Public Literacy Program Underway

Free literacy classes, designed to teach basic English, will begin Thursday night, July 6, at 8:00 p.m. in the Educational Building of the First Baptist Church.

Enrollment began several days ago and some 20 adults have already enrolled. Mr. I. S. Ramon will be the instructor for the program. Ramon is an associate pastor with language missions of the first Baptist Church here. He said, "Most of our students so far work with the railroad, and even if it means that we'll have to meet on Sundays, we'll make any arrangement to provide these free classes to suit their most convenient schedule."

An education committee of the church will plan the adult education programs. Those serving on the committee are Mrs. C. D. Bruce, Mrs. Charles Evans, Mrs. B. A. Parker, Mrs. M. R. Pollock, Freddie Dodson, Rev. Bill Brewer and I. S. Ramon.

The literacy program, staffed by volunteer teachers and committee members, is open to all Santa Anna adults who want to better their perhaps limited education. Classes will meet two times each week, one hour for each meeting, for a period of nine months. The materials to be used are all written by internationally recognized Dr. Frank C. Linnbach.

Although the entire local program is sponsored by the First Baptist Church, it is not designed to make Baptists out of the students, as some might think, said Mr. Ramon, "but rather, as our effort to help the Santa Anna community become more aware of educational values."

All interested adults are invited to meet with the group Thursday night (tonight), or the following Tuesday night, so that each student can be assigned to a teacher.

FHA Girls Attend Brown Co. Workshop

Monday, June 26th, some of the FHA officers from the Santa Anna Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America attended the officers' leadership training workshop in Banes. The Banes Chapter sponsored the workshop in the Homemaking Cottage in the Banes High School.

The meeting got underway with registration from 8:00 to 9:00 a.m. The first general session began at 9:00 o'clock with the Brownwood Junior High Chapter giving the devotion and prayer, followed by a talk on leadership by a local minister from Banes. In his talk on leadership, he stressed that a good leader has resourcefulness, a sense of urgency, and a look ahead or vision for the future. The group was divided into special sections for each of the officers.

The Santa Anna Chapter was responsible for the first vice president's section. The girls presiding in the group were Carolyn Rowe, outgoing first vice president, and Donna Strickland, incoming first vice president.

The meeting concluded with a second general session to summarize findings from each of the sectional meetings. Approximately sixty students and teachers from Brown County Chapters, Miles Chapter, and the Santa Anna Chapter, attended the workshop. Plans were made for workshop to be held in June in Brownwood at the Senior High School next year.

Other officers from Santa Anna Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America to attend the workshop were Barbara Jones, Karen Dean, and Sherry Thompson.

Hays Dixon was taken to VA Hospital in Temple last Monday. Mrs. Dixon will remain with him.

Mrs. Kitty Adams spent last week with her sisters, Mrs. John B. Howell in Coleman and the Howell children, who are visiting their mother.

Jay Grantham of Denver, Colo., arrived last week to spend several weeks with his grandmother, Mrs. Blanche Grantham.

Burning and Desecration of Flag Do Not Show Loyalty to the U. S.

Can there be any act more sickening and revolting than a crowd of so-called citizens desecrating and burning their country's flag? Those who resort to such morose behavior are surely lost in the depths of depravity. Obviously their first loyalty is not to the United States.

True, our nation is founded on concepts and principles which encourage dissent and opposition. These are traditions we must always defend and support. But touching a torch to the flag far exceeds reasonable protest. It is a

Students Take Annual Bus Ride and Tour

Santa Anna students enrolled in the Summer Homemaking Program each year make a tour of interesting places in Brownwood. Each student is accompanied by one or two children.

This year the group left early Friday morning, June 23, by bus. Some of the places visited on the tour were the MacArthur Academy of Freedom and the Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. The Montgomery Ward Store supplied many items of interest to the students.

Following the tour, the group went to Coggin Avenue Park for a picnic lunch and an hour of fun on the play equipment.

Homemaking students and children making the tour were: Barbara Jones with Michelle Walker; Carolyn Rowe with Suzette Cozart; Frankie Bray with Kathy and Mark Hambright of Coleman; Patricia Walton with Kim Bray; Sheila Loyd with Jimmy Don and Larry Dale Allcorn; Debbie Bray, Frankie's sister, also made the trip.

