Emergency Loans For Winter Wheat Now Available

Emergency Crop Loans for the production of winter wheat and other small grains are now available to farmers in Coleman County, and applications for these loans are now being received at County Agent's Office, Agricultural Building, Coleman, Texas by D. H. Harrison, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Division of the Farm Credit Administration.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from banks or other sources.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing his land and seeding his 1944 grain crops. Eligibility rules are the same as in former years. The amount which may be loaned to any one farmer in 1944 may not exceed $400.00.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of grain crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed.

Cpl. Clinton Hagar Awarded Medal

Ft. Sumner, N. M. Aug. 8.—Soldier's Medal for heroism was presented to Corporal Clinton N. Hagar of Saginaw, Mich., at a formal review of all troops of this Army Air Field last Friday with Colonel Henry B. Fisher, Commanding Officer, making the presentation.

Cpl. Hagar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hagar of Santa Anna, Texas and his wife and 20 months-old daughter, Judy, reside in Saginaw.

Cpl. Hagar is the first man to be awarded a decoration while serving at this field. According to General Orders 54, issued this month by the War Department, Cpl. Hagar was awarded the Soldier's Medal for heroism at Fort Sumner, N. M., on Dec. 29, 1943. At this time a truck-drawn Belderman trailer, parked in the vicinity of several gasoline tank cars, burst into flames. Cpl. Hagar, at the risk of his life, climbed into the cab of the blazing truck and drove it away from the tank cars to a safe location. Prevented by the flames from using the fire extinguishers on the truck, he obtained others from a nearby point and, again exposing himself to the danger of explosion, extinguished the blaze.

Cpl. Hagar, who is 29 years old, has a twin brother, Clifford, who is stationed with the Field Artillery at Fort Riley, Kans., while another brother, Vernon, is in the Navy, and a third, Henderson is a Marine.

Mrs. Margaret Black, of Rockwood, has word that her husband, E. D. Black, R.D.M. 2-c, is doing fine after two years in the Pacific. He has been awarded the Purple Heart and has participated in many of the major battles in one of the largest Task Forces of the Pacific. His ship's crew received the Silver Star for extra ordinary functions in time of action during the battles at Saipan. He feels his carrier ship, U.S.S. Enterprise, will always be found doing her part.

Waste Paper Needed

Governor Issues Proclamation

From Information furnished me, it appears waste paper is the No. 1 critical war material. It is so critical that the United States Army is salvaging what little it can in the North African and South Pacific zones.

Many mills in the United States are not running full time and some have been forced to shut down temporarily because of the shortages of waste paper.

Collections in the United States for 1944 have averaged 79,000 tons monthly short of quotas.

Consumption of waste paper is increasing every month and inventories are diminishing. It is vitally important to replenish inventories in order that production of blood plasma containers, boxes for emergency life boat rations, life preserver cots, protective bands for bombs field ration containers, and hundreds of other vital military needs may be increased.

Therefore, I, Coke Stevenson, Governor of the State of Texas, hereby designate the period of August 20 to September 20, 1944, as Paper Salvage Month in Texas and call on the citizens of Texas to join hands with the American Legion, the Boy Scouts, the salvage committees, and the newspapers of Texas to put forth their full efforts in order that 20 pounds of waste paper for every person in Texas may be collected during this period.

Many of the German prisoners of War captured in Normandy have volunteered to help with the harvest in Great Britain, according to a BBC broadcast reported to the Office of War Information. Inexperienced workers are paid six pence a day and experienced workers, one shilling. The broadcast also reported a story about the harvest in Northern Italy, where the facts were quite different. Italian Patriots drove the German occupation troops from one village and captured the entire harvest, which was all ready for shipment to Germany.

Reclaim Quarter of Million Men Treatment of syphilis is responsible for the presence in the Armed Forces of 125,000 men who otherwise would have been unfit for Service, and for making 140,000 others available for service unless otherwise disqualified, the U. S. Public Health Service reports. Among the first 15 million Selective Service Registrants given blood tests, evidence of syphilis was found among 720,000. Selective Service Boards, State and Local Health Departments, Army and Navy cooperated in tracing, treating and inducting infected registrants.

