"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

SMOKE

FROM THE MOUNTAIN

Heartbreakers Hubert Turner and Pat Hosch did a little chiseling Monday night at the ball game. The dates who came with the Rockwood players were entertained throughout the evening by the attentions of the above mentioned Romeos while the Rockwood fellows played ball. We noticed though that after several threats from the original escorts, when the game was over, Turner and Hosch made a quick get-away.

At the boat races last Sunday afternoon at Lake Brownwood W. Lee O'Daniels and his Hill Billies were present to help furnish the entertainment. It seemed that each time the boys started playing the starting gun fired. We don't know whether Mr. O'Daniels and the boys had guilty consciences or not from being away from home, but it seemed the crew kinda took to the ground until the excitement blew over.

The Rising Star Firemen evidently believe in signs above all else. It seems the fire truck, called out in a hurry to rescue a burning building, thought the law had the upper hand, and stopped for a red light on the intersection roads in Rising Star and waited until it changed to green to continue on its way. The traffic cops must really be on their toes in Rising Star to scare a fire truck enough to keep from rushing to the scene.

A. D. Pettit came back from his 3000 mile trip with one eye half closed. He must have looked so hard at the sights that that eye just couldn't take it. It looked for a while like he or the boys might not get back to the Lone Star State, since after they got into Arizona they had a hard time getting out without buying a truck license.

The band has acquired a new name and is now known as the Texas Ranger Band. So don't make the mistake we did and think that the Texas Ranger Band was made up of a group of Rangers coming here for the Reunion.

The old fiddlers around here had better start tuning up for the fiddlers' programs during the reunion. We hear that the square dances during the reunion are really worth seeing. Tom DeArmon had better just forget his farm and the crops and be ready to pat his foot with the rest of them. We'll bet he can outlast any.

We always thought that softball leagues were for the purpose of fun and enjoyment and that if the team lost, what's the difference? The Santa Anna teams have always apparently agreed with this belief because they have certainly been good sports this year with other local teams and with neighboring towns, the last mentioned having beaten our teams several times before we got a win. But we never did hear our teams beef about being beaten or being the object of the umpire's disfavor. A recent game, in which the visiting team tried to be good sports, in spite of some unpleasantness on the part of a few of the visitors, makes us all the more proud of our teams and the spirit in which they play. What does it matter who wins? Nothing is at stake. And the fellow who plays with a feeling all the time that he is being cheated has lost the game at the start.

National Guard Receives Word to Attend Camp

Governor Sends Telegram to Assist in Continuance of Unit; Improvements Planned for Armory

Word was received July 26th authorizing the local unit of the National Guard of the United States to attend the annual encampment at Camp Hulen this year.

The cramped quarters of the local Armory building was a contributing factor in the unsatisfactory Inspection Report which this unit received recently, the reports state. A movement is now under way where-by the Armory building will be remodeled and equipped with new facilities to meet the desired specifications of the United States Army Inspectors.

A telegram from the Governor of the State of Texas which was sent in behalf of the local unit to Major General Albert H. Blanding, chief of Militia Board, of Washington, D. C. reads:

"This office is in receipt of the withdrawal of Federal Recognition from Howitzer Company One Forty Second Infantry located at Santa Anna, Texas. This company has been an important part of the community life in its area for the past seventeen years, during which period its officers have rendered faithful service. It is believed well worth while that every effort be made both from the standpoint of the individuals concerned and of the state to continue this organization in existence."

Father of Three Local Residents Buried in Coleman

C. W. Williams Dies Friday at Home of Son; Was 74

Funeral services for C. W. Williams, who died Friday night at the home of his son, Alfred Williams of Santa Anna, were held from the Coleman Christian Church Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. Linwood Bishop officiated.

Mr. Williams, who was 74 years of age, was a retired farmer, had lived in this county many years. He had been in ill health for several years.

Survivors include three children from Santa Anna, Alfred Williams, Mrs. W. A. Woodard, and Mrs. Ozro Eubank; six other sons, Fairy Williams of Coleman; Foy and Clifton Williams of New Mexico; Ross, Ray and Riley Williams of Colorado; one other daughter; Mrs. Grenville Riley of Coleman; and 16 grandchildren.

Burial was in the Coleman Cemetery. Meade Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

C. M. Grady Is Injured in Fall; to Miss Reunion

C. M. Grady of Brownwood, Ex-Ranger well known here, has been looking forward to attending the 18th annual reunion of his fellow Ex-Rangers, but due to a hip injury received Saturday when he fell in his garden, he will be unable to attend.

The Ex-Rangers will not forget him however and as many as can plan to bring the reunion to him and visit him at his home. He was Captain of the 1st Infantry Co. E.

Say you saw it in the News.

Familiar Scenes to Texas Ex-Rangers

Coleman County Seat now will look somewhat changed from the above picture taken of Coleman when the Ex-Rangers served in this territory. The log cabin, pictured at the left, was built by Frank Jordan on Home Creek in the early days. The Ex-Rangers were stationed on Home Creek a great part of the time.

These pictures were made for the book "Into the Setting Sun," a history of Coleman County, by Mrs. R. C. Gay.

$200,000 County Bond Election Is Set for Aug. 14

To Decide About Proposed Courthouse and Jail; Election Requested by 500 Voters

Coleman County voters will have a chance to vote for or against a new courthouse and jail in a specially called election to be held Saturday, August 14. The election on a $200,000 bond issue was called by the Commissioners Court after considering two petitions presented the Court by citizens, asking for the election.

If voted, the bonds would be spread over a period of 30 years and would draw interest not to exceed four per cent. At the end of the first ten years the county would have the option to redeem the bonds.

County Judge John O. Harris and Commissioner Monroe Forehand were in favor of a $175,000 bond issue rather than a $200,000 one. Members of the court were undecided whether they want the courthouse and jail as one building or two.

It is thought that the present site of the courthouse would be used should the bonds be voted.

If tax collections over the next few years amount to 60 per cent and the county valuation of $11,800,000 remains the same, it will cost the average tax payer about $1.10 per year for 30 years to retire the $200,000 bond issue, Judge Harris believes.

Judge Harris believes the average tax payer will pay on $1,000 worth of property and that the tax rate will have to be increased 11 cents per $100 valuation in case the bonds are voted for the construction of the court house and jail.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lacy of Dallas are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ford. Upon their return, they will be accompanied home by Mrs. Ford, who will visit them.

Miss Violet Lee Tuck of El Dorado visited last week-end in the home of Mrs. Lovell Richardson.

