

RAMBLING
AROUND

By JOHN C. GREGG

During recent years we have seen much apparent moral decay in these United States. Only a few years ago it was unthought of for a person to think of such things as burning a draft card, disobedience of our state and federal laws, and the manner in which enforcement officers are mistreated today. It seems the criminal element today has the upper hand in any situation and the law-abiding citizen is degraded to the extent that within a few years there just possibly might be no law and order.

The following article was addressed to all the nation by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in a recent law enforcement bulletin. Because of the magnitude of the situation, we thought each and every citizen should read it. We present it for your consideration:

Morality, integrity, law and order, and other cherished principles of our great heritage are battling for survival in many communities today. They are under constant attack from degrading and corrupting influences which, if not halted, will sweep away every vestige of decency and orderliness remaining in our society.

Certain groups, numerically weak but vociferously strong, appear determined to destroy all acceptable standards of personal conduct and sane behavior patterns. They seem bent on eliminating all ethical practices relating to our established order.

For instance, most citizens would be horrified to think that someday it might be legally permissible for a person to rise in a courtroom and hour four-letter invectives at the judge without fear of punishment. "This cannot be," we say, "the court is inflexible. It administers justice under the laws by which we live." Law enforcement is an arm of the same laws. It is charged with the responsibility under these laws of taking certain action which ultimately is resolved in court. However, a move is underway demanding that profane verbal abuse directed at police officers be legally recognized as a constitutional right. If it can be argued that such preposterous action is legally permissible at the enforcement level of the law, could it not also be argued that it is permissible at all levels of our legal system?

History proves that the best interests of our Nation lie in a law-abiding, decent, and orderly society. We cannot live with lawlessness, unbridled vulgarity, obscenity, blasphemy, perversion, and public desecration of every sacred and just symbol. We should be alarmed when widespread recognition and monetary awards go to a person who writes a "satirical" piece of trash which maliciously defames the President of our country and insinuates he murdered his predecessor. We should be alarmed when some groups, under the guise of academic freedom and constitutional privilege, flood our college campuses with obscene four-letter word campaigns and pornographic publications which violate all codes of ethics. And we should be equally alarmed when an enforcement officer making an arrest must fight for his life against assaults from on-lookers who scoff and ridicule him for doing his duty.

Why do these conditions exist? Certainly, an overwhelming majority of Americans do not want their families exposed to indecent, immoral, and unlawful practices which plague our communities. But unorganized protesters carry little weight against organized crusaders of filth, immorality, and of crime. If this is not the legacy we want to pass on to our youth, then it is high time we took action to improve conditions.

Let us stop persecuting enforcement officers when we should be prosecuting criminals. Let us stop defiling offbeat spots whose ability is measured only by how deep they can dip their poisonous pens into the pots of blasphemy, filth, and falsehood. Let us stop listening to half-truths and criticisms of time-tested ideals and start telling and selling the true story of democracy as we know it. In short, let us stop being led blindly toward the cavern of

Good Rain Falls Here Saturday

A real nice rain fell throughout the Santa Anna area Saturday afternoon. Reports of amounts received run all the way from less than one-half inch to more than five inches. In the area to the north and east of town, heavy rains fell and parts of the area were badly beaten by hail.

Right here in town about 1 1/2 inches fell in some three or four showers. The rain was certainly nice, but soon showed signs of the ground soaking up what moisture that did not run off.

The area has been in the midst of a severe drought for more than six months. Only one rain has been received in that time and it did not amount to a great deal.

A slow-falling rain for two or three days is certainly needed in this area. We hope it will not be much longer in getting here.

Postal Savings No Longer Pay Any Interest

United States Postal Savings Certificates which are on deposit at Post Offices will cease earning interest for depositors on April 27, 1967, acting Postmaster John C. Gregg, said today.

Nationwide, the Post Office is holding more than $20 million in the now obsolete program which was discontinued by the Congress on March 28, 1966.

As of April 27, a year ago, Postal Savings were discontinued, and no deposits were accepted by the Post Office Department. Certificates whose anniversary dates have been reached since last April 28 have earned their final interest payment.

On June 30, he said, all remaining funds in the program will be turned over to the Treasury Department to be held in a trust fund until liquidated. There they will remain available for payment without time limitation when proper claims are received.

Gregg urged that all Postal Savings depositors close out their accounts and invest their funds in United States Savings Bonds or the new Freedom Shares, which on May 1, will pay 4.74% interest.

Holders of Postal Savings certificates can arrange to redeem them simply by applying at the post office where the certificates were issued. The postmaster there, he said, will provide guidance and necessary forms to assist in cashing certificates. All transactions can be handled by mail, and certificates issued to persons now deceased can be cashed in by legal heirs in accordance with the state laws governing such distributions. Again, the postmaster at the issuance post office will render authorized assistance.

Five Youths Approved For NYC Employment

Five students have been approved to work at the Santa Anna Schools through the summer months under the Neighborhood Youth Corps. About twelve counties are in this program in the area. All are under the central administration of the San Saba County Board of Education.

Students will attend school on Monday for a period of six hours, studying in academic fields where they need help or advancing to vocational courses as the need may be determined. Classes will be at Coleman for all NYC students in the county. During the remainder of the week the students will work 30 hours in the program that will continue for twelve weeks.

Last summer NYC students refinished all rooms in the high school building, built a fence around the football field, assisted in refitting all floors in all buildings, and helped keep the grounds and athletic fields. Similar duties are outlined for this summer but will include refitting of furniture in both the high school and elementary buildings.

Approval of student eligibility is in the hands of Mr. Travis Shaw and Mr. Gray who are directors of the program for the San Saba County School Board.

To Be 65 Soon? Sign Up Now For Medicare

Persons who will reach age 65 in the next 3 months are reminded to sign up for Medicare before the age 65 month by Social Security.

"Although the law provides a seven-month period," states R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager of the Abilene Social Security office, "only those who sign up in the 3 month period ahead of age 65 have their doctor bill insurance part of Medicare effective with the first day of that age 65 month."

"Signing up in the month 65 is reached makes protection effective the first day of the following month. Signing up in the 3 months after reaching age 65 delays the protection for up to two months after enrollment," he added.

A representative of the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration will be in Coleman on every Monday and Tuesday except May 29, 30 at the Dept. of Public Welfare at 10:00 a.m. or, such sign up action may be taken in the Abilene office, located in the post office building, from 9-5 on Mondays through Fridays, with extra open hours from 5 p.m.-8 p.m. on every Tuesday.

Clocks Will Move Ahead 1 Hour Sunday Morning

Schools Will Change To Daylight Time

Cullen N. Perry, Supt. of the Santa Anna Schools, said the local school system will change to Daylight Saving Time, the same as everyone else is expected to, beginning with the operation of all the school buses on Monday morning, May 1st.

All clocks are due to be advanced one hour at 2:00 a.m. Sunday, April 30, and this time will be observed by the school system for the six months period, until the last Sunday in October.

Perry said this would have the same effect of beginning classes one hour earlier, with reference to Sun or Central Time. However, students will have an additional hour of daylight after school is dismissed. He urged parents of students who ride the buses to be sure their clocks are set properly for the new time.

He said he expected everyone to adjust to the new time pretty rapidly.

Student Council Elects Officers For Next Year

The Student Council of the Santa Anna High School met Monday, April 24, and elected officers for the next school term.

Beth Irick is the president of the organization this year.

Historical Group Offered 5 Acres Laid at Trickham

In a letter addressed to The Santa Anna News and various other individuals and concerns in Coleman County, Elgean Shield of Austin states that five acres of land near the site of the Historical Marker placed at Trickham recently belongs to the estate of the late L. L. Shield.