School Teacher Now Cadet Nurse

After seven years teaching all grades in "The Little Red Schoolhouse," Rita Turner, Linn, Mo., took her opportunity to get help in achieving her life-long ambition to become a nurse by being the first to enlist in the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps. The U. S. Public Health Service says at least 60,000 more Cadets are needed this year to meet requests for Hospital Personal!

Want Consumer Price Lists

Large-scale distribution of 4 to five million consumer price lists is needed in connection with a campaign to "Sell Retailers on Their Stake in Price Control," declared the Consumer Advisory Committee to OPA in protesting against substitution of a plan of posting community ceiling price lists in retail stores. Shoppers are too hurried or too timid to question prices in the presence of other shoppers who may be waiting, the committee said. Informed shopping, the advisors believe, "is possible only when consumers have studied their ceiling prices at home."

Asks Complete Social Security

"We will not have a just system of Social Security until all workers, no matter what their employment, are covered," Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator, declared in connection with the announcement that on August 8 the Social Security Board would begin to pay off on its one millionth benefit in force under Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance. The beneficiaries are a war worker's Widow, Mrs. Mary Rex Thompson, Parma, Ohio, and her two children. Mrs. Thompson's husband and his employer each paid $145 in premiums. Benefits now amount to $58.49 a month and may total as much as $15,182.83. Although 12 million farm workers and 8 million other types of workers and self employed persons are not now covered by Social Security benefits, the Social Security Board has recommended to Congress that coverage be extended to all these groups now excluded.

Round-Up

OPA says—no more special gasoline rations for travel to Victory Gardens will be issued after August 15—there will be a slight increase in the prices of some cookies, crackers, toast and crumbs now sold in retail stores as a result of a change in OPA regulations.

ON THE INVASION FRONT—This M-3 tank is smashing at German lines on the invasion front. These tanks were a big help in halting the initial Nazi counteroffensives as allied troops swarmed ashore during the first crucial days. Thousands of similar Continental Aircraft type engines that power these tanks, were used in trainers developing America's great air strength.

ON THE INVASION FRONT—Here are American infantrymen being landed on the invasion beaches by "water buffalo" amphibians. This method of landing proved highly effective along those beaches where ordinary landing craft couldn't approach the shores because of shoals or other barriers. These amphibians are powered by Continental, makers of famous Red Seal engines, in peacetime found on tractors, combines and other dependable farm equipment.

By Ernie Pyle

IN NORMANDY.—The great attack, when we broke out of the Normandy beachhead, began in the bright light of midday, not at the zero hour of a bleak and mysterious dawn as attacks are supposed to start in books.

The attack had been delayed from day to day because of poor flying weather, and on the final day we hadn't known for sure till after breakfast whether it was on or off again.

When the word came that it was on, the various battalion staffs of our regiment were called in from their command posts for a final review of the battle plan.

Each one was given a mimeographed sketch of the frontline area, showing exactly where and when each type bomber was to hammer the German lines ahead of them. Another mimeographed page was filled with specific orders for the grand attack to follow.

Officers stood or squatted in a circle in a little apple orchard behind a ramshackle stone farmhouse of a poor French family who had left before us. The stonewall in the front yard had been knocked down by shelling, and through the orchards there were shell craters and tree limbs knocked off and trunks sliced by bullets. Some enlisted men sleeping the night before in the attic of the house got the shock of their lives when the thin floor collapsed and they fell down into the cowshed below.

Chickens and tame rabbits still scampered around the farmyard. Dead fowls lay all around in the fields.

The regimental colonel stood in the center of the officers and went over the orders in detail. Battalion commanders took down notes in little books.

The colonel said, "Ernie Pyle is with the regiment for this attack and will be with one of the battalions, so you'll be seeing him. The officers looked at me and smiled and I felt embarrassed.

Then Maj. Gen. Raymond O. Barton, Fourth division commander, arrived. The colonel called, "Attention!" and everybody stood rigid until the General gave them, "Carry on."