F. F. A. Group Home From Trip

Visited New Mexico and Arizona, Seeing Main Points of Scenic Interest

Local F. F. A. boys and their sponsor, A. D. Pettit, returned from a 12-day trip through Texas, Mexico and Arizona Tuesday morning with interesting accounts of their unusual trip. The group took the trip with a party of 40 other F. F. A. workers in this District. Local boys who made the journey were Ford Holt, W. D. Sheffield, Oran Henderson, and Virgil Lancaster.

The many points of interest visited included Carlsbad Caverns, Grand Canyon, Bottomless Lakes, Indian Reservations, the Petrified Forest and the Painted Desert and Boulder Dam.

The party walked down into the Grand Canyon and swam in the Colorado River. One night was spent at the Bottomless Lakes of Roswell, N. M. where the boys also went swimming. The lakes are of an unestimated depth, but measurements indicate that they are at least 700 feet and the bottom was not reached at that distance.

Boulder Dam, the largest dam in the world, was one of the most interesting sights of the trip. It is said that the project to be completed within a twenty-year period, is the largest project of its kind ever attempted by man.

Mr. Pettit said that other unusual sights to many of the boys were pine trees, citrus orchards and the mountains. They saw snow on the mountains near Flagstaff.

The trip was made without mishap, although the truck had difficulty in getting in and out of Arizona, since trucks are supposed to buy Arizona licenses to enter the state. The group had a hard time convincing the authorities on the state line that the truck was a pleasure vehicle and not a commercial truck.

Another commendable thing about the trip was the expense, according to Mr. Pettit. His boys averaged spending only $17 each for the 3,000 mile trip.

Attend Church Sunday.

Graham Tyson, Former Resident, Dies in Calif.

Relative of Local People; Spent Young Manhood in Santa Anna

Word has been received here of the death of Graham Tyson, of Oceanside, Cal., formerly of Santa Anna, at his home July 21. Services were held at the Methodist Church there and burial was made at Oceanside on July 23. Born August 4, 1889, he was 47 years, 11 months and 17 days old at the time of his death.

Mr. Tyson, son of the late Marion Tyson, former banker and merchant of Santa Anna, was reared here and is well known here. He attended Texas Christian University. He left here about 26 years ago, going first to Pamona with his father.

He had been manager of the J. C. Penny store in Oceanside for six years, having previously been manager of a company store at Ontario. He was past president of the Oceanside Rotary Club.

He is survived by his wife and two children, Patricia and Graham, Jr.; three brothers, including Paul Tyson of Waco, Texas; one sister, Mrs. Sam Mahaffey of Sterling City, Texas; his step-mother; four half sisters and one half brother. He was a cousin of Miss Edrine Tyson of Santa Anna and Mrs. Preston Bailey of San Antonio. Mr. Tyson had been planning to come to Santa Anna this summer for a visit with old friends when his death occurred.

Many Visitors to Arrive Monday Night to Attend Opening Sessions; Distinguished Speakers on Program

Varied Program of Entertainment Includes Band Concerts, Square Dances, Old Time Fiddling

No advance information has been received here of the names of the Ex-Rangers expected, but approximately 35 or 40 will be here with their families and friends to make the three-day event a joyous celebration and get-together.

Due to an unfortunate accident, C. M. Grady of Brownwood, one of the Rangers who was planning to attend the reunion, will not be present. Mr. Grady fell at the garden of his home Saturday and broke his hip, thus preventing him from attending the festivities.

One of the feature entertainments will be music by the Texas Ranger Band, directed by Tom Wallis. J. K. Baker of Coleman, and Sheriff Frank Mills of Coleman County. Citizens have been requested to furnish transportation for the visitors during the three day reunion and all able to furnish cars may be useful if present at the high school grounds during the day.

Banister, and Jim Bob Gregg; arrangement for tents, etc., J. C. Scarborough, Cecil Walker, J. T. Garrett; entertainment, Mrs. Chas. Bruce, Mrs. Jodie Mathews, Tom Wallis; refreshment, Mrs. R. C. WELCOME, EX-RANGERS

The citizens of Santa Anna heartily welcome the Ex-Rangers and their friends and families to their city for the 18th annual reunion of the Texas Ex-Rangers. The citizens feel that this group of men who made Texas history have bestowed upon them a very distinct honor in selecting this town as the permanent home for their reunions.

The citizens hope to show their appreciation of this honor and the services of the Rangers by not only entertaining them during their reunion and making their stay enjoyable and comfortable, but by supporting the plans for the Museum and Community House which will be built partly through funds furnished local citizens and organizations and with the financial aid of the Ex-Ranger Auxiliary. Plans have already been made to raise the money here in Santa Anna through the Lions Club.

Transportation will be furnished by local citizens throughout the reunion and any service which they can render during this visit will be gladly performed. We are asking all visitors to make this city their home during their visit and are anticipating a happy reunion next year in the Memorial Museum to be built in honor of our heroes of Texas.

Welcome to Santa Anna, the home of the Texas Ex-Rangers.

Texas Future Farmers

Those Texans who took part in the three-day State convention of the Future Farmers of America, an organization of rural boys numbering about 20,000 in Texas and more than one million in the Nation, doubtless were impressed with the significance of a movement which is destined to raise the standard of farm life. An entirely new type of young farmer, and young man who happens to live in a small country town, is being developed, young men whose latent talents are brought into group action resulting in solidarity of interests and thinking.

Little Joe Roper of Dallas, retiring president of the Texas F. F. A., gave a splendid account of himself at the Arlington festivities and elsewhere as an able administrator and courageous leader. The various other officers associated with him showed self-possession and unusually broad knowledge of rural life and its responsibilities. The organization, while aiming at raising the level of farm life and thinking, is not handicapped by narrow prejudices and sectionalism.

Oscar Dodson, newly elected president of the Texas body, whose home happens to be in Chillicothe, gave every assurance that he will lead the organization along lines which will be of service to Texas as a whole. These young country gentlemen, and thousands like them, are an asset to agriculture and to the whole country. They will be the future farmers of Texas and of the United States and they are being guided by supervisors who have been carefully picked for the job. This organization is meeting a rural need competently and supplements that other splendid farm youth organization, the 4-H clubs. These two groups will help to build a new agriculture. —Dallas News.

Marijuana Crusade

The drive of Federal narcotic agents against marijuana cigarettes comes none too soon. The sale of these habit-forming and harmful cigarettes to school children in various cities has been increasing at an alarming rate. Addiction to marijuana—known as hashish to ancient Arabians, who fed it to their soldiers to make them more reckless—leads to physical ills and moral degeneration and lately has been responsible for a number of suicides.

