"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

Neath the Headlines

A single survivor, Eugene Goenidec, petty officer, told Thursday of the tragic fate of 39 scientists and sailors who drowned after the French polar exploration ship Pourquoi Pas was grounded and ripped to pieces by a hurricane off Iceland. The raging waters cast him upon the rock shore where farmers found him unconscious, half frozen and tied to a piece of wood. Near him were the pounded bodies of 30 of the victims, among them being Captain Jean Baptiste Charcot, distinguished Arctic and Antarctic explorer, sometimes called the "Admiral Byrd of France."

Thomas Barrett of Newark, New Jersey was pitched through the windshield of his car Monday and his nose and upper lip were cut off. In a half hour police arrived at the St. James Hospital with the nose and lip which were sewed back on the man's face.

Charles Wilhite, 19, had a premonition of death early Tuesday night—Wednesday he was dead—the victim of a truck that smashed into him while he stood beside his stalled automobile a short distance from his Fort Worth home. After falling to respond to a blood transfusion, he died in a few hours. The occupants of the truck were arrested and admitted being drunk. A short while before Charles left his home that night he told his sister that he felt as if he were going to be hurt or killed by a car.

Six widowed sisters, all more than sixty years old, held their first reunion in a dozen years Thursday at Memphis. The youngest is 64 and the oldest 76.

The last remaining tower of the old Alcazar fortress, near Toledo, Spain, crashed in a pile of debris Monday night under the artillery fire of Spanish government forces preparing for a final assault on the besieged city. Gun crews, elated by their success, quickened their fire at the wreckage of the old military school. Government leaders gave no indication of their plans about making their last drive to kill out the Fascists in the Alcazar. Seventeen hundred first took refuge in the ancient fortress, but how many still lived after the explosion of the two tons of dynamite, no one knew. It was believed that the women and children were herded into the underground dungeons. Only one thing was certain—the male defenders would rather die than to surrender and be executed by the government. The fall of Maqueda was predicted, with the government lines routed all along the way. Fields and roadways were littered with the bodies of the government dead.

The nine-foot barrel almost completed in which he hopes to sail to Europe by the Atlantic, Ernest Blegazski, World War veteran, announced Thursday that he would be ready for a final cruise to Cleveland "within a few days."

A district court jury at Carthage Saturday found Mrs. Reba Childs guilty in the slaying of her cripple husband, Marlie Childs, last April 23, the conviction carrying a 25-year penitentiary sentence. The verdict of Terrence Bramlett, admitted lover of Mrs. Childs, and charged (continued on page four)

County Home Demonstration Clubs Plan Big Achievement Events

Achievement Events are now taking the foremost place in the minds of the Home Demonstration Club Women in Coleman county. Since the beginning of the year they have been at work improving their yards and bedrooms, so as to make their homes more attractive and comfortable places in which to live.

Now, the time has come for the Home Demonstration Clubs to show what they have done during this year of the club work at their Achievement Events.

The word achievement stands for a goal attained or something done and so the Home Demonstration Clubs' Achievement Events are to show their friends and neighbors what they have accomplished during 1936.

During 1936 the women have worked particularly on furniture, trying to make it more useful, comfortable, and attractive. They have painted and varnished chairs, tables, etc., upholstered chairs and couches, and made slip covers for the other chairs to improve their appearance and give them longer life. Besides the work on the furniture they have worked on their beds to make them more comfortable and attractive with good mattresses, light weight, warm cover, bed linens of proper quality and size, and attractive tufted bedspreads. Other improvements besides those named above have been made but these are the ones that received the most attention.

In yard improvement work the stress has been laid on permanent plantings around the house, attractive rose gardens, and flagstone walks. Besides these things many lawns were sodded, and border plantings made, and waste disposal improved. Several of the women

Horned Frogs Defeat Yellow Jackets, 6-0

A pass from Sammy Baugh to Clifford in the last two minutes of play enabled the T. C. U. Horned Frogs to defeat a scrappy Howard Payne team 6 to 0 at Brownwood last Friday night.

The touchdown was scored from the 6-yard line.

Twice the Jackets drove within the 10-yard stripe only to be held for three downs by the powerful T. C. U. forward wall, and on both occasions field goals fell short on fourth down.

The two teams were evenly matched through the four quarters, the Brownwood club showing surprising strength.

CORRECTION

The News wishes to correct statements made in last week's paper about the A & M Cooperative groups. It was stated that Mrs. Stafford Baxter was to be matron of the group of Brown and Coleman county boys to live in a project house, and that Billy Baxter was enrolling as a student there. Mrs. Baxter did not accept the position and Billy is not enrolling in school this year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Taylor and Mr. Jack McDonald of St. Petersburg, Florida spent the weekend with Mr. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Taylor. They started back to St. Petersburg Tuesday. They were going to the Centennial at Dallas before returning home.

