected.

Now Alaska, long denied statehood, has adopted the Tennessee plan, and following adoption of a constitution by a territorial convention which authorized holding of elections for two senators and a Congressman last November, is pushing at the doors of Congress for admission of their representatives.

Former Governor Ernest Gruening, and Businessman William A. Egan, were "elected" as United States Senators for a six and four year term respectively, and Attorney Ralph J. Rivers to the House of Representatives, all Democrats. These gentlemen travelled down the Alcan Highway from where they were scheduled to go to Nashville from Seattle to be greeted with a full-scale reception by Tennessee's Governor Frank Clements at Nashville. From there their trip to Washington to importune Congress for seats in the 85th Congress may or may not meet with success. . . Even if Congress does grant Statehood to Alaska, they may have to go back home for another try at election.

Businesses With Payrolls Urged To Get W-2 Forms Out

Businesses with payrolls were urged today by E. C. Wentreck of the Internal Revenue Service to release 1956 W-2 tax withholding statements to their employees now to speed up filing, payment and adjustment of many individual taxpayers' returns.

With their W-2s available, taxpayers will be able to prepare their own income tax forms at once and send them to Internal Revenue Service, 2101 Pacific, Dallas, Texas. Make checks or money orders payable to the Internal Revenue Service. Please don't send cash, IRS asks.

"To hundreds of our fellow citizens," Wentreck said, "the withholding tax represents their entire tax indebtedness. In some instances, there may be a small overpayment or underpayment. Such cases can be easily detected when the individual reads the comprehensive instructions. We'd appreciate taxpayer cooperation in getting all such forms in to us at once. That will help us take care of the heavy workload during the deadline period.

"Our office will gladly help taxpayers with knotty problems. If you think a phone call will do the trick, call us at 2-7639, Dallas, Texas. If you feel that a personal visit is the only way, come in and bring your papers, including everything concerning your income for 1956.

U of T Admission Tests To Be Given February 9th

Austin, Texas, Jan. 16 — University of Texas admission tests will be given February 9 in 43 Texas cities to an estimated 3,000 high school seniors. Applications will be accepted until January 31 at the University's Testing and Guidance Bureau.

Tests are open to high school seniors, high school graduates and college transfers who plan to enroll in the University for the summer session, fall semester or later.

The University requirement of admission tests in addition to acceptable high school or college records became effective last fall. College Board Aptitude Test scores, taken at the expense of the applicant, will be accepted in place of the University tests, which are given free of charge.

Towns in the Santa Anna area where the tests will be given February 9 are: Abilene, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Fort Worth, Lampasas, San Angelo and Waco.

"Although comparable forms of the tests will be given in May and August, students are advised to enroll for the February tests," Dr. H. T. Manuel, Testing and Guidance Bureau director, said. "The earlier testing gives ample time for planning with high school counselors for a re-test if this is necessary."

WEDDING PRESENT

By F. L. Rowley

WHAT kind of a present can one buy with five dollars? George Breen sat in his favorite spot behind the garage trying to decide. Lilac bushes flanked his nook on one side; a rustic fence protected the other. Sunlight warmed the bench—and George. He thought of the many times little Alice had run to this spot with one of her childish problems, and how he, Uncle George, had invariably solved it.

Suddenly Alice was no longer a child. Saturday she would become the wife of Lt. John Farley. George crushed the five-dollar bill in a wrinkled fist.

A car purred into the garage. Alice and her lieutenant had returned from their shopping trip. "But John, it's not fair!" Alice seemed angry.

John's voice was strained: "Colonel Parker is a fine officer. When I applied for this furlough I made myself quite clear—about the wedding and everything. Perhaps something more important has come up."

"More important! MORE important!" Alice was sobbing now. George squirmed on his bench.

"More important to the army, I mean," explained John. "And Colonel Parker has never been known to change his mind."

George watched them thoughtfully until they entered the house.

"Doggone!" he exploded. "Nobody can treat my little Alice like that! Colonel Parker—bah! Puts his name at the end of a telegram and everybody's supposed to jump. Why, I could—"

He chuckled happily as he boarded the bus for Taylorville. It would take only a few minutes to send a telegram and sign Colonel Parker's name to it. When the smoke cleared Alice would be married—and he'd be in trouble for impersonating an officer; perhaps forgery. He wasn't sure what he could do for Alice.