Introduced into this country by Mexicans, the weed has been grown surreptitiously in Dallas, Chicago and elsewhere for illicit commercial use. The fact that most local law-enforcement officers have been unfamiliar with the plant and with the cigarettes made from it has enabled it to gain a foothold in many places. Laws against marijuana have been added to the narcotics statutes of some States, however, and legislation against the weed is now pending in Congress.

The tendency of marijuana peddlers to concentrate on school children makes extirpation of this form of poison especially urgent. Fortunately, addiction to marijuana cigarettes is more easily broken than addiction to some stronger narcotics. Brain-drugging from these cigarettes often has serious results, however, and parents rightly demand that their children at school be protected from the activities of marijuana peddlers. —Dallas News.

The Revival Meeting
Revival in the strictest sense means a "re-enlivening." Our Revival just closed was that. Many Christians have had their aims re-vitalized, their consecration strengthened, besides the number who were saved. There were 29 joining the church, and seven making professions of faith who will either join other churches or this church later on, or a total of 36 decisions and church memberships. The singing and preaching were of a worthwhile nature. Rev. Johnson and Mr. Godfrey left with many expressions of appreciation for all the fine things done for them while here.

Thank You, Friends
In connection with the revival, we wish to say "thank you, friends" to several groups. First to the Santa Anna News for the editorials, free publicity etc., second to the Lions Club for deferring their planned fair boosting program for two weeks, and to the Softball clubs for withdrawing games during the meeting. It is a commendable thing for our whole town and community that such groups outside of the church shall join in so worthy a project. Indeed with Paul we can say we are "Citizens of no mean city." Thank you, friends, again we say.

Two Sermon Subjects for Next Sunday
Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "Lessons From Lazarus" and at night on "The Hour Is Come." These two sermons are designed to help you and you are urged to hear them both, if you are not a member or attendant of some other church. There will be several grown men to participate in a Baptismal service at the close of the evening hour. Let us have a great Sunday night crowd this week.

Close of Associational Year
With the coming of August the associational year closes for our church and Sunday morning our letter to the association will be adopted, messengers approved and a summary of the year's work given. This will be brief, interesting and important. Also there will be the annual election of officers, including Sunday School Superintendent, Training Union Director, President of Women's Work, clerk, treasurer, deacons etc. We shall have a smoothly running service and plan to be out as usual at 12 o'clock. The Association meets this year at Trickham, August 20-21, and the local pastor is the presiding officer.

To the Ministry of Preaching
Brother Augustus Lightfoot has requested the church thru its nominating committee to release him from his duties as bookkeeper and Training Union Director in order to be free to preach every Sunday possible. He will continue to work in the church in other capacities, but will be available for preaching on any Sunday. He has one revival meeting planned definitely and another in process of planning. We commend him to all as a "workman that needeth not to be ashamed" and shall find it difficult to fill his place. Yet we feel he is progressing and congratulate him in his new work.

Suggestions for Summer Meals

MEAT DISHES

Corned Slices
 1 can corned beef
 Prepared mustard
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 2 tbsp. water
 1-2 cups fine dry bread crumbs

1-4 cup shortening
 Chill corned beef. Slice into 11 or 12 slices. Spread both sides with mustard. Then coat well with crumbs. Melt shortening in a heavy skillet. Fry slices to a rich golden brown—about 10 minutes. Garnish with orange slices.

Veal Loaf

2 1-2 pounds ground veal
 1-2 pound ground ham
 1-4 cup catsup
 1 cup cooked macaroni
 4 tbsp. prepared mustard
 1 green pepper (chopped)
 1-4 cup chopped onion
 2 eggs
 2 cups bread crumbs
 1 tsp. baking powder
 Salt
 Pepper

1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 Mix all ingredients together. Shape in a loaf and place on parchment paper. Slip the loaf, paper and all, in an open roasting pan and cook in a moderate hot oven. Do not add water and do not cover. Garnish with bananas, fried.

TEMPTING APPETIZERS

Summer brings so many occasions for entertaining that the wise hostess plans to add a number of new and tricky appetizers to her list.

1. Wedges of marinated artichoke hearts are perfect as the background for tiny slivers of smoked salmon.

2. Fill quarters of tiny ripe tomatoes after pulp has been scooped out with deviled ham and cream cheese moistened with milk or cream.

3. Fill celery with a mixture of anchovy paste and cream cheese. Chill. Serve with tomato juice or other appetizers.

4. Moisten canned crab meat with rich white sauce. Add minced green pepper and pimento, a dash of salt and pepper. Pile on 3-inch toast circles, sprinkle with grated cheese and dot with butter. Brown in the broiler. Serve hot.

5. Hollow out a large fine head of cabbage and fill cavity with cole slaw. Dip large shrimps in French dressing and stick with toothpicks and insert in cabbage. Serve on a large plate with spoon for taking out salad.

6. To make flavored butter for use in spreading canapes work butter until creamy and add gradually an equal amount of tomato paste or hard cooked egg yolk rubbed through a sieve. Season to taste with tobasco, onion juice, mixed mustard, salt and pepper. Use with a pastry bag and tube.

7. Mix minced chicken and chopped stuffed olives and moisten with mayonnaise for a piquant canape spread.

8. On rounds of bread spread a thin coating of anchovy paste, then cover with boiled finnan haddie broken in bits. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with parsley and lemon.

9. Cut white bread very thin and remove crust. Lay 2 or 3 fillets of anchovies on the bread and roll up like a jelly roll. Fasten together with toothpicks.

10. Wrap 1-2 slice bacon around a sweet pickle and fasten with a toothpick. Broil until the bacon is crisp. Serve immediately.

11. One tablespoon finely minced chives, 3 hard-cooked eggs, few grains cayenne pepper, 3 tablespoons melted butter, mayonnaise, parsley, tomato catsup, 6 circular pieces of bread, anchovy paste. Cut eggs in half, lengthwise, and remove yolks. Press yolks through potato ricer or mash with a fork. Add cayenne, chives and butter. Moisten with equal parts of mayonnaise and catsup. Fill whites with this mixture. Chill thoroughly. Saute pieces of bread in butter and spread thinly with anchovy paste. Place on a small plate and on each piece of toast place 1-2 stuffed egg. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with parsley.

SUMMER DESSERTS
 Top the meal with a dessert that is light and fine in texture—one that is not too rich yet gives the proper fillip of sweetness to the menu.