Income From Milk Seen As Boon To Coleman Farmers

Although it appears the income from the sale of whole milk is small, that income compares favorably with the production and sale of cotton by farmers.

That is what County Agent C. V. Robinson stated when discussing the recently formulated milk routes in this county by an Abilene concern.

The county agent points out that most of the farmers are cooperating with the Federal government's soil conservation program—thus they should have plenty of pasturage. Further, he added, the overhead is not as much at the operation of equipment and the feeding of teams.

He stated that five cows should make as much in a year's time as the production of seven bales of cotton.

Several farmers in this county are selling milk to the Abilene concern and it is expected others soon will be doing so.

Next step to be made by the county agent's office in that connection will be to induce farmers to raise the standard of their livestock. (Democrat-Voice)

Mountaineers Meet Mozelle Eleven Here Friday

On account of the recent floods which disrupted service in many towns served by West Texas Utilities Company it has been impossible for this company to install the lights this week for the first game as contemplated earlier. However, it is expected that the lights will be installed by the time of the game with DeLeon next week.

Mozelle High comes to the local gridiron Friday with a strong team. The game is called for 3:15. An effort was made to arrange the game at a later date when it could be played at night but to no avail. Let's give the Mountaineers a boost in this — their initial game of the season.

SANTA ANNA CLUB TO HOLD ACHIEVEMENT DAY OCT. 6

Concho and Colorado Rivers Break All Previous Flood Records

Flood Waters Play Havoc In Low Lands San Angelo Losses Heaviest

The heavy rains last week on the Colorado, Concho, Llano and San Saba rivers wrought so much damage in the wake of the various floods it is beyond the comprehension of this writer to estimate.

Friday afternoon we drove out to the John C. Hunter home near the Colorado river south of Rockwood, and was there while the water was at its crest. We saw the damage it had done, but it was beyond us to place an estimate on it. The water was standing about half way up the walls of the home, some of the outbuildings were almost submerged, while some on the higher ground were hardly in the water.

The water was estimated to be 7 feet high on the frame work of the new steel and concrete bridge on Highway 16, near the Hunter home, but the bridge seemed to be holding in tact at that time.

Saturday morning we returned to the scene of the high waters to find the water had receded about 8 feet and the bridge appeared to be standing o. k. but several hundred yards of the highway had washed out. In talking with men there who saw the flood in August 1906, R. L. Steward, Jim Steward, R. L. Stafford and others stated that the water was about 10 feet higher this year than it was in 1906, and the 1906 flood was said to be 10 feet higher than the first flood people in this country have any record of, which took place in 1882. The water Friday was 18 inches deep in the Jim Steward home, which was several feet above all previous high water marks. Mr. Steward and his family were among the first to move out and clear the house of all furnishings, and just got out in time, as the place was surrounded with water before they could get out.

At the time this writer was present Saturday morning, it had not been determined whether or not the Waldrup bridge had washed out, some said it had, others said it was still intact. Several houses on the low lands were reported washed out, but we have no accurate record of them. It was said the home of Raymond Rehm was washed away. Several homes were partly under water and crops in the lowlands were a complete loss. We were later advised that the Waldrup section of the Waldrup bridge was gone.

SAN ANGELO SUFFERS GREATEST DAMAGE Sunday about noon the editor and family boarded the family car and drove out to San Angelo, the town that had the most publicized flood of any Texas town during the weekend, and saw with our own eyes some of the damage from the flood.

The damage was by far greater than one could conceive from reading or listening to radio reports. Hundreds of homes were washed away completely, with all the contents. Some were occupied by owners, others by tenants, but all were a complete loss! The business section suffered considerable damage. Many families were homeless and without home furnishings, who a few days before were able to enjoy peaceful homes, well furnished. Many of them had their all invested in homes and furnishings, who now have only their families. It was pitiful and deplorable to witness, but in so far as was known, not a life was lost, which is very remarkable.

Gaynor McBee, 64, only victim of the flood, who drowned near Milburn Saturday morning, was buried Saturday afternoon at the Milburn Cemetery. The cemetery, located on higher ground than the town, was not flooded.

Football Season Opens This Week

Mountaineers Vs. Mozelle

The Mozelle football team and their coach and a number of fans are expected to invade the Mountain City this afternoon, Friday, September 25, to play the opening game of the season. Mozelle is said to have a strong team with seven letter men. Santa Anna has only five letter men, but they feel equal to the occasion and are ready to meet the Mozelle team on their home gridiron.

This being the first game of the season, in all probability it will be a hard fought game. The following is a lineup of the Mountaineer team.

Ends, Brewer, Stevenson. Tackles, Hunter, Stapleton. Guards, Richards, Dean. Center, Blanton, McGonagill. Full Back, Ashmore, Captain. Half Back, Wristen, Hudler. Quarterback, Lackey.

