Effort will be made to enlist the services of more adult 4-H leaders in the newly organized Coleman County Adult Leaders Association.

Officers were elected at the organizational meeting held in Coleman last week when the program was explained and the need to recruit more members was cited by speakers.

Officers elected, as announced by Sandra Duke, assistant county home demonstration agent, are Mrs. Abbey, chairman; Mrs. Richard Horner, vice-chairman; and Mrs. Barney Ransberger, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Charles Abbey presided. On the program were N. W. Purcell, county auditor, who welcomed the leaders and commended them for their work with youth of the county, and Rusty Jones, assistant county agricultural agent, who extended greetings to the leaders from the Coleman County Extension Office.

To continue the program, Mrs. R. C. Sparks, Moezelle 4-H Club leader, explained the purpose of a 4-H Adult Leaders Association and the purpose of the Tuesday evening meeting. She also gave a report of a District Leader's Meeting she attended in Brady in December.

Then Debra Sparks, Moezelle 4-H Club member, spoke on "The Importance of 4-H Leaders," explaining the value of a leader to a 4-H member and how a leader can effect the work of a 4-H club. To conclude the program Miss Duke discussed "The Value of a County Association," telling how an association will benefit both the leaders and the eleven 4-H Clubs in the county.

In attendance at the meeting were those mentioned and Mmes. Monte Guthrie, Haskell Clevenger, Weldon Davis, Barney Ransberger, Don Brandenberger, Gaylon Pickett, W. D. Cope Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Eubank, Mr. and Mrs. Don Starnes, and Mrs. Bessie T. Parker, county HD agent.

Area Senator Gets Lucky In Term "Drawing"

David Ratliff of Stamford, state senator from the 24th district which includes Coleman county, got lucky and drew a slip of paper entitling him to a four-year term in the senate "drawing" at Austin last week.

Due to a recent redistricting the Senators decided to rely entirely on luck to determine whether they got a two or four-year term.

Slips of paper, numbered 1-31, told them how long they would be around before seeking re-election; even numbers meant a two-year term, odd numbers four.

It's a unique ceremony held each time the upper House is redistricted.

Senators learned alphabetically.

Each walked to the front of the chamber, reached in a flower bowl and pulled out a sealed envelope. Clerk Charles Schnable ripped open the envelope, unrolled the paper from a capsule and read the number.

22.85 Inches Of Rain Here 1966

Tucker Newman of near Santa Anna who has kept rainfall records as a hobby for several years, reported this week that a total rainfall in 1966, according to his gauges, measured 22.85 inches.

This figure reveals Santa Anna got 1.17 inches less than Coleman. Mrs. Frances Dibrell of Coleman announced last week that her records showed a total rainfall of 24.02 last year. This figure was about three inches below normal.

Newman's monthly records for 1966 are as follows:

February	1.20
March	.75
April	4.40
May	1.20
June	.90
July	.20

The Board of Trustees of the Santa Anna Independent School District in regular session on Tuesday, February 7, will call the regular school trustee election established by law to be held annually on the first Saturday in April.

The terms of Mrs. Barbara Kingsberry and Robert T. Smith expire on April 30; terms of office begin on May 1, 1967.

A candidate must file application for a place on the ballot not less than thirty days prior to the day of the election. There is no exception to this law. March 1, is the last day to file for a place, on the ballot this year.

Results of the Santa Anna Trustees election will be canvassed by the local board at the April meeting and the County Commissioner Court will also perform that duty at one of its April sessions.

Approximately $400 damage resulted from a 2-car collision near the Clover Grill at 4:10 p. m., Sunday. Mrs. Mabel Burrage of Santa Anna was driving a 1964 Chevrolet headed west on Wallace. Followell was headed east on Wallace.

Damage to Mrs. Burrage's car was estimated at from $200 to $250 and to Followell's car at $175.

County Residents Need To Register

All residents of Coleman county under 60 years of age who wish to vote in any elections during 1967 must register at his office by January 31. John Skelton, Coleman county tax-assessor-collector, explained this week.

Only 1,081 persons had registered on January 16 with 13 days left. On an average off-year election year there are approximately 2,500 poll taxes paid. Skelton said.

Many people, accustomed to paying poll taxes at the time they pay their property taxes are overlooking the fact that under the new law abolishing poll taxes, they must register to become eligible to vote. Registrations thus far with two weeks to go, have been much lower than anticipated.

Skelton has prepared a detailed explanation of the new law which is presented below:

1. Persons 60 years of age on the day they wish to vote are not required to register in Coleman County. In other words if you are 60 or over on an election day, you may vote in that election without having done anything toward qualifying. Of course you must meet the required residence qualifications.

2. Payment of all registration fees are eliminated, and all applicants are issued a voter registration certificate without charge.

3. All voters who are not over 60 years of age must register between the dates of Oct. 1, 1966 and Jan. 31, 1967 if they wish to vote in any

Green Light Given On Urban Renewal Project

U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough and Representative Omar Burleson have informed the Santa Anna News that Secretary Weaver of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has notified them that Santa Anna's "Workable Program for Community Improvement" has been re-certified.

This means Santa Anna remains eligible for the several types of Federal Aid which became available to it when it received its original Workable Program certificate.

Certification of a Workable Program is necessary before a community can receive Federal loans and grants for urban renewal projects and low-rent public housing, and liberal FHA mortgage insurance to assist in the private development of project areas and for rehousing displaced families.