Prune-cust Souffle
 1-2 cup cooked prunes, seeded
 1-2 cup cooked apricot pulp
 1-4 cup granulated sugar
 1-2 tsp. lemon extract
 1-3 cup chopped nut meats
 Whites 3 eggs
 1-4 tsp. cream of tartar
 2 tsp. powdered sugar

Add granulated sugar and lemon extract to prunes and apricots and beat until sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Add nuts. Sprinkle egg whites until stiff. Add powdered sugar and continue beating until sugar is blended with the whites. Fold the beaten whites into the fruit mixture and place in a greased baking dish. Set dish in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for about 45 minutes or until firm. Serve with cream or soft custard.

Saute Pineapple Surprise
 Saute drained pineapple slices in a half sup brown sugar melted with 3 tablespoons of shortening.

Serve wedges of stale cake soaked in loganberry juice around the pineapple slices.

Frozen Apple Sauce
 Drain 4 cups of apple sauce thoroughly. Add 1 cup of shredded pineapple, 2 tablespoons finely chopped preserved ginger and 1-2 cup chopped maraschino cherries. Freeze in trays of automatic refrigerator until about the consistency of sherbet.

Baked Lemon Pudding
 Soak 1 cup dried bread crumbs or 1-2 cups soft crumbs in 2 cups of milk for half an hour. Cream 1-4 cup shortening with 1-2 cup sugar, add the lightly beaten yolks of 2 eggs, the juice and grated rind of a lemon and the soaked crumbs and milk. Pour in a buttered mold and bake 20 minutes in a slow oven. Cover with a meringue made by whipping the whites and folding in 4 tablespoons of sugar. Return to the oven to brown.

Peanut Brittle Pudding
 In a greased pudding dish put 2 cups diced bread and 1-2 lb. peanut brittle in alternate layers. Add 2 cups milk and 1 beaten egg. Bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes.

TODD'S DAIRY

Rangers of the Hi-Lines

The Texas Rangers will live long in our memory due to the constructive nature of their livelihood—lives risked in performance of duty. Law and order became firmly established in this state because the word "Rangers" carried fear into the hearts of those frontier rascals who disregarded property and social rights.

Of similar importance in our history is the saga of the "hi-line," bringing to West Texas the modern conveniences and comforts of Electric Service. The men who risked their lives working with "hot" wires, atop poles reaching high into the skies, and blasting into a rocky soil also deserve a place in West Texas' Hall of Fame.

They, however, continue their labors so that we may have light, refrigeration, cookery, industrial power and a multitude of other electrical usages which we take for granted in this modern day. The spot-light seldom is turned upon them. Today they are mentioned for a brief moment, along with other heroes, as "Rangers of the Hi-Lines."

ATTEND REUNION!

Tribute to the "old-timers" is paid in one form or another by almost every section of Texas. Few, if any, however, have concentrated on so elaborate a celebration for the famous Texas Rangers—the nation's most colorful law-enforcing body. It is a celebration that looms as a growing event in the future of West Texas and merits the support of ALL West Texans.

West Texas Utilities Company

Coleman County Rich in Minerals According to Discoveries of Writer

(By Miss Luella Chambers)

CHAPTER V
Our Natural Resources
When we arrived fifty years ago the Santa Fe R. R. had a standard rig on the right of way east of town, with Captain Maynard in charge drilling for coal but found none. At that time there was a coal mine on the Kingsbery and Dunson ranch now Pfluger ranch. Waldrip also had coal and when the coal wagon came in with four mules it had sleigh bells and it was a merry jingle. The Huffman Bros. opened up the "Silver Moon" nine miles northeast of town.

In our yard we had a showing of oil in a water well and it caved on fifty feet of casing and it is still there. On the place where Mrs. Allison Weaver resides, enough oil and paint was found to paint the three house that was built there. This house burned years ago. There was an oil well in the yard of Mr. L. L. Shield at Trickham and Mr. Fred W. Turner drilled another and later on the J. E. Ford place where the Hollingsworths had a gas well. Mr. Turner and associates drilled on the Pope farm in 1916, got well and the county was on a boom and many wells were drilled and the oil money was the salvation financially, and again in 1920 and on a number of other good fields very near and a number are still good producers. I feel that all the oil money this county has received is due to the untiring energy of Mr. Fred W. Turner, Sr.

About thirty five years ago gold was discovered by an old man, Rux, I think, near the Alford place. Captain J. D. Bell of Waco, who had made a fortune in gold mines in California, came out to see this place and told my father he had mined all day in California for less than what he saw here.

Nothing was ever done to develop this and now it is said that a company is going to work the Felix Smith place for gold. East of town lead was found, but in the oil boom of 1920 this was forgotten!

A vein of copper is said to run from the northwest to the southeast of Coleman County, beginning at the present location of Ford County. The vein was worked in Ford County during the time Robert E. Lee was stationed there to protect the residents from the Indians. I have a sample of this copper. We have fine glass and a glass factory. We have plenty of building stone. At one time Mr. W. T. Laughlin put in a machine to saw slabs of stone which was shipped to Waco marble yards.

Our government is now advising the study of clay — so many kinds for various things. Kaolin for the manufacture of fine china was shipped to England from somewhere in the Angelo country. It had to be hauled to the R. R. in wagons. We have several kinds on our farm and I have heard on the mountain. I have made bowls of our gray clay and it is pretty after I paint flowers on them. For our Fair we should show samples of our clay.

Accruals under the Railroad Retirement and Social Security Acts for the month were $955,540.

Judge Selected for Utilities Contest Now On

Dr. Charles Earle Funk, New York lexicographer and linguist, will judge entries in the West Texas Utilities Company's "name-a-housewife" contest. W. R. Mulroy, local manager, announced yesterday.

Information came from the general office in Abilene that Dr. Funk had accepted an invitation to name the winners in the campaign to "secure a more appropriate name for the modern West Texas woman."

Possibility that the name "housewife" may be omitted from dictionaries of the future was viewed as a result of Dr. Funk's participation as judge in the contest. He is senior member of the publishing firm of Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York, and is associate editor of the famous Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dictionary. He has been given wide recognition as America's outstanding lexicographer.

The contest is based on the assumption that "the woman of today is no longer a slave to kitchen drudgery."

"This company is interested in selecting a name that will improve the English language," Mr. Mulroy said. "We have long felt that the word 'housewife' is a misnomer. It has been worn out by advertisers and has lost its value as a word describing the average woman in the average home. But there is no word that accurately applies to the woman who conducts her home economically and efficiently while at the same time developing herself intellectually and socially."

