EDITION 40

ANOTHER CRIME SOLVED

Two Santa Anna men were jailed and remained in Coleman County Jail over the week after being charged with the Thursday morning burglary of a Santa Anna drug store. The suspects, 26 year old David Barker and Michael Owen, who is described as in his mid 20's, were charged Friday with burglary of a building, according to Santa Anna Police Chief Russ Ellis. Ellis said the burglary involved a large amount of prescription drugs taken from Phillips Drug Store.

Ellis was notified of the incident when postal workers noticed the backdoor of the pharmacy had been knocked down. The chief said that when he arrived at the store, Barker was on his knees and was loading drugs into a cardboard box.

The pharmacy's rear door appeared to have been pushed in by a vehicle, which was aided by a railroad crosstie outside the store, Ellis said.

Barker was arrested by Ellis about 7 a.m. Thursday, and Owen, who lived with Barker, was apprehended at approximately 1 p.m. after a search of the residence on South Houston Street. Chief Deputy Wade Turner and Field Deputy Mike Bowers of the Coleman County Sheriff's Department assisted with the search. According to Ellis, most of the drugs were recovered near the men's residence later that evening, and bond was set at $10,000 for each.

In another incident during this week, multiple charges were filed against an Early man by Chief of Police Russ Ellis, last Monday.

29-year old, Leonard Morrison, was arrested late Saturday night by Ellis and officer Bill Allen for driving while intoxicated, driving while license suspended and possession of an illegal weapon.

Mr. Ellis said the man was jailed, but later released on $1,500 bond. The DWI charge was filed in District Court as a felony, based upon two previous convictions of DWI and the other two charges were filed in County Court as misdemeanors.

We would like to welcome Officer Bill Allen to Santa Anna. See next week for feature story.

RegO Model 210 Recalled

In cooperation with the US Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), RegO Company, Chicago, Illinois, today announced the voluntary recall of RegO Model 210 LP-Gas (liquefied petroleum gas, bottled gas) regulators because of possible fire-explosion hazard. Without warning, the RegO Model 210 LP-Gas regulator may suddenly allow high pressure LP-Gas to pass to appliances, hot water heaters and furnaces fueled by LP-Gas. The regulators' failure to regulate LP-Gas pressure within allowable levels can occur when an internal mechanical component in the regulator fails. Fire and explosion can occur and result in severe property damage, personal injury or death. RegO has reported fourteen incidents to the CPSC that resulted in property damage, three of which involved personal injury.

Consumers having an LP-Gas fueled hot water heater, cooking appliances, furnace, outdoor grill or who own or use a recreational vehicle, mobil home, standard mini-compact or low profile motor home, travel trailer, park trailer, fifth wheel trailer, truck camper or van conversion having an LP-Gas hot water heater, cooking appliance or furnace should examine the LP-Gas regulator. If it is a RegO Model 210, consumers should close the shut-off valve of the LP-Gas supply container and contact their local LP-Gas dealer for immediate replacement of the regulator (consult yellow pages for number and location of local LP-Gas dealer or supplier). Consumers are cautioned not to remove and replace the regulator themselves, and the LP-Gas supply should not be turned on until after regulator replacement. The RegO Model 210 regulator will be replaced by a RegO Model 302V9P at no cost to the consumer.

Information concerning this recall is also available to consumers by calling CPSC's Toll Free Hotline at 800-638-CPSC. The teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 800-638-8270.

4-H Building Experience

'4-H Building on Experience,' the year-long theme of the 4-H program across Texas and the nation, reflects on the rich past of this youth program as well as on a bright future.

This year's theme will receive special emphasis during the upcoming National 4-H Week, October 7-13. 'The 4-H program has long taken pride in its roots and the practical learning experience that it has provided for millions of youth,' says H. T. Tom Davison, state 4-H program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

'4-H, which now reaches some five million youth each year in the US, actually had its beginning in Texas in Jack County back in 1908,' notes Davison. 'From the early corn clubs for boys and canning clubs for girls, 4-H has grown into the nation's largest youth organization outside of schools that today reaches young people from all backgrounds and walks of life.'

Conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service in each state and supported by each state's land-grant university and the US Department of Agriculture, the 4-H program is built around a 'learning-by-doing' philosophy that has stood the test of time.