Such recertification does not constitute approval of any specific Federal aid. The Workable Program is a showing by the Community of how it intends to use its own public and private resources to eliminate and prevent slums and blight. Once its program is approved it can apply for the Federal aids to supplement local resources as needed.

Santa Anna has shown reasonable progress under its Workable Program to obtain recertification and remain eligible for these Federal aids, Senator Yarborough and Representative Burleson explained.

The second vice president is Leland Williams of Santa Anna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Williams, junior agricultural education; third vice president, Kent Ohmeiser of Schulenburg, sophomore agricultural education; historian, Stanley Bonds of Kilgore, senior agriculture, education; and parliamentarian, Harold Skiles of Weatherford, sophomore agricultural education.

School Census Here Important

Parents of school children of the Santa Anna district are reminded again of the importance of completing the school census which was started last week.

The number of children enumerated in this census form the basis for allocation of state funds and unless all children are listed the Santa Anna district will lose needed money, Cullen N. Perry, superintendent, explained.

Census blanks are being given to all students attending school with instructions to hand them to their parents at once. Parents and guardians are asked to list all children who will be 6 years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1967, and leave off any child who will be 18 years of age on or before that date.

Supt. Perry also asks for information regarding only children of school age who are not presently enrolled.

Neighbors are asked to call the census to attention of any parents they know who do not have children of school age but whose child will be six years old on or before Sept. 1, 1967.

Tax Collector Coming Jan. 27

January 31 is the deadline for payment of taxes without penalty.

And the new voter registration law requires eligible persons to register by January 31, also. Poll tax payment is no longer required but annual registration is a necessity. Only those over 60 are exempt from registration.

State Capitol NEWS

AUSTIN, Tex. — House of Representatives is operating under far-reaching new rules. And a cooling-off period has been called in a controversy over whether both houses should revise joint procedures.

House of representatives voted 145-0 for a modernized rulebook. Key changes reduce the number of House committees from 43 to 25, after this session; inaugurate a modified seniority system; and set up a calendar system to determine the priority rights of bills ready for consideration.

Three days deep in the 60th Legislative session the House also approved 145-0 a proposed set of joint rules to govern matters involving both houses. This included Speaker Ben Barnes' proposal to limit conference committees to adjusting differences in bills passed by the two houses, rather than writing new legislation.

Another major provision calls for joint committees to hear budget requests and perform some housekeeping functions.

Still another would require that conference committee meetings be open to the press and the public.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith turned a cold shoulder to the conference committee restriction, long advocated by Barnes. Smith said the Legislature has too many more important things to do than squabble over rules.

According to some House lieutenants, Barnes feels that a majority of the Senators favor his proposals. Smith pointed out that rules can be approved or amended only by a two-thirds vote.

So the House version on joint rules is expected to spend an extended cooling-off period in a Senate committee.

If the House recommendations are not accepted, Barnes made it clear that he will regard his own conference committee appointees as duty bound to adjust differences only. If Senate conferees are not so restricted, he readily admitted an impasse may be reached when the first controversial piece of legislation goes to a conference committee.

LEGISLATIVE MEASURES READY

Major legislation now in the hopper includes:

A constitutional amendment by Rep. Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi to permit revision of the state constitutions, on submission by the Legislature.

Authority for cities to levy local option one per cent sales taxes by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin.

A minimum wage bill ($1.25 an hour) with Sen. Joe Bernal of San Antonio and Rep. Lauro Cruz of Houston as main sponsors.

Legalization of mixed drinks by Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio.

Abolishing the death penalty for crimes by Rep. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi.

SENATE TERMS DECIDED

In a drawing to determine the length of terms of members of the Texas Senate, required by legislative reapportionment, these Senators will serve four-year terms:

Joe Bernal and V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio; Wayne Connally of Floresville; H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock; Chet Brooks and Criss Cole of Houston; Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells; Roy Harrington of Port Arthur; Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo; Jack Hightower of Vernon; Don Kennard of Fort Worth; Oscar Mauzy of Dallas; Dave Ratliff of Stamford; Jack Strong of Longview; Murray Watson of Waco; and J. P. Word of Meridian.

Those drawing two-year terms include:

A. M. Aiken of Paris; Jim Bates of Edinburg; Joe Christie of El Paso; Hank Grover (Republican) and Barbara Jordan of Houston; Ralph

More Aid for March of Dimes War On Birth Defects Asked by TV Star

By VIRGINIA GRAHAM
Star of "Girl Talk" TV Program

To my way of thinking, we Americans are disgracing our nation by virtually ignoring the birth each year of a quarter of a million babies with defects.

Every day 700 babies, through no fault of their parents, are born with any one of a thousand disorders, ranging from minor physical problems to blindness, mental deficiency or missing arms and legs.

What makes me angry is that so many of us don't make any effort to fight this problem. The choice is clear. On the one hand we can help by supporting the March of Dimes—the health organization that financed the successful assault on polio—in its programs of research and patient care. On the other hand we can sit back, as many millions of us do, and permit this acknowledged leader in public health to struggle along inadequately financed.

Failure to help would be scandalous. I have tried to help out personally by serving as Mothers' March chairman for the Greater New York March of Dimes.

Speaks Her Mind

Occasionally, at some cost to my television career, perhaps, I have gained a reputation for plain speaking. This is another of those occasions when I want to live up to that reputation and sound off loud and clear.