He said, "I believe that I can speak for the heirs of L. L. Shield in stating that we would like to deed this property to the Historical Society of Coleman County for the purpose of restoring and making a possible park and assembly point along the creek at Trickham."

Shield said the land was not disposed of in the will of his father and that it was located some 400 feet north of the site of the Historical Marker. He said he was sure the heirs would gladly contribute the land free of any restrictions other than that the land would be used as designated above and not for profit to any individual or concern.

The Historical Committee is expected to discuss this proposal at the next regular meeting.

Intersection Accident On Saturday P. M.

A pickup-trailer and automobile accident happened at 2:45 p.m. Saturday at the highway division of 84-67 in the west part of town. Damage was heavy but no injuries were reported.

Charles Wallace of Alpine was traveling west on Highway 67, driving a pickup and pulling a big trailer. He failed to yield the right of way in the intersection and Arthur L. Beyers of Dallas, driving a Buick, collided with the trailer and demolished it. The pavement was wet, following the rain.

The accident was investigated by the Sheriff's Department.

Clocks throughout Texas and 45 other states in these United States will be moved ahead one hour on Sunday morning, April 30 for six months of what is known as Daylight Saving Time. Official time for the change is at 2:00 a. m., which will automatically become 3.00 a. m. Most will likely just set their clocks ahead one hour when they go to bed Saturday night or when they get up Sunday morning. Anyway you look at it there is going to be one hour of lost sleeping time Saturday night.

The U. S. Congress enacted a law directing all states—excepting those in which

Father of Local Woman Buried At Trickham

Funeral services for James Alvin Robbins of Stratford were held Wednesday, April 19, at 2:00 p.m. in Northside Church of Christ with Paul Wallace and Robert Barkley officiating. Mr. Robbins passed away Monday, April 17, at 10:00 a.m. in Dalhart.

Born April 20, 1882 in Williamson County, Mr. Robbins married Miss Mary Ella Avants June 14, 1903. A retired farmer and member of the Church of Christ, he had moved to Coleman County in 1921.

Survivors include his wife of Stratford, one son, J. A. Robbins of Stratford; seven daughters, Mrs. Stella Boyd of McCamey, Mrs. Jewell Anderson of Santa Anna, Mrs. Velma Tharp of Bangs, Mrs. Beulah Farris, Mrs. Ruby Huggins, Mrs. Catherine Hanev, and Mrs. Mary Ella Brannon, all of Stratford; one brother, Roy Robbins of Mission, Texas; 31 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Trickham Cemetery under the direction of Stevens Funeral Home.

Services For Mrs. Bertha O. Robinson Apr. 13

Bertha Olyver Robinson, 90, died in a Big Spring Hospital April 10, 1967. Her parents came from Arkansas to Santa Anna in 1878.

She was married to C. C. Robinson, October 7, 1901, making their home in Runnels County for sixty years.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. April 13 in the Allen Davis Funeral Chapel in Ballinger, with burial in Norwood cemetery.

Survivors include a son, Dr. Seldon C. Robinson, Lubbock, a daughter, Mrs. Bliss Denwalt of New Plymouth, Idaho, two sisters, Miss Grace Oliver of Houston, Mrs. Alexander Crawford of Greensboro, Alabama, two grandchildren, six great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. S. D. Cupps visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. D. R. Wells in Coleman Sunday.

legislatures vote exemptions—to observe Daylight Saving Time from 2:00 a. m. the last Sunday in April until 2:00 a. m. the last Sunday in October. The Texas Legislature failed to pass the exemption for Texas and thus we begin our observance of the Daylight Saving Time on Sunday.

Hawaii and Michigan voted the exemption and will continue to observe Standard times in their area. Kentucky persuaded federal officials to excuse their state from compliance this year, as they had no scheduled meeting of their legislature for 1967. In the State of Indiana residents will observe whatever time is set by local ordinance. However, one clock in each courthouse and city hall will be marked "official time" in compliance with the Federal act.

A lot of discussion has been held here since it became known that Texas would observe Daylight Saving Time. Generally, it seems, most do not approve of the time change, but will accept it.

Actually, Daylight Saving Time is designed to give people an extra hour of daylight through the warm summer months of the year. An extra hour of time to work on the yard, in the garden, do-it-yourself projects, or for various recreational activities. We hope each of you find the "extra hour" of time beneficial to your personal desires.

Small Towns Urged To Follow West Texas C of C Ideas and Suggestions

Del Rio — The small West Texas town need not fade from the picture if it follows the ideas and suggestions put forth at the 49th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting here.

"The small town must be preserved as the last citadel of gracious living, neighborliness and close friendships based upon intimate knowledge of the hopes, dreams and ambitions of one another," according to John Ben Shepperd, Odessa, president of the WTCC in summarizing the findings of the Small Towns Task Force which released its report Tuesday.

A dramatic presentation of the problems and potentials of the small town was made with color slides, taped recordings and presentations by the section chairmen of the study group.

The printed report entitled "The Small Community in West Texas" is the result of seven months of intensive work and detailed study and analysis by the 23-member "blue ribbon" Small Towns Task Force of the WTCC.

Written community inventories were compiled by a scientifically selected cross section of 140 small towns (under 12,000). This information, plus eight hearings throughout the area and in Austin and Washington, combined with the research by the Task Force members are the basis for the identification of the problems and recommendations. # STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin — Legislature showed signs of quick response to the request by Gov. John Connally to postpone writing a tax bill until next year and to adopt a state governmental budget for only half the fiscal biennium.

Both House and Senate budget-writing committees will scrap their biennial appropriations measures and have one-year bills ready for action this week.

In an unusual night speech to a joint session of the House and Senate, Connally pledged to call a special session next year to pass a 1969 appropriations bill and consider necessary new taxes. Overall purpose was to break legislative logjams on major legislation.

State financial picture appears to be this: Under the one-year budget plan, about $137,000,000 in additional spending can be done in the year starting next September 1 out of the general revenue fund. Because in past years the estimates of Comptroller Robert S. Calvert have been conservative, there generally is a surplus left at the end of each year. Connally thinks a surplus of $50-60,000,000 could be in sight a year from now. Thus the size of the tax bill to be passed could be that much less than it would have to be if it were passed on now.

This $50,000,000 or so would not actually be saving, since Connally expects the legislature to spend the same amount on two one-year budgets as on one two-year budget. However, the Governor figures that if business growth continues to gain, revenues from present taxes will bring in more than had been expected, and thus make it possible to get by with a smaller tax increase.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, after initial doubts on wisdom of the procedure, urged the Senate Finance Committee to go along. Smith cautioned the legislators not to take the new financial procedure as an invitation to spend more freely and to clear up any legal questions at an early date.

Lieutenant governor, who contends that no new taxes are necessary, viewed Connally's proposal as "at least partial recognition that our financial salvation does not necessarily and exclusively lie in passing a big tax bill at this time."

COMMUNITY CENTERS
Bill by Rep. Billy H. Williamson of Tyler to make more cities in Texas eligible for grants-in-aid for community mental health centers has passed both House and Senate.

State now may make such grants-in-aid to cities of 100,000 or more population. This bill would lower that minimum to 75,000. It would also allow grants-in-aid to a center serving less than 75,000 population, if the state commissioner of mental health and mental retardation declares it eligible.

EDUCATION MEASURES
House of Representatives passed two measures of the education package sponsored by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton.

One would allow some college-educated persons who did not take all the required education courses in college to qualify as teachers.

Other would allow persons already knowledgeable in American and Texas history and government to take advance-standing exams, and if they make an A or B, receive that grade without having to take the course.

It would also exempt some out-of-state graduate students from having to go back and take undergraduate history and government courses.

RAILROAD CROSSINGS
A measure acceptable to both the Texas Motor Transportation Association and the Texas Joint Railway Labor Board now is awaiting action before the House.