'We now have more than 190,000 Texas youth between the ages of 9 and 19 enrolled in 4-H, and they are engaged in some 50 project areas that provide a host of learning experiences to prepare them for the future,' Davison points out. 'These educational projects help young people gain practical skills, develop good nutrition and health habits, explore career opportunities, generate leadership capabilities and become involved citizens.'

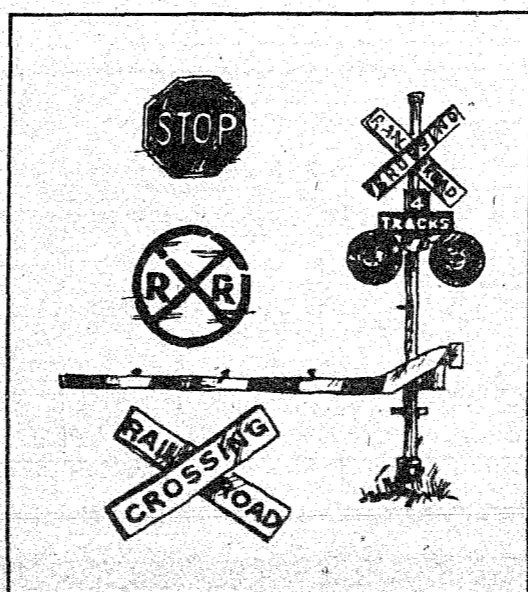

From the traditional projects of field crops and livestock to baking and sewing, 4-H has expanded over the years into such areas as small engines, shooting sports, gardening and veterinary science. And now computers are finding their way into 4-H.

'With new projects and programs to challenge today's young people, the future of 4-H looks bright,' says Davison. '4-H has a proud past on which to build as it continues to help youth prepare for the future.'

Railroad Crossing Safety

October 7-13 has been proclaimed by Governor Mark White as Texas Railroad Grade Crossing Safety Week in an ongoing effort by the railroads of Texas, public officials, and Texas Safety Association to reduce the deaths and injuries oc-curing at grade crossings in the state. Rodney J. Stutes, State Operation Lifesaver Chairman, and George R. Gustafson, Executive Vice President, Texas Safety Association, attended the public signing ceremonies in the Capitol.

National Employ the Handicapped Week

President Reagan has proclaimed October 7-13, as National Employ the Handicapped Week this year. The Disabled American Veterans (DAV) hopes to make the public more aware of this effort during the week-long observance.

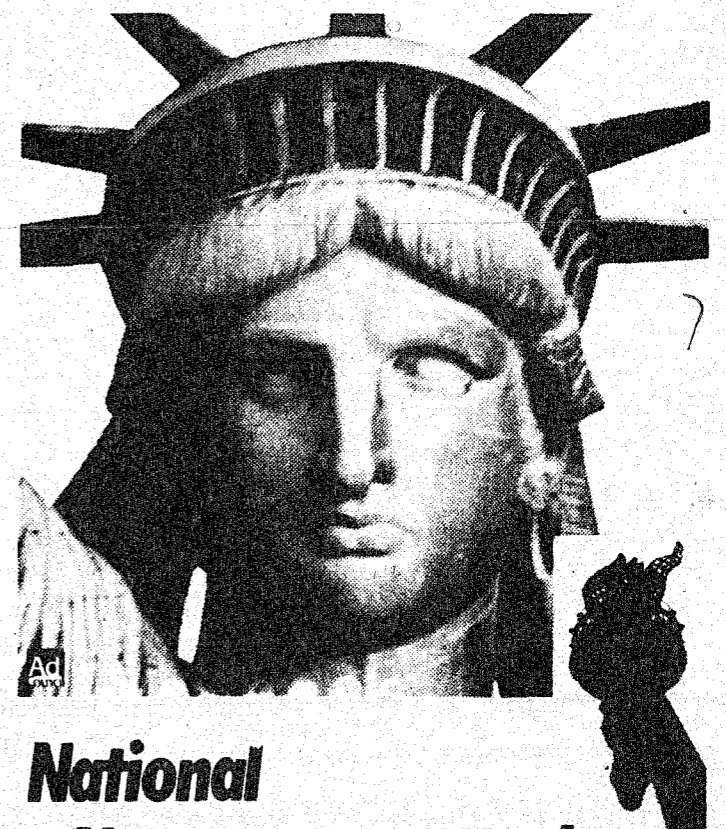

The abilities of disabled people will surprise the most able-bodied employers, if they will only give handicapped job applicants a shot.