An enlisted man ran to the mess truck and got a folding canvas stool for the General to sit on. He sat listening intently while the colonel wound up his instructions.

Then the General stepped into the center of the circle. He stood at a slouch on one foot with the other leg far out like a brace. He looked all around him as he talked. He didn't talk long. He said something like this—

"This is one of the finest regiments in the American army. It was the last regiment out of France in the last war. It was the first regiment into France in this war. It has spearheaded every one of the division's attacks in Normandy. It will spearhead this one. For many years this was my regiment and I feel very close to you, and very proud."

The General's lined face was a study in emotion. Sincerity and deep sentiment were in every contour and they shone from his eyes. General Barton is a man of deep affections. The tragedy of war, both personal and impersonal, hurts him. At the end his voice almost broke, and I for one had a lump in my throat. He ended:

"That's all. God bless you and good luck."

Then we broke up and I went with one of the battalion commanders. Word was passed down by field phone, radio and liaison men to the very smallest unit of troops that the attack was on.

There was still an hour before the bombers, and three hours before the infantry were to move. There was nothing for the infantry to do but dig a little deeper and wait. A cessation of motion seemed to come over the countryside and all its brown-clad inhabitants—a sense of last minute sitting in silence before the holocaust.

The first planes of the mass onslaught came over a little before 10 a. m. They were the fighters and dive bombers. The main road running crosswise in front of us was their bomb line.

They were to bomb only on the far side of that road.

Our kickoff infantry had been pulled back a few hundred yards this side of the road. Everyone in the area had been given the strictest orders to be in foxholes, for high-level bombers can, and do quite excusably, make mistakes.

We were still in country so level and with hedgerows so tall there simply was no high spot—either hill or building—from where you could get a grandstand view of the bombing as we used to in Sicily and Italy. So one place was as good as another unless you went right up and sat on the bomb line.

Having been caught too close to these things before, I compromised and picked a farmyard about 800 yards back of the kickoff line.

And before the next two hours had passed I would have given every penny, every desire, every hope I've ever had to have been just another 800 yards further back.

Our frontlines were marked by long strips of colored cloth laid on the ground, and with colored smoke to guide our airmen during the mass bombing that preceded our breakthrough from the German ring that held us to the Normandy beachhead.

Dive bombers hit it just right. We stood in the barnyard of a French farm and watched them barrel nearly straight down out of the sky. They were bombing about half a mile ahead of where we stood.

They came in groups, diving from every direction, perfectly timed, one right after another. Everywhere you looked separate groups of planes were on the way down, or on the way back up, or slanting over for a dive, or circling, circling, circling over our heads, waiting for their turn.

The air was full of sharp and distinct sounds of cracking bombs and the heavy rips of the planes' machine guns and the splitting screams of diving wings. It was all fast and furious, but yet distinct, as in a musical show in which you could distinguish throaty tunes and words.

And then a new sound gradually droned into our ears, a sound deep and all encompassing with no notes in it—just a gigantic faraway surge of doom-like sound. It was the heavies. They came from directly behind us. At first they were the merest dots in the sky. You could see clots of them against the far heavens, too tiny to count individually. They came on with a terrible slowness.

They came in flights of 12, three flights to a group and in groups stretched out across the sky. They came in "families" of about 70 planes each.

Maybe these gigantic waves were two miles apart, maybe they were 10 miles, I don't know. But I do know they came in a constant procession and I thought it would never end. What the Germans must have thought is beyond comprehension.

Their march across the sky was slow and studied. I've never known

August 18 has been designated Soil Conservation Day in Texas by a proclamation issued by the governor. The date is being observed in recognition of the progress being made by soil conservation districts.

The Soil Conservation District Law was passed by the legislature in 1939. The first districts (16) were approved in elections by landowners March 9, 1940. The first district began operations in January 1941 and the local district began in March of 1941.

On July 1, 1944, there were 113 soil conservation districts organized in the state covering 100,781,000 acres. This acreage is about 60 percent of the state's land area and includes nearly 80 percent of the farms and ranches.