Bill provides that trucks carrying explosives or inflammable stop when crossing railroad tracks within city limits but slow down to 20 miles per hour or less when crossing tracks outside of cities.

SAFETY BILL
An occupational safety bill, subject of bitter controversy and deadlocks in past legislative sessions, was passed by the House 143-0. A compromise version was hammered out after usual friction over terms developed. Senate passage is likely.

Bill calls for Division of Occupational Safety in State Department of Health, with three-member board to formulate standards. A safety engineer would inventory all industrial accidents and advise the board on needed rules.

CRIMINAL CODE REVISION READIED
Major revisions in code of criminal procedure to meet criticism of law enforcement officers is being speeded to House floor by Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

Major changes deal with warnings of rights of accused by judges; arrests of suspicious persons without warrants; notice of pre-trial hearings; sentencing procedures; and requirement that witnesses to crime identify themselves at request of a police officer. Committee voted down effort to allow greater freedom in use of oral confessions in trials.

AG OPINIONS
Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held he could not approve bonds supported by Trinity River Authority tax of 15 cents on $100 valuation as proposed in Senate bill amendment because notice of intent to introduce measure was not published locally as required by constitution.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

• A sheriff is authorized to release a prisoner "laying out" his fine in jail after he satisfies sentence and court costs at the rate of $5 a day.

• State Building Commission can enter a contract prior to September 1 for a liquor tax collection station at Cordova Crossing, El Paso, although construction will begin before transfer of site to the U.S. under the Chualar agreement.

• Texas Water Rights is not barred from canceling unused water permit for five years following public hearing where permittees ask for partial cancellation without hearing.

• Counties can purchase insurance from any licensed company on public buildings and contents provided agreement does not involve lending of county credit or granting public money, taking membership in or becoming stockholder in the insurance firm.

COURT SPEAKS
Texas Supreme Court has agreed, on divided decision, that an Edinburg woman is entitled to $17,000 collected on winning Mexican national lottery ticket she purchased jointly with a neighbor.

Court rejected appeal of a Bryan man from lower court orders that he must clean up conditions at his egg and chicken farm if he wants to keep operating it within city limits.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld two rulings of James O. Gerst, state savings and loan commissioner, refusing applications for savings firm offices in La Grange. Opinion noted there are 46 banks and eight savings and loan associations in surrounding counties, including eight banks in Fayette County alone.

$ BILLION FOR TOURISM
Texas broke into the billion-dollar circle for tourism for the first time last year. State Highway Department's visitor industry report says that 19,200,000 visitors spent $1,080,000,000 in 1966. Most travelers—14,500,000—arrived by auto and spent $723,800,000.

Trains, buses and airplanes carried 5,070,000. Average tourist spent $8.80 a day and remained in Texas 5.8 days, report shows. Average length of complete vacation trip was 4,417 miles, 1,117 of which was driven in Texas.

Ham Calls For Raisin Sauce

One popular way to dress up baked ham is to serve it with a raisin sauce. Although most of the raisins available on the market are the seedless variety, for a special occasion you might want to look for seeded raisins. They have a rich, old-fashioned flavor that perfectly complements the ham. Be prepared, however, to pay more for seeded raisins. This recipe for Raisin Sauce can be made up in advance and the sauce reheated before serving. If it thickens on standing, stir in a little water as you reheat it.

- Raisin Sauce
- 2 cups water
  - 3/4 cup raisins
  - 2 tablespoons corn starch
  - 1 teaspoon sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon ginger
  - 1/4 cup cold water
  - 1 tablespoon margarine
  - 2 tablespoons wine vinegar

Combine 2 cups water and raisins in saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes. Combine corn starch, sugar, salt and ginger. Blend in cold water. Gradually stir into mixture in saucepan. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Blend in margarine and vinegar. Serve warm over meat. Makes 2 1/2 cups.

and rehabilitation project at Tyler State Park soon will be undertaken, according to Will Odum, chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

State Supreme Court action overruling Tyler and Smith County motion for rehearing on suit over park ownership cleared the way for work, Odum said.

Legislature appropriated $278,950, and federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation agreed to $225,941 grant. Project includes shelters, campfires, trailer sites, picnic units, restrooms, fishing docks, nature trails and other facilities. Scenic park is near Interstate 20.

SHORT SNORTS
Bill by Rep. A. C. Atwood of Edinburg authorizing the Commissioner of Agriculture, John O. White, to test out-of-state citrus fruit brought into Texas under the same maturity standards and requirements applicable to similar citrus fruit produced in Texas, has passed both Houses of the Legislature.

House passed a bill raising maximum unemployment compensation from $37 to $45 a week and hiking weekly wage to qualify for top benefit from $69 to $85.

Total numbers of registered voters for 1967 is $2,982,362, according to figures compiled by Secretary of State John Hill.

U. S. Office of Education has approved 18 Texas projects under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, which allows federal fund grants to assist in the setting up of supplementary educational centers and services.

Governor Connally has called a special election for May 25 to fill the unexpired term of the late Rep. Jim Hargrove of Brazoria and Fort Bend Counties.

TIPS ON TRAVEL AGENTS

Going on a trip? A travel agent may be the secret to a happy and satisfying experience.

Whether you actually need an agent is a matter of your travel experience, says Lucille Moore, recreation specialist with Texas A & M University. You may already know your way around the United States or over seas. On the other hand, a reliable agent may save you time and effort and give you useful advice. When you find a good one, stay with him and recommend him to your friends.

How does a travel agent make his money? Agents receive a small per cent commission from domestic airlines and on international flights. They get a percentage on advertised international and domestic tours. Some agents charge the traveler direct and will say so when you first plan your trip.

Whenever you buy a travel package, be sure you understand all items and conditions before you pay, especially the provisions for refund if you decide to cancel.

If your dealings are unsatisfactory and you believe a formal complaint is justified, contact the Better Business Bureau, the airline or steamship company, or the Grievance Department of the American Society of Travel Agents in New York.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Bureson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D.C. — The Supreme Court has just made another ruling which will have far-reaching effects. By upholding a Federal Trial Court, a new doctrine has been created to the effect that the states have an affirmative duty to mix the races in public schools.

Previous court decisions had laid down the rule that the Constitution does not require integration. It merely forbids discriminatory racial segregation. Under this theory the assignment of pupils by race to achieve a balanced distribution would be unconstitutional as the assignment by race to prevent integration. As a matter of fact, all the Civil Rights legislation passed in recent years has a central objective, the prohibition against disallowing children entering public schools because of race, creed or color. No part of the Law contemplates the forcing attendance of the races in order that an approximate equal number would attend a particular school.

The court has not explained why it has shifted its position. One dissenting Judge of the Court of Appeals called the ruling of that Court "an abrupt and unauthorized departure from the mainstream of judicial thought."

"Guidelines" imposed by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare look to a racial balance in all public schools. This means that if not enough negro parents choose to send their children to white schools, the Federal Government will do the choosing for them. It also means that if not enough Negro teachers are assigned to schools where a large number of white pupils are in attendance, the Federal Government will refuse funds unless the imbalance is corrected. The so-called "Guidelines" indicate percentages that must be achieved in order to satisfy requirements.

The court has, in effect, taken over the legislative function in sanctioning virtual control of the public commendations in the printed report.

Leadership was pointed out as the most important ingredient of a community's progress, when Mayor Royce Lee Bronte, presented the section on the role of leadership in building the small community. Communication between leaders and those who follow was emphasized as necessary to the successful completion of community projects. Involvement of the entire community is also mandatory if the community is to accept the projects, according to the section leader.