Let's look at one or two facts besides the 250,000 infants born with birth defects every year. If that isn't terrible enough, just consider that birth defects claim 560,000 lives each year before and after birth. Another 15 million of us who somehow have survived with birth defects still are affected by them in our daily lives. Just one thing more: deaths caused by birth defects cost our country annually $80 billion in future productivity.

Most of us can remember, only a few years back, when millions of Americans gladly enlisted in the March of Dimes mass offensive against polio. We eventually won that epic battle by financing research and learning about the disease through the care of patients.

In tackling the long-neglected puzzle of birth defects, the March of Dimes has taken on a problem that really dwarfs polio, both in size and severity. And I ask, "Why aren't we 194 million Americans enlisted in this war in the same numbers that we were when the enemy was only polio?"

Let me tell you a little story, even if it's about myself.

As many of you know, for I have never made a secret of it, I myself have had cancer and been cured. What supported me through those years of dread and anxiety was the conviction that every one of God's creatures is endowed with some pronounced gift or capability; and that there is no greater misfortune than not being able to exercise that talent. We must do our utmost to use our individual talents for as long as the privilege of life is given to us.

In past years, while conducting telethons for the March of Dimes and on my own network program, "Girl Talk," I have many times discussed the awful threat of birth defects involving our children and our children's children. I have always felt grateful for every opportunity to make the point about the latent talent with which every individual is blessed. What a catastrophe it is not to be able to fulfill the promise that comes to us from Divine Providence!

I feel it is time to make that point again.

I am not saying that if every one of us were contributing what we could today to the March of Dimes, we would solve the enigma of birth defects overnight. But to fight toward the prevention of these tragedies, which is our journey's end, we must have unremitting research in hundreds of areas, and we must have fully twice the number of March of Dimes-financed Birth Defects Centers that now exist.

I say it is scandalous and disgraceful that we don't have all that, and I will go on saying that until all of us are enlisted—generously—for the duration. That was the way we destroyed polio.

Coleman High Graduate Has Story To Tell

EDITOR'S NOTE: Pat Boyet who attended Coleman High School is in the U.S. Armed Forces, stationed at Phan-Rang, Vietnam. He recently wrote a letter to his former classmates which should be read by every citizen in the free world.

Phan-Rang, Vietnam
December 4, 1966

Dear C. H. S.

I want to stress that I am a proud American serving the United States Navy, aiding the cause for my country, which is now dearer to me than ever before!

I am in Vietnam, which is truly a place of loneliness, for me, as well as the men fighting for the same cause.

Only through your faith in God and remembrance of the ones who have died and the ones who are defending our great country, can our flag fly high!

While traveling through the Philippines by means of bus and poor roads, we were through many small villages. I was very impressed by the way we were cheered on by small children as well as the old people.

It's very impressive to see children which couldn't be any older than four years of age, raise high two fingers in the air, the sign of victory.

These people truly live in poverty, they know what it is to be free inspite of being poor!

Our country and our flag, bares the faith of many eyes who will never see our wonderful land.

Our generation is capable of keeping our country free! Be a proud American and don't let it down.

Sincerely yours,
Pat Boyet

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Connally, lambasting William Manchester's "Death of a President" as a propaganda instrument, announced he will compile his own version of President Kennedy's tragic 1963 visit to Texas.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, has warned Texas motorists that the 1967 vehicle inspection period is two-thirds over and only about one-third of the vehicles have been inspected. "This means that during the 12 weeks remaining before the April 15 deadline for inspections, more than twice as many persons each week must have their car inspected to avoid long lines forming at the end of the period," Garrison said.

Garrison also got in a recruiting plug for the department, pointing out that accepted applicants for the Highway Patrol may enter employment immediately rather than waiting until the next patrol-training school begins, as has been the practice.

There are jobs immediately available for men 20 to 25 years old. Applicants may sign up for written exams at any of the regional, district or sub-district DPS offices.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Texas Water Development Fund can be used to help finance recreational facilities connected with the municipal dam and reservoir at Clyde (Callahan County), says Attorney General Martin.

S. S. Office Can Help In Filing Medicare Claims

Older people in the Abilene district office are invited to have their medicare claims checked at the Abilene social security office before mailing, says R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager.

Tuley believes that most people will need this help only the first time they make a medical insurance claim. "The Medicare Handbook, given to all beneficiaries, shows how to make claims," he said, "the form is relatively simple, but most people can use some advice the first time. We're glad to offer aid, and believe we can help some people avoid a delay in payment."

The medicare claim may be made either by the patient or by the doctor. If the doctor applies, he bills the patient only for any part of the $50 deductible remaining to be paid and for 20 percent of the bill over the $50 deductible.

Under the other method, the patient pays the bill, and then sends the completed request for payment form to the medicare carrier. A statement from the doctor showing the treatment given and the charges already paid by the patient must be furnished either on the request for payment form or on a separate medicare bill. In Texas, medicare doctor bill insurance is handled by Blue Cross Blue Shield in Dallas.

The same one-page request-for payment form goes to the carrier no matter whether the payment is to go to the patient or to the doctor. Doctors' offices, accustomed to filling out insurance forms should have no difficulty providing the few items of information requested, Tuley noted. But handling of forms received directly from medicare beneficiaries is sometimes delayed because some essential item of information has been omitted.

If the beneficiary omits his medicare identification number, or doesn't get adequately itemized receipts from the physicians, or fails to enclose the receipts, the medicare carrier has to write him back, thus delaying payment.