Selection of Dr. Funk as judge assures entrants "of a competent authority on the meaning of words and should result in national recognition for the winner as well as the reward of first prize, a super-duty Frigidaire," Mr. Mulroy said.

Entries in the $500 contest, which closes August 14, will be sent immediately to Dr. Funk. A total of 13 prizes will be awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Alford will go to Houston next week for a two weeks visit with their daughters and son and families, Mrs. Fred Law, Mrs. J. E. Copeland, and Bill Alford.

Cavalcade Show Open to Visitors Free of Charge

Dallas, July 29.—Cavalcade of the Americas, huge historical spectacle of the Texas and Pan American Exposition will be free to the public hereafter. This $600,000 show, presented on the largest stage in the world with a cast of more than 300 people, tells the dramatic story of the fight of North and South American peoples for liberty. Director General Frank L. McNeny of the Exposition makes the great spectacle a free attraction complimenting Latin American nations who are participating in the Exposition and also at suggestion of various school authorities who point out that the educational value of Cavalcade should be made available free to every school or university student in the Southwest.

Cavalcade starts in the days of the Aztecs with human sacrifice on top of the Mexico City pyramid in the shadow of an erupting volcano. Then comes the discovery of America by Columbus. The conquest of Mexico by Cortez, the Boston Massacre and the American Revolution culminating with the surrender of the British at Yorktown. Washington is inaugurated first President of the United States. Then comes the story of the fight for freedom in South America and in Mexico with Hidalgo, Morelos, Bolivar and San Martin fighting with their armies against oppression and tyranny. Theodore Roosevelt charges at the head of his troops and takes San Juan Hill while galling the Spanish soldiers. The gay nineties, with their horse drawn fire engines, high wheeled bicycles, hansom cabs, bustles and barouches lend a picturesque touch to the story of America's development following the settlement of the Western states. The grand finale with galloping cowboys, waving flags, fading out behind the unique and beautiful water screen, follow the representation of the last year's peace conference called by President Roosevelt at Buenos Aires.

Mrs. Leroy Stockard and children returned home last Thursday after having spent three weeks visiting relatives in Stephenville and Fort Worth.

Oklahoma Editor Faces Situation Similar to Many Small Town Papers

Editor, Oklahoma Weekly Paper

As editor of a small town weekly, in business for several years, I was recently faced with a situation which was not only distasteful to me, but is also against the plans I have always tried to carry out in my business principles. When I first started in the small Oklahoma town where I am located, living was cheap and I didn't need much advertising from the merchants to keep me going. I did my own work mostly and was not out much for labor and supplies were less expensive than now.

For the last few years however, I have been having a tough time. I had not been soliciting advertising businesses from nearby towns, because I would rather get the ads from the local merchants, but lately they apparently think they can get along without advertising. They think if they give me a 10 inch ad every other week they have done their bit for themselves, their customers and are enriching the paper. They seem to forget that overhead is the biggest part of a newspaper business. Our machinery in our shop alone costs approximately $20,000, which I am still paying on and paper bill a month for a small town weekly runs about $100 without counting ink, postage, utilities and salaries of employees. All in all I have to take in about $500 a month to make expenses and the local advertisers are falling far short of that. Within the last few months I have been soliciting business from adjoining towns with fine results. Those merchants seem to know the value of advertising where the local ones do not.

The chief difficulty of course in this method is that I have made some of the local firms sore and they have said some pretty hard things about me not supporting them, but since they hadn't supported me enough to make a living and since they seem to think they can get along without advertising anyway, I had to look for greener pastures. A man doesn't like to see his family starve. However, I have noticed that the competition has really helped the local business rather than hurt it. The merchants are seeing that running a business is really a live wire job and that they are going to have to wake up and get some modern ideas in fixing their stores up with good merchandise and make attractive bargains and letting the people know about it. I really believe the merchants are making more money now since they saw they were having a little competition than before. I still continue to give the firms at home publicity and say nice things about them and in a small paper that is as valuable to the merchant as advertising so I don't see that I have been a traitor to the home town, especially when they are using mail-order printing houses for a lot of their printed supplies, so I guess we are both looking out for ourselves and that's human nature. When the home merchants can give the newspaper enough business to make a living, I'll probably quit soliciting out-of-town folks, but until then—until the business firms trade with me and give me the job work they are now sending away for from mail order printing houses, it will have to go on like it has for the past few months—even though I don't like it. THE STORY

CHAPTER I—Preparing to close her summer home and spend the winter in France with a great-aunt, Anne Vincent, a middle-aged widow, accedes to the pleas of her adopted daughter Rachel, twenty and pretty, that she tell her about her real mother, Anne, an unselfish, understanding soul, finds the task difficult, since she feels Rachel's stiffness about punctuality. Rachel hurried and burnt her fingers and cracked a glass and spilled the cream in the tiny refrigerator. At last she was ready but she had to take a taxi to the office, which was an extravagance. But when she came in, feeling bothered and fussed, there was Curt Elton talking to Mr. Vinco and his smile and greeting made her feel better. "Oh, those flowers!" she said. "They were so lovely. I can't tell you—"

CHAPTER II—Rachel goes fishing with Bob Eddis, a local boy who runs a library and does wood carving. She refuses his plea to stay in Rockport and marry him instead of going to New York for the winter. At dinner Rachel announces she is going to do something of her very own in New York. Departing the next morning they leave the keys with Mr. Kreeb, a neighbor.

CHAPTER III—Reviewing the situation between Rachel and herself, Anne confirmed in her belief that it is time for Rachel to learn more self-dependence. Rachel makes arrangements to stay in New York for the winter with "Pink," a keen, vivacious girl absorbed in her job. Anne leaves provision for Rachel's finances in case of need and leaves Europe. After Anne sails, Rachel, bent on seeing her real mother, looks up "Ellie" Coyne's number.

CHAPTER IV—Rachel learns the Coyne's are not yet in town. Pink takes Rachel to dinner at Tom and Rhoda Steele's where she meets Oliver Land, a shabby gent who is out of work and who suggests that she apply for a job as a photographer's model for advertising illustrations. He asks her to introduce her to the head of an agency.

CHAPTER V—Thinking of Anne, Rachel is piqued, feebly believing her own mother would not have left her alone. She is not even happy with Pink Matthews. Her desire to see Ellie Coyne increases. Through Oliver Land she meets Miss Vincent, a faded, a photographer's model and succeeds on her first assignment posing for furniture advertising. Oliver makes her feel her indebtedness to him.