Dick Morrow, Fort Stockton businessman, led the section on the educational, recreational and cultural opportunities of the small towns. It was pointed out in this section that vocational and technical courses in the small town high schools will be most helpful in preparing the students for job opportunities. Too, the availability of these trained people will attract certain industries to the area because of the special skills available in the labor market.

Cultural activities of the small town can be expanded by utilizing the facilities of nearby metropolitan areas. Concert series, art classes, dramatic presentations offered in the metropolitan centers provide an excellent opportunity to small town residents to see, enjoy and participate in such pursuits. Expanded library facilities with possible exchange privileges were suggested as a means of broadening the cultural and educational programs of the small towns.

Further development of natural and man-made tourist attractions was suggested as one of the greatest opportunities for the creation of new dollars in the community.

Regional junior colleges created and financed through the efforts of multiple-county cooperation was recommended as at least a partial answer to the great distances which presently exist between institutions of higher learning and some of the small towns. It was pointed out that not every small town can or should have a junior college, but multiple-county districts may be feasible in some areas.

"Industrial possibilities do abound for the small town," according to Claude W. Brown, McCamey, member of the Texas Industrial Commission and member of the Small Towns Task Force, who led the presentation on industrial potentials for the small town.

The report, entitled "The Small Community in West Texas," made several recommendations regarding industry potentials for the small communities which included: (1) Establishment of research centers for the development of cotton which would meet Textile mill demands that will be compatible to the West Texas climate and the growing conditions; (2) assignment by the Texas Industrial Commission of at least two members of its staff to work exclusively with small towns; (3) establishment of a fibers research center at Texas Tech to further the uses of natural and petro-chemical feedstock fibers; (4) passage of legislation permitting issuance of industrial revenue bonds by cities and counties; (5) encouragement of home-grown industries in the community; (6) apply the multiplier factor to raw products to increase the income of farmers, processors and finishers by developing more processing and finishing plants for raw materials and products in the West Texas area.

"Metropolitan areas have a definite need for the growth and development of the small towns if the metropolitan areas are to prosper," Wendall Mayes, Jr., Midland Radio executive, told the convention. The large towns depend upon the small towns as retailers of the goods which the large towns distribute, according to Mayes.

Planning assistance medical facilities, communication media, and industrial expansion assistance are all important assets available to the small towns from the metropolitan areas, the speaker stated. These aides to the small town should be asked for by the small town leaders to properly coordinate their own assets with those of the larger town.

Small towns were told to analyze the reasons for their continued existence. Too, they were admonished to develop their assets and advertise the good living conditions, the slower pace of living and the congenial atmosphere of the small communities.

Higher taxes, more aggressive leadership on the part of public officials and cooperation between governmental bodies were suggested as possible means of attaining goals in the small communities, when Mrs. Fred McCleskey of Stephenville, City Councilwoman, lead the discussion on the role of city and county responsibilities in the development of small towns.

Many towns, according to the surveys, listed low taxes as an asset, whereas the problems in the same towns were often listed as lack of facilities which are normally paid for with taxes. This paradox must be corrected, according to the report, before real progress can be achieved.

Elected officials should assume more of their civic responsibilities if they are to be kept in office and city and county governments, as well as school, hospital and water districts should coordinate their planning for the most effective utilization of the tax dollar, the study suggested.

Although the Task Force did not recommend specific Federal or State grant or aid programs that should be utilized by the small towns, it did suggest that a thorough analysis of available assistance from these sources in planning, as well as in financing, should be made by the leadership of the small towns.

"Do it yourself" programs were lauded in the study with specific examples cited of cities which have undergone tremendous revitalization by the efforts of local citizens and without the financial assistance of State and Federal government funds.

The final section of the printed report outlined Project STEP—"Small Town Economic Progress," a program for the implementation of the suggestions and recommendations contained in this report as well as those developed through the community inventories conducted late in 1966.

Copies of the study were presented to each of the mayors, county judges and other community leaders in attendance at the annual meeting. These leaders will be expected to call meetings of their own citizens when they return home and start the implementation of Project STEP. Members of the Small Towns Task Force, WTCC officers and staff members will provide assistance in each of the communities that request assistance, according to Shepperd.

SURFACE WATER FOR DRINKING

It is estimated that by 1980 some 165 million people will be depending on surface water for drinking purposes. By the year of 2000 it is expected that the fresh water supply may total more than 1000 billion gallons daily.

schools systems by the Federal Government.

This decision affects mainly six states in the deep South.

An editorial in the New York Times says that "The Supreme Court was wise in refusing to entertain further frivolous delaying actions by States in the deep South on school desegregation and the decision should hasten constructive development." This, in spite of the fact that no city or state has a greater problem in attempting racial balance in schools than does New York.

The hearts of the great cities of the country are experiencing an exodus of people to the suburbs. This leaves an increasing percentage of Negro families in the city proper and, of course, greatly increases the imbalance of the city schools. Therefore, a balance will require the bussing of children from within the city to the suburbs and from the suburbs into the city. This is a great issue in the City of New York at this very time. It will become an issue and a problem for every large city, creating insoluble handicaps. But this is seemingly the intent of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

How will the requirements be enforced? Simply by denying funds to any school district which does not comply.

Hearings are being conducted by Committees of the Congress on the so-called guidelines involving new authorization of funds, as well as appropriations for Laws already on the books.

The withholding of funds for failure to carry out instructions formulated by the administering Agencies is not limited to the schools. It is applied to highways, hospitals and other programs financed by Federal funds. It is to be applied to defense contractors, research grants and grants-in-aid of all sorts and kinds, even to the Agricultural Program administered at the local level.

The rightness or wrongness of these goals as a legal or moral principle is beside the point. The point is the tremendous power of the Federal Government by use of the Federal purse-strings. Long ago the Courts held that the Federal Government can control that to which it contributes.

API RESEARCH TO HELP CAMPAIGN FOR CLEAN AIR

Research sponsored by the petroleum industry during the next three years should remove some of the guesswork from the nation's campaign for cleaner air, Oil Facts reports.

A major project sponsored by the American Petroleum Institute will involve laboratory studies of the possible effects of various air pollutants on rats and monkeys. This project to be conducted by an independent research laboratory, is expected to cost $1.6 million over a 3-year period.

The API will also sponsor 30 other environmental conservation projects during 1967 at universities, engineering firms, and independent and government laboratories. The total API air and water conservation research budget for 1967 exceeds $2 million—about the same as the 1966 budget.

Ducks Move Out On Hop Northward

The big waterfowl parade has begun from the famed coastal wintering areas, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reports. And the migrating numbers were described by Biologist D. C. Stutzenbaker as among the best in recent years, presaging an "adequate brood stock" for the far nesting routine. Stutzenbaker said the mallards were first to leave from the lush marshes. The pintails' advance eschelons were next.

He said they would hedge-hop along and that progress might be affected by extreme northland weather. The migrants usually look for open water mainly along the rivers since north-central lakes still are locked under several feet of ice and snow.

The biologist said snowfall has been heavy in some nesting areas and that if the spring thaw is gradual the runoff will saturate the ground. This would mean spring rains could fill the countless potholes so ideal for nesting.

Colorado has a greater number of high mountains than any other State in the U. S.

Something Has To Give!

CLEVELAND, O.—A skyrocketing automotive population and inadequate safety facilities on our nation's highways will push our already gloomy annual traffic toll to epidemic proportions within a few years unless preventive measures are taken now, experts warn.

The National Safety Council predicts possibly 70,000 traffic deaths in 1975 unless the present trend can be halted.

"One area where this trend can be reversed is in nighttime fatalities," according to J. Parker Heck, educational director of the Street and Highway Safety Lighting Bureau here.

"Over 50% of all traffic fatalities occur at night, when traffic volume is only one-third as heavy," the Bureau spokesman said. "The nighttime traffic fatality rate is two and one-half times that in daytime."