"The social security office does not make the decision or pay the claim," Tuley said.

"The law requires that the payments be handled through the selected carriers. But we can answer general questions about medicare and help people in this area get their applications ready for review by the carrier."

The Abilene social security office is located in the Post Office Building. The phone number is OR 4-5262. Representatives of that office make regular visits over the 15-county area. Each post office has a copy of the current schedule. See a representative at the place most convenient for you.

Federal Tax Questions And Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—Who has to file a return?

A—A return must be filed by every person under 65 who has gross income of $600 or more during the year. For those 65 and over, a return does not have to be filed until gross income reaches $1,200. However, if you are self-employed you must file a return if you had self-employment income of $400 or more, even though your gross income was less than $600.

The filing requirements also apply to minors. If, for example, a child has income of $600 or more from a savings or trust account or any other sources, then a return must be filed on behalf of that child.

Q—I'm due for a refund this year. What can I do to speed it up?

A—The best advice we can give is to file a complete and accurate return and to mail it early to the address listed in the 1040 instructions.

The largest single reason for delays in refunds was a missing or inaccurate Social Security number. Be sure to enter an accurate number for yourself and for your wife if it is a joint return. Others are failure to attach W-2 forms, failure to sign the return and omission of other forms or schedules that may be required.

Another point—if you live in one of the states that have direct filing to IRS Service Centers, be sure to send the refund to the Service Center rather than to the District Office. Page 8 of the 1040A instructions or page 10 of the 1040 instructions will tell you where to file.

Q—Are auto license tags a deductible expense?

A—Usually this is not a deductible expense. The exception would be where the license fee is based on the value of the car. In that case the expense would be considered a personal property tax and would be deductible.

Q—I do not have a Social Security number. Now I find I need one for my tax return. What should I do?

A—You may obtain a Social Security number, which also serves as a tax account number, by filing application form SS-5 with the local office of the Social Security Administration. This application is available at IRS offices, Social Security offices, and at many post offices.

Q—How much can a child earn and still be claimed as a dependent?

A—Generally a person may not be claimed as a dependent if he has gross income of $600 or more. However, if your child is under 19 or is a full-time student, you may claim him as a dependent regardless of the amount of income he may have as long as you provide more than one-half of his total support for the year.

Q—I have a disability pension from Social Security. Is this taxable income?

A—No. Social Security benefits are not taxable.

Q—I thought there was supposed to be a box to check on the 1040 if you wanted to have $1 of the tax go to a presidential campaign fund? I can't find it.

A—The law you refer to goes into effect for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1966. Instructions will be issued at a future date on how to do this.

Q—Where can I get the form I need to claim the sick pay exclusion?

A—Form 2440, "Statement to Support Exclusion of Sick Pay," is available at IRS offices.

Q—My wife and I are filing separate 1040's this year. Which tax table or rate schedule should we use?

A—Use Schedule 1 on page 11 of the 1040 instruction booklet if separate income is $5,000 or more or deductions are itemized. Otherwise, use Tax Table C on Page 14.

Q—I am a widow with children, how much can I deduct on my return for child care expenses?

A—You may deduct up to $900 of this expense when there are two or more children under the age of 13 for which this expense is incurred in order to work or seek a job. If there is only one child the maximum deduction is $600.

Q—Are state unemployment benefits taxable?

A—No they are not.

Q—Does a person have to be a citizen of the U.S. to be claimed as a dependent?

A—No. A non-citizen may qualify if he or she is a resident of the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama, or is an alien child adopted by and living with a U.S. citizen abroad.

The word "girl" appears twice in the King James version of the Bible.

Disability Rule Is Softened On Social Security

Disabled persons should take note that social security disability benefits are no longer limited to those with a "permanent" disability. R. R. Tuley, Jr., social security district manager in Abilene, said today. A worker may now be eligible for benefits if he has a disability which has lasted or is expected to last at least 12 months, and prevents him from working.

Although the disability provisions of the social security law were changed in July 1965, Tuley said, his office has seen evidence that some disabled workers have been passing up benefits because they had not heard of the 1965 changes. One important change, he said, removed the requirement that a disability be long continued or permanent without expectation of recovery. Another eases the work requirements for persons whose disability is blindness.

Under present law, a person who becomes blind before age 24 may be eligible for benefits with only 1 1/2 years of work in the 3 years before becoming blind. Blindness occurring before 31, with social security credits for half of the time between age 21 and before becoming blind, may qualify the person for disability benefits.

Workers who become blind at age 31 or later, or who have disabilities other than blindness, need to have social security credit for at least 5 years out of the 10 years before their disabilities began.

Social Security payments for a disabled worker range from $44.00 to $139.90 a month, depending on the worker's average earnings under social security. Benefits may also be paid to certain of his dependents. Mr. Tuley said.

He urged disabled workers to inquire about their eligibility for these benefits at the Abilene social security office located at room 2321 Federal Building or meet a representative of that office when he is in your community. A schedule of visits is posted in all post offices.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burlison, M. C., 17th District, Texas

Washington, D. C.—Presidents from George Washington to Lyndon Johnson have interpreted their Constitutional duty to report to Congress on the State of the Union.

General George Washington came from the White House to the Capitol in a gilded coach, accompanied by officers of State and members of the Military in full dress uniform. The grand ceremony which marked his initial address grew angry criticisms from many quarters. Some said it resembled too much a speech from the throne which the King of England gave each year to the British Parliament. One of Washington's most severe critics was an anti-Federalist editor, who wrote that, "Future, and perhaps rapacious Presidents may be the dark and despotic Caesars of America."