Recently 1,422 farmers and ranchers reported on the results of using complete conservation systems. Acre yields of crops and pastures have been increased 30 percent. Livestock carrying capacity of ranges has been increased 13 percent an acre.

Mrs. Howard Jones of Leedy community spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. Beula Kingston. Misses Leola and Mary Ora Driskell, of Waller returned home today, Monday, after spending several weeks here with their grandmother, Mrs. C. F. Shield. Robert Shield went home with them for a two weeks visit. Robert hasn't seen his sister, Mrs. Ruth Driskell in 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Etoil Cozart had as their dinner guests Sunday, Bro. Wylie, the Norris family and Colvin girls.

Mrs. Zona Stacy went with Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Sloane to Whon to church Sunday night and she will stay over for a few days.

Trickham was well represented at the meeting at Cleveland Sunday night. I think I counted 50 of our folks there. Bro. Todd brought a great message on He Lingered. If you haven't been, go find your place and help in the battle against sin and unrighteousness.

Mrs. Clarence Spence has sold out everything since the death of her husband and will go home with her three children to live in California. We regret to see her leave our community but this looks like the wise thing for her to do. Her children there are Murrell, wife and daughter, Geraldine, now Mrs. George Thomas and two daughters; and Miss Othella Spence. Her son, Pvt. Rodney Spence is stationed at Norman, Okla.

Mrs. Spence's sister, Mrs. Robert Flores of Delano, Calif. came for the funeral, and her mother, Mrs. Kilmer of Santa Anna, was in California visiting, so she came back for the funeral. Her brother, Willie Kilmer, of Placid was here also. They had just received word one of their sons was killed in action in England. Clarence's brother, Robert Spence and wife of Richardson, Texas, near Dallas, were here for the funeral.

Visitors with Mrs. Shield and Robert Sunday were Leola and Mary Ora Driskell, Oscar and Mary Boenicke and Bernice McIver and family.

Mrs. Jack Laughlin received a telegram from her father, Filmore Stearns in California, that he was leaving there today to come to Trickham. Folks leave Trickham, but something has a pull on them to draw them back and most people say it is this good creek water we have to drink.

Every month an average of 702 freight trains, most of them carrying vital war goods, are delayed an average of 460 hours because of carelessness by the men and women who drive automobiles.

The grade crossing accident illustrated here is an example:

At 1:32 a.m. (more than 1,900 grade crossing accidents occurred at night last year) a freight train passed through a city in accordance with the speed limit. The locomotive's headlight gleamed through the darkness and the regulation whistle warnings were sounded.

The engineman saw a gasoline tank truck crossing immediately in front of the engine and, realizing the imminence of the accident, applied the air brakes, but was unable to stop in time. The impact tore the gasoline tank open. Gasoline ignited and exploded, killing the engineman, fireman and a brakeman, as well as the oil truck driver.

The locomotive and 27 freight cars and their contents were damaged by flames. Three homes nearby caught fire and burned, as well as two parked automobiles and one express truck.

The National Safety Council is conducting a special campaign to stop these grade crossing accidents, which every day delay an average of 38 trains a total of 22 hours—a serious drain on the nation's war transportation effort. Driver carelessness is the cause of almost all grade crossing accidents, according to the Council. To help win the war, to save yourself and others needless suffering, the Council asks you to be sure the track is clear before you start across.

Cleo Bell Biggs Gold Star Girl, 1944

Cleo Bell Biggs, who was selected as Gold Star Girl for Coleman County in 1944 has done a great deal of work which shows she deserves this award.

In doing her part to help win the war Cleo Bell had a garden with 15 varieties of vegetables and canned 150 containers of food which was of 10 varieties. With the help of her mother and brother a pantry was built in which to store the food. Cleo Bell made a shoe shine kit which comes in very handy in keeping the family shoes shined. She made a foot stool, two luncheon cloths and napkins, 2 pairs pillow cases, 7 tea towels, 3 pot holders and pot holder rack. She made 3 gifts which she gave away consisting of a stuffed toy cat, vanity set and a toy cabinet and dresser. In addition to these things she made a shoe rack and has a very well equipped sewing basket. She reseeded 2 chairs, cooked and served 3 meals by herself in addition to cooking several dishes such as vegetables, chicken and different kind of salads. She and her club members together sent 25 pounds of cookies to the soldiers at one time and 5 pounds at another time.