Substitutes: Stapleton, Hill, Schattel, Ferguson, H. Henderson, Guthrie, Lancaster, O. Henderson, Gregg, Jackson, Everett, Wheeler, and Mitchell.

Santa Anna should turn out and back up our young team. A good support on the part of the town and community will be a great aid and support to our players. We very much regret our inability to get the lighted field ready for the initial game, however, we have assurance that it will be prepared for the next game.

W. M. S. Attends District Meeting

The Methodist Womens Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church. A very interesting devotional was given by Mrs. Fisher, followed by the monthly reports, and other business. A number of ladies attended the district meeting held at Coleman Tuesday. All reported a most enjoyable day.

The Society will meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. M. A. Edwards in a social meeting.

Those attending the district meeting at Coleman Tuesday were Mesdames T. R. Sealy, T. M. Hays, Jr., H. W. Kingsbery, M. A. Edwards, C. Gilbreath, C. R. West, C. B. Verner, Hardy Blue, W. E. Fisher and W. B. Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Vinson and niece, Miss Reba Vinson were in Dallas Sunday attending the Centennial celebrations. Mrs. Hal Wells of Brownwood visited Mrs. Sam Forehand Monday.

Two radio-equipped coast guard planes flew low over the threatened territory Sunday to warn residents to seek safety.

"We circled numerous houses submerged to the roof and flew over thousands of water-covered acres but sighted no one on the roofs or in need of rescue," Lieut. Commander N. M. Nelson reported.

"Throng of people," he said, "gathered along the wide river to see the flood waters. Residents beyond the water's edge had their bedding and belongings out and were prepared to move to higher ground."

The filer said the swollen stream appeared to be moving slowly and the rise probably would not reach Austin until Monday afternoon.

Angelo Digs Out

At San Angelo, where the Concho river, a tributary of the Colorado, wrought tremendous damage last week, rehabilitation work was getting into full swing. Tons of debris piled high in the main parts of the city were being hauled away.

Meanwhile the Rio Grande, far to the south of the Colorado, was on a rise. The highest stage of the year was expected at Brownsville and some apprehension was felt for the levees at Matamoros, Mexico.

Property Damages Amount To About $20,000,000

Austin, Texas.—Although the flood waters of the Colorado, Concho and Guadalupe rivers are still tumbling down to the sea, an immediate survey of the flood damage has been launched by the Texas Planning Board's water resources committee. The survey is under the direction of C. S. Clark, chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers and planning board member.

A hurried survey of the flooded regions by the planning board discloses that property damage will run between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. Thousands of head of livestock drowned as the raging waters of the three rivers tumbled over their banks and ran rampant over the lowlands. Hundreds of dwellings were torn from their foundations and hurled against the concrete bulwarks of highway and railroad bridges where they crumbled under the terri-

Mrs. B. H. Melton

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon, September 17 at the residence, for Mrs. B. H. Melton, 87, who passed away at her home about 11:30 Tuesday night. Rev. E. E. Dunham, pastor of the First Baptist Church, spoke the last rites for this prominent woman.

Mary Isabelle Harvey was born in London, England on February 9, 1849. She grew up to young womanhood there, being one of a group of singers who was asked to perform before Her Majesty, Queen Victoria. Her health was somewhat impaired at an early age by the London fogs and at the age of 16 she went to Australia with friends in search of a better climate. After ten years there, she moved to the United States, locating at Staunton, Virginia. In 1879 on March 20 she was married to Mr. Benjamin H. Melton in Waller County, Texas. They moved to Santa Anna in 1886 and in 1890 opened the Melton Hotel. Her husband passed on in 1907, but she continued operating the hotel until 1918. Many of the earliest settlers of Santa Anna remembered the hospitality of that old hotel, and Mrs. Melton was known as "Mother Melton" by many men and women.

She was reared a member of the Church of England, known better as the Episcopal Church, but while she and her husband were living at San Angelo in connection with his work for the Santa Fe, they both united with the First Baptist Church of that city. When they settled here she moved her membership to the local Baptist Church and was an active, loyal member, doing much to help the needy and working in the Ladies Aid Society of the Church as it was then called. She was forced through the long illness in the last few years of her life to withdraw from religious as well as other activities as she was confined to her bed for a long time by a stroke of paralysis. She has been a cheerful, patient sufferer and death came as a relief from years of pain. During her lifetime she traveled on nearly every continent, and was widely read.

She was the mother of three sons and two daughters, who are: Mrs. Harry M. Thomson, who died November 11, 1932 at her home in Coleman; Ben H. Melton, Santa Anna; Elisha Melton, Santa Anna; Mrs. W. I. Mitchell, Santa Anna; and W. H. Melton of Lubbock. Her nephew, Harry Harvey, who is almost as a son, also lives in Santa Anna. The five grandchildren who survive her are Mr. Melton Thomson of Arizona, Mrs. Sarah McCrum of Tyler, Helen Gail Thomson of Coleman, and Mary Alice and William Mitchell of Santa Anna. One brother, W. H. Harvey of London, England, also survives, and four nieces, Mrs. Bessie Springer, San Angelo, Mrs. Birdie Gilbreath of Childress, and two who reside in England.