Homemaking Program Concludes With Swim and Watermelon Feast

Homemaking students from Santa Anna High School have had a very busy summer with their individual and group activities. Individual activities included meal planning and preparation;

Good Rains Here Friday And Saturday

More than 2 inches of badly needed rain fell in the Santa Anna area Friday and Saturday of last week. Very little hard rain fell during the several hours it was raining, thus there was not much runoff in this immediate area.

Most of the area to the north and northwest of Santa Anna received considerably more rain than the two inches measured here. It appears the amount of rain became lighter to the south of the area.

The rain will greatly enhance the pasture situation here. There are quite a number of crops that have been planted. Some have come up and were badly in need of moisture, while other crops have been in the ground for several weeks and have shown little signs of coming up. Just what the results will be, so far as crops are concerned, will have to wait. It will be a big help to most of them though.

Peace Corps To Test On July 15

Santa Anna area residents interested in helping the people of developing nations to help themselves are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 15 at the main post office in Brownwood.

The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a foreign language, not education or achievement. It is given to determine where and how an applicant will be happiest and best utilized overseas. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail. The test takes about one hour and a half.

Application form, available from local post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D. C. 20525, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test.

Over 15,000 Peace Corps Volunteers are now at work in 53 developing nations. They come from every conceivable background, but are united in their efforts to improve the food production, health, education and life of the millions whose governments have asked the Peace Corps to help.

Mrs. Carl Ashmore was dismissed from a Brownwood Hospital last Tuesday. Recent callers have been Mrs. Vernon Herring, Mrs. Hallie Williams, Mrs. Arthur Casey, Mrs. A. C. Sparks and her sister; Mr. and Mrs. Hop Ashmore and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Paul Voss and Bussy.

The rodeo will get underway at 8:30 p.m. each evening, beginning with the South's most colorful grand entry. Normally more than 500 horses and riders are featured in this colorful event.

The rodeo will include the five major rodeo events, spiced with a number of special events.

One unusual event will be the clown and bull fighter, which this year will be using a "bull bubble," a plastic tube ball instead of the usual barrel. Another special event will be the Craig's Guanaco Riding Guachos, featuring the trained South American animals.

There is lots of fun and entertainment for every member of the family planned for the four days. Everyone is invited to see the parades and attend the rodeo each evening.

Accident Early Friday Morning

A one-car accident occurred about 4:45 a.m. Friday of last week near the corner of Wallis Avenue and Fae Street. The investigating officer said the 1957 Ford was a miss.

Miss Anita Holland, a night employee of the Steak House, was on her way home to get her father, Harvey Holland, to bring him to work at the Truck Harbor. A light rain had fallen a few minutes before and the highway was slick. A cat ran in front of her car and as she applied the brakes the car went into a slide and hit the rock wall in front of the Hays house headon.

Miss Holland was hospitalized for observation, but was not considered to be seriously injured.

The accident was investigated by the Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. Roy West returned Friday from three weeks at the Andrews University, in Berrien, Mich., at a workshop for Food preparation.

Seat Belt Use Down, Says AAA

Despite the increase in the number of cars which have seat belts, the percentage of motorists who use them is going down, Wm. M. Coffey, General Manager, Texas Division, American Automobile Association reported today. On addition, according to a nationwide survey conducted by Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee, the AAA official said, nearly two-thirds of the more than 500,000 drivers questioned did not use seat belts when most needed—within 25 miles of home, where four out of five traffic accidents occur. "The most deplorable information is that the percentage of drivers who are using seat belts is decreasing while their availability is increasing because they are now standard equipment in all cars," he said.

According to the latest survey, conducted in 1966, only 37 per cent of the half-million drivers interviewed said they "always" used their seat belts for local travel, while 60 per cent said they used them for long distance trips. In 1963, before belts were standard equipment in all American models, 47 per cent of the drivers questioned used them for local trips and 74 per cent used them for long travel.

Twenty-two per cent of the drivers included in the latest survey admitted they "never" use seat belts for short trips, while the remainder reported using belts only "sometimes." Coffey urged motorists and passengers to wear their seat belts at all times. According to a study made recently for the U.S. Public Health Service, the regular use of seat belts by drivers and passengers could have saved more than 12,000 lives in 1965.

Social Security Decisions May Be Carried to Courts

(ED. Note: This is the third of a series of six articles, telling of safeguards against wrong decisions in the social security program, prepared for The Santa Anna News by R. R. Tuley, Jr., Social Security district manager.)