Having lost a leg in Vietnam, the goals of National Employ the Handicapped Week are important to Ronald W. Drach, National Employment Director for the DAV. They are important to 2.2 million other disabled veterans and another 30 million handicapped Americans.

Though they can do the same job as similarly qualified nondisabled people in nearly every instance, they face employment discrimination all too often.

Help break down the negative and unrealistic attitudes that have created this discrimination and Employ a Handicap.

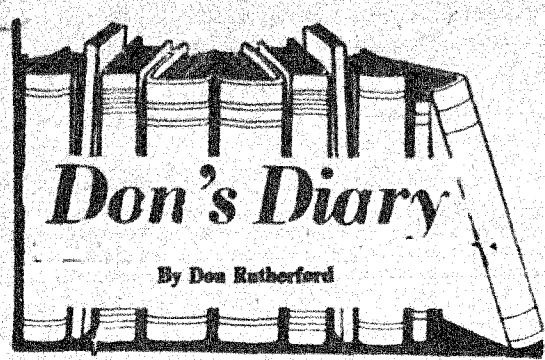

National Newspaper Week

National Newspaper Week will be celebrated October 7-13. This is an annual effort by the press to educate the public about the importance of a free press. This year's theme has been chosen as 'Newspapers: Lighting Freedom's Way'.

The logo of National Newspaper Week has as its centerpiece a black and white photograph of the Statue of Liberty. Keeping this in mind, President Reagan wrote: 'As this great monument in New York Harbor is now being refurbished, let us rededicate ourselves to the principles of a free press and renew our commitment to support and defend it against all enemies.'

The air was cool. The tension was high. The lights were bright. We stood across a football field in Mason, Texas. The team across the way looked like giants. They were bigger physically than we were. And on top of all that, this was the first time a Mountaineer team was playing Mason. All the team was a little apprehensive.

Coach A. D. Donham saw this and took us all into a huddle. He said as only Coach Donham could, 'Boys, they put their pants on the same way you do, one leg at a time. It is what is inside you that will make the difference.'

Something happened that night. The final score was 20-7 with the Mountaineers on top.

The difference is that something on the inside of us. That one talent we may have can make the difference in living. The using of that talent will assure us of a victory.

I am in the process of remodeling my study. As I was cleaning up and moving around, I found a small lamp. This was a little lamp that I never used and it was cast aside. Then I decided to put a three way bulb in it. What a difference that three way bulb made. It was the same lamp, but the inside element made it a bright light instead of a night light.

If you and I have but one talent, the use of that talent to the good is a tremendous asset to our freedom.

In Matthew 25: 14-30 we are told the parable of the talents. Each man was given a certain number of talents. One five, another two and the other one. Now a talent was a great deal of money then. A Hebrew talent was worth about $32,000. Jesus doesn't spend much time on the other two men, but a great deal of time and words on the man who hid his talent in the ground. This man was not a wasteful man, he did not waste his master's money. He was not a prodigal or an immoral man. He was a useless man. The useless man is the man who does nothing. He may have something to give but he keeps it to himself. He may have something to say but he remains silent. He lives inside a shell.

The useless man is one who does not use what God has given him. The useless man is the one who does not venture out. Granted it is a cold world we live in and to venture is to risk failure. It is so much easier to be secure and not risk the emotion of failing.

We hear of embezzlement so often. And we say how wicked and how wrong, but you know the person who takes life for granted and the gift of service and does nothing is an embezzler.

You and I say but what talent do I have. A cup of cold water given in Christ's name is a valuable service. The talent of concern is a lofty service.

God doesn't look for ability but our availability. The challenge is not so much to be great but to be used. A popular song not long ago was 'I did it my way.' Yes, we can do it our way, God gives man that opportunity. We can do it our way and put our talent in the ground. Or we can do it His way and become a light on the hill where we live.

The story is told of a church in Europe which was bombed in World War II. In the explosion, a statue of Christ was mutilated by having the hands blown off. The statue was not restored. It stands there today with the hands missing. But, underneath has been put this well known sentence: 'Christ hath no hands but yours.'