"I don't criticize your friends, Pink. Not that I think so much of them—here's that girl across the hall, she's been in here half a dozen times and always to borrow something, curfew or a hat or an evening dress—"

"Genie Moore is going to be a great singer some day and she's only got money enough to pay for her living and her lessons and I'm glad to help her about. She works like a horse and she's got to have decent clothes, when she gets a chance to sing at a private house, I suppose you're still peeved because I loaned her your white evening dress. I wouldn't have done it if she could have worn mine. I had it cleaned for you, didn't I?"

"This doesn't need to be a brawl," said Rachel. "I certainly didn't like your lending my white evening dress without telling me, but—"

"It was a chance for her to sing as a substitute and I didn't have time to do anything else. I should think you'd want to help another girl along. Look here, I'll buy you another evening dress and you can give me the white one and I'll give it to Genie Moore."

"Certainly not," said Rachel, stiffly. She didn't want to quarrel with Pink. She had come home feeling better than in weeks, the flowers had added to her peace of mind, but now somehow she and Pink were fighting. Over what? Over Oliver Land. She went on after a minute: "I don't want to defend Oliver especially, you'll think I'm interested in him and I'm not, but you ought to be fair, Pink. He may be a great actor some day just as Genie Moore may be a singer."

please tell Mrs. Cayne it's—it's—someone she knew—a long time ago—"

The voice answered as if by rote: "What is the name, please, I will see if Mrs. Cayne is at home—"

"Ask her please to speak to me—she used to—know me—" begged Rachel.

There was a pause, and then, "Mrs. Cayne will speak to no one who does not give a name," and the receiver was hung up.

The shock of the rebuff cleared up a little of Rachel's disordered emotions. She walked home slowly, thinking that she had been incredibly absurd.

When she got back to the apartment Pink had washed the dishes—whether as a rebuke or a peace gesture, Rachel did not know—and shut herself in her room.

As she dashed around trying to dress and make coffee at the same time, the next morning, Rachel realized that Pink was still angry. She had not fixed any orange juice for Rachel or even cut the extra slice of bread ready for toasting, which the first one up usually left to help the later riser on her way.

And yet Pink knew Vinco's stiffness about punctuality. Rachel hurried and burnt her fingers and cracked a glass and spilled the cream in the tiny refrigerator. At last she was ready but she had to take a taxi to the office, which was an extravagance. But when she came in, feeling bothered and fussed, there was Curt Elton talking to Mr. Vinco and his smile and greeting made her feel better.

"Oh, those flowers!" she said. "They were so lovely. I can't tell you—"

"Never mind trying. Listen, I've had good news for me. All those auto pictures have to be made over, the photographer, poor nut, used the wrong plates or the wrong lens or something. I'm going to pin a medal on him."

"It's true, Miss Vincent," said Vinco. "You have to go back there as soon as you're through with one other appointment. You've got to model an evening wrap for a fur catalogue, but that's all."

Miss Dean was writing down the first appointment on a card and while she did it Rachel heard Vinco going on with his talk to Curt.

"I can get almost anyone for anything, but this stumps me. It's a ticklish proposition, the girl's got to act the part perfectly and not let the other servants get on to her—don't lose any time, Miss Vincent, please—"

He grinned over at her ingratiatingly. "Hoodum, the carriage waits. 'Ave a drop more Scotch, milord!'"

"Who are these people?" asked Rachel, idly. "Do you know their names?"

"As a matter of fact, I do, though I don't suppose Vinco would want it noised about. They're fairly hot society numbers, very Park avenue and so forth. The old man's got plenty of what it takes, apparently. Cayne is the name—Peter H. Cayne—why, what's the matter—"

"Say that again," cried Rachel. "Say that name again!"

Curt looked at her in surprise and did not answer, so she repeated her question: "What was their name—not Peter Holbrook Cayne—the people who live at six-forty-three Park avenue?"

"Do you know them?" asked Curt, warily.

"No, but I know of them—my mother knows them, at least she used to know Mrs. Cayne."

"Damn it, I ought to be kicked. As if I wasn't old enough never to mention names!"

Rachel thought fast. She must convince him, but tell nothing.

"Don't worry, it's all right. I was just surprised—mother was telling me something about Mrs. Cayne only a little while before she sailed. I won't say anything, honestly."

"I talk too much," said Curt.

Rachel laughed. "Please don't worry. I'll never mention it to a soul. But—I was just thinking—" "So beautiful girls do think! News to me."

"You Poor Kid, I Know You're Dead," He Said.

each detail between poses. She had to change from the light sport costume needed in the picture to her own clothes, but Curt waited for her and was there in the shadows of the studio entrance. "You poor kid, I know you're dead," he said. "I've got to dash uptown or I'd take you home. Are you still set on this housemaid stunt?"

"Yes, at least I'm going to find out what it's all about."

"Then if you don't mind I'll come round in the morning and join the conference. I want to know what it's all about, too, I feel responsible for getting you into it."

"Oh, will you? That makes me feel heaps better—thanks ever so much, Curt! You're a lamb!"

By the time she reached home she wasn't so tired, expectation had begun to come back and with Curt to stand by she would be surer of herself. The flat was empty, Pink had left a note saying she had gone to dinner with a man from her office, so Rachel put on house pajamas and foraged for bread and milk and fruit in agreeable solitude. Just as she sat down to eat the door-bell trilled.

"Oh damn!" she said aloud. "Wouldn't you know that would happen!"

It was Genie Moore from across the hall and Genie was in a great rush. "Isn't Pink here?" she asked. "What a nuisance! I wanted to borrow a hat, I've got a swanky date for the theater and Harlem and he said specially not to dress, this frock is all right but I haven't got a thing to put on my head that looks festive or eveningish."

"Neither have I," said Rachel, looking coldly at Genie's selfish blonde prettiness, "and I can't lend Pink's things when she's not here."

"Oh, that's all right. I'll take what I want. Pink won't mind."

She walked into Pink's room and began to rummage, coming out a moment later with Pink's new white beret. "This is just what I want, how lucky she didn't wear it."

She gribbled into his slack, half-open mouth. As she did it she noticed how very thin he was, his collar loose on his neck, his arm a bone in a flapping sleeve. "He's starving," she thought. "He's starving!" She tried to lift him farther up in the chair, but he came alive and pushed her away.