When George returned home the sun was setting.

Alice met him at the door: "Oh, Uncle George, I have the most wonderful news! Colonel Parker has just told us to go ahead with the wedding. He said he made a mistake in ordering John back to camp this Friday; it should have been Friday of next week."

On the morning of the big day George decided to visit Lt. John Farley in his hotel room. The boy must have the shakes by now; he'd welcome a bit of assistance. Besides, George wanted to make sure that the military police hadn't marched off with the groom.

When he tapped on the door of John's room it was opened by a gray-haired man in army uniform. Lieutenant John Farley came forward to peer over the older man's shoulder.

"Oh, it's you, George!" he said pleasantly. "Colonel Parker, I'd like to have you meet George Breen—Alice's uncle."

"Colonel Parker?" George choked on the name.

"Yes, Mr. Breen. Remember me? You sent a telegram for me several days ago—without my permission!"

Looking helplessly at the stern features George was grateful for one thing: he was too old to be drafted. "You know about the telegram?" he groaned.

"Right, I know, Mr. Breen. And Alice knows; it was she who phoned me to verify your wire."

George winced. So Alice had suspected him all along. He looked at the colonel. "And now you're here to—?"

J. T. Oakes' Observe Golden Wedding With Open House

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Oakes, Sr., observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday, January 13 from 3 to 5 p. m. by holding open house for relatives, friends and neighbors, at their home north of town.

Mrs. J. W. McClellan greeted guests and presented them to the receiving line, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Oakes and four of their children, Mrs. Otto Wojtek, Lenton Oakes, Vernon Oakes and Fred Oakes.

Three children unable to be present were Mrs. C. F. Konze of Iowa City, Iowa; Mrs. Norman Walters of Washington, D. C.; and J. T. Oakes, Jr., of Baton Rouge, La.

The living room had pot plants of gold mums and other pot plants were used throughout the house, many of them being gifts.

The dining room table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an attractive arrangement of yellow mums. Mrs. Frank Turner, whose husband was Mrs. Oakes' uncle, directed guests to the dining room.

The lovely 4-tiered wedding cake was at one end of the table and the punch bowl at the other. The appointments on the table were of crystal.

The napkins had the names of the couple in gold, as did the streamers from the center piece.

Daughters-in-law, Mrs. Vernon Oakes and Mrs. Lenton Oakes, were assisted in the serving by the Oakes' granddaughters, Carol and Frances McClellan.

Mrs. Ralph Brisbin, another granddaughter, presided at the register, which was signed by 114 guests. Others assisting in the receiving were Miss Clara Jean Stewardson and Mrs. Ted Walker, niece of Mr. Oakes. It was the Ted Walker's 15th anniversary.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Louis Guthrie, Clara Jean Stewardson, Frances McClellan and Gene Williams. The honorees received many gifts, among them a chest of silver presented by the Presbyterian Church.

The couple have been active members of the church for many years. Mr. Oakes has been Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent of the Sunday School for 48 years, and Mrs. Oakes has taught in the Sunday School a good many years.

Miss Lora Williams was married to James Turner Oakes on Sunday, January 13, 1907, in the Trekkham Community by the Rev. Harris, a Methodist minister, who was the pastor of the Cleveland Methodist Church.

The couple were living in the Cleveland Community, very near the present Methodist Church. They moved to Santa Anna in 1910 and have made their home here since.

Relatives from out of town here for the observance were Mrs. C. A. Poston and daughter, Mrs. Don Smith and Don Paul Smith, of Sweetwater; Mrs. Poston is a sister of Mr. Oakes; Mrs. H. A. Williams and her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Williams of Brady; Mrs. W. F. Holt and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Swafford of Abilene; Dr. and Mrs. Carroll Holt and Dr. Carroll of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Welton Holt, Annie, Jerry and Donnie, of Fisk; Frances McClellan and Mrs. Ralph Brisbin of Austin.