The day her club was judged

Cleo Bell modeled her 4-H Club uniform which she had made, and other members of her club assisted her in modeling her housecoat, gown, bed jacket, aprons and accessories which included a necklace, purse, belt and a beanie made of bottle caps. Cleo Bell also showed several dresses she had remodeled and mended. The garden suit Cleo Bell had made was very attractive. It included a garden hat, blouse with long sleeves, shorts and gloves. Other articles displayed by Cleo Bell were doll dresses, dresser scarfs and waste baskets.

Preparing Vegetables For Locker Storage

"When preparing vegetables for storing in a freezer locker: Steam or scald the vegetables to stop enzyme action or chemical changes which take place as soon as the vegetables are gathered," Miss Jewell Hipp, County Home Dem. Agent told the women of Liberty and Cleveland communities at a joint meeting in the home of Mrs. O. L. Norris in the Liberty community Aug. 1th.

Blanching or scalding also shrinks the food. It brightens the green color in vegetables. It further cleans the product and destroys some bacteria. After the vegetables have steamed a few minutes—shelled black eyed peas for example, which was used in the demonstration were steamed 1½ minutes—other vegetables are steamed according to time table found in Freezing Foods, Vegetables, Fruits and Meats which may be secured from Home Demonstration Agent office. The vegetables are immersed immediately in a large container of cold water until cool. Then drain the vegetables and pack in a brine solution which is made of 4 teaspoons salt to one quart of water. Then seal the container air tight and it is ready for the quick freeze unit of the locker plant. The brine solution can be used on all vegetables for freezer locker except spinach and squash. However, asparagus, beans, corn, peas may be dry packed after steaming as well as spinach, Miss Hipp explained.

The hostess served refreshments of punch and cookies to the following: Mrs. John Perry, Mrs. John W. Taylor, Mrs. Roger Holt, Mrs. W. J. Ogle, Mrs. Eaf Day, Lovella Taylor, Mrs. C. A. Curry, Ida May Day, Frankie Holt, Mrs. W. F. Holt all of Santa Anna, Viola Smith, Mildred Arthur and Mrs. Walter Holt, all of Bangs.

THE PRIEST IN THE LIFE OF ISRAEL

LESSON TEXT—I Samuel 2:27-30, 35; 6:12-18.

GOLDEN TEXT—For every high priest taken from among men is ordained for men in things pertaining to God.—Hebrews 5:1.

Failure to observe God's law inevitably brings disaster. That is true in the family, and in the nation. It follows even though the man who sins is in a high and favored position in God's service.

Our lesson which brings before us the work of the priest in Israel also reminds us of the sacred relationship of father and son. These are important matters inviting our careful study.

I. A Holy Calling: (2:27, 28).

Eli was the high priest in Israel, an office ordained of God, and by Him established in the household of Aaron. The priest was to stand between God and man, there to seek His forgiveness for the sins of the people, and His grace and mercy upon them. He was to teach them the law of God and to seek for them divine guidance. He was subject to special laws, and had great privileges of service.

Such a man must not only be holy himself, but unusually diligent about properly rearing his sons who would follow him in this office, which was by God's ordinance an hereditary one. He had to be both a good minister and a good father. Eli was the former, but he failed as a father.

In the New Testament, Christ becomes our High Priest (Heb. 7:26; 9:11), and those who minister for Him are to bring men to Him—the "one Mediator between God and Man" (I Tim. 2:5; Heb. 9:15). In this new covenant the minister has a high and holy calling, but it also is made clear that all believers have the liberty to come boldly to the throne of grace (Heb. 4:16); hence they too are called "a holy priesthood" (I Pet. 2:5).

II. A High Responsibility (2:29, 30, 35).

As already suggested, Eli was evidently a man of personal piety and integrity in office. We honor him for that, but we regret his failure to properly rear his sons who were to succeed him.