"Sorry," he murmured apologetically. "I'm making a nuisance of myself. Don't bother—"

"Lie down on the sofa," begged Rachel. "I'll help you. Come along, I'll be better for you to lie down and I'll get you something hot to drink."

He staggered to his feet and with Rachel helping managed the half dozen steps to the sofa. "It's my head," he whispered, "it's queer."

She left him and ran to the kitchen. Thank goodness she hadn't used all the milk. As soon as it was hot enough she brought him a cup of it.

"Now try to drink this," she coaxed, "it's just what you need. Wait, let me hold it." She supported his head and he sipped the milk.

"I'm sorry," he said again, weakly. "I ought not to have come."

"But what's the matter? Are you sick? Where's Bill? You two are so—"

Oliver was sitting up now. "I oughtn't to have come, I tell you. Bill and I've been thrown out of the hotel, we haven't been able to pay our room rent for three weeks and we're both down to carfare and we've been trying to find somebody who'd take us over, just a lean, things are bound to break better for us soon, and—there it is. Forget it, Rachel. I'll be all right in a minute or two."

"But you said you were hungry, Oliver, that you hadn't eaten for a long time."

"Did I say that? I'm a fool! When did I say it?"

"Just before you fainted. Is it true, are you hungry?"

Home Demonstration Notes

HDC MEMBERS AND 4-H CLUB GIRLS OF WEST TEXAS CARRY VARIED PROGRAM

A varied program of improvement is carried by many home demonstration club members and 4-H club girls, county home demonstration agents of the West Texas section report.

When Mrs. Ralph Carter, of the Streeter club in Mason county, began her kitchen demonstration she decided to make her improvements in a north-west corner room, which gets a large amount of natural sunshine and light, instead of in the dark room with a north exposure which she had previously used. Many county home demonstration agents have noted that club women now prefer to use their lightest and brightest room as a kitchen, whereas formerly the darkest room in the house was often used.

The club goals of the Christoval 4-H girls' club in Tom Green county were achieved early in the year by Enla Mae Rouse, who has made pillow cases, arranged a complete study center, and has made a tufted bedspread. In addition, she helped her father make and care for a hobbed, from which they produced 7,000 tomato plants, of which 2,000 were set out for family use, and the remainder sold.

The Indio 4-H girls' club of Presidio county, which is made up of Mexican girls and has a Mexican woman as sponsor, is showing the way to other clubs in the county by completing six quilts. For four of them the girls carded home grown cotton, while two were made with commercial bats.

Rural Electrification Administration recently announced its first allotment from the funds available during the current 1937-38 fiscal year. This allotment, for $200,000 will permit the start of construction on a large project in Arkansas.

This starts the second year of the 10-year program outlined in the Rural Electrification Act of 1936. During the first year $50,000,000 was available from Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds, of which $46,500,000 was allotted for specific rural electrification projects throughout the country. The balance had to be reserved, under the Act, for states which did not use their full quotas. In addition, nearly $15,000,000 was allotted under the Emergency Relief Act of 1935, before the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 became effective.

The Rural Electrification Act provides that during the 10-year period 1936-1946 a maximum of $410,000,000 may be lent for rural electrification projects at interest equal to the rate paid by the Government on its long-term obligations—last year the rate being 2.77 percent. Of this total, 50,000,000 was made available from RFC during the first fiscal year, and an appropriation of $40,000,000 authorized during each of the next nine fiscal years. For the current year, however, Congress actually appropriated $30,000,000 for loans, and this has been tentatively reduced by 10 percent in accordance with the President's wishes.

The projects so far approved will take electricity for the first time to about 200,000 rural customers. Many of the lines are already in service, and others are rapidly approaching completion.

WEST-TEX FARMERS AND 4-H CLUB BOYS ENGAGE IN VARIED ACTIVITIES

Farmers and 4-H club boys of West Texas are carrying on work in many varied activities, county agricultural agents of that section report.

The first trench silo in Pecos county was built in 1932 by S. Beeman, general manager of the Webb Farms, and had a capacity of 200 tons. In 1935 Beeman increased the capacity to 600 tons, and this year he has dug another 600 ton silo. The 1200 tons of silage will be used in feeding cattle for market.

Many improvements have been completed in the past on the farm and in the home of the Theodore Oehler of the Reserver community of Kerr county, and the job undertaken by the family now is to coordinate the completed improvements and to add new ones. Part of the current improvements carried out in the family's whole farm and home demonstration has been to terrace pastures in connection with the field terracing system and to fill a trench silo to furnish a reserve of forage for the goats, sheep, cattle, and horses.

With the help of his county agricultural agent, Alvis Johnson of Sutton county culled his flock of 919 ewes. The 439 ewes culled out sheared an average of .32 pounds less wool, which had a heavier shrinkage and a shorter staple than that of the ewes kept in the breeding flock. The culls are to be replaced with the top yearling ewes.

10,000 People See Speedboat Races at Lake Sunday

More than 10,000 persons lined the shores of beautiful Lake Brownwood Sunday afternoon to see speedboat races of the third annual Lake Brownwood Regatta, setting a new attendance record for the West Texas water classic.

Dallas, San Antonio and Mineral Wells racers starred in the races, taking all the first places. Fort Worth and Eldorado, Arkansas, racers also were much in the running.

Charles Mayhew, Dallas, won four races; Buddy Reuter, San Antonio; J. B. Courtney, Mineral Wells, and Herman Mayhew, Dallas, each won two races.

Officials said it was one of the best regattas ever staged in the Southwest. They and many of the racers urged officers of Brownwood Regatta Association to invite the Southwestern Division Regatta here next year.

Special entertainment was furnished between races by W. Lee O'Daniel and his Hillbilly Boys, well known radio entertainers, and by The Three Williamsons of Brady. Songs by the two groups were broadcast over a Gulf Company public address system.

Frank Bogeman, Fort Worth, served as announcer for the program.

A check up on tickets to determine attendance showed about 10,940 persons were present for the program, officials announced. They said this set a new attendance record for the regatta. Several thousand of those in attendance were visitors from nearby counties.

The races were run under National Outboard Association sanction, two heats of five miles each over a one mile surveyed course.

Soil Program in This County Now Completed

Work of measuring farms included in the Federal Government's 1937 soil conservation program and the work of inspecting ranges in the same program have been practically completed in this county, according to W. N. McCulloch, in charge of measuring and Ward Evans, in charge of the range program.

Maps of some 1,612 Coleman County farms included in the government program will be sent to A and M where they will be traced and where four blue prints of each will be made. One of the prints will be kept at the college, two sent to County Agent C. V. Robinson and the other will be sent to the farmer.