In the first two of this series of articles readers were told of reconsideration actions and then the process of a hearing before a Hearing Examiner. This week's story goes further down the road of seeking an award action.

If the Hearing Examiner denies the claim, then the claimant generally has 60 days in which to ask that the decision be reviewed by the Appeals Council in Washington.

The Appeals Council has the power to ask that more specific and detailed evidence be secured before reaching a decision to reverse or to uphold the Hearing Examiner.

The Appeals Council also has the power to intervene on its own wish, if in regularly reviewing decision it feels that the Hearing Examiner gave too little or too much weight to some parts of the evidence. Although this is not done frequently, such intervention is taken often enough to be of value in keeping the Hearing Examiners from careless mistakes.

But, if the Appeals Council rules against the claimant, that's still not the absolutely final answer. Read next week's article for what comes next.

32 Graduate From Game Warden School

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department this week graduated its 20th class of game wardens as 32 warden trainees in formal ceremonies received their commissions from J. R. Singleton, executive Director.

Following graduation and commissioning exercises, the new game wardens departed for their respective district offices where they will undergo a short indoctrination go, a short indoctrination report to their first duty assignment around July 4.

The large class, which was selected from 532 applicants, began training in February at Texas A & M University, College Station. Courses of study at the Game Warden Training School included wildlife biology, game law, speech, firearms, hunter safety, driver education and others to round out a career in game law enforcement.

Glass Cleaning Is Discussed

Cleaning and stain removal are often major problems for owners of antique glassware, but the problem can arise with everyday glass articles.

Joy Arrington, home management specialist with Texas A & M University, suggests the following solutions to the common cleaning problems in glassware.

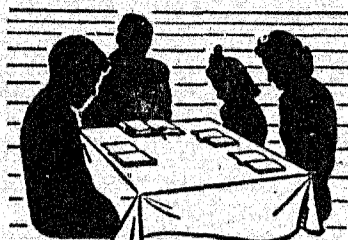

Minerals in water often result in such cleaning problems as lime deposits and surface discolorations. To remove the lime deposits from the bottom of pitchers, bottles, or decanters, put tea leaves on the stained surface and fill the container with a vinegar solution. For surface discoloration on decanters, rub the glass with half a lemon, or wash it with vinegar, or partially fill with uncooked rice and vinegar and shake vigorously.

A well-known research laboratory offers this method of removing hard water deposits which have dried in designs and etchings. Soak glassware in a solution of one part muriatic acid and four parts water. This acid, available at drug or hardware stores, should be handled with rubber gloves. After soaking in the solution, rinse the glass thoroughly and dry.

Vinegar cruets often become stained and should be rinsed with diluted ammonia before washing. Stains in flower vases can be cleaned with a chlorine bleach solution. To brighten glass coffee makers, use a teaspoon of baking soda in the rinse water.

Glass is never permanently stained, according to the Glassware Institute. It has a hard, smooth, non-absorbent surface that cannot be penetrated by stains, and the surface discolorations can be removed with these treatments.

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
Read II Corinthians 3:17, through 4:6

Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty. (II Corinthians 3:17)

While attending summer camp for two weeks last year as a national guard chaplain, I had the opportunity to view a motion picture at a post theater. It was a meaningful experience for me to see everyone rise as the national anthem was being played, as is the custom in many countries.

How easy it is for us to take for granted all that we have come to love and know is good, to assume as imperishable the liberty and freedom we have!

All men everywhere seem to be hungering for freedom, but man is free only as his life becomes personally related to Christ. Almighty God Himself grants the truest freedom to all His sons and daughters made free in Jesus Christ. In Him, our living Lord, we behold liberty at its finest and through Him find freedom of the highest order for ourselves. PRAYER: Eternal God, teach us to come into Thy presence with a feeling of deep reverence. We humbly bow before Thee, grateful for the blessing of freedom and especially for our liberty in Christ, whose prayer we pray, as He taught us, "Our Father who are in heaven... Amen"

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Freedom is not complete unless we live in the spirit of the Lord.

PROPER LINE WEIGHT

Purists might argue the point, but in Texas, when going after large bass, a 15 to 20-pound line is not too large, especially in weedy, brushy water where the fish must often be horsed in.