POSTMASTER'S POINTERS

By Gary Absher

WHAT TO DO WHEN YOU MOVE

There has been a television commercial recently aired called 'Don't let your mail come looking for you.' Much of the cost of postage goes to pay the cost of forwarding mail. Not only is it expensive and time consuming to the Postal Service, but it causes delay of your mail. There are a few steps to take before you move to prevent delay in your mail.

Fill out a 'Change of Address' card which you can get from your local Post Office. Most important, show the completed card to the Postmaster or window clerk so we can check it for accuracy.

Notify your magazines and newspapers at least 90 days before you move. Your Postmaster can help you with the addresses of these publications. Most magazines require at least 90 days advance notice to change your address.

What happens to my magazines if I fail to notify my publishers before I move? If you move locally, the Postal Service will forward your magazines free of charge for 90 days. After that period, we will notify your publisher of your new address and you will not receive any more of the publications until they correct your address. If you move out of town and do not check the 'Guarantee Forward Postage' on your change of address card, you will not receive any publications until the publisher changes your address.

Be sure to let your friends, banks and other businesses know your new address as soon as possible. The highlight of today's Postal Pointer is we forward your first class mail for 18 months. Cards to notify your publishers, friends and business are available at the Post Office free of charge.

I observed the volunteer fire department practicing their drills this week. They were on their own time. They were also wet and the temperature was in the 40's with the wind blowing 30 mph. The lady firefighters practiced the following day. These citizens are doing their best to insure the future of Santa Anna. But a little insurance yourself, shop locally.

Plant Talk

by Edith Martin

I have been asked to write about the Schefflera, one of the most common complaints being the shedding of the leaves. The schefflera "Brassaia Actinophylla" and sometimes called the umbrella tree is a long living house plant and gets its name from the umbrella like appearance of the foliage.

One of the most common causes for leaf drop is over watering. Wet soil can cause root rot. The wet soil can become so packed that the roots can not breathe, causing the leaves to turn yellow and drop off. However, a plant that is too dry can have the same problem. Check the soil about two inches deep. If you find moisture, don't water just yet. Sometimes if the soil has become extra dry, it will pull away from the sides of the pot causing the water to run right through and not wet with soil as it should. If you should have this to happen, place the plant in a pan of water and let it set for an hour to soak into the soil. Never allow the plant to set in water more than an hour.

The schefflera can thrive in almost any exposure. It can take the desert dry air, an air conditioned office or central heated living room. It will do well in a sunny south window but east or west would probably be better. A sudden change in atmosphere can cause sudden leaf drop.

Watch plant very closely for spider mites. If you are not very careful, foliage might turn yellow and drop off before you notice the tiny webbing insect. To prevent this from happening, it is a good policy to wash the plant with warm water and detergent at least every two or three weeks.

The schefflera can be in trouble when it is root bound. It needs to be repotted when stringy white roots circle the root-ball in the bottom of the pot and forms a spaghetti-like mat under the soil. You might need to use a sharp knife and cut away some of the roots growing around the sides of the soil ball. To give plenty of room, place in new container one inch wider than the original pot. The plant will do well in regular potting soil but I like to add one third peat moss to the mix.

There is a "dwarf" or mini-schefflera and then there is the big brother, the tree of larger size.

If you want a more branchy plant, cut off the top set of leaves flush to stem of the new top leaf and you should see new branches appearing where the old leaves dropped off. Remember to mist often.

from the SURGEON GENERAL C. F. Everett Klump, M.D.

Parents, Kids and Drugs

Drug use by young people in our society is a serious problem. According to government surveys, roughly two-thirds of all young Americans try an illicit drug before they finish high school. At least one in every 18 high school seniors smokes marijuana daily. Even though there have been declines in the use of some drugs, American youngsters still have a higher level of drug use than teenagers in any other industrialized nation.

Experts cite a number of reasons for the decline in the use of some illicit drugs by young people. They point, for instance, to the health risks that accompany drug abuse. Young people are beginning to understand those risks and to reject drug use and users within their peer groups. Another positive factor is the growing and significant level of parental awareness and intervention. Parents have begun to realize how important a role they can play in preventing drug use among their children. They are asking questions. They want to know, "How can I tell if my child is abusing drugs or alcohol?" They ask, "What can we do?"