It is not enough to meet one phase of our responsibility before God and then, because of our faithfulness there to seek to justify weakness elsewhere. One sometimes hears the expression, "But he is such a good man," as an excuse for failure, but it just will not do.

Eli did reprimand with his boys, but he waited until it was too late—or did it in such a way, and at such a time as to be ineffective. His failure at this point is declared (v. 29) to be a placing of his sons above God in his thinking.

What a solemn warning to indulgent parents! "Not to rule and restrain our children, to give them their own way, is to honor them more than God. Ere we think it, weakness becomes wickedness in ourselves and in our children too." God has "made every parent . . . a king in his home, that he may . . . command his children in the way of the Lord" (Andrew Murray).

God will not permit such sin and failure to pass unnoticed. He will set aside those who fail Him (v. 30) and bring them into judgment. He has others who are willing to serve Him (v. 35). Evidently young Samuel was the one in mind here.

It is both significant and encouraging to note that in the midst of the wicked and immoral surroundings created by Eli's sons, God had the tender vine of His own planting—the life of the boy Samuel, growing up in the temple. He was already hearing God's voice and learning to obey the call.

III. A Heavy Judgment (4:12-18). The Israelites went out to battle against the Philistines. Meeting defeat, they thought to gain victory by bringing the ark of the covenant into battle, and who had the effrontery to appear as "priests" with the ark but the ark was lost to the heathen

Swift and awful was the judgment of God. Not only was there defeat, but the ark was lost to the heathen Philistines, and the two sons of Eli were killed. When Eli heard the news of what had taken place, he too fell and died. Here was the tragic end of a life that had begun with promise, and all because of weakness, failure and sin.

There is a pointed lesson here for us. The people of Israel depended on the ark itself, an outward symbol of godliness, when there was no spiritual life in the heart—and they went down to failure. Will we go through the motions of religious exercises, talk easily of prayer, appoint men who please our itching ears (II Tim. 4:3) to preach to us, and then go on our careless, worldly, indifferent way, supposing that our formal religion will save us? Paul tells us in II Timothy 3:1-5 that "having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof" is a sign of the "last days," of "perilous times" which have come upon us. May God save us!

A Texas sergeant serving in France wrote the following report of the fighting there: "The Texas army is advancing steadily on Paris and will be in Berlin before long." As an afterthought, he added: "We are taking along with us some units from other states, to show them how."

It isn't exactly like that, perhaps, but there are so many Texans in the battle for France Lone Star army really is here in force.

Sgt. Bob Jackson, of San Marcos, fighting in Italy, used an old Texas trick to wipe out a group of embattled Nazis. When he found himself unable to use his grenade thrower because a chicken-wire fence was between him and the Nazis, he jumped into an old building, captured a German sniper, and used him as a shield while advancing on the enemy strong point. Then with grenades and rifle fire, he drove out the Nazis, capturing six more.

Enemy planes aren't as numerous over France these days as they once were, but Capt. Burt Marshall of Greenville managed to find one recently. He quickly shot it down. Other Texas airmen who have been cited or decorated for air victories include Lt. M. M. Tomme, Navy pilot from Troup; Lt. (jg) Roy Bechtel of Lubbock and Ensign Jack Hogue of Graham, each of whom was credited with shooting down one or more Japs. Ensign Hogue failed to return after the fight.

On the home front, Texans are also helping win the war. Few men are doing more than the volunteer division, region and county leaders chosen to spearhead the coming campaign for the National War Fund. Under direction of Wayland D. Towner, general manager of the United War Chest of Texas, they will help put the nation's biggest state-wide drive over the top, and are now working at top speed recruiting workers and perfecting local campaign organizations.

The National War Fund finances USO, War Prisoners Aid and 17 other agencies serving our own fighting men and our allies.

Lucky is Pfc. Jose Lopez, a tough Brownsville scrapper. Fighting in Normandy, the Texan was hit squarely in the body by a bullet. The impact spun him around, but Lopez recovered his balance and with one bullet killed the German who had fired the shot. Then he discovered why he was not wounded—the Nazi bullet had hit an ammunition clip at his belt, and lodged there.