"Evidence indicates that some 9,000 of the yearly traffic deaths are the direct result of darkness and could be eliminated or drastically reduced by the installation of adequate street and highway lighting at critical locations," he said.

"The Bureau reported conclusive evidence showing a positive correlation between street lighting and traffic accidents and fatalities. In nearly every case, figures showed a marked reduction in nighttime traffic accidents where adequate street lighting was installed."

"With the steadily growing number of automobiles on the roads, the traffic situation is getting progressively worse," Heck pointed out. "Driver education and safety features on cars will help, but the roadways themselves must also be made as safe as possible. This is the area where lighting can make a definite contribution."

Hit, Miss Rains Aid Game, Fish

Austin—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department today said widespread rains, apparently the best in the last six months, were exceptionally timely for both game and fish resources.

J. R. Singleton, executive director of the department, said field reports indicated that all but the extreme end of the Rio Grande Valley got at least some moisture.

He emphasized that the rains were fairly general with the amounts varying greatly. The precipitation ranged from light showers on up to seven inches at Seymour, west of Wichita Falls in north Texas. Blum in Central Texas reported an unofficial five inches. Several readings of up to four inches were registered.

A spokesman for the United States weather bureau in Austin said that the wet spell could have been the most general in the last six months. Austin, which last week ended the driest six months in thirty years, got more than two inches. Taylor, just to the east, had more than four inches in one downpour.

Waco, another central Texas dry spot, measured almost four inches over a two-day period.

Singleton said the benefits would be spread throughout the animal kingdom, significantly helping curb the food pinch on the overpopulated deer ranges. The moisture also arrived as an indispensable asset to ground nesting game birds, such as quail and wild turkey, he said.

Fish life, Singleton added, was endangered by low water in lakes and streams. The heavier rains, he explained, will provide greater access areas at the peak of the spawning season. The runoff should carry new nourishment for the state's game species and stimulate biting by the vaunted catfish just as the anglers were rallying en masse for the new season.

Competition For Labor Forces Mechanization

Competition for efficient workers in our present day society is forcing more farmers to mechanize and automate more and more of their productive processes.

The further farmers go with mechanization and automation, the greater the skill required of workers who run the machines and, subsequently the greater the competition for effective workers, says W. S. Allen, Extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M University.

This combination of ever-increasing investment in productive equipment and workers makes it harder and harder for every farmer to own his own machines and keep his individual full-time workers, points out the engineer. This situation is forcing an increasing number of farm jobs to be done by commercial hire, or automatic equipment.

Tax-Free College Education From Savings Bonds

U.S. Savings Bonds are bought and held for many reasons—both personal and patriotic. One purely practical reason is tax advantage—especially attractive when E Bonds are purchased to create "tax-free" college-education funds.

E Bonds may be registered in the child's name, with a parent or the purchaser as beneficiary (but not as co-owner). At the end of first year of Bond purchases, a Federal income-tax return is filed in the name of the child, listing the increase in Bond value (interest) as income to the child.

Filing this one return establishes "intent," and no further returns need to be filed to prove intent, as long as Bond interest, plus other income, comes to less than $600. No tax is due until the income exceeds $900.

Thus, when the child's Bonds are redeemed to meet college costs, the accrued interest is free from income tax. A copy of the tax return filed the first year should be retained as proof of intent.

Tax savings can be realized another way. Simply wait until the child begins to cash the Bonds to pay college expenses. The youngster then files his or her own tax return each year, reporting the full amount of interest on redeemed Bonds as income. If that interest, plus any other income, totals less than $900, no tax is owed at all.

Remember, however, that this tax advantage applies only to Bonds registered in the child's name as owner—the coownership form of registration may not be used for such purpose (unless the child's own funds are used in the purchase).

P&WD Seeks Public Aid To Wildlife

Austin—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department appealed for public cooperation in shielding game birds and animals during the spring procreation period.

Specifically, the Department solicited help in restricting dogs since in spring-time they naturally react like all creatures, human and otherwise, and like to romp in the open.

The trouble with this perfectly understandable canine desire, if not restrained, is that dog deer bearing a fawn, or doe deer mothering a fawn, are under severe and oftentimes dangerous pressure.

The Department emphasized that the pet's instinct is to explore wild habitat excitedly in following scent that leads to some ground nesting birds, or to energetically trail a heavy doe deer, even a spindle legged fawn.

"This problem is up to the pet's owners," said a department spokesman. "Dogs cannot be blamed. It is strictly temporary discipline that must be enforced by people responsible for the pets."

The department noted that still another instinct, this one directly affecting humans, creates spring and summer-time difficulties. It is the instinct that prompts people to "rescue" fawn deer.

These are the well-intentioned persons, according to the department, who will risk disturbing the wild life family chain, and even prosecution by the law, by removing a wild deer fawn from its natural habitat.

Career field personnel are cold to any amount of persuasion that the "fawnappers" acted in good faith because somebody decided the poor fawn had been "abandoned" by its mother. They insist that a crisis in the animal's life, if indeed there was one involving natural nonsupport, should come early rather than later after the animal matures into a problem beast even to endanger human well being.

Good Record Keeping Saves Tax Dollars

Dallas — Good record keeping throughout the year can save tax dollars at income tax filing time.

Taxpayers who keep good records are less likely to overlook deductions to which they are entitled, says Ellis Campbell Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue in northern Texas.

Those who itemize their deductions on page 2, Form 1040, should keep cancelled checks, receipts, statements and other data to support them.

One way to keep records is to get a supply of large envelopes or folders, label them according to the types of income and deductions you have, and accumulate the information, Mr. Campbell said.

If you keep good records, preparing your 1967 tax return will be a much easier task, the Internal Revenue Service official said.

Brighten Walls With Vinyl

Want to liven up your home this spring? You can add color and life to an old wall with vinyl wall coverings, suggests Jane Berry, extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A & M University.

They are an answer to the modern desire for color and pattern, and their easy cleaning qualities make them great for kitchen, baths, and children's rooms.

You have a wide choice of colors, patterns, and textures. An elegant silk damask pattern or oriental scrollwork on a silk textured base might brighten a formal hall. Maybe you want an Early American look or a rough texture that resembles woven raffia. A gay flower print or stripes that look like silk ribbon are other decorating colors.

You can emphasize one wall in a room with this type of covering and paint the other walls. The vinyls are excellent for irregular walls, too.

The "do-it-yourself" enthusiast can apply this fabric-backed covering with a vinyl adhesive. They are lightweight and as flexible but more durable than paper.

From twelve noon to midnight a clock's minute hand ten times.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Assassinating a President. To many foreigners, and to many Americans as well, one of the oddest aspects of the assassination of President Kennedy was that the United States had no law against it.

Was this just a legislative oversight? Not at all. On the contrary, such a law had been proposed and debated a number of times over the years—and had always been turned down.

Of course, that does not mean the assassination was legal. The lack of a federal law merely reflects the fact that, in this country, the punishment of crime has always been entrusted primarily to the individual states. The presidential assassination, while not forbidden by federal law, was clearly forbidden by the laws of every state.

Why this arrangement? For reasons both historical and geographical, most crimes fit more naturally into state and local jurisdiction. It would seem strange indeed to have the federal government prosecuting the man who holds up the corner grocery or who drives recklessly down Main Street.

And the Constitution itself, while giving the states a free hand to deal with crime, gives the federal government no such leeway. The federal government may punish the crime only if the power is:

- 1) given expressly (for example the power to punish treason); or
- 2) given by implication (for example, the power to punish interference with the United States mail).

As a rule, the crime of murder has no peculiar significance to the federal government. Neither expressly nor by implication does the Constitution give the federal government a general power to punish homicide.