Over 200 ranchmen in the county are taking part in the program and they will be notified soon to come to the office of the county agent for the purpose of signing final applications to take part in the conservation program.

This line is to fill this space.

Cavalcade Is $500,000 Free Spectacle at Exposition

The Cavalcade of the Americas, a great historical spectacle depicting the struggle for liberty on the part of the peoples of the nations of the Western Hemisphere, is a free attraction at the Pan American Exposition in Dallas. The production cost $500,000 and is on the largest stage in the world. Scenes from Cavalcade, shown above, are: (1) The landing of Christopher Columbus; (2) Geraldine Robertson, star of Cavalcade; (3) Cortez captures Mexico City; (4) Bolivar's cavalry charges the Spaniards.

President of Teacher's Body Writes In Defense of Board That Raised Per Capita

A. W. Birdwell, Nacogdoches, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, writes in defense of the action recently taken by the State Board of Education in setting the per capita apportionment for the 1937-38 school term.

Mr. Birdwell writes: "The Constitution of the State of Texas, Article VLL, Section 3, reads as follows:

"One-fourth of the revenues derived from the State occupation tax and a poll tax of one ($1.00) on every inhabitant of this state, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools; and in addition thereto there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such amount not to exceed thirty-five cents on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public schools of this state for a period of not less than six months in each year; providing, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be insufficient, the deficit may be made by the appropriation from the general funds of the state..."

Clear Meaning

The meaning of the Constitution seems to be clear. Under this provision it becomes the duty of the State Board of Education to make an appointment that will maintain the schools six months, provided the state tax rate for that purpose does not exceed thirty-five cents, and provided further that other funds accruing to the available school fund shall make such an apportionment possible. This contention is tremendously strengthened by the last clause in that portion of the Constitution quoted above, which reads as follows: "Providing, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be sufficient, the deficit may be made by the appropriation from the general funds of the state..."

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is authority for the statement that the present apportionment of $19.00, together with supplementary appropriations for equalization, does not maintain the schools for six months, but rather for something like four and one-half months, taking the State as a whole.

House Bill No. 13, Chapter 23, Acts of the Fifty-First Legislature, Third Called Session, provides a formula to be used by the Automatic Tax Board, and that part pertaining to the apportionment of the public free schools reads as follows:

"In calculating the rate to be collected for public free school purposes, said Board shall take into consideration the number of children in the State within the scholastic age, to be determined from the most recent official school census, and shall fix a rate that will yield and produce for such fiscal year seventeen and one-half ($17.50) dollars per capita for all the children within the scholastic age, as shown by said scholastic census; provided, the rate so fixed for any year shall never exceed the rate fixed by law."

This whole question was considered by the State Board of Education last year when an additional appropriation of $1.00 was under consideration. The Attorney General of the State rendered an opinion which held, in effect, that the apportionment might be limited only to the amount of money according to the public school fund from accordance with the laws of this State, except as otherwise specifically appropriated," from this it is seen that the Legislature appropriated the entire income to the State Available School Fund to be used by the State Board of Education, except such amounts as were elsewhere specifically appropriated to some other use.

Only One Limitation

The Attorney General also considered the statute passed by the Third Called Session of the Forty-First Legislature, which provides a formula to be used by the Automatic Tax Board as quoted above. He held that the last clause, "provided, the rate so fixed for any year shall never exceed the rate fixed by law," is the only limitation placed on the State Board of Education in making the appropriation. To quote from his opinion: "The amount of the tax rate is limited by law but the amount of the per capita apportionment has no maximum of Seventeen and one-half ($17.50) Dollars per capita but that there is no maximum limit so long as the maximum tax rate fixed by law is not exceeded."

Acting on this assumption last week in Austin, the State Teachers Association and many friends of education, after the Comptroller's estimate had been made public, urged the State Board of Education to set the apportionment at $22. The reasons are obvious. First, the Comptroller's estimate, together with the present tax rate of twenty cents, made this apportionment entirely practicable. In fact, it is thought that there will be considerable surplus in the available school fund for the present year, even if this seemingly high apportionment shall stand. The State Teachers Association was impelled to this view of the situation for the reason that it is a well-known fact that the schools need the money, and that the money will be available "without raising the present ad valorem tax one cent." The State Board of Education asked many superintendents and members of school boards whether or not this money was needed. The answers revealed the urgency of the needs. During the depression, school properties have been allowed to deteriorate, faculties have been reduced, and, in general the schools are unable to do as efficient work as the great State of Texas should demand of its public schools. The $22.00 apportionment will allow some degree of "catching up," and will aid materially every school in the State. It will be especially helpful to the schools in the poorer districts and in all the village schools.

No Apologies

So the State Teachers Association can have no apologies for its stand in this matter. As laymen, it assumed that the ruling of the Attorney General last year was final. As friends of education, the membership of the State Teachers Association, of course, are anxious for liberal support of the schools. The hearing before the State Board of Education was open, and the President of the State Board of Education asked more than once if there was any one present who wished to oppose an increased apportionment. The apportionment made by the State Board of Education can be burdensome to no one.

Further, it would seem that the action of the State Board of Education is final. In an opinion rendered by the Office of the Attorney General, August 27, 1933, and addressed to Honorable Nat M. Washer, President of the State Board of Education, San Antonio, is to be found the following paragraph:

graph: "The Constitution specifies the purpose for which the available school fund may be used; the State Board is empowered to make an apportionment of the estimated available revenues coming into the apportionment, the disbursing officers of the State available fund are authorized to pay out the moneys in said fund to the amount prescribed by the apportionment and in the manner prescribed by law. The fact that the making of the apportionment authorizes the disbursing officers of the State to pay out the available school funds to the amount of the apportionment for the specific purposes for which fund it set aside, makes it apparent that the making of the apportionment completes an appropriation of the available fund to the extent of the amount apportioned."

It should be remembered, too, that the thirty-five cents school tax was passed on by the people of Texas in 1919, after a state-wide campaign in which the needs of the schools were brought into open discussion. The people ratified the amendment to the Constitution providing for this increase. They meant to pay it and are willing to pay it. Furthermore, they have, through most of the years since that time, paid this tax.

The Texas State Teachers Association is vitally interested in education on all levels. It, of course, tries to promote the welfare of its membership, but it never loses sight of the education of the children of Texas. It is committed to the doctrine that the preservation and proper functioning of democratic institutions are dependent on an intelligent citizenship.