ROD TIP BREAK

If you break the tip of your fly rod at the ferrule (as anglers often do) don't throw away the rod and buy a new one. Just affix the ferrule to what's left of the rod tip. A rod so repaired will work fine.

Mrs. Jack Cooper, president, presided during the business meeting. Mrs. Claud Box gave the treasurer's report, and Mrs. John Hunter gave the council report. A Family Night was planned during August.

BAIT CASTING vs. SPINNING

There probably always will be arguments as to the relative merits of bait casting and spin casting. Each has its good points. Spinning takes less practice to master and makes for longer casts. But bait casting takes more skill and catches larger fish. This method is used by anglers who like to drag the lunkers out from among the weeds.

Teal Shoot Is Set For Sept. 22-23

Texas will participate in a special nine-day experimental teal hunting season again this year, September 22-30, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

This will be the third statewide season conducted in order to evaluate the effects of an increased harvest on teal that normally pass on through Texas prior to the opening of the waterfowl hunting season.

The hunting season will be open this year to hunters holding a "teal hunting permit," one week later than the 1966 hunt.

The daily bag limit will be 4 teal with a possession limit of 8.

The number of permits will be unlimited and will be issued through August 18 upon application to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas. Each applicant should submit his name, complete address, and county of residence. Applications cannot be accepted after August 18.

Each hunter participating in this special season will be required to have the regular Texas hunting license and a Federal duck stamp, in addition to the "teal hunting permit."

Books On Glue Sniffing To Be Released Soon

"Big Trouble In A Tube" a book on glue sniffing, will soon be released by Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE), Rev. Albert Tucker, Executive Director announced today.

Citing glue sniffing as a most serious problem, causing crime, sickness and death, and leading to hard narcotics addiction, the new book explains in words and pictures glue sniffing's effect on the body and the mind.

It also gives symptoms that might lead parents to suspect that their child might be sniffing glue. These include "unpleasant breath odor, a frequent spitting or large amounts of saliva, nausea, loss of weight, irritability, inattentiveness, drowsiness, sudden loss of consciousness, buying large amounts of glue or plastic cement, and loss of interest in normal activities of youth."

The book is written by Lindsay R. Curtis, M. D. and is illustrated by Paul Farber. It is geared for the juvenile audience.

TANE, a non-profit organization supported by Texas churches of 19 denominations, hopes to put the books in every Texas school, Rev. Tucker said.

Of children who have died as a result of sniffing glue, six died after inhaling the vapors with plastic bags over their heads.

The sniffer's brain is affected, along with his kidneys and even the bones, according to "Big Trouble In A Tube."

Gasoline Prices Lower Than 10 Years Ago

New York — Gasoline prices dropped during the past 10 years, while the consumer prices generally continued to climb, Oil Facts reports.

In the decade 1957-66, the average retail price of regular-grade gasoline, before taxes, declined 2.4 per cent.

During the same years, the federal Consumer Price Index rose more than 15 per cent and gasoline taxes increased 19 per cent.

Price adjustments in the past several months brought the average pre-tax price of gasoline to 22.70 cents a gallon as of April 1, 1967. This was only a fraction of a cent above the 1957 prices of 22.11 cents.

Oil Facts points out that today's gasoline prices are 3 to 7 cents lower than those prevailing in 1919 and the early 1920's, when nationwide gasoline price averages first were compiled.

Omar Burleson, M. C., 17th District, Texas
 Washington, D. C. — How can governmental expenditures be substantially reduced? One would think this is a question that could readily be answered by any Member of Congress, but a lot of us, including the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, remain in a state of real quandary as to just how it can be done.

Anyone, of course, would know that if we simply reduced the scope of the numerous federal activity it would cost less money.

But the situation is simply this: There are 14 Departmental Appropriations, not including what we call supplemental. Supplemental are those funds voted for the overall operation of all Departments when, at the end of a fiscal year, it is found that more money is needed.

Each of these appropriations is handled by a Subcommittee which sits for months, going over each item with a fine-tooth comb. When it finally reaches the point of debate in the House of Representatives, each becomes the most important appropriation and the 13 others are not seen at the time. The over-all picture cannot be seen until all appropriations have been concluded. This is usually near the end of a Session of Congress.

Unless substantial budget cuts are made in this new fiscal year, which just began this July 1, a gargantuan deficit must be faced.