Mrs. C. D. Bruce Is Speaker At District Club Meeting

There were 86 members present from over the Sixth District of Texas, in Brownwood when club women met there for an Institute. Members of the Self Culture Club going from Santa Anna were Mrs. C. D. Bruce, Mrs. Hardy Blue, Mrs. Cullen Perry and Mrs. Norval Wylie.

A forum on club projects, at this time of year, was held in the ballroom of Hotel Brownwood.

Mrs. Bruce, former president of the Sixth District, was a speaker for the occasion, her subject being "Duties of Officers." When Mrs. Bruce was president, she served one and one-half terms, when it had been the custom to serve only one term. Many Santa Anna friends, and those elsewhere, think she would have made a good state president.

Santa Anna lays claim to one state president, Mrs. J. W. Walker of Painview, who was born here, as Lucille Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hill, who moved to Eldorado when she was a young girl. She visited here during her term as state president.

Mrs. R. C. Gay Hostess To Self Culture Club Meeting Friday

The Self Culture Club met with Mrs. R. C. Gay on Friday, January 11, when an interesting program was given on Religious Leaders in Texas.

Miss Bettie Blue, program chairman, introduced the speakers.

"Part Played by Churches in Frontier Life" was discussed by Mrs. Sam Collier, who read history of various early day religious bodies. "Church Schools in Texas" was Mrs. Preston Bailey's subject. She told of the strict rules early church schools had. "Andrew Jackson, Potter Pioneer Minister" was discussed by Mrs. Nora Woodruff. He evangelized much west of San Antonio. A devout preacher who carried a gun as well as a Bible.

"George W. Truett" was Mrs. Otis Bivins' subject, and she brought out many interesting points about this great Baptist preacher, who was known the world around.

Following the program, there was considerable discussion by the group, concerning what they remembered of early day preachers, churches and schools.

Those attending besides the above mentioned were Mrs. J. L. Harris, Miss Alta Lovelady, Mrs. Charles Ing, Mrs. J. C. Mathews, Mrs. W. B. Sparkman and Mrs. A. L. Oder.

The next meeting will be on January 25, in the home of Mrs. C. L. Eeds.

Duval Methods Closely Parallel Repression in Hitler's Germany

By-FRANZ ROSENWALD

SAN DIEGO, TEX.—The Parr family, ruling dynasty in the malodorous Duchy of Duval, was in the boss business long before Adolph Hitler was ever heard of in my native Germany.

Hitler was painting bad picture postcards and living in a Vienna flophouse while Tsar Parr was running things high, wide and handsome in this sun-seared section of Texas.

As a German, and reputedly a bit of an expert on dictatorships (I've seen the Red, kind and the Brown, or Hitler, kind), I've been asked to look at Duval from that point of view. I came, I saw and I shuddered. Duval was too much like home.

Let anyone consider a Hitler Germany-Parr Duval comparison as an invidious one, remember that I'm making no such comparison. I don't have to. History beat me to it.

Let's look at a curious, and disquieting, situation in Germany at this moment. Then we'll look at an interesting incident just a few months ago in the Grand Jury room in the Duval County Courthouse here in San Diego.

In West Germany "ex"-Nazis are being brought to trial on all sorts of charges harking back to the days of Hitler, war crimes, theft of public funds, graft, political murder.

A few years ago these same men were mousy, quiet, biding their time. Today they're arrogant, truculent, threatening.

In court they thunder at the judge and thunder at the jury, daring them to convict. The day is coming, and soon, they shout, when the "right" will triumph, when the hated foreigner will be thrust from the sacred soil of the Fatherland. On that day true Germans will know what to do. They'll punish the enemies within and the enemies without.

This courtroom strategy is working like a charm. The frightened jurors are acquitting the Nazi bully boys one after the other.

Now let's get back to the Grand Jury room in the Duval County Courthouse here in San Diego.

Red-headed George Berham Parr, of Duval, has been hailed before the jurors and questioning him is Sidney Chandler, assistant to Attorney General John Ben Shepperd. Chandler doesn't get very far with the Duke. Parr stands on his constitutional rights, invoking the "Fifth Amendment" — that a man may remain silent if his testimony might incriminate him — or even tend to incriminate him. Then the jury adjourns and Chandler mops his brow in frustration.