Washington ignored the criticism and continued the high ceremony that marked his first State of the Union Address throughout the eight years of his presidency.

Jefferson was sensitive to criticism and set the precedent 12 years later of staying away entirely.

Incidentally, the record does not suggest that George Washington was dictatorial or king-like in his address to the Congress. In one instance, having made a suggestion, he promptly added, "It rests with the wisdom of Congress to correct, improve or enforce this plan of procedure."

A president is required by the constitution to report to the Congress on the State of the Union. He does not have to do it every year, but only when he pleases, since the Constitution says, "from time to time."

Nevertheless, one such address has been given each year since Gen. Washington's time, except in 1933. In that year the date for taking office was moved up from March 4 to January 20. Had the outgoing President, Herbert Hoover continued in office until March, it is said he would have prepared the address. Franklin D. Roosevelt, being new in office in January, declined to report on the State of the Union. James A. Garfield and William Henry Harrison were the only Presidents who never prepared a State of the Union Address. They died before their first occasion to do so.

A president can meet the constitutional requirements, by sending a message in writing to be read by a clerk. In fact, Woodrow Wilson, in 1913, was the first President since John Adams in 1800 to give the State of the Union Address in person.

Thomas Jefferson in 1801 started the practice of absenting himself, which was to endure for more than a century. He sent a private secretary to the Capitol to read his annual message to Congress.

One hundred and twelve years later, Woodrow Wilson went before the Congress himself to read his message. He said that he was glad to verify, "The impression that the President of the United States is a person, not a mere department hailing Congress from some isolated island of jealous power."

Millions of people saw President Johnson appear before the joint session of Congress last week. Most will likely agree that he came without pomp or ceremony, dressed like any businessman and using simple language in presenting his message.

How far the president should go in spelling out legislation to be passed is a question as old as our country. Major differences in State of the Union addresses from Washington's time to the present reflect the differing attitudes of Presidents with respect to power they should exercise over Congress. Nevertheless, the duty of the president to suggest laws is clearly set forth in the constitution. It is a matter of opinion, but from the record it appears that about one-third of the 36 presidents have been aggressive in urging new law and policy. A half-dozen or so have been reticent, while the rest have been in-betweens.

"Sweets to the sweet" was originally said by Shakespeare in the last act of Hamlet.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASS'N.

HEAD INJURIES

The head injury is the big killer in traffic accidents, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Injury to the head occurs in 72 per cent of auto accidents involving any kind of injury... and in 1965 there were 1,800,000 disabling injuries and 49,000 deaths in motor-vehicle accidents.

The preventive measures against head injury automobile accidents listed by Today's Health include protective helmets, shoulder harnesses, lap seat belts, cushioned head rests and making the backs of seats with more spring so that they will give under the force of an impact.

Shoulder harnesses as well as lap belts are recommended by the American Medical Association, as are safety latches, safety hinges, recessed control knobs on dashboards, and padding on visors, corner pillars, dashboard and the back of the front seat.

Objects placed on the car's rear shelf or dangled from the ceiling may become lethal, head-puncturing missiles in a panic stop. Parents should never allow small children to stand on the seats or the floors of an auto in motion.

The shoulder strap-lap belt will save many serious head injuries. The driver rolls with the crashing auto rather than bouncing about inside the vehicle.

Head injuries can result from relatively minor auto bumps. Anyone who has been rendered unconscious by a blow should be seen by a physician. Persistent headache or vomiting, accompanied by increased lethargy after a relatively minor head injury, is cause for medical attention.

A NATION FREE OF MEASLES

It's time to stop thinking of measles as a slightly humorous childhood disease, says the American Medical Association.

Many people don't realize two important things about measles:

First, it's acrippler and killer. Measles strikes millions of children, but the ones left with deafness or mental defects or encephalitis—or even the ones who die—seem to be forgotten by the public. Measles isn't at all a funny disease; it's one whose tragedy isn't fully realized.

Second, measles could be eliminated as a major health threat. Some medical officials believe it could be eradicated in this country within a year. There's no doubt that it should be. Several types of anti-measles vaccine are available. They are easily administered by your physician and have been proven safe and effective.

Measles-susceptible children can be immunized by their family's physician. The best time is when they are approximately one year old. Older susceptible children—those who have neither had measles nor been given measles vaccine—should be immunized as soon as possible, particularly if they are of school age.

In some communities, and in the states of Rhode Island and Delaware, measles has been practically eliminated by concerted, areawide immunization campaigns.

Such campaigns have been endorsed by the AMA's Council on Environmental and Public Health, but their organization requires the counsel of the local medical society and close cooperation by the community's civic, education, and health organizations. Local physicians are in a position to determine the best way to conduct an immunization campaign in this community.

The most important step is to ensure that your own children are protected from measles. If they have not been immunized, have it done now.

Local Hospital Expenses Climb

If you think you have trouble making ends meet at your house, consider for a moment the budget problems of hospitals.

Discussing the hospital's annual budget, Merl Roller, administrator, said "Our bills for heat, light and power are comparable to those for 32 homes in this area. Our telephone bill alone comes to $210.00 every month and our food bill last year would have fed 10 families in the Santa Anna area."