Texas' share in the war was commemorated again last week, when a new giant troopship was named for a famous Texas soldier, Gen. W. P. Richardson, who was born at Hunt. The ship was launched at Newark, N. J.

And here is a partial list of Texans who have been decorated for bravery and outstanding service: Lt. Lloyd Kelly, Coleman, Air Medal cluster; Lt. Col. Ed Harris, El Paso; Sgt. Joe Ellis, Orange, and Sgt. Ban Wyatt Jr., Brownwood, Bronze Stars; Capt. Jim Dooley, Dilley, and Andrew Block, Bonham, Soldiers Medals for heroism in saving lives of comrades, and the following Texans who received Distinguished Flying Crosses for fighting over Europe: Lt. Luther Abel, Gladewater; Lt. Charles Summers, Granbury; Capt. Morris Stanley, Alvin; Sgt. Hershel Moore, Del Rio, and Lt. Wade Knudson, Meridian, Sgt. Jim Daugherty of Imperial won the coveted Air Medal.

Texas fighting men in France are now getting full services of the various National War Fund agencies. United Seamens Serv-

AND GOD WAS THERE

Somewhere in Italy, before the guns silenced his voice and pen, a soldier-poet, inspired by his discovery of God in the midst of Hell on earth, composed the following poem. Pvt. James Day, of New York, found the poem on the dead body of the soldier, whose identity has not yet been determined.

Look, God, I have never spoken to you, But now I want to say, "How-do-you-do?" You see, God, they told me you didn't exist, And like a fool, I believed all this Last night from a shell-hole I saw your sky. I figured right then, they had told me a lie, Had I taken the time to see things you made, I'd have known they weren't calling a spade a spade.

I wonder, God, if you'd shake my hand Somehow, I feel that you will understand. Funny I had to come to this hellish place Before I had time to see your face.

Well, I guess there isn't much more to say, But I'm sure glad, God, I met you today, I guess the "zero hour" will soon be here, But I'm not afraid since I know you are near.

The signal! Well, God, I'll have to go, I like you lots, this I want you to know. Look, now, this will be a horrible fight, Who knows, I may come to your house tonight.

Though I wasn't friendly to you before, I wonder, God, if you'd wait at your door, Look, I'm crying! Me! shedding tears, Wish I had known you these many years.

Well, I have to go now, God, Goodbye! Strange, since I met you, I'm not afraid to die.

WHY IS A LAW?

When a law is passed the ordinary citizen assumes that it says what it means and means what it says, according to Wheeler McMillen, Farm Journal's editor in-chief.

"We suppose that an honestly intended law is written with words explicitly chosen to mean what it intends," he says. "We expect, also, that officials will scrupulously follow the meaning. We are not as smart as the new kind of bureaucrats. They have what they call 'administrative interpretation.' That is a fancy phrase for twisting the law to let you do what you want to do, regardless of Congress, and there has been much of it. Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter encourages 'administrative interpreters.' In a decision he wrote: 'The notion that, because the words of a statute are plain, its meaning also is plain is merely pernicious over-simplification.' Make that out, if you can!"

The scales of justice need balancing.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Speaking of speaking, this writer made his first effort at a speech a little over four years ago and since that time I've been unable to fill near all of the invitations. Which proves how hard up the luncheon clubs of Texas are for speakers.

The 500 talks have been made under almost all kinds of circumstances—such as speaking in the open air where, when a sentence ended, an echo threw the last word back at you. (The only way to beat that situation was not to pause between sentences.)

Sometimes, the meeting place would be curtained off from the cafe kitchen and one's remarks were punctuated with the rattle of dishes.

On one occasion, the dining hall was small and five listeners sat in the kitchen back of the speaker. "Wild Bill" Hickok, Ben Thompson and other gunfighters would never let anyone get behind them—and a speaker should be equally cautious because you might not see a tomato in time to duck.

Perhaps the most difficult situation that I've had thus far was speaking in competition with a band that was blaring away in the street outside the dining hall.