"Sidney," Parr said, "I've got something to say to the jury." Chandler, curious, told him "Go right ahead."

Parr turned quietly to the jury and eyed each man in turn. He knew each man by his first name, and he reminded them of that. One grand juror was a Parr tenant, another an employee, several owed him money.

Then Parr's voice rose in fury to a crescendo. He shook his fist in the face of each man, shouting that soon there would be a new State government in Austin, a new government in Washington — and George Parr would again be firmly in the saddle. Then there would be a reckoning, a settling of scores.

One grand juror described the scene to me this way: "He yelled and screamed so loud you could hear him in Alice ten miles away." County employees came out of their offices and stood on the stairs outside the Grand Jury Room, listening in awe. Parr's tirade went on for twenty minutes.

"I respect you as Grand Jurors," he raged, "but only so long as you sit in this room. Outside of this room I don't have to respect you a G... D... bit, not a damn bit. Outside of this room I do as I please. Remember that! Remember that, all of you!"

That Grand Jury, white-lipped and frightened, listened — but right there the parallel ends. Unlike the cringing jurors in Germany that jury in Duval braved the threat of wrath to come and voted thirty-one indictments against members of the Parr machine.

We'll take just one more example of intimidation, an effective weapon in the hands of any efficient political boss or any dictator. Here in San Diego those terms are interchangeable.

On Monday, July 16, my writing partner and myself sat in the court room in San Diego, District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin presiding. The suit, brought by Manuel Trevino and Manuel Olivares, was to contest the results of last April's civic elections in San Diego when Parr forces captured four out of five seats on the city council.

The action was of particular importance because if it succeeded in unseating one of two Parr men, Alberto Garcia or Leopoldo Sepulveda, the Duke of Duval would have been stripped of his private army, the San Diego police force.

Here's the way it works: Never in its long and stormy history has San Diego had a police department. None was needed because the sheriffs of Duval County and Jim Wells County, together with their deputies, were well able to handle things to the taste of George Berham Parr. At one time Duval County alone had as many as 200 deputies, gun-slitting pistoleros. Some people put the figure as high as three hundred.

But Parr no longer controls the sheriffs. So the San Diego council dutifully gave him a police force with Manuel Amaya, former deputy sheriff, as chief.

Amaya and his constables are officially paid $50 each per month. Under Texas law a peace officer must be paid at least $40 per month from the public purse before he has the right to pack a pistol.

I have talked to these men, sat with them in the Windmill Cafe, favorite haunt of Parr supporters. They eat well, dress well, have their own cars and show no signs of poverty. Yet their official pay is less than $12.50 per week. Parr reputedly makes up the difference out of his own pocket.

I watched these men in action in Judge Laughlin's court room that hot and sleepy afternoon.

It was a job of straight, out and out intimidation of witnesses. One lone Texas Ranger, Wiley Williamson, sat near the judge's bench, keeping a wary eye on the scene.

Parr's policemen, their .45's loosely holstered, circulated about the big room, here whispering into the ear of a witness, there patting another on the back, digging playful knuckles into the ribs of yet another.

The policemen were smiling, jovial, friendly. But the witnesses weren't smiling. They had fright written all over them.

Through a Spanish interpreter the witnesses, dozens of them, were sworn in as a group. Then the questioning began, with the interpreter relaying the questions and answers. It was amazing how much the witnesses couldn't remember. Their voices were hardly audible.

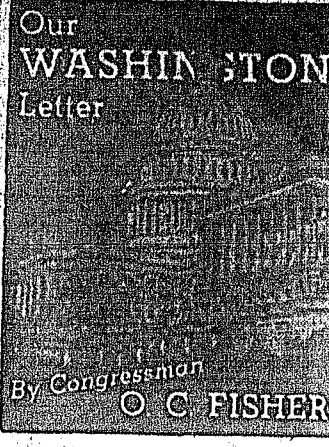

They couldn't remember, for example, whether they'd ever been convicted of a crime and so lost their right to vote. Or whether they'd received pardons from the governor and so regained their civil rights. One after the other they shuffled to the stand, and one after the other they "could not remember."