While a housewife's linen and bedding will probably last four or five years, the freon used in the hospital's air conditioning system is replaced every month just maintaining linen service.

When it comes to vital medical and surgical supplies such as scalpels, clamps, sutures, catheters and the hundreds of other items needed for modern operating rooms and bedside care, expenditures are enormous, well over $5,000.00 annually at Santa Anna Hospital.

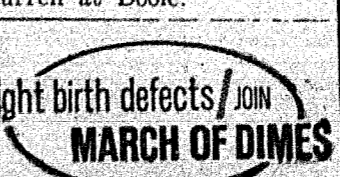

The hospital's medicine cabinet is its pharmacy. Keeping this unit stocked with the latest lifesaving drugs costs more than 14 percent of medical supplies, a whopping $7,138 last year.

And yet, with all these "household" expenses, the hospital must bear one enormous item that most homeowners avoid. The bill for skilled help, available at the rate of two employees for every bed in the institution, makes up approximately 70 per cent of $59,758 the Santa Anna Hospital's annual outlay.

Short Training Will Open Jobs To Many Youths

Recent high school graduates looking for a relatively short training course to prepare for good paying jobs might consider industrial radiography.

Texas A. & M.'s Engineering Extension Service launched its third 16-week school for industrial radiographers on February 6 at the A. & M. Research Annex.

Twenty graduates of earlier school averaged about $6,000 annually in starting salaries, noted Eugene Kronenberg, the school's chief instructor. Employment opportunities are expected to increase steadily in space technology and other fields, he noted.

Industrial radiography is essentially a non-destructive method of testing value in maintaining quality control and production costs. X-ray and gamma ray equipment operation are stressed in A. & M.'s $25,000 laboratory.

Both are photographic processes which depict flaws in metals and materials.

Aircraft, missile shipbuilding and foundry industries are among the largest employers of industrial radiographers. Plastics and ceramics firms also are expanding use of industrial radiography.

Graduates of the school can be licensed by the Texas Department of Health to do radiographic work.

Lone Star State 4-H'ers Named for Awards

Achievements as monumental as the state of Texas have won state recognition for four Lone Star State 4-H'ers.

Two 18-year-olds who speak with ease before the public won state honors in the 4-H Public Speaking program sponsored by The Pure Oil Company. They are Rodney Williams of Texas and Ebel Mabry of Petersburg. His award was a wrist watch, and hers, a chest of silverware.

"Public speaking has encouraged me to major in political science when I enrolled in college," said Williams, who won state honors in public speaking for four years.

The inspiration for his speech, "Our Generation's Future," came when he was a delegate to the Attorney General's Youth Conference on Crime.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll D. Williams, the eight-year 4-H'er has served as boys' vice-chairman of district five and Bowie County 4-H Councils.

Miss Mabry plans to minor in speech at Texas Technological College where she is a freshman. During her 10-year 4-H career she gave 149 speeches to some 25,000 people. Her winning speech was on "Americanism and Patriotism."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Mabry, spoke at the Attorney General's Youth Conference, Texas Electric Cooperatives and the National A.I.C. conventions.

She has served as Hale County 4-H Council chairman and co-recreational leader, emcee of many county events and junior leader in speech activities.

He started his turkey project in 1965 with 15 turkeys and has had 25 this year.

Berend believes his 4-H experience prepared him for his family's large poultry operation. He plans to major in poultry science when he attends Texas A & M University. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Berend.

Berend has won top district and state honors in poultry judging. His award from Heisdorf & Nelson Farms, Inc., 4-H Poultry sponsor, was a wrist watch.

Jimmie Ruth Wittenburg, 18, Rocksprings, won her wrist watch award in the 4-H Sheep program sponsored by Wilson & Co., Inc. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wittenburg, who operate an 11,700 acre ranch, she says that her interest in ranching and the sheep and goat industry dates back to several generations.

The nine-year 4-H member has raised almost 3,000 sheep, and has several boxes full of ribbons which she has won with sheep, wool fleeces and goats. There are 519 registered Rambouillet's in her sheep flock and 163 registered Angora goats.

For three years she was second premier exhibitor with her Rambouillet sheep at the San Angelo Fat Stock Show and now has permanent possession of the Leonard Richardson trophy.

Miss Wittenburg is a member of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and American Rambouillet Sheep Breeders Association.

The four state winners were selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

White tail deer, buffalo, turkey, longhorn steers and other mammals will be placed in the enclosure.

The animal-proof, fenced area will be surrounded by a perimeter road that shortly will be open to the public. Underbrush will be cleared from the enclosure, but native trees will be preserved. Personnel of the Parks and Wildlife Department were assisted in the project by planning experts from the National Park Service.

The current development will be financed by private contributions to the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park Fund.

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

Read Matthew 13:31-35 While the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, he was standing by the lake of Gennesaret. (Luke 5: 1, RSV)

The church speaks best through contemporary language. Just as the New Testament was first written in the language of the marketplace and the highway, so the good news, concerning Jesus Christ, is best delivered today in the vernacular of the common man. The sale of millions of copies of new translations of the Bible witnesses to us that the people want the Christian message in the language of today.

The people pressed upon Jesus to hear the word of God because He spoke to their need in terms they could understand. In the Gospel of Mark we read that "the great throng heard him gladly." Jesus' simple words and homespun illustrations have lived across nineteen centuries and still speak with power to modern people.

The church communicates best through language which people best understand.