Yet, murdering the President is more than just murdering a man. It is a blow at the government itself, because it destroys the central repository of the nation's executive authority.

Furthermore, as a practical matter, federal agencies—which have the duty to protect the President—should be better able to investigate such a crime.

The Kennedy assassination lent fresh urgency to these considerations. And at last, 178 years after the nation began, Congress has finally given overwhelming approval to a bill making it a federal offense to kill the chief executive.

The maximum penalty is death.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN. Tetanus

With the advent of the spring season of 1967 most of us are beginning to get out of doors again. There are gardens and lawns that need work and outdoor chores of all sorts that have accumulated during the winter.

With the return of outdoor activities comes once again the hazard of minor accidents, cuts and scratches. Most often these aren't serious and will heal quickly if properly cleaned and protected.

But sometimes these little scratches can be more serious. Sometimes they are the channel through which you could get tetanus (lockjaw).

Tetanus - producing spores lie dormant in the soil of your garden, the dirt of your garage, and the dust inside your house. These spores can infect you through the tiniest wound—a pin scratch, a bee sting or a small cut.

Read Mark 10:35-45

He riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself. (John 13:4)

As in New Testament days, the worshipers removed their dusty sandals outside a small church in Pakistan and took their seats on the straw mats inside. It was Maundy Thursday, and the little community of Christians had come to celebrate the Lord's Supper.

The pastor of the church knew that his people were not ready to partake of the Supper. Jealousy and pride in his little flock had separated the members into two opposing factions.

We all sat waiting for the drama of worship to begin. We were shocked when the pastor took a towel and a basin of water and went around the group pouring water over each worshiper's feet and wiping them with a towel. Not a word was spoken; but Pakistani and missionary, old and young, literate and illiterate, poor and not-so-poor felt the deep impact of a sermon without words. Only then were we cleansed spiritually so that we could share as a united worshiping community in the taking of bread and wine.

PRAYER:

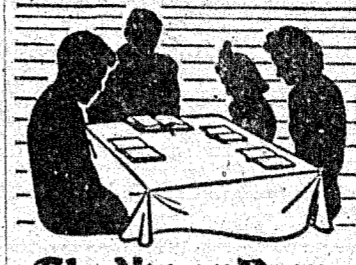

Our Father, we thank Thee for the life and example of Jesus Christ. Help us to admit Him into our hearts that we can take up the towel of humility to wipe away jealousy and pride from our lives and the lives of others. In His name Amen.

20 Educational Service Centers To Be Established in Texas This Year

Education Service Centers—a new development in Texas education—will move a step closer to establishment this month with a series of organizational meetings in 20 regions across the state.

The first of these Joint Committee meetings was on April 13, reports Dr. J. W. Edgar, Texas Commissioner of Education.

When established, these Education Service Centers will (1) provide for the establishment of the Regional Media Centers authorized by the Fifty-ninth Legislature (2) coordinate and encourage development of supplemental educational services and centers under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965 in accordance with State law and policies of the United States Office of Education and (3) provide a locally-oriented base for statewide educational planning.

Through the media services, these regional centers will provide participating school districts with such visual aids as motion pictures and slides, a magnetic tape duplicating service for audio and video tapes, and a visual duplication service to reproduce transparencies and filmstrips.

In addition to providing schools in a region with instructional media services, a center will provide an opportunity for resources of the region—metropolitan and rural—to contribute to educational planning.

Still additional services will be developed by each center in answer to regional needs. And as needs vary from region to region, so will services. Through participation on the Joint Committee, the local schools will help to determine what those services should be.

Twenty-three counties and 70,000 students will be represented in the Service Center in this area.

Gators, Rattlers Spice P&WD Area

It's strictly nature in the raw at Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters.

A resident called for reinforcements to evict "an alligator." It turned out a sawed-off one footer that got the zoo treatment after vainly trying to dismember a hired hand or two.

A staff members wife then screamed over the phone that a rattlesnake had bitten the family cat. So scrub one rattler. Praise be, the feline survived.

A headquarters building receptionist complained she was so allergic to rattlers that the stuffed one in the lobby wildlife exhibit had to be covered up.

A blonde secretary reported for work with a baby possum—live—resting in her bouffant coiffure.

Bacon High On "Versatile" List

High on the list of truly versatile foods is bacon, says Genevieve Glyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A & M University.

It's an easy-to-cook meat, ideal for any meal of the day and between-meal sandwiches and snacks. But there is variety in the way you can buy your bacon. It is available packaged thin, regular, or thick sliced in a size convenient for your family. You can also buy bacon pre-cooked or by the slab for home slicing.

Besides its main-course uses, bacon makes an excellent garnish and favor addition for other foods. For example, diced bacon adds texture and rich flavor to omelets, creamed potatoes, corn bread, potato salad, wilted lettuce salads, cream soups, green beans, stewed tomatoes, egg salads, spaghetti dishes and casseroles.

Bacon makes an ideal "wrap" for other foods, too. Cheese-stuffed franks acquire extra favor when wrapped with bacon strips before broiling. Hamburgers take on gourmet standing when wrapped with bacon before cooking. Olives and chicken livers wrapped with bacon before broiling are popular appetizers.

USE YOUR TRASH CAN

A little elbow grease now may save a lot of grief from fire later.

Best prescription for the Spring Clean-Up is a good, vigorous clean-out of trash—one of the smartest things you can do to keep your family safe from fire.

It's smarter still if you repeat the job at regular intervals throughout the year.

So add a trash can to the three tools you probably are using this spring—broom, a rake and a paintbrush.

Every 12 minutes a home in this nation is destroyed or damaged by a fire starting in rubbish, National Fire Protection records show.

Reminder On Social Security Tax

Farm operators must deposit the social security tax on wages paid their employes if the tax is over $100 at the end of any month during 1967.

According to James Mallett, Extension farm management specialist at Texas A&M University, the taxes must be deposited with a federal reserve bank or a commercial bank designated to receive the deposits.

The deposits must be made by the 15th of the month after the social security taxes due exceed $100, says Mallett. If the social security taxes do not exceed $100 at the end of the month, they may be accumulated until they do. Then they must be deposited by the 15th of the following month.

Larger farms may find they have exceeded the $100 at the end of several months during the year, while small farms may be required to meet the deposit only once or twice a year.

Form 450, Federal Depository Receipt, issued to make these deposits must be validated by the depository and filed with the final social security tax report on, or before, January 31 of each year.

Other types of businesses are required to make quarterly reports and payments of both social security taxes and income tax withholdings. Farmers are not required to withhold income tax from employes' wages.

L. T. Potter Elected Chairman of Lone Star Gas Board of Directors

Dallas — Lone Star Gas Company's Board of Directors April 18 announced the election of L. T. Potter, president of the Dallas-based utility since 1957, to the post of Chairman to serve as chief executive officer of the company. The election resulted from the retirement of D. A. Huley.

The board elected Louis G. James to replace Potter as President and to serve as administrative, operating and financial officer. Mr. James formerly was executive vice-president, finance and accounting for all Lone Star companies.

Announcement of the elections and their effective date of April 18 was made on behalf of the board by Tom G. Gross, corporate secretary of the Lone Star companies.

Potter, a native of Dallas, joined Lone Star in 1928 immediately after graduation from Texas A&M University with a degree in mechanical engineering. In his first company assignment he was instrumental in the establishment of a Production Engineering Department and, in 1931, was named assistant producing engineer. He was named superintendent of the Production Engineering Department in 1933. In 1945 he became assistant to the general superintendent of the firm's transmission Division and two years later was selected by D. A. Huley, then president, as his assistant. He became an executive vice-president in 1954 and three years later was elected president.