Parents have to be aware of the early, possible signs of drug abuse, while realizing that some signs may only reflect a normal teenager's efforts to grow up. With that caution in mind, some warning signals of drug use are:

An abrupt change in mood or attitude. A sudden decline in attendance or performance at school. Trouble getting along with family or friends. Ignoring the curfew. Unusual flare-ups of temper. Increased borrowing of money. Greater secrecy about actions and possessions. A new group of friends, especially drug users.

It's rarely easy to tell if your son or daughter is becoming involved with drugs or alcohol, but you can get a pretty good idea by observing your child for a period of time, by getting to know who their other friends are and by talking to your child about the problems that he or she may be having.

Parents who believe that their children are abusing drugs should be straightforward in their approach to the problem. They should tell their children that they are concerned, and they should tell them why. They should point out, in no uncertain terms, that taking drugs is dumb and dangerous, that it can be very harmful to the child's physical, mental and social well-being.

If you learn that your child is using drugs, I recommend that you tell him or her that you are opposed to drug use and that you intend to enforce that position.

To help your child avoid drugs, you need to know something about drugs, yourself. That doesn't mean you have to become a drug expert, but it does mean you should have enough facts to support your views. As early as the fourth grade, your children may have some knowledge of the so-called drug scene. Much of what they learn will be inaccurate, and most of it will tend to glamorize drugs. That's why it's important that you be prepared to set the record straight.

Most of all, parents need to give their children support and help them find ways to say "no" to drug use. Strong family support and relationships with children that are based on trust, mutual respect and caring help children develop the personal values and self-confidence they need to resist peer pressure to use drugs. Parents should recognize, too, that they set models for their children with their own use of alcohol, cigarettes and prescription drugs.

One of the most proven and potent ways a parent can help is by forming a parent-peer group with the parents of their children's friends. Parents working together can help each other. They can set rules for their children's behavior, make the rules clearly known and be consistent in enforcing them. One of the main reasons kids take drugs is pressure from peers. When parents join together and take a united stand against drug abuse, they are much more effective than they are when they act separately. Around the country, parents are discovering the effectiveness of united action. They are learning that if they work together, and if they make the necessary commitment of time and energy, they can have a tremendous impact on drug abuse.

Don't wait until your children are involved in drugs to sit down and talk with them about this most important issue. Do it now and do it in concert with other parents.

Biscuit S'Mores

Want to relive your Scout camp days? Try this campfire (or backyard barbecue) recipe using biscuits from Kentucky Fried Chicken - no hot cooking over the stove or heating the kitchen with the oven.

- 6 Kentucky Fried Chicken buttermilk biscuits
- 2 Del Monte bananas, peeled and sliced (18 slices)
- 6 tablespoons mini-marshmallows
- 6 tablespoons semisweet chocolate pieces

Remove tops off each biscuit and hollow out biscuit. (Save crumbs for later.)

Put three banana slices and 1 tablespoon each marshmallows and chocolate pieces into each cavity. Put biscuit tops in place. Wrap in foil. Place on grill over hot coals 6 to 8 minutes or bake in 350-degree oven 10 minutes until melted.

Use leftover crumbs to make crumb toppings. Toss crumbs with a dab of butter and a touch of minced garlic. Toast on a baking sheet in a 350-degree oven to add a welcome crunch to salads, casseroles and soups. ▲

DON'T SHOOT AT POWER LINES!

Never shoot at power lines or the insulators that hold them. A severed line could cause a dangerous power outage, and the downed line itself could also be a very serious safety hazard.

Here are a few other tips on how to live more safely — electrically:

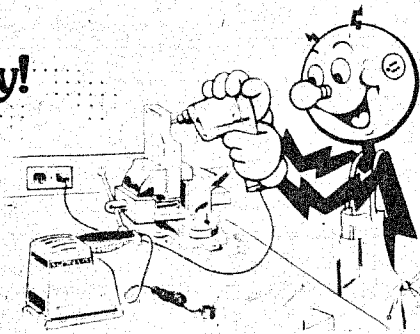

Keep Children Away from Outlets!

Don't let small children play near electrical outlets. A child could easily put a finger or some object in an outlet when you're looking away. A wise safety precaution would be to put safety caps in all wall outlets.