PRAYER:
Our father, we thank Thee for the many men and women who have tolled and sacrificed to give us the Bible in our own native tongue. Help us to study it with the same earnest enthusiasm. May the truth we discover there guide us through this day in Jesus' name. Amen.

Humble Refining To Expand Use Of ENCO Name

Humble Oil & Refining Company has announced that it plans to extend the use of its brand name Enco to five more states: Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida.

M. A. Wright, board chairman, said that Enco—a name derived from the slogan "America's Leading Energy Company"—will soon join Humble's famed Tiger and the slogan "Happy Motoring" as trademark identification at the 2000 Humble service stations in these five states.

"For more than five years," Mr. Wright said, "we have been using the brand name Enco in 22 central, southwestern, and Western states.

"With this latest addition, the Enco oval will fly over 8800 Humble stations in 27 states."

Humble's decision to use the name Enco in Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida came after court rulings denying Humble the use of its Esso trademark in those states. The continued use of Esso in the District of Columbia and 18 Eastern states from Maine to Louisiana is not affected by the court's action.

"Our timetable for making the change will be governed by a decree from the court of original jurisdiction," Mr. Wright said.

In addition to the 2000 service stations, Humble has 80 bulk plants and 30 airport installations in the states of Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida, all of which will soon be under the Enco oval.

Mr. Wright said that Humble plans to continue a vigorous expansion of its marketing activities in these five states.

Humble first began using the brand name Enco in 1959. In 1961, use of the trademark was expanded to encompass 22 states.

"The name proved to be easily remembered and one that established a quick association with our slogan, America's Leading Energy Company," Mr. Wright said.

He said that Humble plans to introduce Enco in these states with heavy promotional and advertising support.

Humble's dealers, he said, will be invited to special "pre-view meetings" as soon as specific plans are completed for introduction of the Enco brand name in these states.

Santa Annans Make Good Use Social Security

Santa Anna residents filed more Social Security claims and asked more questions about their rights and responsibilities in 1966 during visits in Coleman with the representative of the Abilene Social Security staff than ever before, according to R. R. (Bob) Tuley, Jr., district manager.

The limited interview space provided by the County Welfare office as a service to Coleman county residents was crowded on many occasions. During 78 visits of the Abilene district office representative last year, 311 retirement and survivor claims were filed, 50 disability claims, 98 medicare enrollments, 108 medicare reimbursement claims, 391 continuing benefit eligibility claims, 516 other interviews and 1,661 inquiries.

Tuley says that through these regular visits by representatives of the Abilene office local residents will receive the same informed and interested service here that they would get by calling at the district office.

During the first three months of the year, however, it sometimes happens that so many callers show up that the one-man (or one-woman) operation gets swamped, causing longer waiting times for interviewees. With several skilled interviewers on duty at the Abilene office, any such waiting time would be greatly reduced if the local person had any other reason to be in Abilene. Also, the Abilene office is open until 8 p.m. every Tuesday, he added, as an aid to persons unable to come in during usual 9-5 office hours.

State Teachers Get Grants For Advanced Study

Grants totalling $4,800 will be offered in 1967 by the Texas PTA in the association's continuing program to encourage summer study for career teachers, Mrs. L. L. Ledger, state president, announced Jan. 16.

Twelve recipients each will receive a grant of $400 for study next summer in a college or university of the teacher's choice, Mrs. Ledger said. Recipients will agree to take a minimum of six semester hours, and study must be in a field to improve the applicant's teaching proficiency. Recipients also will agree either to teach in Texas the following year or to repay the amount of the grant.

In 1966 twelve $300 summer grants were sought by more than 200 applicants. The growth of the state PTA endowment fund, principal source of funds for the program, has made possible an increase of $100 per grant this year.

"It is our hope that the teachers, administrators, and school boards of Texas will take this as tangible evidence of PTA's desire to cooperate for the benefit of Texas students," Mrs. Ledger said.

Any Texas teacher with at least three year's teaching experience in state and who currently is teaching in a school with a local PTA unit in good standing with the Texas PTA is eligible for consideration. Previous grant recipients, as well as members of the PTA state Board of Managers, the State Office staff, and the Board of Trustees of the endowment fund are ineligible.

Teachers may obtain grant application blanks by writing prior to March 1 to Scholarship Committee, Texas PTA, P.O. Box 2164, Austin 78767. Completed applications must be received at the same address by March 31.

Each application may be accompanied by letters of recommendation from the teacher's immediate supervisors, but the cover letter must be from a school district official within the applicant's district.

CATCHING THE PUBLIC EYE

Seven attractive sisters, each with long and luxuriant hair, opened a shop for the sale of hair tonic. Every day they took turns sitting in the show window, combing and brushing their tresses. The performance was such a sensational success that the sidewalk was jammed all day long.

But when a neighboring merchant complained in court, the judge ordered the show halted. He said it was improper to drum up business in a way that shut off the public sidewalk and blocked access to adjacent stores.

Of course, catching the public eye is a lawful and proper activity. But the methods used must not infringe unduly on other legitimate interests in the community.

Thus, just a too-sensational window display may be curbed, so may a too-insistent sound. For example:

A music shop placed a phonograph in the doorway, played it relentlessly from morning to night. The volume was so loud that clerks in a nearby store developed headaches, grew jittery, and lost interest in their work.

A court held that this too was an abuse of the right to advertise, — and ordered the volume turned down.