Louis G. James, also a native Texan, began his career in 1923 as a clerk in firm's Gas Measurement Department. Following a number of advancements from traveling auditor to comptroller, he was elected a vice-president in 1957 and executive vice-president, finance and accounting for Lone Star Gas Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Lone Star

Power Mower Tips

A springtime fire safety tip for homeowners from the National Fire Protection Association is this:

When you fill the tank of that power lawnmower, be sure to treat gasoline with respect. Remember it gives off flammable vapors which need only a tiny flame or spark to turn into searing fire or dangerous explosion.

So do all refueling outdoors where the dangerous vapors can not accumulate. Keep away from all ignition sources, and observe a strict no smoking rule. Wipe up all spilled gasoline before starting the motor.

Finally, keep your gasoline in a tight-closing metal can—never in a glass jug or bottle.

The Wise Family And Credit

"Time was when Americans viewed personal debt—even a relatively small debt—as a mark of family distress," says Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension specialist in home management, Texas A&M University. The grandparents of today's families usually didn't borrow for personal reasons unless stricken with a severe financial emergency.

Time and viewpoints have changed. The use of many types of credit is very much a way of life for the modern family. This is especially true of the younger families, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Just putting together a household is expensive and while many new families finance their furniture from savings, they will often use an installment plan or some other form of credit to purchase large appliances, like refrigerators or washing machines. With the onset of children, many families find their need to buy additional furnishings often outweighs their ability to buy them from current income. This results in increasing use of credit.

According to the Federal Reserve Board, in a normal year nearly three out of four young breadwinners will be paying off one or more loans, other than mortgages. Today's young families no longer regard debt with the same fear as their grandparents. Many view it as a tool to cut through time to a family goal. But too much reliance on credit can put a severe strain on family finances.

To avoid difficulties these simple rules should be considered:

- (1) Never borrow unless the purchase is necessary.
- (2) Always have a clear idea of just how much debt can be reasonably carried.
- (3) Maintain a reserve savings fund for emergencies to avoid borrowing in distress.

Planned Day Improves Child

What does your child do all day long? Is it just a matter of keeping him out of your way—or can his day be planned so that it will have real meaning to him?

Ideally, a child's day is spent in play through which he learns physical, emotional, and social development. Activities which can help meet these needs can be planned.

At an early age, the child wants to help. He wants to learn to feed and dress himself. Sturdy tools and steps, low rods for wash cloth and towel as well as clothes, and articles which are easy for him to handle aid this desire to learn. He likes to be near you and do whatever you are doing. Think of jobs he might do at his age. Through helping, he learns what work is like and what adults are like as they work.

A pre-schooler could possibly wipe off his own high chair or the table; empty the waste basket or ash trays; sweep with a small broom; dust parts of furniture he can safely reach and can't damage; pick up newspapers, magazines, etc., and put them in their places; grease baking pans; bring in the newspaper; or run errands around the house.

Outdoor play should be planned if the weather permits. A sand box, swings, barrels, and toys to ride help provide good physical activity. They provide an opportunity for climbing, jumping, running, yelling, and letting off steam.

Encourage the child to play by himself part of the time. This encourages imaginative play and exploring. Children need supervision in their play, but not interference and constant direction.

A mid-day rest is important whether they sleep or not. This may be a good time to look at books or to listen to records. Just before the evening meal and following the meal until bedtime is usually family time. If fairly active play goes on during this period, be sure there is some time devoted to quieting down before the child goes to bed.

Spring Checklist

With spring in the air, it's time to spring into action on fire hazards.

Whether your home stays free from dangerous and destructive fire this year may well depend on what steps you take right now, the National Fire Prevention Association points out.

Here's a five-point program guaranteed to remove most of the common causes of fires in homes.

1. Clean out any stacks of newspapers and magazines, discarded clothing, mattresses, old furniture and lamp shades, draperies—all the clutter that collects in attics, basements and closets.
  2. Do the same clean-up job in the home workshop, too—shavings, scraps, oily rags, old paints must go.
  3. Don't forget about the trash accumulating in the garage, and get rid of dead grass and brush around and near the house.
  4. Repair defective electrical cords and plugs, check over appliances and call a competent electrician if they need attention.
  5. Have your furnace, chimney and stoves inspected and cleaned.
- Fire danger lurks in every one of these spots, says the NFPA.

Railroad To Operate On Daylight Time

Santa Fe Railway announced today it will move all clocks forward one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 30, in compliance with the Uniform Time Act of 1965.

Since all states served by the railroad are complying with the Act, the change means that printed schedules and operation of all Santa Fe trains will correspond with the official local time in each community.

Unclaimed Medals May Be Claimed By Vet Owners

Millions of unclaimed medals earned by World War II and Korean War servicemen are stacked up in warehouses around the country, according to the Veterans Administration.

Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional office in Waco, revealed that the Army alone has some 800,000 pounds of medals in a Philadelphia warehouse.

Among the medals there are over one-and-a-half million Victory Medals, a decoration earned by almost everyone who served in World War II.

The VA Manager said that veterans interested in securing medals to which they are entitled should write a letter to the military branch in which they served.

Letters should contain full particulars about their military service, units to which assigned, and above all, the letter should contain the veteran's complete name and serial number.

To write for medals, Coker said, use the following addresses:

ARMY: The Adjutant General, Decorations and Awards Branch, Department of the Army, Washington, D. C. 20000.

AIR FORCE: Director of Military Personnel, Attention: Awards Branch, Headquarters, U.S. Air Force, Washington, D. C. 20000.

MARINE CORPS: Commandant, Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps, Washington, D. C. 20000.

COAST GUARD: Commandant (PMM), U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington, D. C. 20000.

NAVY: Commandant, Headquarters, U.S. Navy, Washington, D.C. 20000.

Water Risk Hikes Toll Of Anglers

Hazards of cold water were pointed up in the deaths of two fishermen from exposure as reported to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

They apparently survived upset boats but succumbed to the elements although wearing life belts. Similar exposure had earlier killed another angler.

Four of the first nine 1967 water sports victims perished on one weekend when record warm weather lured sportsmen out into the open.

Seven of the fatalities reported this year were fishermen.

Six of these involved boats. The seventh victim fell from a dock into deep water while fishing alone.

The 1967 casualty thus keeps pace with the record toll in 1966 when 236 water sports deaths were reported to the Department, an increase of 36 over 1965.

VA QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS . . .

Q—My son, determined by the VA to be helpless, is being furnished training under the War Orphans program. This is the first month he has attended school and we have received checks both for the schooling and the regular $80 a month compensation. Shouldn't one of these checks be returned to the VA?

A—No. In the case of a helpless child both the Dependency Indemnity Compensation and the War Orphans Act benefits are paid simultaneously.

Q—I am considering converting my term G. I. insurance to the new Modified Life Plan. I hear that I will not get any dividends on this plan. Is that true?

A—It's true you may not get a dividend on the Modified Life policy for several years, and then they will be small. Dividends should not influence your decision too much. Compare the rates for Modified Life and Term policies, especially on the Term policy after age 50.

Q—I am a World War II veteran, and have just paid the last installment on my 20-year G. I. home loan. Am I entitled to another loan before the July 25, 1967, deadline for World War II veterans?

A—Full repayment of a G. I. loan does not, in itself, entitle you to another loan. However, your entitlement may be restored until July 25, 1967, if you are forced to sell for certain compelling reasons.

Q—When is increased pension paid for a veteran's wife?

A—Under laws in effect since July 1, 1960, a veteran is entitled to an additional amount of pension for his wife upon proof of relationship? If estranged, he must be contributing to her support. There is no additional payment for veterans receiving pension under the so-called old pension law in effect prior to July 1, 1960.

Q—Are there any income limitations for parents of a man killed in action in World War II?

A—Yes, there is an income limitation in their case.

ification of your marriage. This may be done by letter. The additional allowance will not be paid, however, until a copy of the marriage certificate is furnished.