Pall bearers were W. F. Barnes, W. E. Baxter, C. W. Woodruff, Coleman, Geo. Green, Coleman, Roger Hunter, and A. R. Brown. Flower ladies were Misses Nancy Jim Golson, A'ne Beck, Martha Dunham, Mrs. Grete Sledger and Mrs. Eleanor Miller, all of Coleman.

Interment was in the Santa Anna cemetery.

Out of town friends who attended the funeral are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Stewart of Tahoka, Mr. H. M. Thomson, Mrs. E. K. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. George Green, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Woodruff, all of Coleman, C. M. Grady and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Grady of Brownwood.

Mrs. Carl Childs and little son of Maybank are visiting her father, E. W. Folk, and family. Edgar Barker made a business trip to San Angelo Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Freeman have a complicated affair trying to stay at home to listen to their new radio and go driving in their new car also.

Hubert E. Hannsz of Lubbock visited in the Mountain City Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Mildred Simpson returned home from San Angelo Sunday after visiting for several days with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Webb.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Taylor went to San Angelo Sunday to see the flood damage and to see Mrs. Kay Lawrence, whose home was destroyed by the flood.

HISTORY OF SCREW WORM FLY CONTROL IN THE UNITED STATES

Cases of screw worms in livestock have been known in the United States since 1843, according to Viets Kellev, district screw worm supervisor, whose headquarters are at Coleman. Authentic cases with positively identified specimens date back to 1832. The screw worm fly inhabits the southern United States, Mexico, Central America, the West Indies and South America including Uruguay and Argentina.
 The pioneer cattle raisers of Texas recognized the screw worm as a serious pest of livestock, and there are many references made by the early entomologists and veterinarians to it in literature. One of the first materials recommended for treating cases was calomel, which was placed directly in the wound. Later, the use of chloroform and carbolic ointments was adopted. None of these substances is now recommended.
 The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, recommends the present methods of treatment and control as the result of research work conducted by Dr. F. C. Bishop, Entomologist, and his associates of the Division of Insects affecting Man and Animals. Other important contributions have been made by entomologists and veterinarians of various state agencies.
 In 1916, Mr. D. C. Parman, Entomologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Uvalde, Texas, began studies of benzol, the present accepted material for screw worm case treatment. At the same time he and his associates developed the use of pine tar as a wound dressing and fly repellent.
 In 1935 a contribution of great importance was made by Emory C. Cushing, Entomologist, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, when he discovered that there were two species of screw worms that had previously been confused as one species. The two flies, although almost identical in appearance, are entirely different in habits. One designated as the true screw worm infests only the wounds of living animals. The second species, called the secondary invader, breeds in carcasses and decaying flesh. This discovery placed emphasis upon controlling infested wounds in living animals, thereby reducing the population of true screw worm flies, and upon preventing wounds in domestic animals and livestock.
 From time to time outbreaks of screw worms have occurred outside the territory normally infested by the fly, in Kansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kansas and other states. In 1935 a serious infestation occurred in Georgia, Florida and other southeastern states. The forces of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine were immediately centered in that section and an extensive control campaign was begun. This control campaign was successful and the losses from screw worms in that area were greatly reduced.

 At the present time the U. S. Department of Agriculture personnel working on the control of screw worms is directed from San Antonio, Texas. The problem is being approached through the use of proper animal husbandry practices and proper material for treating cases. You can assist in this campaign by giving records of screw worm cases in your livestock to your local county agent or to the district screw worm supervisor, who will be glad to give you any information you desire concerning screw worm control.
 The U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends benzol to kill screw worms in wounds, after which the wound should be coated with pine tar oil, specific gravity 1.065, to hasten healing of the wound and aid in repelling further attacks of the fly.

Friday a capricious tropical hurricane dipped into Texas areas of six States and gave promise of blowing off into the Atlantic that night with its attendant gales, battering New York and the New England coast. Blue-eyed Baby Tafel, oblivious to the tumult he caused during his six days of life, rested Wednesday in a Chicago Hospital holding what physicians termed an even chance to survive an operation designed to correct an intestinal malformation—a "bottomless colon" which was performed after a dramatic agreement between his mother, Eva, 22, and his father, Julian, 24, a garage mechanic. The father urged a "mercy death" while the mother pleaded for the child's life regardless of consequences. After conferring with friends and his spiritual advisor, Tafel changed his decision. He died early that night, however, after physicians used an oxygen tent in an effort to save him.