Safety, also, may justify limits on the ways and means of advertising. A court held unlawful a sign in front of a barber shop, so low-hung that it menaced the heads of passing pedestrians.

On the other hand, regulation must be reasonable. An arbitrary ban on a particular type of advertising, not reasonably related to a valid community purpose, may be held unconstitutional.

One city passed a law aimed at getting rid of the sign-carrying "sandwich man." But the law was promptly challenged in court.

Was it justified as a means of keeping the sidewalks clear? Yet it still allowed signs carried by pickets — presumably, no more attractive.

Result: the law was held unconstitutional. The court said the city could not, in such an unfair and arbitrary manner, "at one stroke wipe out a long-standing form of cheap advertising."

Shortage Seen In Fertilizer Chemicals Used

Increased wheat and feed grain acreages indicate a potential shortage of fertilizer in the spring of 1967, notes C. D. Welch, Extension soil chemist at Texas A. & M. University.

Such a situation could develop as national corn acreage is expected to be up 20 per cent, and 45 per cent of the total fertilizer used in the United States goes to this crop, Welch says.

The lack of transportation and distribution facilities to deliver the needed fertilizer could make it difficult for farmers to obtain fertilizer at the time needed for planting. This could mean inadequate fertilization and less than potential production, Welch points out.

Application of fertilizer in the late fall or early winter will enable the individual farmer to avoid the difficulty of obtaining fertilizer for 1967. Phosphorus, potassium, and nitrogen should be applied in the late fall or early winter if these conditions are met:

1. Soil temperatures below 55 degrees F.
  2. Have soils high in clay.
  3. Put fertilizer in the soil.
- The major concern over fall fertilization involves potential nitrogen loss. Should the nitrogen remain in the ammonium form during the winter period, the chances of loss are at a minimum.

Nitrification of ammonium is low under 55 degrees F., therefore, farmers should consider fall or winter fertilization. In many instances where fertilizer has been early, a small amount of nitrogen and phosphorus applied

Million Mothers Fight Birth Defects In Traditional March of Dimes Drive

Famed actresses Jane Wyatt, Angela Lansbury and Gigi Perreau share a secret — they have learned there can be a great deal more to life than the glamour and glitter of stage and screen stardom.

Behind the scenes these stars are among the more than one million American women who have become March of Dimes volunteers so that countless millions of infants, yet unborn, may have the chance to lead normal and useful lives.

For the fourth consecutive year, Miss Wyatt is national chairman of the March of Dimes Mothers' March on birth defects, Miss Lansbury is chairman in New York City, and Miss Perreau is chairman in Los Angeles, Calif.

As the world of stars helps the 1967 March of Dimes, so does the world of space. The Mothers' March chairman in Houston, Tex., is Mrs. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., wife of the famous astronaut, while the mother of astronaut Wally Schirra, Mrs. Walter Schirra Sr., heads the Mothers' March in San Diego, Calif.

These well-known women and the many other equally dedicated Mothers' March volunteers across the nation seek their neighbors' support and contributions for the 1967 March of Dimes because the need is so vital and immediate.

Each year more than 250,000 American babies are born with birth defects, many of which can disfigure, disable or kill. That's about 700 infants born each day with a physical or mental defect. Birth defects each year destroy an estimated 500,000 infants before they are born.

"On their Mothers' March from door to door, volunteers will have two main goals," Miss Wyatt explains.

with or near the seed during planting, Welch explains.

"These women want to educate parents and parents-to-be about birth defects and what is known about how to prevent them. They will also try to raise funds to support the fight on birth defects."

The educational leaflet, "Happy Birth Day," will be distributed during the Mothers' March. It explains what to do if you are about to be married, if you are expecting a baby, if a birth defect occurs in your family or if you have friends with a defective child who needs assistance.

Contributions to the 1967 March of Dimes will help the fight on birth defects by supporting:

- The growing nationwide network of 77 Birth Defects Centers for diagnosis and treatment.
  - A scientific research program aimed at finding the causes and methods of preventing birth defects.
  - A Professional Education Program for scientists and medical personnel.
  - A nationwide Public Education Program to distribute authoritative information about prenatal care and birth defects treatment and research.
- The million mothers who march this month will share the certain knowledge that they will indeed be marching to help generations of babies yet unborn.

Crude Gag Nixes One Wild Duck

The waterfowl specimen that months ago became entangled in the loop end of a plastic soft drink bottle cap shared the same fate as a migrating duck on the Colorado River near Austin.

Both were exterminated by hunters to spare them from slow death.

The pied-billed grebe in some manner had gotten the loop end of a yellow plastic cap apparatus around its neck. The hunter, mistaking the obstacle for one of the newly fashioned waterfowl bands, seized the bird and forwarded the device to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters.

More recently, came delivery of the head and neck of a lesser scaup, a diving duck also known as a blue bill. An accompanying note related that the man, hunting on the Colorado River east of Austin, had shot the bird out of a flock when he noticed it was flying with great difficulty.

The duck, feeding on the shoreline bottom, apparently had tried to swallow an ordinary rubber band, the type widely used to wrap newspapers for individual delivery. The band became caught under its tongue and had slipped around the back of its neck, thus serving as a suicidal obstruction to feeding.

A department spokesman said the two incidents prove a constant reminder of the constant perils facing wildlife, particularly migrating birds, encountering modern traps on the surface in addition to the age-old elevated hazards, such as assorted power and communication lines and other facilities incidental to modern life.