Q—I am planning a trip abroad next year and am making some arrangements concerning my financial matters. I receive a disability compensation check from the Veterans Administration each month. I understand that mail service in some foreign countries is a bit unreliable. Could I arrange to have my checks sent to my bank during my trip?

A—Yes. There is a procedure whereby you may have your checks sent to a bank for deposit to your account. Your bank will assist you in making the arrangements. The VA must know, of course, where to mail the checks and so a change of address must be submitted.

Q—I am a World War II veteran, and have just paid the last installment on my 20-year G. I. home loan. Am I entitled to another loan before the July 25, 1967, deadline for World War II veterans?

Fire-Safe Painting

A paint brush probably figures in your Spring Clean-Up plans, so keep these fire safety pointers in mind:

1. For paint removing and brush cleaning, solvents labeled "non-flammable" are safest, the National Fire Protection Association says. If you must work with flammable ones, better do it outdoors—but never in any area where there is open flame (as from a stove) or where anyone is smoking.
2. Get rid of old paint and solvent containers, and those with small left-over amounts. Store paints and solvents well away from furnaces, and only in capped metal containers—glass jars break easily, creating a definite fire hazard.
3. Safest practice with the rags used to wipe up solvents or paint is to dispose of them immediately outside the house. If you must store them, use a metal container with a tight cover.

Dry Spell? Sandy Park Has Answer

They're still proving the unexpected out where long ago it was definitely established that what goes down doesn't always come up.

Take Monahans Sand Hills State Park, as bleak as any desert range this side of the Sahara, but still a famous "watering place" dating back to the old wagon train days.

Jay Jaynes, park manager at this favorite East-West tourists on Interstate 10, was excited over the 3,000 visitors who graced West Texas' largest "sand pile" the other Sunday.

But he has the answer. Hundreds were youngsters. And mothers come from far and wide to let their kiddies roam in "all that clean sand" without fear of mesquite thorns, cactus stickers, and, yes, rattlesnakes.

About that perennial proof about "what goes down," he displays a 74 foot root from his "miniature oak forest." The largest trees are scarcely more than knee high. The principal growth is underground in search of water.

So there's a spring dry spell, too. There usually is at the 4,000 acre sand pile. In fact, it hasn't rained since October of last year. But Jaynes has a large windmill and a good well, and here in the wide open spaces there's always a wind to spin that windmill.

Naturally, wind shuffles the 60 foot high dunes around but only the contours of the massive sand pile, and the base remains stable. And as the intrepid wild creatures well know, moist sand is within easy hand digging reach of the highest, driest peaks.

Travelers coast-to-coast, more than 100,000, stop over every year to see for themselves and some to ponder overnight in a primitive campground about their sturdy forebearers who first tried to interpret the plaintive howl of a lonesome coyote.

Tourism Entered "Billion Dollar" Circle Last Year

Austin — The Texas Highway Department's 1966 Visitor Industry Report reveals that tourism entered the select circle of "billion-dollar" industries last year. A record 19,236,000 persons came to Texas by all forms of transportation spending a total of $1,080,000,000.

Again in 1966 the automobile was the overwhelming choice of transportation for the Texas visitor. The Department's survey shows a total of 14,157,000 out-of-state persons traveling by automobile visited the state in 1966 spending $723,847,000.

In addition, Texas Tourist Council, an Austin headquartered association of travel-related businesses, say another 5,079,000 persons visited the state last year by using facilities of commercial carriers. The council estimates the commercial carrier contribution to the total spending at $356,155,000.

In its survey to secure data on the state's rapidly developing Visitor Industry, the Texas Highway Department analyzed information from nearly 12,000 questionnaires returned by automobile visitors to Texas. These questionnaires were given to incoming tourists at the Department's port-of-entry Tourist Information Centers and were returned following completion of their trip. They provided data regarding expenditures, length of stay, purpose of visit, number in party, income groups, age and other key information.

Cotton Farmers Must Produce Better Grade

There can be room for optimism in the future of cotton if farmers produce a higher quality product to keep pace with the faster spinning equipment in the textile mills. These facts were told those in attendance at the Annual Meeting in Stamford of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers.

Dr. M. K. Home, Chief Economist of the National Cotton Council, reported that two factors have contributed greatly to the surplus of short staple cotton. These factors are that the exportation of this cotton has decreased and the importation of cotton yarn, fabrics and finished goods has greatly increased.

Jim Parker with American Textile Manufacturers Institute, emphasized that quality cotton includes more than just staple length. It must have uniformity not just with a bale but from bale to bale, to thousands of bales and from season to season. Premium micronaire of 3.4-5.9 is important as well as strength that needs to be about 80,000 lbs. per square inch. All these factors plus a good staple go together to make up good quality cotton and we must have this type cotton if we stay in business.

The manuscript from "A Gift of Prophecy" about Jeane Dixon, the seer who predicted the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, is included in the papers.

Dr. Guy B. Harrison, director of the largest privately owned collection of Texas history, announced the gift in connection with the Feb. 28 publication of "A Search for the Truth," Mrs. Montgomery's fourth book.

WATER WEED CONTROL URGED DURING SPRING

He cautioned that decay of aquatic growth later may deplete oxygen supplies and suffocate fish.

Researchers Testing Fire for Brush Control

Researchers at Texas A&M University are studying fire as a brush control method.

Fire probably played an important part in maintaining the grass lands before white man came, says Dr. Jim Dodd, A&M plant ecologist who's heading up the project.

Right now, he is trying to learn how long a certain temperature is needed to kill brush and trees 4 inches in diameter and under.

He is using a gas burner and burning trees at three temperatures: 500, 600 and 800 degrees F.; and three time durations: 30, 60, and 90 seconds.

Dodd says a head fire, one that has the wind behind it, may have a maximum heat intensity of over 1,000 degrees for less than 1 to about 20 seconds. A back fire, one burning into the wind, will have a maximum temperature of about 800 degrees for up to 2 minutes, he says.

As soon as the A&M researchers find out what temperatures and durations it takes to kill various species of brush and trees, they plan to use that information, combined with the weather factors, to determine if burning would be effective on any given day.

Dodd says he plans to do burning on test ranges this fall and winter.

He says brushland burned off in late fall or early winter will actually come back into grass earlier in the spring than land not burned. The reason for this, he explains, is that the fire blackens the soil so that it absorbs the sun rays and heats up the soil faster, which speeds germination and regrowth. Of course, burning removes the canopy of foliage and allows

Baylor Yell Leaders Left For The Males

WACO—Baylor University —perhaps the first college in the United States to have a woman cheerleader—Thursday upheld a 44-year tradition of all-male yell leaders.

First and only coed cheerleader at Baylor was Weta Timmons, now Mrs. Orville Rowland of Houston, who was selected for the fall terms of 1922 and 1923. In 1927 when Baylor Chamber of Commerce assumed responsibility for yell leader elections a provision requiring only male cheerleaders was added.

The coed cheerleader issue first emerged in 1954 and since then Baylor students have rejected the change to men and women yell leaders in eight separate ballots. The vote Thursday on the proposed change was 976 against and 323 for allowing women cheerleaders.

In other years the change has been approved by a majority of those voting, but until this year a two-thirds majority was required for passage of the bill. A simple majority Thursday in favor of the change would have allowed coeds to run for Baylor cheerleader.

Last time the issue was voted on, in May 1964, it won by a simple majority of 928 to 912 but fell below the two-thirds then required.

Baylor's yell leading squad is composed of four men.

Have you checked your home recently for faulty wiring, frayed cords and exposed wires? The National Fire Protection Association says these things, along with defective electric appliances, are a major cause of fire in our homes. Make sure your home is an electrically safe home.