Like the old soldier who never dies, so do obsolete federal programs. New programs often come under attack because they have not been in existence long enough to build up a group of beneficiaries who fight tooth and nail to see that benefits continue to flow. Yet older programs which may be well outmoded, continue because of empire-building in the Executive Branch and the efforts of a select group of program beneficiaries.

In the late 1940's the rules were changed to bring all appropriation bills under debate at one time. In other words, it was a packaged deal. This procedure was abandoned because it was found too difficult to handle them all at one time and careful consideration was lost. There is talk of returning to this system in the hope of establishing priorities to establish a balanced look at appropriations in their entirety.

There is proposed legislation to create a Government Program Evaluation Commission to analyze old and new federal programs to determine whether they are cost effective, whether they should be continued, and what priority they should be assigned. The commission would report to the President and the Congress on or before February 1, 1969. It would be composed of members from private life appointed by the President, the Speaker of the House, and the President of Senate. Many times the appointment of another committee, commission or the creation of another agency is a waste of time and money. On the other hand, a point of desperation has been reached as to how to better control the huge expenditures of the government.

Aside from the fact we are having to finance a war in Vietnam, government costs continue to increase by leaps and bounds. Not only has the cost of Federal Government increased tremendously with all its new activities, but costs of government at all levels are adding to the burden of paying taxes, and unless better controlled, a point of no return is rapidly approaching.

Each department feels that what it is doing is the most important part of the government's entire operation. This way of thinking extends to the individual members of congress in the various programs which directly affect their constituency and their area of the country. There are those intensely interested in the conservation of national resources, which is divided between the Department of Interior and the Department of Agriculture. There is special interest in labor, health, education and welfare. The State Department, Justice Department and Commerce Department come in for their partisan support. Public works are important to every Congressional District in the United States. Defense and military construction is a must. The big cities are interested in housing and transportation. Each has its ardent supporters.

There has got to be some limits, somewhere.

FAST WATER WADING POLE

Ever have trouble wading fast water? Who doesn't? Do you slip and sometimes get dunked, yet hesitate to carry a wading staff because of its weight? Then buy an inexpensive aluminum pole such as skiers use and your problem is solved. Such a pole will float unobtrusively at your side and always be ready for use when needed.

First Angora Goat Field Day At Sonora

The first Angora Goat Field Day will be held at the Ranch Experiment Station, Sonora, July 7.

Jack Groff, sheep and goat specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the program was designed to give those interested in Angora goats information which can be used in their operations.

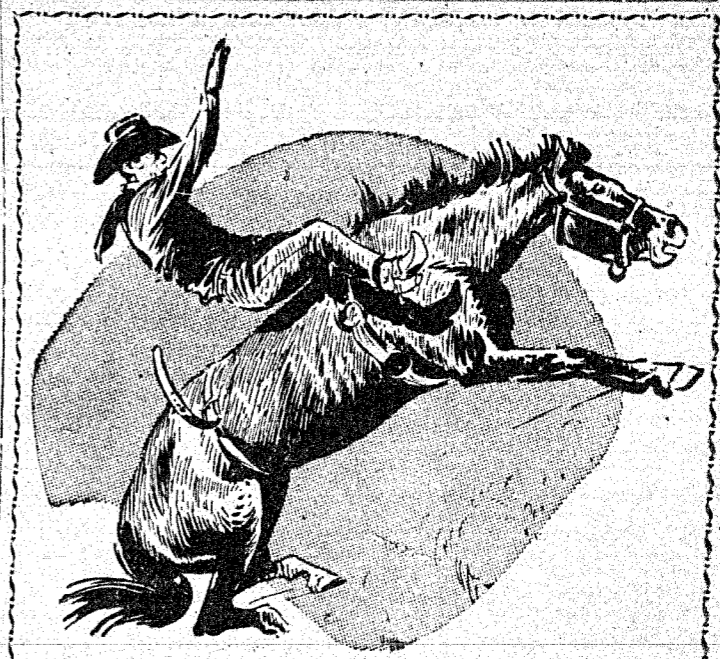

The program opens officially at 9 a. m. Those who arrive at the Station early will have an opportunity to look over the billies which have been in the progeny test, Groff said.

Expenditures For Food Up In 1966

College Station—Total food expenditures last year increased seven to eight per cent, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Texas A & M consumer marketing specialist. Mrs. Clyatt added that disposable personal income during 1966 was up approximately eight per cent, so the actual percentage of income spent on food is just about the same as in 1965.