Use Power Tools Wisely!

Be extra careful when using power tools. Always be sure the wiring is adequate for the job. See to it that there are enough circuits of the right size, and that all circuits are grounded. Also, never use electric tools in the rain or on wet surfaces.

THE STATES PATCHWORK QUILT PARADE

Quilt for Delaware Ship O' Dreams

In looking about for an interesting quilt for that busy little State of Delaware, we found the 'Ship O' Dreams,' suggestive of her surrounding waters, teeming industry and brave adventures. This block would be especially fitting for a boy's quilt.

It is very easy to piece and daintily picturesque when done.

Our color scheme suggests a blue boat silhouetted against a buff sky, with lighter blue for the water.

Alternate plain blocks may be light blue, buff or unbleached. Borders are almost always such a worthwhile addition to a quilt that we suggest a 6-inch border light blue with darker blue, or of buff with the lighter blue applique 'waves.' A free hand pattern of a wave will be easily made, about 4 inches high by 7 long at the base and spaced fairly close together as sketched.

Yardage allowance for an average size quilt would be about 1 1/2 yards of light blue, 2 yards of dark blue and 2 1/4 of buff with 5 yards additional of the background tint.

MOUNTAINEERS Now 3 - 1

In the last five seconds of the game, the Sterling City Eagles booted a 19-yard field goal to give them a 17-14 win over the Mountaineers on Friday night in Sterling City in the District 8-A West opener for both teams.

Their kicker's first attempt sailed to the left as the Mountaineers were called for roughing the kicker. The second kick attempt was a success enabling Sterling City to avoid a tie for the second week in a row.

The field goal capped a 17 point second half comeback by Sterling City, which handed Santa Anna its first setback while remaining undefeated at 3-0-1. It was the first time this year the Mountaineers, now 3-1, had been scored on. The Mountaineers broke a scoreless tie with a 65-yard drive in the second quarter. Leading rusher, Ramon Vasquez's 41-yard run sparked the drive and Chris DeLeon got the score with 4:46 remaining. Vasquez kicked the PAT.

A blocked punt minutes later gave Santa Anna the ball on the Eagles 2. On second down, Vasquez went over and his second extra point made it 14-0 with 2:06 left.

But Sterling City, hampered by 56 yards in penalties the first half, got untracked after intermission.

Santa Anna will face Miles this week at home at 7:30 on Friday.

Booster of the Week

Athletic Booster Club honors for Booster of the Week for the Sterling City game were John and Cindy Tuttle, parents of Shelby Tuttle a junior who plays on the varsity team and Cory Tuttle a freshman who plays on the junior varsity team.

Parade Entries Requested

Dickie Horner, chairman of the Homecoming Parade, is enlisting entries in the Friday, October 19, parade. The 3 p.m. event opens the annual Ex-Student Homecoming.

To be featured in the parade are the Homecoming honorees and the Homecoming Queen candidates from the high school classes. Floats and decorated vehicles are needed to make the parade a colorful and interesting event.

All clubs and organizations are asked to be represented in the parade that will be judged for cash prizes. Those interested in having entries are asked to contact Mr. Horner no later than October 15 to be included in the parade list.

Dance

A dance for 6th, 7th and 8th grade students was held on Saturday night at the armory. There were 55 students and 11 parents present for the occasion.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, chips and punch were served. All seemed to have a good time.

This is the second year for the dances to be held. The dances are not school activities, they are parent sponsored.

Sponsors would like to express their appreciation to the parents that sent refreshments and money to pay expenses. Excess funds will be used towards the next dance.

The quilt pictured is an 'Around the World Quilt'. Very pretty. A special wedding ring quilt may be seen at the Santa Anna National Bank.

Pictured on the left are Thelma Upchurch, Grace Short, Laura Carpenter, Margaret Crews, Lucille Dean and Hettie Scarborough. These ladies made the quilts that are to be auctioned at the Lord's Acre Sale on October 13, 1984. Carmilla Baugh was also a quilt maker but was unable to attend for picture time.

Self Culture Club

The Self Culture Club will hold their monthly meeting on Wednesday, October 10, at the Fellowship Hall of First Presbyterian Church. Hostesses for the 3 p.m. meeting will be Mrs. J. W. McClellan and Mrs. W. H. Clifford. Mrs. Jim Spillman will present the program on interesting facts about US Presidents, with roll call being answered by naming the favorite President of each member attending. All members of the group are invited to attend the meeting next week.