But, despite an occasional difficulty including an introducer who doesn't know when to stop, your columnist has a good time in speaking. Especially to high schools because the students, if they like a talk, are most generous with their approbation.

Oddly enough, two of the outstanding experiences of a brief speaking career were both in Waco—the privilege of addressing 1,600 students of Baylor University, with President Pat Neff giving cordial introduction; and talking to the boys and girls of the Methodist Home, where a Supt. Hubert Johnson and his wonderful work is being done by associates.

Mark Twain declared that there is not a parallel of latitude but what thinks I would have been the equator if it had had its rights.

ARMY DOCTOR SERVES CIVILIAN MOTHER

Dallas, August 11—It was a comparatively quiet night. The Seabee battalion was enjoying a well earned respite. For nearly a month now they had been hard at work on the shores of Normandy.

Lieut. Commander Richard Dabney Anderson, a doctor attached to the Seabees, had completed bandaging cuts and sprains suffered by the battalion members in the day's work, and, like the men, was enjoying the quiet.

To Henri Marcel Auguste Fouchard, however, the setting sun brought no such quiet and rest. Henri, proprietor of an 'epicerie' (combined cafe and grocery) had been driven from the village of Auverie by the shelling. With Marie Berthe, his wife, he had fled to St. Marie du Mont where the Seabees were entrenched.

Although out of the target area Monsieur Fouchard still had a problem. Madame Fouchard was an expectant mother and not a civilian doctor was to be found.

Desperately Henri appealed to the Mayor. The Mayor appealed to the American officer in charge of civil affairs and he in turn called upon Lieut. Commander Anderson, who quickly assented to attend Madame Fouchard.

That night, under Lieut. Commander Anderson's care, the Fouchards became the parents of a healthy baby girl.

Quickly the grateful father and mother decided upon a name—"Seabee Paula."

THE RACE QUESTION

The race question has been much, too much, at the forefront in political circles within recent months. Efforts were made at each of the conventions of the major parties to make it an issue in the present campaign. This was unfortunate and served no good purpose.

Racial pride is laudable, but racial arrogance is ignoble. In this country the white race has always been the superior and dominant race and should continue to be. This is true not because the race is white but because of its superior intelligence, attainments and ability. Should the race fail to retain these attributes it will cease to be the superior and dominant race. White supremacy can't be maintained by legislation but only by merit. Efforts to hold back the inferior race do not help to advance the superior one. It only retards both. No chain is stronger than its weakest link, and the advancement of both races will result in making our civilization assy higher.

The white race is the superior and more intelligent race and the responsibility of helping the lower race and maintaining amicable relations between the two rests upon it. The root of any race trouble that exists and there is little of that, is the non-understanding few who would be uplifting on the outside, and the rabble-rousing office seekers who would appeal to race-prejudice of the non-thinking.

There is no reason the races shouldn't live side by side in harmony. It was Divinely ordained that they should. The birds of the air are of many species. They fly together over the same area. They feed in a common field and alight on a common limb. There is no species war among them, nor is there prejudice. Each remains in its own sphere without efforts at social relations or misdegeneration. The same is true of the beasts of the field, and would be of the races but for agitators and those who seek to stir strife to advance their own interests.

Brave hearts and wise heads are needed at this time to discourage all efforts to arouse racial strife and create a spirit of harmony, cooperation between the races. All agitation and irresponsible talk at this time should be frowned upon by right thinking people.

Nature could be counted on to provide entertainment for a boy growing up in a little town, two score years ago. On a warm, genial day of Spring, you could hunt for a four-leaf clover and a little later in the year, you could tie a June bug on a string and be amused by his buzzing efforts to fly away.

And there were lightning bugs that could be put in a bottle. And you could get a broom straw and stick it down a hole and pull it up with a crawfish attached, maybe.

After a heavy rain, it was fun wading and sailing little boats. And the first snow was the signal for making a snowman, putting an old straw hat on his head and a corncob pipe in his mouth. Or maybe a fort was built and there was a snowball fight.

Our blood pressure is low and we were seeking a place where we could rest and recuperate while evading the summer heat in these parts. We found a wonderful place, but could not live in that high mountain air.