My partner and I were in the courtroom for but part of one afternoon of the four day hearing. That was enough to see Parrism in action.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Laughlin ruled that one Parr man, Leopoldo Sepulveda, had lost his seat to Manuel Trevino. The election of Alberto Garcia was confirmed, but the anti-Parr forces now had a three to two majority on the city council. The case was immediately appealed, the Parr man keeping his seat for the time being.

Thus George Berham Parr keeps his police force.

(Note: since this article was written another election was ordered by a higher court and Parr lost control of the city government. Thus, his last means of keeping his pistoleros armed was taken away. Earlier he lost control of the Commissioners Court after a months-long series of court battles with Attorney General Shepperd, and saw his old enemy Donato Serna installed as Duval County auditor after more than a year of resistance which took the case up to the Texas Supreme Court. Putting an impartial man in the county auditor's position, Shepperd explains, was the key to blocking Parr from the misuse of county funds. The San Diego city government was Parr's last ditch, from which he is now evicted.)

The drought, and its impact on the economy of the Southwest, was aired last week in the House on the eve of President Eisenhower's unprecedented inspection trip to the drought-stricken area of Texas.

Spearheaded by Congressman Poage of Waco, the ranking Democrat on the House Agriculture Committee — which handles all drought-aid legislation — a dozen other Members of the House joined him in introducing bills designed to accomplish two things: (1) to expand a government-sponsored deferred-grazing program in disaster areas; and (2) to authorize government aid in setting up a protein feed emergency program.

Under existing law the only feed program, useable by stockraisers to help preserve foundation herds, is grain from government stockpiles and a hay program, a joint Federal-State deal. It is hoped that by some arrangement the government may be helpful in providing some feed, particularly during the lambing and kidding season this spring, and to aid the cattle people during that same period.

The deferred grazing proposal originated with the State Drought Committee of Texas, and would permit landowners to defer any grazing on lands for a minimum of one year, in order that grasses and other vegetation may have a chance to be gradually restored before being consumed by livestock. That cover serves a natural and necessary purpose of holding water, preventing run-off, and reducing evaporation. Such a soil conservation practice, if generally carried, will restore the affected lands to normalcy much more rapidly, once the rain comes.

A dozen of us discussed all angles of the problem on the Floor of the House, after the bills were introduced. The next step will be for the Department of Agriculture to determine the advisability of the proposals which will be done in a report to the Committee on Agriculture. Hearings can then be held and an attempt made to push the legislation along.

He Still Needs Your Help!

YOUR Victory Over Polio

Through the March of Dimes, which financed Dr. Salk's work on the vaccine against polio, victory over this devastating disease has now been brought within the reach of mankind. Two things more—both possible, both practical—need to be done to finish the job and clinch the victory.

ONE: If everybody gives generously to the 1957 March of Dimes, new hope, new usefulness, a new and better life for many of those who have already been stricken by polio will be a possibility of the future.

TWO: If everybody between the ages of six months and 35 years gets vaccinated, polio itself would very shortly be a thing of the past.

Ever since it began its fight to wipe out this crippling, life-blighting affliction, the March of Dimes has marched a two-way street—to give help to those who needed it and to protect those who didn't.

Today, with victory in sight, joining the March of Dimes means, more than ever before, giving and getting.

In this 1957 March of Dimes, let's express our gratitude by giving to help those for whom the vaccine is too late. And let's safeguard ourselves by getting vaccinated early. Best time to do both is now.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Romans 8:16-21
Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. (John 14:27.)

The noted Christian leader of Ceylon, D. T. Niles, once said, "We may pray for safety, but not for shelter."

Human instincts of self-preservation make us long for shelter and security. We long for defense measures to give security against the H-bomb, and for a quiet corner of the earth where we can live in peace.

But the safety of the soul does not depend on shelter and security. Indeed, it is only as we in God's strength meet our trials that we find the "peace of God, which passeth all understanding."

PRAYER

Like children frightened in the dark, we grope for Thy hand, our Father. Give us faith to trust Thee this day. With Thy peace in our hearts, we are confident the unknown future cannot make us afraid. In the Master's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY.

I will put my hand into the hand of God.