Santa Anna Quilt Club

The Santa Anna Quilt Club met Tuesday, October 2. The club has a new meeting place and a new day and time. They will now be meeting every Tuesday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Santa Anna Armory. Anyone is welcome to join them. At the meeting Delia Mathis was presented with a surprise. To show their appreciation for letting the club meet in her home she was given the quilt the club just finished. It was made of double knit material and pieced of numerous multicolor squares. It was quilted in diagonal lines across the entire quilt. A new quilt was put up. It belongs to Opal Langford.

Rockwood Gas Drought

If you are driving on Hwy 283 from Santa Anna to Brady, watch your gas gauge, but don't stop at Rockwood for gas... Tony Davis closed his gas station business last week after operating it for two years. For the thirty-seven years before this it was operated in the same building by Elec Cooper, who retired on October 25, 1982. Remembering about the early cars and wondering where they bought gas, it is remembered that George Ryan probably had the first car-a-hupmobile in 1910. Dr. E. B. Newson bought a Brush Car in 1911. A. L. Woods and B. B. Fowler had motor-driven buggies. Fowler later had a Model T in 1918. George Ryan had a blacksmith shop in 1909 selling to Arthur Box in 1917 (these shops were fore-runners of garages). They sold gas from large barrels. Temp Kennedy, who had a large mercantile business, also sold gas from barrels. The only gas station was operated by Jim Martin, selling to Luther Abernathy in 1925, who operated for many years before moving to Santa Anna, when the building was sold for a grocery store. I. A. Hadley and Homer Lawrence built a garage on the west side of Main St. in 1921, which Nelson Ryan and Carl Doyle bought in January 5, 1925. Mr. Woods had a blacksmith shop and his son put in a filling station (possibly Charles G. Woods and son, Emmett). Edgar Hodges built a station on the east side of Main St. Sam Estes operated the business in 1930-32. Possibly others and the Cooper brothers, Jack and Elec, down to Davis.

Homemaker's Health Fair

The Extension Homemaker's Club met Tuesday, September 25, at the Rockwood Community Center. They welcomed Agnes Taylor, the new extension agent, who presented a program on stenciling. Mrs. Jack Cooper gave the thought for the day. Mrs. Bernadine Fowler presided in the absence of the president. Mrs. Roberta Davis read the minutes and called the roll. On report of the nominating committee new officers were elected: Mrs. Bettie Duus, president; Mrs. Billie Weatherby, vice-president; Mrs. Roberta Davis, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Mary Huntley, council delegate. Mrs. Weatherby gave a report on the TEHA meeting recently attended in San Angelo. Mrs. Taylor spoke on the Health Fair that is to be held at the Rockwood Community Center on Wednesday, October 24, directed by Brenda Watkins. Mrs. Steward and Mrs. Bray served refreshments to Berna Fowler, Pebble Ellis, Billie Weatherby, Agnes Taylor, Wilma Williams, Rose Cooper, Gladys Hunter, Roberta Davis, Ella Gray, and Isabelle McCutcheon. Rockwood Extension Homemakers Club will host the Texas Department of Health for a Health Fair on October 24 out at the Rockwood Community Building. Hours for the Health Fair are 10:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 3:00. Everyone is invited to attend. Brenda Watkins with the Texas Department of Health says these services will be offered: Diabetes check, blood pressure check, document health history, oral cancer screening, colon-rectal cancer packets, self breast exams, testicular cancer test, skin disorder check and weight and height check.

Sacred Heart Parish Festival

Followed on Sunday by a Mexican dinner from 11:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the same location, 201 San Saba Street, with arts and crafts, games, rides, cake walks, snacks, and cold drinks all afternoon until 7 p.m. General Chairman for the Festival this year is Emilio Seballos Jr. assisted by the following committees and their chairmen: Food, Susan Luna; Games, The Holy Name Society Men; Bingo, Virginia Villegas and Mary Alcalá; Arts and Crafts, The Art Society; Cakes, Shelly Taylor; and the Raffle, Beck Knox. For dinner tickets contact any member of the church or Susan Luna at 625-4217. There will be activities for everyone.