The cost of food, like the cost of many other things, will continue to edge upward in 1967. The increase will not match that of 1966, however.

The specialist pointed out that reduced beef supplies will probably mean higher prices, especially after mid-year. Dairy prices, too, are expected to rise. Consumers may also expect higher prices for cereal and bakery products. Fats and oils may cost more; potato prices will remain about the same.

On the brighter side, Mrs. Clyatt forecasts generous supplies of pork, poultry, and eggs and lower prices on these items. Citrus fruits, too, should be less expensive in 1967.

FROM AMA HEALTH TIPS

Card or Wristband Can Help Save Your Life

All over the world a simple six-sided figure has become the symbol of identification of personal medical problems. The symbol was adopted by the American Medical Association some four years ago and three years ago was adopted by the World Medical Association as the universal indication that the individual displaying the sign has personal health problems that might require emergency attention.

Who should carry identification? Everyone, says the AMA. A card, such as the AMA emergency medical identification card, is useful to identify an ill or injured person, to help locate family, friends and personal physician, and to give information that will improve emergency care. People with special health problems should also wear a durable metal or plastic alerting signal device on their wrist, ankle or neck, indicating their need for special medical care.

The emergency medical identification card should note special problems that need immediate attention in an emergency or that could cause an emergency. For example, diabetics must be identified so that a person in diabetic coma will get the proper treatment promptly and needed doses of insulin will not be overlooked during treatment for injury. The need for certain medicines must be known. Heart patients taking drugs to prevent blood clots may bleed profusely if injured unless they receive special care. Other people are sensitive to certain drugs and must never take them.

Epileptics could be saved much trouble and unnecessary hospitalization if they earned a card indicating that they may have seizures. Neck breathers (those who breathe through a tube surgically inserted below their "Adam's apple") must be recognizable to protect them from smothering.

An emergency medical identification kit may be obtained by addressing Box C, Emergency Medical Identification, American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn, St. Chicago, Ill. 60610. Single kit contains two identification cards, a pamphlet describing the universal symbol, and a list of manufacturers of signal devices bearing this symbol.

CARE OF FISHING RODS

Fishing rods, especially if used in or around salt water, should be well cared for to give maximum use. Split bamboo rods should be kept heavily coated with varnish. Check them at end of each fishing season. If well coated, merely treat the rod with furniture wax. If coating is worn or cracked, re-varnish before storing. Glass rods need little care. Just see that the wrappings are sealed with varnish, and the rest of the rod well waxed before storing.

Federal Tax Questions And Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My firm just gave me a nice promotion. Should I increase my withholdings?

A—Under the graduated withholding system, the amount withheld from your pay will automatically increase unless you are already being withheld at the top rate. If that is the case you may request your employer to withhold additional funds from your paycheck.

Another solution would be to file an estimated tax declaration if you have not done so or adjust one already filed.

Q—Can you take any deduction for furniture or clothing you give to the Salvation Army or Goodwill?

A—Yes. The fair market value of the items is considered a charitable deduction.

Q—We have agreed to take a disturbed child into our family. The agency placing her is giving us a small amount each month for her food and clothing. Is that considered income for us?

A—These payments do not have to be reported as income unless they exceed the support you provide.

You can claim the child as a dependent if she is a member of your household for the entire year, you provide more than half her support and certain citizenship or residence requirements are met.

Q—I plan to return home to London this summer. What do I need to get a "sailing permit" from IRS?

A—You should show that your tax affairs are in order. To establish this, copies of your tax returns for the past three years as well as a statement of estimated income and expenses for 1967 should be brought to your local IRS office. Bring your passport and re-entry permit, too, if you plan to return to the U. S.

These requirements are discussed in IRS Document No. 5589, "U. S. Tax Guide for Aliens." Send a post card to your district director for a free copy.

These requirements do not apply to U. S. citizens. However, any U. S. citizen delinquent in his tax payments should make arrangements for taking care of this obligation before leaving the U. S.

Q—Whose Social Security number should be used on a joint savings account, the husband's or the wife's?

A—Use the husband's number. On accounts opened jointly with a minor, use the adult's number.

Q—I've been called in for an audit. Is there any publication I can get that will help me prepare for it?

A—Yes. Write to your district director and ask him for a copy of IRS Document No. 5202, "If Your Return Is Examined."
